when she's after a picture. Did they come back?"

"No," said Freckles. "The gang got there a little after noon and took out the tree, but I must tell you and you must tell the Bird Woman that there's no doubt but they will be coming back, and they will have to make it before long now, for it's soon the gang will be there to work on the swamp."

"Oh, what a shame!" cried the angel. "They'll clear out roads, cut down the beautiful trees and tear up exactly. They'll drive away the birds and spoil the enthusiasm. When they have done their worst all these nills about here will follow in and take out the cheap timber. Then the land owners will dig a few ditches, build some fires, and in two summers more the Lumberlost will be in corn and potatoes."

"You like it, too," said Freckles.

"Yes," said the angel. "I love it.
Your room is a little piece right out of the heart of fairyland, and the cathedral is God's work, not yours. You only found it and opened the door after he had it completed. Come get a cool drink before you start back. It won't take but a minute, and you can ride fast enough to make up for it."

Freckles looked into the beautiful face of the angel in sheer wonder-ment. Did she truly mean it? Would she wait over that screen with him, crippled, homely, in mean clothing?

"I really must be off," said Freckles earnestly, "but I'm thinking you more than you'll ever know for your kindness. I'll just be drinking bowls of icy things all my way home in the thoughts of it."

Down came the angel's foot. Her eyes flashed. "There's no sense in that," she said. "How do you think you would have felt when you knew I was warm and thirsty and you went and brought me a drink and I wouldn't take it because—because—goodness knows why?"

She deliberately slipped her hand under his arm—the right arm that ended in one empty sleeve.

"You are coming," she said firmly.

Freckles' head swam.

"Please don't, angel," he said softly.

"You don't understand. If your father came on to me on the street in my station and dress with you on me arm he'd have every right to be can-ing me before the people, and not a finger would I lift to stay him."

The angel's eyes snapped. "If you think my father cares about my doing anything that is right and kind and that makes me happy to do, why, then you completely failed in reading my father, and I'll ask him and just show you."

She dropped Freckles' arm and turned toward the entrance to the building. "Why, look there!" she exclaimed.

Her father stood at a window, watching the scene with eyes that comprehended quite as thoroughly as if he had heard every word. The angel made a despairing gesture toward Freckles. The man of affairs answered her with a look of infinite tenderness. He nodded his head, and the veriest dot could have read the words his lips formed, "Take him along!"

A sudden trembling seized Freckles.

The angel turned on him with impulsing eyes. She was highly stirring and not unreasoned to being thoroughly.

"Now are you satisfied? Will you come?" Freckles went.

On every side were kept busy giving and receiving the cheerful greetings. She walked into the parlor exactly as if she owned them. A long row of people stared with varying degrees of interest and curiosity as Freckles and he went. He glanced at the angel. Now would she see?

"On my soul!" he muttered under his breath. "They don't even touch her!"

She turned the full battery of her eyes on the attendant.

"I want to mix a drink for my friend," she said. "He has a long and tired drive home, and I don't want him starting off with one of those old pharmacy sweetmeats that you mix just on purpose to drive a man back in ten minutes. I want a clear, cool, spurting drink that has a tang of acid in it."

The angel commanded the drink and carried the brimming glass to Freckles.

He said to the mellowest of all the mellow-voices-of-his-voice, "I'll be drinking it to the Swamp Angel."

And as he had said to her that first day the angel now cautioned him, "It drinking slowly."

As the screen door swung behind them one of the men at the counter asked of the attendant, "Now, what did that mean?"

"Exactly what you saw," replied he rather curtly. "We're accustomed to it here. Hardly a day passes that some poor, God-forsaken mortal and bringing him in. Then she comes behind the counter herself and fixes up a drink to suit the occasion."

"Mighty queer specimen she had this time," volunteered another. "Wonder how he is?"

"I think," said a third, "that he's McLennan's Lumberlost guard, and I suspect she's gone to the swamp with the Bird Woman for pictures and knows him that way."

Out on the street the angel walked beside Freckles to the first crossing and there she stopped.

"Did you insist on taking that drink because you knew how intoxicating it would be?" asked Freckles.

"No," said Freckles, "you did not."

"Oh, I just enjoyed that," she cried.

"Those hateful, stinking old things! I had a big notion to pluck one of them,

"I wouldn't this if I had known your father and been understanding you better. Do you really think the Bird Woman will be coming again?"

"The angel leered. "Wild horses couldn't drag her away," she cried.
"She will have hard work to wait the week out. I shouldn't be in the least surprised to see her suit any hour."

Freckles couldn't bear the suspense.
He had to come.

"And you?" he questioned, but he dared not lift his eyes.

"Wild horses me, too," she laughed.
"couldn't keep me away either! Now goodbye."

Freckles was half way to the Limberlost when he was dismounted. He could ride no farther, because he could not see the road. He sat down under a tree and, leaning against it, burst into a storm of sobs that shook, twisted and bent him. If they would round him of his position, speak contemptuously or make his hand be compelled to see her suit any hour?

It could not be, for he knew that the Bird Woman and the angel's father must know that he was not really Mc-Lennan's son, and it did not matter to them in the least. In spite of everything and poverty, they evidently expected him to do something worth while in the world. That must be indeed. He must go to work on his education. He must get away. He must find and do the great thing of which the angel talked. For the first time his thoughts turned anxiously to ward the city and the beginning of his studies. McLennan and the Lumberlost spoke of him as "the boy," but he was a man. He must face life bravely and act a man's part. The angel was a mere child. He must not allow her to torture him past bearing with her frank comradeship that meant to him high heaven, earth's richness and all that lay between and just nothing to her.

There was a ominous growl of thunder, and Freckles snatched up his wheel and raced for the swamp. He was worried to find his boots lying at the cabin door. The children playing up the road pile told him that neither said they were so heavy she couldn't walk in them and she had come back and taken them off. Thoroughly frightened, he stopped only long enough to slip them on himself and then sped with all his strength for the Lumberlost. To the west the long, black, hard beaten trail lay clear, but far up the east side, straight across the path, he could see what was certainly a limp brown figure.

Face down, Sarah Lumberlost lay across the trail. When Freckles turned her over his head chilled at the look of horror frozen on her face. There was a low humming, and something snatched against him. Glancing about,
Freckles shivered in terror, for there was a swarm of wild bees settled on a scrub tree only a few yards away.
The air was thick with excited, suspended bees making ready to lead further in search of a suitable location.
Then he thought he understood, and with a prayer of thankfulness in his heart that she had escaped even so narrowly he caught her up and hurried down the trail until they were well out of danger.

CHAPTER XII

WITH HIS SWAMP ANGEL.

SARAH DYNAN had not followed the trail many rods when her footstep began. She was not Freckles, and not a bird of the line was going to be fooled into thinking she was. They kept whispering from their nests and darted from all sorts of unexpected places about her head and feet with quick whirring that kept her starting and jumping. Before Freckles was halfway to the town near Mrs. Lumberlost was hysterical and the Lumberlost had neither sung nor performed for her.

"I wouldn't stay in this place for a million a month," she had said, and the sound of her voice brought no comfort, for it was so close like she had thought it that she glanced hastily about to see if it had really been she that spoke.

Her child was quivering like a terrified child. Almost into her face went a night hawk stretched along a limb for his daytime nap. Mrs. Lumberlost sprang down the trail, lighting on a frog. The croak it gave as she crushed it sickened her. She screamed wildly and jumped to one side. That carried her into the swale, where the grasses reached almost to her waist, and her horror of snakes returning she made a flying leap for an old log lying along the line. She lit on it squarely, but it was so damp and rotten that she sank straight through it to her knees. She caught at the wire as she went down and, nerving, raked her wrist over a barb until she had it open in a bleeding gash. Her fingers closed convulsively around the second strand.

She was too frightened to scream
now. Her tongue stiffened. She clung frantically to the sagging wire and finally managed to grasp it with the other hand. Then she could reach the top wire, and so she drew herself up and found solid footing. She picked up the club that she had dropped in order to extricate herself—leaving heavily on it, she got back to the trail.

The wind rose higher, the changes from light to darkness were more abrupt, and the thunder came nearer and louder. In swarms the blackbirds rose from the swale and came docking to the interior with a clattering cry.
"Teeck, teeck," "Grackles, grackles," announced their trial call. "Trail-a-hoe, trail-a-hoe." Red winged blackbirds swam low, calling to belated ones.

(Continued on page 7.)

Be Safe---Not Sorry

4 per cent is the limit of what can be paid by a bank and conduct its business on lines of the strictest conservatism. In short, it is the rate that is consistent with absolute safety.

There are many schemes and seemingly attractive investments that offer more, but with every added per cent comes added risk, and why should you take any risk when you are investing the net results of your labor and economy.

A man who loses his savings, thus acquired, usually quits saving from discouragement. "Better be safe than sorry," is a good maxim to observe in choosing a place for investment.

WE PAY 4 PER CENT.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nichols Harry Nichols A. Bellars A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building Van'tell Place

OFFICIAL PAPER OF CHARLEVOIX

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year, $1.50
One copy, six months, .75
One copy, three months, .50

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

Official Call for Republican State Convention.

The state convention of the republicans of Michigan has been called in the Night-ign State primary in Bay City on Thursday, April 11, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon. The convention is called for the purpose of electing six delegates at large and six alternate delegates at large to the republican national convention to be held in Chicago, June 18, also for the purpose of nominating 15 candidates for electors of president and vice-president of the United States, also for the selection of a state central committee and a chairman thereof and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The following is the appointment of delegates to the several counties in this section:

Antrim	1
Benzie	1
Charlevoix	1
Emmet	1
Grand Traverse	1
Kalamazoo	1
Leelanau	1
Manistee	1
Westford	1

Common Council

Council Chamber, March 5, 1912.
The Common Council for the City of Charlevoix met on the above date, Mayor Hampton presiding.

Aldermen present: Glassford, Swinton, Nordrum, and Rachow.

Minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

Enter Ald. Geiken.

Moved by Ald. Glassford and seconded by Ald. Swinton that the communication relative to the ordinance providing for the licensing and taxing of dogs be accepted and published, and below it a statement of receipts and disbursements on dogs for the last year. Motion carried.

Charlevoix, Michigan
March 4, 1912.

Hon. Mr. Hampton.

City Council.—In last week's issue of the Charlevoix Courier, I noticed an ordinance passed by said council known as the dog ordinance, which states that $3.00 license will be charged for male dogs and $5.00 for female dogs, which I suppose you call law worked out with great wisdom, but a law that will not hold water when tested. A dollar is a fair tax for a good dog and a bad dog should not be allowed to live.

Now last year you had what was supposed to be a man going through the streets with a little red wagon and a rifle on his shoulder and whenever it became necessary for him to shoot a dog he fired away in people's yards and cross-lots, regardless of whom the bullets might hit. Now I am the owner of a dog that I am willing to pay a just tax for. But this man comes around my place with his wagon and gun to kill and draw home his dogs in, and if you should happen to be mayor then, you send another man along with a wagon to draw home the man with gun and dog, for I have a rifle which seldom or never fails to shoot straight. If that man comes around he will certainly go down. Then you will have a chance to test and see if your city ordinance is not made too strong for citizens to live by.

An Old Tax Payer.

The total expense incurred on account of dogs in the city during the year ending March 1, 1912, was $488.00. This may be interesting to dog owners as well as other taxpayers. The receipts from dog licenses was $250.

Enter Ald. Webster.

Moved by Ald. Geiken and seconded by Ald. Webster that the bill of the county for heating the firemen's hall be paid on the bill for investigation. Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Geiken and seconded by Ald. Rachow that the clerk be instructed to draw the necessary warrant and order transferring $674.73 from the Chicago avenue sewer street sewer account to the general fund. Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Geiken and seconded by Ald. Nordrum that the matter of a public dock at the foot of Antrim street be referred to the street committee for investigation. Motion carried.

The Finance Committee submitted the following report. Having examined the following bills report the same correct and recommend that they be allowed out of the several funds as herein stated:

RECEIPTS
Charlevoix Courier, supplies,	$ 1.50
H. C. McCartney, services,	1.50
Dr. J. L. Campbell, services,	1.50
P. L. Smith, salary to 3-1-12,	35.00
John Cook, salary to 3-1-12,	35.00
Charlevoix Courier, printing,	25.00
DISBURSEMENTS
Charlevoix Courier, printing,	$ 8.00
W. T. Driggs, services,	11.50
H. H. Wood, services,	1.00

H. D. Marshall, services,	7.00
FIRE FUND
DeForest H. Wood, supplies,	45
E. J. Vaughn, services,	1.75
CEMETERY FUND
Wm. McLain, salary to 3-1-12,	25.00
POLICE FUND
John Timmer, salary to 3-1-12,	30.00
WEST HIXON AVE. TAX, FUND, L. I. F.
Char. County Bank, interest coupon due 3-1-12,	3.75
DOG FUND
Charlevoix Courier, printing,	3.20
SEWER FUND
DeForest H. Wood, supplies,	60
Elmer Johnson, salary to 3-1-12,	50.00
HEALTH FUND
O. H. Hammond, treatment, pasteur institute,	50.00
ELECTRIC LIGHT & WATER FUNDS
Charlevoix Courier, supplies,	11.50
A. J. Hamilton, salary to 3-1-12,	35.00
Garrett Dixon, salary to 3-1-12,	35.00
H. H. Marshall, services,	1.50
Henry McDonald, February current,	1.50

SPECIAL WARRANT
MARCH ST. & CHICAGO AVE. SEWER LINE
City Treasurer, account vouchers drawn on general fund in payment of expenses constructing sewer line on March street and Chicago Avenue sewer.

Moved by Ald. Glassford and seconded by Ald. Geiken that the report as read be accepted, and that the Mayor and City Clerk be authorized to issue warrants on the City Depositories for $1,248.07 and the clerk be instructed to draw orders on the various funds for the amount of each respective bill.

Motion carried by the following aye and nay vote:

Ayes, Swinton, Glassford, Nordrum, Rachow, Geiken and Webster. Nays, none.

Moved by Ald. Geiken and seconded by Ald. Nordrum that the committee on public buildings and parks be and are hereby instructed to prepare and present plans, specifications and estimates of cost for a hose house and fire hall on Lot 3, Belvedere avenue. Motion carried.

Moved and supported that the proposed "Ordinance" relative to organization and government of our fire department be laid on the table for one week. Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Nordrum and seconded by Ald. Geiken that the surety bond of Fred L. Slight, deputy city clerk, be approved and placed on file. Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Nordrum and seconded by Ald. Geiken that the contract of H. D. Marshall for the construction of the Chicago avenue and March street sewer be approved and the mayor and clerk be authorized to sign the same. Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Swinton and seconded by Ald. Webster that the salary of the city assessor be fixed at $250.00 per annum. Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Nordrum and seconded by Ald. Rachow that the mayor's appointment of Darwin E. Meech as city assessor be confirmed. Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Webster that the financial report of the city be received and published, and copy of same mailed to the taxpayers of the city. Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Glassford and seconded by Ald. Rachow that Isaac Webster, L. B. Bartlett and H. C. Cooper be appointed as a board of election commissioners. Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Geiken and seconded by Ald. Webster that the following election inspectors be appointed: First ward, F. M. Glassford, D. F. Meech, H. C. Cooper and John Curtis. Second ward, A. T. Burnett, Will Fineman, Jr., Milo Miller and W. J. Stevenson. Third ward, John Barnes, L. E. Benton, W. H. Miller and Amos Webster. Motion carried.

There being no further business the Council adjourned.

E. J. HILLER,
City Clerk

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the beautiful flowers and their kindness shown to our late bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ecklund.

OUR COUNTY FINANCES

As Reported by County Treasurer Lewis for the Month of January.

The report of the city treasurer for the month of January is as follows:

RECEIPTS
Balance on hand Feb. 1st, 1912,	$11,500.00
Received from delinquent taxes,	14.00
Received from redemption certifi,	1.75
Received from general fund,	30.00
Received from poor fund,	2.57
Received from state and county,	2,000.00
Received from library fund,	30.00
Received from mortgage tax,	100.00
Received from inheritance tax,	194.98
Received from State of Michigan,	24.25
Quarter ending Dec. 31,	24.25
Total,	$13,771.25

DISBURSEMENTS
General fund,	$1,238.70
Poor fund,	70.23
Circuit court orders,	372.50
Probate court orders,	217.71
Soldiers relief orders,	45.70
Shelby tax, to State of Michigan,	112.50
State of Michigan, matter ending Dec. 31, 1911,	194.98
Interest tax to State of Michi,	194.98
Balance on hand March 1st, 1912,	11,728.85
Total,	$13,472.22

Patent Charlevoix, Mich., March 2, 1912.

RICHARD LEWIS, County Treasurer.

You are bound to enjoy a Showman's Ward March 11.

MAINTAINING A SAND CLAY ROAD

Southern Expert Tells Best Method to Employ.

MUST USE THE DRAG MORE.

A Good Highway Engineer and the Assistance of the Farmers Along the Route Are Essential, Says Leonard Turts, Sand Clay Road Expert.

Mr. Leonard Tufts of Pinehurst, N. C., president of the Capital Highway association, is one of the leading sand clay road-experts of the nation, and he has been instrumental in having built several hundred miles of this road in central North Carolina and along the route of the capital highway. Answering an inquiry referred to him recently from Mr. J. M. Koss, chairman of the trustees of road district No. 3, Covington county, Miss., Mr. Tufts gave some facts that should be in the possession of every road builder in the south. He said: "Perhaps I should have qualified my statement and said that the top soil of gravel and sand clay roads costs $500 per mile where the materials were near at hand and where there was not much grading or draining to be done. In this section the sand is from one to twenty feet deep, but we have the occasional pockets of a mixture of clay and gravel that makes excellent road material. It has been my experience that almost everywhere in the southeast where the soil is sand these pockets are found. In many places the sand is only a foot or two deep and in some places only six or eight inches deep.

SAND CLAY ROAD IN GEORGIA.

Our method in this section is to build roads only when the farmers have nothing for their teams to do. We pay 12 1/2 cents per cubic yard for the gravel and clay delivered on the road. The pockets are near enough together so the haul is seldom more than one-fourth of a mile. The farmers work as much of the time as they can, and besides getting enough to pay for their teams' feed and a small wage for themselves during idle time, they get a good road in their vicinity. Of course 12 1/2 cents is a very cheap price, but our roads do not average a cost of over $250 per mile.

Now, as to maintenance, a man and a pair of mules can drag ten miles of road a day—that is, he can drag one side of the road for ten miles and then turn back and drag the other side back to where he started. This makes the cost in this section for each dragging less than 30 per cent per mile. As a rule, it is not necessary to do this oftener than fifteen times a year. This means that it would cost about $150 a year for dragging a mile of road.

It is essential in building a road to spread the dirt as soon as it is dumped, as it is the only way to get an even surface, and it is better still to dump on a light platform and spread it from the platform. If the piles of dirt are left in the road and spread by a road machine afterward the surface of the road will always be wavy.

The ideal way is to employ a man with a pair of heavy mules for twelve months in the year and let him go from place to place, boarding at different houses, and in this way he should be able to maintain a hundred miles of road. It has been my experience—and that of every one I think—that it is impractical to divide the road in small sections, giving each section to a farmer to drag and attend to, whereas this seems to be the natural and economical way to handle it. Practice has shown that the only time that the roads are attended to is when the farmer has nothing else to do, and at that time the road is very apt to be in such condition as to make it undesirable to do any work upon it. Richard county, S. C., in which Covington is located, also has beautiful roads, and, with convict labor, I believe their roads cost them less than $300 per mile.

Where the clay is near the surface it is only necessary to dig a ditch on one side of the road and throw the dirt into the road, mixing it with the sand as it is spread by the use of a harrow. In such sections I have heard the roads have been constructed for considerably less than $200 per mile by the use of convict labor.

NEIGHBORHOOD ANNOUNCER.

Also Useful to Tell Passersby What Owner Wants to Sell or Buy.

H. O. Barnhill, a Montana ranch man, was the first farmer in his locality to use a blackboard, and he found it a great advantage on his ranch. "The idea was such a good one that it was adopted by a number of ranchmen in that country. The name of the farm and owner thereof are printed on the board in plain view, and no need to buy and cart or hire any to

GREAT SACRIFICE SALE

OF LADIES' READY-MADE GARMENTS

You Cannot Realize These Bargains Without Seeing the Goods

Sale Will Last to March 9th
Below we Quote a Few of the Many Bargains

Coats!	Coats!
Ladies black Broadcloth Coats, 54 inches long, half lined, either plain tailored or with shawl collar, regular $15 value, sacrifice price	$7.98
Ladies' black Broadcloth Coats, same as above in $20.00 value sacrifice price	$11.98

Suits!	Suits!
Any $18.00 or $20.00 Ladies' Suit in stock sacrifice price	$11.98
Any $25.00 Ladies' Suit in stock sacrifice price	$14.98

Skirts!	Skirts!
$10.00 Ladies' Skirts, Altman Voile sacrifice price	$5.98
$7.50 Ladies' Skirts, either in Serge or Panama sacrifice price	$4.98
$6.00 Ladies' Skirts, Plain Colors or Fancy sacrifice price	$3.98

Dresses!	Dresses!
$6.00 Ladies' Black and White Checked Dresses sacrifice price	$3.98
$15.00 Ladies' Silk Dresses or Chiffon Panama sacrifice price	$9.98
$25.00 Ladies' Velvet Dress, new style sacrifice price	$14.98

M. A. LEVINSON & CO.

VANPELT BLOCK CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Apiary Notes.

Never disturb the bees in cold weather.

Bees winter better if they are given part honey and part sugar to live on.

There are beekeepers all over the United States who, with a favorable locality and good management, are making an excellent living.

Beekeepers frequently find it necessary to feed a few colonies during the cold months in order to save them from starvation. As a rule, the beekeeper who extracts honey too late in the summer finds it necessary to supplement food during freezing weather to ward off heavy loss.

Extracted honey, if brought to a temperature of not over 100 degrees F., bottled and sealed while hot, will usually, if kept in uniformly warm temperature, keep liquid for a year or more. But there is a great difference in honey. Some will remain much more quickly than others. Cold atmosphere is quite favorable to candying of both extracted and comb honey. Cellars and cold rooms are poor places for honey.

Alabastine

The Sanitary Wall Finish

It is not stuck on the wall with animal glue as are the various Kalsomines sold under fanciful names and which, when the glue decays, the finish scales off.

Alabastine goes through a process of setting and cements too, instead of being stuck on the wall.

In re-coating with Alabastine you do not have to wash off the old coating, as every additional coat makes the wall that much stronger.

Stencil Patterns Furnished Free

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Whenever it seems desirable to change crops or methods of farm management, adjust yourself to the change quickly and make the most of it. It is folly to cling tenaciously to a system that does not meet the needs of present day agriculture.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Mrs. Louis Meisler is ill with tonsillitis this week.

George H. VanPelt returned to Chicago Saturday.

Sam Levinson spent Sunday in Petoskey with friends.

E. B. Ward made a short business trip to East Jordan last week.

"Bob" Caldwell of Traverse City was here on business last week.

W. A. Davoll of Boyne Falls was in the city on business last week.

R. H. Taylor of Boyne City was in the city the first part of the week.

Mrs. Mary Hilton is visiting friends and relatives at Saginaw.

Mose Cohen visited friends and relatives at Petoskey over Sunday.

Frank Lamphear is moving into his new home on Clinton Street this week.

J. C. Sweet of Petoskey was in the city on business the first of the week.

F. H. Clark is moving into Sam Rose's house on Mason Street this week.

Mrs. E. D. Hines and daughter Isabelle visited at the Porter farm last week.

March came in like a lamb. Whether it will go out like a lion remains to be seen.

Mrs. William Dalton of Leland spent Sunday at the home of Capt. E. E. Pugh.

J. Milo Eaton left Monday for Riverside, California, where he will join his wife.

Nelson Rose has returned to his work in the post office after his week's illness.

This week the township treasurers of the entire county are meeting at the court house.

Lee Howland has returned home from Chicago, where he attended the Cement Show.

Sims Clark of Chicago is in the city with his parents and will stay for about a month.

Miss Blanche Nowland has returned from a short visit with friends at Petoskey.

E. S. Stacks has returned from his trip through various places in southern Michigan.

A. T. Stewart, of Northville, is in the city getting the fish hatchery ready to open next week.

Miss Florence Kenyon of Lake Odessa is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. I. Miller.

Miss Ruth Kurey leaves Thursday for a short visit with friends and relatives at Grand Rapids.

E. A. Vaupre left Friday for Ottawa, Ohio, in the interest of the West Michigan Sugar Company.

Miss Mattie Kohler, who has been visiting here for some time has returned to her home at Saginaw.

R. F. Simon returned home Saturday after a brief business trip in various points in Ohio and Michigan.

O. D. Hammond and wife returned home Friday after visiting friends and relatives at Chicago the past week.

Fremont Withers spent the week end with his family, returning to Harbor Springs the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Harsha entertained a number of their friends at a dinner-party last Wednesday evening.

Judge Mayne was in the city Saturday, going from here to Traverse City where he will hold court this week.

Mrs. M. E. Atcheson and son

Charlie returned home Friday after their trip to southern Michigan points.

Mrs. George Weaver gave a ten cent tea, last Wednesday for the benefit of the Congregational church.

S. M. Rose is moving into the recently purchased house on Clinton Street formerly owned by E. A. Jeffries.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Aymer returned Saturday, after spending a week at the home of W. F. Johnson, near Ironton.

Miss Lucy Fuller was called to Elk Rapids last week by the death of her brother, Thomas, who died at that place.

Miss Kate Lapeer is enjoying a weeks vacation from her duties at Levinson's Store, and is visiting at East Jordan.

Mrs. Ella Tillotson left Monday afternoon for Alanson and Petoskey expecting to remain there the next two weeks.

The K. of P. third degree team will go to Cadillac next Tuesday. About twenty-five are planning on making the trip.

Peter Vandermade is enjoying a weeks' vacation from the express office. He is getting acquainted with the wood pile.

Mrs. Thomas Shapton and Mrs. W. H. Miller gave a tea at the home of the latter, Tuesday, for the Congregational church.

John Bugbee moved his family from Norwood here this week. He will occupy the Meach house on W. Harburt Avenue.

Mrs. H. B. Elliott returned to her home at Harbor Springs Saturday, after visiting the past week at the home of Fred H. Thomas.

Rev. D. C. Nye, of Bellaire will speak on Local Option at the Congregational church of this city next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

Frank Culman, who has been working in the lumber camps at Harbor Springs all winter, was in the city the first of the week.

Last week Lee R. Smith purchased of Mrs. Nancy Morrison, her home located on South State St., and will move into it in about three weeks.

Miss Ellen O'Leary left Tuesday for Detroit and Ypsilanti, the latter place at which she will visit her sister, Mary, who is attending the Normal.

Rev. Kendrick of Traverse City, district Superintendent of Grand Traverse County, will speak at the Methodist church next Sunday morning.

There will be a cottage prayer-meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howland on Antrim Street, next Tuesday evening, everybody welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson, Mr. Stone and Syler, and the Misses Morely and Rick, all of Ironton, spent Saturday at the home of John Mitchell and family.

Mrs. Lena Levinson and family are again located in their own home on the north side, after spending the early part of the winter at the Hotel Elston.

Work on the interior of the new Savings Bank building is being pushed as rapidly as possible. The heating system has been installed for some time.

A number of the business men will go to East Jordan in the morning to attend the funeral of Mrs. A. B. Nichols who died Monday morning of pneumonia.

During the last week the walls of the lobby and dining room at the Elston have been refinished and the wood work newly varnished, and now presents a fine appearance.

Arthur Gilden, brother of Mrs. Elmer Poole, died this noon of consumption at the home of his mother, Mrs. John Runyon of Norwood.

Dr. L. H. Manning of Petoskey will give a lecture accompanied by stereopticon views, on his trip through the Holy Land, Wednesday, March 13, at the Methodist church.

Mrs. H. A. Carr has returned from Grand Rapids and Detroit, where she has been purchasing spring styles in millinery. She will announce her spring opening in the columns later.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church will hold a baked goods sale Saturday March 10, at the stores of Block Bros. and F. N. Metcalf. Hot coffee and fried cakes will be served also.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church will hold a baked goods sale Saturday March 10, at the stores of Block Bros. and F. N. Metcalf. Hot coffee and fried cakes will be served also.

The poultry bing has at last hit Boyne City. Last Friday evening an association was formed and R. E. Newville was chosen as secretary. They are planning to put on a big exhibition next year.

H. C. Meyers, Boyne Falls leading hardware merchant, was in the city Tuesday in connection with his agency for the Overland Auto Co. Mr. Meyers has several prospective buyers in the city for his machines.

At the Gymnasium held last Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple the grand march was led by Miss Charlotte Cohen of Charlevoix, Michigan, and Albert L. Hershmann. Five hundred guests danced. —Minneapolis Journal.

Never judge a man by his clothes. The man with a fringe around the bottom of his trousers, a slouch hat and worn out shoes, may be the editor of your local paper, while the man with new clothes and new shoes may simply be one of his delinquent subscribers.

Dr. Armstrong is expected home from New York the latter part of this week. He writes his family of the misery of hundreds of poor people coming to the hospital, and of the school children being in constant danger of disease, from the lack of outside play grounds.

At a recent editorial convention a preacher offered the following toast: "To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair send him all items of news of which you can get hold. To save him from profanity write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as soon as possible. To save him from mistakes, hurry him—dead people are only ones who never make mistakes."

A jolly party of Charlevoix ladies went to Bellaire Tuesday and spent the day with Mrs. Ira Adams, where they were most royally entertained. The "piece de resistance" at the beautifully decorated dinner table in the evening, was a huge musk-hunge, baked full size. Those comprising the party were Mesdames D. F. Meach, F. M. Sears, R. W. Paddock, W. E. Hampton, W. J. Rachow, J. L. Crane, H. Bedford, R. N. Faulkner, and Miss Emma Bennett, and all pronounce Mr. and Mrs. Adams to be adepts in entertaining.

Remember Judge Alden's lecture "The Powder and the Match" at Charlevoix theatre, Friday March 8, 8 p. m.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van-Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "Man."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:30 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.
Morning service at 10:30. Sermon by Rev. D. C. Nye, of Bellaire.
Sunday School at 12 m.
Service at Ironton at 2:30.
Meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 p. m. Topic, "Christian Testimony That Counts."
Evening service at 7 o'clock Rev. D. C. Nye will speak on Local Option.
Mid-week service Thursday evening at 7:30.

METHODIST CHURCH.
9:30 a. m. Class Meeting.
10:30 a. m. Morning Sermon.
12:00 m. Sunday School.
3:00 p. m. Epworth League.
7:00 p. m. Evening Gospel Sermon.
Prayer Meeting Thursday evening, 7:30.
You are welcomed to all our services.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Rev. H. Atchison, Pastor.
Morning Service, 10:30 a. m.—Subject, "Christianity's Crime."
Sunday School at 11:45.
B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Subject, "Testimony That Counts." Leader, Dee Marsa.
Evening service 7:00 p. m.—Subject: "Life for a Look."
Prayer Meeting on Thursday evening.
Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion town hall.
"Strangers always welcome."

Pretty clowns girls in Showman's Ward Majestic March 14. 101

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion, half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than the first insertion.

WANTED—Girl for general house work. Apply Mrs. J. L. Crane. 101

WANTED—Young lady attend school to help with housework. Inquire Mrs. Meyer Cohen. 94

FOR SALE—Two houses and lots, corner Antrim and State streets. Will sell at a bargain. Inquire Harrison Bedford. 96

FOR SALE—The large frame building in Charlevoix known as the Inn. Boiler Shop, to be removed by buyer from present premises. Can be bought cheap if taken at once. See Robert W. Kane at Charlevoix, or W. H. Atchison, Room 1401 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill. 5611

SALESMEN—For Kero-Vapor Incandescent Lamps. Profitable proposition in home territory. Every farm and suburban home needs it. High class, guaranteed article, unlike any other. No competition. Write for particulars. Doorman Bros., Manufacturers, Kalamazoo, Michigan. 91

CRANE'S

Saturday Special

ONE DAY ONLY

SATURDAY, MARCH 9

Women's "Dependon" Lisle Hose. Very fine gauge. Absolutely fast black. High spliced heel and toe. Wide garter top.

3 Pair Only to a Customer

12 1-2c pair

Just a Word

When you are in need of Oranges, Lemons and Bananas, always keep uppermost in your mind that we have them. At the same time, remember that our stock of groceries is always a fresh. Coupons given away with every cash purchase. You can get nice prizes with them.

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE

Telephone 125 Antrim Street

SHOWMAN'S WARD

Thursday, March 14, 1912

Majestic Theater

Showman's Ward

A Musical Comedy in 3 Acts

Benefit of Bon Ami Club

Under Direction of Leon F. Brower

A COMPLETE SINGING AND DANCING FESTIVAL

Adults 25c Children 15c

MAJESTIC THEATER

Parents' Association.

There will be a meeting of the Charlevoix Parents' Association at the high school building Wednesday evening, March 13th, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. The subject for discussion is "The English Work in Our Public Schools." It is desired that all persons interested in our public schools shall be present. The following program will be given:

Vocal solo, Miss Finnegan.
The English Work in Our High School, Miss Cotton.
Duet, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilkinson.
The Correlation of Literature in the Home and School, Mrs. Shaughan.
Music. Vocal solo, Dr. F. H. Wilkinson.

To the Farmers of Charlevoix and Vicinity.

We have decided to put out a limited acreage of sweet corn to be delivered in Charlevoix. If you wish any of some it would be well to communicate with us at once.

Respectfully,
Central Lake Canning Company.

Complete singing and dancing festival at the Majestic March 14.

SPECIAL STOVE SALE

Rather than carry over to another fall several Heating stoves which we have on hand, we have decided to close them out at

ONE-FOURTH OFF

from the regular price. We must have the room they occupy for our Summer Business, therefore are making this sacrifice in the prices.

OUR LOSS IS YOUR GAIN

This means that you get the

No. 7 Radiant Home Base Burner, reg. price $52	$39.00
No. 6 Radiant Home, regular price $45.00	$34.00

Others in Proportion

You can save enough on one of these stoves to buy half your next winter's coal—our loss is your gain. As we have but a few of these stoves to sell the sale won't last long.

S. M. SEE & SONS

THE RELIABLE HOUSE FURNISHERS CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

For a Limited Time We are Making the
GREATEST COMBINATION OFFER
Ever Made by any Reliable Farm Periodical

The Fruit Belt

ONE YEAR

THE FRUIT BELT, America's leading horticultural magazine should be in every turn home in Michigan. It is as good as an extra man at critical periods in fruit growing. Every article in the magazine is written by the fruit growers themselves, or by recognized authorities on fruit. It is designed to help the fruit grower. IT DOES. Whether you have a hundred-acre orchard or just a few trees, or a berry patch The Fruit Belt will help you. A big Spray Number is issued every year that contains information on 12 Z. TREE FRUIT BELT advantages for fruit and nut growers. It is published by National Fruit and Nut Marketing Board, 1000 Pennsylvania Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20004. The Board is a Federal agency created by the Federal Marketing Act of 1937. It is the only Federal agency that has the authority to regulate the marketing of fruits and nuts. The Board is also the only Federal agency that has the authority to regulate the marketing of fruits and nuts. The Board is also the only Federal agency that has the authority to regulate the marketing of fruits and nuts.

ALL
FOR

We will send THE FRUIT BELT One Year, The MICHIGAN FARMER One Year, and 12 Giant Himalaya Blackberry Vines for $1.00

OUR GUARANTEE

OUR GUARANTEE. The Fruit Belt guarantees that the Giant Himalaya Blackberry vines it sends out will live and grow, and under proper cultivation, will produce results satisfactory to you. We will replace, free of charge, any plants that fail to grow, if set out within one year after received. AND IF AT ANY TIME DURING THE COMINO THREE YEARS, you are dissatisfied with your bargain after giving the blackberry a trial, let us know and we will refund your dollar and you MAY KEEP THE PLANTS.

W. W. BOYLE—
AGENT
Northwestern Mutual Ins. Co. at Milwaukee
National Life Insurance Co.
Home at Chicago

If you do not carry life insurance you are doing an injustice to yourself and family. Drop me a card and I will talk it over with you.

ADDRESS: Charlevoix, Michigan

My Meggison and called on Mrs. Vattle and Mrs. J. Wells. Jennie Smith from Barnard and Miss Nelbe Hull and Mrs. J. Wells visited us this month.

FAIR EXCHANGE

new Back For an Old One—How it is Done in Charlevoix.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, marking a weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are lame to stoop is agony. No use rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Charles, a citizen:

Mr. John Cook, 307 Mason St., Erieview, Mich., says: "I know Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy. I have used them on different occasions for kidney complaint and they have always given splendid relief. I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for the purposes for which their use is intended. They were secured at the Ivy Drug Store."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Wm. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—do not take any other.

Cohen's Store

ROYAL BAKING-POWDER

Absolutely Pure

To have pure and wholesome food, be sure that your baking powder is made from cream of tartar and not from alum.

The Label will guide you

Royal is the only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum No Lime Phosphates

Grange Column

Wilson Grange No. 719

Wilson Grange met in regular session Saturday Feb. 24, 1912, with thirty-nine members present.

The dance committee reported $7.32 cleared from the last dance and after grange closed a supper was served by the dance committee.

One application for membership was received.

The washing of the dishes was auctioned off to the lowest bidder Sister Prudence Smith getting it for $60 an evening.

The degree team, by an invitation from Ironton Grange, decided to go down there and initiate March 5, if the weather is favorable and the roads permit.

After the business session the Master called for the Lecturer's program which consisted of several selections of songs, recitations, and music. The Lecturer announced that the first numbers on the contest would be next meeting.

Grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks.

How Cold Causes Kidney Disease.

Partly by driving blood from the surface and congesting the kidneys, and partly by throwing too much work upon them. Foley's Kidney Pills strengthen the kidneys, give tone to the urinary organs and restore the normal action of the bladder. They are tonic in action, quick in results. Try them. Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

Rock Elm Grange No. 705

Regular meeting of the Rock Elm Grange called to order March 2 by Worthy Master Van Gorder. Bro. Levi Metz was appointed to fill the vacant office of Gate Keeper. Grange opened in form and minutes of last meeting read. The master's bill of 75c for oil was allowed on motion. Owing to the absence of Bro. H. E. Hutton, the literary program was not carried out as announced last week but nevertheless was very interesting and instructive. It consisted of a reading by Miss Madam, a recitation by Viola Cleland, a vocal solo by Marjorie

SOCIALIST PUT UP A GOOD MAN

Fred H. Thomas Unanimous Choice of Caucus for Office of Mayor.

Will Look to Him to Carry Them to Victory—The Other Nominations as Made.

Last night was socialist night in the city, and caucuses were held in the various wards of the city and from there met in the hall above Myer & Nephert's store, where the nominations for the various city offices were made.

Fred H. Thomas was the unanimous choice of the caucus for the head of the ticket, and he is the man they will look to carry them to victory, if victory is to be theirs. The following is the choice of candidates for the various ward and city offices:

Mayor, Fred H. Thomas.
Clerk, Will Hignum.
Treasurer, B. L. Harrington.
First ward—Alderman, John Curtis; supervisor, Ben Yettaw; constable, G. W. Ricker.
Second ward—Alderman, Albert Holmes; supervisor, J. W. Lusk; constable, Walt Daniels.
Third ward—Alderman, W. W. Washburn; supervisor, Will Graham; constable, George Reinhart.

Backache Almost Unbearable

Is almost certain result of kidney trouble. D. Toomey, 803 E. Olive St., Bloomington, Ill., says: "I suffered with backache and pains in my kidneys which were almost unbearable. I gave Foley's Kidney Pills a good trial, and they have done wonders for me. Today I can do a hard day's work and not feel the effects." Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

THEATRICAL

"A Showman's Ward" is the title of the musical comedy attraction at the Majestic theater, on Thursday March 14, given by the Bon Ami club under the direction of Leon F. Brower, who has successfully directed several plays in this city.

This play will enthuse a hearty laugh throughout the entire evening, interspersed with good song numbers, being the latest song hits. A large chorus will render the delightful selections. Every effort has been made to make this play a success and no play has been produced that will embody an evening with all around pleasure.

The chorus is composed of a crowd of radiant, ravishing, rousing, rosy-buds—the incarnation of delectable girlhood. A complete singing and dancing festival. Gorgeous, glittering galaxy of bewitching, bewitching beauties. Watch bills and folders for full particulars.

Stoddard and Wallace at the Majestic theater this week and last week have scored a hit in vaudeville and show their ability in entertaining people with something different every night. The Majestic has a good claim on the merits that are awarded by the theater-going public for the many good attractions that are being booked. The motion pictures are excellent as well. Stoddard and Wallace are to be congratulated on their class of vaudeville entertainment, they are giving to the public at the reasonably low vaudeville prices.

"ME-SMITH" IN THE NEWS

Splendid Western Story Starts in Michigan's Greatest Daily March 6.

"Me-Smith," a thrilling western story by Caroline Lockhart, will begin in the Detroit News, afternoon edition, Wednesday, March 6; morning edition, Thursday, March 7. This is one of the best novels of the great plains that has been written in many years and it will appeal to all class of readers. A charming love story runs through the novel, and this will be particularly pleasing to the women. For the men, "Me-Smith," the bad man, stands out as a striking character, as also does Ralston, the deputy sheriff and hero of the yarn.

A Cold, La Grippe, Then Pneumonia is too often the fatal sequence, and coughs that hang on weaken the system and lower the vital resistance. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable medicine that stops that cough promptly by healing the cause; soothes the inflamed air passages, and checks the cold. Keep always on hand. Refuse substitutes. Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

FUR COATS

The only coat made for these cold winters—that's your opinion as well as mine. The prices are high in the fall, but now you can buy all that are left at most any old price. We do not want to carry any over until next year; we're going to close them out. Just one or two of a few kinds. If you want one—now is the time to buy, and if you are short of cash, I will sell you on easy terms.

It means money in your pocket and a good fur coat on your back to buy now. Give me an opportunity to save you money.

Benj. Brown

Librarian's Report.

The following is the Librarian's report for the month of February.

Total number volumes of fiction issued, 797; total juvenile fiction, 622; total non-fiction, 495.

Philosophy, 8; religion, 15; sociology, 41; natural science, 7; useful arts, 8; fine arts, 2; literature, 45; history, 29; travel, 24; biography, 18; general works, 3.

Total number books issued, 1914; daily average of books issued, 93.

Attendance in reading room, 677. Men, 115; women, 136; children, 426; daily average, 34; new patrons enrolled in February, 39.

Play A Success.

The young members of Ironton Grange are to be congratulated in the successful manner in which they presented the play, "Arthur Rastace," or "A Mother's Love" at their hall at Ironton the evening of March 1. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity and each member handled their part in a very creditable manner. The play will put on at the Marion Center Grange hall on Friday evening, March 15.

The play "Arthur Rastace or A Mother's Love," which was given by Ironton talent will be repeated at Marion Centre Grange Hall, Friday evening, March 15, under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Glenside. Price 25 cent. Children 15 cents. After the play is over the Glenside will serve a 10 and 15 cent supper. If you want to see a good play—COME.

Taxing Death.

They have queer ways of doing things in Mexico, as most observers are aware by this time, but the fact that they virtually impose a tax on death is perhaps not generally known. To illustrate, a young American was drowned in the Rio Grande, and his body drifted down the river, lodging finally on the Mexican side. When the relatives came to claim the body they were received with the utmost courtesy, but were somewhat amazed when informed that the remains could not be sent out of the country except upon the payment of a tax of $120, that being the law in such case made and provided. The moral, if there be any, asserts the New York Mail, is this: Don't die in Mexico.

Reduce Your Meat Bill.

You can do it if you buy your meats of us. Always choice cuts on hand. A phone order will bring one to your door. Morse Meat Market—Phone 125

The English Barber.

I grumble because it is impossible to get a comfortable hair cut or shave in Manchester and because the majority of barbers there are uncivilized, says a writer in M. A. P. London. A visit even to the best barbers' shops at present means half an hour of misery. The barber's breathing on my neck no longer annoys me; I have got used to it. But I was quite surprised when last week the man who was attending to me abstracted pieces of cake from his pocket, every now and again and let his crumbs fall down my back. I am waiting for some enterprising hair cutter to open a few decent shops where the assistants are at least clean and where they are under some sort of discipline.

Contract Beans.

I will be at Cooper's Agricultural Implement store, Saturday, March 9, to contract acreage for beans and also buying beans.

Roy Winnie.

For Sale.

Team of colts, age 3 and 1. Bred from Iron Duke. Also a year old stallion.

Robt. Matchett, R. I.

Oats as Food.

Oats contain a larger amount of flesh and bone forming substances than any other cereal.

Cooper Sells Anthony Fence

1047-No. 9 Wire 30c per rod

The Heaviest Fence per rod on the Market

830, 939, 726

At Prices to Correspond

If you are in the Market for Fence see me before buying

J. R. COOPER

Antrim Street

Charlevoix, Michigan

Do You Want Warm Footwear

At very low Prices?

We will Sell for Cash to close out at once

All Men's, Women's and Children's

Felt Slippers and Shoes
Fleeced-lined Rubbers
Alaskas and Arctics

All Men's and Boys'

Mittens—Sheepskins Lumberman's Socks

All Men's and Boys' Heavy

Rubbers or Lumberman's Rubbers

To do this we shall sell at very Low Prices

They must be sold at once—and none of them will be replaced this winter. If you want any Warm Footwear buy at once.

Also we have a large line of Good Shoes which we are selling Cheap.

Yours to Please,

BERT MASON

Majestic Theater

NEXT WEEK

SIX REELS OF

NEW MOVING PICTURES

CHANGE EVERY OTHER NIGHT

You will be pleased with these Pictures as there will be nothing over 60 days old

One or More Fine Prizes Saturday Night

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 11

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 13, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

MONDAY IS PRIMARY DAY

Race Between Nordrum and Bridge, it is Thought, Will Be Close.

MANY HAVE AXES TO GRIND

Effort Being Made to Keep Local Option
Out of the Fight.

Hours of Primary to Be From One to Eight p. m.—
The Ticket as Will Be Presented to the Voters and Several Ward Committees.

Monday is primary day. With the battle of ballots only four days ahead the two candidates for mayor are both confident that they can't possibly be beaten—in the way that all candidates have done since the word was invented. Most of the talk of the primary centers around the chances of Bridge over Nordrum and Nordrum over Bridge. The voters are looking for a close race here. Some say Mr. Bridge is better qualified to hold the office, while it is the opinion of others that the valuable experience Mr. Nordrum has had on the council the past two years, should entitle him to more consideration from the voters, and also have a tendency to make him better qualified to fill the position. Everyone seems to have an axe to grind.

Some are out after the scalp of Mr. Bridge because at some time in the past he refused to do this or that, never accomplished anything while on the board of public works, and every other reason it is possible to conjure up.

Some say Mr. Nordrum is on the fence concerning the local option issue, and that a few of the dry "extremists" are out for his scalp for this reason.

What amuses us most in viewing the situation, is where they figure Mr. Bridge is. It looks to us that it is Mr. Nordrum is "on the fence," Mr. Bridge must certainly be "under the fence."

Another ridiculous point that is being used against Mr. Nordrum is that he voted for the recently passed dog ordinance, raising the tax on these animals from one to three and three to five dollars. The writer wants to state here that in his opinion this is one of the best ordinances ever passed by a council in this city, and it should have the hearty commendation of every voter. When you think of the expense the city has been to the past year on account of the few cur dogs running loose on the streets, it makes one feel that it would have been a wise policy to have added another ten to the license fee.

Let us also state while commenting, that in our opinion it is mighty poor policy to mix the local option question with city politics.

Furthermore, the writer has interviewed the officers of the local option union, and they emphatically state that the union is not meddling in any way with city politics, nor will it support or oppose candidates. In fact, all shades of political opinion are found in its membership, and each member is entirely free to act according to his personal convictions in regard to any candidate who is up for city office.

The result is that no political prophet—who cares for his reputation as a forecaster—is ready to foretell the victory of one or the other.

The primary will be held Monday from one p. m. to eight p. m. Those who have qualified as candidates for the various city and ward offices are as follows:

Mayor—Omit Nordrum and Albert E. Bridge.

Clerk—Ernest J. Miller.

Treasurer—John Cook.

First Ward—Supervisor, F. J. Meech; Aldermen, G. W. Priest and Hugh C. McCartney; Constable, J. A. Timmer.

Second Ward—Supervisor, Charles Zeiler; Aldermen, W. R. Barney; Constable, Charles Hyers.

Third Ward—Supervisor, E. B. Ward; Aldermen, G. C. Geiken; Constable, Charles Jeffries.

The above is the ticket as it will be presented to all qualified voters. W. H. Miller, the present supervisor from the third ward, who is enrolled as a democrat, will from what we have learned, present his name on slips.

Election inspectors in the three wards will canvass the vote, and are composed as follows: First ward, D. F. Meech, O. E. Wilbur; second ward, A. A. Hanshaw, F. A. Hull; third ward, Amos Webster, John S. Ackert.

The republican city committee will act as a canvassing board for all city offices. The committee has also decided that any man who has not earned will be allowed to vote if he will take the oath of party allegiance.

Any candidate may also have a challenger in his ward at the polling place, if he so desires. Polling places will be held as follows:

First ward—Hose House.

Second ward—Hose House at Court house.

Third ward—X. L. Produce room, Belvedere avenue entrance.

Auction Sales.

This week's Courier contains two auction sales. On page 2 will be found the sale of G. W. Dennis for Tuesday, March 19, at 1 o'clock, one and one-half miles south-west of Charlevoix. W. E. Byers, auctioneer. On page 3 will also be found the sale of Elmer Stocker, on Wednesday, March 20, at 10 o'clock, one-half mile south and three-fourths miles east of Norwood. Wm. E. Byers, auctioneer.

SOME DAMAGE DONE TO BUDS

But They are in Fairly Good Condition
Despite Cold Weather.

Believed There Will Be Enough Left to Insure a Fair Crop in County.

According to a report sent out by the Western Michigan Development Bureau at Traverse City. The fruit buds in the counties surrounding that city are in a fairly good condition despite the extreme cold weather; at least such is the report made as a result of a careful inquiry.

Outside of some damage done to peach buds in the low lands and to sweet cherries here and there, the fruit crop for 1912 promises to be good. In the low places, not only the buds have been killed, but in some instances the wood has been affected somewhat on the ends of the branches. As far north as Elk Rapids, through the Old Mission Peninsula, in the central and northern parts of Leelanau county and to the southwestern part of that county, and in the vicinity of Frankfort, the peach buds are reported safe. A report from the Paul Rose orchard located near Frankfort, which orchard has been carefully examined by Mr. Rose, is said to be in such condition that the usual amount of thinning will have to be done in order to get the proper results for the coming season. As regards sweet cherries, in this section, there is some report of damage. Sour cherries, however, and apples are in the best of condition and it is believed the buds are in the best of condition and it is believed the buds will come out of the winter in a condition that will insure a fair crop.

According to reports from all over this county, there has been some damage to the fruit buds from the extreme cold weather, but it is believed there will be enough left to insure a fair crop.

The result is that no political prophet—who cares for his reputation as a forecaster—is ready to foretell the victory of one or the other.

The primary will be held Monday from one p. m. to eight p. m. Those who have qualified as candidates for the various city and ward offices are as follows:

Mayor—Omit Nordrum and Albert E. Bridge.

Clerk—Ernest J. Miller.

Treasurer—John Cook.

First Ward—Supervisor, F. J. Meech; Aldermen, G. W. Priest and Hugh C. McCartney; Constable, J. A. Timmer.

Second Ward—Supervisor, Charles Zeiler; Aldermen, W. R. Barney; Constable, Charles Hyers.

Third Ward—Supervisor, E. B. Ward; Aldermen, G. C. Geiken; Constable, Charles Jeffries.

The above is the ticket as it will be presented to all qualified voters. W. H. Miller, the present supervisor from the third ward, who is enrolled as a democrat, will from what we have learned, present his name on slips.

Election inspectors in the three wards will canvass the vote, and are composed as follows: First ward, D. F. Meech, O. E. Wilbur; second ward, A. A. Hanshaw, F. A. Hull; third ward, Amos Webster, John S. Ackert.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY MUST BUILD SOME GOOD ROADS

If She Wants to Take the Place She Can as One of the Most Noted Resorts
In the World—Farmers Will Have But 30 Per Cent
To Pay Under County Road System.

Charlevoix county's total valuation at the present time is $12,301,945.00. The total valuation of the cities of Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan is $7,230,200.00.

Subtract one from the other and we find that the valuation of the farm property and small villages is $5,125,745.00.

Then the only property in Charlevoix county that now pays any road taxes is this last amount, so the farmers are paying the entire cost and furnishing roads for people who live in cities free of charge.

Should Charlevoix county adopt the county road system, and go to building good roads, the cities of Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan would put up 45 cents, the farmers would contribute 30 cents, and the State of Michigan would put up the balance, 25 cents of every dollar expended.

In other words, Charlevoix county farmers would fish in the Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan state fish pond, putting on to the hook for bait a 30 ounce fish and hold of the tail of that fish will grab the Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan fish weighing 45 ounces and hold of the tail of that fish will grab the state fish weighing 25 ounces, and the farmers will load on their own table 100 ounces of fish, 30 ounces they contributed, and 70 ounces that they caught. If that isn't good fishing, then I don't know what good fishing is. The best of it is, that they can catch these city-and-state-fish just as often as they bait their hook.

Now the money raised will be expended to buy gravel from farmers, pay farmers for shoveling it into wagons, pay farmers for hauling it to the roads, and leave the roads in the neighborhood of the farmers for them to use principally, and for city people to use occasionally.

The counties under the road system gained in population the last ten years 27 per cent, the counties not under the system gained in population less than 3 per cent.

If another man was engaged in the same business that we are and he made 27 per cent a year and we only made 3 per cent, we should expect people would think we are a chump for not adopting his system, and we would be.

Now, if Charlevoix county wants to take the place that it can take as one of the most noted summer resorts in the world, she must build some good roads, and every taxpayer in the county is a stockholder in the corporation called Charlevoix county and he should work for the interest of the corporation or sell his stock and quit the county.

president, Mrs. A. F. Bridge, in a few pleasing and humorous remarks, welcomed the guests and introduced the toast master, Mr. L. Shanahan, who officiated in a most witty and clever manner.

R. W. Paddock responded to the subject, "Aviation" in a masterly and entertaining talk.

Mr. Hampton treated his subject, "The Female of the Species," in a bright and clever way, and closed with a very eloquent tribute and appeal to mothers. Both toastmaster and speakers used wit and satire freely at the expense of each other.

To say that the ladies toast was enthusiastically received, would be putting it mildly. Each lady responded with various tributes to man, from Shakespeare, at the close all drinking to the health of the husbands. The toastmaster, not to be outdone, gallantly called the husbands to their feet to drink a toast to the ladies.

Mrs. Marting delighted all with her singing. A number that caused much mirth, was an echo from last year's famous debate, a quintette of ladies took part in an original round, alternate ones taking the part of Shakespeare and Bacon.

The Shakespeare Orchestra, composed of the sons and daughters of the members of the club, furnished the music.

Annual Banquet of Shakespeare Study Club Monday Evening.

Husbands Took a More Active Part in Program Than Usual, It Being Leap Year.

The annual banquet of the Shakespeare Study Club is the one event of the year given to entertain the husbands of the members. With the one exception, that many members were out of town and unable to attend, the banquet of 1912 was up to the high standard of previous functions.

It was replete with good things for the mind and body. Being progressive, the changing of partners and tables after each course, was very interesting.

The programs were works of art, and were hand painted. The table decorations were sweet peas, and with the beautiful gowns of the ladies and the sweet strains of the orchestra, it proved a very bright scene.

The menu left nothing to be desired. It was splendidly prepared and graciously served by four charming young ladies.

Being leap year the ladies felt free to ask the husbands to take a more active part in the program than usual, though they themselves were very much in evidence. The

WILL REPEAT IT

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Felts Invite Selves to Come Again.

On the evening of February 27, a goodly number of friends and neighbors made an affectionate and pleasant visit upon Mr. and Mrs. James M. Felts, it being the anniversary of his thirty-first birthday and were so well received that on the evening of March 6, about one hundred and fifty repeated the visitation, it being on this occasion the 27th anniversary of the birthday of Mrs. Felts.

Refreshments were served and all had a most enjoyable time. One party engaged in the study of the Old Testament—in fifty-two numbers, while the remainder elected our next president and adjusted various national problems for a generation to come. There was also a Bible story by the host—and some more. The evening passed so agreeably and quickly that the presentation of the gold headed cane, four feet and sixteen inches long, to Mr. Felts with his name engraved thereon, and the fine 48-karat watch intended for the hostess were inadvertently overlooked.

On dispersing the guests expressed their appreciation of the manner of their reception and a determination to repeat the infliction on the same anniversary—for untold years to come.

ARE PLEASED WITH SHOWING

Local Option Campaign Opened Sunday
With Grand Rally.

Urgent Appeal to Voters to Make It Their Duty to Be At Polls and Vote.

The local option campaign was formally opened in this city last Sunday with a big rally at the opera house. Those in charge of the campaign expressed themselves as more than pleased with the showing made in all directions, and urged that the good work go on.

The question of the day was put up to the audience by the different speakers, and from now on the campaign will increase in interest and intensity throughout the county.

R. W. Kane, one of the speakers of the day, spoke along the lines of taxation and criminal record. He made plain to the audience that there has been less drunkenness during the dry regime, than during the wet, and that the financial condition of the county was in better shape than had been in years.

He exposed the cry of higher taxation, used by the wets, and gave figures that thoroughly convinced the audience that if the county was placed today on the same basis of population and expenses, taxes would be less, than during the wet regime. He also made plain to the audience if the law had been as rigidly enforced at the time the saloons were here, as they have been during the local option period, it would have been impossible for a saloon to remain in business.

Rev. L. H. Manning of Petoskey, gave an excellent address along the lines of prohibition. He said he could not see why the voters of this or any county would vote to again have the saloons among us, when they, as all admit, bring no good, nor in any way help the community. He appealed to the voters to make it their duty to be present at the polls on the coming election day, and use their influence to uplift mankind.

BOUGHT OUT BUSINESS

Frank W. Chamberlin Purchases Stock of Levi
Shea Estate.

Frank W. Chamberlin, well-known in the city, and who has been in the employ of the Shea estate for some time, has purchased the stock and good will and will conduct the business along the same progressive lines as heretofore. The stock is now being inventoried and in a few days Mr. Chamberlin will take possession. He is man of many years' experience in this line, an expert harness maker, and invites the old customers of the store, as well as new, to call when in need of repair work or horse furnishings.

WHOLE STATE IS FOR SALE

Everything Labeled in Florida Excepting Court House and Jail.

SECTION MEN ARE UNKNOWN

Trains Go When They Please and Arrive
When They Get Ready.

Tourists Kill Time By Playing Checkers, Pitching Quits and Buying Real Estate—Various Stunts Pulled Off at Auctions.

One of the finest things to attract attention in Florida is the number of "for sale" signs. It has been said and it is true, that everything in Florida is for sale except the court house and the jail. With so much for sale the principal business is real estate and in nearly every locality visited, there were more real estate agents than all the other business houses combined, and they are doing business too.

While I visited only a small portion of the state, conditions seemed the same everywhere, and probably the same way will be to take them up in detail. Jacksonville, the metropolis of the state, was the first city visited. Nearly everything and everybody going into or out of Florida passes through Jacksonville and a large business city has been built up, a city which was practically destroyed by fire a few years ago, quickly recovered, and the new city is a larger, better city than the old. It rained all the time I was in Jacksonville, so I didn't see much of the city, but it impressed me as bound to be a busy, growing, hustling city, but not much of a place to enjoy life in.

I left Jacksonville in the afternoon and took the boat for Sanford, up the St. Johns river. One of the few rivers in the world that flows north. The river is very wide and you can see very little of the surrounding country. When you wake up in the morning you have come to the narrow part of the river, which is very winding, passing through several lakes. The surrounding country all seems to be a desolate swamp region, the only signs of inhabitants being now and then a cow on a sand bar entirely surrounded by water and a common expression of the passengers is, "this is the first time I ever was in a country where you had to go to milk in a boat." However you are in Florida where everything is the first time, and as unreasonable as going miles in a boat to do the milking, Sanford is known as the "celery city." Here immense crops of celery and early vegetables are grown for the northern market and you see the great proportion of real estate men to the rest of the population. A trip through the truck farms is very interesting, and you listen with awe to the immense sums realized per acre from the early vegetables. When prices on lands are quoted you are also struck with awe again. Wild land full of palmettos and palmetto stumps, which as near as I can find out are harder to get rid of than pine stumps in Michigan, sells for $100 per acre and up. It is estimated that it will take another hundred or so to clear the ground and put in a system of irrigation, which is an absolute necessity, and about three years afterward to get the soil, or sand rather, so you can raise crops upon it. After this you must fertilize heavier—right here I want to impress upon you that all the land I ever seen in Florida is, in itself, absolutely worthless, it merely is something to hold the fertilizer, which is depended upon to raise the crop. If it should rain and it has rained at least twice a week since I have been in Florida, you have to apply another dose of fertilizer. For your crop you receive an immense price, but you have an immense amount of money invested and your market is limited. Improved

(Continued on page 4)

For Sale.
A few choice breeding pens of Barred Plymouth Rocks for breeding purposes at common prices.
Also eggs for hatching. Enquire at J. A. And.

ITCH! ITCH! ITCH!

Scratch and rub—rub and scratch—until you feel as if you could almost tear the burning skin from your body—until it seems as if you could no longer endure these endless days of awful torture—these terrible nights of sleepless agony.

Then—a few drops of D. D. D., the famous Eczema Specific and, Oh! what relief! The itch gone instantly! Comfort and rest at last!

D. D. D. is a simple external wash that cleanses and heals the inflamed skin as nothing else can. A recognized specific for Eczema, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum or any other skin trouble.

We can give you a full size bottle of the genuine D. D. D. remedy for $1.00 and if the very first bottle fails to give relief it will not cost you a cent.

We also can give you a sample bottle for 25 cents. Why suffer another day when you can get D. D. D.?

F. G. Hines & Co., Druggists

CORRESPONDENCE

A. W. Ross of Pelston was in town Friday.

Rev. E. H. Bridgwater of Kingsley called on Charlevoix friends on Tuesday.

Mr. A. N. Howe of Boyne Falls was in town Tuesday and again Friday.

Mrs. Clark of Chandler spent Thursday with her son, Lynn Clark and wife.

Hon. W. J. Pearson of Boyne Falls will speak at the M. E. Church on Sunday evening.

The L. A. S. will hold an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. S. E. Bass on Thursday.

Mrs. W. H. Hough returned Tuesday after a fortnight's visit with friends near Fort Wayne.

Miss Jean Cadden returned Monday to her school work at Petoskey, after a week's absence because of sickness.

The Young Peoples' Bible Class will give a box social at the K. O. T. M. Hall on Saturday evening. A short program will also be given.

Rev. Mr. Kennedy left Monday for a week's stay at Kingsley, as the guest of Rev. F. H. Bridgwater. Mrs. Kennedy will spend the week visiting friends in Alba.

Will Wagner of Saskatchewan is here on business. He speaks very highly of Northwestern Canada, and returns next week, accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Wagner of Walloua.

Two of Charlevoix's most popular young people, Vernon Brown and Miss Bess Brill surprised their friends by going to Charlevoix on Monday, March 4, and were married at the M. E. Parsonage by the Rev. Mr. Taylor.

INWOOD.

Fine weather for March first.

W. H. Mason is working for Mr. John Wolfe drawing wood.

The callers at the McGeough school were Mrs. Adelia Porter and Mrs. William Hense, last week.

Ernest Wheaton has returned again to school, after working a part of last week for the VanDusen Brothers.

Miss Sylvia Sutton visited her sister, Mrs. Fred Trimble Saturday.

DON'T GIVE UP

Discouraged Citizens Will Find Comfort in the Experience of a Charlevoix Man.

Experience is the modern instructor.

Profit by the experience of others. It may save your life.

The experience of friends and neighbors.

The testimony of Charlevoix people.

Will bring renewed encouragement.

Bert Beaudoin, 328 Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I have been bothered off and on for several months by my kidneys. The secretions were irregular in passage and I suffered from severe backaches and pains in the loins. I used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, obtained at the Ivy Drug Store, and they brought me splendid results. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for I am free from my aches and pains and the kidneys are normal."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMurray Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

returning home Sunday taking her sister home with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Trimble, who recently moved to the Arthur Beattie farm, visited her mother, Mrs. Emma Sutton and family Sunday.

Mrs. Byron Howlish and two children, Rena and Lloyd, of Charlevoix, visited her mother, Mrs. Stephen Hall this week.

The home of Mrs. Dora Wheaton caught fire Saturday afternoon, caused by a loose thimble around the stove pipe. Nothing was damaged very much with the exception of the ceiling.

EVELINE.

William Steinburg is busy cutting wood.

Thomas Wezel has been hauling wood to Ironton.

A pedro party was held at Knudsen's last Friday.

Chas. Bowen is working for Mr. Dennis, across the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Lyngklip spent Friday at Knudsen's.

Peter Knudsen was in East Jordan on business Saturday last.

Ladies' sewing society of the Ironton grange met at Lewis's last Wednesday.

Mrs. J. Roberts of East Jordan has been spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wezel.

Martin Peterson has returned to North Dakota, after spending a year with his parents in Eveline.

Backache Almost Unbearable

Is almost certain result of kidney trouble. D. Toomey, 233 E. Olive St., Bloomington, Ill., says: "I suffered with backache and pains in my kidneys which were almost unbearable. I gave Foley's Kidney Pills a good trial, and they have done wonders for me. Today I can do a hard day's work and not feel the effects." Sold

BAY SHORE.

Wm. Singer lost one of his driving horses Monday.

Mr. McRoberts of Cascade is visiting his mother, Mrs. Henry Ward.

Arthur Van Amburg and wife moved to Harbor Springs Wednesday.

J. C. Wallace left Monday for Sparta on a business and pleasure trip.

Mr. Batika was able to return to his home from Lockwood Hospital, where he underwent an operation.

The Reds and Blues of the Bay Shore Sunday school are gaining in number. The Blues have the largest number of credits. There were 100 in attendance at the last meeting.

How This.

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CLENEY & CO., Toledo, O., We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE, Toledo, Ohio. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 50 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MARION.

Mrs. Ward Ainslee was the guest of Mrs. Robert Gregory, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls spent Sunday with James Adams and family.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Marion Center grange met with Mrs. James Cook Thursday.

William Eastcott of Ellsworth spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Henry Black, last week.

Some of the friends and neighbors of Frank Smith and wife gathered at their home Tuesday evening, all having a good time.

HAYES.

George Howe has a very sick horse.

Fay Kane's baby died Sunday night.

Miss Edna Randall was a visitor at Mrs. Jones Lewis Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Howe spent Saturday and Sunday at Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Ferris.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Woodlen and daughter, Gladys, were visitors at H. Scroggie's Sunday.

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

Miss Carrie Miller of St. Louis, Mo., who is spending the winter in Charlevoix, visited the Normal Friday of last week and this week Monday, during the agricultural period to hear the discussion on birds.

Helen Pulepiper of Traverse City, who is visiting relatives in Charlevoix, visited the Normal Friday. Georgia Adams is somewhat better.

BALD-HEADED WOMEN

Shorn of Her Crown of Beauty, Loses in Love and Marriage.

Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald-headed woman? What charms could one array to offset such a disfigurement?

A woman's goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her beauty, happiness and success. Yet right here in Charlevoix, there are thousands of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.

Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated, or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough, or too often. They use soaps or preparations which contain ingredients positively harmful to the scalp and hair.

As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair loosens, loses color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases living about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions.

Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and we will positively guarantee that it will either cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything.

That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our own money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth and overcome scalp and hair troubles; that it will grow hair even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed, and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grew hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a thoroughly hard, impartial and practical test.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You had better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store.—The Rexall Store.—The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Michigan.

ter and was taken to her home in Central Lake Tuesday. We hope she will soon join the class again.

Winnie Cunningham substituted in Miss Manson's room Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Mayne Scroggie, president of class '08, visited the Normal Friday.

The class has completed its work in school law, and has started its work in geography.

R. G. Collins, Postmaster, Barneget, N. J., was troubled with a severe la grippe cough. He says: "I would be completely exhausted after each fit of violent coughing. I bought a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and before I had taken it all the coughing spells had entirely ceased. It can't be beat." Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

C. H. S. NOTES.

Florence Alexander was absent last week on account of illness.

Nellie Shearer has left school, and will go with her parents to Washington, where they expect to make their future home.

We are glad to have Robert Bridge with us again after a week's absence on account of tonsillitis.

Students and teachers are looking forward to the spring vacation which occurs the week before Easter.

Never before in the history of C. H. S. has the need of a good athletic park been felt as it is this spring. Until last year a small park was rented for our use, but even that was taken from us, and this spring finds us with no track and no baseball diamond. We have plenty of good material, however, for the track and baseball teams. Where shall this material be developed?

At a recent meeting of the Eta Beta Phi, the engineering honorary fraternity, sixteen men from the 1913 class were elected, including Jacob Leslie Craze and Emory Reid Hartog, both graduates of the Charlevoix high school, class of 1911.

The election of men to this organization is based not only on scholarly standing, but also strongly on personality and generality. Junior engineers ranking in scholarship within the highest one-eighth of their class, are eligible for consideration. From this number the new men are selected by the present active members of the chapter. Considering that the sixteen elected were from thirteen different cities in six different states, Charlevoix has reason to be proud that both of her two boys in the engineering department classified with the sixteen.

[This matter must not be reprinted without special permission.]

Officials of the Canadian department of agriculture put the damage to wheat in the western provinces at $2,000,000 annually.

Some one has found out that eating popcorn during the entire journey will prevent ear sickness. Incidentally it will please the "newsie."

Missouri does not excel in some lines of production, but she holds the banner for the biggest mules and corn-cobs produced in the country.

If one is located in a section where broom corn does well it is a paying crop, the price per ton of good quality product being about $240 per ton.

Anheim, Cal., is the center of an extensive celery raising district, from which 1,000 cars of the vegetable will be shipped during the present season.

New Zealand has twenty-four sheep for each inhabitant. Farmers of the United States would be better off than they are today if, as a country, we could make as good showing.

Sand and gravel are usually viewed as sort of plebian stuff in nature's economy and the business world, but it took $21,027,630 in 1910 to buy what was used in building and other purposes.

Don't hide your money

a burglar may be watching you

A burglar may have watched you hide that money. You may lose it. Put it in this bank, where it will be safe in our burglar and fire proof vaults—and from which you can withdraw it AT ANY TIME on demand. All your neighbors do this. Why not you.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

4% Interest Paid on Savings

CAPITAL, SURPLUS AND DEPOSITS $200,000.00
STATE DEPOSITORY

R. P. FOLEY, President

W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his farm one and one-half mile southwest of Charlevoix, on the Norwood Road, on

Tuesday, March 19, '12

Commencing at one o'clock, the following described property:

W. E. BYERS, AUCTIONEER

Well bred brood mare, good pedigree in-foul from Iron-Duke, due in July. Mare, 4 years old, foal of above mare. Cow, 7 years old, fresh. 7 Cows should be fresh as follows: Cow, 6 years old, fresh in March. Cow, 8 years old, fresh in April. Cow, 6 years old, fresh in April. Cow, 6 years old, fresh in May. Cow, 6 years old, fresh in May. Cow, 6 years old, fresh in May. Cow, 6 years old, fresh in May. One 2-year old bull. Good farm wagon. Pair hub sleighs. Good double buggy with canopy-top. Single buggy. Good cutter.

Set double work harness, used 1 year. Single heavy harness. 2 set single harness. Plow. Springtooth harrow. Single cultivator. Double shovel cultivator. Horse rake. Hay fork and ropes. Set double trees. Mowing machine. 2 corn planters. Paton planters. Cream separator. Four 10-gal milk cans. Milk cooler. One 5-gal milk can. 10-gal hbl churn. Cider press. Wire stretcher. Quantity of woven wire. Set tree pruners. 2000 shingles. Chains, forks and numerous other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums, over $10.00, nine months time on good approved bankable paper with interest at 7 per cent, payable at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

George W. Dennis, Prop.

Sale in charge of John Burns

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

SWANSON'S PAIN EXPELLER
Best Remedy for Constipation, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Belching and Liver Troubles. 25c Per Box at Druggists

SKIN SORES

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
$1,000.00 for Loss of Limb or Eye
$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
Cost $6.00 per year. No other Dues or Assessments.
Old established Company with $2,000,000 State Bond for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.
Men and Women between 16 and 65 accepted, according to occupation.
For further information address:
AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY
Dept. 19 Box 441 Erie, Pa.

Business Cards

EDWARD WIDHFIELD
ATTORNEY
STENOGRAPHER
Money to Loan on Real Estate
MAJOR GREEN OFFICE. Phone 238.

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plats on Short Notice
VAN PELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. E. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in Van Pelt Building
Over Lefevre's Store
Phone 133 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66; residence 265.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. H. ARMSTRONG, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co's drug store.
Telephone No. 255. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. Allergic given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6. Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

TELEPHONE 180 OR 45
To Get

O. W. POWERS
To do your
Plumbing, Heating and Tinning

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Afton counties. Address: Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

FRECKLES

By
Gene Stratton-Porter

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO

CHAPTER XIII.

FRECKLES' BUTTERFLIES.

OUT on the trail the Bird Woman wheeled on McLean with a dumounded look.

"No," said McLean, "I do not. But the poor boy knew it. Heaven help him!"

The Bird Woman stared across the gently waving swale. "I don't see how I am going to blame her," she said at last. "It's so exactly what I would have done myself."

"Say the rest," demanded McLean hoarsely. "Do him justice."

"He is a born gentleman," conceded the Bird Woman. "He took me and sent me. He never even offered to touch her. Whatever that kiss meant to him, he recognized it was the loving impulse of a child under stress of strong emotion. He was fine and manly as any man ever could have been."

McLean lifted his hat. "Thank you," he said simply and parted the bushes for her to enter Freckles' room.

It was her first visit, and before she left she sent for her ramblers and made studies of each side of it and of the cathedral. She was entranced with the delicate beauty of the place, and her eyes kept following Freckles as if she could not believe that it could be his conception and work.

That was a happy day. The Bird Woman had brought a lunch, and they spread it, with Freckles' dinner, on the study floor and sat about, resting and enjoying themselves. But the angel put her hands into its case, silently gathered up her music, and no one mentioned the concert.

The Bird Woman left McLean and the angel to clear away the lunch and with Freckles examined the walls of his room and told him all she knew about his shrubs and flowers. She analyzed a cardinal flower and showed him what he had all summer wanted to know—why the bees buzzed ineffectually about it while the hummingbirds found in it an ever-ready feast.

Some of his suggestions were so rare that she was unfamiliar with them, and with the flower book between them they knelt, studying the length of the cathedral aisle with him, and it was at her suggestion that he lighted his altar with a row of dancing foxglove.

As Freckles came up to the cabin from his long day at the swamp he saw Mrs. Chelken sweeping away to the south and wondered where she was going. He stepped into the bright, cozy little kitchen, and as he reached down the wash basin he asked Mrs. Duncan a question.

"Mother Duncan, do kisses wash off?"

"Lord, no, Freckles!" she cried. "At least the ones you get from people you love don't. They don't stay on the outside. They strike in until they find the center of your heart and make their stopping place there, and nothing can take them from you—I don't think even death. No, lad, you can't rest sure kisses don't wash off."

Freckles set the basin down and muttered, "I needn't be afraid of washing, then, for that one struck in."

"I wish," said Freckles at breakfast one morning, "that I had some way of sending a message to the Bird Woman. I've something down at the swamp that I'm believing never has opened before, and surely she'll be wanting it."

"What now, Freckles?" asked Mrs. Duncan.

"Why, the oddest thing you ever heard of," said Freckles. "The whole insect life gone on a spree. I'm supposing it's my fault, but it all happened by accident-like. You see, on the swale side of the line, right against me trail, there's one of these scrub wild crab trees. Where the grass grows thick about it is the finest place you ever conceived of for snakes. Having women about has set me trying to clean out those fellows a bit, and yesterday I noticed that tree in passing. It struck me that it would be a good idea to be taking it out. First I thought I'd take me hatchet and cut it down, for it isn't thicker than me upper arm. Then I remembered how it was blooming in the spring and filling all the air with sweetness. The color of the blossoms is beautiful, and I wanted to be killing it. I just cut the grass short all about it. Then I started at the ground, trimmed up the trunk near the height of me shoulder and left the top spreading. That made it look so truly ornamental that, like like, I chips off the rough places, and this morning, on the soil, it's a sight. You see, cutting off the limbs and trimming up the trunk sets the sap running. In this hot sun it ferments in a few hours. There isn't much room for more things to crowd on that tree than there are, and to get drunker isn't always possible."

"Well, I'm drawn out!" exclaimed Mrs. Duncan. "What kind of things do you mean, Freckles?"

"Why, just an army of black ants. Some of them are sucking away like old-timers. Some of them are setting up on their tails and hind legs, holding away with their legs, feet and wiping their eyes. Some are rolling around on the ground, contented. There are quantities of big blue beetles flies over the bark and hanging on the grasses about, too drunk to steer a course by, so they just buzz away like flies and all the time sitting still. The snake feeders are too full to feed anything, even more sap to them. There's a lot of hard backed bugs—beetles, I guess—colored like the hawthorn, blue and black of a peacock's tail. They hang on until the legs at them are so white they can't stick a minute longer, and then they break away and fall to the ground. They just lay there on their backs, fairly clawing air. When it wears off a bit, up they get and go crawling back for more, and they do it over. Sometimes they can't climb the tree until they wait to sober-up a little. There's a lot of big beetles and good butterflies, done for entire, standing over the bark and rolling on the ground. They just lay there on their backs, rocking from side to side, slugging to themselves like fat, happy babies. The wild bees keep up a steady buzzing with the beating of their wings.

"The butterflies are the worst offenders of them all. They're just a first class. You never saw the heat of the best of them. They come every color you could be naming, and every shape you could be thinking up. They drink and drink until I'm driving them away they stagger as they fly and turn somersaults in the air. If I have them alone they cling to the grasses, shivering happy-like, and I'm best, Mother Duncan, if the best of them could be unhooking the front door with a lead pencil, even."

"I never heard of anything so surprising," said Mrs. Duncan.

"It's a rare sight to watch them, and no one ever made a picture of a thing like that before. I'm for thinking," said Freckles earnestly.

"No," said Mrs. Duncan. "You can be pretty sure there didn't. The Bird Woman must have word in some way. If you walk the line and I walk to town and tell her."

Freckles took his lunch and went down to the swamp. He could find no trace of anything, yet he felt a tense nervousness, as if trouble might be brooding. He came around to his room and cautiously scanned the entrance before he stepped in. Then he pushed the bushes apart with his right arm and entered, his left hand on the butt of his favorite revolver. Instantly he knew that some one had been there. He could find no trace of a clew to confirm his belief, yet so intimate was he with the spirit of the place that he knew.

He was most sure about the case. Nothing was disturbed, yet it seemed to Freckles that he could see where prying fingers had tried the lock. He stepped back of the case, carefully examining the ground all about it, and close by the tree to which it was called he found a deep, fresh footprint in the spongy soil—a long, narrow print, that was never made by the foot of a Western. The feeling rose that he was being watched.

Growing restful at last under the strain, he plunged boldly into the swamp and searched minutely all about his room, but he could not discover the least thing to give him further cause for alarm. Every rod he traveled he used the caution that sprang from knowledge of danger and the direction from which it would probably come. Several times he thought of sending for McLean, but for his life he could not make up his mind to do it with nothing more tangible than one footprint to justify him.

He waited until he was sure Duncan would be at home, if he were coming for the night, before he went up to him.

"I wouldn't be so foolish as to laugh at such a manifest truth as that," said the angel. "Any one that knows you even half as well as I do knows that you are never guilty of a discourtesy and you move with twice the grace of any man here. Why shouldn't you feel as if you belonged where people are graceful and courteous?"

"On me soul," said Freckles, "you are kind to be thinking it. You are doubly kind to be saying it."

The curtain parted, and a woman came toward them. Her skirts and lace trailed along the polished floor. The lights gleamed on her neck and arms and flashed from "ruby jewels." She was smiling softly and until she spoke, Freckles did not fully realize that it was his loved Bird Woman.

Noticing his bewilderment, she cried, "Why, Freckles, don't you know me in my war clothes?"

"I do in the uniform in which you fight the Timberlost," said Freckles.

The Bird Woman broke into a laugh. Then he told her why he had come.

CHAPTER XIV.
CAPTURED BY BLACK JACK.

AS they talked the angel was busy packing a box of sandwiches, cake, fruit and flowers. She gave him a list of frosty glass, thanked him repeatedly for bringing news of new material, and then Freckles went out into the night. He rode for the Timberlost with his eyes on the stars.

The one thing Freckles knew that he could do was to sing. The Duncans heard him coming a mile up the corduroy and could not believe their senses. Freckles hastened the box from his belt and gave Mrs. Duncan and the children all the sandwiches it contained, except one big piece of cake that he carried to the sweet loving Duncan. He put the flowers back in the box and set it up among his books. He did not say anything, but they understood it was to be touched.

Then Freckles started for the swamp. As he rode he sang, and as he sang he worshipped, but the god he tried to glorify was a dim and far-away mystery. The angel was warm and fresh and bright.

(Continued on page 7.)

"Were you expecting me?"

"Why, of course," exclaimed the angel. "Haven't you come to my party? Didn't you get my invitation? I sent you one."

"By golly," asked Freckles.

"Yes," said the angel. "I had to help with the preparations, and I couldn't find time to drive out. But I wrote you a letter and told you that the Bird Woman was giving a party for me and we wanted you to come. I told them at the office to put it with Mr. Duncan's mail."

"Then that's likely where it is at present," said Freckles. "Duncan only comes to town once a week, and at times not that. He's home tonight for the first in a week. He's waiting in hour for the mail I was giving to the Bird Woman with a letter to tell me about it. Is she where I can see her?"

"The angel's face clouded. "What a disappointment!" she cried. "I did so want all my friends to know you. Can't you stay anyway?"

Freckles glanced from his waistcoat to the patent leathers of his shoes, and the angel's friends were in and smiled whimsically, but there was a danger of his ever indulging in again.

"You know I cannot, angel," he said. "I am afraid I do," she said ruefully. "It's too bad. But there is a thing I want for you more than to come to my party, and that is to hang on and win with your work. I think of you every day, and I just pray that those thieves are not getting ahead of you. Oh, Freckles, do watch closely!"

She was so lovely a picture as she stood before him, intent in his cause, that Freckles could not take his eyes from her to notice what her friends were thinking. If she did not mind, why should he? Anyway, if they really were the angel's friends, probably they were better acquainted to her ways than he.

"Must I go for the Bird Woman?" she pleaded.

"Indeed, you must," answered Freckles firmly.

The angel returned to say that the Bird Woman was telling a story to those inside and she could not come for a short time.

"You won't come in?" she pleaded.

"I must not," said Freckles. "I am not dressed to be among your friends."

"Then," said the angel, "we mustn't go through the house, because it would disturb the story, but I want you to come around the outside way to the conservatory and have some of my birthday lunch and get some cake to take to Mrs. Duncan and the ladies."

The night was warm and the angel most beautiful and kind. A sort of triple delirium of spirit, mind and body seized upon Freckles and developed a business all manner of things. He slightly parted the heavy curtains that separated the conservatory from the company and looked in. He almost stopped breathing. He had read of things like that, but he had never seen them.

"Do you suppose heaven is any finer than that?" asked Freckles.

The angel burst into a laugh. "Do you want to be laughing harder than that?" queried Freckles.

"A laugh is always good," said the angel. "A little more avoirdupois won't hurt me. Go ahead!"

"Well, then," said Freckles, "it's only that I feel all over as if I belonged in there. I could wear fine clothes and move over those floors and had me own against the best of them."

"But where does my laugh come from?" demanded the angel as if she had been defrauded.

"And you ask me where the laugh comes in, looking me in the face after that," marveled Freckles.

"I wouldn't be so foolish as to laugh at such a manifest truth as that," said the angel. "Any one that knows you even half as well as I do knows that you are never guilty of a discourtesy and you move with twice the grace of any man here. Why shouldn't you feel as if you belonged where people are graceful and courteous?"

"On me soul," said Freckles, "you are kind to be thinking it. You are doubly kind to be saying it."

The curtain parted, and a woman came toward them. Her skirts and lace trailed along the polished floor. The lights gleamed on her neck and arms and flashed from "ruby jewels." She was smiling softly and until she spoke, Freckles did not fully realize that it was his loved Bird Woman.

Noticing his bewilderment, she cried, "Why, Freckles, don't you know me in my war clothes?"

"I do in the uniform in which you fight the Timberlost," said Freckles.

The Bird Woman broke into a laugh. Then he told her why he had come.

Be Safe---Not Sorry

4 per cent is the limit of what can be paid by a bank and conduct its business on lines of the strictest conservatism. In short, it is the rate that is consistent with absolute safety.

There are many schemes and seemingly attractive investments that offer more, but with every added per cent comes and added risk, and why should you take any risk when you are investing the net results of your labor and economy.

A man who loses his savings, thus acquired, usually quits saving from discouragement. "Better be safe than sorry," is a good maxim to observe in choosing a place for investment.

WE PAY 4 PER CENT.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nichols Harry Nichols A. Bettars A. R. Bridge
Co-Partners
Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

Gypsine and Muresco Wall Finish

PAINTS OILS VARNISHES

Ranges, Oil and Gasoline Stoves

GRANITE AND TIN WARE

Very Best Woven Fence Wire

ROPE AND CORDAGE

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

SIGNET RINGS

It is only fitting and appropriate that what might be designed in Men's jewelry especially in the way of rings would be even more beautiful when made to fit the dainty feminine finger. In proof of this we ask you to come in and look at our beautiful Signet and Seal Rings, and in order to offer an inducement during this week we will engrave you Initials FREE.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH -- That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clearest money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience you can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 20-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were plotting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't you be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide awake men who received our special selling inducement, rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars in enlarging our safe operation, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 16T.

THE VICTOR SAFE & LOCK CO.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Part, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.
I CURE NERVOUS PROBLEMS from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure no matter how long standing.
I CURE EYES. Ectropion, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc. by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.
I CURE RHEUMATISM in 30 days in any case and to never return.
I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Many a fatal study of this disease for 27 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. These I cannot treat at home by seeing or mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private care are given for 10 a week.
I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.
Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and the advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars--life itself--to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M.D.
Holding Sanitarium & Retreat, Belding, Mich. or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Mrs. Elmer Johnson is out again after a short illness.

Mrs. G. W. Priest spent a few days in Petoskey last week.

Don't forget the Showman's Ward at Majestic Thursday, March 14.

Mrs. Wm. Scroggie, Sr., spent Sunday with her son Lee at Saginaw.

Mrs. W. J. Rachow left Tuesday for Detroit where she will make a short visit.

Frank Geiken of Pellston was in the city on business the first of the week.

Charles Wilkinson of the M. A. C. is home, having been sick for some time.

Potatoes have reached the dollar mark in many of our neighboring markets.

Mrs. Lena Levinson visited relatives at Harbor Springs the first of the week.

Mrs. D. S. Payton visited her son, Vernon and family at Traverse City over Sunday.

Mrs. L. M. Devor took treatments at the Saville Sanitarium at Petoskey last week.

Miss Kathryn Lapeer returned Friday from East Jordan, where she visited friends.

Rev. Taylor will deliver a local option address at the M. E. church Sunday morning.

The funeral services for Arthur Gilden were held from the M. E. church last Friday.

Miss Ruth A. Anderson of Petoskey is visiting relatives and friends here, for a few days.

Dan Goodman of East Jordan was in the city Saturday, settling with the County Treasurer.

Mrs. Tooley of Boyne City visited at the home of her parents, L. W. Fitch and wife last week.

Mrs. May Moore of West Branch, came here to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Papineau.

Dr. A. M. Wilkinson left Monday for Lansing where he is attending a State Local Option meeting.

Miss Mildred Johnson returned home last Thursday from her visit at Mount Pleasant and Detroit.

Harry Dodge arrived Friday from Detroit, expecting to remain for some time at the parental home.

Miss Amy Harsha is expected home today after making a short visit with friends at Grand Rapids.

Albin Smith will occupy the Madill house on W. Upright Ave., it having been vacated by the owner.

Mrs. W. E. Hampton left Tuesday for Detroit where she will visit her son, Harold, for about three weeks.

The Misses Cohen entertained a number of their girl friends at a pot-luck supper last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Peter Vandermade entertained five of her girl friends at a nine o'clock breakfast Saturday morning.

Mrs. Robert Davidson and son Morgan, of Evansdale, Indiana, are in the city overlooking their cottage.

Roy Ripley and family moved into the house owned by Charles Plunt on Huribut Avenue, last week.

Miss Ruth Ensey is expected home tonight from Grand Rapids, where she has been for the past few days visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rachow entertained ten of their friends at a luncheon Sunday evening, after which music was indulged in.

Miss Neat of Grand Rapids, who trimmed for Mrs. M. E. Atcheson last year, has arrived and will act in the same capacity the coming season.

A regular business meeting of the local option union will be held at the Carnegie library Monday evening, March 18, at 7:30 p. m. All are invited.

Mrs. M. E. Atcheson has had the walls of her millinery store repapered and painted, which will add greatly to its appearance for the spring opening.

Miss Pearl Curtis of Manistee, who is well known among the Charlevoix people, left Monday for Rochester, Minn., where she visits a sister who is a trained nurse.

Mrs. John Lamphear entertained about twenty of her lady friends at a 5:00 party last Wednesday evening. Dainty refreshments were served and everyone had a very good time.

Robert Madill, wife and daughter, Anna, left Tuesday for their new home at Kalamazoo. Their many friends are sorry to lose them from their midst and wish them all success.

Miss Ruby Emory arrived Saturday after spending the winter months in Detroit and Grand Rapids, and is now getting her millinery store in order for the coming season.

Miss Noleska, of Chicago, arrived Monday to act as trimmer for the Emory Millinery Store. She is well fitted to fill the position having come with the best of recommendations.

An Iowa editor was asked, "Do boys pay?" He replied "a good many do not; they take the paper several years and then have the postmaster send it back marked 'refused' or 'gone west'."

Albert June, who was born in June, Fla., is going to marry Ethel June Hadway of Hudson Falls, N. Y. They'll wed in June, live in June, and who knows what else might happen in June. It may be a divorce.

Among those who went to Cadillac for the K. of P. team work, Tuesday were R. A. Emrey, O. D. Hammond, A. L. Fitch, Art Alcox, E. J. Hiller, R. A. Washburn, Will Graves, Harold Bedford, and Will Scroggie, Jr.

At the primary election held in Petoskey last week, W. L. McMann, the present republican mayor, defeated Dr. John Reycraft for the nomination. It is said that Reycraft, who formerly was mayor, may run on an independent ticket.

There will be a Poverty Social in the basement of the Barnard church Tuesday, March 19. Come with lots of small change and a determination to enjoy the Poverty Social, and the chief of the good time hour promises you not to be disappointed.

J. L. Crane, Jr., has been elected to the Tan Beta Pi, the honorary engineering society at the University of Michigan. This is considered one of the greatest honors on the campus as the members are chosen from the students with the highest scholarship.

An examination will be held here on April 13, for postmaster for Bay Shore, also for other vacancies which may occur at that office.

Application forms can be secured from the postmaster at Bay Shore and must be filled in seven days previous to the examination.

The Congregational pastor will give the third number in the series of addresses on "Through the Mill" next Sunday evening. Subject—"To The Dumping Ground, and Dollar-Down, Dollar-a-Week." Those who do not attend, services elsewhere are cordially invited to be present.

Try for a time the experiment of buying only advertised articles for your home, choosing wisely and giving the task enough of your attention to determine whether or not it is worth your while. Not one who does this will ever go back to the old way of guessing where to get it, and wonder if it cost too much.

After several years of successful business and editorial management of the Traverse City Record and the Weekly Herald, and the Daily Record-Herald, J. W. Hansen, editor and secretary of the company, has resigned and will become one of the managers of the Taft campaign in the state, with headquarters at Grand Rapids.

Peter Vandermade entertained ten of his friends at a "stag" party last Wednesday evening. It was in the form of a six o'clock, six course turkey dinner, and the young men did their full duty by the delicious dinner. The place cards were very unique, the table decorations being of daffodils. After the dinner, cards and music were indulged in, and when the guests departed they all congratulated "Pete" upon his ability as host, especially when assisted by Mrs. Vandermade.

Bargain in Chickens. If you are looking for a snap here's your chance. 75 First class White Leghorn hens, 2 coops, 12x24, and 8x30. Reliable 200 egg incubator and 3 brooders. Will take $125 for the outfit if taken at once. Inquire at this office. 111f

For Sale. Black 1 year old colt, weight 1450 pounds. Jos. Sprick, Route 4, Phone 93, 1st Bldg. 91f

To the Farmers of Charlevoix and Vicinity. We have decided to put out a limited acreage of sweet corn to be delivered in Charlevoix. If you wish any of same it would be well to communicate with us at once. 514 Respectfully, Central Lake Canning Company

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE. Christian Science Society, Van-Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Substance." Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m. Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH. Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

METHODIST CHURCH. 9:30 a. m. Class Meeting. 10:30 a. m. Local Option address by the pastor. 12:00 m. Sunday School. 6:00 p. m. Epworth League. 7:00 p. m. Evening Sermon. Prayer Meeting Thursday evening, 7:30.

Bible study Friday evening at 7:30 at Frank Metcalf's. You are welcomed to all our services.

BAPTIST CHURCH. Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor. Morning Service, 10:30 a. m.—Subject, "Miracle of Nain." Sunday School at 11:45.

B. Y. P. U. 6:00 p. m.—Subject, "Success Worth Having and Not Worth Having." Leader, Miss Florence Rudolph. Evening service 7:00 p. m.—Subject: "Saved by Grace." Prayer Meeting Thursday evening.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Borgess school house. "Strangers always welcome."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. Morning service at 10:30. Sermon by the pastor. Sunday School at 12 m. Service at Ironton at 2:30.

Meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 p. m. Topic, "Success Worth Having and Not Worth Having." The meeting is to be led by Prof. DeVoe. Evening service at 7 o'clock. The pastor will give the 3rd number in the addresses on "Through the Mill."

Mid-week service Thursday evening at 7:30. The Boy Scouts will meet Friday evening with Cornelius Geiken at 7 o'clock, March 22.

Missionary Meeting. The Woman's Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. John Burns, on Friday, March 15. The subject for discussion is, "The Highlanders." Responses of roll call will be from the book of Matthew. The following will be given:

Devotional. Music, Mrs. Burns. Who are the Highlanders, Miss Miller. Rural Education of the Highlanders, Miss Rodger. Vocal solo, Mrs. Burdick. Pres. Eliot's Address, "The Worth of the Mountain People," Mrs. Eagleton. The Work of Mrs. Barnberg, Mrs. Parmelee. Instrumental Duet, Misses Weaver and Parsons.

Building For Sale. A large frame building on Belvedere Avenue formerly occupied by Barth as a boiler shop. See adv. in bargain column for description. 101f

Reduce Your Meat Bill. You can do it if you buy your meats at us. Always choice cuts on hand. A phone order will bring one to your door. Morse Meat Market. Phone 125. 101f

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than five first insertion.

WANTED—Girl for general house work. Apply Mrs. J. L. Crane. 101f

WANTED—Young lady attend school to help with housework. Inquire Mrs. Meyer Cohen. 91f

FOR SALE—Two houses and lots, corner Antlin and State streets. Will sell at a bargain. Inquire Harrison Hettford. 91f

LOST—A Ketchikan pin either at W. C. T. U. meeting, at home of Mrs. Shore's, or between there and home of George Fapman. Finder leave it in this office. 111f

FOR SALE—The large frame building in Charlevoix known as the Barth Boiler Shop, to be removed by buyer from present premises. Can be bought cheap if taken at once. See Robert W. Kane at Charlevoix, or W. H. Aldrich Room 101 Niscon Temple, Chicago, Ill. 241f

SALESMEN—For Kero-Vapo Incandescent Lamps. Profitable proposition in home territory. Expects lamp and suburban home needs it. High class, guaranteed article, make any other. No competition. Write for particulars. Des Moines, Iowa. 241f

CRANE'S

Special for Saturday March 19

Spring 1912 Muslin Gowns

These are made from fine Muslins and are beautifully trimmed in lace and embroidery. They are all

$1.25 and $1.50 Garments and must be seen to be appreciated

A large quantity direct from the manufacturer in New York enables us to make you this offer.

ONE DAY ONLY

--95c--

2 Only to Each Customer

We Need the Money

To get it we will sell for CASH ONLY for 7 days beginning

March 14 and ending March 21

30c broom for	19c
8c pkg. Green Circle Raisins	5c
2 5c pkgs Bazaar Matches	5c
10c Indian Corn Flakes	5c
3 10c Krinkle Corn Flakes	25c
12 bars Calumet Soap	25c
3 10c bottles Amonia	25c
3 10c bottles Blueing	25c
6 lbs. bulk Gloss Starch	25c
4 lbs. Quaker Corn Starch	25c
4 pounds A & H Soda	25c
1 pound 15c Prunes	10c
3 cans Lima Beans	25c
3 cans 10c Beans	25c
3 cans Coral Corn	25c
3 cans 10c Sliced Peaches	25c
3 cans Crushed Oranges	25c
3 cans Pork and Beans	25c
100 lbs. Michigan Sugar	$6.40

Shoes and Groceries very Cheap for 7 days only

BERT MASON

Cash Grocer

SPRING OPENING

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY March 22 and 23

Excellent display of exclusive spring and early summer models in fine Ladies' Misses' and Children's

MILLINERY

A complete assortment in dainty spring shapes. These hats are the standard of excellence in quality and style and are representative of the

Season's Latest Models In Ladies' Head Wear

EMORY'S HAT SHOP

Near Bridge

Telephone 362

FRECKLES

By Gene Stratton-
Porter

COPYRIGHT 1904 BY DOUBLEDAY
PAGE & CO

(Continued from page three)

With the near approach of dawn Freckles turned his last note. Wounded almost to falling, he turned from the trail into the path leading to the cabin for a few hours' rest.

As Freckles left the trail from the cabin near the south entrance four large, muscular men rose up and swiftly and carefully entered the swamp by the wagon road. Two of them carried a big saw, the third coils of rope and wire, and all were heavily armed. They left one man on guard at the entrance. The other three made their way through the darkness and soon were at Freckles' room. He had left the swamp on his wheel from the west trail. They counted on his returning on the wheel and entering the east line before he came there. "A little below the west entrance to Freckles' room Black Jack stepped into the swamp and, blinding a wire light about a scrub oak, carried it below the waving grasses, stretched it taut across the trail and fastened it to a tree in the swamp. Then he obliterated all signs of his work and arranged the grass over the wire until it was so completely covered that only minute examination would reveal it. They entered Freckles' room with coarse oaths and jests. In a few moments his specimen case with its precious contents was pulled back into the swamp and the saw was cutting into one of the finest trees of the lumberlot.

As soon as Freckles was well down the east line the watch was posted below the room on the west to report his coming. It was but a few moments before the signal came. Then the saw stopped, and the rope was brought out and uncoiled near a sapling. Wessner and Black Jack crowded to the very edge of the swamp a little above the wire and crouched waiting.

They heard Freckles before they saw him. He came clipping down the line at a good pace, and as he rode in was singing softly.

"Oh, do you love—
Oh, say you love!"
He got no further. The sharply driven wheel struck the tense wire and bounded back. Freckles shot over the handle bar and coasted down the trail on his chest. As he struck Black Jack and Wessner were upon him.

BLACK JACK STOPPED HIM WITH AN OATH. Wessner clapped an old hat over Freckles' mouth, while Black Jack twisted his arms back of him, and they rushed him into his room. At most before he realized that anything had happened he was rushed up to a tree and securely gazed.

Then three of the men resumed work on the tree. The other followed the path Freckles had worn to Little Chicken's tree, and presently he reported that the wires were down and two teams with the tonding apparatus coming to take out the timber. All the time the saw was slowly eating, ratling into the big tree.

Wessner went out to the trail and removed the wire. Then he stood in front of Freckles and laughed in devilish hate. Freckles found himself looking fear in the face and miry eyes that he was not afraid. Four to one the tree highway eaten through, the wagons coming up the inside road, in bound and gagged! The men with Black Jack and Wessner had belonged to McLean's gang when last he had heard of them, but who those coming with the wagons might be he could not guess.

If they seemed that tree McLean lost its value, lost his wages and lost his faith in him. The words of the angel hammered in his ears. "Oh Freckles, do watch closely!"
And the saw ate on.
When the tree was down and loaded what would they do? Pull and leave him there to report them? It was not to be hoped for. The plan had always been to kill him. It could mean but one thing.
A mist swam before his eyes, and dead swam. Was it only last night that he had worshipped the angel in a delirium of happiness? And now what? Wessner, released from a turn at the saw, walked over to the flower bed and, tearing up a handful of rare ferns by the roots, started toward Freckles. His intention was obvious. Black Jack stopped him with an oath. "You see here, lutey," he howled, "mighty you think you'll wash big face with that, but you won't. A contractor's a contractor. We agreed to take out these trees and leave him for you to dispose of whatever way you please provided you shut him up eternally on this deal. But I'll not see a tied man tormented by a fellow that he can lick on the ground with, loose, and that's that. It raises my gorge to think you'll get when we're gone, but you mustn't think you're free to beat the law. Don't you lay a hand on him while I'm here. What do you say, boy?"

"I say yes," growled one of McLean's latest deserters. "What's more, we're a pack of fools to risk the dirty work of silencing him. I don't mind lifting the trees we came for, but I'm cursed if I wait blood on my hands."

"Well, you ain't going to get it," bel howled Jack. "You fellows only contracted to help me get out my marked trees. He belongs to Wessner, and it ain't our deal what happens to him. It's all planned safe and sure. As for killing that lutey—come to think of it, killing is what he needs. He's away to good for this world of woe anyhow. His dropping out won't be the only secret the old Lumberlot has never told. It's too dead easy to make it look like he helped take the timber and then cut. Why, he's played right into our hands. He was here at the swamp all last night and back again in an hour or so. When we get our plan worked out even old fool Dunman won't lift a finger to look for his carcass."

"You just bet," said Wessner. "I owe him all he'll get. But I'll pay!" he snarled at Freckles.

So it was killing then. They were not only after this one tree, but many, and with his body it was their plan to kill his honor. To brand him a thief, like them, before the angel, the Bird Woman, the dear boss and the Duncans! Freckles' body sagged against the ropes in sick despair.

There was no hope of McLean's coming. They had chosen a day when they knew he had a big contract at the south camp. The boss could not possibly come before tomorrow, and there would be no tomorrow for him. Dunman was on his way to the south camp, and the Bird Woman had said she would come as soon as she could. After the fatigue of the party it was useless to expect her and the angel today, and God save them from ruin!

The sweat broke out on Freckles' forehead. He tugged at the ropes whenever he felt that he dared, but they were passed about the tree and his body several times and knotted on his chest. He resolved that he would bear in mind what he had once heard the Bird Woman say. He would go out bravely. Never would he let them see if he grew afraid. After all, what did it matter what they did to his body if by some scheme of the devil they could compass his disgrace?

Then hope suddenly rose high in Freckles' breast. They could not do that. The angel would not believe. Neither would McLean. He would keep up his courage. Kill him they could; dishonor him they could not.

Yet, summon all the fortitude he might, that saw eating into the tree rasped his nerves worse and worse. With whirling brain he gazed up into the Lumberlot, searching for something, he knew not what, and in blind horror found his eyes fastened on the angel. She was quite a distance away, but he could see her white face and wide, angry eyes.

Last week he had taken her and the Bird Woman across the swamp over the path he followed in going in from his room to the chicken tree. He had told them last night that the butterfly tree was on the line close to this path in figuring on their not coming that day he failed to reckon with the enthusiasm of the Bird Woman. They must be there for the study, and the angel had risked crossing the swamp in search of him. Or was there something in his room they needed? The blood surged in his ears like the roar of the Lumberlot in the wrath of a storm.

He looked again, and it had been a dream. She was not there. Had she been? For his life Freckles could not tell whether he had really seen the angel or whether his strained senses had played him the most cruel trick of all. Or was it not the kindest? Now he could die with the vision of her lovely face fresh with him.

"Thank you for that, O God," whispered Freckles. "Twas more than kind of you, and I don't expect I ought to be wanting anything more, but if you can, oh, I wish I could know before this ends if 'twas me mother!" Freckles could not even whisper the words, for he hesitated a second and ended—"It 'twas me mother did it!"

"Freckles! Freckles! Oh, Freckles!" the voice of the angel came calling. Freckles swayed forward and wrenched at the rope until it cut deep into his body.

Black Jack whipped out a revolver and snatched the gag from Freckles' mouth.

"Say quick, what's that, or it's up with you right now and whoever else is with you!"

"It's the girl the Bird Woman takes about with her," whispered Freckles through dry, swollen lips.

"They ain't the same," Freckles said, "I saw 'em five days ago," said Wessner. "I got on in that last week."

"Yes," said Freckles, "but I found a tree covered with butterflies and things above the east line yesterday. That I thought the Bird Woman was, a want extra, and I went to town to her last night. She said she'd come soon, but she didn't say when. I took care of the girl while the Bird Woman works. Cut me quick again she is gone. I'll try to send her back and then you can go on with your dirty work."

"He ain't lying," volunteered Wessner. "I saw that tree covered with butterflies and him watching around it when we were spying on him yesterday."

"No, he leaves lying to your sort, snapped Black Jack as he untied the rope and pitched it across the room. "Remember that you're covered every move you make, my buck," he cautioned.

"Freckles! Freckles!" came the angel's impatient voice, nearer and nearer.

"I must be answering," said Freckles, and Jack nodded. "Right here," he called, and to the men: "You go on with your work, and remember one thing yourselves. The work of the Bird Woman is known all over the world. This girl's father is a right man, and she is all he has. If you offer hurt of any kind to either of them this world has no place for you enough away nor dark enough for you to be hiding in."

"Freckles, where are you?" demanded the angel.

—Soul sick with fear for her, Freckles went toward her and parted the bushes that she might enter. She came through without apparently giving him a glance, and the first words she said were: "Why have the gang come so soon? I didn't know you expected them for three weeks yet. It is this some special tree that Mr. McLean needs to fill an order right now?"

Freckles hesitated. Would a man dare lie to save himself? No. But to save the angel—surely that was different. He opened his lips, but the angel was capable of saving herself. She walked in among them; exactly as if she had been raised in a lumber camp and never waited for an answer.

"Why, your specimen case!" she cried. "Look! Haven't you noticed that it's tipped over? Set it straight quickly!"

A couple of men stepped out and carefully righted the case.

"There, that's better," she said. "Freckles, I'm surprised at your being so careless. It would be a shame to break those lovely butterflies for one old tree. Is that a valuable tree? Why didn't you tell us last night you were going to take a tree out this morning? Oh, say, did you put your case there to protect that tree from that stealing old Black Jack and his gang? I bet you did! Well, if that wasn't bright! What kind of a tree is it?"

"It's a golden cat," said Freckles. "Like those they make dining tables and sideboards out of?"

"Yes."
"My, how interesting," she cried. "I don't know a thing about timber, but my father wants me to learn about just everything I can. I am going to ask him to let me come here and watch you until I know enough to boss a gang myself. Do you like to cut trees, gentlemen?" she asked of the men with angelic sweetness.

Some of them looked foolish and some grinned, but one managed to say that they did. Then the angel's eyes turned full on Black Jack, and she gave the most beautiful little start of astonishment.

"Oh, I almost thought that you were a ghost!" she cried. "But I see now that you are really and truly. Where you ever in Colorado?"

"No," said Jack.

A FAIR OFFER

Your Money Back If You're Not Satisfied.

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. That's a mighty broad statement, but we mean every word of it. Could anything be more fair for you?

A most scientific, common sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. Their active principle is a recent scientific discovery that is odorless, colorless and tasteless; very pronounced, yet gentle and pleasant in action; and particularly agreeable in every way. They do not cause diarrhea, nausea, flatulence, griping, or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

If you suffer from chronic or habitual constipation, or the associate or dependent chronic ailments, we urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Remember, you can get them in Charlevoix only at our store, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 30 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold only at our store.—The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Heavy Materials For Auto Road.—The excessive cost of keeping the auto roads in repair has led the highway builders in some countries to the sylvanite to contract for the construction of roads with hard surfaced materials.

It is claimed that the swift road automobiles suck up the finer particles and scatter them to the winds and in a short time can blow the road away.

We do Fine Jobbing.

THE

NEW YEAR

Is here and every office and store are in need of a

RENEWED STATIONERY EQUIPMENT

When a printing job is needed in a hurry bring it to The Courier. We carry stock

SUITABLE FOR ALL CLASSES OF WORK.

Consult The Courier about your Printing needs. Do this early. Don't wait until your last sheet of paper or envelope is gone and then possibly have to wait until the other business man ahead of you is accommodated.

THREE REASONS

Why Advertisers Should use The Courier Columns:

Has the Largest Circulation

Is all Home Print

Its Grange and Correspondence Pages Make it especially valuable as an Advertising Medium.

The COURIER PRESS

Phone No. 22-

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

ROYAL

BAKING-POWDER

Absolutely Pure

Makes Home Baking Easy

No other aid to the housewife is so great, no other agent so useful and certain in making delicious, wholesome foods

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum No Lime Phosphates

Grange Column

Bay Shore Grange No. 1521

The regular meeting was held Friday evening. All officers present except two. One application card presented and four elected to membership. The special committee prepared an article which they recommended that the Grange adopt for article number ten of the by-laws, which was accepted.

Four candidates were given the first and second degrees, the new goal making its first appearance.

Lecture hour was in charge of the Worth-Lecturer. Roll call responded to with a current event. Discussion "Is the Grange doing as much to make better housekeepers, as it to make better farmers," by Mrs. Geo. Long and others. Reading by Mrs. Samuel Long. "The test of a profitable cow," by Bert D. Jones and others. Recitation by J. C. Wallace. Musical contest by Blanche Wallace. "Bay Shore 25 years from now" by Mrs. Pillman. Recitation by Clarence Boak. Penny drill. All members requested to respond to roll call at the next meeting by giving a quotation or funny story. Fifty-four members present, four visitors from Maple Grove Grange and one from Cascade Grange, Kent county. The next meeting will be held Friday March 22nd.

A Cold, La Grippe, Then Pneumonia is too often the fatal sequence, and coughs that hang on weaken the system and lower the vital resistance. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable medicine that stops that cough promptly by healing the cause, soothes the inflamed air passages, and checks the cold. Keep always on hand. Refuse substitutes. Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

Maple Grove Grange, No. 1255.

Maple Grove Grange No. 1255 met in regular session, Saturday, March 9, with Past Master A. Wooden in the chair.

After the business session, the past master called for the lecturer's program, which consists of readings, story telling, talk on raising sweet corn on contract, also a line talk from our life insurance agent

O. Tillotson Jr. The lecture requests all members to come prepared for this hour, with a song, reading, recitation, or a story.

All members are requested to be present at next meeting, March 16. Grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks. After grange supper was served by the supper committee.

How Cold Causes Kidney Disease.

Partly by driving blood from the surface and congesting the kidneys, and partly by throwing too much work upon them. Foley's Kidney Pills strengthen the kidneys, give tone to the urinary organs and restore the normal action of the bladder. They are tonic in action, quick in results. Try them. Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

Ironton Grange.

Ironton Grange met in regular session March 9, with 13 members and 20 visitors present.

After the regular order of business, three candidates were obligated in the first and second degrees and four candidates were initiated in the third and fourth degrees, by the Wilson degree team. The work was enjoyed by all, but mostly by Ironton degree team.

The lecturer's program consisted of songs, stories, readings, and recitations. The programme was then announced for the next meeting, which will be held March 16.

For the good of the order an invitation was extended to Ironton third and fourth degree team to visit Wilson in two weeks, March 23, providing the roads are good. A rising vote of thanks was given to Wilson degree team.

Grange was then closed in regular form. After meeting refreshments were served which were enjoyed by all.

Wilson Grange, No. 719.

Wilson Grange met in regular session, Saturday, March 9.

During the business session one candidate was balloted for according to the new ritual, and Flornie Hudkins was obligated in the first and second degrees.

The Grange voted to hold a dance and supper in connection with their meeting March 16, for the benefit of James Simmons, whose house was destroyed by fire.

The Ironton Grange degree team will initiate on March 23 in the third and fourth degree, if the roads are good, and the Grange made preparations to give them their supper at the hall upon their arrival.

Motion was made to reopen the candy stand.

After the business session a long and interesting program was furnished by the first side on the contest.

There were thirty-nine members present.

The receipts of the evening were $4.00 and the disbursements were $1.80.

Grange closed to meet again in two weeks.

The "Child's Welfare" movement has challenged the attention of thoughtful people everywhere. Mothers are natural supporters, and will find in Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a most valuable aid. Coughs and colds that unchecked lead to croup, bronchitis and pneumonia yield quickly to the healing and soothing qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

August Hummel Dead.

Word was received last week from Fort Worth, Texas, of the death of August Hummel, one of the well-known summer visitors of this city. According to the information received he had been sick but a short time before his death. He has made Charlevoix his summer home for the last six years, and had made preparations to spend the coming season here previous to his death. Each year he has always made his home with J. A. Cameron, on Antrim street. He had made a large number of friends here, who will miss him with a genuine sorrow.

Get the stove you need now at one-fourth off at S. M. See & Sons.

Republican Caucus.

Notice is hereby given that a caucus of the republicans of the town, ship of Hayes, will be held in the town hall, Saturday, March 23, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the various township offices, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

By Order Township Committee

Paving Assessments Now Due.

The first installment of the special assessment for the paving of Michigan and Dixon avenues, which was due last fall and the time extended by the council to April 1st, shall be paid before April 1st, in order to save the interest. Taxpayers can pay the entire assessment, and save the interest, if they so desire.

John Cook, City Treasurer.

Highest Market Prices.

I will pay the highest market price for beef, pork, veal, mutton and fowls. Have engaged Bert VanAlburg to handle my stock of meats, and can guarantee you the best of satisfaction on every purchase. Morse's Meat Market. Phone 125.

A HAPPY DISPOSITION.

Every one should strive to cultivate a happy disposition. A happy disposition is largely a disposition to make others happy. One life permeates all things, and there is no corner of the cosmos too remote to feel its heart throb.—Henry Wood.

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned, having decided to quit farming, will sell at Public Auction at his farm, one-half mile south and three-fourths miles east of Norwood, on

Wednesday, March 20

Commencing at 10:00 a. m. the following described property:

Bay mare, weight 1150, age 13
Bay horse, weight 1050, age 13
Cow, 3/4 Durham, 9 years old, fresh latter part of March
Cow, 8 years old, fresh last of April
Cow, 8 years old, fresh March 20
Cow, 3 years old, fresh March 19
Cow, 6 years old, calf by side
Cow, 3 years old, fresh middle April
Durham bull, 2 years old
Registered Berkshire sow, with pig from Berkshire boar
Two shoats, weight about 100 each
30 Barred Rock chickens
McCormick, 5 ft. cut, mowing machine
Good Harrison, 3-in. tire wagon
Wheel cultivator Spring-tooth drag
Gale, 5-tooth, spring cultivator
5-tooth Shovel cultivator
Toledo Burch plow, nearly new Set heavy Belnap sleighs
Cyclone broadcast seeder

Single top buggy Stone boat
Good single harness Hay rack
Set double work harness
Empire cream separator
Whiffletrees and neckyokes
Potato sprayer Hay rake
Skidding tongs and log chains
Good fanning mill
Milk pails and ladders
2 rolls poultry netting
Cant hook Scalding tub
Quantity good lumber
Wheelbarrow Hoes and rakes
Forks Shovels
2 sewing machines, one good as new Heating stove and cook stove
Good barrel churn
8-pail kettle Barrel vinegar
New ice cream freezer
6 bushel good seed corn
And many other household articles too numerous to mention

Free Lunch at Noon

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $5.00 or under, cash; all sums over $5.00, nine months' time on good approved bankable paper with interest at 7 per cent payable at the Charlevoix County Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

ELMER STOCKER, Prop.

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

SPECIAL STOVE SALE

Rather than carry over to another fall several Heating stoves which we have on hand, we have decided to close them out at

ONE-FOURTH OFF

from the regular price. We must have the room they occupy for our Summer Business, therefore are making this sacrifice in the prices.

OUR LOSS IS YOUR GAIN

This means that you get the

No. 7 Radiant Home Base Burner, reg. price $52 $39.00

No. 6 Radiant Home, regular price $45.00 $34.00

Others in Proportion

You can save enough on one of these stoves to buy half your next winter's coal—our loss is your gain. As we have but a few of these stoves to sell the sale won't last long.

S. M. SEE & SONS

THE RELIABLE HOUSE FURNISHERS

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Men's and Boys'
Rain Coats Mackintoshes
Slickers

Having bought this line direct from the makers I can save you money.

Prices: $2.50 to $7.00

Benj. Brown

'Socialist Supervisors.

Owing to the fact that G. W. Lusk, the socialist nominee for supervisor in the second ward, has removed from the ward, the socialist city committee has named Marshall Randall as the socialist candidate for supervisors in the second ward. In the third ward, Wm. Graham, having declined the nomination for supervisor, the committee has named Albert E. Mason as the socialist candidate for supervisor in that ward.

For Sale.

Team of colts, age 3 and 1. Bred from Iron Duke. Also a year old stallion. Robt. Matchett, R. 1.

MICHIGAN CROP REPORT

Average Depth of Snow in State During February Was 10.18 inches.

In answer to the question, "Has wheat during February suffered injury from any cause?" Eighty-five correspondents in the state answer "yes" and 531 "no" in the southern counties 63 answer "yes" and 251 "no" in the central counties 13 answer "yes" and 137 "no" and in the upper peninsula 28 answer "no." Snow protected wheat in the state and southern counties 28 days; in the central counties 27 days and in the northern counties and upper peninsula 20 days.

The average depth of snow on February 13 in the state was 10.18 inches; in the southern counties 8.53; in the central counties 8.17; in the northern counties 6.48 and in the upper peninsula 17.97 inches. On the 20th the average depth of snow in the state was 10.87 inches; in the southern counties 8.84; in the central counties 10.09; in the northern counties 11.84 and in the upper peninsula 15.92 inches.

For Sale or Exchange.

Second hand steam radiators, commodes and chamber sets for sale or exchange for wood or produce of any kind. Inquire at Hotel Elston 1112

Good Printing means Business.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 12

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 20, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

LECTURE TOUR WAS A SUCCESS

Valuable and Effective Advertising Doing Good Work for Michigan.

BOOKLETS GIVEN TO PEOPLE

Who Wanted to Know More Than They Did About Our State.

Michigan With Her Wonderful Opportunities Has Been Asleep Too Long—Many Coming to Locate.

The following condensed report of G. I. Gibson, of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, who has just completed a four weeks lecture tour through Indiana and Illinois, will prove interesting reading to the many readers of the Courier. The data was furnished by D. S. Payton, one of the vice-presidents in this county, who is a hard and diligent worker and to whom much credit should be given for the work being done in this county.

"I consider the four weeks lecture campaign which closed at Muncie, Illinois, on Saturday, March 9, the most valuable and effective advertising ever attempted by the Western Michigan Development Bureau. The illustrated lecture entitled, 'Western Michigan, the Land of Fruit and Fortune,' was given at twenty-four different places, twenty of them being in Indiana and four in Illinois.

The aggregate attendance at the lecture was 2,708. About 350 additional persons were seen at their places of business, on the streets, etc., so that the total number of persons to whom the golden opportunities which exist in Western Michigan were presented was 3,148. Nearly six thousand copies of the 102 Western Michigan booklets were given to the people who wanted to know more than they did about the territory. Approximately 3,200 miles were covered in making the trip.

Ten hundred and forty-two of those who attended the lectures handed in their names, saying that they were interested in Western Michigan and wished to be put on our mailing list, so that they might keep in touch with the latest developments. The interest shown was even better than I anticipated. At almost every meeting many remained after the lecture to ask questions and to have difficulties cleared up.

At every meeting, and in talking with people individually the same stock objections to Western Michigan were urged, the most prominent being the one of rigorous climate. In most cases our showing the map giving the isothermal line and the explanation given of this map on up. 10. of the booklet, set this objection at rest. It was difficult though for some to understand why the climate should not become colder and more severe on all growing things, the further north one goes.

Another erroneous notion that I found prevailing quite generally was that by far the largest portion of the state of Michigan consisted of very light, almost useless sand land, but this is not to be wondered at when not only our own citizens but our state officials, have fostered this error.

Then again, some would ask why it was that the land in Western Michigan was good for anything, there remained such a large area still unimproved and held at such absurdly low prices. I succeeded in most cases, in answering these questions satisfactorily.

The picture showing the diversified character of the thriving industry in Western Michigan, orchards, alfalfa, clover and timothy, potatoes, wheat, rye, beans, beets, celery seeds and the fine herds of cattle, sheep, etc., together with the facts, figures and comments converted most of the doubting Thomases and when reference was made to the healthfulness of the climate, the many forms of recreation, the splendid social, religious, and educational advantages, possessed by Western Michigan, it rarely failed to awaken a keen interest.

Many questions were asked about shipping facilities, markets and freight rates, which with the help of the slides, I was able to answer to the satisfaction of everybody.

Good roads was another subject that was on nearly everybody's tongue, in Indiana, White Michigan cannot make anything like as good a showing as Indiana, yet the pictures we exhibited of what has been accomplished and the explanation given of our state reward law and the determination of our citizens to continuing improving the highways, produced a favorable impression.

In Illinois very few questions were asked about roads, for the reason that the roads there, especially at this time of the year, are almost impassable.

At the close of each lecture I summarized the advantages possessed by Western Michigan and saying that our soils, climate and natural advantages offered tremendous advantages to the man who was not afraid to work, at the same time emphasizing the fact that no exaggeration was needed to make this healthful and fertile region attractive to the home seeker.

The lecture seemed to appeal especially to the center, the man of (Continued on page 8)

CHARLEVOIX WILL GET NEXT MEET

Next Annual Meeting of Pythian League to Be Held Here.

Charlevoix Won Third Place in Contest Held at Cadillac Last Week.

The annual meeting of the Northern Michigan Pythian League was held in Cadillac the forepart of last week, and was the most successful of any in its history. The prime object of the league is to create friendly rivalry in the ritualistic work of the third rank. Ten lodges were represented at the meeting, among which were Petoskey, Kal-kaska, Traverse City, Nancelona, Mesick, Elk Rapids, Sherman and Charlevoix.

The work was so uniformly excellent that it took the judges over an hour before they could make up their minds, and then it was only for the general team work. The balance of their reports on the individual proficiency will not be ready for several days, and then will be sent to the different lodges, who will distribute the prizes.

The beautiful trophy loving cup, which was won last year by Elk Rapids, goes to Manistee, whose record was 94.1. The other lodges are as follows: Cadillac, 93.43; Charlevoix, 93.06; Elk Rapids, 91.34; Kal-kaska, 91.13, and Traverse City, 70.02.

The officers for the ensuing year are as follows: President, W. E. Hampton, Charlevoix; vice president, K. D. Lewis, Traverse City; secretary, A. L. Fitch, Charlevoix; E. M. Hallock, Manistee.

Charlevoix was selected as the place for the next meeting, which will be held the second Tuesday in March, 1912.

REV. PUTNAM MAY LEAVE

May Accept Call from First Congregational Church at Ludington.

Rev. H. A. Putnam, who has been pastor in the First Congregational church in this city for the past six years, has received a hearty and unanimous call from the First Congregational church at Ludington, and is now considering the advisability of its acceptance.

Since taking charge of the church here, Mr. Putnam has made hundreds of true loyal friends, who will much regret his departure, should he decide to make the change, but who realize also that the advantages of a larger town will afford him greater opportunities in his field of work.

Mr. Putnam stated that his decision will be announced sometime during the coming week.

For Sale.

A few choice breeding pens of Barred Plymouth Rocks for breeding purposes in common prices. Also eggs for hatching. Enquire of J. A. Auld.

ENTRANCE OF COL. ROOSEVELT HAS STRENGTHENED REPUBLICANS

No Doubt But He Will Sweep the Middle West, Though He Will Lose Some of the Eastern States--Third Term Idea Should Not Be Worked Against Representatives Dodds and Pearson.

The definite entrance of Colonel Roosevelt into the race for the presidency has, in my opinion, strengthened the republicans, who ever wins, although success can only come, if at all, after a hard fought battle.

If Roosevelt wins, there is no doubt that he will sweep the middle west, but it will place some of the eastern states in the doubtful column—the third term bugaboo won't cut much figure, as the people are no longer frightened by that, although they are demanding the recall, which in substance means "keep a good public servant one term, three terms, or any length of time, as long as he is giving good service and is not growing too big for his office, but at the same time give us the right to recall him when we think the time has come to do so."

I believe it has also strengthened President Taft, as he knows what he has to fight, and will let the people know exactly how he stands on the progressive issue. While Roosevelt would be strong in the west and middle west, President Taft is sure to lose some of them, but would be able to hold the east, although New York would be doubtful, and he would stand a chance in the border states. I find though that while there are a lot of Republicans who will bolt, whoever is nominated, the rank and file are disposed to let the convention decide.

It put the democrats in the air, as they have had all confidence that they could defeat Taft, but are afraid of Roosevelt. I think it has improved the chances of Harmon and Underwood wonderfully, while Clark is on the gain if Taft wins.

I am glad that the third term idea is not being worked against Representatives Dodds and Pearson. Mr. Dodds has made one of the best representatives Michigan has ever had at Washington. He is not a wind-jammer, and don't keep his name in the papers, but whenever there is work to be done, Dodds is on the job and the records will prove the value to the district of his quiet, effective work. The man who works beats the man who talks, and that's the kind of a man Mr. Dodds is.

Representative Pearson is another man who works, and in addition has gained the reputation of being one of the most effective talkers in the house—one who is listened to, for they know every word he says means something. Mr. Pearson is one of the real leaders in the Michigan legislature. Last winter I had occasion to visit Lansing while the legislature was in session. Mr. Pearson had been absent a few days on business for the state. On his return I was at his desk and a perfect swarm of members were running there to get Bill's advice on different measures. I talked with several members and they all classed Pearson as one of the real men who had a personality and influence on legislation.

While both these men will probably meet opposition from good men, I can honestly state that no better men can be found, and I hope that no votes will be cast against them on account of their candidacy for a third term. What they stand for can be easily learned, and if you don't approve of it, vote against them, but look at their records first.

GLENN M. DUBOIS

KANSAS REACHED CHICAGO SAFELY

After Hours of Battle With Ice Three Miles Off That Hours.

Crew of Vessel Worked Hard to Prevent Total Destruction—Well Known Here.

Chicago dispatches last week stated that the Steamer Kansas, of the Northern Michigan Transportation Co., was sinking in Lake Michigan three miles off that harbor, with a crew of 35 on board.

Later advices state that after hours of battle with the ice, the boat reached the harbor at Chicago, considerably damaged, and the crew and passengers were all saved, although in a serious physical condition from the terrible fight against the sea and exposure.

The Kansas plied between Charlevoix and Chicago for a number of years under the name of the Charlevoix, making the trips that are now made regularly during the summer by the Missouri. Before being transferred, she was rechristened the Kansas, and has since been managed under that name.

The old boat certainly has had a stormy career, having been burned to the water's edge when she was known as the Champlain, before the Charlevoix was rebuilt on the hull.

Build Ware House.

The Builders' Supply Co. have under construction just north of the P. M. railroad depot a new 26x80 ware house which will be used for storing purposes. They have also rented the basement of the Egan building on Bridge street, which will be used to store a 100 barrel shipment of cement now in transit. Mr. Hammond states that prospects along building lines, this spring is better than in years.

Building For Sale.

A large frame building on Belvedere Avenue formerly occupied by Barth as a boiler shop. See adv. in bargain column for description. 101

OPPOSE RETURN OF THE SALOON

Women of Charlevoix Circulate Petitions on Temperance Question.

Four Hundred and Fifty-Five Ask Husbands and Sons to Vote Dry.

The women of Charlevoix being unable to express their wishes at ballot-box on the question of the return of the saloon, are hoping to reach the ballot through those who represent them.

The following statement has been signed by 455 women of the city who are of voting age:

"That we have prospered under the local option laws, no one can gain say. Let us work as we have never worked before to keep out that great evil that ruins our homes and destroys our loved ones. Let every woman who loves her home and children use her influence to have her husband and sons vote dry."

"Let it never be said that Charlevoix county has taken a backward step in the temperance cause."

"We, the women of Charlevoix are opposed to the return of the saloon. Two hundred and forty of these women are mothers. Many of them are taxpayers. They have a right to be heard. Almost none refused to sign. Many more would have signed if they had only a chance. They ask that the men of Charlevoix county shall remember them when they cast their ballots."

Breakfast Specialties.

Delicious Hamburg Steak and Pork Sausages always on hand. The more you eat the more you want. You will believe us after you try them. Remember, Mr. Farmer, we pay the highest market prices for all live stock and poultry. Get the habit of trading here.

The Corner Grocery and Meat Market, Phone 125

Satisfaction guaranteed on bicycle repairing at Benj. Brown's. 121

LINCOLN BANQUET

Arrangements Under Way for Big Meeting at Traverse City April 3.

Secretary Ann E. Nerlinger of the Grand Traverse Lincoln club, announces that he has made arrangements for holding the annual banquet of the club on Wednesday evening, April 3. That it is rather late, but it was impossible to secure suitable speakers for an earlier date, owing to the fact that congress is in session and the members' time is thoroughly taken up during the winter months.

George L. Lusk of Bay City has been selected as toastmaster, the other speakers of note being Congressmen I. W. Fordney and F. H. Dodds, Lieutenant Governor John Q. Ross, Secretary of State Fred C. Martindale and A. H. Vandenberg of Grand Rapids. The place of holding the meeting has not been selected as yet, but will be announced as soon as the arrangements have been completed. As this is the largest organization of its kind north of Grand Rapids it is expected that this date will prove a red letter day for the politicians and other interested people in this section of the state.

ELECTION DAY DRAWING NEAR

But a Few Days to Decide Whether Saloon Returns or Not.

William I. Bryan Says Saloon is a Nuisance and Source of All Evil.

There are but ten days in which to make up your mind as to whether or not you will permit Charlevoix county to be thrown back into the maelstrom of saloon domination.

We had the saloon with us not long ago, and it seems that any observing man who has lived here under both regimes must admit that society is not profitably served by the saloon. Local option does not destroy appetite for liquor, there is no magic in the word, there is nothing supernatural in the working of the local option law; but it has produced better conditions—not perfect conditions—in this county. When considering the better and the worse, it appears to us unquestionably that local option is better.

William Jennings Bryan says of the saloon: "The saloon is a nuisance. The saloon evil can no more be confined to the building in which it exists than the odor of a slaughter house to the block in which it is located. * * I know and you know that they are in league with every other form of evil in society. As a rule, if you let the liquor dealer have his way, he will have a disorderly house upstairs, he will have a gambling den in his back room and his place will be the center of every sort of evil. * * The saloon is the bureau of information for every sort of evil. It is the first place that the policeman looks for crime and the last place he would go to look for virtue."—And the saloons of Charlevoix in the past have been no exception.

BAKER FOR SENATE

Grange Leader and Speaker of the House Will Oppose William Alden Smith.

Announcement has been made by some of the friends of Herbert F. Baker of Charlevoix, that he will be in the race for United States senator this year, in opposition to William Alden Smith. No statement has been made by Mr. Baker personally, but those who are nearest him declare he has given his consent to the use of his name.

Mr. Baker is speaker of the house of representatives. As such he has ruled with an iron hand. On the floor he is one of the ablest members in debate. His language is logical and forceful. Mr. Baker is also a member of the state grange, where he wields a strong influence.

For Sale or Exchange.

Second-hand steam radiators, pipes and chamber sets for sale or exchange for wood or produce of any kind. Inquire at Hotel Elston

NORDRUM WON IN THE PRIMARY

Republicans—Make Choice of Man to Head Ticket at April Election.

PRIEST CARRIES FIRST WARD

Contest Between Candidates Brought Out a Heavy Vote.

Final Count Showed Nordrum in Lead By One Hundred and One Votes—Vote as Cast in the Three Wards.

There was but little interest manifested in the primary election Monday, except for the office of mayor and alderman in the first ward, as there was but one contestant for each of the offices.

But the fight between Nordrum and Bridge for mayor was a warm one, and brought out an exceptionally large republican vote. All interest seemed to center on these two men.

There had been considerable discussion on both sides of the rival factions as to the merits and qualifications of their favorite candidate, but the result of the battle of ballots showed that Nordrum was the choice of the republican electors. Both men are good citizens and in many instances it was a question whom to choose for those not in any way prejudiced.

But now that the primary is over, it is to be hoped that Charlevoix republicans will go into the coming campaign with more strength than ever, and elect the ticket to a man. Below will be found the votes as cast in each ward:

First Ward.

Mayor:
Nordrum	42-6
Bridge	36
Clerk:
Miller	63
Treasurer:
Cook	66
Supervisor:
Merch.	62
Alderman:
Priest	42-9
McCartney	33
Constable:
Finnmer	60

Second Ward.

Mayor:
Nordrum	102-68
Bridge	34
Clerk:
Miller	123
Treasurer:
Cook	123
Supervisor:
Zentler	122
Alderman:
Barney	120
Constable:
Dyers	110

Third Ward.

Mayor:
Nordrum	64-33
Bridge	31
Clerk:
Miller	82
Treasurer:
Cook	86
Alderman:
Gerken	86
Supervisor:
Ward	61
Constable:
Jedries	82
Scattering votes: Supervisor, Frazer, H. Orlovski, 4; spoiled 3.
Total number of votes cast, 303.
Nordrum	208-107
Bridge	101

WORK PROGRESSING

New Home of First State Savings Bank Rapidly
Nearing Completion.

Work on the new home of the First State Savings Bank is rapidly nearing completion, and it is expected it will be ready for occupancy on or about April 1st. The tile and marble setter from Grand Rapids is now in work on the floors and wainscoting, which when finished will be the finest in this section of the state. The wood work finishing, which was made at Bay City, has arrived and will soon be placed. When completed, the bank will have a home which it can be justly proud of.

Bring your bicycles to Benj. Brown to be repaired and cleaned now.

YOUR DRUGGIST STOPS THAT ITCH

If you are suffering from Eczema, Dermatitis or any other kind of skin trouble, drop into our store for instant relief. We will guarantee you to stop that Itch in two seconds.

A 25c trial bottle will prove it.

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles, but none that we could recommend more highly than the well known compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and a few other ingredients that have wrought such wonderful cures all over the country.

This compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription, will cool and heal the Itchy, burning skin as nothing else can. Get a regular bottle and see—on our no-pay offer.

F. G. Times & Co., Druggists

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

Mrs. C. J. Dodd is quite ill with la grippe.

Henry McClean has added thirty acres of land to his farm.

Nat Burns has just finished putting a new furnace in his house.

Arthur Beattie visited relatives in East Jordan the first part of the week.

Miss Nita Shearer of Charlevoix visited Mrs. C. J. Dodd and family last week.

Mrs. E. Snider and Mrs. A. Newman were the guest of Mrs. James Adams Friday.

Elmer Ingalls has been adding to his improvements by putting in a new furnace.

W. E. Dodd bought a house from sugar factory and moved it up on the Dodd farm.

Mr. Barta and family left Monday for St. Louis, Michigan, where they expect to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Dodd and family and Mrs. Clara Dodd and grandson, Wesley, visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and family Sunday.

Mrs. Catherine of Traverse City has bought the old Pete Peterson farm from Mr. Dvorak. Mrs. Catherine is a sister of S. Hand, E. W. Smith and Mrs. Peter McPherson.

AIWOOD.

Robins.

Potatoes $1.00 per bushel.

Several went to Ellsworth Sunday to attend M. E. services.

Mr. and Mrs. VanDusen are entertaining a friend from Mancelona.

The L. A. S. will serve a general supper on Friday evening, March 22nd.

Most of the farmers have harvested a nice lot of ice for their summer use.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Essenberg, March 15, a baby boy. This makes the eleventh.

We vote the local option ticket on April fool day. We hope the wets will get fooled good.

On Tuesday evening, March 20, at the hall, there will be a local option meeting held by "Antim" county speakers.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wilt-Hollman, on Thursday, March 14, two babies—a boy and girl. All doing fine except dad.

How This.

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

E. J. CUREN, V. C. Co., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known E. J. CUREN for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ROCK ELM.

Warm rain on St. Patrick's Day.

Mr. Stevenson and family were Sunday visitors at Joe Whitfield's.

Leon VanGorder has been helping Roy Kinder cut logs and wood.

W. A. Boss of Ellsworth visited his nephew, Roy Kinder one day recently.

Mrs. Wm. Walker and daughter Ruby visited a few days in Central Lake last week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Kitson and Miss Winnie-Maddaugh visited at H. E. Hutton's Sunday.

Daniel Kitson attended the Beekeepers convention at Traverse City Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kowalske and daughter were callers upon Mrs. Kowalske's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Shepherd, in Wilson Sunday.

WILSON

Miss Emma Todd is working for Mrs. E. A. Ashley of East Jordan.

Joe Moore has moved from this vicinity to his former residence in East Jordan.

Mr. Kierstead of Wilson has traded his farm, known as the Hills farm, for a shoe store in Grand Rapids.

A small party from school district No. 2, including the teacher, Miss Pearl Chandler, enjoyed a sleigh ride last Friday evening.

The dance and supper given March 16th under the auspices of Wilson Grange, for the benefit of the James Simms family, whose home was burned North 8, and who have buried one member of their family this winter, and also have another very low with influenza, was well attended and netted $1000 cash besides donations of provisions.

BARNARD.

Mrs. Anna Spayd is rapidly improving from the effects of her broken arm. She visited at the home of Mrs. Albert Beattie last Wednesday.

The saw mill of Dan Spayd is running full blast and he is employing several men. This winter's cut will amount to over one hundred thousand feet.

Mrs. Albert Beattie is visiting friends and relatives at Howell and Detroit. She will be joined at Howell by her son, Clarence. They expect to be gone about two weeks.

BAY SHORE.

There will be a box social and entertainment at Burgess school house, Saturday evening, March 30.

Backache Almost Unbearable.

Is almost certain result of kidney trouble. D. Toomey, 803 E. Olive St., Bloomington, Ill., says: "I suffered with backache and pains in my kidneys which were almost unbearable. I gave Foley's Kidney Pills a good trial, and they have done wonders for me. Today I can do a hard day's work and not feel the effects." Sold.

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

Miss Grace Papayan, class of '05, who is attending the State Normal at Mt. Pleasant this year, visited the normal room last Wednesday afternoon and gave a short talk on the work she is doing this year.

The following have begun their work in practice teaching: Ella Rasmussen has the first place; Ella Gray the third grade language; Emil Todd and Lilian Flinders have the fourth grade geography.

The class attended the parents' meeting last Wednesday night which was held at the high school. The topic under discussion was "The Value of Good Literature in the High School."

Marguerite Mungert of Petoskey spent Saturday and Sunday at their home.

R. G. Colpus, Postmaster, Barnard, N. J., was troubled with a severe grippe cough. He says: "I would be completely exhausted after each fit of violent coughing. I bought a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and before I had taken it all the coughing spells had entirely ceased. It can't be beat." Sold by Frank N. McNeill.

C. H. S. NOTES.

Charles Wilkinson was a high school visitor Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Richardson of Norwood called at the high school Friday.

A wireless station is being installed in the high school building, and is creating considerable interest. Watch results.

One day last week a fly was seen walking around in the laboratory. Spring is coming.

A recent meeting of the freshman class, Helen Marling was unanimously elected class president to succeed Nellie Shearer, who will soon leave for Washington.

The freshman class is becoming conspicuous of late. There are also many other signs of spring.

Rev. Putnam gave a brief talk Friday afternoon to the high school and Normal students, announcing a prize essay contest to be carried on by the W. C. T. U. of Charlevoix. The essays are to be written upon the subject "Why should Charlevoix county remain dry?" Several of the students have entered the contest.

TUBERCULOSIS.

Hundreds of people have lately reported themselves as entirely cured of tuberculosis and asthma by using the new treatment known as "Nature's Creation."

A decidedly interesting booklet, explaining all about this new discovery, may be secured without cost, by addressing Chas. A. Barnes, Disinfectant Chamber of Commerce, Detroit, Mich.

CHILDREN INJURED

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaints.

You cannot be overcareful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They may cause griping, nausea, and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health-destroying.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy, which we know, for constipation and associated bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken any time, day or night, do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies commonly completely relieve constipation, except of course when of a surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Three sizes of packages, 10 cents, 25 cents, and 50 cents. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charlevoix only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. McNeill, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Mich.

DON'TS.

Don't burn the litter from the pens. It's very rash to make this ash when on the garden it makes cash.

Don't let young turkeys have new corn. New grain is oft a trouble maker and brings the coarser undertaker.

Don't neglect to lay in clover or alfalfa. It may seem strange to feed hens lay, but it's the stuff to make them lay.

Don't wait till winter to lay in supplies. The busy time works while there's money and easy time and save your money.

Don't expect hens that have been on range to do as well shut up unless you make up by extra feed what they lose in the change.

Don't feed muddy grain. A hungry hen may eat such feed, but in the morning may be not, while you who sought these to save cash will find to feed old rot is cash.

THE KING ROAD DRAG.

D. W. King, inventor of the road drag that usually bears his name, condensed in a recent address what he considers the most important points to keep in mind when operating the drag. He states that a two horse drag is better than one requiring four horses, that a light drag is better than a heavy one, that the road should be dragged when wet, or not heavier than wet, should not be dragged from the side to the middle of the road, that mudholes should be filled with mud, that there is no need of digging trenches at the side of the road and that if the road drag is properly handled the road can be given the proper grade without the use of the machine grader.

GET TO THE CAUSE

Charlevoix People Are Learning the Way.

There is but little peace or comfort for the man or woman with a bad back. The distress begins in early morning—keeps up throughout the day. It's hard to get out of bed, it's torture to stoop or straighten. Plasters and liniments may relieve, but cannot cure. The cause is inside—the kidneys. When suffering so, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the tested and proven kidney remedy, used in kidney troubles for over 75 years. Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of such cases. Proof in the testimony of nearby residents.

Mrs. R. M. McNeill, 211 Mason St., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly. I had been troubled for several months by kidney disease. I doated quite badly and had weak back and severe pains in my kidneys. My rest was broken at night. I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills at the Ivy Drug Store and they have given me relief in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Don't hide your money

a burglar may be watching you

A burglar may have watched you hide that money. You may lose it. Put it in this bank, where it will be safe in our burglar and fire proof vaults—and from which you can withdraw it AT ANY TIME on demand. All your neighbors do this. Why not you.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

4% Interest Paid on Savings

CAPITAL, SURPLUS AND DEPOSITS $200,000.00
STATE DEPOSITORY

R. P. FOLEY, President W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

Easter Jewelry

— You will find in our store many little things, beautiful, but inexpensive, that will make ideal Easter Gifts.

STANLEY WILDERN
JEWELRY AND MUSIC
Next to Majestic Charlevoix, Michigan

$500 REWARD

OUR GUARANTEE

We will refund all money received for the rods and pay $500 reward to find a building burned by lightning with our rods on.

The Security Copper Tube Lightning Rod

has never failed to afford perfect protection from lightning, and gives general satisfaction in every respect.

It is the only Lightning Rod patented in the United States with Automatic Water Supply insuring a Perfect Ground Connection at all times, which is the most important part of any rod.

Our object is to furnish a rod that we can guarantee to be a full protection from lightning at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE.

Send for Catalog.

The Security Lightning Rod Co.
Burlington, Wis.

J. L. Warner, Agent
Elk Rapids, Michigan

WANTED

Agent for Charlevoix and Vicinity to sell Ford Cars

FORD MODEL "T" TOURING CAR

COMPLETE

$690 F. O. B. Detroit

The Car You Will Eventually Buy

We Carry a complete line of Ford Cars in stock at our garage, and will be pleased to show them to you.

In addition to the Ford line we carry a complete stock of Goodrich, Fisk and Michelin Tires and Inner Tubes; all sizes.

Also a complete stock of Bumpers, Tire Iron, Electric Light Equipments, Polish, Batteries, Tire Covers, Spark Plugs, and all other accessories.

WRITE FOR AGENCY AT ONCE

NORTHERN AUTO & MACHINE CO.

PETOSKEY, MICHIGAN

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"
The Great Remedy for
Rheumatism, Lumbago,
Sciatica, Gout, Neuritis,
La Grippe and Kidney Trouble.

Applied externally to all aches and pains, it quickly relieves the system, restores the system to its normal condition, and cures the sufferer.

One Dollar per bottle, sent prepaid, or five for $4.50, in advance. Price of each bottle if not prepaid, 15c. In your locality.

SWANSON'S RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
188 Lake Street, Chicago

SWANSON'S PILLS
Best Remedy for Constipation, Flat
Headache, Sour Stomach, Belching and Liver Troubles. 25c Per Box at Drug Store.

SKIN SORE

Easily and Quickly Healed

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25 and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not a cosmetic, but a powerful medicine. A single application will remove all skin sores, including eczema, pimples, running sores, wounds, burns, salt rheum, ring worm, etc. It will cure dandruff, itching scalp, and all other skin troubles. The burning, irritating inflammation quickly subsides and the sore dries and disappears.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25 and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not a cosmetic, but a powerful medicine. A single application will remove all skin sores, including eczema, pimples, running sores, wounds, burns, salt rheum, ring worm, etc. It will cure dandruff, itching scalp, and all other skin troubles. The burning, irritating inflammation quickly subsides and the sore dries and disappears.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25 and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not a cosmetic, but a powerful medicine. A single application will remove all skin sores, including eczema, pimples, running sores, wounds, burns, salt rheum, ring worm, etc. It will cure dandruff, itching scalp, and all other skin troubles. The burning, irritating inflammation quickly subsides and the sore dries and disappears.

COSENDAL DYE WORKS

DRY CLEANERS
ESTABLISHED 1877
CLEANERS AND DYERS OF CARPETS
DRAPERIES, LACES AND GARMENTS
WRITE FOR PRICES
127-133 N. Jefferson Ave., Saginaw, Mich

Business Cards

EDWARD WHITFIELD,
AT FORNEY
STENOGRAPHER
Money to Loan on Real Estate
MAJOR GREEN OFFICE Phone 28.

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Chaps and Plats. Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. B. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Lippincott's Store
Phone 138 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone Office on residence 255
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. A. ARMSTRONG, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE
EAR, NOSE AND THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co's drug store
Telephone No. 255 Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All cases given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6 Charlevoix, Mich.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

TELEPHONE 180 OR 45
To Get

O. W. POWERS
To do your
Plumbing, Heating and Tinning

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone 1444.

FRECKLES

By
Gene Stratton-Porter
COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO

CHAPTER XV.
THE ANGEL GOES FOR HELP.

"SEE now you aren't the same man," said the angel. "You know, we were in Colorado last year, and there was a cowboy that was the handsomest man about. He'd come riding into town every night, and all we girls just adored him. Oh, but he was a beauty. I thought at first glance you were really he, but I see now he wasn't nearly so tall nor so broad as you and only half as handsome."

The man burst into a roar of laughter, and Jack flushed crimson. The angel joined in the laugh.

"Well, I'll leave it to you. Isn't he handsome?" she challenged. "As for that cowboy's face, it couldn't be compared with yours. The only trouble with you is that your clothes are so dingy. It's the dress these cowboys wear that makes half their looks."

You were properly dressed, you could break the heart of the prettiest girl in the country."

With one accord the other men focused on Black Jack and for the first time realized that he was a superb specimen of manhood, for he stood six feet tall, was broad, well rounded and had dark, even skin, big black eyes and full red lips.

"I'll tell you what," exclaimed the angel. "I'd just love to see you on horseback. Nothing sets a handsome man off so splendidly. Do you ride?"

"Yes," said Jack, and his eyes were burning with the thought of her soul.

"Well," said the angel whimsily, "I know what I just wish you'd do. I wish you would let your hair grow a little longer. Then wear a fine dannel shirt, a little open at the throat, a red tie and a broad brimmed felt hat and ride past my house of evenings. I'm always at home then and almost always on the veranda, and, oh, but I would like to see you. Will you do that for me?"

The angel was looking straight into Jack's face, and he felt that she was now taking on a wholly different expression. The soft lines of her face were softening and fading out under her clear gaze. A dull red flamed into his bronze cheeks, and his eyes were growing brightly tender.

"Yes," he said, and the glance he shot at the men was of such a nature that no one saw fit even to change countenance.

"Oh, goodie," she cried, flitting on her toes. "I'll ask the girls to come to see, but they needn't stick in. We can get along without them, can't we?"

Jack leaned toward her. He was the charmed, fluttering bird, and the angel was the snake.

"Well, I rather guess," he cried. "The angel drew a deep breath and looked him over rapidly."

"My, but you're tall!" she gasped. "Do you suppose I will ever grow to reach your shoulders?"

"Perhaps I should always to have a bunch of red flowers in his shirt pocket, and the red in up his dark eyes and olive cheeks and made his spirit do. May I put a bunch of red flowers on you?"

Freckles' eyes popped, and he wheeled for breath. He wished that the earth would open and swallow him up. Was he dead or alive? Since his eyes had set eyes on Black Jack, he had never even glanced his way. Was he completely bewitched? Would she throw herself at the man's feet before them all? Couldn't she give him even one thought? Hadn't she seen he was gagged and bound? Did she truly think that these were McLean's men? Why, she couldn't. It was only a few days ago that she had been near enough, this man and angry enough with him to peel the hat from his head with a snarl. Suddenly a thing she had jestingly said to him one day came back with startling force. "You must like angels on trust. Of course you must! She was his angel. She must have seen. His life and what was far worse, her own were in her hands. There was nothing he could do but trust her. Surely she was working out some plan."

The angel knelt beside his flower bed and recklessly tore up by the roots a big bunch of foxglove.

"These stems are so tough and sticky," she said. "I can't break them. Lend me your knife," she ordered Freckles.

As she reached for the knife her back was one second toward the men. She looked into his eyes and deliberately winked.

She severed the stems, tossed the knife back to Freckles and, walking up to Jack, laid the flowers over his heart.

Freckles broke into a sweat of agony. He had said she would be safe in a herd of howling savages. Would she? If Black Jack even made a motion toward touching her, Freckles knew that from somewhere he would muster the strength to kill him. He mentally measured the distance to where his club lay and set his muscles for a spring. But no! The big fellow was leaning his head with a hand that was unsteady. The angel pulled one of the long silver pins from her hair and fastened her fingers securely.

Freckles was quaking. What was to come next?

As the angel stepped back from Jack she turned her head to one side and peered up at him, just as Freckles had seen the little yellow fellow do on the line a hundred times, and said: "Well, that does the trick. Isn't that fine? See here it sets him off, boys! Don't you forget the trick is to be red and the first ride soon. I can't wait very long. Now I must go. The Bird Woman will be ready to start, and she'll come here hunting me next, for she is busy today. What did I come here for anyway?"

She glanced inquiringly about, and several of the men laughed. Oh, the delight of it! She had forgot her errand for him! Jack had a second increase in height. The angel glanced helplessly about as if seeking a clue. Then her eyes fell, as if by accident, on Freckles.

"It's mighty risky for you to be crossing the swampy place," he said. "I know it's a little farther, but it's begging you to be going back by the trail."

The angel laughed merrily. "Oh, stop your nonsense!" she cried. "I'm not afraid—not in the least!"

Freckles turned to Jack impudently. "You tell her!" he pleaded. "I'll bet her to go by the trail. She will for you."

The implication of this statement was so gratifying to Black Jack that he seemed again to expand and take on increase, but his very eyes.

"You bet," exclaimed Jack. And to the angel: "You better take Freckles word for it, miss. He knows the old swampy better than any of us, except me, and if he says go by the trail you'd best do it."

The angel hesitated. One last glance at Freckles showed her the agony in his eyes. She would follow the trail.

"All right," she said, giving Jack a killing glance. "If you say so I'll go back by the trail to please you. Good by, everybody."

She lifted the bushes and started for the entrance.

"Stop her!" growled Wessner. "Keep her till we're loaded anyhow. Can't you see that when this thing is found out there shall be no ruin at all? If you let her go every man of us has got to eat, and some of us will be caught sure."

Jack sprang forward. Freckles' heart muffled up in his throat. The angel seemed to divine Jack's coming. She was humming a little song. She deliberately stopped and began pulling the heads of the curling grasses that grew all about her. When she straightened she took a step backward and called: "Ho, Freckles, the Bird Woman wants that natural history pamphlet returned. It belongs to a set she is going to have bound."

Then the angel shot a parting glance at Jack, and she was bewitchingly lovely.

"You won't forget that ride and the red tie," she half asserted, half questioned.

Jack lost his head entirely. Freckles was his captive, but he was the angel's, soul and body. With head held well up the angel walked slowly away, and Jack wheeled on the spot.

"Drop your starting and saw wood!" he shouted. "Don't you know any thing at all about how to treat a lady?"

The men muttered and threatened among themselves, but they fell to working with a vengeance.

Freckles set down on one of his benches and waited. In their haste to get the tree down and loaded so that the teamsters could start with it and leave them free to attack another tree had forgotten to reload him.

The angel was on the trail and safe. Freckles wondered what she would say to the Bird Woman and how long it would take them to pack and get started. He knew now that they would understand and the angel would try to get the boss there in time to save his wages. She could never do it for the saw was over half through and Jack and Wessner cut through into the opposite side of the tree. It looked as if they could get at least three out before McLean could come.

When it was down would they rebind him and leave him for Wessner to break his insane vengeance on, or would they take him along to the next tree and dispose of him when they had stolen all the timber they could? Jack had said that he should not be touched until he left. Surely he would not run all that risk for a tree when he had many others of far greater value marked.

Once Jack came over to Freckles and asked if he had any water. Freckles rose and showed him where he kept his drinking water. Jack drank in great gulps, and as he passed the bucket back he said: "When a man's got a chance of catching a big girl like that he ought not to be mix'ed up in any dirty business. I wish I was too."

Freckles answered heartily, "I wish I was too."

Jack stared at him a minute and then broke into a roar of rough laughter.

"Blest if I blame you," he said. "But you had your chance. You offered you a fair thing, and you gave Wessner his answer. I ain't envying you when he gives you his."

"You're six to me!" answered Freckles. "It will be easy enough for me to be killing the body of me, but curse you all, you can't shakeen me soul!"

"I'd give anything you could name if I had your honesty," said Jack. When the mighty tree fell the lumber shivered and screamed with the echo. Freckles growled in despair, but the gang took heart. That was so much accomplished. Now, if they could get it out quickly they knew where to dispose of it safely with no questions asked. Before the day was over they could remove three others worth for more than this.

On the line, the angel gave one backward glance at Black Jack to see that he had returned to his work. Then she gathered her skirts above her knees and leaped forward on the run. In the first three yards she passed Freckles' wheel. Instantly she imagined that was why he had hustled on her coming by the trail. She seized it and sprang on. The saddle was too high, but she was an expert rider and could catch the pedals as they came up. She stopped at Duncan's cabin long enough to get out the wretched and lower the saddle, telling Mrs. Duncan the while what was happening and that she must follow the trail until she found the Bird Woman to tell her she had gone for McLean and to leave the swamp as quickly as possible.

The angel saw Mrs. Duncan start on the trail, and then flew.

Those awful miles of country! Would they never end? The angel claimed her hat, and she did not stop for it.

At last she lifted her head. Surely it could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

It could not be more than a mile away. She had covered two of country and at least three of pike, and it was only six in all. She was feeling in the saddle, but she gripped the reins with new energy and raced frequently. The sun filtered down on her bare head and hands. Just when she was choking with dust and almost prostrate with heat and exhaustion—crash, she ran into a broken bottle! She

They're all Alike

Ask any man past fifty years of age and he will tell you of some time in his life when he was sailing high. Things were coming his way. There are few exceptions. Why is he poor now? Well, there are various reasons. One thing is sure. It is not because he placed his money in a sound bank and checked it out only when safe investments were secured. There are more ways to lose money than to make it. If you are making any money, no matter how small the amount, start the saving habit by opening a bank account.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Hatters A. E. Bridge
Co-Partners
Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

Gypsine and Muresco Wall Finish

PAINTS OILS VARNISHES

Ranges, Oil and Gasoline Stoves

GRANITE AND TIN WARE

Very Best Woven Fence Wire

ROPE AND CORDAGE

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

SIGNET RINGS

It is only fitting and appropriate that what might be designed in Men's jewelry especially in the way of rings would be even more beautiful when made to fit the dainty feminine finger. In proof of this we ask you to come in and look at our beautiful Signet and Seal Rings, and in order to offer an inducement during this week we will engrave you Initials FREE.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's

$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and 2000 boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and all who do business, and of whom the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, cleanest, money-making opportunities they ever received. Without previous experience you can make $50.00 a week. Our handsomely illustrated catalogue will enable you to present the subject to customers in an interesting manner as though you were piloting them through our factory. Men appointing salesmen receive active and instructive for sale sales, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't you be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was so celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide awake men who received our elegant selling inducement, returned it necessary to include one output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales representation, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 161.
THE VICTOR SAFE & LOCK CO.
CINCINNATI, OHIO

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE
In fact, my Father, who has been devoted to curing others, have failed. I have thought hundreds upon hundreds of Nervous Wrecks into the Strong Men and Women. I cannot cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.
I CURE NERVOUS WRECKS from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure a host of how long standing.
I CURE ITIS (Rheumatism, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc.), by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerve in perfect health.
I CURE PILES in 25 days to 100 days and to never return.
I CURE URIC ACID, the great White Disease, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds of cases by my discovery. Those I cannot treat at home by acting on my mail. I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for 1

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Thursday, the first day of spring, where are the robins?

S. M. Rose made a brief business trip to Lansing last week.

Bertram Lewin of Buffalo was at the Elston the first of the week.

Mrs. James Sweet of Petoskey visited friends in the city last week.

Andrew Johnson of this city spent a week at the Soo with his brother.

Mrs. Fred Price is making a short visit with friends at Grand Rapids.

Miss Lillian Emery is now training in a millinery store at Howard City.

Mrs. George Bacet is taking treatments at the Saville Sanatorium this week.

Mrs. W. J. Rachow is making a several weeks' visit in Detroit and Toronto.

Thomas D. Nowland has gone to Frankfort to act as engineer on the tug Geiken.

Mrs. G. C. Wilson of Bay View, Wis., is visiting this week with Mrs. Enla Smith.

Miss Alice Zimmerman of Mackinaw City is visiting at the home of Ray Dorrance.

J. B. Eddy of the Soo arrived in the city Monday and will make a short stay here.

Willie Ripley entertained a number of his boy and girl friends last Friday evening.

L. M. Devoe drove to Boyne City last week to attend a number on the lecture course.

There will be regular communication of Charlevoix Lodge, No. 282, F. & A. M. March 26.

C. S. Dodge arrived home Friday night and will make an indefinite stay with his family.

Mrs. Robert Mitchell and baby Marjorie spent Sunday with Mr. Mitchell in Petoskey.

The Board of Supervisors will convene Monday, April 8, to canvas the local option vote.

Miss Grace Donohue of Lowell, Mass., is visiting at the home of R. A. Kimrey and family.

Dr. R. B. Armstrong returned home Monday night from his extended his eastern trip.

Mrs. Ray Faulkner and little son Raymond arrived here Monday, to make an indefinite visit.

Miss Lottie Cohen arrived home Monday after a two months visit in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The Ladies of the M. E. church will serve an Easter supper in the church, Wednesday April 3.

Miss Anna McHugh is absent this week from her place at the post-office, on account of illness.

Mr. Craig, principal of the high school gave a very impressive talk at the Carnegie library last Sunday.

Earl Miller has purchased W. E. Campbell's automobile and will use it to deliver groceries this summer.

Mrs. Anderson of Petoskey visited at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mont Withers, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cox arrived in the city today, from Benton Harbor, where they have been for some time.

Miss Elena O'Leary has returned home after her two weeks' vacation, which she spent in Southern Michigan.

Charles Danto of Detroit returned to that place yesterday, after staying at the Elston the past two weeks.

Frank Fox of Horton Bay was here on business last week. While here he purchased a good fox hound.

The city is rebuilding the dock at the foot of Mason Street. The work is under the direction of Edward Stafford.

Mrs. Ray Dorrance and children have returned home from Mackinaw City, where they visited friends and relatives.

Mrs. H. S. Harsha entertained a few of her friends last Wednesday afternoon. Sewing was the chief amusement.

Thomas Shawley is moving into his new location this week, in the building formerly occupied by S. M. See & Sons.

Harry Millard of the State Savings bank is spending a three weeks' vacation at his home in Harey, Michigan.

Mrs. Lena Cram returned Friday from an extended visit among friends and relatives at Grand Rapids and Detroit.

James Gaskin, Jr., arrived home Tuesday from Ypsilanti where he has been attending school. He will not return there until fall.

Mrs. Ben Pearl, Mrs. Will Richardson and Mrs. Will Alward of Norwood visited Mrs. J. L. Dice and other friends and relatives here last week.

Galo Hines returned Monday from a few days' visit at Grand Rapids. George Fiancan filled his place at the drug store during his absence.

Mrs. Henrietta Kyle has returned to her home in Port Huron, after spending a week with her nieces, Mrs. T. D. Nowland and Mrs. Clifford Papineau.

County School Commissioner J. H. Millford will address the Men's Bible class next Sunday. Special music will be given by the Wilkinson quartet.

Mrs. George Myler arrived here from Detroit Monday, called by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. L. Mercier, who at this time is very much improved.

Miss Mabel and Mollie Brown entertained about thirty young friends at their home Friday evening. Refreshments were served and all report a good time.

Mrs. Jennie Sherman was called to Toledo, Friday, by the death of her father. She had just been home about two weeks, at that time thinking her father out of danger.

Grace Papineau who came home to attend the funeral of her grand mother, Mrs. M. T. Papineau returned to her school work in the State Normal at Mt. Pleasant, Wednesday.

D. S. Payton, vice-president of the Western Michigan Development bureau from this county, will attend a meeting of the executive committee at Traverse City, Thursday.

Joe Hyland will be engineer on the steamer "Hinn" the coming season. He is moving his family to East Jordan and will make that town their future home.—Boyne City Times.

George Priest last week purchased of John Engan, his property on the corner of East Mason and Bridge streets, with the intention of building an art gallery on it some time in the future.

John Mitchell and family moved into their new home on Antrim street last week. This house was bought of W. F. Johnson last fall, but has been occupied by F. H. Clark until recently.

As the result of the election last week, Harbor Springs will have two Socialists in control. Joseph Warneck was elected village president and R. K. Miller was chosen treasurer by the same party.

Oscar Klooster, who has been at Aberdeen, Washington, for the past eleven years, returned unexpectedly to his parents home near Barnard, Friday, where he will make an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Berdan returned home Thursday, after spending the winter months in New York. "Cap" says that Broadway is all right for those who like it, but Charlevoix looks good to him.

The store of Thomas Shawley was broken into Monday night and numerous articles were found missing. Attempts are being made to find the guilty parties. The loss is from forty to fifty dollars.

Many wondered why the flag at the court house was hung half mast Saturday. It was the day the battleship Maine was taken from the harbor at Havana and lowered into her grave in deep sea.

L. D. Bartholomew and wife left Friday for Chicago where they will make a short visit with their son, Forrest. They will then go on west to find a suitable location which will benefit the health of Mr. Bartholomew.

Miss Sauer of Bangor, Michigan, has arrived to take her place as trimmer for Mrs. H. A. Carr. Miss Sauer needs no recommendation as she was here last season, and made a great many friends, and pleased all with her work.

Rev. Taylor will speak again on local option from his pulpit next Sunday. His subject will be "What Did We Lose When We Lost the Saloon, and What Will We Gain If We Get It Back." He will also answer some of the saloon arguments.

By an act of the last legislature the date of the general registration was changed from the first Saturday before election to the second Saturday, bringing the registration one week earlier than usual. Remember this and register Saturday, March 23.

Mrs. Lena Levinson left yesterday for Detroit and Toledo, the latter place at which she will attend the wedding of her son, Allick, to Miss Goldye Davis, which will take place next Sunday. Meyer Levinson will leave Friday to attend this function.

Gale Churchill, son of A. Churchill of East Jordan died last week at Asheville, N. C., where he was in a sanitarium in hopes of warding off consumption. Mr. Churchill and family lived here last summer and made many friends, who will be sorry to learn of his son's death.

Bert Fay Kane, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Kane, died March 10, of acute indigestion, after a very short illness. The funeral services were held at the home Wednesday. Mr. Kane's sister, Mrs. Bert Goudar of Grand Rapids, and Mr. William Adams of Vanderbilt, arrived Monday to attend the funeral.

Miss Hilda Glassford entertained about twenty of her girl and boy friends last Saturday evening at a St. Patrick's party. The dining room was prettily decorated in various hangings to suit the occasion. Games were played and some special Irish "stunts" gone through, after which refreshments were served and all had a very good time.

About sixteen ladies had a pot-luck supper at the home of Mrs. J. M. Saunders last Friday. It was in honor of four ladies' birthdays at different times during the week, but was given in the 72nd birthday anniversary of "Grandma Guard," and she was presented with a very pretty gift. Dainty refreshments were served and all had a good time. Mrs. James Sweet of Petoskey was the only out of town attendant.

DELIGHTFUL EVENING

Evening of St. Patrick's Day Enjoyably Spent at Emery Home.

Miss Ruth Emery and brother Charles entertained twenty of their friends at a St. Patrick's Day party last Saturday evening. It was given in honor of Miss Grace Dopoline of Lowell, Mass., who is visiting at the Emery home. The house was prettily decorated in green, all the lights being shaded in that color. White huge bunches of white carnations also formed an important part of the decorations. Progressive pedro was played and the tally cards were shamrocks. Ten games were played after which appropriate prizes were awarded.

A dainty three course luncheon was served in a graceful manner by the Misses Marion Emery and Irene Finnean. Very fitting favors were given which carried out the spirit of the day.

After luncheon music was indulged in until a late hour, when the guests departed wishing the host and hostess, "The top o' the mornin'."

Coming Again.

Thursday, April 4, is the date when J. Leahy, the optometrist, will be at Baker's lun one day only. Headache—cured, crossed eyes straightened. Fitting children's eyes especially. Glasses guaranteed to fit. 1212

Township Clerks, Attention.

We wish to call your attention to the fact that we are fully equipped to print your ballots for the coming township election. Bring in or phone your names and we will see that the work is done properly and on time.

For Sale.

Black 4 year old colt, weight 1150 pounds. Jas. Sprick, Route 4, Phone 95, is 112.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 10c first insertion.

WANTED—Young lady attend school to help with housework. Apply Mrs. Meyer Cohen. 911

FOR SALE—Two houses and lots, corner Antrim and State streets. Will sell at a bargain. Inquire Harrison Bedford. 966

LOST—A Recluse plb either at W. C. T. U. meeting, at home of Mrs. Shore's, or between here and home of George Papineau. Finder leave at this office. 1112

LOST—Gold watch. Probably in front of Bert Mason's store. Name "May" engraved on front cover of case. Liberal reward. Finder leave at this office. 1212

FOR SALE—The large frame building in Charlevoix known as the Bathing Shelter, to be removed by buyer from present premises. Can be bought cheap if taken at once. See Robert W. Knute at Charlevoix, or W. H. Aldrich, Room 101 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill. 2411

SALESMEN—For Kern-Vapor Incandescent lamps. Suitable proposition in home territory. Excess lamp and bulb business needs it. High class, guaranteed article, unlike any other. No commission. Write for particulars. Douglas, Inc., Manufacturers, Kalamazoo, Michigan. 616

CRANE'S

Special Values in

FINE WOOL SERGES

Full 36 inch—Extra fine quality Wool Dress Serges in the popular Tan and Navy Blue and Cardinal Shades.

These are extra quality for the price.

50c yard

A House to Rent

Mr. Landlord:

Are you getting as much rent from your houses as you should, as much as the other houses in the same neighborhood bring. If not,

There is a Reason

If you were renting a house for your own use would you pay as much for one from which the paint had nearly all peeled or chalked off, as you would for the one which showed the effect of the painter's brush.

Again do you realize that after the paint has worn off, that water soaks in and rots the wood. A house which is kept well painted will last many years longer than one that has been neglected.

Think it Over. Does your House need Painting

DeVoe's Lead and Zinc Paint

Will cover more surface and last longer than any other made. We sell it.

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

EASTER OPENING

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY
March 28 and 29

PATTERN HATS

Also a choice selection of

Millinery Novelties

You are Especially Invited

Mrs. H. A. Carr

SPRING OPENING

POSTPONED TO

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
March 29 and 30

Excellent display of exclusive spring and early summer models in fine Ladies' Misses' and Children's

MILLINERY

A complete assortment in dainty spring shapes. These hats are the standard of excellence in quality and style and are representative of the

Season's Latest Models
In Ladies' Head Wear

EMORY'S HAT SHOP

Near Bridge

Telephone 362

LOCAL OPTION.

hereby given to,

Notice is hereby given to the qualified male electors of the City of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, that at the annual city election to be held on the 1st day of November, 1909, at the places designated for holding such election, due legal notice of which has been given and published, the following persons are qualified to vote as electors of the qualified electors of said city to prohibit the manufacture of liquor and the sale of liquor in the City of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, of which said city constitutes a ward, in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the State of Michigan, and the laws of the said city, and supplementary thereto and supplemental thereto, in pursuance with a resolution of the Board of Aldermen of said city, relating thereto. Ballots will be provided reading as follows:

For the prohibition of liquor and the liquor traffic be prohibited within the County—1. Yes.

For the prohibition of liquor and the liquor traffic be prohibited within the County—2. No.

Dated this 11th day of March, A. D. 1909.

ERNEST J. MILLER,

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

Notice is hereby given that a caucus of the Republicans of the Township of Hayes, County of Chubb, State of Michigan, will be held in the Town Hall, in said Township on Saturday, March 21, 1914, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of electing in nomination candidates for the various Township Offices, and for the transacting of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

By Order Township Committee.

121

Mortgage Sale.

Default was being made in the monthly payments of a certain mortgage bearing date the 14th day of March, A. D. 1901, by the said John W. Whitford & Sons, of the County of St. Cloud, his wife, of Nation Township, said County of St. Cloud, Minnesota, and the said John W. Whitford & Sons, who is also known as W. M. Peters, of the same place, and recorded in the County of Charlotte, Michigan, on the 14th day of May, A. D. 1901, on page 66, and which mortgage was duly assigned by the said John W. Whitford & Sons, County of Charlotte, Michigan, to the said John W. Whitford & Sons, County of Charlotte, Michigan, on the 14th day of November, A. D. 1901, and recorded in the Register of Deeds of the County of Charlotte, Michigan, on the 14th day of November A. D. 1901, in their said mortgages of record, and in said County of Charlotte, Michigan, by the said John W. Whitford & Sons, County of Charlotte, Michigan, on the 14th day of November, A. D. 1902, and recorded March 26, A. D. 1902, and under the name Reginald M. Charlevoix, on the 24th day of March, 1902 in Effier 314 of mortgages on page 128, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters to Louis Minkowski, on the 24th day of May, 1902. The assignment dated the 5th day of May, 1902, and recorded on the 20th day of November, 1902 in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix.

It is hereby declared that the said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred dollars, principal and interest, under the terms of said mortgage, and any balance of principal or interest having been instituted to become the same, or any part thereof.

[illegible]

Lois Winkelman,
Assignee of Mortgage

Russia's National Anthem.
The Russian national anthem is the only national hymn which was adopted as such in open competition. In the time of the Emperor Nicholas the English "God Save the King" was served Russia, but Nicholas determined to institute a genuine and native Russian hymn. He announced a contest often, open to all musicians, for original national hymn. A musical committee reduced the thousands of entries to two, and between these, the works of Gliuka and Lyovf, the committee decided. The highly marked character, with the drums and trumpets, of Lyovf's composition won the imperial verdict, and it was decreed henceforth the Russian national anthem.

1. Rochester, New York, has recovered from a long and severe attack... they trouble, his cure being due to Foley's Kidney Pills. After stating his case he says: "I am only sorry I did not learn sooner of Foley's Kidney Pills. In a few days time my backache completely left me and I felt greatly improved. My kidneys became stronger, diseases left me and I was no longer annoyed at night. I feel 100 per cent better since using Foley's Kidney Pills." Sold by Frank N. S.

call.

SATURDAY NIGHT SERMONS
BY
REV. SAMUEL W. PURVIS, D.D.

To many London streets there is a No. 13. Even hotel-headed business men seem to have an aversion to this number, which is lacking from Threadneedle street, Telephone Yard and Ludgate street. In one street, however, hearing a singularly unlucky name suggests superstition is badly defied. For many years past a flourishing manufacturer has located his city offices at 13 Friar-church street, an address which seems curiously filled to be the headquarters of the Thirteen club - Pall Mall Gazette.

Frugal Bargemon.
With no toll to pay, no street car fares or other of the usual unavoidable city expenses to meet the large annual canalboat men of the Netherlands livpossibly the most frugal lives of any of the urban working classes in Europe. They, with their families, exist in the hulls of their craft. The rooms are small, with little ventilation and usually low to enable the boats to pass under the bridges. The decks form the children's playground. Chickens, and sometimes kept on the boat and come onto the wharves.

Spring work is about to begin and the question now is, have you the proper implements to do the work. There is no money in farming with out-of-date and worn out tools. Every dollar invested in modern implements means two dollars in return in your crops.

are the best and cheapest drills on the market. Let me tell you right here that I also bought my stock of these drills before the recent raise in prices, and can save you money on every drill you buy of me.

Farmers' Favorite Fertilizer Drills	-	$80.00
Superior No. 9, plain drill	- -	$60.00

Also Superior Fertilizer Drills at lowest possible prices. We always have Swift's Fertilizers for corn, beans, wheat and grasses.

for the orchard. The most modern and up-to-date machine of its kind on the market today. If you keep your orchard in good condition, this is the machine you need. At the same time remember we are well stocked with Spray Pumps and Spray Solutions.

Farmers' Supply House, Antrim Street

For a Limited Time We are Making the
GREATEST COMBINATION OFFER
 Ever Made by any Reliable Farm Periodical

MICHIGAN FARMER
LIVE STOCK JOURNAL
PUBLISHED WEEKLY
ESTABLISHED 1881
ONE YEAR

THE MICHIGAN FARMER is not only the only weekly farm paper in Michigan, but also one of the best in the country. It is a Standard agricultural weekly, covering every branch of general farming. It is practical, helpful and entertaining. Its dairy department is unexcelled by any of the Dairy papers. Each department is in charge of a specialist, an

THE FRUIT BELT is the Fruit Growers' business magazine, its Trade Journal.

ALL FOR

We will send THE FRUIT BELT One Year, The MICHIGAN FARMER One Year, and 12 Giant Himalaya Blackberry Vines for $1.

OUR GUARANTEE

OUR GUARANTEE. The Fruit Bolt guarantees that the Giant Himalaya Blackberry vines it sends out will live and grow, and under proper cultivation, will produce the most satisfactory to you. We will replace, free of charge, any plants that fail to grow, if not out within one day after received. AND IF AT ANY TIME DURING THE GROWING THREE YEARS, you are dissatisfied with your bargain after giving the blackberry vines a trial, let us know and we will RE-FUND YOUR DOLLAR AND YOU MAY KEEP THE PLANTS.

THE FRUIT BELT
Grand Rapids Michigan

For the convenience of the farmers in this locality, we have made special arrangements, whereby we can forward your subscription to this combination, thus saving you the postage and the money order fee. Or we will include in the above offer a year's subscription to the Courier and send it all to your address for $2.25. Leave your subscription at the Courier Office.

ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Of the City of Charlevoix, for the Fiscal Year Ending February 29, 1912.

To The Taxpayers of the City:—
Following out the plan inaugurated last year, of giving a summary of the city affairs, in addition to the bare financial balances and entries shown in the Bookkeeper's statement, I have in prepared a summary showing the actual condition of the various funds, with a statement as to where the money came from, and for what it was expended. With this summary you can readily ascertain how the various moneys have been expended and how much cash is actually on hand.

We have endeavored to so manage that the balance shown will be actual balances of cash, but owing to the fact that in previous years the various special funds had been used to pay the general running expenses of the City, we have not been able to completely wipe out all of the "paper balances," but if the present policy is continued, the funds will eventually be brought to the point when all will have the cash actually in hand which the books show should be to their credit. As a matter of fact, the old special funds now owe the general fund $89.60.

A business firm's general financial condition is measured by the increase of cash on hand, increase of stock, etc., as compared with its increase of outstanding debts. Comparing the City finances in this matter, and we all have reason to feel satisfied. March 1, 1911, the cash in the general fund was $52.52, and we owed the banks borrowed money amounting to $1,250. March 1, 1912, the cash in the general fund was $443.62, and there was cash due the general fund for money advanced for construction until the special taxes were available, sums as follows: Meech and Chicago Ave. sewer $24.73. South Side sewer $50.00. Meech St., and Chicago Ave. transfer, $150, making a total of general fund cash of $1,468.35. And we owed the banks, not a penny of borrowed money. This is a net gain in general fund cash of $2,655.83. In addition, we have paid all bonds and time orders falling due the past year, on maturity; and have not refunded any bonds. Indebtedness of this kind which has been paid off during the year is as follows: Right-of-way time order $500; Water tower time order $200; City Park Bond $1,000; Road roller time order $500; Electric light bond $1,000; City's share of Michigan and Petoskey Avenue paving time order $500; a total indebtedness paid off during the year of $3,700. Taking this in connection with the gain in cash, and the general finances show a gain for the year $6,355.83. In other words, the city is that much "better off" than it was a year ago.

Two years ago, on March 1, 1910, the city owed the banks borrowed money, advanced to pay running expenses, amounting to $6,886.46. It is surely a pleasure to report that we now owe them nothing, and have in addition wiping out this floating debt paid off $5,900 of bonds and time orders issued in previous years, and have paid our running expenses in cash, during the two years since March 1, 1910.

During the past year, we have paid out for permanent improvements, such as cement crosswalks, $1,768.07; street signs and house numbers $350.19; land at cemetery $130; new fire hose $475. Making $2,733.25 added to the City's "stock in trade." Summing up the matters enumerated above, and it will be seen that the tax payers have reason to feel tolerably well satisfied with the financial situation. And the Council while careful of the expenditures has not been niggardly, as a review of the sums expended on the streets and for other purposes, will show.

In the special improvement funds for paving and sewer districts, the actual cash has been held sacred for the payment of bonds, issued for construction of these improvements, as they fall due. The various funds of this kind that have cash on hand are as follows:

Mich. & Pet. Ave. paving $ 2,144.68
Belvedere Ave. paving 394.98
Alice street paving 294.30
Mich. & Dixon Ave. sewer 2,480.35
Mich. & Dixon Ave. paving 5,178.97
Meech St. and Chicago Ave. sewer 737.38
Total cash in these special funds $11,230.66

There is also in the construction fund for the Mich. & Dixon Ave. paving, the sum of $16,089.54, proceeds from sale of bonds.

As soon as the city began having credit balances at the banks, arrangements were made for the payment of interest on daily balances in the checking accounts, and for the issuance of certificates of deposits drawing 4 per cent. interest, for funds not needed for immediate use. The city will now receive considerable income from this source, not previously paid into the treasury. To further increase the interest funds of the newer local improvement districts have been bought from the cash in the sinking funds of the older special improvement districts, so that the city is acting as agent and deriving interest from loans made from one fund to another, and saving this interest charge for the special funds.

While the financial showing is most pleasing, to my mind, and to me personally, the best work done the past year, was in the revision of the assessment rolls. In the past, the city has been cramped because the highest possible rate of levy did not furnish sufficient funds for the running expenses, and necessary improvements. The readjustment of values may not please all, that would be an impossibility. But that the tax burden will now fall more equitably upon all the people, I am firmly convinced. And while I may be censured as being responsible for the readjustment, I am certain in my own mind that it was the best work I have done for the city as a whole, during my two years as your Mayor. In the future, there should be no necessity of borrowing so heavily from the banks to pay running expenses, and the heavy interest charge consequent thereto will be saved.

The accounts of the Water and Light departments, have not been credited up with allowances for fire protection, water for cemetery, sprinkling, and fountains, nor the lighting department for street lights. As will be seen, the water department shows an overdraft of $7,071.76. The overdraft a year ago was $4,161.54, an increase during the year of $2,910.12. There was an expenditure during the year for material of $2,340.00, and a considerable portion of this was for the extension of the main on Dixon Ave., and laying of service pipes to the curb, in anticipation of the paving of that street. If the water plant was credited with $2,160 for fire protection, $400 for water for sprinkling, and $100 for water for other public uses, and the money for the extension of the mains deducted, it would be found that the plant had paid its bond and interest charges, and about "played even."

The electric light plant showed an overdraft a year ago of $83.19, and a credit balance this year of $1,496.34, an apparent profit of $1,579.53. Add to this a reasonable credit for street lighting, $1,935, and that department shows a profit of $3,485.03. If a private corporation operated the plants, we would have to pay at least these sums for water and light for the city, use, and the plants should have this credit to properly show what they are doing. So that, taking these things into consideration, and our municipal investments make a very creditable showing indeed.

Should there be anything in the financial statement which follows which any citizen does not fully understand, and desires information upon, the City Bookkeeper will gladly aid in his enlightenment.

WILL E. HAMPTON,
Mayor.

	Receipts	Disbursements	Dr.	Cr.	Dr.	Cr.
County Treasurer
Balance March 1, 1911	$ 1,094.91
Roll returned 1910.....	1,500.37
Correction of Interest.....	27.55
Receipts	$ 1,304.94
Balance March 1, 1912
			2,622.33	2,522.83
City Treasurer
Balance March 1, 1911			2,315.18
Roll returned 1910.....			28,208.82	1,500.37
July tax roll 1911.....				24,384.45
Receipts gen. city tax	24,894.45			2,256.47
Receipts, local imp.....	2,256.47			2,382.71
Balance March 1, 1912			10,524.00	30,524.00
Water Fund
Overdraft March 1 1911			4,161.54
Receipts	6,619.71			6,619.71
Disbursements
Material	$2,340.00
Current	4,046.83
Fuel	134.83
Freight, Express and Dray	132.03
Salaries	851.40
Labor	679.80
Sundry Exp.	128.22		$ 8,313.20	8,313.20
Caldwell, damage to main				33.37
Waterworks			1,250.00	1,250.00
Coupons				7,071.76	7,071.76
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912			13,724.84	13,724.84
Electric Light Fund
Overdraft, Mar. 1, 1911			83.19
Receipts	15,161.95			15,161.95
Disbursements
Material	$1,215.50
Current	8,869.46
Fuel	224.44
Freight, Express, Dray	31.55
Salaries	851.40
Labor	313.72
Sundry Exp.	169.76		11,665.92	11,665.92
Bond No. 8 and Interest coupons.....			1,945.00	1,945.00
Balance, Mar. 1, 1912			16,161.95	16,161.95
Health Fund
Overdraft, Mar. 1, 1911			329.15
Receipts
Charlevoix Co.	$119.53
Fumigation	6.00
J. B. Thelen, overpaid	12.60
Orders chg. nff	31.69	169.82		169.82
Disbursements
Health Officer	$ 50.00
Contagious diseases	168.07
Fumigation	39.29
Supplies	123.50
Sheep killed	35.00
Vaccinations	35.75
Sundry ser.	28.85
Printing	7.30
Telephone	13.98		562.74	562.74
July tax roll appropriation				700.00
Overdraft, Mar. 1, 1912			891.89	891.89
General Fund
Balance Mar. 1st, 1911				2,411.82
Receipts
Rent Cram - White for site	$ 10.00
Dockage	60.00

	Receipts	Disbursements	Dr.	Cr.	Dr.	Cr.
License
Tax & Recording fees	322.00
Int. on Delinquent tax	145.05
Delinquent tax	182.74
Delinquent tax	10.53	730.32		730.32
Disbursements
Election exp.	197.75
Sundry exp.	141.27
Fuel	201.39
Personal tax	35.28
Board of Review	76.00
Charlevoix City	200.00
Tax rebates	24.11
Transfer to Alice street	70.00
Auditor General refund	29.86
Tax stone crusher property	11.71
Salary Harbor master	50.00
Salary Mayor and alderman	350.00
Salary city assessor	200.00
Salary City Treasurer	650.00
Salary City Attorney	200.00
Salary city clerk	105.00
Sub. dep. city clerk	0.00
Sundry ser.	214.52
Print, sup.	245.35
Int. on loans	255.25
Right-of-way Time order and int.	500.00
Water tower war. rant and int.	4,960.50	4,960.50
Park Bond No. 4 and interest	1,360.00	1,360.00
Bridge interest coupons 1910	1,250.00
Transfer south side sewer district	50.00
Transfer Meech St. Chicago Ave. sewer rebate on interest	150.00
"Coupons"	45.00
Bond & Int. acc.	90.00
County Treasurer interest	27.65
City Treasurer, petty cash, act.	15.00
Appropriation July tax roll & excess	8,791.57
Park Bonds No. 1 and 2 refunded 1910	2,000.00
Balance Mar. 1, 1912.....	4,190.76				4,190.76
	14,111.26	14,111.26
Cemetery Fund
Balance Mar. 1, 1911.....				1,421.58
Receipts	657.48			657.48
Disbursements
Sexton salary	$570.00
Extra ser.	356.56
Supplies	77.59
Land purchased	129.00
Telephone	18.50
Sundry exp.	39	1,153.06	1,153.06
Balance Mar. 1, 1912.....		926.00			926.00
	2,079.06	2,079.06
Highway Fund
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911.....				3,473.72
Receipts
Hotel-Rickon St.	72.99
J. W. Graham	191.00
Henry Wood	18.33
Marshall & Solberg	1.10	198.43		198.43
Disbursements
Services	$3,312.87
Time order, road roller	600.14
Printing	63.50
Supplies	176.95
Street signs and posts	350.19
Time order Mich. & Petoskey Ave. pvg and int.	590.00
Labor checks	6.83
Lee Howland, crosswalks, etc.	1,768.97
Sprinkling	1,093.66
Paid sinking fund appropriation	355.01	8,532.23	8,532.23
Appropriation July tax roll				8,000.00
Sinking fund				558.01
Appropriations				3,249.51	3,249.51
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912
		12,007.95	12,007.95
Police Fund
Balance Mar. 1, 1911.....				1,530.63
Receipts
Peddlers fines, $ 8.00	21.00			21.00
Dog licenses fine	13.00
Disbursements
Chief Police sal.	793.66
Lodging, meals and Turnkey fees	4.25
Sundry exp.	18.17
Extra ser.	27.50	753.58	753.58
Balance Mar. 1, 1912.....		898.10			898.10
		1,651.68	1,651.68
Bridge Fund
Balance Mar. 1, 1911.....				638.97
Receipts
Charlevoix County	821.57			821.57
Disbursements
Bridge Tender salary	$1,200.00
Repair ser.	142.03
Repair material	129.36
Argo Milling Co. rent	9.00
Telephone	18.00
Coal	100.20	1,598.54	1,598.54
Appropriation July tax roll				700.00
Balance Mar. 1, 1912.....		461.90			461.90
		2,060.54	2,060.54
Fire Fund
Balance Mar. 1, 1911.....				1,622.84
Receipts
Boyer City use of fire engine	55.00			55.00
Order eng. off	5.00
Disbursements
Fire Marshal salary	$ 40.00
Hesse Co. No. 1	389.50
Hesse Co. No. 2	220.50
Sundry Exp.	86.97
Sundry sup.	60.10
Fire alarm and phone service	12.50
New hose	475.00	1,285.56	1,285.56
Balance Mar. 1, 1912.....		392.70			392.70
		1,678.34	1,678.34
Dog Fund
Balance Mar. 1, 1911.....				78.94
Receipts
Dog Licenses	89.00			89.00
Disbursements
Dog Warden	94.35
Sundry ser.	7.00
Dog Tags	3.52
Printing and supplies	0.13

Receipts Disbursements			Dr.	Cr.	Dr.	Cr.	Receipts Disbursements			Dr.	Cr.	Dr.	Cr.
Sheep	150.00						Michigan and Dixon			787.10	727.16
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912	263.95	268.95	96.01	96.01			Sewer Fund L. I. S. F.
		268.95		268.95			Receipts
							Appropriation July tax
Park Fund				268.27		262.27	roll
Balance Mar. 1, 1911							Assessments
Balance Mar. 1, 1912				262.27			Interest on daily bal-
				262.27			ances	6.20	4,423.86		4,422.80
							Disbursements
Account Payable				32.80		32.80	Refund assessment	61.51
Balance Mar. 1, 1911							Bonds 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6
Balance Mar. 1, 1912				82.80		82.80	and interest	1,875.00
				82.80		82.80	Transfer to Michigan
							and Dixon Ave sewer
Account Receivable				149.89		149.89	or construction
Balance, Mar. 1, 1911							account	7.00	1,948.51	1,948.51		2,480.35
Balance Mar. 1, 1912				149.89		149.89	Balance Mar. 1, 1912			2,480.35
				149.89		149.89			4,423.86	4,423.86
Notes Payable				1,250.00		21,100.00	Meech St., Chicago Ave.
Balance Mar. 1, 1911						21,100.00	Sewer L. I. S. F.
Receipts from loans...	21,100.00						Receipts			737.88	737.38		737.38
Disbursements							Assessment			737.88			737.88
Notes paid	22,350.00	22,350.00					Balance Mar. 1, 1912				737.38		737.38
		22,350.00		22,350.00
Petoskey Ave. Sewer Fund L. I. S. F.				251.80			Michigan and Dixon Ave
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911							Paving Fund L. I. S. F.
Appropriation July tax				101.83		149.97	Receipts
roll				149.97			Assessments
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912				251.80		251.80	Interest on daily
							balance	2.21	5,178.97		5,178.97		5,178.97
							Balance Mar. 1, 1912			5,178.97
										5,178.97		5,178.97
Mason St., paving L. I. S. F.				31.81			Dixon Ave. Sewer Fund L. I. C. A.
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911							Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911			.60		.60
Disbursements							Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912				.60		.60
Bond No. 5 and	626.57	526.57
Interest				216.87
Appropriation July tax				407.24		34.77	Michigan & Petoskey Ave.
roll				34.77			Paving Fund L. I. C. A.
Special assessments...						34.77	Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911			1,549.36
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912				658.38		658.38	Receipt				8.94
							Orders chg off	3.94			1,545.42		1,545.42
							Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912			1,549.36		1,549.36
Mason St., Sewer L. I. S. F.				17.31			Michigan Ave. Sewer L. I. C. A.
Balance March 1, 1911							Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911				414.20	414.20	414.20
Disbursements							Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912					414.20	414.20
Bond No. 4 & Interest	251.84	251.84
Appropriation July tax				45.09
roll				194.81		5.87
Special assessments 194.81
Balance Mar. 1, 1912				587
				257.21		257.21
Antrim St., Paving L. I. S. F.				21.17			Michigan & Dixon Ave.
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911							Paving Fund L. I. C. A.
Disbursements							Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911				15.87
Bond No. 4 & Interest	1,025.00	1,025.00					Receipts					17,413.98
Appropriation July tax				562.66			Sale of bonds	17,413.98
roll				559.43		100.92	Disbursements
Special assessments...							Inspection-exp-...	250.00
Balance Mar. 1, 1912				105.92			E. A. Robinson sur-
				1,152.09		1,152.09	vey	129.10
							Printing and supplies	68.98
							Advertising for bids	10.20
							E. A. Robinson
							board	14.70
							Express on bonds	4.43
							Sundry ser-
							VICES	249.44
							Lee Howland	380.40	1,107.2		1,107.25
							Transfer to Michigan and Dixon Ave. sewer fund for funds proportion of
							Geo. S. Pierson contract
							Balance Mar. 1, 1912				2 00.00
											16,089.86		16,089.86
											17,413.98	17,413.98

ROYAL BAKING-POWDER

Absolutely Pure

MAKES HOME BAKING EASY

Light Biscuit
Delicious Cake
Dainty Pastries
Fine Puddings
Flaky Crusts

The only Baking Powder made
from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

LECTURE TOUR A SUCCESS

(Continued from page 1)

small means and the wage earner, because they were convinced that no where else, so near home, could they get a start so easily and with a better chance of succeeding.

Display ads and reading notices were run in the local papers two weeks prior to the meetings, and large cards were put in the store windows and tacked up in the country, and where it was permissible, in the towns.

More than half of those who headed in their names said they were coming to Western Michigan some time this year. I am confident that the year 1912 will break all records for the number of home seekers visiting our territory.

At several places we find competition from the Great Northern railroad, who were running a splendidly equipped exhibit car through Indiana. If the tourist could have a car of this kind, it would add greatly to the effectiveness of our work.

The pity of it is that Michigan with her wonderful possibilities has been asleep so long. Even yet after three years of hard work, with very gratifying results, on the part of the Western Michigan Development bureau, the bulk of our citizens do not realize, as our friends in the West and Canada do, the value of agricultural and horticultural education and the great possibilities of persistent, intelligently conducted publicity.

We have in our files detailed daily reports of all of the lectures and will be glad to answer any questions regarding the lecture campaign.

Rock Elm Grange No. 705.

Regular session of Rock Elm Grange called to order March 16 by Worthy Master Fred Van Gorder. Grange opened in form and minutes of last meeting read. The committee appointed on last dance reported and was discharged. Bro. Boyd Hipp's bill of $1.00 for feed and tying rings for sheds was allowed on motion. The literary program consisted of a reading by the Worthy Master, a song by Mildred Hutton and Marjorie Cleland, a talk on the local option by Bro. Metz, a talk on the bee-keeper's convention at Traverse City by Bro. Kitson, a reading by Miss Maddaugh and a reading by Harry Van Gorder. Grange closed in form. The next meeting will be held March 30.

We do Fine Job Printing.

... Bicycle Repairing ...

I have employed Herb Martin and we are ready to

Repair and Clean Your Bicycle

Bicycle Tires and any part you need furnished at a very low Price

All Work Guaranteed to Give Satisfaction

Benj. Brown

Grange Column

Charlevoix Grange, No. 1526.

Charlevoix Grange will hold its regular meeting Monday evening, March 25. All members are requested to be present.

Harmony Grange, No. 1451.

Harmony Grange, No. 1451 held a well-attended meeting at the Pleasant Valley school house on Tuesday evening, March 12.

Arranged to hold a box social on Thursday evening, March 21, for the benefit of James Simmons and family who have met with several misfortunes lately and are deserving of help.

The woman's work committee will meet with Sister Viola Willson on Wednesday, March 20. Two candidates were initiated in the 1st and 2nd degrees, and the lecturer's program was carried out. Some of the principle features were: Roll call responded to by naming some current event; A Talk on Feeding Dairy Cows, by O. D. Willson; A Violin Solo, Sister Leller, accompanied by Sister Myrtle Willson; a discussion by several members as to whether the grange afforded as good an opportunity for improvement for the women as for men. The general opinion was that it does but that none of us are availing ourselves of the full benefits offered by the grange.

At next meeting roll call will be responded to by naming to some of the words some benefit of the grange. The question for discussion is, "Lessons Learned From Last Season's Drought." Music to be furnished by John R. Newville. There will be initiation in the 3rd and 4th degrees. All visiting members welcome.

Bargain in Chickens.

If you are looking for a snap, here's your chance. 75 First class White Leghorn hens, 2 coops, 12x21 and 8x30. Reliable 200 egg incubator and 3 brooders. Will take $125 for the outfit if taken at once. Inquire at this office. Htf

ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Of the City of Charlevoix, for the Fiscal Year Ending February 29, 1912.

(Continued from page 9.)

Receipts	Disbursements	Dr.	Cr.	Cr.	Dr.	Cr.
First Street District Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911			52.50	52.50		52.50
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912			52.50	52.50
Second Street District Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911			87.49	87.49		87.49
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912			87.49	87.49
Third Street District Overdraft Mar. 1, 1911			34.99	34.99		34.99
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912			34.99	34.99
General Fund Surplus Balance Mar. 1, 1911				502.74
Disbursements			1.70
Taxes returned by state	1.70		501.04		501.04
Balance Mar. 1, 1912			502.74	502.74
Netleton St. Sewer Disbursements			3.00		3.00
Services	3.00		3.00		3.00
Overdraft Mar. 1, 1912			3.00	3.00
City Treasurer's Petty Cash Balance Mar. 1, 1911			15.00		15.00
Balance Mar. 1, 1912			15.00	15.00
Bonds Investment, Accou. Purchased with sinking fund monies Michi- gan and Dixon Ave sewer bonds. Bonds retired (The receipts and disbursements of these items have been shown in the sinking fund.)			2,832.50	1,541.00
Balance March 1, 1911				1,287.50
Total receipts from all sources, Mar. 1, 1911 to Feb. 28, 1912	$111,855.54		2,832.50	2,832.50		1,287.50
Total disbursement for all purposes Mar. 1, 1911 to Feb. 28, 1912		88,406.25
Total cash on hand March 1, 1912	3,027.35
Total cash on hand Feb. 28, 1912		26,476.64
Detail of Cash on Hand, Feb. 28th, 1912.		114,882.89
City Depositories			443.62
Local Improvement			18,069.64
Construction fund			9,943.16
Local Improvement
sinking fund			$45,608.40	$45,608.40

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van
Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:15 a. m.

Subject: "Matter."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday
Thursday and Saturday from 2:00
to 5:00 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH.
9:30 a. m. Class Meeting.
10:30 a. m. Regular morning services by the pastor.
12:30 p. m. Sunday School.
6:00 p. m. Epworth League. Subject: Local Option.
7:00 p. m. Union Services at the Congregational church.
Prayer Meeting Thursday evening, 7:30.
You are welcomed to all our services.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Rev. B. Archison, Pastor.
10:30 a. m. Morning Service.
Sunday School at 11:45.
B. Y. P. U., 6:00 p. m. Subject: "The Saloon and Its Allies."
Leader, Frank Bentz.
7:00 p. m. Evening Service.
Prayer Meeting on Thursday
evening.
Preaching next Sunday afternoon
at Marion town hall.
"Strangers always welcome."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.
Morning service at 10:30, sermon
by the pastor.
Sunday School at 12 m.
Service at Ironton at 2:30.
Meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 p.
m. Topic: "The Saloon and Its Allies."
Evening service 7 o'clock. There will be a Union Local Option
Meeting.
Mid-week service Thursday evening at 7:30.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
Services every second and fourth
Sunday of each month.

Wyant Safe in Jail.

Ernie Wyant, who was convicted at the last term of court for violation of the local option law, and who later jumped his bond, is now safely lodged in the county jail. It will be remembered by our readers that Wyant was the man who was taken sick at Ahosken and later brought to Petoskey, suffering from an acute attack of appendicitis.

Marriage Licenses.

List of marriage licenses issued for the week ending March 16.
Benj. St. John, 24, East Jordan;
Rachel H. Eley, 18, East Jordan.
Ralph A. Lawrence, 23, Leosola,
Mich.; Minnie H. Harman, 20, Boyne
Bells.
Hiram Potter, Jr., 23, Charlevoix;
Hattie Seizema, 22, Ellsworth.
Joseph Duplessis, 23, East Jordan;
Rosa Sloop, 20, East Jordan.

The Best Books.
Read the best books first or you may not have a chance to read them at all.
—Thoreau.

Wanted.

Married man wants position as farm hand. Inquire at the Courier office. 121 pub.

New Shoe Store

This means a new store and a stock of entirely new shoes. We are going to make an effort to shoe our share of the people of Charlevoix and vicinity, and we have the stock that will stand wear and hold the trade.

Smith-Wallace Shoes

are as good, if not a little better than any shoe on the market today. This is the kind we have on our shelves, and we guarantee every pair we sell.

Rubbers for Ladies and Men

The stock is all new and we will sell them at the lowest possible price. Give us a call.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor

320 Bridge Street

Next to Bakers' Inn

MRS. M. E. ATCHISON

announces her

Spring Millinery Opening

Of Tailored and Dress Hats on

Saturday, March 23

All the latest fashions of Spring Hats will, be on display and the ladies of Charlevoix are cordially invited to inspect them at her store on Bridge Street.

ONE WEEK SPECIAL

We are going to give you a little money saver for one week, commencing Thursday, March 21, and ending Thursday, March 28.

3 cans Wilton Saur Kraut

25c

You will find this kraut a little better than the average, also a little cheaper. Remember, we want your order for that Easter Dinner. The freshest fruits and vegetables will be found here, also butter and eggs.

THE CORNER STORE

McGAGH & MORSE

Telephone 125

Antrim Street

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 13

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 27, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

QUESTION TO BE VOTED ON

Three Important Questions Will Be Up
For Voters to Decide.

THE BUILDING OF GOOD ROADS

Of Vital Importance and the Proposition Should Be Adopted.

Coming Bond Issue in City a Matter Which Should Have Careful Consideration. Present Administration Should Be Retained.

There will be three important questions before the people this coming election. One is for good roads, one the local option question, and the other a matter of importance to our city, our city election, which concerns Charlevoix alone.

The matter of good roads is one which everyone, especially farmers, should take a great deal of interest in. It means a great deal to this county to have good roads. Not only to the farmer in marketing his crops, but to enable those who travel over the roads during the summer season.

The adoption of the county road system means the saving to our own people of a large sum of money which is being paid in the way of a state tax to the state highway fund, which is used as a reward to be paid back to the counties constructing permanent highways according to specifications furnished by the state.

Charlevoix county's share of this tax for 1911 was $1,027.97, and we have previously paid into this fund the sum of $3,314.33. Thus we are helping to build roads in counties which are more progressive than ourselves.

As an example of what this means, we might call attention to Kalkaska county, which adopted the county road system four years ago.
They have paid into this fund
$2,000.00, and have received back as rewards $11,430.00. Cheboygan and Emmet counties are both working under the county road system which is proving very satisfactory in both instances.

Many people are laboring under the mistaken idea that the adopting of the county road system will entirely do away with their present system of highway labor. But this is not true. A small portion of your tax, which will not exceed two or three dollars per thousand of your assessed valuation, will be set aside into a special fund to be used for the construction of permanent highways, while you will proceed under the old method to build and maintain your highways as at present.
The question is: "Do you want to continue building good roads for other counties, or will you adopt the county road system and build some good roads yourselves?"

The next question is local option which is of equal importance. Do we want the saloon among us again? Has it not been illustrated to us during the past three years that our city and county has been better off without the saloon than when it was here? It is not a question to be considered lightly, but one of vital importance. It means this: That under the wet regime it is not safe for our children to walk upon the streets and have believe them the sight of intoxicated men. It means that our boys will not have the saloon and its evil before them, and that our girls will not be objects of coarse jests and vulgar remarks from the saloon hangers-on who on the street. It means a better and purer condition.
Why then should one vote to again have the saloon with us?

In the matter of our local city election we will draw the attention of all voters to the fact that early during the summer the City of Charlevoix will be called upon to pay a bond issue of $25,000. This can only be done by a new issue of bonds which will be known as the refund issue.
There are two ways of doing this:
First: By a new issue that will come due 20 years from now. Second:
Issue bonds that will mature every year, and is the policy of the present administration, that is, to have the issue of bonds so arranged that a part of the bonds may be paid yearly, so that at the end of twenty years the city will owe nothing on these bonds, and thus pay off the city's indebtedness.

Negotiations are under way at the present time to accomplish this purpose, and we believe it advisable to continue the present city administration by voting for the Republican ticket, so that they may conclude the negotiations and also finish the public improvements now under way.

THE LOST WORLD

Great Conan Doyle Story to Start in Detroit News-
Tribune, Sunday, March 24.

"The Lost World," a thrilling story by Sir A. Conan Doyle, will commence in the Detroit News-Tribune, Sunday, March 24. This is considered the great English writer's masterpiece. The reader is taken into unknown realms, with a party of explorers, whose adventures are weird in the extreme.
Don't miss the opening installment
Sunday, March 24.

NEW FOLDER A FINE ONE

"Come to Charlevoix County" Motto Used on Cover Page.

Charlevoix County and Its Many Advantages Set Forth in Commendable Manner.

Charlevoix county's new folder, advertising its many agricultural advantages and resources, has been issued and those desiring a copy can obtain one by calling at this office. The publication is rather too formidable to be called a booklet, inasmuch as it consists of 32 large pages.

The covers show a beautiful woodland scene and bears upon their face "Come to Charlevoix County."
The interior of the folder is filled with maps, showing the large water area and excellent transportation facilities, orchard scenes, farm houses, views of growing crops and also views of the most important buildings in the county.

The folder is issued with funds supplied by the board of supervisors, the work of compilation being in the hands of a committee of three, consisting of W. E. Hampton,
Charlevoix; W. A. Loveday, East
Jordan; and S. C. Smith of Boyne City. Each city and township in the county is given space in accordance with its relative assessed valuation. The book is issued at this time that the people who have been attracted to western Michigan by the advertising of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, may know of the several advantages offered by Charlevoix county. In addition to a lengthy article covering the county at large, each city and township has a department by itself.

EDGERTON REMOVED

Had Experienced Many Difficulties Since Taking His Oath of Office.

For some time Emmet county has been in a turmoil over the actions of its sheriff, which finally terminated in his being removed from office last week, and the appointment by Gov. Osborn of Deputy Sheriff W. S. Purple in his place.
Charges were filed against Edgerton because of his action in the final disposition of one of the liquor cases. He started for Detroit with a prisoner named Al-lister, sentenced to the house of correction for violation of the local option law, and it is claimed that instead of taking him to the house of correction, he procured a room and a new place to board, and returned with the report that he had escaped. Edgerton finally claimed that Allister had made his escape at the Union station, and after making an effort to capture him, had returned home, but had left instructions to the police of that city to pick up his man and notify
him.

Friends of the sheriff claim that they believe Mr. Edgerton's tender heart was to blame for his present predicament, and scoff at the idea that he received any pecuniary benefit from the mix ups he has been in.

PEOPLE ARE MORALLY BETTER WITHOUT SALOON THAN WITH IT

Men Who Have Lived Here Under Both Regimes Must Admit It--Voters Are Asked To Look at the Matter From a Careful Standpoint and Vote "YES" Next Monday.

Sentiment either in support or in opposition to the existence of a saloon would be overwhelming did not men differ as to the effect it has upon the people of a community.
The great majority of us desire that kind of environment to surround our children and friends that will tend to make of them refined and enlightened and progressive citizens, and whether a people is morally better without the saloon than with it, is a cause for honest difference of opinion. At least there is ground for difference of opinion, when the question is considered theoretically. But we have had the problem worked out for us here in Charlevoix county.

We had the saloon with us until three years ago, and it seems that any man who has lived here under both regimes, must admit that conditions are better today than they were under the wet regime. It appears to us unquestionably that local option is better. Which is to be the most desired, the cleanliness of our streets without saloons, or the filthiness of them with the saloons? Vote the saloons back and you will find that instead of your wives and daughters being able to walk up and down the streets of our town in peace and comfort, they will have to submit to the insult and immorality of the saloon talk, and be compelled to walk through indescribable filth.

The editor of this paper is on the side of those who oppose the saloon.
We can see not a thing of good in it. We have lived in Charlevoix when saloons were in operation, and we have been a resident here during the period of local option, and we know there is less disrespectful conduct on our streets now than was frequent four years ago. Before the saloons were voted out drunken men on the streets were not at all unusual. Then we saw a squaw thrown into a wagon like a bag of wheat, so overcome by liquor that she was incapable of arousing from her stupor. Then we saw a man reeling on the walk and urging a protesting girl, presumably his daughter, to go into a saloon with him for another drink.
Then wives begged of debauched husbands to return to their homes.
Then we heard maudlin men insult women in public places. Then we saw young girls at tender age being led into wine rooms, through side entrances of the saloons, by men who thought nothing of their destruction. Then offensive conduct was common.

Three years ago the first of May the saloons closed their doors. Immediately after, drunken exhibitions that were commonplace were no longer seen. We mean just this, that an intoxicated man was not found on the streets of Charlevoix.
Months passed and the cases of drunkenness were rare indeed. We insist that conditions are now and have been for three years better, people have been more respectful than when the proprietors and clerks of five saloons were dealing out liquor over the bars.

And haven't we learned by experience, to our complete satisfaction, that saloons do not help legitimate business? What has become of most of the store buildings in Charlevoix formerly leased by the saloons? All of them but one are occupied. Grass is not growing in our streets as predicted by the saloon element three years ago.
Was it the saloons that induced the thousands of resorters to come here and spend the summer? The saloon workers claimed that there would be a great decrease in our summer business if the saloons were driven out--can you honestly say this claim has proven true?
They also claimed that our Jewish summer visitors would not come here if they could not obtain liquor without having to end after it.
No. It was an insult not only to our summer visitors, but to the whole community, to say that the open saloon brought even one of these classes of people to our city.
Every argument made by the "wet" has fallen flat.

Charlevoix is enjoying a period of prosperity right now under local option, greater in our judgment than at any time in her history.
We have made inquiries of representative business men how local option affected their sales, and almost every merchant of whom we asked the question replied that trade with him was as good or better as when saloons competed with him for his customers' money;
and many admitted that bills were better paid when the city was without the liquor shops. Naturally, for five saloons to exist must take at least $50,000 a year from the community.

We don't blame the man who insists on having his beverage. Let him have it in moderation, but in his own home, as he is privileged under local option. We are not teetotaler cranks. It's the saloon as an institution that we oppose, and we hope never to see it return to Charlevoix.

Look at the matter from a careful standpoint. It is a question that affects not only the morals of the community but one that affects the county's prosperity as well. If you are not sure about conditions, make inquiries from people on both sides of the question, get their reasons for their stand in this matter, and then use good common sense in making your decision as to how you will vote.

The question on the ballot handed you next Monday will be "Shall the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors be prohibited in Charlevoix county?" Think of your wife and children when you vote, and vote "YES."

ASKS SETTLEMENT AFTER 15 YEARS

Charlevoix Merchant Gets Letter From Former East Jordan Customer.

Person Who Stole Pair of Antics Became Conscious Stricken and Wanted to Settle.

After between 15 or 16 years, an East Jordan resident, at that time probably a young man, has become consciously stricken and wants to pay for a pair of antics he stole from a merchant in this city, who later removed to Charlevoix. The letter was received by the son of the merchant in question, and is as follows:
East Jordan, Feb. 23
"I am dropping you a few lines this morning to see if you are still in Charlevoix. Quite a number of years ago, when you kept store in East Jordan, I stole a small pair of antics from your store, valued at either $1.00 or $1.25. I wish to make this right, as the Lord has saved my soul and forgiven my sins as I hope you will forgive mine.

"Let me know if you are still in Charlevoix." (Signed)
This calls to mind a quotation, possibly not correctly quoted, but
to this effect:

"This world of ours is not so bad as some people try to make it; it may be bad, it might be worse, all depends on how you take it."

Wanted.

To know the whereabouts of Teddy Smith and his mother, Mary Jane Lora Smith, who was married at Maumebay, February 1884, to George W. Smith. Anyone knowing please let me know, as it may be a benefit to them. Address, Ed. Ed. Ira E. West, Quincy, Ky.

Will Serve Free Lunch.

The Local Option Union and ladies of Ekeline township will serve a free lunch at the polls election day.

Building For Sale.

A large frame building on Bellevue Avenue formerly occupied by Hartman's boiler shop. See adv. in hargum column for description, etc.

PARMALEE HONORED

Receives Valuable Emblem for Long and Faithful Service.

Our fellow townsman H. J. Parmalee is the recipient of what is called a third degree emblem from the New York Life Insurance company, of which he is justly proud and which he takes great pride in showing his many friends.

The emblem, which in fact is a gold locket with the degree word N. Y. L. I. C. as a monogram, is artistically beautiful. The letters are in enameled raised work design and blended in many shades.

The fact which makes the emblem of so much value and interest to Mr. Parmalee, is that so few have been given out, and then only to long time agents. There are less than 200 of these emblems in North America, and are presented only to agents who have paid for $1,000,000 in life insurance to the company.

EARL JOHNSON LOST HIS ARM

While at Work in the Elm Cooperage Plant at Boyne City.

Slipped and Fell Against Saw, Cutting Off Right Arm Just Above Elbow.

Earl H. Johnson met with a most deplorable accident last Wednesday morning, while at work in the Elm Coopera-ge plant at Boyne
City, which will make him an almost helpless cripple the balance of his life.

Mr. Johnson, who is the son of Henry Johnson of this city, and who has lived here all his life, was at work in the coopera-ge plant near the cut-off saw, and in some manner while attending his duties, slipped and fell against the rapidly moving saw, severing his right arm above the elbow so nearly that nothing but a shred of flesh and skin held it to the stump.

It is not known exactly how the accident happened, as the table that is placed for the reception of hoops to be put through the saw has an automatic lock, and it is thought that the table failed to swing back far enough to allow the lock to operate, and when falling on the table, the weight of Johnson's body carried him forward onto the saw.

It was the first day Earl had worked in the plant, and the accident is a sad blow to him. Mr.
Johnson was also a snare drummer of considerable skill, and was a drummer in the local band, and this unfortunate accident will bar him from further work along that line.

He was taken to Boyne City hospital, where the mangled arm was removed, and will be brought to the home of his parents in this city as soon as he is able to travel.

ELECTED OFFICERS

Charlevoix Poultry Association Will Hold Next Show in December.

At a meeting of the Charlevoix
Poultry Association held at the Carnegie library last Friday evening, plans for the coming year were carefully gone over, and it was decided to have the next exhibition on December 18, 19, 20 and 21. It was the opinion of those present that it would be better for all poultry farmers to do away with the score card, and hereafter have a strictly comparison show. The matter of securing a competent judge was also taken up, and a committee of one was instructed to secure the services of R. V. Otto, if possible.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:
President—G. E. Dutton.
Vice-President—A. J. Fisher.
Secretary—Dr. J. A. Auld.
Treasurer—E. J. Hiller.
Executive Committee—H. E.
Meech, Samson Goddard and Ed. E.
Wought.
Superintendents—B. L. Harrington and H. D. Marshall.

The members of the association are satisfied with the showing made last year, and will start at once to improve the coming exhibition for success.

WORKING BACK TOWARDS HOME

Glenn M. DuBois Now Back to Old Place at Chattanooga.

TRAINS RUN THROUGH WATER

Floods and Washouts Play Havoc With Train Service in South.

Chattanooga a Hustling City and Thronged With Busy People--Incline Railway Most Wonderful in World.

At last I have left the remarkable state of Florida and took the back track for home, and when spring time arrives expect me to again be on board boasting "Fruit with Flavor."

Leaving St. Petersburg in the evening the next morning found me in Jacksonville. You have to go to Jacksonville, wherever you are, to get out of Florida. Without hingering, glad I was leaving the state,
I started north. "It had rained all night as usual--and we had to feel every foot of the way almost, on account of the numerous washouts and floods. In some places the side tracks had cars buried half way up and in some places we run through water.

The delay brought us to Chattanooga about midnight, when I immediately struck out for my old stopping place. The only one I found up was Sam and he was in a doze. Touching him on the shoulder he jumped up with, "Look out dar." I responded "What's the matter, Sam, don't you know me?"
Sam exclaimed, "For the Lawd's sake, wair'd you come from?" I found my old room waiting for me, with a fire laid in the grate ready to be touched off, and Sam was enjoying all the comforts of home.
It seems Sam had a nightmare a few nights ago and thought a
"bant" had arrived again.

When I got to Chattanooga I felt as if I was somewhere. It is one of the most bustling cities I ever seen, with nice wide streets, thronged all the time with busy people. It is also a city replete with historical places, and a day can be spent with interest in a dozen different places.
The most famous, probably is "Lookout Mountain," where was fought the "Battle above the clouds," and from which it is claimed a view can be had of seven states. The mountain is reached by the famous incline railway, the last grade of which is the steepest in the world.

At the base of the mountain is the village of St. Elmo, from which, the famous novel takes its name.
Another point of attraction is the Chickamauga National Park, which comprises fifteen square miles including the battlefield of Chattanooga, and the approaches kept up
(Continued on page 4.)

Auction Sales.

This week's Courier contains more auction sale advertising than has ever been published by any newspaper in northern Michigan.

The reason of this is that farmers, as well as merchants know the Courier covers over 90 per cent of the rural routes out of Charlevoix, and a large percentage of territory within a radius of twenty miles. They all look for their money's worth, and advertise in a paper that has the largest circulation.

On page 2 will be found the sale of James Deorak, 3 1/2 miles south of Charlevoix, for Thursday, April 11, commencing at 10 o'clock.

Page 6 contains the sale of E. H.
Clarke, 2 miles south of Norwood,
on the Bay Shore road, Wednesday,
April 3, commencing at 10 o'clock.

Page 7 contains the sale of John Fardola, 3 1/2 miles south of Charlevoix, for Friday, April 5, commencing at 1 o'clock.

Page 7 also contains the sale of George Santos, 3 1/2 miles south of Charlevoix, on the Norwood road, for Wednesday, April 10, commencing
at 1 o'clock.

Page 8 contains the sale Henry Klooster, at his farm at Atwood for Tuesday, April 9, commencing
at 10 o'clock.

W. E. Byers will be the auctioneer for all of the sales.

ASHAMED OF HER FACE

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Pickard of North Carolina. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema and that was three years ago."

This is but one of thousands of cases in which D. D. D. has shown its power to clear the skin of the germs of Eczema, Psoriasis and other serious skin diseases, stops the itch instantly, and when used with U. D. D. soap the cures seem to be permanent. Nothing like D. D. D. for the complexion.

Trial bottle 25 cents, enough to prove the merit of this wonderful remedy.

We can also give you a full size bottle for $1.00 on our absolute guarantee that if this very first bottle fails to give you relief it will cost you nothing.

R. G. Hines & Co., Druggists

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

(Too late for last week.)

Sunday, March 24, Rev. B. A. Atchison of the Baptist church preached at Marion town hall.

The Gleaners met with Mr. and Mrs. Trimble March 9. Refreshments were served and a good time was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler were very pleasantly surprised by their friends and neighbors Tuesday night. Refreshments were served and a good time reported by all.

"Arthur Enstace, or a Mother's Love" was given by members of Ironton grange at Marion Center grange hall, Friday night, after which members of the Gleaners served hot maple syrup and buns.

Logs are still seen on their way to the Blanchard mill.

Mrs. Edith Meggison visited Mrs. Elmer Ingalls Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. Nat Burns Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Sheldon of South Charlevoix visited Mrs. Clara Dodd Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Smith and daughter, Marvel, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Sunday.

Arthur Beattie left March 15, for Swift Current, Saskatchewan, Canada, where he will remain for a few months.

Orville Beattie, Mr. Smith, Mrs. Grant, A. Iris Dodd and son Wesley, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Alexander Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black, Jr. and son visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Eastcott of Ellsworth, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black, Jr. and son have moved in one of the tenant houses on Elmer Ingalls farm. Mr. Black will work for Mr. Ingalls.

O. K. Beattie has signed a contract for two and one-half acres of beet; also W. E. Dodd for two and one-half acres on the Dodd farm. They signed the contract for Elmer Ingalls, who is agent for the Holland-St. Louis sugar company.

$500 REWARD

OUR GUARANTEE

We will refund all money received for the rods and pay $500 reward to find a building burned by lightning with our rods on.

The Security Copper Tube Lightning Rod

has never failed to afford perfect protection from lightning, and gives general satisfaction in every respect.

It is the only Lightning Rod patented in the United States with Automatic Water Supply insuring a Perfect Ground Connection at all times, which is the most important part of any rod.

Our object is to furnish a rod that we can guarantee to be a full protection from lightning at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE.

Send for Catalog.

The Security Lightning Rod Co.

Burlington, Wis.

J. L. Warner, Agent
Elk Rapids, Michigan

CLARION

(Too late for last week.)

J. K. Darrah left Thursday on a business trip to Florida.

About twenty-five attended the aid meeting held at Mrs. S. E. Hass's on Thursday.

Mrs. Mertie Ekstrom of Boyne Falls spent Thursday with her mother, Mrs. S. K. Hass.

Hon. W. J. Pearson of Boyne Falls, addressed a very appreciative audience Sunday evening on the subject of local option.

The social given by the Young People's Bible Class was a decided success, over $20 being realized from the sale of the boxes.

Rev. Mr. Kennedy returned Saturday from Kingsley. His wife came back with him from Atlanta, where she had been visiting relatives.

George Brown was in Resort on Sunday.

Mrs. Hough went to Kalkaska on Monday.

Dr. Crozier of Petoskey was in town Saturday.

School will close Friday for a week's vacation.

George McCabe of Petoskey was in town Saturday.

Ed. Buckley of Walloon went to Boyne Falls on Monday.

A daughter was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams.

The L. A. S. will meet at the home of Mrs. Regan on Thursday.

The Young Peoples Bible Class will give an entertainment at the K. O. T. M. Hall on Friday evening.

Miss Georgia Sprinkle who is teaching near Brutus, spent Sunday with her sister Mrs. Masters of Walloon.

The following were nominated for the various township offices at a Republican caucus held on Thursday. Supervisor, S. A. Correll; clerk, A. J. Crags; treasurer, C. A. Bixby; commissioner, Edwin Tillapangh.

How This.

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CLEGG & CO., Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Clegg for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE, Toledo, Ohio. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 50 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

BAY SHORE.

Bay Shore school closed Friday for a week's vacation.

Wm. Stinger purchased a fine team of Percheron colts last week.

Miss Gertrude Seroggie spent last Saturday and Sunday at her home.

Master Fred Zipp spent Friday night with his sister, Mrs. Johnson.

There was a Local Option meeting at Bay Shore Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Wm. Wallace returned Friday, after spending a few days visiting at Brown City.

Mrs. Pittman and Miss Bessie Tillotson left Saturday morning for East Jordan to visit at the home of Mrs. Pittman's parents.

The Blues and Reds of the Bay Shore Sunday school are gaining in number. The Blues having the largest number of credits.

Last Saturday evening the Bay Shore high school scholars entertained their parents at a St. Patrick's Day party. All spent a very enjoyable evening.

THINK THIS OVER

This Offer Should Gain the Confidence of the Most Skeptical.

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. That's a mighty broad statement, but we mean every word of it. Could anything be more fair for you?

A most scientific, common-sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. Their active principle is a recent scientific discovery that is odorless, colorless, and tasteless; very pronounced, gentle, and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. This ingredient does not cause diarrhea, nausea, flatulence, griping, or other inconvenience. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

If you suffer from chronic or habitual constipation, or the associated or dependent chronic ailments, we urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Remember, you can get them in Charlevoix only at our store, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 30 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold only at our store.—The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Mich.

SOUTH CHARLEVOIX.

We have zero weather mornings quite regular yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper of Oyster were visitors at Sam Brown's last Sunday.

The Drys and Wets are getting their forces all in line for the big battle on "all fool's day."

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon are expecting a visit from Mrs. Gordon's mother of St. Ignace next Wednesday.

Miss Jessie Shapton returned home from Norwood Monday, where she has been visiting friends and relatives for several weeks.

Mr. Marsing, who moved into the Geo. Bacott's house about two weeks ago from Phelps, had the misfortune to lose their baby that was born last Saturday morning.

A Cold, La Grippe, Then Pneumonia is too often the fatal sequence, and coughs that hang on weaken the system and lower the vital resistance. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable medicine that stops that cough promptly by healing the cause; soothes the inflamed air passages, and checks the cold. Keep always on hand. Refuse substitutes. Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

NORTH BAY.

(Too late for last week.)

Henry Krickle is getting the timber ready for a new barn.

Mrs. Wm. Wallace and son, J. C. Wallace, are southern Michigan.

J. M. Harris spoke on local option at the North Bay school house Friday evening.

Mrs. Henry Willis, son and daughter, visited relatives at Long View farm Sunday.

Herman Bathke came home from the hospital last week. He is better than he has been in some time.

Stuck on Himself.

Kate—Chimley and Bessie are fond of each other. Bertha—Bathke say they are both very fond of Charley. It is a case of two souls with but a single thought, you know.—Boston Transcript.

ANSWERS THE CALL

Charlevoix People Have Found That This is True.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench. A little cause may hurt the kidneys.

Spells of backache often follow. Or some irregularity of the urine. A splendid remedy for such attacks.

A medicine that has cured thousands.

Is Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands of people rely upon it. Here is one case:

A. C. Crozen, carpenter, 215 North East St., Boyne City, Mich., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for what they have done for me. I had to get up very often at night, and the kidney secretions were unnatural and highly colored. I suffered nearly all the time from lame and aching back and mornings I was so stiff and lame that I could hardly get around. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a supply. I have used three boxes and they have done me more good than any other remedy I have taken in years."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's—and take no other.

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

The following is the report of the Charlevoix W. C. T. U., from March 1911 to March 1912:

Number of meetings held 12. Average attendance of members and visitors 365-12. The attendance has ranged from 14 to 60.

Number of departments duplicated, as follows: Flower, mission, purity, press, scientific temperance instruction, Sunday School and medical temperance.

The S. T. I. superintendent held a contest in which pupils in the grades contested, one in each division receiving a prize. The Charlevoix Union, 20 or more strong accepted an invitation to visit the Petoskey Union, and later members of the Petoskey Union to visit at this place.

Thirteen copies of the Young Crusader have been placed in the public schools, and a chart or mamakin has been ordered and will be placed in the public schools. This will be a great aid in teaching the evil effects of alcohol and narcotics on the system.

The Normal girls of last year's class were made honorary members of the organization. The parents' organization, an out-growth of the W. C. T. U., held frequent meetings.

A petition for state wide prohibition was circulated and a good number of signatures obtained. This was reported a year ago. A petition expressing the wish that the Kenyon-Shepherd bill become a law was presented at the several churches, also the W. C. T. U.

Total monies received during the year, $132.51. Disbursements, $57.11. Amount on hand $30.18. The W. C. T. U. are planning to aid in the local option campaign. A report of the annual meeting, election of officers, superintendents, etc., will be announced later.

Backache Almost Unbearable

Is almost certain result of kidney trouble. D. Thomey, 803 E. Olive St., Bloomington, Ill., says: "I suffered with backache and pains in my kidneys which were almost unbearable. I gave Foley's Kidney Pills a good trial, and they have done wonders for me. Today I can do a hard day's work and not feel the effects." Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

Don't hide your money

a burglar may be watching you

A burglar may have watched you hide that money. You may lose it. Put it in this bank, where it will be safe in our burglar and fire proof vaults—and from which you can withdraw it AT ANY TIME on demand. All your neighbors do this. Why not you.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

4% Interest Paid on Savings

CAPITAL, SURPLUS AND DEPOSITS $200,000.00
STATE DEPOSITORY

R. P. FOLEY, President

W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

Auction Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at the old Peterson place on Adams Lake, three and one-half miles south of Charlevoix, on

Thursday, April 11, 1912

Commencing at 10:00 a. m., the following described property:

Team black geldings, wgt about 2400 age nine years
Bay mare, wgt 1200, age 14, due to foal April 15
Mare colt 2 years old
Bay mare, 8 years old wgt 1150
Cow, 3 yrs old, fresh now
Cow, 5 yrs old, fresh in May
Cow, 5 yrs old, fresh in June
Cow, 8 yrs old, fresh in May
Cow, 6 yrs old, giving milk
Cow, 8 yrs old, giving milk
Heifer, 2 yrs old, fresh in May Yearling Jersey bull
5 calves 6 small pigs
Set double harness
Single buggy harness
About 50 chickens 5 ducks
Deering binder, new
Deering mowing machine, nearly new
New Ideal plow, new
2 good lumber wagons, 3 1/2 inch tires
Spring wagon Single buggy

Pair heavy bob sleighs
Pair light sleighs Portland cutter
Good hay rake Hay rack
Spiketooth harrow
Springtooth harrow
Disc harrow Weeder
Imperial grain drill
Junior planet Garden drill
Hand cultivator
1-horse beet cultivator
2-horse cultivator
Wooden roller
Some hay and feed corn
Some rye and straw
5 bushels white navy beans
10-gallon barrel churn
Carpenters' working bench
Feed grinder Some lumber
Over 100 cedar posts
Good rabbit dog
Cook stove Heating stove
Other household goods, forks, shovels and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, nine months' time will be given on good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent, payable at the Charlevoix County Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

James Dvorak, Proprietor

F. W. SMITH, Clerk

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"
The Great Remedy for
Rheumatism, Lumbago,
Sciatica, Gout, Neuralgia,
La Grippe and Kidney
Troubles.

Applied externally, it stops
all aches and pains. Taken internally, it dissolves the
poisonous substance and assists nature in restoring
the system to a healthy condition. Sold by Druggists.

One Dollar per bottle, or sent prepaid upon receipt of price if not obtainable
in your locality.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY,
109 Lake Street, Chicago

SKIN SORES

Easily and Quickly Healed

Those who suffer
from Eczema, ring worm, or other skin eruptions know
the misery of these troubles. It can easily be cured by the use of the Five-Drop
Salve. It is a simple, safe, and effective remedy for all skin troubles. It is sold by all druggists.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25
and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not obtainable in your locality, write for order direct from Swanson R. Co., 109 Lake St., Chicago, Ill. It will be sent post paid upon receipt of price. It is an essential remedy for Eczema and all other skin troubles.

COSENDAL DYE WORKS

DRY CLEANERS

ESTABLISHED 1877

CLEANERS AND DYERS OF CARPETS

DRAPERIES, LACES AND GARMENTS

WRITE FOR PRICES

127-133 N. Jefferson Ave., Saginaw, Mich.

Business Cards

D. C. KETTERTON

Complete Abstracts

of Charlevoix County

Twenty years Experience

Ships and Plans on Short Notice

VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. J. FITCH

Attorney at Law

Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. L. SHANAHAN

Attorney at Law

Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD

Dentist

Office in VanPelt Building

Over LeVine's Store

Phone 120 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Eyes tested and glasses fitted

Phone—Office 69; residence 265.

Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M.D.

Physician and Surgeon

Special attention given to diseases of the EYE

EYE, NOSE AND THROAT.

Office over Hines & Co's drug store,

Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE

Physician and Surgeon

(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)

Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.

Telephone No. 6.

Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

TELEPHONE 180 OR 45

To Get

O. W. POWERS

To do your

Plumbing, Heating and Tinning

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled

some of the best sales conducted in Char-

FRECKLES

By
Gene Stratton-Porter

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO.

CHAPTER XVII.

NEARING A HEARTACHE.

MEAN rode down to the Lin-berlost and, stopping in the shade, sat waiting for

Freckles.

Along the north line came Freckles, fairly staggering. When he turned east and reached Sleepy Snake creek, sliding through the swale like the long black snake for which it was named,

he sat down on the bridge and closed his burning eyes, but they would not stay shut. As he pulled his weary, heavy lids down, the sunbeams and the heavy lids drew open and the outraged nerves and muscles of his body danced, twitched and quivered.

He bent forward and idly watched the limpid little stream flowing beneath his feet. Stretching back into the swale, it came creeping under an impenetrable wall of magnolias, wild flowers, vines and ferns. Milk weed, goldenrod, ironwort, fringed gentians, cardinal flowers and turtle-head stood on the very edge of the creek, and every dower of them grew a double in the water. Wild clematis crowned with snow the heads of trees scattered here and there along the bank.

Freckles sat so still that presently the brim of his hat was covered with sunbeams, and his eyes were closed.

Wings and singing as they rested.

Some of them settled on the chin and one on his shoulder. He was so quiet and feathers, fur and gauze were so accustomed to him that all about the swale they went on with their daily life and forgot he was there.

The heron family waded about the mouth of the creek. Freckles idly wondered whether the nerve racking

rasps they occasionally emitted indicated domestic felicity or a raging quarrel. A shell-poke, with flaring crest, went stalking across a bare space near the creek's mouth. A stately brown bittern waded out into the clear flowing water, lifting his foot high at every step and setting them down gingerly, as if he dreaded wetting them, and, with slightly parted beak, stood eagerly watching about him for worms. Behind him were some mighty trees of the swamp, above, and below the bank glowed a solid wall of goldenrod.

No wonder the ancient had chosen yellow as the color to represent victory, for the fierce, conquering line of the sun was in it. They had done well, too, in choosing purple as the color of royalty. It was a dignified, compelling color, and in its warm tone there was a hint of blood.

It was the Linberlost's hour to proclaim her sovereignty and triumph.

Everywhere she flaunted her yellow banner and trailed the purple of her not be bearing it the day, out alone.

I was coming to you when I remembered you would be here."

He lifted his face and gazed off across the swale, with his jaws set hard a minute, as if gathering his forces. Then he spoke.

"It's the angel, sir," he said.

Instinctively McLean's grip on him tightened.

"I tried hard the other day," said

Freckles, "and I couldn't seem to make you see. It's only that there hasn't been an hour, waking or sleeping, since the day she parted the bushes and looked into me, that the face of her hasn't been before me in all the thickness, beauty and mischief of it. She talked to me friendly like. She trusted me entirely to take right care of her. She helped me with things about me books. She treated me like I was her own child, and shared with me like I was of her own blood. She walked the streets of the town with me before her friends with all the pride of a queen. She forgot herself and didn't mind the Bird Woman, and ran big risks to help me out that first day, sir. This last time she walked into that gang of murderers, took their leader and twisted him to the wall of her. She outdine him and faced the life almost out of her trying to save me.

"She I can remember, whatever the thing was that happened to me in the beginning how, even me curse. I've been bitter, hard and snarling under it hopelessly. She came by and found me voice and put hope of life and success like other men into me in spite of it."

Freckles held up his unlined arm.

"Look at it, sir," he said. "A thousand times I've cursed it, hanging there helpless. She took it on the street, before all the people, just as if she didn't see that it was a thing to hide and shrink from. Again and again I've had the feeling with her,

if I didn't entirely forget it, that she didn't see I was gone and I must pull her sleeve and be pointing it out to her. Her touch on it was so sacred like, at times since I've caught myself looking at the awful thing near like

I was proud of it, sir. If I was born your son she couldn't be treating me more as her equal, and she can't help knowing you ain't truly me father.

Nobody can know the ugliness or the ignorance of me better than I do and all me lack of birth, home, relatives and money and what's it all to her?"

Freckles stepped back from McLean, squared his shoulders and with a royal lift of his head looked straight into the boss's eyes.

"You saw her in the beautiful little room of her and you can't be forgetting how she begged and pleaded with you for me. She touched me body, and 'twas sanctified. She held her lips on me brow, and 'twas sacrament. No body knows the height of her better than me. Nobody's studied my depths closer. There's no bridge for the great distance between us, sir, and, clearest of all, I'm for realizing it. But she risked terrible things when she came to

"Suppose I do," said Freckles, with a glimmer of the old light in his eyes and newly found strength to shudder the other. Together they turned into the swale.

McLean noticed and spoke of the big black chickens.

"They've been hanging round out there for several days just," said

Freckles. "I'll tell you what I think it means. I think the old ratter has been something too big for him to swallow, and he's keeping guard and won't let the chickens have it. I'm just sure, from the way the birds have acted out there all summer, that it is the ratter's den. You watch them

now. See the way they dip and then rise, frightened like!"

Suddenly McLean turned on him with lightning face.

"Freckles!" he cried.

"You think it's Jack?" stammered

Freckles.

He dropped the other, caught up his club, and plunged into the swale.

Reaching for his revolver, McLean followed. The chickens circled higher at their coming, and the big snake lifted his head and rattled angrily. It sank in sinuous coils at the report of McLean's revolver, and together he and Freckles stood beside Black Jack.

His fate was evident and most horrible.

"Come," said the boss at last. "We don't dare touch him. We will get a sheet from Mrs. Duncan and lock over him, to keep those swarms of insects away, and set Hall on guard, while we go for the officers."

Freckles' lips closed resolutely. He deliberately thrust his club under

Black Jack's body and, raising him, rested it on his knee. He pulled a long silver pin from the front of the dead man's shirt and sent it spinning out into the swale. Then he gathered

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors

A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

OFFICIAL PAPER OF CHARLEVOIX

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year, $1.50
One copy, six months, .75
One copy, three months, .50

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Entered at Charlevoix, Michigan as second class matter.

Eleventh District Republican Convention

The Eleventh District Republican Convention is hereby called to meet at the Opera House, Reed City, Mich., at 10 o'clock a. m., April 10, 1912, for the purpose of electing delegates and two alternates, to the National Republican Convention to be held at Chicago, Ill., June 18, 1912, and to revise the constitution of the congressional committee, and transact such other business as shall properly come before the convention. The several counties entitled to representation are as follows:

Alcona	1
Charlevoix	1
Chippewa	1
Grand Traverse	1
Isabella	1
Kalamazoo	1
Leelanau	1
Manistee	1
Montcalm	1
Ontonagon	1
Racine	1

By Order of the Committee.

Common Council

Council Chamber, March 21, '12

The common council for the city of Charlevoix met on the above date Mayor Hampton presiding. Aldermen present, Swinton, Glassford, Nordrum and Rachow. Absent, Gelken and Webster. Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

The petition of A. E. Mason and sixteen other taxpayers of the city for the travelling of Belvedere avenue, from Bridge street to Alice street, was referred to the street committee for investigation.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Glassford that the contract of the Board of Public Works with George A. Pearson for making plans, diagrams, specifications and estimates of cost for a sewer system for the entire south side of the city, be accepted and ratified by the council, and the mayor and clerk be authorized to sign the same.

Motion carried by the following aye and nay vote:
Ayes, Swinton, Glassford, Nordrum, and Rachow.

run, and Rachow. Nays, none.

Ald. Swinton moved the adoption of the following resolution which was seconded by Ald. Nordrum.

RESOLVED by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix, that the establishing and constructing of a sewer including all the necessary ventilations, man holes, gutters, catch basins, cess pools, flush tanks and all necessary attachments in Nettleton Street, from the North Line of Dixon Avenue North to the center of Petoskey Avenue; thence East on Petoskey Avenue to a point opposite the center of Lot 3 of block 4 of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat of the City of Charlevoix, is a necessary public improvement.

RESOLVED that the plans, specifications, diagrams and estimates of cost of the Board of Public Works for the establishing and constructing of a sewer, including all the necessary ventilations, gutters, man holes, trap holes, catch basins, cess pools, flush tanks and all necessary attachments in Nettleton Street from the North line of Dixon Avenue North to the center of Petoskey Avenue; thence East to a point opposite the center of Lot 3 of block 4 of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat, be accepted; and that the following territory be designated and established as a sewer district to be assessed for establishing and constructing said sewer, including all the necessary ventilations, gutters, man holes, trap holes, catch basins, cess pools, flush tanks and all necessary attachments on said streets in the City of Charlevoix: all lots, parts of lots and all premises abutting and fronting on either side of Nettleton Street from the North line of Dixon Avenue North to Petoskey Avenue; all lots, parts of lots, land and premises abutting and fronting on either side of Petoskey Avenue from the Eastern line of Nettleton Street to the Eastern line of Nettleton Street from the Eastern line of Nettleton Street to a point opposite the center of Lot 3 of block 4 of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat of the Village, now City, of Charlevoix, except from the above, all public streets and alleys.

RESOLVED by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix that the said plans, diagrams, specifications, plans and estimates of cost, be deposited with the City Clerk for public examination, and with notice thereof, and at the request of the improvement and of the district to be assessed, as above described and designated, that the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix will meet on Tuesday, the 10th day of April A. D. 1912, at 7 o'clock in the afternoon at the Council Room in said City of Charlevoix, to consider any objections thereto, be given in publication for two weeks in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper published and circulating in the said City of Charlevoix.

This resolution was passed and adopted on the 20th day of March, A. D. 1912.
WILL E. HAMPTON, Mayor.
ERNEST J. HILLER, Clerk.

Adopted at a regular meeting of the council, March 26, 1912, by the following aye and nay vote:
Ayes, Swinton, Glassford, Nordrum, and Rachow.
Nays, none.

There being no further business the Council adjourned.
E. J. HILLER, City Clerk

"The Child's Welfare" movement has challenged the attention of thoughtful people everywhere. Mothers are natural supporters, and will find in Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a most valuable aid. Coughs and colds that unchecked lead to croup, bronchitis and pneumonia yield quickly to the healing and soothing qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

Good Printing means Business.

WORKING BACK TOWARDS HOME

(Continued from page 1.)

and suitably marked by the National Government so the progress of the battle can be traced out.

The park is covered with monuments erected by the different states and military organizations. Here also is the National Military Cemetery, where thousands of soldiers lie buried. A small roundabout cemetery is also located in this city.

Another point of interest is Fort Ogden, where the Eleventh United States Cavalry is stationed, as well as it being a depot for the quartermaster and commissary departments of the United States army. It is soon to be made into a brigade post.

Other points of interest in the city is Orchard Knob and Cannon Hill, both of which have a place in history. When you start out to see America, by no means miss Chattanooga.

ANOTHER NEW BUILDING

George W. Priest and DeForest H. Wood Soon to Start One.

Some weeks we mentioned in these columns that Geo. W. Priest had purchased the Pagan property, corner of Bridge and Mason streets. It has now developed that one of these lots was purchased at the same time by DeForest H. Wood, and in a short time they will start the erection of a fine two-story building.

The corner store will be occupied by Mr. Priest as a studio, while in the south half of the new building Mr. Wood will move his stock of electrical goods.

Both men intend to have stores that will be a credit to the city, as well as carry everything in each of their respective lines.

New Dry Goods Store.

Arthur Bargeon, for the last nine years in the employ of J. L. Crane, will put up in a stock of dry goods in the building about to be vacated by the Charlevoix State Savings bank.

Mr. Bargeon is well known, familiar with the line he will handle, and should be well received by the trading public.

SATURDAY SPECIALS.

Choice Chicago steaks, 12c lb up
Chuck Pork, 10c lb up
Prime rib roasts, 15c lb
Keep it in mind that we always have choice tender fowls. They're hard to get now, but we have them! McGeagh & Morse's Meat Market, Phone 125.

For Sale.

A few choice breeding pens of Barred Plymouth Rocks for breeding purposes at common prices. Also eggs for hatching. Enquire of J. A. Andl.

Charlevoix Historical Society.

The Charlevoix Historical Society will meet Friday evening, March 29, with Mrs. J. P. Partridge. The following is the program:
Music.
The World Today, Mr. D. C. Nettleton.
Reading, Mrs. F. J. Meech.
Social intermission.
Music.
Paper—The life story and works of Ibsen and Tolstoi, Literary Reformers, Mrs. F. W. Mayne.

Will Serve Dinner.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Nordwood will serve a dinner Election Day.
Price 10 and 15 cents.

For Sale.

Black 4 year old coll. weight 1450 pounds. Jos. Sprick, Route 4, Phone 95, Is Hg.

Spraying Fruit Trees.

The Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station now has the B12 Spraying Bulletin ready for distribution. It gives in a clear plain way the times to spray fruit trees, berry bushes and potatoes; the materials to use; how to prepare them at home or use commercial kinds. You can secure a free copy by sending a request to Director R. S. Shaw, East Lansing, Mich., asking for Special Bulletin No. 57.

Notice.

A meeting of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties will be held at the Charlevoix court house, Saturday, March 30, 1912. All members and ex-members are respectfully requested to be present. J. L. Barber of Cheboygan is expected to be present. The meeting is called at 1 o'clock p. m.

YOU'RE going to care how you look this Spring just as much as you ever cared; and if we have a hand in your clothes-buying you're going to look better than you ever looked.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

clothes will do it; the new styles for spring are ready; and they're more than ready; they're the smartest, liveliest lot of styles you ever saw.

New Fabrics, New Colors, New Models in Suits

Suits $18.00 and Up

M. A. LEVINSON & CO.

This Store Is the Home of Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Van Pelt Block Charlevoix, Michigan

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.
Lonisa Marsat substituted in Miss Sweeney's room last Monday afternoon.
A number of the members of the Normal class have entered a contest which is being held by the W. C. T. U. The topic is "Reasons Why Charlevoix County Should Remain Dry."
Last Thursday afternoon Miss Himes provided a rather novel entertainment for her Sunday school class and the Normal students. Two large sleighs stopped at the school house and we all crowded in. We were taken out to the ice caves at two mile point and very much enjoyed seeing the wonderful shapes which the snow has been piled into.

C. H. S. NOTES.
James Gaskin, who is home from Cleary Business College on a vacation, called at the high school Wednesday.
Two sleigh loads of students and teachers went out to the South Point Thursday afternoon to view the peculiar ice-formations there. If you have not seen them, don't fail to do so, for they are a wonderful sight.
The mysterious "?" that the students are putting up around town have excited a good deal of curiosity. Well, keep guessing a couple of weeks.
This is a hard, busy week on account of reviews and tests, but we are keeping up our spirits, for next week is our spring vacation, and hurrah for it.
Miss Deibel will spend vacation week with Miss Catton in Benzonia. The English 1 class has completed the study of Ivanhoe.

"Business having a dry county" may be seen at the Majestic, Friday evening of this week. Don't miss this one.

HILTON SCHOOL.
We have but eight weeks of school, so will not take a spring vacation.
For lessons on the muscles of expression apply to our moderator, N. Wells.—G.
Ellen Cook is on the sick list again.
Hugh Mayne was with us a week, but was taken sick again and it is thought he will not be able to attend school much more this term.
The percentage of attendance this month is 95.
Mrs. E. Cook served a sumptuous seven o'clock dinner to Mr. and Mrs. N. Wells and son, Charles, and Miss Zeidler, March 11. The occasion was in honor of Charles Wells and Ellen Cook, whose birthdays were the tenth of March, and Mr. E. Cook and Mr. N. Wells, whose birthdays were the twelfth. Before leaving the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Cook, all concluded that the hostess was not only Cook by name but an excellent cook by occupation.
The local option lecture, which was to be given by Mr. Milford of East Jordan, was given by Mr. A. H. Clark. For some reason Mr. Milford was unable to get here.

Having employed Herb Martin to do my bicycle repairing, we are ready to repair and clean your bicycle. Benj Brown.

At this time you are considering the re-finishing of your home, painting the floors, etc. We handle the

Heath & Milligan Line of MONEY SAVING PAINTS

Exact Analysis of contents shown on every package. Quality goes in before the name goes on.

59 years the standard paints of America. The cost of painting is 75 per cent for labor and 25 per cent for material. As paints are the smallest item, obviously it is important to use only the best to truly economize.
H & M Paints are the only paints mixed by the tremendous crushing pressure of 2,200 pounds and it makes the heaviest bodied paint made. Paint that will stand a maximum of thinning down by the consumer. Paint that will cover a maximum amount of surface and will remain in splendid weather-proof condition for years. It also reduces the labor expense because it works easy under the brush.

Best Prepared Paint is the best Paint that can possibly be made no matter what the price charged. Sample card showing colors and color schemes on request.

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

WANTED:
Silver Hull Buckwheat for Seed.

Buy White Rose Flour

ARGO MILLING CO.

..AGENT..

Wanted for Charlevoix and Vicinity to sell Ford Cars

Ford Model "T" Torpedo Roadster COMPLETE

$590 F. O. B. Detroit

The Car You Will Eventually Buy

We carry all models of Ford Cars in stock on the floor at our garage in this city.

We wish to call your attention to our Vulcanizing Department which will be in charge of Mr. R. L. Rice of Grand Rapids, formerly with the B. F. Goodrich Co. at Akron, Ohio. We will have a new machine with a capacity of repairing 25 tires and 90 inner tubes every ten hours. Now is the time to send your tires in for repairs before the spring rush is on.

A large Stock of Tires and other Accessories at your disposal.

Air Service Absolutely Free

NORTHERN AUTO & MACHINE CO.
PETOSKEY, MICHIGAN

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

R. L. Lewis of Boyne City spent Sunday in the city.

Ford Robbins of Boyne Falls was in the city yesterday.

Frank Pearson of Boyne Falls was in the city Tuesday.

Bud Nordrum is on the streets again after a short illness.

Mrs. Wright Ripley is convalescing after a short illness.

Judge Mayne is holding court in Leelanau county this week.

Wm. Brummeler of Grand Rapids spent Sunday at the Elston.

Fred McKnight of Toledo, Ohio, spent Sunday at the Elston.

Dr. Cronter is home again after his extended southern trip.

Don't forget the "Curse of Drink" at the Majestic Friday evening.

Charles Lamphear has returned from a short trip to Flint and Cadillac.

John Ward of Traverse City was here on business the first of the week.

W. A. Gray of Petoskey visited his son, Carol, the latter part of the week.

G. W. Priest is out after a short illness and again at work in the studio.

Forrest Kane of the M. A. C. is spending his vacation with his parents.

Miss Ruby Emory has just returned from short business trip to Chicago.

Donald Campbell, a student of the M. A. C., is home for the spring vacation.

Mrs. F. G. Hines left Tuesday for Grand Rapids, where she will meet Mr. Hines.

Mrs. Sarah Myers and grandson, Claire, have returned from their western trip.

Mrs. Agnes Jarvis and son, Dick, have been visiting friends here for a short time.

Thomas Shapton has returned to Ottawa, Ohio, after being home for several weeks.

Remember the Easter supper at the M. E. church, Wednesday evening, April 3.

Mrs. I. M. Devoe was called to southern Michigan Saturday, by the illness of her mother.

Miss Rose Ellis of Grand Rapids is making her cousin, Mrs. Lisle Shanahan a few days' visit.

Henry Waller returned here this morning after spending the past three months at the M. A. C.

Meyer Levinson returned Tuesday from Toledo where he attended the wedding of his brother Allick.

Ward Bennett and family have returned from Glen Haven where they spent the winter months.

Election return will be given by megaphone in front of the local option offices Monday evening.

Mrs. Bert Brown and baby have returned from Ironton where they spent the winter with relatives.

Messrs. Oluf Nordrum, Richard Lewis, Floyd Bettes and Lou Han-

Korick and John Sheldon, were brought over from Boyne Falls the first of the week, and will spend 20 days in the county battle.

A Shearer and family left Monday for British Columbia, where they expect to remain for some time. If prospects are not very bright there they will go on to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lalonde and brother, Joseph Lalonde, moved their household goods down from Boyne City last week and will make Charlevoix their permanent home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gates of Bangor, Michigan are staying at the Bartlett. Mrs. Gates was formerly Miss Sauer, who married for Mrs. Carr last season, and will fill that position this year.

The W. C. T. U. are giving prizes this week for the best essay on the topic, "Why the Saloon Should Not Return to Charlevoix County." Many of the young people in the schools are taking part.

About forty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lamphear, surprised them at their new home on Clinton St. Tuesday evening. They took a pot-luck supper, played 500 and spent a most enjoyable evening.

A party consisting of Robert Mitchell, Nate Blissett, Wm. Cowan, John Terry and son, Lawrence, Geo. Wells and Henry Clark, have returned from Harbor Springs, where they worked in the camps all winter.

Judge F. W. Mayne, wife, and daughter Nita, returned home Friday night from Grand Rapids, where they had spent the past two months. Previous to that time, Nita had been in Chicago since November.

Judge Blair, at Boyne City Sunday afternoon, gave a talk on the local option subject and raised $14.73 for Earl Johnson, son of Henry Johnson, who had an arm taken off by a saw last week. Mr. Blair will talk here Thursday evening, March 28.

A farewell party was given for Mrs. Agnes Jarvis, Saturday, at the home of John Miller. It was in the form of a pot-luck supper and was a complete surprise to Mrs. Jarvis. She and her son Dick leave today for their future home at Harlan, Montana.

Fred Dawson, who has been editor of the Central Lake Torch for the past two years, has served his connection with that paper and gone to Arcadia, where he will publish a paper, which will be known as the Arcadia Booster. Fred C. Thurston has accepted the position made vacant by Mr. Dawson's resignation.

Those who are fond of working out puzzles can tackle the following. A certainly family in Petoskey consists of one grandfather, two grandmothers, one father-in-law, two mothers-in-law, three mothers, two fathers, two daughters, one son, one daughter-in-law, one son-in-law, one grand-daughter, and there are only six in the family.

Meyer Levinson entertained nine of his friends at a six o'clock turkey dinner last Wednesday evening. The table looked very pretty as the men sat down to partake of the delicious dinner prepared by Mrs. Levinson, after which cards were played and light refreshments were served during the evening, everyone having the best of times.

A pot-luck supper was given at the home of Mrs. Charles Jeffries last Thursday as a farewell party to Mrs. A. Shearer, who left here Monday. About thirty ladies were present to enjoy the bounteous spread. Mrs. Shearer was presented with a handsome gold-bowl berry spoon to remind her of her many friends she has left here, who wish her success in her new home.

Satisfaction guaranteed on bicycle repairing at Benj. Brown's. 121f

SELLS HIS PRACTICE

Dr. I. B. Thielen to Be Succeeded by Dr. Geo. W. King of Grand Rapids.

It is with some reluctance that we announce the disposal of the practice of Dr. J. B. Thielen to Dr. Geo. W. King of Grand Rapids, which took place the first of the week.

Dr. Thielen, who came to this city 14 years ago last July, has built up a practice which is highly commendable, and has also a host of friends who greatly regret that he is unable to remain here. The chief reason of his removal is owing to the fact that Mrs. Thielen, on account of interocular trouble, is unable to stand the northern climate, and in the near future he will locate near Asheville, North Carolina, so as to be with his family. Dr. Thielen been a hard and faithful worker, successful in his chosen profession, and will carry with him the best wishes of his many friends for success in his new location.

Dr. Geo. B. King, who will take over the practice, is a physician of 15 years experience, graduate of one of the best medical colleges in the country, and comes highly recommended. He will endeavor to take as much interest in the welfare of the practice assumed as Dr. Thielen in the past. He will locate with his family in the Bedford house, on State street.

John Mitchell, one of the chief officers of the American Federation of Labor, speaks out in no uncertain words against the liquor traffic. Go to the Majestic theatre, Friday evening, and see what he has to say. 131d

Bring your bicycles to Benj. Brown to be repaired and cleaned now. 121f

Marriage Licenses.

List of marriage licenses for the week ending March 23.

Edward Harris, 20, Boyne City; Myrtle Anderson, 22, Boyne City; Aaron Joligehock, 21, Boyne City; Bartha Skornia, 19, Boyne City.

For Sale Quick.

10 hens, 5 roosters, all thoroughbred barred rocks. Coop 6x12, 7 feet high. 14 rods, close woven wire fence, 3 1/2 feet high. Chickens one year old next June. Will weigh 5 to 7 pounds. Hens are laying. A good flock for a start. 131 J. M. Felts, Charlevoix, Mich.

Notice.

To the Voters of the 2nd Ward: I wish to state that I am not a candidate for the office of supervisor. Signed, M. G. Randall. 131 pd.

Coming Again.

Thursday, April 4, is the date when J. Leahy, the optometrist, will be at Baker's Inn one day only. Headache cured, crossed eyes straightened. Fitting children's eyes a specialty. Glasses guaranteed to fit. 1212

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 10c first insertion.

FOR SALE OR RENT—Improved 16-acre farm. Apply to E. H. Clarke, Charlevoix, Michigan. 1312

FOR SALE—Two houses and lots, corner Antrim and State streets. Will sell at a bargain. Inquire Harrison Bedford. 916

FARM FOR SALE—8 acres 3 miles north-east of Charlevoix. 40 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write D. W. Naloney, P. O. box 133. 1314 pd.

FOR SALE—6 acre farm, all under cultivation but 2 acres, good house and barn, 3 acres fruit, in excellent condition, 6 miles from Charlevoix, 1 mile south-west of Ironton, on East Jordan and Charlevoix Road. Inquire of Charles Zeller. 1313pd

FOR SALE—The large frame building in Charlevoix known as the Bath House Shop, to be removed by buyer from present premises. Can be bought cheap if taken at once. See Robert W. Kane at Charlevoix, or W. H. Aldrich, Room 101 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill. 2041

SALESMEN—For Kent Vapor Incandescent Lamps. Profitable proposition in home territory. Every farm and suburban home needs it. High class, guaranteed article, unlike any other. No competition. Write for particulars, Daeron-Hess Bros., Manufacturers, Kalamazoo, Michigan. 131

CRANE'S

Spring 1912

"WOOLTEX" COATS

Guaranteed to please for two full seasons

If you have pride in your appearance—

Want to look well dressed All the Time—

And if economy of long service in addition to attractiveness of style means anything to you—

Insist on "Wooltex"

Despite the Quality
The Prices are Low

$15.⁰⁰ TO $25.⁰⁰

The Store that Sells

A House to Rent

Mr. Landlord:

Are you getting as much rent from your houses as you should, as much as the other houses in the same neighborhood bring. If not,

There is a Reason

If you were renting a house for your own use would you pay as much for one from which the paint had nearly all peeled or chalked off, as you would for the one which showed the effect of the painter's brush. Again do you realize that after the paint has worn off, that water soaks in and rots the wood. A house which is kept well painted will last many years longer than one that has been neglected.

Think it Over. Does your House need Painting

DeVoe's Lead and Zinc Paint

Will cover more surface and last longer than any other made. We sell it.

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

Easter Jewelry

You will find in our store many little things, beautiful, but inexpensive, that will make ideal Easter Gifts.

STANLEY WILDERN

JEWELRY AND MUSIC

Next to Majestic

Charlevoix, Michigan

SPRING OPENING

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
March 29 and 30

Excellent display of exclusive spring and early summer models in fine Ladies' Misses' and Children's

MILLINERY

A complete assortment in dainty spring shapes. These hats are the standard of excellence in quality and style and are representative of the

Season's Latest Models
In Ladies' Head Wear

EMORY'S HAT SHOP

Near Bridge

Telephone 362

Fertilizer Drills

Spring work is about to begin and the question now is, have you the proper implements to do the work. There is no money in farming with out-of-date and worn out tools. Every dollar invested in modern implements means two dollars in return to your crops.

Superior and Farmers' Favorite Fertilizer Drills

are the best and cheapest drills on the market. Let me tell you right here that I also bought my stock of these drills before the recent raise in prices, and can save you money on every drill you buy of me.

Farmers' Favorite Fertilizer Drills - $80.00
Superior No. 9, plain drill - $60.00

Also Superior Fertilizer Drills at lowest possible prices. We always have Swift's Fertilizers for corn, beans, wheat and grasses.

Clark's Cut-Away Harrows

for the orchard. The most modern and up-to-date machine of its kind on the market today. If you keep your orchard in good condition, this is the machine you need. At the same time remember we are well stocked with Spray Pumps and Spray Solutions.

J. R. COOPER

Farmers' Supply House

Antrim Street

GOOD ROADS AND THE FARMER

They Mean a Great Reduction in His Expenses.

A SUPERVISOR IS NEEDED.

Without a Competent Man in Charge a Great Deal of the Labor is Wasted Farmers Should Get Together and Help Highway Engineer.

It is worth while for all intelligent people to have some general idea concerning the simpler facts involved in the art and science of road building and maintenance. This is a matter which should appeal particularly to the farmer, for to him more than to any one else the well built and maintained road means a saving of time and money in marketing his products and makes easier the attendance of his children at school and his family at religious services and increases the social intercourse which is needed to make farm life what it should be. All highways are intended to afford a hard, smooth and as nearly as possible a horizontal surface, over which the great instrument of civilization the wheel, with its burden, can be made to move with the least possible friction. Every unit of friction encountered is a measurable element of cost either in time, power or damage to the road and carriage. For every foot of distance he traverses the way owner is incurring a tax. The amount of the tax over a properly constructed and maintained road may be as low as 5 cents per mile, but this increases with increase in grade or the condition in which the road is found. Because this tax is not paid out in actual cash to the sheriff the farmer does not realize that it is coming out of his pocket all the time, but if he will think a moment he will realize that it is an infinitely higher rate of tax than any direct tax which he may be called upon to pay to keep the wheels of civilization going.

The cash value of a good road has been summarized under the following headings:

First.—A reduction in the cost of hauling.

ROAD BUILT IN 1904 AND STILL IN GOOD CONDITION.

Second.—An increase in the value of lands within its zone of influence.

Third.—Increase in productive value through making uncultivated lands accessible.

Fourth.—The substitution of the more profitable crops for the less profitable crops.

Fifth.—The ability of the producer to market his produce at a time when the prices are more favorable instead of marketing his produce when the roads permit.

Realizing now what had roads are costing the farmer and what good roads will mean to him, the question is how can good roads and by good roads is meant roads which are good 365 days in the year be obtained and maintained, for it is just as necessary to maintain a road after it is built as it is to construct it in the first instance.

ANOTHER GOOD ROAD BUILT UNDER GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION.

It is now the consensus of opinion among men who have spent their lives studying road problems that the only sensible plan for any county or town is to adopt a law to set apart a portion of its money for the employment of a competent road engineer to properly locate its roads and supervise their construction and maintenance. In order, however, to have a uniform method of road construction from one county to another it is believed that the wisest policy would be for the state to have some kind of supervision over the road work of the counties and for the state to aid the counties, certainly to the extent of furnishing highway engineers for the proper location of roads. Under the present system of working the roads it is not a rash statement to say that at least one-tenth to one-fifth of the time and labor expended in public road work is absolutely wasted.

LEATHER ROADS.

Experiments in Handsworth, England. Show Excellent Results.

Experiments in road material appear to be trying almost every known substance which is not too expensive, from the hardest, like steel and glass, to softer materials like cork and rubber.

At Handsworth, England, a road which was constructed of tar and leather and is said to have worn very well. The leather used was obtained in the form of waste and chippings from leather manufacturers. Discarded scraps of leather were taken and cut into small pieces and added to bitumen, asphalt or tar heated to a suitable consistency. After making this into a uniform mixture it was spread upon the ground and stone or gravel was spread on the surface.

It is claimed that by the combination of leather with the substances named a material is produced which is readily applied in a moldable condition and which stands very considerable wear, gives little or no dust, is very resilient and silent and offers good foothold to horses.

State Aid For Improving Highways.

The roads of the country will be benefited to the extent of $200,000,000 during the next five years if the house adopts and the senate and president then approve a resolution which representative French of Idaho has introduced. It provides for an expenditure of $200,000,000 by the government each year, for five years, the states to add an equal amount for improving their roads. The money would be divided among the states according to population, not counting cities with 30,000 or more population.

Fish as Mirrors.

A scientist says he always fancied little fish were protected against the months of the big fish chiefly by their markings looking like the stones and reeds in the water, but he now concludes that all shining silvery fish are mirrors, reflecting the dark bottom of the pond, and it is only when such fish come to the surface that the light shines on them, and they become visible to the big fish that prey on little fish. So long as the little silvery fish stay close to the bottom they look like mud and stones, only showing their shining silver when they come near the top and so are soon swallowed down.—Detroit Free Press.

A Financier.

"I hear Spendthrift has not paid for his yacht yet." "No," he regards it as a floating debt."

R. G. Collins, Postmaster, Harrogate, N. J., was troubled with a severe laryngeal cough. He says: "I would be completely exhausted after each fit of violent coughing. I bought a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and before I had taken it all the coughing spells had entirely ceased. It can't be beat." Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

LEGAL NOTICES

CITY ELECTION

NOTICE is hereby given to the Qualified Electors of the City of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, that the next ensuing Annual City Election will be held on Monday, April 1, A. D. 1912, in the several wards of said City at the places designated below, viz: First ward, at Hose House on East Side of Michigan Avenue. Second ward, at Hose House on North Side of Court House. Third ward, at X. L. Produce Creamery Building, Hevelode Avenue. At which election the following officers are to be chosen, viz: City One Mayor, one City Clerk, one City Treasurer, one Alderman, one Supervisor, and one Constable for each ward of said City.

Women Electors.

In accordance with the Constitution of the State of Michigan and Act 26, Public Act of 1901, should there be any proposition or propositions to vote upon at said Election involving the direct expenditure of public money, or the issue of bonds, every woman who possesses the qualifications of male electors and owns property assessed for taxes or owns property subject to taxation jointly with her husband, or with any other person, or who owns property in contract and pays taxes thereon, all such persons being located somewhere within the district or territory to be affected by the result of said election, will be entitled to vote in such propositions, provided such person has had her name duly registered in accordance with the provisions of said Act. THE POLLS of said Election will open at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and will remain open until 3 o'clock, in the afternoon, of said day of Election, to wit: Monday, April 1, 1912. ERNEST J. HILLER, Clerk of said City of Charlevoix.

NOTICE!

To the Electors of the City of Charlevoix: Notice is hereby given that a meeting of Cats' Eyes.

Cats and beasts of prey reflect fifty times as much light from their eyes as human beings.

the Board of Supervisors of said county, held on the 17th day of October, 1911, the following resolution was adopted, viz: Resolved, That the question of adopting the County Road System be submitted to a vote of the Electors of the City of Charlevoix at the General Election to be held Monday, April 1st, 1912. Notice is further given that the said question will be stated on the ballots to be used at said election as follows: Shall the County Road System be adopted by the County of Charlevoix. No. 1. Dated this 20th day of March, A. D. 1912. E. J. HILLER, Clerk of said City.

LOCAL OPTION.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified male electors of the City of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, that in the annual city election to be held on Monday, April 1, 1912, at the places designated for holding such election, one legal notice of which has been given, a proposition will be submitted to the qualified electors of said city to prohibit the manufacture of liquor and the liquor traffic within the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, of which said city constitutes a part, in accordance with Act No. 27, public acts of 189, and thereby, in compliance with a resolution and order of Board of Supervisors of said county relating thereto. Ballots will be provided reading as follows: Shall the manufacture of liquor and the liquor traffic be prohibited within the county? 1. Yes. 2. No. Shall the manufacture of liquor and the liquor traffic be prohibited within the county? 1. Yes. 2. No. Dated this 19th day of March, A. D. 1912. ERNEST J. HILLER, Clerk of said City of Charlevoix.

Mortgage Sale.

Having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage, bearing date the 7th day of March, A. D. 1906, made by Morris L. Woodly and Jennie S. Woodly, his wife, of Marlin township, Charlevoix county, Michigan, to William Peters, who is also known as W. M. Peters, of the same place, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 14th day of March, A. D. 1906, in their 28th mortgage on page 58, and which mortgage was duly assigned by the said W.

William Peters, as W. M. Peters to Crum, Whitford & Sons Company of Charlevoix, Michigan, by deed of assignment bearing date the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1909, and recorded in the Register of Deeds' office for said county of Charlevoix, November 18th, A. D. 1909, in their 36th mortgage on page 98, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said Crum, Whitford & Sons Company, a corporation, to said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated March 25, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the Register of Deeds' office for said county of Charlevoix, on the 26th day of March, 1912, in their 3rd mortgage on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters to Louis Winkelman, of St. Ignace, Michigan, by deed of assignment dated the 4th day of May 1912, and recorded on the 26th day of May 1912, in the Register of Deeds' office for said county of Charlevoix, in their 3rd mortgage on page 176, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred dollars, principal and interest, under the terms of said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the same, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the 9th day of May in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the front door at the Court House in the city of Charlevoix, in Charlevoix county, Michigan (that being the building in which the Circuit Court for said county of Charlevoix is held) pursuant to the power of sale contained in said mortgage, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the property described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as shall be sufficient to pay said principal and interest on said mortgage, together with the costs of sale including an attorney's fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) as provided in said mortgage and the laws of the State of Michigan, said premises being described in said mortgage as situate in township 34 North, county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: All that part of the east half (E 1/2) of the southwest quarter (S. W. 1/4) and of the southeast quarter (S. E. 1/4) of the northwest quarter (N. W. 1/4) of section 14, in township thirty-three (33), north of range eight (8), west of meridian 10 West, in said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, and being west of the right of way of the railroad intersecting said descriptions and now controlled and operated by the Pere Marquette railroad company. Dated, February 9, A. D. 1912. Louis Winkelman, Assignee of Mortgage.

Henry Hoffman, Attorney for Assignee of Mortgage. Business Address, St. Ignace, Michigan.

AUCTION SALE

I will sell at Public Auction on the O. D. Wood Farm, two miles south of Norwood, and one mile west and one-half mile north of Atwood on the Bay Shore Road, on

Wednesday, April 3, '12

Commencing at 10:00 a. m., the following described property:

W. E. BYERS, AUCTIONEER

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 Black gelding, wgt. 1400, 10 yrs. old | 12 adjustable swing steel stanchions |
| 1 Gray gelding, wgt. 1400, 12 yrs. old | 2 wagons |
| 1 Brown gelding, wgt. 1150, 5 yrs. old | 1 set 3m. Cald. & Louden sleighs, new |
| 1 Buckskin mare, wgt. 1150, 8 yrs. old | 1 set 2 1/2 in. " " " " |
| 1 Bay mare, wgt. 1100, colt by side | 2 set heavy sleighs |
| 1 Mare colt, 2 years old | 1 cutter gear |
| 1 horse colt, coming 2 years old | 1 set light 2 seat hub sleighs |
| 2 cows fresh last December | 2 set heavy double harness |
| 2 cows, 4 yrs. old, fresh in April | 1 single harness |
| 1 heifer, 3 yrs. old, fresh Feb. 15th | 1 iron age garden drill, nearly new |
| 2 heifers, fresh next fall | 2 Barrel sprayers |
| 6 head young cattle | 1 Blue Bell cream separator, nearly new |
| 23 head sheep, young and well-bred | Material for silo, planned and matched |
| 1 Brood sow to farrow in May | A quantity of 2x6 Tamarack, suitable for silo material |
| 2 young Sows to farrow in July | Several thousand feet 1 in. and 2 in. hemlock and hardwood lumber |
| 1 Boar | Several tons baled and loose hay and straw |
| 1 McCormick grain binder | Some apples, potatoes, beans, wheat, flax and corn fodder |
| 1 McCormick corn harvester | 1 Combination coal and wood heater—new |
| 1 McCormick mower 6 foot cut | Some household furniture |
| 1 Keystone hay loader | Several gallons paint—inside and outside white |
| 1 Blizzard ensilage cutter | 2 Barrel churns |
| 3 grain drills | 50 gal. oil tank |
| 2 McCormick hay rakes, 8 and 10 feet | 3 Barrels vinegar |
| 1 14 disc harrow | Fanning mills, grindstone, sickle grinders, wire fence stretchers (new), decking line, skidding tongs, cradles, scythes, chains, scalding tub, shovels, forks, planters, cant hooks, robes, blankets, milk cans, pans and crocks, etc. etc. etc. |
| 1 12 disc harrow, Clark's cutaway | |
| 2 spring-tooth harrows | |
| 1 riding 2-horse cultivator | |
| 2 walking 2-horse cultivators | |
| 4 1 horse cultivators | |
| 1 Oliver plow—new | |
| 1 new land plow | |
| 1 single buggy | |
| 1 sheep dipping tank | |
| 1 Greenville plow | |
| 1 shovel plow | |
| 1 sulky | |

Free Lunch at Noon

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $5.00 or under, cash; all sums over $5.00, eight months' time on good approved bankable paper with interest at 7 per cent. Five per cent discount for cash on all sums over $5.00. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

F. H. CLARKE, Prop.

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

DON'T BE BALD

Nearly Anyone May Secure a Splendid Growth of Hair.

We have a remedy that has aided to grow hair and prevented baldness in 93 out of a hundred cases where used according to directions for a reasonable length of time. That may seem like a strong statement—it is, and we mean it to be, and no one should doubt it until they have put our claims to an actual test.

We are so certain Rexall "33" Hair Tonic will cure dandruff, prevent baldness, stimulate the scalp and hair roots, stop falling hair and grow new hair, that we personally give our positive guarantee to refund every penny paid for it in every instance where it does not give entire satisfaction to the user. Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is as pleasant to use as clear spring water. It is delightfully perfumed, and does not grease or gum the hair. Two sizes, 50c and 1.00. With our guarantee back of it, you certainly take no risk. Sold only at our store, The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Michigan.

To Whom It May Concern:

Following may be found statements made by the best business men of our city, relative to the effect of Local Option on the business interests of the city:

J. L. Crane, one of the leading Dry Goods Merchants of the city, makes statements as follows:
"During the term which our county has been dry, the last three years, we find our business has increased and that collections are improved to a marked extent."
"Very truly yours,"
(Signed) "J. L. CRANE."

Mr. Frazier, one of the leading shoe men of the city, makes the following statement:
"I am having more and better business since we have had Local Option, have had less request for cheap shoes and credit."
(Signed) "F. E. FRAZIER."

Mr. Chas. R. Bellinger, the Pioneer Jeweler of the city, makes the statement following:
"I find that since the going of the saloon my business has been decidedly better. Men who never had money before now can buy goods and pay cash. I consider that I am getting my share of the money now which was then spent in the saloons."

Will C. Bellinger, proprietor of the Curio Store, established in 1902, says:
"I am very kind of an opportunity of expressing my opinion of the dry regime. Three years ago the wets told me that the resort business would all leave the town. Since going dry, my business, which is entirely novelties and souvenirs, has increased steadily more than 10 per cent a year and with a new opposition store each year. Now about resort business?"
"I have several friends in business on Mackinac Island, which is wet, and they say that last year's very poor business there was due to so much of the ranker element coming to the island, that they drove the better customers away."

Fred H. Thomas, the prominent architect and contractor, states as follows:
"Replying to your question as to what effect, if any, the prohibition of the liquor traffic in Charlevoix County has had on the building business in Charlevoix, I will say that business in this line has never been so good in the fourteen years that I have lived in Charlevoix as it has been in the last three years, or since the county went dry."
"Building operations have been getting more extensive in each successive year of the three, with the prospect for this year, if the county stays dry, much in excess of any past year."
"I think much of this increase in building, especially with reference to summer cottages, is due to the fact that the city and vicinity is free from saloons."
"The bulk of my work is for our summer residents, and therefore I have quite an extensive acquaintance with the resorters who are property owners here."
"I have never heard one of them express himself as being displeased with our policy of excluding the saloons, while on the other hand I have heard many expressions of approval."
"Yours truly,"
(Signed) "FRED H. THOMAS."

M. B. Hooker, the enterprising Livery Man of our City, writes as follows:
"Would say that we are perfectly satisfied with the efforts of Local Option and would prefer to see the county remain dry. Last year we did $5,700.00 worth of business in our barn, and this year our business has increased over $100.00 per month over same months of last year, so we feel perfectly satisfied to have Charlevoix remain dry."
(Signed) "M. B. HOOKER & SON."

Mr. H. B. Fowler, one of the heaviest dealers in meats and fish, makes this statement:
"Business has been better since we had Local Option. Collections have been much better. In fact, I have had no bad accounts during our three years under Local Option, and I do a business of over $15,000 per year, which is a material increase over previous years when we had the saloon."
"Very truly yours,"
(Signed) "H. B. FOWLER."

L. S. See, who has one of the largest Grocery Stores in our city, says:
"In reply to your question as to what effect Local Option has had on my business, will say during the past three years my trade has been the best ever and I have lost the least in bad accounts of any three years since I have been in business. In fact I can grant credit now where before Local Option I did not dare to do so."
"Yours truly,"
(Signed) "L. S. SEE."

A. E. Mason, one of our leading grocery men, says:
"Since Charlevoix went dry trade has been better. Money has been more plenty. Collections have been easier. Have done more business with same help. Because people of drinking habits had no excuse for staying in town and have done their trading and usually gone home early. We have all day to wait on the same customers that used to put off until late in the day to do their trading. Now a large portion of these same customers pay the cash for goods that we had to charge on account or take the balance that was left after they had been to the saloon."
"I am, respectfully,"
(Signed) "A. E. MASON."

Mrs. Sarah Emrey, proprietor of the Emroy Clothing House and one of the heaviest dealers in that line, says:
"During the past three years under Local Option my business has steadily increased, with better collections and less poor accounts. Many men are buying now for cash who formerly could not be trusted. I will do what I can to help keep Charlevoix County dry."
"Yours very truly,"
(Signed) "SARAH EMREY."

Benjamin Brown, one of the leading harness dealers in town, says:
"There is not one thing in the open saloon to benefit my business and the last three years with the closed saloon has benefited it in a number of ways: by more business, more cash customers and better collections."
(Signed) "BENJ. BROWN."

The condition of banks in a community is considered a very fair exponent of its prosperity. The combined savings of the two banks of the City of Charlevoix:
January 10, 1909, amounted to.....$234,652.33

Chinese History.
The Chinese claim for their civilization an antiquity of from 80,000 to 100,000 years, but the claim deserves no particular consideration. Most of the eastern peoples claim for themselves a similar antiquity. There are few authentic dates in Chinese history prior to the year 600 B. C., though, of course, the Chinese civilization greatly antedates that period. It is safe to say that the Chinese is among the oldest of existing civilizations, but when it comes to being precise it is quite out of the question.

Oldest Lighthouse.
La Coruna, the Spanish harbor, boasts, it is said, of the oldest light house in the world, it having been built by the Romans in the time of Trajan, between 98 and 117 A. D. About 111 years ago the structure was overhauled and partly rebuilt, though the lower part of the pile was found to be in perfect condition, a tribute to the building ability of the Roman masons. When the weather is favorable the light can be seen a distance of twenty-two miles at sea.

Combined Savings January 10, 1910, amounted to.....$302,208.67
Combined Savings January 10, 1911, amounted to.....$351,080.75
Combined Savings January 10, 1912, amounted to.....$497,677.51
Three years ago, the wets told us that if the Saloons were banished the resorters would all leave us. The following shows how effectively these arguments have been refuted:

"Charlevoix County Local Option Committee, Charlevoix, Mich."
"Gentlemen: Herewith please find enclosed $25.00 to assist in keeping Saloons out of Charlevoix County."
"Sincerely yours,"
"G. H. DeGOLYER,"
"Bellevue, Mich."

"34 Charlotte Ave., Detroit, March 12, 1912."
"Secretary Charlevoix County Local Option Committee."
"Dear Sir: I hand you herewith my check for $10.00 to aid in preventing the saloons from again dominating Charlevoix County. I sincerely hope you may succeed in this good fight."
"Sincerely yours,"
"LYDIA J. HEATON."

"Chicago, Ill., March 15, 1912."
"Secretary Charlevoix County Local Option Committee."
"Dear Doctor: I send you herewith my check for $10.00 to assist you in the Local Option Campaign in Charlevoix County. I sincerely hope you may succeed in this good fight."
"Yours very truly,"
"CYRUS H. ADAMS."

"Chicago, Ill., March 4, 1912."
"Secretary Local Option Committee, Charlevoix, Michigan."
"Gentlemen: Enclosed I hand you check of $75.00 to assist you in your Local Option Campaign. As a property owner, tax payer and summer resident in Charlevoix County I want to express myself as exceedingly well pleased with the change for the better under the dry regime. Knowing the nature of the animal (the saloon) from top to bottom and start to finish, I would consider it the greatest misfortune that could befall your fair county to have it return. So deeply am I interested that I want you to prosecute a most vigorous campaign, and if you need more funds, call again."
"Very truly yours,"
"GEO. H. VANPELT."

"Chicago, Ill., March 20, 1912."
"Dr. A. M. Wilkinson, Secretary Charlevoix County Local Option Committee."
"Dear Sir: Enclosed find check for $5.00 as a small contribution to help for the fight in your saloon situation. I should be very sorry to see open saloons in Charlevoix, as the past few years have demonstrated that it is better for everybody to get along without them."
"With best wishes for success, I am,"
"GEORGE L. WARNER,"
"Of Baird & Warner, Real Estate Agents."

BOUDENAN, ADAMS & WESTON, Lawyers, Dallas
Boudenan, John W. Adams, Frank S. Weston, 108 West South Street, Kalamazoo, Mich.

"March 22nd, 1912."
"Dr. A. M. Wilkinson, Secretary Charlevoix County Local Option Committee, Charlevoix, Michigan."
"Dear Sir: I am pleased to see that strenuous work is being done in your county against the proposition to allow saloons to be again operated in the county."
"There never has been a valid argument in favor of the open saloon. A license to operate one is but a license to burden faithful wives and innocent children."

"The person who operates a saloon, in order to pay his license, pay his rent and make a living for himself and family, must necessarily sell to everyone who can be induced to come in and buy a drink. Boys are encouraged to drink when otherwise they would never think of doing it."
"Men have appetites developed by strong drink until they are in some cases almost unable to restrain themselves from drinking. If there is any opportunity to get the thing to drink. Three-fourths of the men who are in the business of running saloons are ashamed of it. Charlevoix has as fine a lot of summer resorters as any place in Northern Michigan. Many of them come with their children and remain all summer. Since Charlevoix has been dry, parents of such children have rejoiced in the fact. New people have come, property has advanced in value, merchants have had good trade, everything has been satisfactory and now people will be added to our summer population each year. If the saloons are kept out."

"It is very likely to be entirely different if they are now allowed to return to again lower the good standing of your city. Resort people, especially such as go to Charlevoix, are not people who patronize saloons at home and they do not want the temptations of them to be placed before their children, and I verily believe that the re-establishment of saloons in your county would keep many people away from your city in the future."
"Citizens generally do not appreciate the money value to the county of the summer resort people. They leave a great deal of money with every merchant and every dealer and every farmer in or around your city, for if the money which they leave does not go at once directly to all of these, yet it is left in the community, every laborer and every other person will get some portion of it eventually."
"I hope the good people of Charlevoix County with whom I have associated for more than 25 years and who are as good people as can be found in any place in the world, will not make the mistake of voting the return of the saloon, which is the breeder of more crimes and misery than all other things combined."
"Respectfully yours,"
"DALLAS BOUDENAN."

"Chicago, March 22nd, 1912."
"Dr. A. M. Wilkinson, Charlevoix, Mich. Van Pelt, who informs me that you are accepting contributions to defray the expenses of fighting the liquor interests in Charlevoix County, Mich. I am sending you a contribution of $5.00, which I hope may be of use to you."
"Yours very truly,"
"J. C. CORBET."

"Imp" and "Brat."
How the use of words changes in well illustrated by this extract from Bacon's "Pathway Into Prayer."
"Let us pray for the preservation of the king's most excellent majesty and for the prosperous success of his ever beloved son, Edward, our prince that most angelic Imp."
In those days "brat" had also quite another significance. In an old hymn by Guseague is the line:
"O Abraham's brats, O brood of blessed seed."

Auction Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at the old Harrison farm, near Adam's lake, three and one-half miles south of Charlevoix, on

FRIDAY, APRIL 5, 1912

Commencing at one o'clock p. m., the following described property:

Bay horse, wgt 1400 lbs, 12 yrs old	Springtooth harrow
Bay horse, wgt 1250 lbs, 11 yrs old	Shovel cultivator
Holstein cow, 7 yrs old, fresh in May	Spiketooth cultivator
Galloway cow, 7 yrs old, fresh in April	Set heavy double harness and neck covers
Half breed Jersey cow, 7 years old, fresh first of April	Light buggy harness
Heifer 10 months old	Storm blankets
Ten pigs, seven months old	Log chains
Hen turkey and gobbler, Mammoth Bronze, 5 geese eggs go with them	Chain even for plow
39 chickens, Plymouth Rock and Wyandotte	Post-hole auger
Economy Chief Cream Separator, new	Wheelbarrow
2 tons of hay, baled	2 cant hooks
Quantity of straw	Grindstone
Wilbur wagon, whiffletree and neckyoke	1-horse wooden roller
Open single buggy, nearly new	1-2 bushel millet seed
Single cutter	Parlor lamp
Bob, sleighs	Alarm clock
Beet rack	Standing parlor clock
Hay rack	Harrison music box
Deering mowing machine	Double barreled shot gun
Jones hay rake	Mauser rifle, 41 calibre, Swiss, 7 shot
Peerless plow	Whiffletrees
Crow-bar	Axe
Spiketooth harrow	Hoes
	Saws
	Chisels
	Neckyokes
	6-gallon dash churn
	Other articles too numerous to mention
	Everything in tools only 3 years old

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00 nine months' time on good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent, payable at the Charlevoix County Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

JOHN TVAROHA, Prop.

JOHN TVAROHA, Jr., Clerk

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his farm nine miles south of Charlevoix, on the Norwood Road, on

Wednesday, April 10, 1912

Commencing at one o'clock p. m., the following described property:

Gray horse, weight 1100	New fanning mill
Jersey bull, 1 1-2 years old	About 50 feet of stump cable
Two-year old heifer, giving milk	Toggle chains
Two-year old heifer, fresh last of April	Log chains
Yearling heifer	Heavy lock chain
December calf	Galvanized iron water tank, new
2 early fall calves	Pair storm covers
2 shoats, weight about 100 each	No. 8 cook stove
Pivot axle riding cultivator	Fur coat, good as new
Springtooth harrow	About 10 bushel early seed potatoes
Spiketooth cultivator	Set skidding tongs
5-shovel cultivator	Half dozen kitchen chairs
Deering mower	Spring cot, new
Good plow	10 gallon barrel churn
Set brass trimmed harness, new	Box stove
Set heavy work harness	Post hole digger
Set light driving harness	Pea rake
Set hames and tugs	Forks and shovels
New beef lifter	Quantity household furniture and other articles too numerous to mention
New wood or beet rack

80 Acre Farm for Sale or Rent

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $5.00 or under, cash; all sums over $5.00, nine months' time will be given on good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent, payable at the Charlevoix County Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

George Santose, Prop.

Rev. Biery, Clerk

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

ROYAL

Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes delicious home-baked foods of maximum quality at minimum cost. Makes home baking a pleasure

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum—No Lime Phosphates

Grange Column

Bay Shore Grange.

At the Grange meeting held March 22nd all officers were present except four.

One member was elected to membership. Two members were given the first and second degrees and six members took the third and fourth degrees.

Lecture hour was in charge of the Lecturer O. C. Atwood. Roll call responded to by quotations and funny stories which were enjoyed by all. Song, "Dear Old Southern Home" by Allen Bowman and daughter, Theo. "The Kind of a Man I Would Like for a Husband," by Misses Blanche Wallace and Audrey Delaney. "The Kind of a Woman I Would Like for a Wife," by Clara Wallace. Recitation by Eugene Atwood. Guessing contest by O. C. Atwood. "Co-operation in the Use of the Farm Machinery," by Amos Dietz and George Long. Music by Hazel Gilmartin.

The lecturer appointed five members each to have fifteen minutes of time to have charge of the lecture hour at the next meeting. Committee, Mrs. Copping, Mrs. Zipp, A. G. Tillotson, Mrs. M. Baldwin, and J. C. Wallace.

Penny drill. O. C. Atwood gave a talk in regard to the insurance companies. Closing song. Forty-three members.

here present, two visitors from Maple Grove. Next meeting will be held April 12th. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

C. A. Glossner, 24 Ontario Street Rochester, New York, has recovered from a long and severe attack of kidney trouble, his cure being due to Foley's Kidney Pills. After detailing his case he says: "I am only sorry I did not learn sooner of Foley's Kidney Pills. In a few days' time my backache completely left me and I felt greatly improved. My kidneys became stronger, dizzy spells left me and I was no longer annoyed at night. I feel 100 per cent better since using Foley's Kidney Pills." Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

Ironton Grange, No. 707.

Ironton grange, No. 707 met in regular form March 19, 1912, with forty members present.

After regular order of business, a candidate was found waiting and was initiated in the first and second degrees. One candidate was initiated in the third and fourth degrees.

Lecturer's program consisted of songs, stories, recitations and a speech from Brother Putnam on local option, which was enjoyed by all.

Grange then closed in regular form to meet again in two weeks.

Let the Courier come with Spring.

Wilson Grange No. 719.

Wilson grange met in regular session Saturday March 23, with 51 members present and 33 visitors from Ironton, Rock Elm, Pine Lake, Harmony and Deer Lake granges.

During the business session a few bills were presented and allowed. The former janitor time being up, the job was let to Frank Smith for $53 for the rest of the year.

After the usual order of business, the Master declared a short recess for the conferring of degrees.

One candidate was initiated in the third and fourth degrees by the Ironton degree team. Wilson degree team were pleased to note the exceptionally good work of the Ironton team, and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The Lecturer's program consisted of songs, stories, readings, music and essays. The visiting members responded freely with several selections.

The members voted to have a new light installed in the dining hall. It was suggested that we get busy and make more visits.

After this, grange was closed in regular form, then refreshments were served which were enjoyed by all.

How Cold Causes Kidney Disease.

Partly by driving blood from the surface and congesting the kidneys, and partly by throwing too much work upon them. Foley's Kidney Pills strengthen the kidneys, give tone to the urinary organs and restore the normal action of the bladder. They are tonic in action, quick in results. Try them. Sold by Frank N. Metcalf.

Beer or Boys? Which? At the Majestic, Friday evening. 131

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Reality."
Wednesday, at 7:15 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.
Morning service at 10:30. Sermon by the pastor.

Sunday School at 12 m.
Service at Ironton at 2:30.

Meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 p. m. Topic: "The Saloon and Its Allies."

Evening service 7 o'clock. There will be a Union Local Option Meeting.

Mid-week service Thursday evening at 7:30.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.
10:30 a. m. Morning Service.

Sunday School at 11:45.
B. V. P. C. 6:00 p. m. — Subject: "Imperative Needs of the Imperial West." Leader, Mrs. E. Martindale.

7:00 p. m. Evening Service. A Union Temperance Meeting at the M. E. church.

Prayer Meeting on Thursday evening.
Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Burgess school house.

"Strangers always welcome."

METHODIST CHURCH.
9:30 a. m. Class Meeting.

10:30 a. m. Subject: "The Saloon Out of Harmony With the Spirit of the Twentieth Century."

12:00 m. Sunday School.
6:00 p. m. Epworth League.

7:00 p. m. Evening service hour in charge of the day school children. Prayer Meeting Thursday evening, 7:30.

You are welcomed to all our services.

"Ten Nights in a Bar Room" at the Majestic theatre, Friday evening, March 29—two reels. 131

FINE PROGRAM

To Be Given Under Auspices of W. C. T. U. Sunday Evening.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Union, a temperance program will be given by the children and young people at the M. E. church Sunday evening, March 24—as follows.

Marching song with flags and banners, by the boys and girls.

Music, by the orchestra.

"A boy's opinion of a prohibitory law," Oakley Hammond.

"Harrah for local option," Blodgett Wilkinson.

"A prohibition convalescent," seven girls.

Song, Jennie Carey, Elva Jefferys, Kenneth Widdell, and Gleason Thompson.

Recitation—"The twin glasses," Dora Arnold.

Recitation—"Closed for incoherence," Margaret Milner.

... Bicycle Repairing ...

I have employed Herb. Martin and we are ready to Repair and Clean Your Bicycle
 Bicycle Tires and any part you need furnished at a very low Price
 All Work Guaranteed to Give Satisfaction

Benj. Brown

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his farm in Atwood, on

TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 1912

Commencing at ten o'clock a. m., the following described property:

W. E. BYERS, AUCTIONEER

Brown horse, 6 years old, weight 1500, sound and good looker
Black horse, 9 yrs old, weight 1150
Pair of bay horses, 7 and 8 years old, weighing about 2000, good drivers single or double
4 cows to be fresh soon
1-2 year old heifer
4 yearlings
Two seated surrey
New Butler road wagon, never hitched to Set heavy double work harness

Set light double driving harness
Single buggy harness
Two hose, lever power, orchard spray pump, new
One hose, lever power, orchard spray pump, new 2 new Oliver chisel plows, No. 40, one steel and one wood beam
I have also a number of new Osborn springtooth, spiketooth and disc harrows that I wish to close out and other articles too numerous to mention.

Free Lunch at Noon

Terms of Sale

All sums of $5.00 or under, cash; all sums over $5.00 eight months' time on good approved bankable paper bearing interest at seven per cent. Five per cent discount will be given for cash on all sums over $5.00. No property to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

HENRY KLOOSTER, Prop.

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

Good Shoes

The kind that will stand the wear and tear of all kinds of weather—that's the kind we sell.

SMITH-WALLACE SHOES

are the best wearing shoes on the market today—that's the reason we handle them. We are out after the business and have the goods to back us up. We have the rubbers to go with the shoes and they are of the "wear long" variety.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor
 320 Bridge Street Next to Bakers' Inn

MAJESTIC

"THE CURSE OF DRINK"

Friday, March 29, 1912

Admission 10c

Monday, April 1, 1912

Gotch-Hackensmith Wrestling Match

15c

Election Returns at Same Time

ONE WEEK SPECIAL

We are going to give you a little money-saver for one week, commencing Thursday, March 21, and ending Thursday, March 28.

3 cans Wilton Saur Kraut 25c

You will find this kraut a little better than the average, also a little cheaper. Remember we want your order for that Easter Dinner. The freshest fruits and vegetables will be found here, also butter and eggs.

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE
 Telephone 125 Antrim Street

W. W. BOYLE

AGENT
 Northwestern Mutual Ins. Co.
 of Milwaukee
 National Life Insurance Co.
 of Chicago

If you do not carry life insurance you are doing an injustice to yourself and family. Drop me a card and I will talk it over with you.

ADDRESS—Charlevoix, Michigan

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
 $15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
 $100.00 for loss of Limb or Eyesight
 $100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
 Cost $5.00 per year. No other Dues

for Assessments
 Old established Company with $100,000 State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.

Men and Women between 16 and 65 accepted, according to exception. For further information address: AMERICAN-REGISTRY COMPANY, Dept. 9, Box 111, Erie, Pa.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 14

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

NORRUM GETS GOOD MAJORITY

Standard Bearer of Republican Party Wins by 237.

MILLER CHOICE IN THIRD

Three-cornered Fight Results in His Election by 14 Majority.

Local Option and Good Roads Questions Carries in Each Ward—Has Been a Clean Fight—Votes by Wards.

Well it's over, and there was no one hurt. Election day passed off in the unusual manner in the city—some are pleased over the results, while a very small number are not. Olaf Nordrum, now Mayor Nordrum if you please, carried the republican ticket through to victory in a very creditable manner. With the exception of supervisor in the third ward, every man on the ticket won out with big majorities. In this ward there was a three cornered fight. Ward, Mason and Miller threw their hats in the ring and went after votes like veterans. Although to a great disadvantage of having to run on slips, Mr. Miller put it over his opponents to the tune of 14 majority.

In the first ward, every enrolled man voted, in the other two wards, voting was heavy. Many peculiarly marked ballots were found in the counting. In some instances the local option question was voted on, while the good roads question was ignored. On other ballots the question of good roads was voted for, while the local option question was overlooked. But both questions carried in every ward, nevertheless, local option by 92 and good roads 226.

Olaf Nordrum, the winning candidate:

"I consider the election an emphatic expression on the part of the people that they want the things I promised them and the city business run as has been carried on for the past two years.

"Regarding my appointments, I have hardly given them a thought, but will in a short time call the council together and we will discuss the subject like a happy family. Then we will endeavor to get the best men for the positions."

The campaign this spring shows one especially good thing—it has been a clean fight. Both sides have worked hard but they have played the game in a sportsmanlike manner, and are to be congratulated for the way they have refrained from "mud slinging."

Below will be found the vote of each ward as near it was possible to obtain it:

First Ward.
Mayor:	Nordrum 89—61
Clerk:	Thompson 28
Hillier:	Hillier 100—82
Higman:	Higman 103
Treasurer:	Cook 118—92
Harrington:	Harrington 56
Supervisor:	Ward 67
Mason:	Mason 51
Miller:	Miller 14—11
Alderman:	Geiken 143—97
Wahlstrom:	Wahlstrom 66
Constable:	Jeffries 115—84
Reinhart:	Reinhart 53
Local Option:
Yes:	161—68
No:	96
Good Roads:
Yes:	103—110
No:	55
Third Ward.
Mayor:	Nordrum 140—68
Clerk:	Thomas 72
Hillier:	Hillier 145—82
Higman:	Higman 103
Treasurer:	Cook 118—92
Harrington:	Harrington 56
Supervisor:	Ward 67
Mason:	Mason 51
Miller:	Miller 14—11
Alderman:	Geiken 143—97
Wahlstrom:	Wahlstrom 66
Constable:	Jeffries 115—84
Reinhart:	Reinhart 53
Local Option:
Yes:	109—6
No:	103
Good Roads:
Yes:	131—60
No:	62

Local Option:
Yes:	161—68
No:	96
Good Roads:
Yes:	103—110
No:	55

Third Ward.
Mayor:	Nordrum 140—68
Clerk:	Thomas 72
Hillier:	Hillier 145—82
Higman:	Higman 103
Treasurer:	Cook 118—92
Harrington:	Harrington 56
Supervisor:	Ward 67
Mason:	Mason 51
Miller:	Miller 14—11
Alderman:	Geiken 143—97
Wahlstrom:	Wahlstrom 66
Constable:	Jeffries 115—84
Reinhart:	Reinhart 53
Local Option:
Yes:	109—6
No:	103
Good Roads:
Yes:	131—60
No:	62

PEARSON IN FIGHTING TRIM

Showed His Strength in the House of Representatives Thursday.

Tells the Chairman of the Liquor Committee Where to Get Off At.

Last Thursday Representative Pearson handed the liquor bunch a jarring that will last them some time. It occurred after the senate had passed the anti-brewery control bill and it was up to the house to pass on the bill. The bill had been referred to the liquor committee. Pearson is one of the dry members of the committee. Representative Waters of Bay City is chairman.

The committee, in spite of the protests of Rep. Pearson refused to consider the bill. It was then Bill Pearson arose in his fighting clothes in his seat and went after the chairman. He said:

"You needn't talk to me about fair play on this liquor bill," said Bill. "That's all any of us want. We haven't been able to get it. We have a bill in our committee. The chairman of that committee has refused to call the committee together. He promised me he would consider the bill last night. I was here waiting for the meeting, but there was none. They told me we would have a meeting this morning at 8 o'clock. I was here at that time. They refused to have a meeting. Now, I tell you that is not fair play, and I tell you further it is time that kind of business was cut out. This bill ought to be considered by this house. I am here to say it is going to be if I have to carry the chairman of this committee into that committee room. You can bet your life on that, and you can bet further but your life he'll go there when I say so."

He was greeted with wild cheers. The question of placing the bill on the general order was put. It required 63 votes to do the business. Pearson had the 63 votes, and the house was forced to consider the bill. There was no chance to smother it.

Again we say the voters of Charlevoix county will make no mistake in sending Bill Pearson back to house for a third term. He can and will deliver the goods every time.

Contract Beans.

J. R. Cooper will write contracts for Chatterton & Son, Mt. Pleasant. Pay the grower $1.75 and $2.00 per bushel on hand picked basis, or the grower can take the market price—this is at your own option. I will have on hand grass seed, clover and alfalfa, which you can buy at right prices.

Farm For Sale.

Forty-six acre farm, all under cultivation but two acres, good house and barn, three acres fruit, in Eveline township, six miles from Charlevoix, one mile southwest of Ironton, on East Jordan and Charlevoix road. Inquire of Charles Zeitler. 142 pd.

Girl Wanted.

General housework, apply at this office or call at 206 Clinton St. 141

"Oh, I've Caught the Bunny!"

1912 Easter Greetings 1912

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY WILL REMAIN DRY BY MAJORITY OF 546

Proposition Carried in Twenty-three Out of Twenty-five Voting Precincts in County—Good Roads Wins Out by Eight Hundred Seventy-Seven Majority—Vote as Made in Each Precinct.

With the returns in from all the voting precincts in this county, Charlevoix will remain in the dry column for another two years by a majority of 546. The fight to keep out the saloon has been a merry one from the start, but hard work on the part of the local option supporters and law abiding citizens won the day. Of course the drys would have better pleased had the county voted in a little larger majority, but nevertheless are satisfied with the results.

In the state the wets succeeded in getting a slant the best of the contest. They succeeded in recapturing Ingham county, including the state capital, together with five other prohibition counties—Lapeer, Arenac, Ogemaw, Osage and Presque Isle—and held Oakland by a greatly reduced majority, but lost the county of Wexford, which was dry four years ago, wet two years ago, and dry again this year.

As near as results can be obtained from counties in which the question was voted on, the result is as follows: counties dry, 44; counties wet, 11.

The good roads proposition which has been consistently agitated for the past year, carried in the county by a majority of 877. This was voted upon two years ago and failed to carry. But the results from this year's election shows that the people of the county are alive to their best interests, and that they now recognize that the best roads obtainable are an absolute necessity. Below will be found each precinct as voted:

EASTER SERVICES

Special Musical Program to Be Given at Presbyterian Church.

Those attending the Congregational church—Easter morning—are requested to come to the service next Sunday morning so as to be seated before the service begins. The choir has prepared a fine musical program which will be seriously marred, if the people are late in coming into the service. Moreover, those who are late will miss the best part of the service. The pastor will preach an Easter sermon, but a large part of the musical features of the service will be given before the sermon. The following is the musical program.

Processional—"Jerusalem the Golden,"
Quartet—"Ring Out Glad Bells,"
Solo—Mrs. Rachow.
Easter Hymn—"Alleluia,"
Trio—Mrs. Rachow, Mrs. Coulter and Miss Putnam.
Solo—Mrs. Coulter.
"Hallelujah Chorus" by the choir.

REPAIRING of watches, clocks or jewelry will have prompt and careful attention. Stanley Wildern, 141

LEAVES FOR ST. LOUIS.

Charlevoix's Rustic Man Will Permanently Locate at St. Louis, Missouri.

John A. Lynn, better known as "The Rustic Man," left on the afternoon train, Tuesday, for St. Louis, Missouri, where he will make his future home.

By making this change, it will enable Mr. Lynn to be in closer touch with his business, and Charlevoix loses a man who is known throughout the United States as the leading workman doing original lines. Not only has he won a wide reputation as a rustic worker, but has lately produced an imitation birch bark wall paper, which will be a winner and will be used in all leading summer gardens in the country.

Mr. Lynn will permanently locate at the corner of Second and Dorcas streets, St. Louis, and will immediately start in the manufacture of his new wall covering.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lynn will be greatly missed by their large number of Charlevoix friends, who wish them success in their new location.

CREAMERY HAS CHANGED HANDS

B. W. Jackson of Ellsworth Takes Active Management April 1.

Name of Creamery to Be Changed to the Charlevoix Creamery—Will Go All Home Products.

Another important change among our various business enterprises took place the first of April. In this instance the management of what has been known as the X L Creamery has been taken by B. W. Jackson of Ellsworth. Mr. Jackson is a man of 16 years' experience in the creamery business and for the past five years has been at the head of the Ellsworth creamery, which has been successful from the day it first started.

The name of the creamery will be changed and in the future will be known as the Charlevoix Creamery. Below will be found each precinct as voted:

The local demand for sweet cream, milk, butter and eggs will be carefully looked after, and can be ordered direct from the creamery for immediate delivery.

Mr. Jackson has also engaged the services of an expert butter maker from southern Michigan, who will have charge of the work. He makes the statement that it will be no longer necessary for the farmer to send his butter fat to Grand Rapids, as he will meet Grand Rapids or any outside price and save the farmer the transportation charges.

It will mean a good deal to Charlevoix and vicinity to have an up-to-date creamery located in this city, and Mr. Jackson should have the support of all in making a success of this worthy enterprise.

VOTERS TO DECIDE

H. F. Baker Puts it Up to Them Whether He Will Run or Not.

H. F. Baker, who is considering the matter of his candidacy for United States senator, put it up to his home people at the election Monday, as to whether he would make the run or not. Ballots were prepared at his own expense, containing the names of himself and William Alden Smith, and it was put up to the people at the election, Monday to make their choice.

In commenting on the situation, the Cheboygan Tribune says: "It goes without saying that if Mr. Baker leaves the decision to the people of Cheboygan county, he will run for United States senator. Cheboygan will take pride in furnishing a candidate for this high office. If Baker runs it will be a run for your life."

We do Fine Job Printing.

LARGE NUMBER ARE FARMERS

Who Spend the Winter in Florida at St. Petersburg.

HAS MILES OF PAVED STREETS

Of Magnificent Width and Claims 75 Miles of Tile Sidewalks.

Celebration of Washington's Birthday the Great Annual Event—Hundreds of School Children in Line.

Of all the places I visited while in Florida, I liked St. Petersburg the best. The city has been planned on ambitious lines, and is destined to become a great city.

By great, I do not mean a great industrial city, for it has no surrounding country worth anything, nor a manufacturing city, as that has gone to Tampa, but as a place for winter homes and visitors, she is bound to forge to the front. This winter between fifteen and twenty thousand have been in the city at one time, beside the thousands passing through.

A peculiar feature of the winter residents is the large per cent of farmers from Illinois, Iowa, Ohio Indiana and Michigan, where the land values run from two to three hundred dollars per acre. I should estimate that is where 75 per cent come from. In talking with them, I have come to the conclusion that if we want to reach them, and get them into our territory, we must boost our land values. Naturally it is hard to convince them that land, held at our low prices, is worthy of consideration.

They come to Florida to spend the winter, to enjoy their sunny sky and spend the time pitching quilts and playing checkers. Many are old veterans and are delighted in meeting their former enemies from Georgia, Kentucky, the Carolinas, Virginia and Tennessee, and again fighting over old battles.

But it is of the city itself I started to write. St. Petersburg is a city of three or four thousand people, situated on a peninsula running between Tampa bay and the gulf, which gives it a peculiar climate, which I have no doubt lengthens the life of the thousands of old men who come here to spend their winters. The enterprise of the city is remarkable. Her streets are of magnificent width, and she boasts of over 18 miles of brick paved streets. The main traffic streets are paved the entire width, while the resident streets have a 20-foot pavement, the rest of the space being parked out from the curb. Other streets are beautified on the boulevard plan.

Street cars reach all parts of the city, and she has a complete sewage, light and water system. The city has a grand water front, and when the plans upon which she is now working are completed, will have a water front park unequalled by any place on earth.

In St. Petersburg there are 75 miles of tile sidewalk, eight feet wide. One of the chief attractions of the city are the splendid public schools, tuition being absolutely free, so winter visitors may bring their families and spend the winter without interrupting the school work of their children.

(Continued on page 8)

Auction Sales.

This week's Courier contains three auction sales as follows:
On page 6 the sale of Will C. Hall, five miles south of Charlevoix, Tuesday, April 10, at 1 o'clock. W. E. Byers, auctioneer.

On page two the sale of James Deorak, 3 1/2 miles south of Charlevoix, Thursday, April 11, at 10 o'clock. W. E. Byers, auctioneer.

On page eight the sale of Mrs. Rosella Gennett, one mile east of Norwood, Friday, April 12, commencing at 1 o'clock. W. E. Byers, auctioneer.

Ham For Easter.

The ham you have for Easter should be the best. We will make a special price on Easter ham 28¢ per pound. McGeagh & Morse's meat market, phone 125. 141

CORRESPONDENCE

Mrs. A. Ingalls has been very sick the past week.

The Gleaners meet with Mr. and Mrs. James Cook Saturday April 13.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Marion Center Grange with Sister E. Ingalls Thursday afternoon.

Preening next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at Marion town hall by Rev. B. Aitken.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black and family have moved on the old Henry Black, Sr. farm.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hansen and daughter, Maxine, who have spent the winter with his mother at Rexton, arrived home the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat Hurus were pleasantly surprised by their friends and neighbors Friday evening, Mar. 22. Music and games were the main features of the evening. Refreshments were served.

Rev. Taylor of Charlevoix gave a very interesting Local Option lecture, illustrated by stereoscopic views, at the Johnson school house Wednesday evening. Miss Taylor and her school assisted Mr. Taylor by several songs and recitations. We hope to see Mr. Taylor again in the future.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; one case out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by local Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHURNEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by druggists, or Take Hall's Catarrh Pills for constipation.

ATWOOD

Happy Easter.

Auction sales, O. M. Y.

Prune your orchards now.

Someone ought to write from Norway.

Henry Heeres has moved into his new home.

Banks township went dry by over two-thirds majority.

John Parsons of Ellsworth was here last week on business.

Easter exercises by the M. E. Sunday School next Sunday evening. All come.

Henry Vanninen left for the southern part of the state on Monday. He will farm it.

Geo. Glazier, we understand, goes to New York state this week to make his future home.

Minor Heeres says he is building a nice chicken house, but it looks considerable like a dwelling house.

"Didn't go to Grand Rapids for nothing."

Mrs. Louisa Williams, 1108 Lyons Street, Flint, Michigan, says: "My daughter had suffered with rheumatism for a long time, when she took Foley Kidney Pills, and in a short time the rheumatic pains left her and she has been well ever since. I gladly recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a cure for rheumatism and kidney trouble." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

We do Fine Job Printing.

NORTH BAY.

John Kotick of Horton Bay purchased a span of horses last week.

Mrs. Herman Balke came home from the hospital last week much improved.

There was quarterly meetings at the Evangelical church at Horton Bay last Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Long returned to their home Saturday, after spending a week in Petoskey with their daughter.

George North, who recently returned to his home from Petoskey hospital, has just finished hand picking 100 bushels of beans for his father.

Singers and Public Speakers Need It.

The demulcent properties of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound make it especially effective for hoarseness, tickling in the throat, and inflamed vocal chords. It is a valuable aid to singers and public speakers. Chas. Boyle, the famous Irish tenor of Saginaw, Mich., says he has used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for years and would not think of leaving an engagement without it. He always carries a bottle in his grip or suit case. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

ROCK ELM.

Leeks are up.

Lew Fink has re-enlisted in the army.

Don't forget the warm sugar social at the grange hall Saturday April 6.

Mrs. Wm. Hudkins called upon Mrs. Ed. Kowalske Wednesday afternoon.

Harry and Leon Van Gorder attended Peninsula grange Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lacroix visited with Mr. Lacroix's father, near Boyne City, last week.

Sunday school will be re-opened at the Rock Elm school house, Sunday, April 7, at 3:30 p. m.

Mrs. Frank Allison and daughter, Kathryn, of Boyne City have been visiting at Ray Kinners.

Mr. Wm. Walker, one of our prominent farmers has purchased the Bolser livery barn in East Jordan, and has moved his family there. We wish success in this new venture.

John Lane, St. Joseph, Mich., a member of A. W. Chapman Post, No. 21, G. A. R., was cured through the use of Foley Kidney Pills. He says, "I tried various kidney remedies but all failed to help me until I took Foley Kidney Pills and I can honestly say that they cured me completely." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

BARNARD.

Pleasant weather at this writing, but the dear robins haven't come yet.

Spayd's mill had a break down this week on account of too much steam.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Walker an eight pound girl on the 25th of March.

The residence of A. N. Chase was destroyed by fire April 1. Part of the household furniture was saved. No insurance was carried.

Mrs. Albert Beattie will be home this week, after a three weeks' visit in southern Michigan.

We do Fine Job Printing.

CLARION

J. E. Darrah returned Wednesday from Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Ohmer Rensch returned Friday from Muncie, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. John Forrester of Walloon, returned Wednesday from Greenville.

Miss Nettie Correll of Hoyne City is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Correll.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Gallop, who have spending the winter in Oklahoma, returned Monday.

Mrs. T. L. Belding has returned to her home at Walloon, from an extended visit with friends near Grand Rapids.

SOUTH CHARLEVOIX.

E. W. Coulter, who has spent the winter in California and Washington, is expected home Wednesday.

Mrs. L. S. Gendness of St. Ignace who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Russell Gordon, was called home Saturday, by the illness of her husband.

The funeral services of H. Now, land were held from his residence last Saturday, at 2 p. m., with Rev. Taylor officiating, with a large attendance of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Delia Miles, of Tower, Mich., had a severe cough which hung on for weeks, doctored for it, but was not benefited. She says, "A friend advised Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and after using two bottles my cough was cured and I have never been bothered since. I gladly recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for all coughs and colds." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

Miss Grace Meggison, class of '08, who is attending school at the Mt. Pleasant normal, visited the class Thursday. Miss Meggison gave a very interesting talk concerning the life and work at Mt. Pleasant.

Hazel Gilmarin of Bay Shore, who expects to take the normal course next year, visited the class Wednesday.

The members of the class have received the bird pictures for which they sent, are now mounting them. These pictures are very fine and will be used in our schools next year.

The papers handed in by those who entered the contest given under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., were all very good. The first and second prizes were awarded to Miss Marguerite Manger, one of the normal students, and Miss Conitis Mason, who is both a normal student and a high school senior.

Monday afternoon the class, upon invitation, visited the polls of the second ward to witness the manner of voting. The instruction given by the officers was exceedingly profitable from a practical standpoint, since the normal students will next year be teaching this subject in Civil Government.

Winnie Cunningham was called home last Thursday on account of the death of her brother-in-law, H. W. Nowland.

Marguerite Manger left for her home in Petoskey Thursday because of illness, returning Saturday afternoon.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For Charlevoix People to Neglect.

The great danger of all kidney troubles is that they get firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy and Bright's disease follow as the kidneys get worse. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with the reliable and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Charlevoix.

Mrs. John Hull, 192 W. Lincoln Avenue, Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I have used them and they have done me a world of good. I first used them about a year ago when I had a severe attack of lumbago. I suffered greatly and tried many remedies, but got no relief, until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Ivy Drug Store. A few months ago I was again having trouble from my kidneys and had backache and pains in my loins. I again procured Doan's Kidney Pills and they acted promptly, bringing me entire relief. I value them very highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

ACTUAL STARVATION

Facts About Indigestion and Its Relief That Should Interest You.

Although Indigestion and Dyspepsia are so prevalent, most people do not thoroughly understand their cause and cure. There is no reason why most people should not eat anything they desire—if they will only chew it carefully and thoroughly. Many actually starve themselves into sickness through fear of eating every good looking, good-smelling, and good-tasting food because it does not agree with them.

The best thing to do is to fit yourself to digest any good food.

We believe we can relieve dyspepsia. We are confident of this fact that we guarantee and promise to supply the medicine free of all cost to everyone who will use it, who is not perfectly satisfied with the results which it produces. We exact no promises, and put no one under any obligation whatever. Surely, nothing could be fairer. We are located right here and our reputation should be sufficient assurance of the genuineness of our offer.

We want everyone troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia in any form to come to our store and buy a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Take them home and give them a reasonable trial according to directions. Then, if not satisfied, come to us and get your money back. They are very pleasant to take; they aid to soothe the irritable stomach, to strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, and to promote a healthy and natural bowel action, thus leading to perfect and healthy digestion and assimilation.

A 25c package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets furnishes 15 days' treatment. In ordinary cases, this is sufficient to produce a cure. In more chronic cases, a longer treatment, of course, is necessary, and depends upon the severity of the trouble. For such cases, we have two larger sizes which sell for 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store. The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Bring your bicycles to Henry Brown to be repaired and cleaned now.

Don't hide your money

a burglar may be watching you

A burglar may have watched you hide that money. You may lose it. Put it in this bank, where it will be safe in our burglar and fire proof vaults—and from which you can withdraw it AT ANY TIME on demand. All your neighbors do this. Why not you.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

4% Interest Paid on Savings

CAPITAL, SURPLUS AND DEPOSITS $200,000.00
STATE DEPOSITORY

R. P. FOLEY, President

W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

Auction Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at the old Peterson place on Adams Lake, three and one-half miles south of Charlevoix, on

Thursday, April 11, 1912

Commencing at 10:00 a. m., the following described property:

Team black geldings, wgt about 2400 age nine years	U. S. Cream Separator, new
Bay mare, wgt 1200, age 14, due to foal April 15	Pair heavy hob sleighs
Mare colt 2 years old	Pair light sleighs
Bay mare, 8 years old, wgt 1150	Portland cutter
Cow, 3 yrs old, fresh now	Good hay rake
Cow, 5 yrs old, fresh in May	Hay rack
Cow, 5 yrs old, fresh in June	Spiketooth harrow
Cow, 8 yrs old, fresh in May	Weeder
Cow, 6 yrs old, giving milk	Springtooth harrow
Cow, 8 yrs old, giving milk	Disc harrow
Heifer, 2 yrs old, fresh in May	Imperial grain drill
Yearling Jersey bull	Junior planet Garden drill
5 calves	Hand cultivator
6 small pigs	1-horse beet cultivator
Set double harness	2-horse cultivator
Single buggy harness	Wooden roller
About 50 chickens	Some hay and feed-corn
5 ducks	Some rye and straw
Deering binder, new	5 bushels white navy beans
Deering mowing machine, nearly new	10-gallon barrel churn
New Ideal plow, new	Carpenters' working bench
2 good lumber wagons, 3 1/2 inch tires	Feed grinder
Spring wagon	Some lumber
Single buggy	Over 100 cedar posts
	Good rabbit dog
	Cook-stove
	Heating stove
	Other household goods, forks, shovels and other articles too numerous to mention.

FREE LUNCH AT NOON

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, nine months' time will be given on good approved bankable paper with interest at seven per cent, payable at the Charlevoix County Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

James Dvorak, Proprietor

F. W. SMITH, Clerk

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

$500 REWARD

OUR GUARANTEE

We will refund all money received for the rods and pay $500 reward to find a building burned by lightning with our rods on.

The Security Copper Tube Lightning Rod

has never failed to afford perfect protection from lightning, and gives general satisfaction in every respect.

It is the only Lightning Rod patented in the United States with Automatic Water Supply insuring a Perfect Ground Connection at all times, which is the most important part of any rod.

Our object is to furnish a rod that we can guarantee to be a full protection from lightning at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE.

Send for Catalog.

The Security Lightning Rod Co.

Burlington, Wis.

J. L. Warner, Agent
Elk Rapids, Michigan

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"

The Great Remedy for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, Neuralgia, La Grippe and Kidney Trouble.

Applied externally, it cures all aches and pains. Taken internally, it dissolves the poisonous substance and assists nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by Druggists.

One Dollar per bottle, or sent by mail on receipt of price if not obtainable in your locality.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
101 Lake Street, Chicago

SWANSON'S PILLS

Best Remedy for Constipation, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Bloating and Liver Troubles. 25c Per Box at Druggists.

SKIN SORES

Easily and Quickly Healed

Those who suffer from itching, pimples, eruptions, boils, or other skin troubles, will find relief in the use of the Five-Drop Salve. It is a simple, but effective remedy, and is sold by all druggists. It is a sure cure for all skin troubles, and is sold by all druggists.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25 and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not obtainable in some localities, you can order direct from Swanson's, Inc., 121 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent post paid upon receipt of price. It is an excellent remedy for cracked skin and scaly humors.

COSENDAL DYE WORKS

DRY CLEANERS
ESTABLISHED 1877
CLEANERS AND DYERS OF CARPETS
DRAPERIES, LACES AND GARMENTS
WRITE FOR PRICES
127-133 N. Jefferson Ave., Saginaw, Mich.

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plats on Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Accountant at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. L. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULI
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 123 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66; residence 265.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. H. ARMSTRONG, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the L.V.E.
E.A.R. KUSH and CURTIS
Office over Hines & Co. Siding car
Telephone No. 23 Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTGOMERY
Physician and Surgeon
Succeeding Dr. LeFevre
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 4.
Office in the Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone intimate.

O. W. POWERS
To do your
Plumbing, Heating and Tinning

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone intimate.

FRECKLES

By
Gene Stratton-Porter

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO.

CHAPTER XVIII.

TAKING A PICTURE.

"I HAVE been thinking," said Freckles, "I believe if you will leave one of the guards on the line say half that I will begin on the swamp at the north end and lay it off in sections and try to hunt out the marked trees. I suppose there are all marked something like that first maple on the line was. Wessner mentioned another good one not so far from that. He said it was best of all. I'd be having the swelled head if I could find that. Of course I don't know a thing about the trees, but I could hunt for the marks. Jack was so good at it he could tell some of them by the thumb, but all he wanted to take that we've got out to suffer, have just had a deep sleep out on rather low down and where the bushes were thick over it. I believe I could be finding some of them."

"Good head!" said McLean. "We will do that. You may begin as soon as you are rested. And about things you came across in the swamp, Freckles, the most telling little thing that you think—the Bird Woman—would want like your wheel and so after her at any time. I'll leave two men on the line, so that you will have one on either side, and you can come and go as you please. Have you stopped to think of all we owe her, my boy?"

"Yes; and the angel—she owes her a lot, too," said Freckles. "I owe her my life and honor. It's lying awake all night I'll have to be trying to think how I'm ever to pay her up."

"Well, begin with the nut," suggested McLean. "That should be fine."

Freckles told McLean of Mrs. Duncan's desire for a hat like the angel's. He hesitated a little in the telling and kept sharp watch on McLean's face. When he saw the boss' eyes were full of sympathy he loved him anew, for, as ever, McLean was quick to understand. Instead of laughing he said: "I guess you'll have to let me in on that too. You must be selfish, you know. I'll tell you what we'll do. Get it for Christmas. I'll be home then, and we can send a box. You got the hat. I'll add a dress and wrap. You let Duncan have a hat and gloves. I'll send him a big overcoat, and we'll put in a lot of little stuff for the babies."

"That would be away too serious for fun," said Freckles. "That would be heavenly."

A week later everything at the lumberlot was precisely as it had been before the tragedy, except the case in Freckles' room now rested on the stump of the newly felled tree. Enough of the vines were left to cover it prettily, and every vestige of the leaves of a few days before was gone. The new guards were patrolling the trail. Freckles was busily laying off the swamp in sections and searching for marked trees. In that first day he found one deeply marked and the others, amazingly repeated and marked in a prominent, he quite rare, so he was jubilant. He also found so many soft spots for the Bird Woman that he was coming was of almost daily occurrence, and the hours he spent with her and the angel were nothing less than golden.

The lumberlot now was arrayed like the queen of Sheba in all her glory. The first frosts of autumn had bedewed her crown in flashing topaz, ruby and emerald. About her feet trailed the purple of her garments, and in her hand was her golden scepter. Everything was at full tide. It seemed as if nothing could grow lower, and it was all standing still a few weeks, waiting for destruction.

The swamp was peaceful with life. Every pair of birds that had looked to it in the spring was now multiplied by from two to ten. The young were tame from Freckles' (friendly) and so plump and sleek that they were quite as beautiful as their elders, even if in many cases they lacked their brilliant plumage. There were chubby little groundhogs snuggling about the trail. There were cunning baby coons and opossums peeping from hollow logs and trees. Young muskrats followed their parents across the lagoons. If you could come upon a family of foxes that had not yet disbanded and see the young playing with a wild duck's carcass that their mother had brought and note the pride and satisfaction in her eyes as she lay on its side, gazing down at it would be a picture not to be forgotten. Freckles never tired of studying the devotion of a fox mother to her babies.

The angel was wild about the baby rabbits and squirrels. Earlier in the season, when the young were still very small, it had so happened that at times Freckles could give into her hands one of these little ones. Then it was pure joy to stand back and watch her heaving breast, flushed cheeks and shining eyes. Hers were such lovely eyes. They were forever changing. Now sparkling and dark blue with wit, now dimmed with sympathy, now burning with the fire of courage, now taking on strength of color with audacity, now flashing in diamanté at the abuse of any creature. She had varied several of the squirrel and bunny babies home and had the conservatory littered with them. Her care of them was perfect.

Brown butterfly time had come. The outer edge of the swamp was filled with milkweed and other plants beloved of them, and the air was golden with the flashing satin wings of the monarch, viceroy and argynnis. They outnumbered those of any other color three to one.

Among the birds it really seemed as if the little yellow fellows were in the preponderance. At least they were until the red winged blackbirds and bobolinks that had nested on the upland came swarming by hundreds for these last few weeks before migration. Never was there a finer feast spread for the birds. The grasses were filled with seeds; so, too, were woods of every variety. Fall berries were ripe. Wild grapes and black haws were ready.

They seemed to feel the new reign of peace and fullness most of all. As for hunting, they didn't even have to hunt for themselves these days, for the honey was being spread before Little Chicken every day was more than he could master, and he was glad to have his parents come down and feast with him.

He was a fine, overgrown fellow, and his wings, with quills of jetty black, gleaming with bronze, were so strong they almost lifted his body. The funny little toes, sharp and slender, bounded he gave so Freckles and the angel, hidden but in the swamp watching him, into snatched chuckles of delight.

Sometimes he felt to something with himself, and that was the funniest thing of all, for he turned his head up, down, from side to side, and drew in his chin with pinky little jerks and tilts. He would stretch his neck, throw up his head, turn it to one side and snick—actually snick, the most complacent and self-satisfied snick that any one ever saw on the face of a bird. It was so comical that Freckles and the angel told the Bird Woman of it one day.

When she finished her work on Little Chicken she left them the camera all ready for use, telling them they might hide back in the bushes and watch. Little Chicken came out and truly smirked and they could squeeze the bulb at just the proper moment to snap him she would be more than delighted.

Freckles and the angel quietly curled down beside a log and with eager eyes and softest breathing patiently waited. They were becoming anxious for the light would soon be gone, and they had so wanted to try for the picture. At last Little Chicken lifted his head, opened his beak and gaped widely. He dozed a minute or two more. The angel said that was his beauty sleep. Then he lazily gaped again and stood up, stretching and yawning. He ambled leisurely down toward the gateway, and the angel said, "Now, we may have a chance, at last."

"I do hope so," shivered Freckles. With one accord they rose to their knees and trained their eyes on the mouth of the log. The light was full and strong. Little Chicken prospected again with no results. He dozed his plumage, polished his beak, and when he felt fine and in full toilet he began to flirt with himself. Freckles eyes snapped and his breath, sucked between his clenched teeth.

"He's going to do it!" whispered the angel.

Little Chicken nodded daintily and ruffled his feathers. He gave his head a sidelong look and rapidly shifted his point of vision. Once there was the fleeting little ghost of a snick.

"Now, now," snapped the angel. Freckles leaned toward the bird tense as a steel trap he waited. Unconsciously the hand of the angel clasped his. He scarcely knew it was there. Suddenly Little Chicken sprang straight up in the air and landed with a thud. The angel started slightly but Freckles was immovable. Then as if in approval of his last performance, the overgrown baby wheeled until he was more than three-quarters, almost full side, toward the camera, straightened on his legs, squared his shoulders, stretched his neck and held it draw in his chin and snickered his most pronounced smirk directly in the face of the lens.

Freckles' fingers closed on the bulb, countenanced, and the angel's closed on his at the instant. The angel heaved a great sigh of relief and lifted her hands to push back the damp, clustering hair from her face.

"Hush! Hush!" they ran for the north end of the swamp, yelling, "We got it!"

The Bird Woman plunged into the scene at the mouth of Sleepy Snake creek and came walking out with a couple of cameras and dragging tripod.

Moved by an impulse she never afterward regretted, she then and laid her lips on Freckles' forehead, kissing him gently and thanking him for many kindnesses to her in her love-work. Freckles started off walking on air, and he felt himself to keep watching behind to see if the tree were not curling up and rolling down the line after him.

Next day Freckles saw them coming. The angel was standing, waving her hat. The spring on his wheel oozed, jolting and pouncing, down the cordway to meet them. The Bird Woman stopped the horse, and the angel gave him the bit of pink paper. Freckles leaned the wheel against a tree and took the proof with eager fingers. He had never before seen a study from any of his chickens. He stood staring. When he lifted his face to them it was transfigured with delight.

"You see?" he exclaimed, and fell to gazing again. "Oh, me! Little Chicken!" he cried. "Oh, me! Little Chicken!"

but I'd be giving all the money in the bank for you!"

Then he thought of the angel's mud and Mrs. Duncan's hat and added: "Or at least all but what I'm needing for something else. Would you mind my stopping at the cabin a minute and showing this to Mother Duncan?" he asked.

Freckles went hurrying on ahead, and after giving up in time to see Mrs. Duncan gazing at it awestruck and to hear her bewilder "Well, I be drawed on!"

Freckles and the angel helped the Bird Woman to establish herself for a long stay at the mouth of Sleepy Snake creek. Then she sent them away and waited what week would bring to her.

"Looks as if some one had been cutting a flagpole," said the angel, running the toe of her shoe around a small stump, evidently cut that season. "Freckles, what would anybody cut a tree as small as that for?"

"I don't know," said Freckles. "Well, but I want to know," said the angel. "Nobody came away to here and cut it just for fun. They've taken it away. Let's go back and see if we can see it anywhere around there."

She retraced her steps and began searching eagerly. Freckles did the same.

"There it is!" he exclaimed at last, leaning up as naturally against the trunk of the big maple.

"Yes, and bending there has killed a patch of bark," said the angel. "See how dried up it looks!"

Freckles stared at her.

"Angel!" he shouted. "I bet you it's a marked tree!"

"Conse it is!" cried the angel. "It's one of Jack's marked trees."

The clear ringing echo of strongly swung axes came crashing through the timberland.

"Tis the gang," shouted Freckles. "They're clearing a place to make the swamp. Let's go help."

"Get out your hatchet," commanded the angel. "I predict this is the most valuable tree in the swamp. You found it. I'm going to play that you're my knight. Now, you nail my colors on it."

She nailed a blue bow in her hair and doubled it against the tree. The angel had called him her knight. How he loved her! She must not see his face or surely her quick eyes would read what he was fighting to hide. He did not dare lay his lips on that ribbon, then, but that night he would return to it. When they had gone a little distance they both looked back, and the morning breeze set the bit of blue waving them a farewell.

She reached him her hand, and like two children, they broke into a run as they came nearer the gang. They left the swamp by the west road and followed the trail until they found the men. To the angel it seemed complete chaos.

In the shallow spot on the west side of the line, close to the swamp and very close to Freckles' room, they were cutting down bushes and clearing out space for a tent for the men's sleeping quarters, another for a dining hall and a board shack for the cook. The teamsters were unloading the horses were cropping leaves from the bushes, and each man was doing his part toward the construction of the new lumber lot quarters.

CHAPTER XIX.
FRECKLES OFFERS HIS LIFE.

THE gang had been carefully sifted, and McLean now felt that there was not a man in it that was not trustworthy.

They had all heard of the angel's plucky ride for Freckles' relief, and several of them had been in the rescue party. When she was ensconced on the wagon load of tanning she sat on a roll of canvas like a queen on her throne. There was not a man of the gang that would not have fought for her.

As they raved toward the wagon, "Let me tell about the tree, please," she begged Freckles.

"Why, sure," said Freckles. He would probably have said the same if she had proposed to cut off his head. When McLean rode up he found her sitting on the wagon, flushed and glowing.

"Everybody listen!" cried the angel. "I have something to say. Freckles has been guarding her over a year now, and he presens the lumberlot to you, with every tree in it saved, and for good measure he has just this morning loaded the horses one at a time, the one around from the east that Wessner spoke of—that first day, nearest the one you took out at first. All together! Everybody! Hurrah for Freckles!"

With flashing cheeks and gleaming eyes she led in three cheers and a tiger. Freckles slipped back into the swamp and held himself tight for fear he might burst wide open with pride and with his love for her.

The angel subsided on the canvas and expanded to McLean about the maple. The boss was mightily pleased. He took Freckles and set out to relocate and examine the tree. The angel was interested in the making of the camp and proffered to remain with the men. With her sharp eye she was watching every detail of construction, but when it came to stretching of the lineal half canvas she proceeded to take command. The men were driving the rope pins when the angel rose on the wagon and leaning forward, spoke to Duncan who was directing the work.

They're all Alike

Ask any man past fifty years of age and he will tell you of some time in his life when he was sailing high. Things were coming his way. There are few exceptions. Why is he poor now? Well, there are various reasons. One thing is sure. It is not because he placed his money in a sound bank and checked it out only when safe investments were secured. There are more ways to lose money than to make it. If you are making any money, no matter how small the amount, start the saving habit by opening a bank account.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nichols Harry Nichols A. Bettars A. E. Bridge
Co-Partners
Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

Gypsine and Muresco Wall Finish

PAINTS OILS VARNISHES

Ranges, Oil and Gasoline Stoves

GRANITE AND TIN WARE

Very Best Woven Fence Wire

ROPE AND CORDAGE

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

A JEWEL

for all occasions will be found at C. R. Bellinger. You can choose your wedding gifts and birthday offerings from the finest array of precious stones, gold jewelry that is a triumph of the goldsmith's art in all the latest and most unique designs, watches and fobs to suit all tastes and all purses.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's

$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Sales and... well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, cleanest money-making opportunities ever revealed. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsome illustrated 20-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in an interesting manner as though you were plotting them through our factory. Men appoint as salesmen receive advice and instruction for selling safe, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to reply that you've better before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 20th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wider awake men who revived our special selling, inducement, national money-making opportunity. We are spending more thousands of dollars on training our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, I will tell you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 16 T.
THE VICTOR
SAFE & LOCK CO.
CINCINNATI, OHIO

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Sales Annually.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In fact, My Father's Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed.

I have changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

THIRTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.

I CURE NERVOUS THROBLES from the neck, the I promptly and positively cure a variety of long time standing.

I CURE THE Rheumatism, St. Vitus' Dance, Paralysis, etc., by skillful direct at the source, restoring the diseased nerve to perfect health.

I CURE THE heart disease to any extent and to any return.

I CURE THE lungs, the great White Plague, in the first and second years. Have made a special study of this disease for years. Have cured hundreds given up by bone doctors. These I cannot treat at home by medicine, but I will take to my parlor, where best of medical skill, nursing and perfect home are given for but a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE to stay cured, tumor, morphia, eczema, piles, ulcers or severely broken. Most cases treated at home.

Any infirmities will give best of care. May work out free. Call and see me or write to either Sanatorium as follows. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and by return mail, which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars to the sick to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M.D.
Belling Sanatorium & Retreat, Belling, Mich., or Saginaw Sanatorium, Saginaw, Mich.

(Continued on page 7)

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Mrs. Lena Cram visited friends at Petoskey last week.

Clyde Conter spent Sunday in the city with his parents.

Miss Kelly is spending her vacation at Zeeland, Michigan.

Bert Burnett is home for an indefinite stay with his parents.

Leo Powers returned from his extended trip south last week.

L. C. Carey returned to his school duties at the M. A. C. Saturday.

Henry Richard of Bellaire was in the city the first of the week.

H. A. Stevens of Central Lake was in the city on business yesterday.

Mrs. Cora Gray visited friends and relatives in the city last week.

Vollie Fox and Wesley Dilworth of Horton Bay are in the city today.

Mrs. W. J. Rachow has returned from her visit at Detroit and Canada.

Forrest Kane returned to Lansing Monday, where he is attending the M. A. C.

J. W. Jones of Detroit made a short business trip to the city last week.

Miss Swigart is spending the spring vacation at her home in Alma.

Wm. Heise killed a big otter last Friday, the value of which is about $25.00.

Miss Hayle Gilmartin of Bay Shore visited friends in the city last week.

Helen Mary Neech is spending the vacation with her parents at Ellsworth.

Miss Bennona Barlett is spending her spring vacation at Traverse City this week.

Nally Cram who is working at St. Ignace, spent Sunday in the city with his family.

Mr. Craig and Miss King are the only teachers who remained here for their vacations.

The Life Saving Station opened Sunday night at twelve o'clock. A sure sign of spring.

Miss Ella Meggison has returned to Mt. Pleasant, after spending the spring vacation here.

Henry Waller entertained a few of his friends at the Cameron home last Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell spent past week with Mr. and Mrs. John Ward at Traverse City.

Miss Hilda Cooper is visiting her grandfather, W. W. Clough at Central Lake, during vacation.

J. M. Fells has moved into the C. R. Munyon's house, on the corner of State and Mason streets.

F. G. Hines and wife returned home Tuesday after spending the past week at Grand Rapids.

Miss Gladys Smith of Petoskey spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Kay Brockway at the Barlett.

Miss Irene Harsha is expected home from Chicago today, where she has been attending school.

Mrs. George Myler has returned to her home at Detroit after making a short visit with relatives.

The Misses Tate and Nina Pearson of Boyne Falls visited friends and relatives here over Sunday.

True Dalton returned to his home at Leeland, Michigan, last week, after attending school here all winter.

Mrs. Ray Faulkner and son Raymond have returned to Chicago after visiting the past two weeks.

Mrs. E. M. Taylor and son Austin, have returned from Mississippi where they made an extended trip.

R. R. VanLeuvan is on the street again after his recent illness, although he is not on the mail route yet.

Miss Grace Meggison, who is attending school at Mt. Pleasant, is spending the vacation with relatives.

Lela Cooper, who has been teaching school at Shingleton in the upper peninsula, will be home this week.

Miss Isaac Catton is spending the vacation at her home in Benzonia. She was accompanied by Miss Michel.

Mrs. R. B. Armstrong, daughters Helen, Dorothy, Phila, and son Bruce are visiting relatives at Saginaw.

Mrs. Martha Gray of Traverse City will lecture at the Congregational church, Wednesday evening, April seventeen.

Harry Millard is again at work at the State Savings Bank, after making a three weeks visit at Hersey, Michigan.

Mrs. Rosella Gennett and family have moved into town and are now occupying the Metcalf house on the south side.

Mrs. Edna Hall, formerly in business here was in the city the first of the week, after spending the winter at Indianapolis.

Miss Mary Kirchner is spending the spring vacation at her home in Saginaw. She was accompanied by Mrs. Henry Cooper.

John Mitchell left for Abingdon Monday, where he will make short visit with his daughter Maggie, who recently moved there.

Milton O'Brien returned Monday night from Chicago. He left here on one of the government boats and has been there ever since.

Miss Mildred Stockley, a teacher of the Roscommon schools, is spending the Easter vacation with her mother, Mrs. Ada Stockley.

The many friends of E. H. Johnson, who lost his arm at the Cooper's plant in this city last week, have raised $346.33 for his benefit.

Captain "Pete" Campbell has returned home after spending the winter in California. Mrs. Campbell will follow in about ten days.

Mr. Lalonde and family formerly of Boyne City and Stanley Wildern and family are now occupying the house just vacated by G. C. Graken on Belvedere avenue.

Mrs. Laura Donaldson entertained a number of her friends last Thursday afternoon. Sewing was the chief occupation, after which refreshments were served.

There will be a special Easter Program next Sunday evening, at the Baptist church instead of the regular preaching service. A cordial invitation extended to all not attending service elsewhere.

The second annual concert of the Charlevoix Choral Society will be given at the Congregational church Monday, April 8, at 8 p. m. The chorus is made up of sixteen voices and will give the sacred cantata "Ruth," by A. R. Gaul.

Prof. Ferris of Big Rapids will lecture on "The Problem of Probabilities" or "Philosophy of Human Nature," at the East Jordan Opera House, Friday, April 12. An effort is being made to have a delegation from Charlevoix attend.

"The conductors on our railroads don't carry watches any more. They run by calendar," writes Roy K. Moulton in the Grand Rapids Press. The same expression applies nicely to Charlevoix, and it must have been the Pere Marquette he was referring to.

Charles Swanson was buried from the County Home on Monday a short service was conducted by the Rev. T. Porter Bennett. He was born in Sweden, July 29, 1820 being nearly 93 years of age. He has lived in this country about 70 years.

Miss Ruth Emrey entertained a number of her girl friends at a potluck supper last Thursday evening. Everyone brought their appetites with them and were well repaid in the good things to eat. After the supper they attended a local option address, were invited to the "Sugar Bowl" and then enjoyed a joy ride.

Professor J. Masselink of Big Rapids will address the Men's Bible class Sunday at twelve o'clock at the Carnegie Library. Mr. Masselink is a professor of the Ferris Institute and many of the students from here attending the institute are anxious for him to come, and say that he is one of the most popular speakers in the state, and his talk will be a pleasure to all listeners.

Every farmer who takes a paper that admits advertising to its columns, receives the equivalent of a cash contribution, for were it not for the advertising to help pay for the cost of publishing the paper, the subscription would necessarily be two or three times as much. A paper whose subscription price is $1.00 would be at least $3.00 if it had no advertising patronage, hence every subscriber virtually gets one dollar from the advertisers. It follows, then, that subscribers should have a kindly feeling for the advertisers in their paper, and give them the preference in the bestowal of their patronage, for the reason that one good turn deserves another.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY

Dropped Dead While on His Way to Adams Lake on Fishing Trip.

While on his way to Adams Lake for a days' fishing trip, accompanied by his brother, Henry, Hamilton Nowland was suddenly stricken with heart failure and in a few minutes lay in his brother's arm dead.

A few minutes after starting Mr. Nowland complained of feeling badly, but after resting a short time stated that he was able to resume the trip, but when about to start, gave a short gasp and was dead.

Hamilton Nowland was born in Wayne county in 1857. He came to Charlevoix county in 1865 and resided on a farm in Eveline township, until three years ago, when he moved to South Charlevoix, where he has since made his home. He was the father of eight girls, seven of whom and a widow survive him.

The funeral services were held from the home Saturday afternoon and burial took place at Brookside cemetery.

He was a Macabre and was well and favorably known to a large number of friends.

Mr. Nowland was the fourth member of his family to die suddenly in this manner.

For Sale.

Household furniture. Must be sold by April 10.

Inquire ELLA GREEN, Lincoln St., near State St.

THE FAMILY TREE

Courier Article of Last Week Cause of Much Discussion.

Last week's Courier contained the following item, which has caused considerable comment and in which the Petoskey Evening News seems to think we were trying to put one over them:

"Those who are fond of working out puzzles can tackle the following: A certain family in Petoskey consists of one grandfather, two grandmothers, one father-in-law, two mother-in-laws, three mothers, two fathers, two daughters, one son, one daughter-in-law, one son-in-law, one grand daughter, and there are only six in the family."

"Are you sure Petoskey is the place?"—Petoskey Evening News.

Yes, we are certain Petoskey is the place—more so now than ever, because a well-known resident of this city after reading the above article began to figure out her own family tree, and gives the following to prove the claim:

One grandmother, one grandfather, two mothers, two fathers, one mother-in-law, one father-in-law, one stepmother, one stepfather, one stepbrother, one stepsister, two sons, two daughters, one grandson, one grand daughter, and there are only six in the family.

"Yes, we are sure the place is Petoskey," says the lady in question, "because we have always been able to go Petoskey one better."

For Sale.

A few choice breeding pens of Barred Plymouth Rocks for breeding purposes at common prices. Also eggs for hatching. Enquire of J. A. Auld.

FANCY CLOCKS we have just received a new line of fancy alarm and traveling clocks that are strictly up-to-date and very reasonably priced. Stanley Wildern.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than five first insertion.

WANTED—Small pigs at Hotel Edison.

FOR SALE—1 Wagon just overhauled.

FOR SALE OR RENT—Improved 60-acre farm. Apply to F. H. Clarke, Charlevoix, Michigan.

FOR SALE—Two houses and lots, corner Antism and State streets. Will sell at a bargain. Inquire Harrison Bedford.

EARN FOR SALE—Stables 3 miles north of Charlevoix. 10 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write D. W. Mulhoney, P. O. box 135.

WANTED—Good live stock to take the Agency for our line of gold watches, sold direct to consumers. Write for particulars. CHESTER WATCH CO. Lansing, Michigan.

FOR SALE—6-acre farm, all under cult. about 20000 bushels of corn and 1000 bushels of wheat. Inquire at Charles Zeith.

FOR SALE—The large frame building in Charlevoix known as the "Barth" Hotel. To be removed by heavy front present premises. Can be bought cheap if taken at once. See Robert W. Kane at Charlevoix, or W. H. Aldrich, Route 101, Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill.

Ford Cars Are Winners

More than one hundred thousand Ford Cars are in use today. More than four thousand individual Ford dealers are scattered over the entire United States and Canada today. I have taken the exclusive agency for Charlevoix and vicinity and solicit your business. If you are in the market for a car, I want to talk with you before you buy. Look at this

Ford Model "T" Four Door Touring Car
5 Passenger—4 Cylinder—2 Horse Power Car
Price: $690

Includes Extension Top, Automatic Brass Wind Shield, Speedometer, 2 six inch Gas Lamps, Generator, 3 Oil Lamps, Horn, Tools

WHERE CAN YOU DO BETTER

Ford Model Five is not a cheap car—it is the highest priced car in the world, none excepted. Yet, I am able to sell it at the lowest price. You are asked so buy a Ford for what it will do, based upon what it has done. Let me talk with you before you buy.

Theodore Erickson
Local Agent

Wanted.
Best cash offer for the old Tom Palmer place, lots 11, 12 and 13, block 7 plat of Mt. McSabe. Good house, and barn, chicken house, well house, and good well of water with pump, two lots. Address J. W. Farleigh, 21 West Garfield Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

Team for Sale.
Team of young mares, 5 and 6 years old, in foal by Iron Duke. Cash or bankable paper. Inquire of R. T. North, phone 144.

Building For Sale.
A large frame building on Belvedere Avenue formerly occupied by Barth as a boiler shop. See adv. in bargain column for description. 1011

CRANE'S

SPECIAL

SATURDAY, APRIL 6, '12

LACE CURTAINS

One Day Only

Remarkable Bargains at beginning of Lace Curtain Season

50c Lace Curtains	33c pr
$1.00 Lace Curtains	69c pr
1.50 " "	88c pr
2.00 " "	$1.29 pr
3.25 " "	2.25 pr
5.00 " "	3.65 pr
8.50 " "	6.50 pr

Single Lace Curtains 1-2 Price

ONE DAY ONLY

Saturday, April 6th

To Sell Regardless of Cost for Cash only

7 DAYS

From April 4th to April 11th

We Need the Money

Youth's $1.50 Arctics	85c
Boys' $2.00 Arctics	$1.00
Men's 2.50 Arctics	1.50
Women's $2.00 Arctics	1.00
Men's $1.35, $1.50 all Felt Shoes	85c
Women's $1.35 all Felt Shoes	85c
Men's and Boy's 50c Mittens	37c
Men's and Boy's 25c, 35c Mittens	15c

All Men's, Women's, Boys', Misses' and Children's warm Winter Footwear—less than Cost

Men's $4.00 Shoe Pacs	$3.00
" 2.00 Challenge Shoes	1.25
" 2.00 Daily Service Shoes	1.50
" 2.50 Moulders Cong's Shoes	2.00
Ladies' $2.50 S & C Shoes	$1.75
" 2.50 Wolfe kid bulcher shoes	1.75
" 3.00 Wolfe Gunmetal Shoes	1.95
Child's No. 38 1 $1.10 Shoes	75c
" No. 1287 1.15 Shoes	75c
" No. 1208 1.25 Shoes	75c

All Shoes and Footwear Sold for Very Low Prices One Week for Cash Only

Bert Mason

Auction Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his farm five miles south of Charlevoix, on the Norwood Road, on

TUESDAY, APRIL 16, '12

Commencing at one o'clock p. m., the following described property:

- | | |
|---|---------------------------------------|
| Gray horse, weight 1300, 12 years old | Springtooth drag |
| Gray horse, weight 1200, 12 years old | Spiketooth drag |
| Red cow, 7 years old, due May 1 | New Parker plow |
| Cow, 6 years old, due May 1 | 2-shovel cultivator |
| Spotted cow, due May 1 | Beet cultivator |
| Roan cow, due May 1 | Beet rack |
| Red poll heifer, 2 years old, fresh now | Set good dump boards |
| Red heifer, 2 years old, fresh soon | Top buggy, nearly new |
| Yearling heifer | Set heavy work harness |
| Yearling steer | Single light driving harness |
| Calf, one month old | 4 or 5 tons hay |
| New Webber wagon | Posthole digger |
| Good second hand wagon | Number chains of all kinds |
| Louden heavy sleigh, new | Short decking line |
| Superior grain drill | Cutter frame |
| Deering mower | 2 grindstones |
| Disc harrow | Barn shovel |
| Brood sow, due to farrow April 20 | 2 hoes |
| Potato fork | Good fur coat |
| 6-tine fork | DeLaval Cream Separator |
| Brush hook | Barrel churn |
| About 3 bushels of barley | Cook stove |
| | Sewing machine |
| | Cupboard |
| | Crosscut saw |
| | Good pair tongs |
| | Whiffletrees and neckyokes |
| | Good farm dog |
| | Numerous other articles not mentioned |

Terms of Sale

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, eight months time will be given on good approved bankable paper with interest at 7 per cent, payable at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. Five per cent off for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

WILL C. HULL, Prop.

F. A. BUTLER, Clerk

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

Home Course In Road Making

I.—The Office of Public Roads.

By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department
of Agriculture

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912

IN March, 1891, a petition was presented to congress asking that a road department similar to the agricultural department be founded at Washington for the purpose of promoting construction and maintenance of roads and for teaching students so that they might become self-reliant road engineers and to establish a permanent exhibit of sections of road illustrating various methods of construction and the best road materials and machinery. This petition was signed by the governors of many of the states, including Governor McKinley of Ohio, by chambers of commerce and universities and was endorsed by resolutions of legislatures.

The office of road inquiry was established under authority of an act of congress approved March 3, 1890, making appropriation of $100,000 for the department of agriculture. The clause relating to this work provided that the secretary of agriculture should make inquiries in regard to systems of road management throughout the United States, make investigations in regard to the best methods of road making, prepare publications on this subject, and assist agricultural colleges and experiment stations in disseminating information.

UNITED STATES OFFICE OF PUBLIC ROADS

Since 1891 the total amount appropriated for the office of public roads is $84,860, and since its establishment the office has issued 40 bulletins, 14 circulars, 11 farmers' bulletins, 21 year book reports and 18 annual reports, a total of 134 publications.

The office has also had the construction of about 316 object lessons and experimental roads, illustrating macadam, bituminous macadam, brick, gravel, sand, clay, shell and earth construction. The approximate expenditure on these object lessons and experimental roads by local authorities has been $100,502, and the subsequent road work due directly to the object lesson roads represents expenditures running well into millions. The figures and personal advice by engineers and experts have constituted a prominent feature of the work of the office since its establishment.

The road material laboratory was installed in the winter, 1900, and from that time to July 1, 1911, about 5,200 samples of road material have been received from practically every state in the Union and tested to determine their character and value for road building.

modern traffic conditions. The office has conducted investigations to determine the feasibility of the sand-clay method of road building in the southern states as well as in the public states, and this method of construction has been found to be quite practicable, especially in the south.

A study of the construction of roads on natural soils by treatment with asphalt has been made and was published in circular No. 10. The office is conducting investigations on the use of slag as a road material and the improvement of sand roads in parts of the country where clay is not accessible. Practical efforts have been made toward bringing about the more general use of the split log drag in the maintenance of earth roads.

One of the multiple and striking exhibits at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition consisted of a series of miniature models illustrating every known type of improved road and the various road building devices, such as rollers and crushers, in actual operation. This exhibit was designed and prepared by the office, and since the exposition closed similar exhibits have been shown in many parts of the United States, partly through the medium of expositions and partly by means of exhibit trains operated by several railroads. Lecturers and demonstrators accompany these exhibits, making them in reality schools of instruction in road building.

Graduates in engineering are appointed from colleges each year after a competitive examination, and are given thorough training while rendering practical services to the government. In this way an efficient corps of engineers is being built up, which will aid the development of road building along proper lines, both during and after their connection with the government. This work was begun in the fiscal year 1905.

Investigations into the decomposition of rock powders under the action of water have led to important discoveries with reference to increasing the soundness value of road materials. The investigation into the corrosion of iron and steel cuttings has brought out important results. The generally accepted theories regarding the rusting of iron have been demonstrated to be incorrect, and it has been shown that by treating the surface of the metal with a strong oxidizing agent the rusting can be inhibited.

In May, 1907, the office inaugurated a project designed to introduce the best possible systems of construction, maintenance and administration on roads in the various counties. Under this plan engineers are assigned to make thorough investigation on all phases of the road work of the county to which they are assigned, and prepare exhaustive reports giving plans, estimates and recommendations.

The number of the employees of the office has increased from one on July 1, 1891 to 157 on July 1, 1911.

present appropriation of the office is $100,720; out of which $1500 is paid for rent, leaving $107,220 to pay the salaries of these 157 employees, as well as travelling expenses, the purchase of equipment and supplies, and the usual running expenses.

The most thorough and systematic methods of organization have been introduced into the administration of the office, and the great library on all phases of road work is the best in the western hemisphere, and the library is being added to constantly.

The policy of the office in recent years has been to cooperate with the various states as closely as possible, and the endeavor is being made so to cooperate that work in each state by voluntary co-operation is constituting one great movement along uniform lines and make the progress and methods of each state known to every other state through the medium of the office. In furtherance of this object a comprehensive investigation was begun in

SECTION OF THE DISINTEGRATOR LABORATORY, OFFICE OF PUBLIC ROADS.

1901 to ascertain the influence of the proved and unproved roads, the character of improvement, the amount expended, rates of levy and sources of revenue in every county in the United States. This work was finished in June, 1907, and the results were published in the form of a bulletin, which shows that there are over 2,100,000 miles of road in the United States, of which only 7.11 per cent were improved in 1901, and that the expenditure on money and labor for that year was nearly $80,000,000. This bulletin comprises the first complete data ever assembled on this subject.

A Mother's Care.

A careful mother will not give her child a medicine without knowing it is pure, contains no opiates, and has healing and curative qualities. Such a medicine is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for cough, whooping cough, bronchitis, and all affections of the throat and chest and lungs. Best and safest for children and grown persons. Contains no opiates. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the plans, plats, diagrams, specifications and estimates of cost of the proposed establishment and construction of a sewer, including all the necessary ventilation, manholes, catch basins, catch basins, cesspools, flush tanks, including all necessary attachments, on North Main street, from the south line of Dixon street, north to the center of Petoskey street, thence east on Petoskey street to a point opposite the center of lot 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937, 938, 939, 940, 941, 942, 943, 944, 945, 946, 947, 948, 949, 950, 951, 952, 953, 954, 955, 956, 957, 958, 959, 960, 961, 962, 963, 964, 965, 966, 967, 968, 969, 970, 971, 972, 973, 974, 975, 976, 977, 978, 979, 980, 981, 982, 983, 984, 985, 986, 987, 988, 989, 990, 991, 992, 993, 994, 995, 996, 997, 998, 999, 1000.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage bearing date the 20th day of March, A. D. 1901, made by Morris L. Woody and Jennie R. Woody, his wife, of Marion township, Charlevoix county, Michigan, to William Peters, who is also known as W. M. Peters, of the same place, and recorded in the county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of March, A. D. 1901, in Liber 2801 of mortgages on page 561, and which mortgage was duly assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of November, A. D. 1901, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of November, A. D. 1901, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of March, A. D. 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of March, A. D. 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1902, in Liber 34 of mortgages on page 10, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said William Peters, a corporation, by deed of assignment bearing date the 20th day of May, 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix

FRECKLES

By Gene Stratton-
Porter

COPYRIGHT, 1904 BY DOUBLEDAY
PAGE & CO

(Continued from page three)

obtained comfort, for which they blessed the angel every day.

When Freckles joined in the work about the camp he caught glimpses at her enthroned on a soapbox cleaning beans. She called to him that they were invited to stay for dinner and that they had accepted the invitation.

She was having the time of her life when McLean came back, jubilant from his trip to the tree. How jubilant he only told the angel, for he had been obliged to lose faith in some trusted men of fate and had learned discretion by what he suffered. The

"EVERYBODY LISTEN!" CRIED THE ANGEL, planned to begin clearing out a road to the tree that same afternoon and to set two guards every night, for it promised to be a rare treasure.

"I am coming to see it felled," cried the angel.

"Tell me, angel," the boss said jestingly: "I think I have a right to know. Who really did locate that tree?"

"Freckles," she answered promptly and emphatically.

The boss smiled significantly at Freckles, who had just come up, for they had planned that they would in fact attract the company to reserve enough of the viceroy from that very tree to make the most beautiful dressing table they could design for the angel's share of the discovery.

"What will you have for yours?" asked McLean of Freckles.

"If it's all the same to you, I'll be taking mine out in muscle lessons—how long your pardon—voice culture," said Freckles with a grimace.

The angel gave McLean the head of the table. She took the foot, with Freckles on her right, and the lumber gang, washed, brushed and straightened until they felt unfamiliar with themselves and each other, filled the sides.

It was several days before they completed a road to the noble, big tree and were ready to fell it. When the saw was well in Freckles began watching down the road where it met the trail leading from Little Chicken's tree. It had gone to the tree ahead of the gang and taken down the blue ribbon. Carefully folded, it now lay over his head. He was promising himself a good deal of comfort with that ribbon when he should go to the city next month to begin his studies and dream the same over again. It would help to make things a little. When he was dressed as other men and about his work he knew where he meant to home that precious bit of blue. It should be his good luck token, and he would wear it always to keep bright in memory the day on which the angel had called him her knight.

How he would study, and, oh, how he would sing! If he could fulfill McLean's expectations, and make the angel proud of him! If he could only be a real knight!

He could not understand why the angel had failed to come. She had wanted to see their tree felled. She would be too late if she did not arrive soon. The men were sending ringing tones into the felling side of the tree when the boss rode up.

His first word was to inquire for the angel. When Freckles said she had not yet come McLean gave orders to stop work on the tree until she arrived. As the men stepped back a stiff morning breeze caught the log that towered high above its fellows. There was an ominous grunting at the base, a shiver at the mighty trunk, and directly in line of its fall the bushes swung apart and the laughing face of the angel looked in on them.

A group of horror burst from the dry throats of the men, and, realising the agony in their faces, she stopped short glanced up and understood.

"South!" shouted McLean. "Be south!"

The poor child was helpless. It was patent that she did not know what way south was. There was, and a slow shiver of the tree. The tree the gang stood as if rooted, but Freckles sprang past the trunk and went leaping in great bounds. He caught up the angel and dashed through the thicket for safety. The awaiting trunk was half over when, just for an instant, a nearby tree stayed its fall. They saw Freckles' foot catch, and with the angel he plunged headlong.

A cry broke from the men, and McLean covered his face. Instantly Freckles was up, with the angel in his arms plunging on again. The out or limbs were on them when they saw Freckles hurl the angel face down, in the muck, as far from him as he could send her. Springing after in an attempt to cover her body with his own, he whirled to see if they were still in danger, and with outstretched arms braced himself for the shock.

The branches shut them from sight and the awful crash rocked the earth. McLean and Duncan ran with awe and saws. The rest of the gang followed and they worked like madmen. It seemed an age before they caught a glimpse of the angel's blue dress, and it renewed their vigor. They felt on her knees beside her and for the monk from underneath her with his hands. In a few seconds he dragged her out, choking and stunned.

Freckles lay a little farther under the tree a big limb pinning him down. Duncan began mining beneath him but Freckles stopped him.

"You can't be moving me," he said. "You must cut off the limb and lift it away."

Two men ran for the big saw. A number of them laid hold of the limb and bore up. In a little time it was off, and Freckles lay free.

The men bent over him to lift him but he motioned them away.

"Don't be touching me until I rest a bit," he pleaded.

Then he raised his head until he saw the angel, who was digging muck from her eyes and wiping it off her face on the skirt of her dress.

"Try to get up," he begged.

McLean helped the angel to her feet.

"Do you think any bones are broken?" asked Freckles. "You see it cut and find out, sir."

McLean assured Freckles that she was not seriously injured.

Freckles settled back with a smile of infinite gentleness on his face.

"Thank the Lord!" he hoarsely whispered.

The angel broke from McLean.

"Now, Freckles, you!" she cried. "It's your turn. Please get up!"

A painful spasm swept Freckles' face. The angel took hold of his hand.

"Freckles, get up!"

It was half command, half entreaty.

"Easy, angel, easy. Let me rest a bit first," implored Freckles.

She knelt beside him. He reached his arm about her and drew her up closely. He looked at McLean in an agony of entreaty that brought the boss to his knees on the other side.

"Oh, Freckles!" McLean cried. "Not that! Surely we can do something. We must! Let me see!"

He tried to unfasten Freckles' neck band, but his fingers shook so clumsily that the angel pushed them away and herself laid Freckles' chest bare. With just one hasty glance she gathered ered the clothing together and slipped her arm under his head. Freckles lifted eyes of agony to hers.

WITH THE ANGEL IN HIS ARMS PLUNGING ON AGAIN.

"You see?" he said.

The angel nodded dumbly.

Freckles turned to McLean.

"Thank you for everything," he panted. "Where are the boys?"

"They are all here," said the boss. "except a couple that have gone for doctors. Mrs. Duncan, and the Bird Woman."

"It's no use trying to do anything," said Freckles. "You won't forget the muck and the Christmas box. The muck especially!"

There was a movement above them so pronounced that it attracted Freckles' attention, even in that extreme hour. He looked up, and a pleased smile flickered into his drawn face.

"Why, if it isn't me little chicken!" he cried hoarsely. "He must be making his very first trip from the log. Now Duncan can have his big wintering trough."

"It was little chicken that made me late," faltered the angel. "I was so anxious to get here early I forgot to bring my breakfast from the carriage. He must have been very hungry, for when I passed the log he started after me. He was so ably and so slow getting from tree to tree and through the bushes, I just had to wait on him for I couldn't drive him back."

A spasm of fierce pain shook Freckles, and a look of uncertainty crossed his face.

no matter how it hurts you, for you did this for me, and now I must save you, so you might as well promise. You will promise, Freckles?"

"Angel, darlin' angel," pleaded Freckles. "you ain't understandin' and I can't for the life of me be tellin' you, but, indeed, it's best to be lettin' me go."

He appealed to McLean.

"Dear boss, you know! You be tellin' her that, for me, living is far worse pain than dying. Tell her you know death is the best thing could ever be happenin' to me!"

"All summer I've been thankin' God for the fallin' of the feather and all the delights it's brought me," he muttered, "but this looks like—"

He raised questioning eyes to McLean.

"I can't help being Irish, but I can help being superstitious," he said. "I mustn't be sayin' it to the Almighty, nor to me lord, must I?"

"No dear lad," said McLean, stroking the brilliant hair. "The choice lay with you. You could have stood a rooted dot like all the rest of us. It was through your great love and your high courage that you made the sacrifice."

"Don't you be so namin' it, sir!" cried Freckles. "It's just the reverse. If I could be givin' me undy the hundred times over to save hers from this, I'd be doin' it and take joy with every pain."

He turned with a smile of adoring tenderness to the angel. She scarcely seemed to hear or understand what was coming, but she bravely tried to answer that smile.

"Is me forehead covered with dirt?" he asked.

She shook her head.

"You did once," he gasped.

Instantly she laid her lips on his forehead, then on each cheek, and then in a long kiss on his lips.

"Freckles," said McLean brokenly, "you will never know how I love you. You won't go without sayin' good-by to me?"

That word stung the angel to quick comprehension. She started as if rousing from sleep.

"Goodby?" she cried sharply. "Goodby! What do you mean? Who's sayin' goodby? Where could Freckles go, when he is hurt like this, but to the hospital? You call up the men. We must start right away!"

"It's no use, angel," said Freckles. "I'm thinkin' livery bone in me breast is smashed. You'll have to be lettin' me go!"

"I will not," said the angel dully. "You are allre. You are breathin' and no matter how badly your bones are broken, what are great surgeons for but to fix you up and make you well again?"

"Oh, angel!" moaned Freckles. "I can't! You don't know how bad it is. I'll die the minute you are for tryin' to lift me!"

"Of course you will, if you make up your mind to do it," said the angel.

"Really, you have to do it," Freckles.

EASTER EGGS WITHOUT DYES.

How to Color Them by Grandma's Old Time Methods.

There are various ways of coloring eggs if you are far removed from the shops where dyes are to be obtained.

"They come under the head of things primitive, but are for that reason most desirable now. The quaint methods of our grandmothers are being revived under the present tendency toward the simple life. Even our Easter eggs demand the old time attention which was given them before the days of the busy dip in dye."

The calico egg is charming to behold although its coloring is not an easy process. It takes considerable time in the first covering with calico and is at its best when done by grand old, who learned it in the days of her youth.

The calico is cut like the cover of a teacup and is wrapped round the egg in the same way. The right side of the material is turned toward the egg, and the seams are turned upon the outside so that smooth calico lies against the egg.

But here is a point most moderns do not realize. Only those brown and red calicoes are chosen which do not fade, but whose colors gradually transfer their patterned surface to the egg when it is put raw into cold water, allowed to come slowly to a boil and boiled slowly for half an hour or longer.

Old fashioned children valued the calico eggs more than all the others, and great care was taken in their proper distribution among the larger families of a generation or two ago.

Calico skins convey a rich mottled brown or a paler tone, according to the time the eggs are boiled in them, and they invariably produce a fern pattern resembling the jungle or a frayed touch of white.

Artists in embryo have drawn wonderful pictures in lead pencil upon the plain hard-boiled eggs, and bronze shoe polish has been called into requisition more than once.

The red, white and blue painted egg is not new, nor is the polka dotted, made by dropping heated wax from a colored candle upon it at regular distances.

Given a family of children and a year spent in the country away from the modern extravagances for which we waste our money and necessity will ever prove the mother of invention.

Peter Ettinger, 135 Sheldon St. Houghton, Mich., says: "For some time I suffered with kidney trouble. I had intense pains in my back and the kidney action was very irregular. I took Foley Kidney Pills and in a very short time my pains left and my kidneys became normal. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf."

THE

NEW YEAR

Is here and every office and store are in need of a

RENEWED STATIONERY EQUIPMENT

When a printing job is needed in a hurry bring it to The Courier. We carry stock

SUITABLE FOR ALL CLASSES OF WORK.

Consult The Courier about your Printing needs. Do this early. Don't wait until your last sheet of paper or envelope is gone and then possibly have to wait until the other business man ahead of you is accommodated.

THREE REASONS

Why Advertisers Should use The Courier Columns:

Has the Largest Circulation

Is all Home Print

Its Grange and Correspondence Pages

Make it especially valuable as an Advertising Medium.

The COURIER PRESS

Phone No. 22-r

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolute Pure

Economizes Butter, Flour,
Eggs; makes the food more appetizing and wholesome

The only Baking Powder made
from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

Grange Column

Rock Elm Grange No. 705.

Regular session of Rock Elm grange called to order March 30 by W. M. Fred VanGorder.

Grange opened in form and minutes of last meeting were read. After the regular order of business, the lecture hour was observed with the following program: A talk on the visit to Wilson grange, by the Worthy Master; A song by Sister Mildred Hutton; Readings by Bro. Whitfield; An original paper on house cleaning, by Mrs. Hutton and talks on chicken incubation by Bros. Metz and Kitson.

It was moved and supported that we have a sugar social at the hall Saturday evening, April 6. Carried. Jos. Whitfield was appointed to talk charge of same. Grange closed in form.

Bro. Ray Wagner of Boyne Valley grange was a visitor.

The next meeting will be held April 13.

Having employed Herb. Martin to do my bicycle repairing, we are ready to repair and clean your bicycle. Benj. Brown. 124

LARGE NUMBER ARE FARMERS

(Continued from page 1)

The celebration of Washington's birthday is a great annual event. This year the Washington birthday parade was given by the fifteen hundred school children of the city, no other organization appearing in line. It was a revelation to anyone in demonstrating how perfectly children could be trained. As they passed in perfect time before the thousands of spectators that lined the sidewalks, many were the exclamations of delight at the beauty of the spectacle, and they were greeted on all sides with volleys of applause. Every child was in uniform, ranging from the over-all boys to the sun bonnet girls of the kindergarten, to the perfectly trained high school cadets. Every nation was also represented, as well as the states of the union, counties of Florida and subdivisions of Pinellas county. Red Riding Hood was also not forgotten, and altogether it was one of the most delightful parades ever witnessed.

The leading manufacturers of moving picture films were present, and no doubt our readers will have a chance to enjoy it also before the summer is over.

GLENN M. DUBOIS

NEW JEWELRY for the spring season of 1912 all the latest things in Bar pins, Bar-rings, Neckchains, Bracelets, etc., Stanley Wildern. 141

COUNTY CONVENTION

Held at the Court House This Forenoon—Delegates to State Convention.

The Charlevoix County republican convention, called for Wednesday, April 3, was held at the court house this forenoon. Regular business of the convention was transacted, committees appointed, after which the following delegates were elected to represent this county at the district convention to be held at Reed City, April 10: J. E. Converse, J. E. Newville, Louis Moon, Frank Kenyon, John Porter, Alden E. Cross, R. W. Paddock, Lisle Shandhan, Olaf Nordrum and Clayton Bixby.

The following delegates were also named to attend the state convention to be held at Bay City, April 11: Frank Kenyon, John Porter, Alden E. Cross, J. M. Harris, Lisle White, R. A. Kurev, Olaf Nordrum, R. W. Paddock and W. J. Pearson. The committee on resolutions presented the following: "Resolved, That we endorse the national, state and county administration of the Republican party, and commend its policies and recommend its continuance."

Wanted.

To know the whereabouts of Teddy Smith and his mother, Mary Jane Lucia Smith, who was married at Manaclova, February 1884, to George W. Smith. Anyone knowing please let me know, as it may be a benefit to them. Address, 1343 pd. Ira E. Wyer, Quincy Ky

HOUSE CROWDED TO ITS DOORS

Temperance Reunion Held at Methodist Church Sunday Evening.

Margaret Munger and Countess Mason Winners of First and Second Prizes.

The program given at the M. E. church last Sunday evening was in every way successful. It was planned throughout by Mrs. S. J. Allox, who has been recently re-elected president of the local W. C. T. U., by a unanimous vote of the members, this being her fifth year in that office. She was assisted by the Misses Merrill, Himes, Margaret Saunders, Mrs. James Saunders and others. The opening and closing of the service was in the hands of the pastors.

About eight hundred were present, fifty of those having to stand, as the seating capacity was filled to the utmost, and many were turned from the doors.

The service was enriched with a spirit of good fellowship and was very touching, one song being applauded before half finished.

Every number was well worth special mention, one speech given by Oakley Hammond, showing the people just how much a small boy's opinion is worth, also a tirade for local opinion by Budget Wilkinson, the two and a half year son of Mr. Wilkinson.

The banners which were used during the evening were made by Mrs. P. J. Howard of Potosky, district president, who is seventy eight years young.

Prizes had been offered to the normal girls for the two best essays on the topic, "Why Our County Should Remain Dry." The first prize was won by Marguerite Munger, in the form of books valued at two dollars. The second prize was won by Countess Mason, it being a picture. Others in the contest worth honorable mention were the Misses Louisa Marsa, Knid, Todd and Hazel Mills, who were each presented with flowers.

The meeting closed with a trio by Mrs. Davison, Dr. Frank and Allen Wilkinson.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van-Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Unreality."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 3:00 p. m.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.
Morning service at 10:30. Sermon by the pastor.
Sunday School at 12 m.
Service at 4:00 p. m.

Mid-week service Thursday evening at 7:30.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.
Morning Service, 10:30. "Easter Sermon and Communion Service."
Sunday School at 11:45.
B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Topic, "The kind of life we shall wish we had lived." Leader, Mrs. F. Bearss.
Evening Service at 7:30. "Special Easter Program."
Prayer Meeting on Thursday evening.
Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion Town Hall.
"Strangers always welcome."

METHODIST CHURCH
9:30 a. m. Class Meeting.
12:00 m. Sunday School.
6:00 p. m. Epworth League.
Prayer Meeting Thursday evening, 7:30.
You are welcomed to all our services.

WHAT NOT TO LOSE.

Don't lose courage; spirit brave
Carry with you to the grave.
Don't lose time in vain distress;
Work, not worry, brings success.
Don't lose hope; who lets her straw
Goes forlornly all the way.
Don't lose patience, come what will;
Patience oftentimes outwits skill.
Though be foiled your dearest plan,
Don't lose faith in God and man.

Bring your bicycles to Benj. Brown to be repaired and cleaned now. 124

Parents' Association.

The next meeting of the Parents' and Teachers' Association will be held in the high school room, Wednesday evening, April 10. Following is the program:
Music—Selected.
"Our Debt to Childhood." From the parents' standpoint—Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson. From the teachers' standpoint—Miss Kertin.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. A. J. Davidson.

Dirt For Filling.

Those who want dirt for filling to their lots can get some of the best and are asked to state amount wanted at once. Will start excavating soon and will have plenty of dirt. M. B. Hooker, phone 288. 141

Death by Poison.

In Greece poison was the favorite method of capital punishment and of suicide. Valerius Maximus relates that he saw a "woman of quality in the island of Cos who, having lived happily for ninety years, obtained leave to take a poisonous draft lest by living longer she should happen to have a change in her good fortune."

Satisfaction guaranteed on bicycle repairing at Benj. Brown's. 124

A House to Rent

Mr. Landlord:

Are you getting as much rent from your houses as you should, as much as the other houses in the same neighborhood bring. If not,

There is a Reason

If you were renting a house for your own use would you pay as much for one from which the paint had nearly all peeled or chalked off, as you would for the one which showed the effect of the painter's brush.

Again do you realize that after the paint has worn off, that water soaks in and rots the wood. A house which is kept well painted will last many years longer than one that has been neglected.

Think it Over. Does your House need Painting

DeVoe's Lead and Zinc Paint

Will cover more surface and last longer than any other made. We sell it.

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

$22.50 FOR A GUARANTEED BICYCLE

With New Departure Coaster Brake

See this wonderful bargain in a Bicycle. I have in stock 40 Bicycles, and having bought them direct from the factory at a considerable cut in price, I am going to give you the benefit. In selling Bicycles in connection with my Harness business I can save you money. See this line and be convinced.

Benj. Brown

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at her farm one mile east of Norwood or 10 miles south of Charlevoix, on

Friday, April 12, 1912

Commencing at 1:00 p. m., the following described property:

Roan mare, weight 1350, age 14
Bay horse, weight 1100, age 12
Sorrel mare, weight 1350, age 14
Brown mare, weight 1300, age 13
Bay mare, weight 1200, age 5
Deering binder, new
McCormick mowing machine, 6 ft cut
McCormick hay rake
Parker plow
Springtooth drag
5-tooth cultivator
New lumber wagon, 3 1/2 inch tire
Narrow tire wagon
Pair logging sleighs, 3 inch runners

Open buggy
2 set brass trimmed working harness
Six good horse collars
Hay rack
450 pound capacity DeLaval Cream Separator
Barrel churn
Garland steel range
Good extension table
Some pine lumber
Whiffletrees and neckyokes
Hay rope and pulleys
Some forks, shovels and other articles too numerous to mention

TERMS OF SALE.

All sums of $5.00 or under, cash; all sums over $5.00, eight months' time on good approved bankable paper with interest at 7 per cent, payable at the Central Lake Exchange Bank. Five per cent discount for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

Mrs. Rosella Gennett, Prop.

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

Good Shoes

The kind that will stand the wear and tear of all kinds of weather—that's the kind we sell.

SMITH-WALLACE SHOES

are the best wearing shoes on the market today—that's the reason we handle them. We are out after the business and have the goods to back us up. We have the rubbers to go with the shoes and they are of the "wear long" variety.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor

320 Bridge Street Next to Bakers' Inn

Vegetables and Fruits

Your Easter dinner will not be complete without a supply of Fresh Fruits and Vegetables. We have

Squash, Cabbage, Beets, Pie Plant and Celery

We can fill that grocery and meat order, to your satisfaction; too. Give us a trial.

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE

Telephone 125 Antrim Street

THE WEARY WAY

Daily Becomes Less Wearisome to Many in Charlevoix.

With a back that aches all day, With rest disturbed at night, Annoying urinary disorders, Tired weary way, indeed, Don't's Kidney Pills drive weariness away.

Are endorsed by Charlevoix citizens. Henry Newman, 203 Sherman St., Charlevoix, Michigan, says: "I have used Don't's Kidney Pills procured at the Ivy Drug Store for kidney trouble and have received relief. I have been troubled for years by too frequent passages of the kidney secretions at night and I had backache. I read of Don't's Kidney Pills and got a box of the Ivy Drug Store. They gave me much relief. I can rest better and do not have much backache."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Don't's—and take no other.

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

Mrs. Albert Black is very sick. James Simpson visited Mr. and Mrs. James Neggison Monday.

D. N. Gregory and wife returned from their western trip last week.

Everett Berry of Wildwood visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Paquette Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Adams and family visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith Sunday.

Mrs. Ecklund is expected home this week from Chicago where she has been visiting her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dodd and family spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Arthur Beattie of Charlevoix.

A very pleasant surprise was given by Kathryn McGau last Friday evening to a number of her young friends. Refreshments were served and a good time had by all present.

Earl VanZant was pleasantly surprised Friday evening by a number of his young friends. Games were the main feature of the evening. Refreshments were served and a good time enjoyed by all.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Marion Center grange met with Sister Josephine Loggals Thursday afternoon. Nine members and five guests were present. After business was over a fairly lunch was served.

John Lane, St. Joseph, Mich., a member of A.W. Chapman Post, No. 21, G. A. R., was cured through the use of Foley's Kidney Pills. He says, "I tried various kidney remedies but all failed to help me until I took Foley's Kidney Pills and I can honestly say that they cured me completely. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf."

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

Mr. Butler, superintendent of the Boyne City schools, visited the Normal Wednesday morning. Mr. Butler gave a very interesting talk, his chief topics were: First, primary reading; second, primary arithmetic; and third, the sanitary conditions of the schools.

School was dismissed Wednesday afternoon in order to have the room cleaned.

Mr. J. H. Milford county commissioner of schools, called at the Normal room Wednesday forenoon. Mr. Milford's talk was chiefly concerning the local option campaign. Although it was over at the time, we were more deeply impressed with the struggle some of the leading people of the county had experienced.

Miss Hattie Bin, president of the class of 1911, and Miss Lila Shapton, class of 1911, who has been attending the State Normal at Mt. Pleasant, visited the Normal Thursday afternoon.

The Normal students from out of town spent their vacation on Monday at their respective homes.

As a result of our training in domestic science, we had our dinner at school on Thursday.

Marguerite Manger was called upon to substitute in a school near Springvale for three or four weeks.

Mrs. Delila Miles, of Tower, Mich., had a severe cough which hung on for weeks, doctored for it, but was not benefited. She says, "A friend advised Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and after using two bottles my cough was cured and I have never been bothered since. I gladly recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for all coughs and colds." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

C. H. S. NOTES.

Back at work again and everybody reports a capital vacation. There are a few indications of spring fever, however.

Have you the blues? Do you want them cured? Then come to the C. H. S. A. A. minstrel and comic comedy. It's one laugh just like the other one, only the last one is more prolonged. The famous southern quartette renders the old southern melodies in an artistic style. The comic comedy is filled with funny, circumstances. Don't forget the date, April 12, instead of 11, as printed on the ticket. Admission 25 and 35 cents. Seats reserved free at Central Drug Store.

Don't talk to the seniors. They are too busy. Commencement is looming into the distance only nine weeks!

OUR COUNTY FINANCES

As Reported by County Treasurer Lewis for the Month of February.

The report of the county treasurer for the month of February is as follows:

RECEIPTS
Balance on hand Feb. 1st, 1912	$11,776.48
Received from delinquent taxes	1,432.70
Received from delinquent taxes	1,432.70
Received from general fund	79.00
Received from our fund	100.00
Received from state and county taxes	6.25
Received from mortgage tax	35,285.61
Received from county clerk's costs in the case of the People vs. John Hall	24.00
Total	$53,952.34

DISBURSEMENTS
General fund	$1,605.91
Our fund	1,031.00
Circuit court orders	21.00
Prothonotary orders	20.00
Soldiers relief orders	101.75
Northgate tax, to State of Michigan	84.50
State of Michigan, state taxes	12,966.57
Balance on hand April 1st, 1912	$35,575.31
Total	$53,952.34

Dated, Charlevoix, Mich., April 1, 1912. RICHARD LEWIS, County Treasurer.

Common Council

Council Chamber, April 4, 1912. The common council for the city of Charlevoix met on the above date, Mayor pro tem Nordrum presiding.

Aldermen present, Swinton, Glassford, Nordrum, Rachow, and Geiken.

The council proceeded to canvass the vote cast at the annual city election held on the first day of April, 1912, with the following result:

The total vote cast for mayor was 598, of which Oluf Nordrum received 417 and Fred H. Thomas received 181.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Glassford that Oluf Nordrum, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of mayor. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for city clerk was 580, of which Ernest J. Hiller received 437 and William J. Higman received 143.

Moved by Ald. Glassford and seconded by Ald. Swinton that Ernest J. Hiller, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of city clerk. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for the office of city treasurer was 583, of which John Cook received 432 and Barney L. Harrington received 151.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Geiken that John Cook, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of city treasurer. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for supervisor of the first ward was 116, of which Frederick J. Meech received 97 and Benjamin Yetlow received 19.

Moved by Ald. Swinton and seconded by Ald. Glassford that Frederick J. Meech, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of supervisor of the first ward. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for the office of alderman of the first ward was 116, of which George W. Priest received 97 and John Curtis received 19.

Moved by Ald. Glassford and seconded by Ald. Swinton that George W. Priest, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of alderman of the first ward. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for the office of constable of the first ward was 115, of which John A. Timmer received 95 and Grant W. Kickert received 20.

Moved by Ald. Swinton and seconded by Ald. Glassford that John A. Timmer, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of constable of the first ward. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for the office of supervisor of the second ward was 200, of which Charles J. Zeitler received 200 (no opponent.)

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Glassford that Charles J. Zeitler, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of supervisor of the second ward. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for the office of alderman for the second ward was 203, of which William R. Barney received 187 and Albert Holmes received 16.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Glassford that William R. Barney, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of alderman of the second ward. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for the office of constable of the second ward was 203, of which Charles Hyers received 196 and Walter Daniels received 67.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Glassford that Charles Hyers, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of constable of the second ward. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for the office of supervisor of the third ward was 199, of which William Herschel Miller received 81, Edward B. Ward received 67, and Albert E. Mason received 51.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Glassford that Wm. Herschel Miller, having received the largest number of votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of supervisor of the third ward. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for the office of alderman of the third ward was 200, of which Geik C. Geiken received 113 and William W. Washburn received 86.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Glassford that Geik C. Geiken, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of alderman of the third ward. Motion carried.

The total number of votes cast for the office of constable of the third ward was 204, of which Charles Jelleries received 145 and George Reinhart received 59.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Glassford that Charles Jelleries, having received a majority of all the votes cast for said office, be declared elected to the office of constable of the third ward. Motion carried.

There being no further business the Council adjourned.

E. J. HILLER, City Clerk

The April Woman's Home Companion.

Kathleen Norris, who became famous as the author of "Mother," begins a new serial novel in the April Woman's Home Companion. It is a love story laid in California. Other fiction is contributed by Mary Stewart Cutting, Carolyn Wells, Mary E. Wilkins Freeman and Mary Hastings Bradley.

Among articles of note in the April Companion are the following: An autobiographical chapter by Howard Pyle, the great American artist; an account full of personal details of the life of Germany's present Crown Princess Cecilie, who is twenty-five years old and the mother of four children; "Making the most of Moving Pictures," an account of the moving picture business as an educational factor; "Getting Rid of the House Fly," "Good Health a Business Asset," in which the author gives much practical advice, particularly to women who work in business for a living; and an Easter talk by the pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle in New York City.

The regular household, fashion and home decoration departments are filled with new, interesting facts and suggestions. A notable contribution to the fashion department is entitled "A Day in New York With Miss Gould," in which Grace Margaret Gould, the well-known fashion editor of the Companion, takes the reader to see the new fashions at a smart modiste's, then to Fifth Avenue, where at afternoon tea the newest and latest gowns are to be seen, and in the evening to a theater, where more of the latest ideas in this line are exhibited.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear or a feeling of fullness, and when it is fully closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. No cure can be secured except by a method which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining.

We will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who can cure a case of deafness by natural means, and who can send us the name of the doctor used by him. Write to J. C. HENNEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio, for full particulars.

Don't hide your money

a burglar may be watching you

A burglar may have watched you hide that money. You may lose it. Put it in this bank, where it will be safe in our burglar and fire proof vaults—and from which you can withdraw it AT ANY TIME on demand. All your neighbors do this. Why not you.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

4% Interest Paid on Savings

CAPITAL, SURPLUS AND DEPOSITS $200,000.00
STATE DEPOSITORY

R. P. FOLEY, President

W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

Ford Cars Are Winners

More than one hundred thousand Ford Cars are in use today. More than four thousand individual Ford dealers are scattered over the entire United States and Canada today. I have taken the exclusive agency for Charlevoix and vicinity and solicit your business. If you are in the market for a car, I want to talk with you before you buy. Look at this

Ford Model "T" Four Door Touring Car

5 Passenger—4 Cylinder—20 Horse Power Car

Price: $690

Includes Extension Top, Automatic Brass Wind Shield, Speedometer, 2 six inch Gas Lamps, Generator, 3 Oil Lamps, Horn, Tools

WHERE CAN YOU DO BETTER

Ford Model Five is not a cheap car—it is the highest priced car in the world, none excepted. Yet, I am able to sell it at the lowest price. You are asked so buy a Ford for what it will do, based upon what it has done. Let me talk with you before you buy.

Theodore Erickson

Local Agent

$500 REWARD

OUR GUARANTEE

We will refund all money received for the rods and pay $500 reward to find a building burned by lightning with our rods on.

The Security Copper Tube Lightning Rod

has never failed to afford perfect protection from lightning, and gives general satisfaction in every respect.

It is the only Lightning Rod patented in the United States with Automatic Water Supply insuring a Perfect Ground Connection at all times, which is the most important part of any rod.

Our object is to furnish a rod that we can guarantee to be a full protection from lightning at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE.

Send for Catalog.

The Security Lightning Rod Co.

Burlington, Wis.

J. L. Warner, Agent
Elk Rapids, Michigan

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"

The Great Remedy for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, Neuritis, La Grippe and Kidney Trouble.

Applied externally, it relieves all pains and restores the system to a healthy condition. Sold by Druggists.

One Dollar per bottle, or sent prepaid upon receipt of price if not obtainable in your locality.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
168 Lake Street, Chicago

SWANSON'S PILLS
Best Remedy for Constipation, Stomach, Sour Stomach, Belching and Liver Trouble. 25¢ Per Box at Druggists.

SKIN SORES

Those who suffer from eczema, pimples, or other skin eruptions find the Five-Drop Salve a most effective remedy. It is a simple and effective remedy for all skin eruptions. It is a simple and effective remedy for all skin eruptions. It is a simple and effective remedy for all skin eruptions.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25 and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not obtainable in your locality you can order direct from Swanson M. C. Co., 168 Lake St., Chicago, Ill. and it will be sent postpaid upon receipt of price. It is an excellent remedy for cracked skin and chapped lips.

COSENDAY DYE WORKS

DRY CLEANERS
ESTABLISHED 1877
CLEANERS AND DYERS OF CARPETS
DRAPERIES, LACES AND GARMENTS
WRITE FOR PRICES
127-133 N. Jefferson Ave., Saginaw, Mich.

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plats on Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. B. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 120 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 261; residence 263.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. H. ARMSTRONG, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co's drug store, telephone No. 255. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

TELEPHONE 180 OR 45
To Get
O. W. POWERS
To do your
Plumbing, Heating and Tinning

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address: Central Lake, Mich. Phone 1000.

FRECKLES

By
Gene Stratton-Porter
COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO.

CHAPTER XX.

LOVE AS A REMEDY.

SHE caught Freckles' hand to her breast, and, bending over him, looked deep into his stricken eyes.

"Angel, I give you my word of honor that I will keep right on breathing. That's what you are going to promise me," she said. "Do you say it?"

Freckles hesitated.

"Freckles," imploringly commanded the angel, "you do say it!"

"Yes," gasped Freckles.

The angel sprang to her feet.

"Then that's all right," she said, with a finger of her old-time quickness. "You just keep saying away like a steam engine and I will do the rest."

The eager men gathered about her.

"It's going to be a tough job," said Freckles, "but I'll do it."

"You four there can go on those wagon horses and ride to the sleeping tent. Get the stonies, a couple of comforts and a pillow. Ride back with them some way to save time. If you meet any other men of the gang send them on here to help carry the cot. We won't risk the jolt of driving with him. The rest of you clear a path out to the road, and Mr. McLean, you take Scilla and ride to town. Tell my father how Freckles is hurt and that he's going to save me. Tell him I'm going to take Freckles to Chicago on the noon train and I want him to hold it if we are a little late. If he can't then have a special ready at the station and another on the Pittsburg at Fort Wayne, so we can go straight through. You needn't mind leaving us. The Bird Woman will be here soon."

When they stood ready to lift Freckles the angel bent over him in a passion of tenderness.

"Dear old Limberlost guard, we're going to lift you now," she said. "I suspect you will faint from the pain of it, but we will be just as easy as ever we can, and don't you dare forget your promise."

A whistling half smile touched Freckles' quivering lips.

"Angel, can a man be remembering a promise when he ain't knowing?" he asked.

"You can," said the angel stonily, "because a promise means so much more to you than it does to most men."

A look of strength dashed into Freckles' face at her words.

"I am ready," he said.

With the first touch his eyes closed, a mighty groan was wrenched from him, and he lay senseless. The angel gave Duncan one panic-stricken look. Then she set her lips and gathered her forces again.

"I guess that's a good thing," she said. "Maybe he won't feel how we are hurting him. Oh, boys, are you being quick and gentle?"

She stepped to the side of the cot and bathed Freckles' face. Tinkling his hand in hers, she gave the word to start. She told the men to ask every able-bodied man they met to join them so that they could change carriers often and make good time.

The Bird Woman insisted upon taking the angel into the carriage and following the cot, but the angel refused to leave Freckles and suggested that the Bird Woman drive ahead, pack them some clothing, and be at the station ready to accompany them to Chicago. All the way the angel walked beside the cot, shading Freckles' face and holding his hand. At every pause to change carriers she moistened his face and lips and counted each breath with heart-breaking anxiety.

"She scarcely knew when her father joined them, and taking the harness from her, slipped an arm about her waist, and almost-carried her along. To the city streets and the swarm of curious, staring faces she paid no more attention than she had to the trees of the Limberlost. When the train pulled in and the gang placed Freckles aboard, Duncan made a place for the angel beside the cot.

With the best physician to be found, and with the Bird Woman and McLean in attendance, the four hours run to Chicago began. Not far in the instant would the angel yield her place or allow any one else to do anything for him. The Bird Woman and McLean regarded her in amazement. The only time she spoke was to ask McLean if he was sure the special would be ready on the Pittsburg line. He replied that it was made up and waiting.

At 5 o'clock Freckles lay stretched on the operating table of Lake View hospital, while three of the greatest surgeons in Chicago bent over him. At their command, McLean picked up the unwilling angel and carried her out to the nurses to be bathed, her bruises attended to, and be put to bed.

In a place where it is difficult to surprise people, they were astonished when, as they removed the angel's dainty stained and torn clothing, pooled-off-hose-quick-turned-to-their heels, washed the dried loam from her alike hair and washed the beautiful, scratched, bruised, dirt-covered body. The angel fell fast asleep long before they had finished, and lay deeply unconscious, while the fight for Freckles' life was being waged.

Three days later she was up early and hovering near Freckles' door.

The surgeon was with him. The angel had been told that the word he brought that morning would be final, so she curled up in a window seat, dropped the curtains behind her, and, in dire anxiety, waited the opening of that closed door.

Just as it unfolded, McLean came hurrying down the hall and up to the surgeon, but with one glance at his face he stopped back in dismay, and the angel, who had risen, sank to the seat again, too dazed to come forward. The men faced each other. The angel, with parted lips and frightened eyes, bent forward in tense anxiety.

"I-I thought he was doing nicely," faltered McLean.

"He bore the operation well," replied the surgeon, "and his wounds are not necessarily fatal. I told you that yesterday, but I did not tell you that something else would probably kill him, and it will. He need not die from the accident, but he will not live the day out because he so evidently prefers death to life. If he were full of hope and ambition to live, my work would be easy. If all of you love him as you prove you do, and there is unlimited means to give him anything he wants, why should he desire death?"

"Is he dying?" demanded McLean.

"He is," said the surgeon. "He will not live this day out, unless some strong reaction sets in at once. He is so lost that, preferring death to life, nature cannot overcome his inertia. If he is to live, he must be made to desire life."

"Then he must die," said McLean.

"Does that mean that you know what he desires and cannot, or will not, supply it?"

"It means," said McLean desperately, "that I know what he wants, but it is far removed from my power to give it to him as it would be to give him a star. The thing for which he will die he can never have."

"Then you must prepare for the end very shortly," said the surgeon, turning abruptly away.

McLean caught his arm roughly.

"Look here!" he cried in desperation. "You say that as if I could do something if I would. I tell you the boy is dear to me just expression. I would do anything—spend any sum. You have noticed and repeatedly commented on the young girl with me. It is that child that he wants! He worships her to adoration, and knowing he can never be anything to her, he prefers death to life. In God's name, what can I do about it?"

"Barred that missing hand, I never handled a finer man," said the surgeon, "and she seems perfectly devoted to him, why cannot he have her?"

"Why?" echoed McLean. "Why? Well, for a good many reasons. I told you he was my son. You probably knew that he was not. A little over a year ago I had never seen him. He joined one of my lumber gangs from the road. He is a stray, left at one of your homes for the friendless here in Chicago. When he grew up the superintendent bound him out to a brutal man. He ran away and landed in one of my lumber camps. He has no name or knowledge of legal birth. The angels—we have talked of her. She has ancestors reaching back to Plymouth Rock and across the sea for generations back of that. She is an idolized, petted only child, and there is great wealth. He sees it more plainly than any one else could. There is nothing for the boy but death if it is the angel that is required to save him."

The angel stood between them.

"Well, I guess not," she cried. "If Freckles wants me all he has to do is to say so, and he can have me."

"That he will never say," said McLean at last, "and you don't understand, angel. I don't know how you came here. I wouldn't have had you hear that for the world, but since you have, dear, you must be told that it isn't your friendship or kindness Freckles wants; it is your love."

"Well, I do love him," she said simply.

McLean's arms dropped helplessly.

"You don't understand," he reiterated impatiently. "It isn't the love of a friend, or a comrade, or a sister, that Freckles wants from you; it is the love of a sweetheart. And if to save the life he has offered for you you are thinking of being contented and impulsive enough to sacrifice your future—in the absence of your father it will become my plain duty, as the protector in whose hands he has placed you, to prevent such rashness. The very words you speak and the manner in which you say them proves that you are a mere child and have not dreamed what love is."

"I have never had to dream of love," she said proudly. "I have never known anything else in all my life but to love every one and to have every one love me. And there has never been any one so dear as Freckles. If you will remember, we have been through a good deal together. I do love Freckles, just as I say I do. I don't know anything about the love of sweethearts, but I love him with all the love in my heart, and I think that will satisfy him."

"Surely it ought!" muttered the man of knives and tape.

"As for my father," continued the angel, "he at once told me what he learned from you about Freckles. I've known all you know for several years. That knowledge didn't change my love for him a particle. I think Freckles would love him more."

"Did you two have all the due perceptions there are? My father is never unreasonable. He won't expect me out to love Freckles, or not to tell him so, if the fellow will save him."

She darted past McLean into Freckles' room, closed the door and turned the key.

Freckles lay raised on a flint pillow, his body immovable in a plaster cast, his maimed arm, as always, motionless. The angel's heart ached at the change in his appearance. He seemed so weak, so utterly hopeless and alone. "She could see that the night had been one long terror."

For the first time she tried putting herself in Freckles' place. What would it mean to have no parents, no home, no name? No name! That was the worst of all. That was to be lost. Indeed—utterly and hopelessly lost. The angel lifted her hands to her dazed head and reeled as she tried to face that proposition. She dropped on her knees by the bed, slipped her arm under the pillow, and, leaning over Freckles, set her lips on his forehead. He smiled faintly.

"Dear Freckles," she said, "there is a story in your eyes this morning. Tell me?"

Freckles drew a long, wavering breath.

"Angel," he began, "the generous! Be thinking of me a little. I'm so homesick and worn out, dear angel, be giving me the back me promise. Let me go?"

"Why, Freckles?" faltered the angel. "You don't know what you are asking. Let you go? I cannot. I love you better than any one, Freckles. I think you are the very finest person I ever knew. I have our lives all planned. I want you to go to be educated and learn all there is to know about singing just as soon as you are well enough. By the time you have completed your education I shall have finished college, and then I want," she choked on it a second, "I want you to be my real knight. Freckles, and come to me and tell me that you—like me—a little. I have been counting on you for my sweetheart from the very first. Freckles, I can't give you up unless you don't like me. But you do like me—just a little—don't you, Freckles?"

Freckles lay whiter than the coverlet, his eyes on the ceiling and his breath wheezing. The angel awaited his answer a second, and when none came, she dropped her crimsoning face beside him on the pillow and wept pined.

"I LOVE YOU BETTER THAN ANY ONE, FRECKLES."

Freckles, I—I'm trying to make love to you. Can't you help me just a little bit? It's awful hard all alone. I don't know how, when I really mean it, but Freckles, I love you. I must have you, and now I guess—I guess maybe I'd better kiss you next."

She bravely hid her feverish, quivering lips on his. Her breath, like clover bloom, was in his nostrils, and her hair touched his face.

"Freckles," she panted, "Freckles, I didn't think it was in you to be mean."

"Mean, angel? Mean to you?" gasped Freckles.

"Yes," said the angel, "downright mean. When one kisses you, it you put any mercy at all you'd kiss back just a little bit. Now, I'm going to try it over, and I want you to help me a little. You aren't you sick to help me just a little, Freckles?"

CHAPTER XXI.

SEEKING A BIRTHRIGHT.

FRECKLES' shrewd list knotted into the coverlet. His chin pointed ceilingward and his head rocked on the pillow.

"Wait a bit, angel!" he begged. "The giving me a little time!"

The angel rose with controlled features. She dashed his face, straightened his hair and held water to his lips. It seemed an age before he reached to her. She took his hand and leaned her cheek upon it.

"Tell me, Freckles," she whispered softly.

"If I can," said Freckles, in biting agony. "It's just this. Angels are from above. Onlookers are from below. You're a sound body and you're been tilted of all. You have everything that loving, careful raising and money can give you. I have so much less than nothing that I don't suppose I had any right to be born. It's a sure thing—nobody wanted me afterward. So, of course, they didn't have some of them should have been reeling you long ago."

(Continued on page 4)

They're all Alike

Ask any man past fifty years of age and he will tell you of some time in his life when he was sailing high. Things were coming his way. There are few exceptions. Why is he poor now? Well, there are various reasons. One thing is sure. It is not because he placed his money in a sound bank and checked it out only when safe investments were secured. There are more ways to lose money than to make it. If you are making any money, no matter how small the amount, start the saving habit by opening a bank account.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Butters A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners
Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

Gypsine and Muresco Wall Finish

PAINTS OILS VARNISHES

Ranges, Oil and Gasoline Stoves

GRANITE AND TIN WARE

Very Best Woven Fence Wire

ROPE AND CORDAGE

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

A JEWEL

for all occasions will be found at C. R. Bellinger's. You can choose your wedding gifts and birthday offerings from the finest array of precious stones, gold jewelry that is a triumph of the goldsmith's art in all the latest and most unique designs, watches and fobs to suit all tastes and all purses.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's

$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, chemists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to obtain one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clearest money-making opportunities ever revealed. Without previous experience you can duplicate the success of others. Our thoroughly illustrated 20-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were plotting them through our factory. No appointment necessary. Receive advice and instructions for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't you be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling inducement, printed and necessary to duplicate our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars on perfecting our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

THE VICTOR SAFE & LOCK CO.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In fact, My Father's Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Healed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Weakness Into Health, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE. I CURE NERVOUS THROBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter of how long standing.

I CURE ITIS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc. by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerve to perfect health.

I CURE CONSTIPATION in 24 hours to any extent and to never return.

Years ago I made a special study of this disease for 20 years. I have cured hundreds upon hundreds of cases. I cannot treat it at home because of my small, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, in any case, liquor, morphine, cocaine, the opium or chronic habits. Most cases treated at home.

Any incurable ailment given best of care. May work unit for diagnosis you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once. I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

Any incurable ailment given best of care. May work unit for diagnosis you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once. I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M.D.
Holding Sanitarium & Retreat, Belling, Mich., or Sanitarium, Saginaw, Mich.

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
 A. J. USHER, Business Manager
 Courter Building VanPelt Place

OFFICIAL PAPER OF CHARLEVOIX

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
 One copy, one year, $1.50
 One copy, six months, .75
 One copy, three months, .40

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
 Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

Common Council

(Continued from page 1)

wheel at the last election in my behalf, all credit is due, and I desire to convey to you my sincere appreciation. And to those of my fellow citizens, who, for some reason, could not see things as the majority saw them, and who entertained other views during the campaign, to such I have but the kindest feeling and I expect to be your mayor also and I assure that you will receive at my hands due consideration in all matters pertaining to your rights. Let us pull together for the best interest of the city. My motto will be "A square deal for all and partiality to none." Upon this platform will I stand for the next twelve months. If you at any time should discover it to be otherwise, it will be not only your privilege but your duty to apprise me thereof.

It there should be in our midst any of the so-called "special interests" that are looking for "special favors" at the hands of the mayor, I might say to you frankly, at the very outset, "Be at once undeceived; there is nothing doing."

I take this opportunity to make it distinctly understood that during the ensuing year, it is my earnest desire and intention that the laws shall be strictly enforced. I assume that laws are made and recorded in the statute books for the purpose of enforcement, for the establishment, and the maintenance of a good and sound government? I believe we should endeavor to recognize the facts that the laws are the direct results of a strenuous labor, brain and money.

I desire to state also with considerable emphasis that I am exceedingly happy and elated to be able to congratulate myself that, in the course of events, I am not the mayor of a Pittsburgh, nor of a Gary, nor of any other city that has become so-called "famous" among the cities of the land, but that I am the mayor of the Great City of the North, "Charlevoix The Beautiful" whose inhabitants and summer residents comprise the best citizens of the country and its government can boast of a record without spot or blemish. Every member of the old council, I am proud to say, can stand before his fellow citizen and look him squarely in the face with clear conscience. Again, I say, I am proud of Charlevoix, and let us all put our shoulders to the wheel and keep up the good work, improve our sanitary conditions, make them absolutely safe from all danger of epidemics; put our streets and highways in the best of conditions for all traffic, commercial and otherwise, and let us say to our neighbors in the south "Come up to Charlevoix and share with us the blessings of the pure air, land and water; we will make it agreeable and pleasant for you."

It is a deplorable fact to admit that we have lost some of our valuable industries, the sugar and seed

YOU RISK NO MONEY

Our Reputation and Money Are Back of This Offer.

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. Could anything be more fair for you? Is there any reason why you should hesitate to put our claims to a practical test?

A most scientific common-sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. They are very pronounced, gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. They do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence, griping, or other inconvenience. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

Warn you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Three sizes, 10c., 25c., and 50c. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store, The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Michigan.

factories, which, for some reason, best known to themselves, have pulled up stakes and gone from among us.

We are pleased, however, to be able to say that we still have in our midst, the lumbering industry which has proven a very valuable asset to the city of Charlevoix. And the Rock Product Co., or better known as the cement plant, is with us employing a considerable number of men and I am sure has a very promising future.

May we not have the hearty cooperation of the Board of Commerce in the effort of retaining these industries and in the interest of the opening wide the gates of the city for others to come in.

Now take great pleasure in announcing the appointment of the following standing committees for the ensuing year:

1. Streets, sewers, parks and public buildings: Amos Webster, Frank M. Glassford and W. R. Barney.
2. Finance, purchasing, license and printing: W. J. Rachow, W. R. Barney and Amos Webster.
3. Police, fire and health: G. C. Geiken, Geo. W. Priest and W. J. Rachow.
4. Light, water and ordinance: Frank M. Glassford, Geo. W. Priest, G. C. Geiken.

You will note that, instead of having 8 or 9 different committees, the number has been reduced to only four with a single purpose in view of concentrating responsibility and I believe better results will be attained. You will also note that I have placed the old members of the council at the head of each committee, all of which I trust will meet with your hearty approval.

To the committee on streets, etc., I would request immediate attention to such streets as need repairs. Particular mention might be made of Belvedere Ave. As soon thereafter as might be practicable I would mention the street leading to the old ruins of the sugar factory, which might be put in better condition for travel. Thence, I would direct you from the sugar factory in a westerly direction to the cemetery on the "famous" Stover Road; give it a brace so that our vehicles may be safe from tipping over into the ditch. Then follow me in a northerly direction to the heart of the city, making a nice driveway for all concerned at a nominal expense. Permit me also to mention the little stub street leading down to the water and light plants. It needs "fixing" to say the least, so that our summer visitors and residents may have the privilege of visiting and inspecting our plants and public buildings. If we are ashamed of these plants let us build a high fence around them and put up the signs "No Admittance," but if we feel proud of them, let us build suitable roads to them and beautify the grounds. Special attention is hereby called to the speedy erection of a new hose house in order to properly care for the hose supply, a matter that has been before the council for more than a year. By all means let us spend a dollar where we can save two.

To the committee of finance and purchasing, etc.: It is unnecessary for me to enlarge upon the duties devolved upon this committee; its chairman is a widely recognized financier and the balance of the committee needs no instructions.

The purpose of adding to this committee the purchasing department is to better enable the finance committee to pass upon bills and we have reason to believe that this committee is well-qualified to act in the capacity of a purchasing agency for the city. Contracts for materials and supplies should be referred to this committee.

To the committee on police, fire and health: The enforcement of laws has already been discussed, and I ask your earnest cooperation. Your committee consists of one member in each ward. It is unnecessary for me to request that you have an eye open in your own ward, be on the alert wherever you are.

Look well after the fire department, keep a good spirit among the fire boys, give them the equipment needed; we depend on their efficiency for our protection.

The work began last fall by the former council in sanitary matters and which failed to develop on account of the severe weather conditions and for other reasons, must now be resumed and receive immediate attention. Our patience will surely be exhausted if these sewers are not properly connected by the 1st of July.

To the committee on light, water and ordinance: The lighting proposition in this city has assumed a serious aspect. A problem of quite a perplex nature will be up to this committee to solve in connection with the board of public works. We will have something to say about this later. In the meantime "go to it," give us light.

Relative to "ordinances" the chairman of this committee has had vast experience with ordinances and it would be useless for me to attempt to add a word of instructions along that line, only to say, "go slow."

To the board of public works: You are a recognized branch of the city government, having certain functions of vast importance to perform. The past year will go down in history as a comparatively busy year. May I ask your hearty cooperation with the council during the ensuing year. Let no selfish motive keep council and board apart but that all our acts may redound to the credit of the city and honor to ourselves.

In conclusion, Gentlemen of the Council, I greet you first of all as the law makers of the city of Charlevoix, elected by the people; and secondly, I greet you as the board of directors of the corporation known as the city of Charlevoix, chosen by the stockholders. As such you are required to meet in this room weekly to transact business, devise plans and review the work of the corporation; and thirdly, I greet you as duly appointed officers of the various departments, each one of you to look after your department to the best of your ability. I have the highest confidence in your ability and integrity. I ask you for results. I must have results.

Olaf Nordman, Mayor.
 There being no further business the council adjourned.
 E. J. HILLER, Clerk.

Team for Sale.

Team of young mares, 5 and 6 years old, in foal by Iron Duke. Cash or bankable paper. Inquire of R. C. North, phone 114. 114

SATURDAY NIGHT SERMONS
 BY
 REV. SAMUEL W. PURVIS, D.D.

ANDREW, THE BROTHERHOOD MAN.
 Text, "Andrew first findeth his own brother and bringeth him to Jesus."
 John 1, 41.

Two brothers in opening of Old Testament and two in beginning of New Testament—how widely different their attitude toward each other! Cain murders Abel, becomes an outcast and vagabond. Andrew finds Christ, then runs joyfully to find his brother to bring him to Jesus. We are particularly interested in these two fishermen disciples. Strange selection. We would have gone to Jerusalem among eminent scribes and rabbis. The call of Andrew had come of the supernatural elements of the call of Paul. Andrew was a disciple of John Baptist. One day as they were walking a striking figure passed before them. Breathless, the Baptist touched Andrew on the shoulder. "Behold the Lamb of God." Andrew and another followed Jesus. He turned, saw them and in answer to their inquiry where he dwelt said, "Come and see." It was the tenth hour. They were expected home. But they accepted his invitation and abode with him. In following Christ they "called" him as their new pastor. In the night with him alone they learned of his hopes, his plans, his plans. The next day saw an organization, simple, yet redolent of instantaneity, yet eternal. Read, between the lines? John and Andrew had unconsciously begun the first church of Jesus Christ on earth.

The Haul of the Net.

Andrew was a model convert. "The first found his own brother, Simon." Simon was probably out on the lake filling his boat with perch. "Simon, we have found the Christ." Simon raised the net, then the anchor, some perch were lost, but a Christ was found. "He brought him to Jesus." That was a fine catch, a big day's fishing. Andrew did not write a book nor preach a great sermon, but I imagine him standing in a corner with quiet satisfaction listening to Brother Peter on that day when 3,000 were added to the church.

"Get after Simon, brother, quick! Hundreds of people passed a church door on Sunday night where great preacher addressed empty benches. "Allow me to preach on front steps," he appealed to his official body. Their decision? "The hoodlums will swarm over our beautiful grass plot and ruin it!" What's the "grass plot" that keeps you from reaching Simon?

"For Who Can Tell What?"

Simon Peter was worth ten Andrews, so far as we can gather from sacred history. Yet Andrew was instrumental in bringing him to Jesus. Don't be disheartened, brother. If you seem called to a small place instead of leading a cheering convention to great victories, you are Andrew. Simon being one who has not found Christ. He may be your shopmate or your own brother. An unknown city salesman worker climbed the steps of a New York tenement, found a jillbird and his paramour and after many days led them to Christ. The missionary is unknown, but Jerry McAuley will influence two centuries at least. A poor, hopeless drunkard, who had tried suicide miserably in his despair, staggered through a New England town one night, when an obscure water tip ped him on the shoulder. "Puck, come over to our house to keep a meeting tonight." Joel Stratton's name is scarce known, but John E. Gough's name is known to a world. An Irish Sunday school teacher went to town of a Chicago safe house. "Twilight,

Special for
Saturday, April 13
 One Lot of Extra Quality Embroideries
 Values up to 35c grade, per yard 10c
 One lot of 27 inch Embroidery Flouncing
 Values up to $1 grade, per yard 50c
 Window display of these Bargains
M. A. LEVINSON & CO.

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT
 $15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
 $15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
 $1,000.00 for Loss of Limb or Eyesight
 $100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
 Cost $6.00 per year. No other Dues nor Assessments
 Old established Company with SHARABLE State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.
 Men and Women between 16 and 65 accepted, according to occupation.
 For further information address:
 AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY
 Dept. 19 Box 441 Erie, Pa.

you are one of my class, and I've been praying for you. Kneel with me right here behind these boxes and give yourself to Christ." Ezra Kendall was an Andrew going after Simon when he led Dwight L. Moody to Christ.

"As Same Tall Cliff."
 I like this quiet man. He was ooms-sung. The sun doesn't advertise its glory. The tulip beats no drums. The man who is quietly fixing one star in his heavenly crown may be doing more for the world than now is and that which is to come those some one who, amid blare of trumpets, is getting much public glory. We have Peter in the church. He promises and plans and exhorts. Whenever he appears there follows a gust of air. John is in the church, spiritual, dreamy, introspective, slow. Thomas is in the church, dubious, pessimistic, philosophical. Philip is in the church, mercantile, worldly, president of the official board. James is in the church, dominating, vindictive, severe. Matthew is in the church, he gives his minister a dinner once a year. Judas is in the church, he negotiates the sexton his wages and the preacher his salary. Mary is in the church, she has prayer in her eyes and contemplation on her brow. Martha is in the church, she spells pity with pity, despises rest for man or beast and cooks well enough for men or angels. But Andrew is needed most of all. We need his simple prayer and quiet testimony on Wednesday at the prayer meeting; on Sunday morning a lookout committee at the door catching the eye of strangers at Sunday school putting children on the head and binding a bag with his basket of loaves and fishes to God. I long for a look at Andrew of old, and when I get to heaven I shall hunt him up and ask him to usher me to the Lord as he did those Greeks to old time.

Subscribe For Minnesota Road. A petition for state aid is being circulated at Bemidji, Minn., in constructing a driveway around Lake Bemidji, a distance of fifteen miles, and including a bridge across the Mississippi river. The residents of the locality are also being canvassed for subscriptions, and most of the amount required is reported to have been secured.

GOOD ROAD MAXIMS.

- Good roads are civilizers.
- Good roads are educators.
- Good roads pay for themselves.
- Good roads mean additional profits for the farmer and cheaper products for the consumer.
- Good roads enhance the value of everything they touch and bring good returns to everything that travel them.
- Good roads are promoters of good health.
- Good roads will convert swamps into homesteads.
- Good roads double the value of adjacent farms.
- Good roads are the collectors of civilization.
- Good roads bind people together in industry, intelligence and patriotism.

"What should be done in a case of drowning?" asked the timid man who was learning to swim.
 "Well," replied the instructor, "should think the natural thing would be to have a funeral."—Puck.

We Recommend
Neponset Paroid Roofing
 A Roofing which is largely used in government and railroad construction work and is highly endorsed by all leading architects as a most durable and Satisfactory Roofing.
 Cheaper and better than Shingles
 Before you buy any other Roofing investigate
Paroid Roofing
 SOLD BY
CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

SEEDS ON HAND
SPELTS
BARLEY
COW PEAS
SPRING WHEAT
MILLET
SEED OATS
Argo Milling Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Mrs. Peter Vandermade was sick last week.

A. L. Fitch is out again after a short illness.

Anna Ager is the new clerk at Burdick's store.

Col. Jacob Rogers of East Jordan is in the city today.

Miss Louise Lindsley of Harbor Springs is visiting in the city.

R. W. Kane was in Petoskey on business the first of the week.

Clyde Conlter left Tuesday after spending a few days in the city.

Oluf Nordrum is attending the district convention, at Reed City.

Mrs. M. E. Heston visited at the home of A. L. Conlter over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nowland and son of Petoskey are visiting friends here.

Leon Miller, of Petoskey, visited at the parental home the first of the week.

Superintendent Butler of Boyne City was here the latter part of the week.

Hon. W. Mears of Boyne Falls spent Tuesday and Wednesday in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives at Ironton.

Mrs. John Bell is still very ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Burns.

A. G. Aldrich arrived home Monday from Cadillac, Grand Rapids and Chicago.

Leslie and Percy Crane, of the U. of M. are spending this week with their parents.

Glenn M. DuBois returned home Saturday from the south, where he spent the winter.

Prosecuting Attorney Fitch of East Jordan, was in the city the first of the week.

Carl Hines is working at the S. M. See & Sons Furniture store during Mr. See's absence.

Mrs. Fred Price returned Monday after an extended visit at Northport and Grand Rapids.

Cliff Burnett of Boyne City, was here attending the county board of canvassers Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wildern and the "twins" spent Sunday with friends at Petoskey.

There will be a special meeting of the Eastern Stars Wednesday, April 17, for new work.

Roy France returned Monday from Petoskey, where he attended the funeral of his father.

Mrs. Sarah Emery returned home Saturday from Florida where she spent the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson visited friends at Boyne City Monday, returning home Tuesday.

Homer Fitch was called home from Escanaba last week by the serious illness of his father.

Miss Lower returned from Mt. Pleasant Friday night, where she spent the spring vacation.

Mrs. Tooley of Boyne City, visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Fitch, last week.

The various teachers returned Monday after spending the vacation at their different homes.

Hugo Hampton is home from Ann Arbor, and is spending the Easter vacation with his parents.

L. E. Smith and wife, and Lee Smith and wife, are now occupying their new home on S. State Street.

Mrs. John Vaughn and family of Central Lake visited Mr. Vaughn at the home of S. M. Rose, over Sunday.

Mrs. Ella Tillotson was in Elk Rapids last week, where she had a class in instruction for the Macabees.

Mrs. Nally Crain has gone to Petoskey, where she will learn the hair dressing trade with Mrs. Cora Gray.

Z. A. Young and family have returned from Webster Groves, Mo. where they have lived for the past year.

Miss Mildred Johnson made a short business trip to Petoskey Monday, returning yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Butters arrived home Monday from Grand Rapids where they have been for some time.

Silas Swails has joined the rank of married men, having recently married Miss Myerina Lord of East Jordan.

Miss Grace Donohue who has been visiting at the home of R. A. Emery, left Monday for Stockholm, California.

Mrs. R. B. Armstrong and children arrived home Monday from Sault Ste. Marie where they have spent the past week.

Ainslie and Cleland Mayne arrived home Saturday from Ann Arbor, where they are attending the U. of M.

Will Vandermade of Petoskey was in the city the latter part of the week on a combined business and pleasure trip.

W. B. Marshall, wife and little daughter, Bernice, left this morning for Lansing, where they will visit relatives.

R. A. Emery and R. W. Paddock left last night for Reed City and Bay City to attend the district and state conventions.

Mrs. W. E. Hampton returned Monday night from Grand Rapids and Detroit, after a three week's visit at those places.

R. A. Emery, Oluf Nordrum, Lisle Shanahan and R. W. Paddock, attended the Lincoln banquet at Traverse City last week.

Mrs. L. M. Devoe returned home from Mt. Pleasant the first of the week, where she was called by the illness of her mother.

Joe Powers, who is on South Bend team of the Central League occupies the pitcher's box to-day in a game with Notre Dame.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational church will give a twenty-five cent supper on Wednesday, April twenty-fourth.

Miss Abbie King, a teacher in the Charlevoix schools, is the guest of friends in Boyne City, during her spring vacation.—Evening Journal.

Gay Lamphear returned home Saturday from Delant, Florida, where he has finished the architectural course in the Stetson University.

Miss Adeline Hotly returned home Saturday from Daytona, Fla., where she spent the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Elston expect to remain there for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Scroggie, Jr., and son Voldean, visited at Cross Village last week. Mr. Schneider a brother of Mrs. Scroggie, returned with them.

Charles See has been very sick the past week with rheumatism. He is at the Saville Sanitarium, at Petoskey, and is feeling somewhat better today.

Mrs. P. D. Campbell arrived home the latter part of the week from California where she spent the winter, having visited at several places on the way home.

C. Fred Miller, who has been in the employ of the Conlter all winter, leaves Thursday for Concord, New Hampshire. Roy France of Petoskey will take his place.

Members of the Charlevoix Historical Society will please notice that the last meeting of the year will occur on April 19th, having been postponed for one week.

About twenty of our young people who have at some time attended the Ferris Institute, had dinner at the Elston Sunday with G. Masselink of Big Rapids, an instructor in the Institute.

Claire Conlter arrived home Friday from Ann Arbor, where he has been attending the U. of M. He will remain here ten days, then will leave for California to be employed by a large seed firm.

Frank Metcalf of the Ivy Drug Store, returned last Tuesday from a short business trip to Grand Haven and Grand Rapids. While gone Mr. Metcalf purchased a new soda fountain, which will soon be installed in his store.

Last month was the coldest March on record in northern Michigan. The mean temperature was 25 degrees, or 8 below the normal. There were 9 sunny days, 9 partly cloudy and 13 cloudy. 15 inches of snow fell and there is still plenty on the ground for sleighing.

An experienced teacher says that pupils who have access to newspapers at home, when compared with those who do not, are better readers, better spellers, better grammarians, better punctuators, and read more understandingly, and obtain a practical knowledge of geography in almost half the time it requires others. The newspaper is decidedly an important factor in modern life. This will not be disputed by any one who has taken the trouble to investigate the matter for himself.

Wanted.

Best cash offer for the old Tom Palmer place, lots 11, 12 and 13, block 7 plat of Mt. McAnbe. Good house and barn, chicken house, well house, and good well of water with pump, two lots. Address J. W. Farleigh, 21 West Garfield Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

Beans for Sale.

Small quantity of call beans for feeding. Inquire of I. E. Benton.

"CHARLEVOIX FARM"

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Chapel Name Farm After Old Home.

A postal card received at this office Saturday from Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Chapel states that their future address will be Grant's Pass, Route 3, instead of Woodville, Oregon, as formerly. They also stated that the name of the town near them formerly known as Woodville has been changed to Rogue River, and wished this fact to be remembered by their friends, contemplating going the e, to get off at Rogue River station.

The name of their farm, which was formerly known as "Three Oaks," has been changed to "Charlevoix Farm." From the postal we gather that all farms in Oregon have names, which are registered, a small fee being charged, and only one farm of each name is allowed in the state. The postal stated that they were well and happy, and the climate was delightful.

WAS A RARE MUSICAL TREAT

Sacred Cantata "Ruth" at Congregational Church Held Monday Evening.

On Monday evening, at the Congregational church, the Charlevoix Choral Society in its artistic rendition of the sacred cantata "Ruth" by A. R. Gaul, furnished one of the musical treats of the year. Rev. H. A. Putnam gave simply, though graphically, the Biblical story of Ruth, which has, for so many ages, appealed to its readers because of its portrayal of the loyalty of an unselfish love.

The chorus of sixteen voices wrought out their director's skillful interpretation of the particularly melodious music.

Mrs. Ira Adams as Ruth, Mrs. Warren Rachow as Naomi, Miss Mary Clark as Orpah and Dr. Allen Wilkinson as Boaz were at their best and sang with feeling and ability.

Miss Madeline Mullen at the organ and Mrs. A. J. Davison at the piano, in their accompaniments, greatly enhanced the artistic effect of the whole.

To Mrs. A. L. Conlter, who directed with great efficiency, is due in a large measure, the success of this entertainment.

Long live the Charlevoix Choral Society.

Building For Sale.

A large frame building on Belvedere Avenue formerly occupied by Barth as a boiler shop. See adv. in bargain column for description. 101f

SPECIAL EASTER SERVICES

Held in the Different Charlevoix Churches Sunday, April 7, 1912.

On Sunday evening at five o'clock the Easter services were held at the M. E. church, with a very large attendance.

The flowers added to the occasion, and everyone left imbued with the spirit of springtime.

The program was especially planned for the little folks and was all that could be expected in the way of good music and recitations.

BAPTIST.

The Baptist church held special Easter services Sunday evening with extra music and other entertainment.

CONGREGATIONAL.

Although Easter morn was cold and blustery it was celebrated at the Congregational church as was announced in last week's paper.

The music rendered was especially inspiring, consisting of solos, quartettes and choruses, as was the Easter sermon by Rev. Putnam, it having a special thought and lesson for each one.

The services as a whole were interesting and pleasing to all.

Contract Beans.

J. K. Cooper will write contracts for Chatterton & Son, Mt. Pleasant. Pay the grower $1.75 and $2.00 per bushel on hand picked basis, or the grower can take the market price—this is at your own option. I will have on hand grass seed, clover and alfalfa, which you can buy at right prices.

Farm For Sale.

Forty-six acre farm, all under cultivation but two acres, good house and barn, three acres fruit, in Eveline township, six miles from Charlevoix, one mile southwest of Ironton, on East Jordan and Charlevoix road. Inquire of Charles Zeitler.

For Sale.

A few choice breeding pairs of Barred Plymouth Rocks for breeding purposes at common prices. Also eggs for hatching. Inquire of J. A. Auld.

WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE

Governor Osborn Will Not Ask For Second Term.

Secretary of State Martindale, Amos S. Musselman, and Others in the Field.

In a formal announcement issued Monday Governor Osborn positively refuses to be considered as a candidate for a second term. In making his withdrawal irrevocable the governor points out that he is consistent with his original declaration more than a year ago for a single term.

In a long statement issued Governor Osborn finds justification for the claim that a great portion of his pledges to the people have been redeemed and where he has not succeeded in certain reforms advocated, he has been able to put in an entering wedge that will bring results.

Governor Osborn's withdrawal was the signal for Amos S. Musselman of Grand Rapids to enter the race and it is supposed that Patrick H. Kelley, Milo D. Campbell and others may get into the game. Secretary of State Martindale has been an active candidate for several months, and the republicans of Michigan are assured of a good field of candidates from which to pick a winner.

NEW FOLDER OUT

Pere Marquette Railroad Preparing for Summer Business.

The new folder for 1912 issued by the passenger department of the Pere Marquette, under the title of "Michigan Summer Resorts," is certainly one of the finest compilations of its kind ever issued. As a guide to the summering places in the lake and river regions of the state of Michigan, it is complete, nothing having been omitted from its pages that a resorter would wish to know in regard to the best places to spend the summer.

It also contains all the necessary information as to the schedules of trains with the fares to any destination in the resort section of the state and accommodations afforded at these localities. The book contains 45 pages and contains maps and illustrations of the beauty spots of Michigan.

THEATRICAL

Although the vaudeville stage claims a great many novelties, it is declared seldom that one of the standard of Tillis Marionettes, which will be featured at the Majestic theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, has ever been seen in this city. It is announced to be so different from others that it is expected to create much interest among local theatre goers, not to say anything of its laughing qualities, which are many. It will be an act that the young and old will enjoy. Matinee Saturday afternoon. Watch for announcement on bills.

Good Printing means Business.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 10c first insertion.

WANTED—Good chore man. Hotel Elston.

FOR SALE—A Wagon just overhauled. Argo Milling Co.

WANTED—Hired girl for family of three. No washing. Inquire at express office.

FOR SALE—Two houses and lots, corner Arthur and State streets. Will sell at a bargain. Inquire Harrison Bedford.

FOR SALE—House located corner Michigan and Petoskey avenue known as "Cosy Corner." Inquire at home.

TO EXCHANGE—For fresh eggs or wood or for sole, helle, springs, mattresses, cushions, chamber sets, etc. Hotel Elston.

FARM FOR SALE—50 acres 3 miles north-east of Charlevoix, 10 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write D. W. Mahoney, P. O. box 133.

WANTED—Good live man to take the Agency for our line of gold watches, sold direct to consumers. Write for particulars. THE STAR WATCH CO., Lansing, Michigan.

FOR SALE—The large frame building in Charlevoix known as the Park Hotel, shop, to be removed by buyer from present premises. Can be bought cheap if taken at once. See Robert W. Kane at Charlevoix, or W. H. Aldrich, Room 104, Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill.

CRANE'S

MATTING SALE

FOR

Saturday, April 13 ONLY

We have a quantity of 25x30 fine Japanese cotton warp Mattings in plain and fancy patterns. None worth less than 25c. Many of these are large enough to cover small rooms.

Saturday, April 13 One Day Only

10c yard

We Must Have Money

7 Day Day Offer For Cash Only April 11 to April 18

30c Broom	19c
40c and 50c Brooms	33c
Two 5c pkgs Bazaar Matches	5c
10c pkg Sun cured Tobacco	5c
1 pound Teller Quality Coffee	25c
1-2 pound Sweetheart Tea	20c
2 pounds 15c Tea Siftings	25c
2 pounds 15c Prunes	10c
12 bars Calumet Soap	25c
Large can Peasant Salmon	15c
Two 20c cans Sledge Salmon	35c
3 cans 10c Soup	25c
Two 15c cans Payne Tomatoes	25c
Six 5c cans Milk	25c
3 10c bottles Ammonia	25c
3 10c bottles Blueing	25c
6 pounds bulk Gloss Starch	25c
4 pounds Quaker Corn Starch	25c
4 pounds A & H Soda	25c
3 cans Lima Beans	25c
3 cans 10c Beans	25c
3 cans Coral Corn	25c
3 cans 10c Sliced Peaches	25c
3 cans Crushed Oranges	25c
3 cans Pork and Beans	25c
100 pounds Michigan Sugar	$6.25

Shoes and Groceries very Cheap for 7 days only

Bert Mason Cash Grocer

Home Course In Road Making

II.—Advantages of Improved Roads.

By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department
of Agriculture.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912.

NO road is as expensive as a bad road. We spend about $100,000,000 a year on our roads, and they are costing us in addition a bad roads tax of at least $250,000,000 annually. It actually costs the average farmer as much to haul a bushel of wheat from his farm to the railroad as it does to ship it from New York to Liverpool, 3,100 miles.

The loss to the people of the United States annually on account of bad roads would more than pay for their general and widespread improvement. The burden of bad roads lies heavily upon the shoulders of the entire people, for such roads diminish the profits of the farmer because he must haul fewer loads, make fewer trips and market his products when the roads are passable and not when prices are best. They are a burden which compels the consumer in the city to pay heavily, not to swell the farmer's earnings, but to help the farmer to pay the money value of the absolute waste of energy and property due to bad roads.

UNIMPROVED EARTH ROAD—MAXIMUM LOAD FOR TWO HORSE TEAM, ONE BALE OF COTTON, 500 POUNDS.

There would be an immediate and tangible saving by road improvement in reducing the cost of hauling. How much this saving would amount to in dollars and cents would depend upon the character and extent of the improvement and the amount of traffic passing over the road.

In 1908 the railroads of the United States handled about $90,000,000 tons of freight originating on the respective railroads. Of this amount about $65,000,000 tons represented agricultural, forest and miscellaneous products, all of which moved over the country roads at initial or terminal points or both.

The average haul from farms to shipping points in the United States is about nine and one-quarter miles. The average cost of hauling on the country roads is about 23 cents per ton per mile. The total cost of hauling $45,000,000 tons would therefore be about $2.16 per ton, or a total of $97,200,000.

The possibilities of saving by the improvement of the roads may be understood when we compare the cost of hauling in Germany, France and England with the cost of hauling in this country. The average in these three countries is about 10 cents per ton per mile, and in many cases it is as low as 7 cents. If we cut the rate in the United States exactly in half by the improvement of our main roads we would still be 12 cents over the average for the three European countries named. If we could do this it follows that our annual saving would be in the neighborhood of $250,000,000 on hauling alone.

The wear and tear on horses and vehicles due to bad roads may seem a trivial matter until we take into consideration the fact that there are about 25,000,000 horses and mules in the United States, valued at $2,770,000,000, and about 1,500,000 carriages, wagons and wagons, valued at about $85,000,000. If by the improvement of the roads the vehicles would last one year longer and if one-tenth of the amount paid out for repairs were saved the resultant sum would run far into the millions.

Property is much more valuable on an improved road than on an unimproved road. This increase in the value of the land adjacent to the improved road has been sufficient in many cases to pay for the improvement. An effort has been made to estimate the general increase in land values due to improved roads, and the average has been placed at somewhere between $2 and $9 per acre. There are positively thousands of examples where farms have been sold at an increase of from $50 to $200 per acre over their value before road improvement.

An investigation recently made in Ohio shows that there are sixteen agricultural counties in the state that have less than 10 per cent of the roads improved, while there are forty-five agricultural counties that have more than 10 per cent improved. The average price of farm lands in the sixteen counties, according to the report of the United States census, was $48.50 per acre, while the average price of land in the forty-five counties was $65.79 per acre. In other words, the average price of farm lands in the good road counties was $17.29, or 35 per cent more than in the poor road counties. When we consider the fact that there are 873,000,000 acres of farm lands in the United States the possibilities along this line are rather startling. Even assuming that the land would be increased only $5 an acre the total enhancement on farm lands alone would be $4,365,000,000.

Improved roads will yield an additional income by enabling the farmer to cultivate with profit land which otherwise would be less profitably employed.

There are about 400,000,000 acres of unimproved farm land in the United States. An average annual profit of 50 cents an acre on this land would mean a net gain to the wealth of the United States of $200,000,000 a year.

Truck products and small fruits must be delivered quickly to market if any profit is to be realized. Truck and small fruit farms cannot be maintained with profit if a long haul over bad roads intervenes between them and the railroad station. A new set of first class hard smooth roads will at once immediately increase the number of truck, fruit and dairy farms in any community. While the average value of wheat per acre is only $7.02 and corn $8.72, the average value of vegetables per acre is about $10 and of small fruits $90.

There is a steady trend of population from the country to the city, and this may be attributed to some extent to bad roads. During the ten year period 1890-1900 the cities gained 2,171,000 more people than the country. In 1890 only 16.1 per cent of the population lived in cities, in 1900 the city population represented about 31 per cent of the total, and now it is probably about 45 per cent.

With hundreds of millions of acres of land uncultivated we have the spectacle of hundreds of thousands of human beings crowded into the cities while year after year the human tide rolls restlessly in from the country to furnish more consumers and decrease the number of producers.

To prove that a relation exists between the question of population and roads the following illustration may be cited:

In twenty-five counties selected from eastern, southern, western and north western states it has been found that only 12 per cent of roads were improved in 1901. These same counties show an actual decrease in population averaging 3,112 for each county for the ten year period 1890-1900. Twenty-five other counties located in the same states containing 40 per cent of improved roads show an actual increase in population for each county of 31,035.

Whether good roads cause population, or vice versa, it is true that they exist together and that one of the most important reasons for their improvement is their effect on school attendance in the country. If the country schools are to have a maximum of efficiency in training and instruction the children must be afforded facilities for reaching them. With improved roads the graded school and the consolidated school will replace the little one room one teacher schools so prevalent in many sections of the country.

The possibilities of a region of improved roads are made apparent by many examples of schools which operate wagons regularly, which gather up the pupils and carry them to and from school. When the roads are placed in such condition as to make this practice general a tremendous impetus will be given to education in the United States. To illustrate this phase of the subject the following example may be cited: In five states conspicuous for their good roads there was in 1904 an average school attendance of 77.13 per cent, while in five other states having exceptionally bad roads the average was only 59.16 per cent. Furthermore, it has been ascertained that in the five states having an exceptionally high percentage of improved roads the white illiterates formed only three-quarters of 1 per cent of the total population, while in the five states which showed a scarcely appreciable amount of road improvement the white illiterates formed 4 1/2 per cent of the total population, a percentage six and a half times as great as in the former case.

WELL-BUILT MACADAM ROAD—MAXIMUM LOAD FOR TWO HORSE TEAM, TWELVE BALES OF COTTON, 6,000 POUNDS.

His Luck.

Tom—How did Dick get run over?
Jack—He was picking up a horse shoe for luck.

How to Keep Cut Flowers.

Flowers always make a lovely gift and will keep fresh several days if the following precautions are taken: Dip the ends of the stems in melted paraffin wax and carefully wrap the flowers with sheets of cotton. Line the box with waxed paper, being careful to leave plenty to fold over the flowers. Place them in the box, cover over with the paraffin, wrap with several thicknesses of brown paper, and they are ready to express.

A Mother's Care.

A careful mother will not give her child a medicine without knowing it is pure, contains no opiates, and has healing and curative qualities. Such a medicine is Euley's Cough and Croup Compound for croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, and all affections of the throat and chest and lungs. Best and safest for children and grown persons. Contains no opiate. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Everything In Stock.

"I want some lawn."
"Yes'm. For a dress or for a front yard?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

LEGAL NOTICES

AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS

In accordance with Article 10 of the By-Laws of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, said article being entitled "Amendments," it is hereby given that proposals for amending said By-Laws have been received and submitted to the Board of Directors at the annual meeting of the Bureau, to be held at the Hotel of the Board in Traverse City, Mich., Wednesday, May 1, 1912, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Directors.

Resolved: That Article 7 of the By-Laws be changed to read as follows: "There shall be a majority of the members of the Board of Directors, of not less than two (2) persons in this Bureau, and from the representatives of each of the transportation companies doing business in the territory, also two representatives from the Western Michigan Press Club." Balance of said Article 7 read as amended.

Board of Control.

Resolved: That Article 10 of the By-Laws be changed to read as follows: "Should a majority of the newly elected Board of Directors be present at the annual meeting, a meeting of the Board of Control shall convene immediately upon adjournment of the annual meeting, for the purpose of electing officers and for the transaction of such other business as may legally come before it. In case a majority of the newly elected directors shall not be present at the annual meeting, the secretary shall call a meeting of the Board of Control to be held on the first Wednesday of May following the annual meeting, notice of such meeting to be given in writing by the secretary to each director. A majority of the Board of Control shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for any regular or special meeting." Dated April 1, 1912.

WESTERN MICHIGAN DEVELOPMENT BUREAU.
N. H. BAY, President
John L. Gibson, Secretary

Notice.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the plans, plats, diagrams, specifications and estimates of cost of the proposed public lighting and constructing of a sewer, including all the necessary ventilations, gutters, man-holes, catch-basins, laundry cesspools, flush-trunks, including all necessary attachments, on Nettleton street, from the north line of Dixon avenue, north to the center of Pottery street, thence east on Pottery street to a point opposite the center of lot five (5) of block four (4) of Fox and Eaton's recorded plat of the Village, now city of Charlevoix, Michigan, have been deposited with the City Clerk for public examination, and the right to be assessed by said improvements, must be paid. All lots, parts of lots, lands and premises abutting and fronting on either side of the center of Pottery street, from the north line of Dixon avenue to the center of Pottery street, and all lots, parts of lots, lands and premises abutting and fronting on either side of Nettleton street, from the center of lot five (5) of block four (4) of Fox and Eaton's recorded plat of the Village, now city of Charlevoix, except from the above all public streets and alleys.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet in the council room on the 6th day of April, A. D. 1912, at 7:30 o'clock in the afternoon, to consider any obligations to the proposed public improvement.

Dated this 24th day of March, A. D. 1912.
ERNEST J. HILLER, City Clerk.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage, bearing date the 21st day of March, A. D. 1900, made by Morris L. Woody and Jennie S. Woody, his wife, of Marquette township, Charlevoix county, Michigan, to William Peters, who is also known as W. M. Peters, of the said place, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1900, in Book 8 of mortgages on page 261, and which mortgage was duly assigned by the said William Peters, as W. M. Peters, to C. M. Whitford & Sons Company of Charlevoix, Michigan, by deed of assignment bearing date the 21st day of November, A. D. 1900, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, November 13th, A. D. 1900, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, a corporation, to said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated March 28, A. D. 1902, and recorded in the Register of Deeds office for said county of Charlevoix, on the 29th day of March, A. D. 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to Louis Winkelman, of St. Ignace, Michigan, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, and recorded on the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said Louis Winkelman, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said C. M. Whitford & Sons Company, to the said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated the 21st day of May, 1902, in Book 11 of mortgages on page 125, and which mortgage was again assigned by the said William Peters, to the said C. M. Whitford & Sons

FRECKLES

By Gene Stratton-
Porter

COPYRIGHT, 1904 BY DOUBLEDAY
PAGE & CO

(Continued from page three)

"If that's all you have to tell, Freckles, I've known that quite awhile," said the angel stoutly. "Mr. McLean told my father, and he told me. That only makes me love you more; to pay for all you've missed."

"Then I'm wondering at you," said Freckles, in a voice of awe. "Can't you see that if you were willing and your father would come and offer you to me, I couldn't be touching the soles of your feet, in love-me, whose people bawled over me, cut off my hand, and threw me away to freeze and to die? Me, who has no name just as much because I've no right to any, as because I don't know it? When I was little, I planned to find me father and mother when I grew up. Now I know me mother deserted me, and me father was maybe a thief and sure a liar. The pity of me suffering and the watching over me has come to your head, dear angel, and it's me must be thinking for you. If you could be forgetting me lost hand, where I was raised, and that I had no name to give you, and if you would be taking me as I am, some day people such as mine must be might come upon you. I used to pray every night and morning and many times the day to see me mother. Now I only pray to die quickly and never risk the sight of her. 'Tain't no ways possible, angel; it's a wildness of your dear head. Oh, do, for mercy sake, kiss me once more and be letting me go!"

"Not for a minute!" cried the angel. "Not for a minute. If those are all the reasons you have, there are thousands of young couples who come to this country and start a family with none of their relatives here. Chicago is a big city, and grown people could be wiped out in a lot of ways, and who would there be to find to whom their little children belonged? It's all so plain to me. Oh, if I could only make you see!"

She hurried her face in the pillow and presently lifted it, transfixed.

"Now I have it!" she cried. "Oh, dear heart, can you make it so plain? Freckles, can you imagine you see the old Limberlost trail? Well, when we followed it, you know, there were places where ugly prickly thistles overgrew the path, and you went ahead with your club and bent them back to keep them from stinging through my clothing. Other places there were great shining pools where lovely, snow white lilies grew, and you waded in and gathered them for me. Oh, dear heart, don't you see? It's this. Everywhere the wind carried that thicketed, prickly or thistles sprang up and grew prickly and wherever those lily seeds sowed to the mire the pure white of other lilies bloomed. But, Freckles, there was never a place anywhere about the Limberlost, or in the whole world, where the thistledown dotted and sprang up and blossomed into white lilies. Thistles grow from thistles and lilies grow from lilies. Hear Freckles, think hard: You must see it. You are lily, straight through; you never, never could have drifted from the thistles."

"Where did you get the courage to go into the Limberlost and face its terrors?" You inherited it from the blood of a brave father, dear heart. When did you get the pluck to hold on over a year a job that few men would have taken at all? You got it from a plucky mother, you bravest of boys. You waded single handed into a man almost twice your size and fought like a demon, just at the suggestion that you could be deceptive and dishonest. Could your mother or your father have been intruders? There you are, so hungry and starved out that you are dying for love. Where did you get all that capacity for loving? You didn't inherit it from hardened, heartless people who would disgrace you and purposely leave you to die. That's one sure thing. Yet you will spend miserable years torturing yourself with the idea that your own mother might have cut off that hand. Shame on you, Freckles! Your mother would have done this!"

The angel deliberately turned back the cover, slipped up the sleeve and laid her lips on the scars.

"Freckles," she cried, "come to you senses! Be a thinking, reasoning man! You just must see it. Like breeds like in this world: You must be some sort of reproduction of your parents, and I am not afraid to claim for them, not for a minute."

"And then, too, if more proof is needed here it is: Mr. McLean says that you are the most perfect gentleman he ever knew, and he has traversed the world over. Then there's your singing. I don't believe there ever was a mortal with a sweeter voice than yours, and while that doesn't prove anything there is a point that does. Just the little training you had from that choirmaster won't account for the wonderful accent and ease with which you sing. Somewhere in your close blood is a mysteriously trained vocalist; so every one of us knows that. Freckles, why does my father tell me to constantly be true to the people and to honor? Because you are Freckles. Why does the Bird Woman leave her precious work and sit here to tell me after you?"

heard of her coming any time over any one else. It's because she loves you. And why does Mr. McLean turn all of his valuable business over to hired men and watch over you personally? And why is he hunting excuses every day to spend money on you? My father says McLean is full Scotch close with a dollar. He is a hard headed business man. Freckles, and he is doing it because he finds you worthy of it. Worthy of all we can all do and more than we know how to do, dear heart! Freckles, are you listening to me? Oh, won't you see it? Won't you believe it?"

"Oh, angel," chuckled the bewildered Freckles, "are you truly meaning it? Could it be?"

"Of course it could," flashed the angel, "because it just is!"

"But you can't prove it," warned Freckles. "It ain't giving me a name or me a job?"

"Freckles," said the angel sternly, "you are unreasonable! Why, I can prove every word I said; everything proves it. You look here: If you know for sure that I could give you your name and your honor, and prove to you that your mother did love you, why then would you just go to breathing like perpetual motion and buzz on for dear life and get well?"

A great light leaped into Freckles' eyes.

"If I knew that, angel," he said, "I couldn't be killing me. You told the biggest tree in the limberlost to smother me!"

"Then you go right to work," said the angel, "and before night I'll prove one thing to you: I can show you easily enough how much your mother loved you. That will be the first step, and then the rest will all come!"

Freckles caught her sleeve.

"Me mother, angel! Me mother!" he murmured hoarsely. "Did you say you could be finding out today if me mother ever loved me? How? Oh, angel! All the rest don't matter, it only me mother or didn't she?"

"Then you rest easy," said the angel, with much confidence. "Your mother didn't do it. Mothers of sons like you don't do such things as that. I'll go to work at once and prove it to you. The first thing to do is to go to that home where you were and get the little clothes you wore the night you were left there. I know that they are required to save those things carefully. We can find out almost all there is to know about your mother from them. Did you ever see them, Freckles?"

"Yes," said Freckles.

The angel literally pounced on him.

"Freckles, were they white?" she cried.

"Maybe they were once. They're all yellow with lying, and brown with blood stains now," said Freckles, the old note of bitterness creeping in. "You can't be telling anything at all, my mother, angel!"

"Well, but I just can't," said the angel positively.

"But how? Angel, tell me how?"

"Why, easily enough. I thought you'd understand. People that can afford anything at all, always get white for little new babies—linen and lace and the very finest things to be had. There's a young woman living near us who cut up her wedding clothes to have fine things for her baby. Mothers that love and want their babies make fine seams, and tucks, and put on lace and trimming by hand. They sit and stitch, and stitch—little, even stitches, every one just as careful. Their eyes shine and their faces glow. When they have to quit to do something else, they look sorry, and fold up their work so particularly. They don't much worth knowing about your mother that those little clothes won't tell."

A new light dawned in Freckles' eyes.

"Oh, angel! Will you go now? Will you be hurrying?" he cried.

"Right away," said the angel. "I won't stop for a thing, and I'll hurry with all my might!"

She smoothed his pillow, straightened the cover, gave him one steady look in the eyes, and went quietly from the room.

Outside the door, McLean and the surgeon anxiously awaited her. McLean caught her shoulders.

"Angel, what have you done?" he decried desperately.

The angel smiled defiance.

"What have I done?" she repeated. "I've tried to save Freckles."

McLean groaned.

"What will your father say?" he cried.

"It strikes me," said the angel, "that what Freckles said would be to the point."

"Freckles," burst out McLean. "What could he say?"

"He seemed to be able to say several things," said the angel sweetly. "I fancy the one that concerns you most at present was, that if my father would offer me to him he would not have me!"

"And no one knows why better than I do!" thundered McLean. "Every day he must astonish me with some new baseness."

He glipped the surgeon until he almost lifted him from the door.

"Save him!" he commanded. "Save him!" he implored. "He is too fine to be sacrificed!"

"His salvation lies here," said the surgeon, stroking the angel's sunshiny hair, "and I can read in the face of her that she knows how she is going to work it out. She will save him!"

The angel slipped unobtrusively down the hall, and into the street, just as she was.

them," she said, "but the fact is we haven't them. I do hope we haven't made some mistake. I was thoroughly convinced, and so was the superintendent. We let his people take those things away yesterday. Who are you, and what do you want with them?"

The angel looked at the matron dazed and speechless.

"There couldn't have been a mistake," she continued, seeing the girl's distress. "Freckles was here when I took charge, ten years ago. These people had it all proved plain as day that he belonged to them. They had him traced to where he ran away down in Illinois last fall, and there they completely lost track of him. I'm sorry you seem so terribly disappointed, but it was all right. The man was his uncle, and as like the boy as he could possibly be. He was almost killed to go back without him. If you know where Freckles is, they'd give him money to find out!"

"Where are they going back to?"

"They are Irish folks, Miss," said the matron. "They have been in Chicago and over the country for the last three months, hunting him everywhere. They have given up and are starting home today. They—"

"Did they leave an address? Where could I find them?" burst in the angel.

"They left a card, and I notice the morning paper has the man's picture and is full of them. They've advertised a great deal in the city papers. It's a wonder you haven't seen something."

"Trains don't run right. We never get Chicago papers," snapped the angel. "Please give me that card quickly. They may get away from me. I simply have to catch them!"

The matron came back with a card.

"Their addresses are no there," she said. "Both here in Chicago and at their home. They made them full and plain, and I was to enble at once if I got the least clew of him at any time. If they've left the city, you can stop them in New York. You're sure to catch them before they sail—if you hurry!"

The matron caught up a paper and thrust it into the angel's hand as she rushed for the street.

(Continued next week.)

Peter Kittinger, 151 Sheldon St., Houghton, Mich., says: "For some time I suffered with kidney trouble. I had intense pains in my back and the kidney action was very irregular. I took Foley Kidney Pills and in a very short time my pains left and my kidneys became normal!"

For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

The home is often taken to represent the prosperity of the farm upon which it stands. If your horses does not do the farm just the build another as soon as possible that will reflect credit upon the farm and show the enterprize of the manager.

Roots For Dairy Stock.

By care in preparing the soil and growing the crop, from fifteen to twenty-five tons of roots, like mangels, rutabagas or stock carrots, can be grown per acre. They can be stored under the feeding alley or in a pile outside of the barn at very little expense. Twenty tons of roots will supply ten cows twenty pounds per day each for 200 days and can be grown and harvested at a cost of less than $40. The nutrients contained in twenty tons of roots are worth $20 when turn is worth $20 per ton, so the feeding value of the roots is sufficient to pay for the cost of production, besides the additional advantage of their supplying the succulence needed by the animal.—Horse and Farm.

Mrs. Louise Williams, 1108 Lyons Street, Flint, Michigan, says: "My daughter had suffered with rheumatism for a long time, when she took Foley Kidney Pills, and on a short time the rheumatic pains left her and she has been well ever since. I gladly recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a cure for rheumatism and kidney trouble." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Girl Wanted.

General housework, apply at this office or call at 204 Union St., Flint.

AS YOU WANT IT

The Courier's Job Department delight in putting out your work as you want it. If you are in doubt we will be pleased to give you advice. Our printers understand the art and our office is equipped with the best and latest new machinery and new type faces this season.

FACTS!!! FACTS!!!

The Courier

Has the largest Circulation
Prints more Local News
Has more Special Features

Than any other paper in this territory. We cover the field thoroughly. Mr. Advertiser— Don't this mean something to you?

INVESTIGATE THESE FACTS

If you are not already a Subscriber to the Courier send for a three month's trial subscription or a Sample Copy. Once a Subscriber Always One. That's the Record for we Deliver the Goods.

Job Printing that's Right Advertising that brings Results

A Newspaper that Prints The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

ROYAL

Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Where the finest biscuit, cake, hot-breads, crusts or puddings are required Royal is indispensable.

Royal is equally valuable in the preparation of plain, substantial, every-day foods, for all occasions.

The only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum—No Lime Phosphates

CROP REPORT

Showing Condition of Wheat and Depth of Snow During Month of March.

The condition of wheat on April first in the state was 84, in the southern counties 79, in the central counties 88, in the northern counties 90 and in the upper peninsula 91.

The condition one year ago, in the state was 87, in the southern counties 88, in the central counties 84, in the northern counties 88 and in the upper peninsula 90.

The average depth of snow on March 15th in the state was 9.58, in the southern counties 8.75, in the central counties 8.45, in the northern counties 12.21 and in the upper peninsula 11.81 inches.

On March 31st the average depth of snow in the state was 2.13, in the southern counties 1.03, in the central counties 1.45, in the northern counties 3.77 and in the upper peninsula 3.51 inches.

The number of days protection to wheat by snow in the state was 24, in the southern counties 23, in the central counties 25 and in the upper peninsula 27.

In answer to the question, "Has wheat during March suffered injury from any cause?" 112 correspondents in the southern counties answered "yes" and 162 "no," in the central counties 37 answered "yes" 161 "no," in the northern counties 27 answered "yes" and 87 "no" and in the upper peninsula 3 answered "yes" and 27 "no." The average condition of wheat in the state, on April first, for the past five years 1884 per cent, and the average yield per acre for the same period is 17 bushels.

Rye.—The average condition of rye in the state is 80, in the southern counties 80, in the central counties 92 and in the upper peninsula 94.

One year ago the condition was in the state and northern counties, 91 in the southern counties, 88 in the central counties and 97 in the upper peninsula.

Fruit.—Fruit correspondents generally, write "late spring, consequently too early to intelligently report condition of fruit or prospect of the coming crop."

Peach growers are mostly of the opinion that unusually cold winter has destroyed the peach buds quite severely.

Wanted.

To know the whereabouts of Teddy Smith and his mother, Mary Jane Lucia Smith, who was married at Manicoria, February 1881, to George W. Smith. Anybody knowing please let me know, as it may be a benefit to them. Address, 1333 pd. — Ira E. Weyer, Quincy Ky.

Smith-Wallace

When you see this on a pair of shoes you see the proof of good wear-shoes that stand-by. We sell them.

Full line of Spring Shoes now ready for inspection. See us before buying shoes for Spring. Prices and Quality right.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor

320 Bridge Street

Next to Bakers' Inn

COMMON SENSE IN DIRT ROAD MAINTENANCE.

Use the Drag, Says D. Ward King, and Save Money.

A well known western highway engineer says the art of building roads is 5 per cent science and 95 per cent common sense.

This is certainly true, and the only way to show common sense is to drag in every opportunity.

D. Ward King, the Missouri expert, in speaking of the drag says:

The new method is so inexpensive that we call it "good roads without money" and is so astonishingly instantaneous in its effect that it has been dubbed "good roads right now."

Even far away Boston and mountain band Denver have heard of the application of common sense to the roads. Witness this from that staid, conservative old standby the Youth's Companion, Boston: "In the short space of one hour the other day a dirt road across the great state of Iowa, reaching from the Mississippi to the Missouri, a distance of 380 miles, was put into first class condition. By a prearranged plan at a given hour men and horses with the famous split log drags did the work."

A BADLY DRAGGED ROAD.

For Denver Dr. F. L. Bartlett, president of Denver's chamber of commerce, who recently made the trip from that city to New York and return in an automobile, sums up the situation thus: "Millions are being wasted in New York on tar top roads. Millions are being wasted everywhere in Iowa alone the people have solved the problem of well built dirt roads, well rounded and drained and dragged (dragged roads are the best)."

Speaking of the other roads, Dr. Bartlett remarks: "From Chicago we took the old highway through South Bend, Ind., and Kalamazoo and Ann Arbor, Mich., to Detroit. Here we struck the worst roads on the entire trip."

Ten years of travel, addressing audiences all over the United States, riding over bad wagon roads in nearly every community I visit, riding over muddy and roads, into the rut of gravel roads, from side to side and pitching up and down like a ship in a storm as I have ridden over the hills and hummocks of miles and miles of neglected stone roads, bulging with the discouraged people—ten years of such experiences bring me to feel that encouragement and enthusiasm are the things most needed in these states. And it is here that the timely release of the split log drag are valuable, for the drag method continues by promising good roads without waiting and without more taxes or bonds or any other discouraging feature. By approaching the reform in this manner the roads become vastly improved at once, and the bonds and extra taxes are more easily achieved after the community is aroused.

SPLIT LOG DRAG.

OH, YOU PUNKIN PIE!

There be coconut an' pineapple, There be custard pie an' cherry, Shooey, ratin, lemon, rhubarb, Apple, peach an' huckleberry.

But, oh, yum, yum, there be punkin—Yaller punkin pie, be goah!

My Marlar jist kin make 'em Out of them there alrty squash!

When she says: "Bill, git a punkin; Wash 'er at the water spout; We must have some punkin custard;" I jist "Halt! a-yer!" shout.

How I love to watch her make 'em, Her plump arms to the elbow, Smilin', laughin' an' a-jokin', Rollin' out the rich pie dough!

Then she pours in that sweet punkin, Speeds an' mixes with rich sweet milk, Crimps the border like the ruffle On her purty bright green silk.

Don't them punkins list smelt lovely Bakin' in that oven hot? Don't they git a bawdy brown on? Ain't they great to hit the spot?

Oh, go way, you Waldorf-Astor! An' you Stratford Bellevue! My Marlar a pie bakin'!

Knocks the stuffin' out of you, C. M. BARNITZ.

KURIOS FROM KORRESPONDENTS

Q. I find the eggs in the front of my incubator heat about right, while those in the rear are not hot enough. How may I remedy this? A. Elevate the tray in the rear with a wedge.

Q. What time is required to hatch eggs from a duck that is a cross of Pekin and Muscovy? A. Pekin eggs hatch in four weeks and Muscovy in five, I am puzzled to know when to expect eggs from the cross to hatch in my incubator. A. Thirty-two days generally.

Q. I have been reading so much of "rots" and "spots," please define. A. When an egg is rotted, if decay has

$22.50 FOR A GUARANTEED BICYCLE

With New Departure Coaster Brake

See this wonderful bargain in a Bicycle. I have in stock 40 Bicycles, and having bought them direct from the factory at a considerable cut in price, I am going to give you the benefit. In selling Bicycles in connection with my Harness business I can save you money. See this line and be convinced.

Benj. Brown

Change of Location

Myrtie Young & Son

Insurance

Teddy Bear Bread

Temporarily

located first door west of

POWERS PLUMBING SHOP

VanPelt Place

Phone 275

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, VanPelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Unreality."

Wednesday, at 7:15 p. m.

Reading room open Tuesday

Thursday and Saturday from 2:30

to 5:00 p. m.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.

Morning Service, 10:30. Subject,

"God and Manhood, or Pitching the Tent Toward Solom."

Sunday School at 11:45.

B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Topic, "How the Lord's Day Can Be Enriched."

(Led by the Pastor.)

Evening Service at 7:30. Subject

"Redemption Through the Blood."

Prayer Meeting on Thursday

evening.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon

at Marion Town Hall.

"Strangers always welcome."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Morning service at 10:30. Sermon

by Principal Cotton, of Benzonin.

Sunday School at 12 m.

Service at 1:00 p. m. Mr.

Cotton will address the meeting.

Meeting of the Y. P. S. C. at 6:30 p. m. Mr. Cotton will address the meeting.

The topic for the mid-week service, April 18, will be "What the Sabbath Does for Us."

The lecture to be given by Mrs.

Nathra Gray of Traverse City has been postponed until May 8.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Services every second and fourth

Sunday of each month.

METHODIST CHURCH.

9:30 a. m. Class Meeting.

12:30 m. Sunday School.

6:30 p. m. Epworth League.

Prayer Meeting Thursday evening, 7:30.

Preaching at Epworth church

Sunday, 2:30 p. m.

You are welcomed to all our services.

A Crisis.

"Johnny, do you understand what I mean by a crisis?"

"Yes, mum."

"Tell us, Johnny."

"Two out an' the bases full, mum."

Western Christian Advocate.

Pleasant.

Child—Mamum, what is a common person?

Mother—A common person is a person that we do not associate with.

Why do you ask?

Child—Cause Mrs. Nextdoor said you was a common person.

Small Stock---Moved Quick

When you purchase your groceries of us you are always sure of getting fresh goods as we carry a small stock which means we have nothing that has been long on the shelves. Get wise.

Barrington Hall Coffee 35c pound

Our Goods tell the story. Don't forget the Place.

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE

Telephone 125

Antrim Street

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 16

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

SPECIAL SESSION OF SUPERVISORS

Will Be Held To Boast the Good Roads
For Charlevoix County.

BOND ISSUE WILL BE ASKED FOR

At a Special Election to Be Held at November Election.

Campaign of Education Now On—Targe and Enthusiastic Meeting Held at East Jordan
Monday Afternoon.

Monday the movement so well begun in this county April 1, when the people, by a majority of over a thousand declared for good roads in Charlevoix county, so well followed up by the election, by the board of supervisors of county road commissioners in which the people have full confidence, received further impetus at a large and enthusiastic good roads meeting at the K. P. hall East Jordan, which was attended by representatives from different portions of the county. This was the third move to place the roads of Charlevoix county second to none in the state.

The meeting was presided over by A. B. Clark of Marquette, secretary. After full discussion it was decided to petition for a special session of the board of supervisors, the petitions were quickly signed and a special will be held April 30, and at such special session, petitions will be presented from all portions of the county asking for the submission to the people, at the fall election, of a proposition to bond the county to the limit for the purpose of building good roads.

A committee was appointed from each ward and township to circulate the petitions and in act as a committee on education. Those from this city are: first ward, Harry Nicholls, Andrew Ross, A. M. Wilkinson; second ward, W. R. Barney, A. A. Hanshaw, Harold Redford; third ward, Amos Webster, R. S. Shapton. An executive committee to have general charge of the work was appointed, consisting of W. H. White and S. C. Smith of Boyne City, W. H. Porter, and H. L. McMillan of East Jordan and Harry Nicholls and R. W. Padlock of Charlevoix. Mr. White was chosen as chairman. The meeting was adjourned to meet in this city at the time of the meeting of the supervisors.

The enthusiasm displayed at the meeting was unanimous and there is no doubt that the proposition will carry in the county. The people have demanded good roads and want them while they are alive and ready to enjoy them and reap the benefit. The value to the county of good roads cannot be over estimated and the plan proposed of an issue of twenty-year bonds will enable the commissioners to proceed with the work at once at the very least possible expense to the county. The campaign of education is now on and the matter will be fully explained so that every voter in Charlevoix county can cast an intelligent vote on the question next November.

From now until then, "Boost for Good Roads."

SMITH-OLAHAM

Charlevoix Girl Married Thursday to Gentleman
From Detroit.

At the home of the bride's parents last Thursday evening, at seven o'clock occurred the marriage of Jennie M. Ollham of this city, and Edwin J. Smith of Detroit.

Only the immediate relatives were present. Rev. F. M. Taylor officiating. Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served, after which the bride and groom left on the night train for Detroit, at which place they will remain for about a month and then return here for the summer.

Although the groom is a stranger here, the bride's many friends are wishing them all happiness.

Take the children to "The Little Cabin" Charlevoix Theater, Thursday evening, April 18.

AT AN EARLY AGE

Mrs. Lulu Oberlin Called By Death—Graduate of Our Schools.

Mrs. Lulu Oberlin, aged twenty-nine years and three months, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Dodge, died Monday evening at 9:30, of tuberculosis, after an illness of six months.

She was a graduate of the Class of 1901, always taking a prominent part in the school work.

In 1905, she was married to Clarence Oberlin of Massillon, Ohio, after which time she only spent parts of each year here with her parents. To them one son was born, Carlton, age six years.

The funeral services will be held from the home Thursday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock and will be conducted by F. M. Taylor.

Besides her child and husband left to mourn their loss are her parents, and sister, Mrs. Mervin Miller of this city and brother Harry Dodge, who is now employed at Detroit.

The many friends join in offering their sympathy in this hour of bereavement.

DEATH OF MRS. WILKINSON

Well Known Charlevoix Lady Called By Death Thursday Morning.

Was Active Church and Temperance Worker
Leaves Three Children.

Mary R. Halstead was born September 7th, 1845 in St. John, Clinton Co., Mich. She was married in 1867 to George W. Jeffries, moving to Charlevoix county in 1882. Four children were born, three of whom are still living, Gladys, now Mrs. James McGeagh, and Charles Jeffries of this city, Edison, now living in Florida, the remaining son Frank having departed this life some time ago.

George Jeffries, her husband, was judge of the probate court for several years in Charlevoix county, and was justice of the peace for some time in this county. He died in April 1892, leaving in the hands of his son, Frank.

In 1895 Mrs. Jeffries was notified in marriage to R. R. Wilkinson who was elected state senator from Antrim county. Later he was ordained as a minister of the Baptist denomination, and preached very acceptably a great many times from the pulpit here in the absence of the regular pastor. Mr. Wilkinson departed this life the first of June 1911.

Mrs. Wilkinson accepted the Savior while yet a young woman and became a member of the M. E. denomination but later united with the Baptist church and remained a member in good standing until her death last Thursday morning at one o'clock. She has been a devoted mother, a conscientious worker in the church and Sunday school, and for some time was president of the W. C. T. U. of this city. In recent years she has been making her home in Georgia during the winter season, so dropped her membership with the local organization, but last month she again became a member and was looking forward to the next meeting which was held last Friday at the home of Sister Peasley. She fully expected to be there but the Father had another plan, another meeting. Her work is now finished, she has gone to her reward.

Many of the sick and afflicted will now miss the visits and words of sympathy of our departed sister.

Besides the three children, a brother and sister survive her, Elmer Halstead, and Mrs. E. J. Spring of Clare county. Also a number of grandchildren and a host of friends for she was loved and respected by all that knew her.

We cannot and would not call her back from the Heavenly world, but we can follow the same Savior, and when our work is finished, have the same triumphant death, and receive the same welcome on the other shore.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at the Baptist church and was largely attended. The members of the W. C. T. U. came in a body and took seats just behind the mourners.

Good Printing means Business

STATE BANK NOW LOCATED IN BEAUTIFUL NEW HOME

An Evidence of the Business Prosperity of Charlevoix and the Mutual Confidence Resting Between the Officers and Patrons of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank—A Strong Banking Institution.

New Home of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank.

Official Roster
President, Kenben P. Foley.
Vice-presidents, G. C. Gucken and Horace S. Harsha.
Cashier, Warren J. Rachow.
Assistant Cashier, C. O. McMahon.
Bookkeeper and Savings Teller, Harry A. Millard.
Board of Directors, R. P. Foley, H. S. Harsha, P. D. Campbell, G. C. Gucken, John Burns, J. L. Crane, W. J. Rachow.

Thursday, April 18th, 1912, marks the opening of the new building of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank and all can speak in the financial world so far as our city is concerned. Today, Friday, from 10:00 to 5:00 and 7:00 to 9:00 p. m. an informal reception is being held at the new building at 247 Bridge street. The officers and directors together with their guests will sit at the left of the main lobby entrance and in front of the bank welcome their friends and patrons.

WARREN J. RACHOW, Cashier

The public, and especially those waiting for their friends while transacting business with the bank.

In the west end or rear of the main lobby is a special "ladies room" which contains two writing desks, stationery and all writing material and the lady friends and customers of the bank will find this very convenient. Adjoining this room is a complete lavatory which is a part of the ladies department of the bank.

The banking room proper is one of the most pleasing features of the entire building not only from an artistic standpoint, but from the point of convenience. The business arrangement is perfect in every detail from the placing of a single light of glass to the fire and burglar proof vault, wherein are stored the valuable assets of the institution and the safety deposit boxes of its patrons.

The banking room is approximately 22x45, finished in a rich golden oak with beam ceilings. The wainscoting is of genuine Vermont marble styled "American Parnassus" with a dark antique base which blends beautifully with the dark green border on the tile floor. The light of this room is perfect.

Continued on page 12

PLAY WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

One of the Best Local Talent Shows Ever Shown Here.

High School Athletic Association Scored Triumph
Friday Evening—Good Attendance.

The U. S. A. A. play given last Friday evening was a great success, the opera house being packed to the very doors.

The minstrel was one of the best shows ever put on in Charlevoix by local talent, and the association takes this means of thanking Mr. Craig and Miss King for their able assistance.

Don Paradise as the "cent up" acted his part in full. To the quartet, consisting of Robert Bridge, Glenn Kirby, Dean Scroggie, Harry Alcox and Loren Hart, is due a great deal of praise, as their songs of the south called forth great applause.

The pikes throughout were clean and well rendered. The dancing, introduced by Miss Helen Armstrong, was well received and gave evidence of considerable study and practice along that line.

The characteristics of the large comedy were strongly carried out by the well selected cast who joined their parts with ease.

The association feels indebted to the public as a whole for the strong support given them, and thank them for their attendance.

GIVEN FAREWELL SMOKER

Dr. I. B. Thielon Remembered by Pythian Brethren
Thursday Night.

Thursday night, after the regular work of the Knight of Pythias, a farewell smoker was given to Dr. I. B. Thielon, who soon expects to leave to take up his residence in Tennessee. A light lunch was served also which will be remembered by the doctor, a beautiful emblem of the order.

Not only is there a deep feeling of regret among the members of the fraternity in which Dr. Thielon has been an active worker over his change of location but the entire city is loathe to part with one who has been one of our best citizens.

Dodds' Bill Passed.

A bill introduced by Congressman Dodds asking for an appropriation to cure for 325 pupils at the Mt. Pleasant Indian School instead of 250, is now passed the house of representatives last week. The new dormitory building at the school, which Mr. Dodds secured will provide the room for the increased number of children.

Coming Soon.

Thursday, May 2nd is the date when J. Leahy, the optometrist, will be at Baker's Inn. One day only. Headaches and dizziness, tired, crossed eyes, strabismic, failing children—ever a specialty. Glasses guaranteed to fit.

SUPERVISORS. COMPLETE WORK

Choice of Board—Board of County Road
Commissioners Meets Approval

COMMISSION IS GOOD ONE

Bricker of Evangeline, Hammet of Hayes, and Olney of South Arm.

Compensation Fixed at Three Dollars and Half Per Day—Old Committee on Advertising is Re-Appointed.

The supervisors completed their work Friday afternoon. The most important work of the session was the election of the county road commissioners, and the fixing of their compensation rate. Frank Bricker of Evangeline, Richard C. Hammett of Hayes and Herbert L. Olney of South Arm were chosen as commissioners and their salaries fixed at $3.50 per day for time actually spent on the work.

The old special committee on advertising, consisting of Will E. Houghton, S. C. Smith, and W. A. Low, was re-appointed by chairman Parker.

The general opinion is that a better board of commissioners would have been had to find to pioneer the county road system in this county. Mr. Bricker has long been a practical advocate of good roads in this section. Mr. Hammett has large business interests both in Charlevoix and Hayes, and believes thoroughly in good roads while Mr. Olney has for years been a leader in the grange and other farm organizations which means he has been a student of the movement for good roads.

MUSSELMAN WILL BE CANDIDATE

Makes Formal Announcement of His Intentions.

Platform Will Be Announced in a Short Time
Upon Which He Will Run.

In a formal statement after Governor Osborn's announcement that he would not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, Amos S. Musselman of Grand Rapids says:

"I am a candidate for the republican nomination for governor. I should have been in the field some weeks ago had I not adhered to my original position that Governor Osborn was entitled to another term if he desired it. My friends have insisted that I declare myself, but common courtesy dictated that the governor be given his own time and permitted to see whether the action of the special session of the legislature did not warrant his changing his mind on his tentative withdrawal."

"I, in busy preparing a formal announcement of my candidacy in which I shall set forth my platform in detail and give a more complete statement of the reasons that attract me in going into the race. I think every one has understood from my former interviews that I should be a candidate at the governor's discretion not to press his right to a second term."

WAS GIVEN SURPRISE

Miss Zettler Popular Teacher of Union School
Retained at Wells Home.

Last Wednesday evening a number of young people of Inwood quietly walked in at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Wells and gave Miss Zettler one of the most pleasant surprises she ever experienced. The evening was spent in playing games, telling stories and vocal and instrumental music. Light refreshments were served and all reported a very enjoyable evening.

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

CORRESPONDENCE

BAY SHORE.

Mrs. Marie Baldwin is keeping house on the Hooper farm.
H. Bathka and J. W. Priebe purchased manure spreaders this week.
Mrs. James Dilworth of Thornton Bay visited at Mrs. Samuel Long's Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Atwood spent a couple of days with Mr. and Mrs. Warren Atwood at Boyne City the past week.
William Bathka is visiting his parents for a short time before taking up some other work. He has resigned his position with Lockwood hospital after serving there for three years.

Ray Karcher, Roy Winslow, Conrad Voelker and the Bathka brothers have been busy during the past week making maple sugar. The season has been very good for the sugar makers, short but sweet.

John Lane, St. Joseph, Mich., a member of A.W. Chapman Post, No. 21, G. A. R., was cured through the use of Foley Kidney Pills. He says, "I tried various kidney remedies but all failed to help me until I took Foley Kidney Pills and I can honestly say that they cured me completely. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf."

MARION.

Mrs. Albert Benthie is somewhat better at this writing.
Mr. Rogers will soon have his new house completed.
Mrs. A. Kerr visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. VanZant Sunday.
Mrs. H. Nowland and family visited Mrs. Cunningham over Sunday.
Mrs. M. A. Phillips visited Mrs. Clara Dodd Saturday and Sunday.
Mrs. Earl Dodd and A. Iris Dodd called on Mrs. Fred Trimble Monday.

Miss Ida Pierce was visiting friends in town a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hansry were callers at Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gregory Sunday afternoon.

Alba Nowland has been very sick with tonsillitis, but is somewhat better at this writing.

Mrs. Herman Himebaugh and daughter Mary visited her mother Mrs. Cunningham, Thursday.

Mrs. D. Alexander and Miss Rogers attended the W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. Peaslee Thursday.

Mrs. Lucy Pearl went to Alberta where she will visit Mr. Lou Gray. In an old neighbor that she lived beside.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hansen, Mrs. Scott, and Mrs. W. E. Dodd and daughter Violet were callers at Mrs. Elmer Ingalls' Friday.

The Gleaners met with Mr. and Mrs. James Cook Saturday night. Two new members were installed. After the business was over refreshments were served.

ATWOOD.

Summer breezes.

We have a new doctor.

Mable Blow was home to see mama a couple of days.

General supper at the hall next Friday evening. Come.

John H. Smith of Central Lake was here with his new auto.

Mrs. Will Myers is caring for one hundred and three little chicks.

Mrs. Martin, who has been very ill during the last ten days, is some better.

The young boys and girls had a sugar social at the hall on Tuesday evening.

H. Elzinga has ordered a ninety-ton silo. H. Vanderberg, H. S. Peebles, Frank Peebles following in line with smaller ones.

Mrs. Delila Miles, of Tower, Mich., had a severe cough which hung on for weeks, doctored for it, but was not benefited. She says, "A friend advised Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and after using two bottles my cough was cured and I have never been bothered since. I gladly recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for all coughs and colds." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

HAYES.

Miss Addie Howe spent Sunday and Monday at Charlevoix.

A warm sugar party was held at Mrs. Arthur Woodson's Sunday.

Charley Werts of Ironton was a visitor at Arthur Woodson's Sunday.
Mrs. Roland Howe has moved to Pellston where she expects to make her home.

There will be a dance held at Maple Grove grange hall Friday, April 26. Everybody come and bring a partner.

BARNARD.

The True Blue club of Barnard met at Glenwood April 5. Meeting was called to order by the secretary, the president and vice president being absent. New officers were elected for the coming half year. Two applications for membership were received. An invitation is extended to all the young people of Barnard to visit our club next meeting, which will be held at the home of Ethel Shapton, Friday evening, April 19, 1912.

FOR AGED PEOPLE

Old folks should be careful in their selection of Regulative Medicine.

We have a safe, dependable, and altogether ideal remedy that is particularly adapted to the requirements of aged people and persons of weak constitutions who suffer from constipation or other bowel disorders. We are so certain that it will relieve these complaints and give absolute satisfaction in every particular that we offer it with our personal guarantee that it shall cost the user nothing if it fails to substantiate our claims. This remedy is called REXALL ORDERLIES.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night, do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regular tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity. Three sizes, 10c, 25c, and 50c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

The normal class attended a session of the board of supervisors Thursday afternoon. The county road commissioners were elected and a few minor points were discussed.

Lila Gray was absent last week because of illness.

Winnie Cunningham and Lillian Randall have begun practice teaching in fourth grade geography. Louise Maras is teaching the chart class and Conita Mason is teaching the third grade reading class.

The grade teachers of the Charlevoix Public Schools have formed a class in penmanship, with Miss Lombard in charge, which meets every two weeks. The first session was on Monday afternoon of last week at 3:30.

The normal class and training room children commenced work in the garden last Friday afternoon.

Beans for Sale.

Small quantity of cut beans for feeding. Inquire of L. E. Benton. 1512

C. H. S. NOTES.

Mr. Craig and the civics class visited the court house Thursday to hear the discussion on good roads.

Mr. Bashaw visited the high school Friday.

In Ancient History—"How did the ancient Romans wear their hair?"

Brilliant student, "Pompey-don't."

The wireless set is completed and in excellent working order.

The English II classes have begun the study of Carlyle's Essay on Burns.

The first cross-country run occurred Saturday morning. Ten boys started from the school building at 10:30 for the patrol post on south point, going along the lake shore drive, and returning by the same route to the starting point. Andrew Skye and Paul Harsha won first and second prize, respectively, Skye making the round trip in 33.3.5 minutes and Harsha in 34.5.10 minutes.

The Athletic minstrel show given Friday evening added about sixty dollars to the athletic association's treasury. The association was $10 in debt, so they are especially glad the returns were large.

RELIEVE YOUR STOMACH

We Will Help You Do It. Read Our Guarantee.

Dyspepsia may be completely eradicated if properly treated. We sell a remedy that we positively guarantee will completely relieve indigestion or dyspepsia, or the medicine used during the trial will cost the user nothing.

This remedy has been named Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Certainly an offer could be more fair, and our offer should be proof positive that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a dependable remedy.

Inasmuch as the medicine will cost you nothing if it does not benefit you, we urge you who are suffering with indigestion or dyspepsia to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. A 25-cent box contains enough medicine for fifteen days treatment. For chronic cases we have two larger sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at our stores—The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

MILLIONS LOST ANNUALLY IN GOOD ROADS WORK

Through Inadequate Methods of Construction and Maintenance.

That the United States suffers a direct loss of $40,000,000 annually on account of incorrect and inadequate methods in the construction, maintenance and administration of public roads is the assertion of L. W. Page, director of the United States office of public roads and president of the new American Association For Highway Improvement.

This enormous loss is nothing compared with the indirect loss through excessive cost of transportation, which is caused by the burden which bad roads impose upon the farmers and others who use the highways, and this amount, according to Mr. Page's report, reaches the impressive total of $250,000,000 every year.

The American farmer is paying two or three times as much to get his products to market as the man who tills the ground in Europe, and this added cost of transportation is known to be an important factor in the high cost of living problem. France is said to use her fine system of roads just one and one-third times as much as her railroads for transportation, whereas in this country the public roads are so poorly maintained and administered as a whole that the highways carry only between one-third and one-fourth as much produce as the railroads. Road experts say conditions here and abroad are almost exactly reversed, due entirely to bad roads.

OILING PARK ROADS.

Methods of Application Employed in Kansas City.

The method of applying oil to the park roads in Kansas City, Mo., is said by Superintendent Dunn to be accomplished by the use of ordinary water sprinkling wagons in the following way. The wagons are adapted to this service by attaching a tin trough six inches wide and six inches deep and long enough to inclose the discharge valves, this trough being perforated with three-quarter inch holes about one and a half inches apart. The oil is allowed to flow into this trough over the road through the holes.

Previous to oiling, the macadam streets are swept and the oil is applied rather lightly and is covered with loose sweepings from the street to prevent, as far as possible, the objectionable features of oiling. Applying the oil by this process is dirty work and inconveniences the public for a short time while the road is being treated.

To minimize the latter the department barriers the section to be treated, confining this to one side of the street at a time, placing the sign "Fresh Oil" on the barrier. Superintendent Dunn gives the following as the cost of this treatment: Total area oiled, 780,000 square yards; total number of gallons used, 233,485; cost of oil per gallon at distributing tank, $0.02171; total cost of oil used, $4,965.36; total cost of applying the same (labor, teams and dust), $7,372.57; annual cost of oil per square yard, $0.00532; the annual cost of applying the same per square yard, $0.00812; total cost of oiling pavement per square yard, $0.01344.

Salt as a Dust Layer.

As a general rule the roads in and around French town are tarred at the commencement of the summer in order to abate the dust nuisance. It has, however, been found that tar, although excellent in the case of macadamized roads, is of little or no value where earthen roads exist and paved street crossings intersect the roads in every direction, as tarring cannot be carried out on stones.

The authorities, basing their action on the well known hygienic properties of common salt, have made a test of its value in laying the dust. Twenty yards of roadway have been sprinkled liberally with salt and then watered freely. If the results are satisfactory, salt will be used throughout the town of Havre, it being impossible to tar the majority of the streets, as they are paved with rough stone blocks.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; true cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

J. C. HENNEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

How Perfume Is Weighed.

It was the Italian physician Salvioni who devised a microbalance of such extreme delicacy that it clearly demonstrated the loss of weight of musk by volatilization. Thus the invisible perfume floating off in the air is indirectly weighed. The essential part of the apparatus is a very thin thread of glass, fixed at one end and extended horizontally. The microscopic objects to be weighed are placed upon the glass thread near its free end and the amount of flexure produced is observed with a microscope magnifying 100 diameters. A note weighing one-thousandth of a milligram is said to be capable of bending the thread.—Buffalo Courier.

Good Printing means Business.

Don't hide your money

a burglar may be watching you

A burglar may have watched you hide that money. You may lose it. Put it in this bank, where it will be safe in our burglar and fire proof vaults—and from which you can withdraw it AT ANY TIME on demand. All your neighbors do this. Why not you.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

4% Interest Paid on Savings

CAPITAL, SURPLUS AND DEPOSITS $200,000.00
STATE DEPOSITORY

R. P. FOLEY, President

W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

We Must Have Money

Cash Sale Extended One Week April 18 to April 25

30c Broom	19c
40c and 50c Brooms	33c
Two 5c pkgs Bazaar Matches	5c
10c pkg Sun cured Tobacco	5c
1 pound Telfer Quality Coffee	25c
1-2 pound Sweetheart Tea	20c
2 pounds 15c Tea Siftings	25c
1 pounds 15c Prunes	10c
12 bars Calumet Soap	25c
Large can Peasant Salmon	15c
Two 20c cans Sledge Salmon	35c
3 cans 10c Soup	25c
Two 15c cans Payne Tomatoes	25c
Six 5c cans Milk	25c
3 10c bottles Ammonia	25c
3 10c bottles Blueing	25c
6 pounds bulk Gloss Starch	25c
4 pounds Quaker Corn Starch	25c
4 pounds A & H Soda	25c
3 cans Lima Beans	25c
3 cans 10c Beans	25c
3 cans Coral Corn	25c
3 cans 10c Sliced Peaches	25c
3 cans Crushed Oranges	25c
3 cans Pork and Beans	25c
100 pounds Michigan Sugar	$6.25

Shoes and Groceries very Cheap for 7 days only

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

$500 REWARD

OUR GUARANTEE

We will refund all money received for the rods and pay $500 reward to find a building burned by lightning with our rods on.

The Security Copper Tube Lightning Rod

has never failed to afford perfect protection from lightning, and gives general satisfaction in every respect.

It is the only Lightning Rod patented in the United States with Automatic Water Supply insuring a Perfect Ground Connection at all times, which is the most important part of any rod.

Our object is to furnish a rod that we can guarantee to be a full protection from lightning at the LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE.

Send for Catalog.

The Security Lightning Rod Co.
Burlington, Wis.

J. L. Warner, Agent
Elk Rapids, Michigan

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VainPelt Place

OFFICIAL PAPER OF CHARLEVOIX

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year..... $1.50
One copy, six months..... .75
One copy, three months..... .40

For advertising rates apply to schedule.
Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

Common Council

Council Chamber, Apr. 16, 1912.

The common council for the city of Charlevoix met on the above date. Mayor Nordrum presiding.

Aldermen present: Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney, Webster and Geiken.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The finance committee submitted the following report. Having examined the following bills report the same correct and recommended that they be allowed out of the several funds as herein stated.

Moved by Ald. Glassford and seconded by Ald. Priest that the report be read and accepted and the mayor, and clerk etc.

HEALTH FUND
Dr. J. B. Thelen, salary to April 9..... 11.25
Michigan State Telephone Co., service to April 1, 1912..... 12.00

GENERAL FUND
F. L. Slaght, salary to 4-15-12..... 37.50
John Cook, for cleaning office..... 1.50
M. A. Levinson & Co., supplies..... 3.00
Postmaster, box rent 44 to 7-1-12..... .30
Hugh McCartney, driving..... 2.00
E. A. Ensey, recording deeds..... 2.00
Geo. H. VanPelt, for April rent..... 7.00
Charlevoix Courier, printing notices..... 10.50
Books etc..... .50

ELECTRIC LIGHT & WATER FUNDS
A. J. Hamilton, salary to 4-15-12..... 30.00
Gordon Dixon, salary to 4-15-12..... 30.00
Merth Ackert, services..... 2.75
F. S. Stokes, services..... 2.75
H. D. Marshall, pay roll..... 50.00
Michigan State Telephone Co., rent 2 telephones from 4-1 to 7-1-12..... 9.00

HIGHWAY FUND
Ernest Paterfield, repairing grader and roller..... 8.00
McLachlin & Vought, supplies..... 1.00
E. S. Stokes, services..... 1.00
F. S. Blackland, supplies..... 2.00

WIRE FUND
Hose Co. No. 1, Ed. Millard fire..... 23.00
Hose Co. No. 1, false alarm..... 7.00
Hose Co. No. 2, Ed. North fire..... 14.00
Hose Co. No. 2, false alarm..... 7.00
McLachlin & Vought, supplies..... 1.50
E. S. Hamilton, supplies..... .25
Michigan State Telephone Co., rent 44 to 7-1-12..... 4.50

PAID FUND
F. S. Blackland, supplies..... 1.50
Fred Court, meals and fees..... 2.50
Charlevoix Courier, bureau's notice Jan. Thinner, salary to 4-15-12..... 30.00

Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Geiken and seconded by Ald. Webster that the report of the chief of the fire department be accepted.

Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Webster that the bill of Dr. Montague be referred to the city attorney requesting a report at the next meeting.

Motion carried.

Ald. Rachow moved the adoption of the following resolution which was seconded by Ald. Barney.

Resolved by the common council of the city of Charlevoix that the resolution adopted March 26, 1912, relative to the construction of a sewer in Nettleton St. and Petoskey Ave. be and the same is hereby rescinded, and the board of public works be instructed to prepare plans, plans, diagrams, specifications and estimates of cost of a sewer in Nettleton St. and Petoskey Avenue as shown on the sewer map of a portion of the city of Charlevoix, Michigan made by Geo. S. Pearson engineer and E. A. Robinson city engineer in 1910, and to report at their earliest convenient. Adopted at a regular meeting of the council April 16, 1912 by the following aye and nay vote.

Ayes, Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney, Webster and Geiken.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Glassford that Nordrum be delegated as a representative of the city to attend the meeting of the railroad commissioners at Lansing May 8th, 1912 for the purpose of ascertaining if some arrangement can be made for the sale of tickets and transfer of baggage over the G. R. & L. and P. M. R. R. for the convenience of the general public, and that he is to serve without compensation other than his expenses.

Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Geiken and seconded by Ald. Glassford that Belvedere Ave. be put in condition for graveling and that Geo. Engleton be given the job of putting on the gravel at the rate of $1.00 per cubic yard under the supervision of the street committee.

Motion carried by the following aye and nay vote.

Ayes, Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney, Webster and Geiken.

Nays, none.

There being no further business the council adjourned.

E. J. MILLER, Clerk.

For Sale.

A few choice breeding pens of Barred Plymouth Rocks for breeding purposes at common prices. Also eggs for hatching. Enquire of J. A. Auto.

Let the Courier come with Spring.

WATCH FOR THE BIG PARADE
"The Barium of Them All"

PRICES: 50c, 35c

CHILDREN 25c

STETSON'S
Big Spectacular
Production of
Uncle Tom's Cabin
With all the added features that has made this company famous

STETSON'S MILITARY BAND AND COLORED DRUM CORPS
Funny "Topsys" Eccentric "Marks"

Grand Transformation Scenes and Mechanical Effects
Jubilee Singers, Cakewalkers, Buck Dancers, Bloodhounds, Cotton Picking Scenes, Flots and Tableaux drawn by small Shetland Ponies.

2

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

Friday afternoon April 12 the W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Penlee on the north side for its regular meeting. There was a good attendance about thirty being present. The gathering was saddened by the home-going only the day before of one of our number, Mrs. R. R. Wilkinson, who was remembered in the singing of a memorial hymn and arrangements made for the funeral to be held at the Baptist church the day following for the funeral and sit in a body during the services. Quite a number followed the remains to the cemetery.

Rev. B. Atchison led the devotion at the W. C. T. U. meetings. Five delegates were elected to attend the county convention of the W. C. T. U. to be held in East Jordan about the middle of May. The union ratified the action of the executive board in the selection of the following vice presidents superintendents and committees: 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Putnam; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Blair; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. Atchison; 4th Vice-President, Mrs. Cooper.

Flower Mission, Superintendent, Mrs. John Barnes; Associates, Mrs. Saunders and Mrs. Bagleton; Press, Mrs. B. P. Wilkinson; Associates, Miss Hines, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Shockey; S. L. L. Miss Hines; S. S. Miss Annie Metcalf and Mrs. Edwards.

Medical Temperance, Miss Rogers; Franchise, Mrs. Armstrong; Evangelistic committee, Mrs. Lewis Atchison and Mrs. Parnelee; Music committee, Mrs. Burdick, Mrs. McGeagh and Mrs. Widdifield.

One new member came into our union. The program was in charge of Mrs. Shockey. Several short readings on Neal Dow, the Father of Prohibition were read. A biographical sketch of Francis E. Willard and poems on Miss Willard were also read by Mrs. Shockey and Mrs. Putnam. "Follow Me" was nicely sung by three young ladies. A reading by Mrs. Edwards and a recitation by Miss Kenyon was much appreciated.

"The Story of the Dollars" was read by Mrs. Burdick, and a duet by Mrs. Shockey and Mrs. Burdick. "Silver Bells," with Miss Pool accompanying on the piano was sung and this closed the program after which a beautiful picnic supper was served and enjoyed by all present, the young people waiting on the guests of the day. Individual tables were prepared for each, consisting of shingles which were covered with white paper napkins.

Several paid their dues for the coming year. Collection ninety-six cents. Our hostess invited us to come again which we hope to be able to do. Thanks for the kind hospitality of both host and hostess.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van Pelt Hall. Services Sunday 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "The Doctrine of Alone-ment."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:30 to 5:30 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH
Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.
Morning Service, 10:30.
Sunday School at 11:45.
B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Topic, "Perseverance." Leader, Mrs. B. Atchison.
Evening Service at 7:30.
Revival services every night on Bridge street near Majestic theater. Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion Town Hall.
"Strangers always welcome."

METHODIST CHURCH
9:30 a. m. Class Meeting.
12:00 m. Sunday School.
6:00 p. m. Epworth League.
Prayer Meeting Thursday evening, 7:30.
Preaching at Epworth church Sunday, 2:30 p. m.
"You are welcomed to all our services."

Wanted.
Best cash offer for the old Tom Palmer place, lots 11, 12 and 13, block 7 plat of Mt. Mansie. Good house and barn, chicken house, well house, and good well of water with pump, two lots. Address J. W. Farleigh, 21 West Garfield Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

Building For Sale.
A large frame building on Belvedere Avenue formerly occupied by Barth as a ladies shop. See adv. in bargain column for description. 101 being diffused through panes of prism glass from large semi-circular windows in each end above. The dark-afternoons of fall and winter are beaten of their gloominess by means of mammoth flaming lights, suspended from the ceilings, of sufficient power to give practically the same effect as if it were day. Many other small and convenient lights are also arranged.

STATE BANK NOW LOCATED IN BEAUTIFUL NEW HOME

(Continued from page 1.)

On the west end of the building is the director's room. This is large, roomy, and well lighted and bright with appropriate furnishings.

In the basement is a large stock or store room for supplies and also for the storage of boxes of bulky matter. With a cement floor in the basement and a reinforced concrete floor overhead which forms the main floor of the building, the whole building is in reality a vault and as fire proof as they build them.

On the whole, the building in its every detail is one which invites pleasurable attention and one in which our citizens can point with pride. Charlevoix is certainly coming rapidly to her place among Michigan cities and in the class of bank buildings, is surely second to none.

The healthy increase of the bank's business evidences not only the prosperity of the city and its citizens, but also the confidence reposed in the bank. The erection of this handsome edifice, reflects a great credit upon the officers of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank and proves their faith in our city and its people. Therefore do we say we are glad to see this faith and prosperity exemplified.

Singers and Public Speakers Need It.
The demulcent properties of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound make it especially effective for hoarseness, tickling in the throat and inflamed vocal chords. It is a valuable aid to singers and public speakers. Chas. Boyle, the famous Irish tenor of Saginaw, Mich., says he has used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for years and would not think of tilting an engagement without it. He always carries a bottle in his grip or suit case. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY
Ol Congregational Church Will Meet With Mrs. Fowler Friday Afternoon.
The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Congregational church will meet Friday afternoon April 19th with Mrs. H. R. Fowler.
Subject—China.
Leaders—Miss Clarke and Mrs. Fowler.
Devotionals.
Roll call from Psalms.
"North China Mission"—Mrs. H. A. Putnam.
Vocal solo—Miss Elisabeth Putnam.
"The Chinese, Repaid"—Mrs. Frazier.
"Doctor Sun Yat Sen"—Mrs. Harsh.
"Wonderful Days in China"—Mrs. Carter.
Vocal solo Mrs. Davidson.

The time of harness both heavy and light at Frank Chamberlain's harness shop, Shea's old stand, 101

IT'S a pleasure to feel, when you meet people, that there's nothing the matter with the way your clothes fit; that the style is right; that the fabrics look as if you hadn't economized too much.

Hart Schaffner & Marx
clhthes gives one that pleasant feeling of being right; they're worth all they cost for that alone. They don't cost much here.

Suits $18 and up

M. A. LEVINSON & CO.
This store is the Home of Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

We Recommend

Neponset Pariod Roofing

A Roofing which is largely used in government and railroad construction work and is highly endorsed by all leading architects as a most durable and Satisfactory Roofing.

Cheaper and better than Shingles

Before you buy any other Roofing investigate

Pariod Roofing

SOLD BY
CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

SEEDS ON HAND

SPELTS
BARLEY
COW PEAS
SPRING WHEAT
MILLET
SEED OATS

Argo Milling Co.

Charlevoix Theatre

Thursday April 18

Leon W. Washburn offers

STETSON'S

Big Spectacular
Production of
Uncle Tom's Cabin

With all the added features that has made this company famous

2 STETSON'S MILITARY BAND AND COLORED DRUM CORPS 2
Funny "Topsys" Eccentric "Marks"

Grand Transformation Scenes and Mechanical Effects
Jubilee Singers, Cakewalkers, Buck Dancers, Bloodhounds, Cotton Picking Scenes, Flots and Tableaux drawn by small Shetland Ponies.

WATCH FOR THE BIG PARADE
"The Barium of Them All"

PRICES: 50c, 35c
CHILDREN 25c

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Mrs. Wright Ripley has been ill the past few days.

Mrs. O. D. Hammond is out again after a short illness.

Anstin Taylor visited relatives at Boyne City this week.

Mrs. Will Campbell visited friends at Petoskey last week.

Mrs. Ella Tillotson visited friends at Boyne City last week.

Walter Cook of Petoskey is in the city on business this week.

George Scafe of Traverse City, was here a few days last week.

H. B. Hipp of East Jordan, was in the latter part of the week.

Mrs. J. R. Foley of Petoskey has been visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hagrison of Petoskey are in the city today.

Capt. C. A. Webb of Traverse City was here on business yesterday.

Leo Small of Milwaukee, is making friends in the city a short visit.

Everyone reports a good time at the K. of P. dance given last evening.

Keat Hatters of Traverse City was here on business the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou See spent Sunday at Petoskey with their brother Charles.

Charles Smith left for Pellston last week, where he has accepted a position.

Mrs. Yates of the Carr millinery store, spent Sunday with friends at Petoskey.

George Loring and son, Bruce, of Boyne City were here the first of the week.

James Hilton of St. Louis, Mo. is making a short visit with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kenyon of Mackinac Island are in the city for a few days.

Mrs. Anna Bowman of Bay Shore was the guest of Mrs. M. A. Babcock last Monday.

Mrs. Alice Richards and son Edmund of Traverse City are visiting relatives here.

Sid Henry is home from Newberry where he worked during the winter months.

Patrick H. Kelley will be a candidate for Congressman-at-large from Michigan.

Mrs. M. A. Habenck visited friends at Bay Shore last week returning home Saturday.

Floyd Blair of Mackinac Island arrived home today for a short visit with his parents.

Professor Rankin of Ann Arbor will address the Men's Bible class Sunday at noon.

Roy Stanford arrived home from Toledo Saturday and will remain here a short time.

Claire Conlter left Saturday for San Francisco, after making his parents a short visit.

The City of Boyne expects to start on the Beaver run Monday, until the latter is fitted out.

Leo Carey arrived home Saturday night from Detroit, where he has been several months.

Miss Lois Frazier was unable to attend school the first of the week on account of illness.

Miss Elsie See made a short trip to Petoskey yesterday afternoon returning this morning.

The Misses Compton and little Lile Beaudoin made a short trip to Traverse City today.

Homer Fitch returned to Escanaba the first of the week after visiting a short time here.

Miss Irene Harsha returned to Detroit Monday after visiting with her parents the past week.

The work of excavating for the big addition to Hooker & Sons livery barn is nearly completed.

Miss Grace Daniels arrived home last week from Chicago where she has been spending the winter.

Joe Eckstrom of Boyne Falls drove R. A. Emrey's new car down here Monday from Boyne City.

H. E. McHugh and wife are moving into the house owned by Charles Swallow on Antrim street.

Cliff Papineau has been promoted to the position of chief engineer on the Martia's Reef lightship, No. 89.

Mont Withers has bought of E. E. Frazier, one of his houses on Clinton Street, and is now occupying it.

Lee Scroggie of Saginaw, who acts as claim agent for the P. M., spent a few days with his parents last week.

A new dryman appeared in the city Saturday morning. He is the son of Rollet Rows, hence that smile.

Mrs. H. L. Iddings and daughter Horatia, returned last week from Chicago where they made a short visit.

Rev. Putnam will deliver the fifth sermon on Al Priddy's book, "Through the Mill," next Sunday evening.

Harry Dodge arrived home from Detroit this morning to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Lulu Oberlin.

The Missouri is expected to make her first trip here about the 20th, it depending on the ice condition at this place.

Mrs. Lena Leviason returned home Monday from various southern points where she made an extended visit.

Mrs. A. L. Conlter left yesterday morning for Ypsilanti where she will make an extended visit with her parents.

Mrs. Raymond M. Brockway and children have returned from Petoskey where they made a short visit with relatives.

Bert Carey has returned home from the southern part of the state where he has been working the past two months.

Mrs. Charles Rex has returned to her home at Elk Rapids, after visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. D. McLachlan.

R. A. Emrey's new Overland car arrived here Monday by the way of Boyne City, and is one of the finest now owned in the city.

Cleland and Ainslie Mayne, Percy and Leslie Crane, and Hugo Hampton returned to their school duties at Ann Arbor Monday.

F. L. Slaght left Saturday for Grand Rapids on a visit. Some say he will not return alone, a fact which remains to be seen.

Work has commenced on the new VanPelt building next to the State Savings Bank which will be occupied by Myrtle Young & Son.

H. S. Harsha's real estate and loan office is now located in the building on Bridge street formerly occupied by Myrtle Young & Son.

The Ann Arbor railroad announces that it will rebuild the Royal Froatenac hotel at Frankfort. Work will commence at once.

Arthur Burgeon and Miss Mildred Fanning returned Saturday from Chicago where they had been buying goods for the new store.

Mrs. Lydia Henry spent Sunday with friends at Petoskey returning home Monday. While there she attended a meeting of the Royal Neighbors.

Professor Rankin of Ann Arbor will deliver the third lecture of the University Extension course at the Methodist church Saturday evening. Admission free.

Mrs. Charles See is spending a few days at Petoskey with Mr. See, whose condition at this time is somewhat better as he is now able to sit up a little each day.

The Northwestern Macabean association will hold its two next conventions at Traverse City. This body includes the lodges of about twenty counties in the state.

Geo. A. Weaver, Sunday school missionary of Petoskey will speak at the Marion town hall next Sunday afternoon. The Sunday school will be re-organized at that time.

At the eleventh district Republican convention held at Reed City Wednesday, W. H. White of Boyne City was elected one of the delegates from this district to the Republican national convention.

The Evangelical association of Michigan in session at Owosso last week announced the following appointments: Hortons Bay, B. E. Belknap; Boyne City, C. A. Glass.

Announcements have been received here of the marriage of Clyde Shepard son of Charles Shepard formerly of this city and a young lady from Benton Harbor, at which place they will make their home.

The regular teachers' examination will be held in this city April 25 and 26. All interested will please notice that under the new law this examination takes the place of the June examination. See notice on first page.

R. W. Paddock, A. F. Bridge, R. W. Kane, Charles Emrey, A. J. Usher, E. S. Stacks, R. C. Wilkison, Harry Nicholls, R. C. Hammett, F. J. Meach and D. S. Payton attended the Good Roads meeting at East Jordan Monday.

The report which has been generally circulated that the "Appeal to Reason," the socialist organ had suspended publication is without foundation and the proprietors have brought suit against the papers responsible for the rumor for one million dollars of damages.

Miss Genevieve Preston a well known Charlevoix girl, and Schuyler Sanby of Ithaca were united in marriage at Petoskey last Sunday. The ceremony took place at the home of the groom's mother. The decorations were carried out in pink and white and a bounteous feast followed the ceremony. The happy couple are now on a brief wedding trip to Traverse City.

At the home of the groom's parents in Eveline township, last week, occurred the marriage of John Knudsen and Miss Tessie Hunter, formerly of this city. About fifty guests witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. H. A. Putnam, after which a sumptuous dinner was served. The best wishes of many friends follow these young people.

ANTRIM COUNTY REPUBLICAN CLUB

Will Hold Annual Banquet at Central Lake April 26.

Prominent Republicans Will Be Present From All Over the State.

The Antrim County Republican Club will hold their fifth annual meeting and banquet at Central Lake, Friday, April 26, 1912. The club was organized five years ago, and has steadily grown in membership and prominence each year, and has a membership of about two hundred, consisting of prominent republican workers from every township in the county, and its grand success and state wide prominence is due to the fact that every member is a star booster for the club and republicanism. All republicans are invited to join, and he should deem it a privilege and an honor to enroll as a member and to attend the annual banquet, which in itself will more than repay you for the money and time expended. The principal purpose served by such organizations is the holding of an annual republican banquet, which forms an excellent and very essential opportunity for republicans to get together and listen to good republican doctrine, and indulge in good fellowship.

Arrangements are practically completed for the banquet, and the executive officers of the club have spared neither time or expense in their efforts to furnish a high class entertainment for all who attend. H. S. Emerson, treasurer of the club, has been an essential factor in securing speakers, and President W. S. Richardson has been busy looking after the details of the banquet at Central Lake. Hon. A. B. Dougherty, of Elk Rapids, will officiate as toast master. Hon. Herbert F. Baker, speaker of the House, and candidate for United States senator; Hon. Frank H. Scott, senator from Alpena, and a prominent factor in the upper house; Hon. John Q. Ross, our popular lieutenant governor of Muskegon, and Gerrit J. Dickema, of Holland, ex-congressman, ex-chairman of state central committee, and one of the most prominent men in Michigan, will speak.

The secretary has personal letters on file from all these gentlemen stating that they will surely be with us on that evening. The Traverse City male quartet and orchestra will furnish the music, and to all lovers of music we guarantee a treat in this line. The banquet will be served by the ladies of the Congregational church at 8 o'clock p. m.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Will Hold Last Meeting of the Year Friday Evening, April 19, 1912.

The Charlevoix Historical society will hold the last meeting of the year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Staahaa, Friday evening, April 19. Following is the program:

Music.
Paper, "Some of the activities of our day and their promulgators," I. M. DeVoe.
Intermission.
Scene from "The Winter's Tale," members of the Shakespeare Study club.
Music.
Election of officers.

Teachers' Examination.

The regular examination for April will be held in the high school building in the city of Charlevoix on Thursday and Friday, April 25 and 26, beginning at 8:30 standard time.

One half the questions in reading will be based on Hudson's Introduction to the History of Literature. Certificates for all grades will be issued from this examination.

Paper will be furnished for applicants.

Applicants who expect to have their papers forwarded to other commissioners will write with pen. Others may use pen or pencil. All applicants will please notice that this examination is held under the new law changing the date from June to April. J. H. Milford, Commissioner.

CRANE'S

SHIRT WAISTS SPRING 1912

Our line of Waists this year is chosen from the best of the famous "Perfection" line, which for beauty of finish, fit and style cannot be beaten.

The variety of styles is large and regardless of price are perfectly made.

PRICES: 98c

- $1.25
- $1.50
- $2.00
- $2.25
- $2.50
- $2.85
- $3.75
- $5.00

CROSS-COUNTRY RUN

Course Six and One-Half Miles Covered By Eleven Contestants.

The first annual C. H. S. cross country run took place last Saturday. The course was from the high school building to the life saver's post on South Point and return, a distance of 6 1/2 miles. There were twelve entries for the race of which number all but one finished. The winners of first and second place were awarded the cross country monograms and will represent the C. H. S. in the Northern Michigan cross country run at Petoskey. Results follow:

First—Andrew Skye, time 31 min. 38.25 sec.
Second—Paul Harsha, time 31 min. 18 sec.
Third—Dean Scroggie, time not taken.
Fourth—Ned Durance, time not taken.

Carload of Buggies Just Unloaded

ALL KINDS

Durant & Dort and Flint Wagon Works

Now is the time to buy the Buggy you have been thinking about. This is the time to get the choice of the big shipment, and the prices are within the reach of all.

J. R. COOPER

Antrim Street

Charlevoix, Michigan

A House to Rent

Mr. Landlord:

Are you getting as much rent from your houses as you should, as much as the other houses in the same neighborhood bring. If not,

There is a Reason

If you were renting a house for your own use would you pay as much for one from which the paint had nearly all peeled or chalked off, as you would for the one which showed the effect of the painter's brush. Again do you realize that after the paint has worn off, that water soaks in and rots the wood? A house which is kept well painted will last many years longer than one that has been neglected.

Think it Over. Does your House need Painting

DeVoe's Lead and Zinc Paint

Will cover more surface and last longer than any other made. We sell it.

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than five first insertion.

FOR SALE—1 Wagon just overhauled. Also Milling Co. 1017

FOR SALE—House, coming six years. Inquire of R. C. Korb. 1017

FOR SALE—20 Spring Pigs. Call or address. Thos. Cummings, Charlevoix, Michigan, Route 4. 1012-1014

FOR SALE—House, bath and two lots on easy terms. Enquire at the premises. 201 Lewis street. 1017

TO EXCHANGE—For fresh eggs or wood or for sale—Beds, springs, mattresses, commodes, chamber sets, etc. 1017

FOR SALE—Eggs from thoroughbred S. C. Rhode Island Reds. $1.50 per 15 also 2 Black Orpington cockerets. Will buy, Petoskey. 1017

FARM FOR SALE—3 miles north of Charlevoix, 40 acres—cleared, fully well improved. Call or write D. W. Mahoney, P. O. box 123. 1011-1012

WANTED—Good live man to take the Agency for our line of gold watches, sold direct to consumers. Write for particulars. CRESWELL WATCH CO., Lansing, Michigan. 1010-1011

FOR SALE—The large frame building in Charlevoix known as the North Hotel Shop, to be removed by larger frame present premises. Can be bought cheap if taken at once. See Robert W. Knorr at Charlevoix, or W. H. Aldrich, Room 104 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill. 1011

FRECKLES

By Gene Stratton-
Porter

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY DOUBLEDAY
PAGE & CO

(Continued from page three)

people lived. She told all about the little baby that she could remember, when it was born, how it was named for the man's elder brother, that it had been cut off at the knee, and where she had put it to be doctor and taken care of. She told them that his mother and father were both turned, and she begged and implored them to come and get it.

"You think it would have melted a heart of ice, but that out came my heart to melt, for he got that water and read it. He did it away among his papers and never told a soul. A few months ago he died. When his elder son went to settle up his business he found that letter, the most first thing. He dropped everything, and came, with his wife to hunt that baby, because he and always loved his brother dearly, and wanted him back. He had wanted to him all he dared all these years, and when he got here you were gone. I mean the baby was gone—and I don't tell you, Freckles, for you see I might have happened to you like that just as easy as to that other boy."

Freckles reached up and turned the angel's face until he caught her eyes to meet his.

"Angel," said Freckles, "it's catching her what, are you trying to tell me that there is somebody coming a boy that you're thinking might be me? Are you saying you've found me relations?"

Then the angel's eyes came down. The time had come. She phoned Freckles' arms to his sides and held above him.

"How strong are you, dear heart?" she breathed. "How brave are you? Can you hear it? Dare I tell you that?"

"No," gasped Freckles. "Not if you're sure! I can't hear it! I'll die if you do!"

The day had been one unrelenting strain with the angel. Nerve tension was drawn to the finest thread. It snapped suddenly.

"Die?" she flamed. "Die, if I tell you that! You said this morning that you would die if you didn't know your name, and if your people were honorable. Now I've gone and found you a name that stands for ages of honor, a mother that loved you enough to go into the fire and die for you, and the nicest kind of relatives, and you turn round and say you'll die over that! You just try dying and you'll get a good slap!"

The angel stood glaring at him. One second Freckles lay paralyzed and dumb with astonishment. The next the Irish in his soul rose above everything. A roar of laughter burst from him. The terrified angel caught him in her arms and tried to smother the sound. She implored and commanded. The tears rolled from Freckles' eyes and he wheezed on. When he was too worn out to utter another sound his eyes languished silently.

When he was quiet and rested the angel commenced talking to him softly.

"Dear Freckles," she was saying, "across your knees there is the face of the mother that went into the fire for you, and I know the name—and full of honor—to which you were born. Dear heart, which will you have first?"

"Me mother!"

She lifted the lovely pictured face and set it in the nook of his arm. Freckles caught her hand and drew

"Me mother! Oh, me mother! Can you ever be forgiving me? Oh, me beautiful little mother!" chimed Freckles over and over in exalted wonder.

"Wait!" cried the angel to the name question she could no more answer than he could ask. "Wait! I will wait!"

She hurried to the table, caught up the nurse's pencil and on the back of a prescription tablet wrote, "Terence Maxwell O'More, Dunderry House, County Clare, Ireland."

Before she had finished came Freckles' voice, "Angel, are you hurrying?"

"Yes," said the angel. "I am. But there is a good deal of it. I have to put in your house and country, so that you will feel located."

"Me house?" marveled Freckles.

"Of course," said the angel. "Your uncle says your grandmother left your father her dower house and estate, because she knew his father would cut him off. You get that, and all your share of your grandfather's property besides. It is all set off for you and waiting. Lord O'More told me so. I suspect you are richer than McLeane Freckles."

She closed his fingers over the slip and straightened his hair.

"Now you are all right, dear little heretofore," she said. "You go to sleep and don't think of a thing but just pure joy, joy, joy! I'll keep you people until you wake up."

Freckles caught her skirt as she turned from him.

"I'll go to sleep in five minutes," he said. "If you will be doing just one thing more for me. Send for your father. Oh, angel, send for him quick!"

One instant the angel stood looking down on him. The next a crimson wave dived stained her lovely face. Her chin began a spasmodic quivering and tears sprang into her eyes. Her hands caught at her chest as if she were stifling. Freckles' grasp on her tightened until he drew her up to him and then down beside him. He slipped his arm about her and drew her face to his pillow.

"Don't anger; for the love of mercy don't be doing that," he implored. "I can't be hearing it. Tell me. You must tell me."

The angel shook her head.

"That isn't that, angel," said Freckles. "You must tell me when it is like tearing the heart raw from the breast. And you was for making everything heaven—just heaven and nothing else for me. If I'm so much more now than I was an hour ago, may be I can be thinking of some way to fix things. You will be telling me?"

He ceased softly, moving his cheek against her hair.

The angel's head moved in negation. Freckles did a moment of intent thinging.

"Maybe I can be guessing," he whispered. "Will you be giving me three chances?"

"There was just the faintest possible assent."

"You didn't want me to be knowing my name," guessed Freckles.

The angel's head sprang from the pillow and her tear stained face flamed with outraged indignation.

"Why, I did, too!" she burst out angrily.

"One gone," said Freckles calmly. "You didn't want me to have relatives, a home, and money."

"I did!" screamed the angel. "Didn't I go myself, all alone, into the city, and find them when I was afraid as death? I did too!"

"Two gone," said Freckles. "You didn't want the beautifullest girl in the world to be telling me—"

Down went the angel's face, and a heavy sob shook her. Freckles' chest tightened about her shoulders, and his face, in its conflicting emotions, was a study. Despite all it meant to him to know at last his name and that he was of honorable birth—knowledge without which life was an eternal disgrace and burden—the one thing that was hammering in Freckles' heart and beating in his brain past any attempted expression was the fact that, while he might really have been nameless, the angel had told him that she loved him. He could find no word with which to begin to voice the rapture of his heart over that. But it she regretted it, if it had been a thing done out of her pity for his condition or her feeling of responsibility, if it killed him after all, there was only one thing left to do.

"Angel," whispered Freckles with his lips against her hair, "you haven't learned your history book very well, or you've forgotten."

"Forgotten what?" sobbed the angel.

"Forgotten about the real knight, ladybird," breathed Freckles softly. "Don't you know that if anything happened that made his lady sorry a real knight just simply couldn't be remembering it? Angel, darling little Swamp Angel, you be listening to me. There was one night on the trail, one solemn, grand, white night that there wasn't even any other like before or since, when the dear heart put his arm about me and told me that he loved me, but if you care, angel, if you don't want it that way, why, I ain't remembering that anybody else ever did—not in me whole life."

The angel lifted her head and looked into the depths of Freckles' honest gray eyes, and they met hers unwaveringly, but the pain in them was pitiful.

"Do you mean," she demanded, "that you don't remember that a brave forward girl told you, when you hadn't asked her, that she—the angel choked on it a second, but she gave a gulp and brought it out bravely—"that she loved you?"

"No!" thundered Freckles. "No! I don't remember anything of the kind."

But all the same birds of his soul burst into melody over that one little chance. "When you hadn't asked her."

"But you will," said the angel. "You may live to be an old, old man, and then you will."

"I will not!" cried Freckles. "How can you think it, angel?"

"You won't even look as if you remember!"

"I will not!" persisted Freckles. "I'd rather give it all up now and go out into eternity alone, without ever seeing a soul of me same blood or me name or hearing another word said to me."

by the name I was born to this to remember anything that would be hurting you, angel."

(Continued next week.)

A Mother's Care.

A careful mother will not give her child a medicine without knowing it is pure, contains no opiates, and has healing and curative qualities. Such a medicine is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for cough, whooping cough, bronchitis, and all affections of the throat and chest and lungs. Best and safest for children and grown persons. Contains no opiate. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

CRAFTSMAN LORE.

How to Make a Convenient Folding Desk.

Folding desks which take up scarcely any space in a room of limited proportions and which may easily be transported in a trunk of average size may be made by the amateur worker as an Easter gift for a woman friend. The foundation of the desk is the two leaf size in nursery clothes-horses, which is about the height of the ordinary table. When fully opened this article forms a triangular space, into which must be fitted a triangular angle of the heaviest cardboard obtainable, and two inches from the edge of two of its sides must be punched holes at regular and frequent intervals. To prevent these holes from tearing out have a shoe collar fit them with brass eyelets after the upper surface of the cardboard has been smoothly covered with crotone, crash, art duclon or whatever may be the chosen material of the desk and its fittings. Then run strong colored tapes through these eyelets and attach the cardboard to the uppermost bars of the clotheshorse. This desk will not be of the sort to support the weight of the body, but it will be sufficiently substantial for ordinary service and far more steady than a knee pad, and when not in use one row of tapes may be untied, the cardboard top dropped between the leaves of the clotheshorse and the desk placed flat against a wall or upon a shelf. The ordinary desk equipment—bottle case, calendar, and box for pens—may be kept on the desk ordinarily, but for them should be provided a capacious box covered with material matching the upper side of the cardboard shelf.

Mrs. Lonise Williams, 1108 Lyons Street, Flint, Michigan, says, "My daughter had suffered with rheumatism for a long time, when she took Foley Kidney Pills, and in a short time the rheumatic pains left her and she has been well ever since. I gladly recommend Foley Kidney Pills as a cure for rheumatism and kidney trouble." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

The penguin, perhaps the greatest layer of the wild fowls, is declared to be the progenitor of the Indian Runner duck, the egg machine of the duck tribe.

When dry picking if the birds are not stuck right the feathers will not loosen, and the bird will not bleed properly, and as a result the bloody carcass brings a low price.

When eggs under hens aren't tested you run the risk of a rot being broken over the rest and spoiling them. If the hen breaks a rot and it is smeared on a newly hatched chick, that chick's name is Demits.

We aren't hearing so much nowadays about those $10,000 and $20,000 hens that were advertised. Have they all gone to a premature grave, or have their owners discovered that they made a laughing-stock of themselves before the people.

Sugar barrels are good receptacles for packing poultry. They are clean, cheap and have no smell. They hold about 300 pounds, and the dressed fowls should be packed breast down and shipped the day after killing it not packed in ice.

Egg farmers at Cape Colony, South Africa, do not have to compete with an egg trust, but with the penguins which lay vast quantities of eggs on the South African coast and its islands. These eggs are shipped to London, where they sell for 60 cents per dozen.

Egg producers are running their hatcheries overtime to make the American hen lay more eggs and are doing it, but at the same time the hen is turning out infertile eggs to beat the band. The past season was one of poor hatches, and phenomenal laying is the chief cause.

Mrs. Frank Metcalf of California has the distinction of being the only American woman who has originated a new breed of poultry. Her breed, the Buckeyes, is a composite of Plymouth Rock, Buff Cochins, Black Breasted Red Game and Indian Game and is a bird built in particular for pounds of the fancy meat and eggs.

In the case of a Florida firm against the Southern Express company for charging an exorbitant rate on eggs in cases the Interstate commerce commission compelled the express company to make a reduction of 22 per cent. Many fanciers have ceased to ship eggs for hatching an account of the excessive express charges and rough handling.

L. M. Darnitz.

Trout and Whitefish.
The average lake trout lays 60,000 eggs each season and the whitefish a greater number.

AS YOU WANT IT

The Courier's Job Department delight in putting out your work as you want it. If you are in doubt we will be pleased to give you advice. Our printers understand the art and our office is equipped with the best and latest new machinery and new type faces this season.

FACTS!!! FACTS!!!

The Courier

Has the largest Circulation
Prints more Local News
Has more Special Features

Than any other paper in this territory. We cover the field thoroughly. Mr. Advertiser--- Don't this mean something to you?

INVESTIGATE THESE FACTS

If you are not already a Subscriber to the Courier send for a three month's trial subscription or a Sample Copy. Once a Subscriber Always One. That's the Record for we Deliver the Goods.

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings Results

A Newspaper that Prints The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

ROYAL BAKING-POWDER

Absolutely Pure

To have pure and wholesome food, be sure that your baking powder is made from cream of tartar and not from alum.

The Label will guide you

Royal is the only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum No Lime Phosphates

Grange Column

Harmony Grange.

Harmony grange held another of its interesting meetings on Tuesday evening, April 9. Applications for membership by debit was received from Bernice VanVilkinsburg, who was elected, as well as Miss Emma Travis, whose application was received at the previous meeting.

Woman's work committee reported that it would meet next with Sister Marcia H. Burdick on Wednesday, April 17th. Motion was made and carried that we celebrate the 2nd anniversary on Monday evening, April 15, by having a supper and program with the families of the members invited. The anniversary celebration talk moved Sister Coykendall to suggest that we begin to make steps towards building a hall and as a first step, offered a site. Further discussion of the matter was postponed until a later meeting.

The lecturer's program was rendered as follows:

Roll call, responded to by favorite quotations.

Song, O. D. Wilson, popular.

Recitation, Miss Mildred Leller, (German).

Reading, Miss Viola Wilson, (un- known).

Music, Harmony Grange orchestra, classical.

Talk, H. L. Wilson, "Mistakes I have made and how I propose to remedy them"—many.

"The Funniest Thing I Know," Mrs. Marcia H. Burdick, "That the Lecturer asked Mrs. Burdick to sing."

Song, W. C. Burdick, "She's the Girl for me"—funny.

Remarks on plowing at the proper season, by Mrs. Arvilla Coykendall.

Bring your harness to Frank Chamberlin for repairs and oiling. Best and cheapest work in the city. Shen's old stand.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

Farm and Garden

BREEDING OF CORN.

Method of Artificial Pollination Recommended by Federal Experts.

In the breeding of corn, if accurate records regarding parentage are to be kept, all pollinations must be done by hand. In the methods of study now popular under pollinations are self pollinations—that is, it is necessary to place the pollen of a plant on the silks of the same plant and protect the silks from all other pollen. By the methods usually employed it is impossible to be certain that all foreign pollen is excluded.

The usual method of making self pollinations is to inclose the tassels and young ears in strong paper bags. When pollen has accumulated in the bag surrounding the tassel and the silks have emerged from the young ear the bag containing the pollen is removed. The ear is then uncovered, the pollen dusted over the silks and the bag replaced on the ear. During the operation the silks are necessarily exposed for a short time to any pollen that may be floating in the air. A number of refinements have been devised by different operators to reduce the chances of the silks receiving foreign pollen. The most effective is that proposed by Roberts. In his experimental field the tassels are all bagged before they begin shedding pollen.

There is thus no pollen free in the air of the field, except the small quantity that escapes while making the hand pollinations. The quantity of free pollen is further reduced by an ingenious method of applying the pollen by means of an insect powder "gun" or Photograph by United States department of agriculture.

CORN PLANT, SHOWING METHOD OF USING TUBE TO INSURE SELF POLLINATION.

spring blower. Another precaution used by careful operators is to wash their hands in alcohol after each pollination.

The method here proposed involves the use of strong paper tubes about four inches in diameter and forty inches long. To apply the tubes one end is pushed over the tassel and wired firmly at a point just below the upper end of the last leaf sheath. The other end of the tube is then brought down and passed over the young ear and securely wired, as shown in the cut. In pulling the tube down to the ear the tassel will be bent to one side in such a way that as soon as the anthers open the pollen falls down the tube and comes in contact with the silks. To protect against any foreign pollen which may be present on the tassel or ear when bagged the tubes should be put in place four or five days before the silks are expected to appear. The greatest difficulty in applying the tubes is to allow for the elongation of the stalk above the ear.

Unless guarded against this elongation will break the stalk at the base of the tassel and then push through the paper, making an opening where foreign pollen can enter. To prevent this breaking of the tube two extra folds are taken where the paper is cemented, making a strip an inch or so wide composed of four thicknesses of paper. In adjusting the tubes this strip is placed on the upper side, causing the tube to form an even curve instead of bending sharply at one point.

Since the tubes remain in place until all danger from foreign pollen is past, provision must be made for the increasing size of the ear. This can be done by using a coiled instead of a straight wire in fasten the tube to the ear.—Circular United States Department of Agriculture.

Follow a definite rotation and free yourself and your family from dependence upon a staple crop and the credit system. Diversified farming will make it possible.

INDUSTRY.

Honorable industry always travels the same road with enjoyment and duty, and progress is altogether impossible without it.—Samuel Smiles.

For anything in the harness line or repair work, go to Frank Chamberlin's, Shen's old stand.

The old favorite, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Charlevoix theater, Thursday evening, April 18.

HORSE COLLARS

This is the time of the year that your horse needs a New Collar. Why have your horse's shoulders ruined by using an old worn-out collar when you can buy a new fitting collar of me for a small investment.

See my line that I buy direct from the Collar Factory and I can Save you money.

Benj. Brown

THIRTY-SIX TEACHERS

In Agricultural Extension Work to Be Located in Michigan.

Plans have been worked out by the federal department of agriculture for an elaborate system of agricultural extension work in this state, the plan contemplates the expenditure of $15,000 and by the national government $40,000 by the state which would employ a force of thirty-six teachers, then each county enjoying the services of such demonstrator would be expected to pay half his salary and expenses.

The organization proposed is that the work for the entire state be in the hands of a man located at the Agricultural college. Directly under him would be about five men in charge of districts into which the state would be divided. These men would direct the work of the county demonstrators of which there would be about thirty. Each county enjoying the services of one of them would be expected to raise about $1,000.

The department is sure that there would be no difficulty in getting thirty Michigan counties to contribute money for this purpose. Already the supervisors of Alcona county have voted $250 in the expectation that Alpena, Presque Isle and Montmorency would vote a like sum and share in the services of a demonstrator. Applications are also on file from Branch, Ogemaw, Otsego and Ontonagon counties.

The Detroit board of trade has offered financial assistance and it is believed that the Grand Rapids association of commerce and other commercial organizations of Michigan will co-operate in the movement.

THEATRICAL

Speaking the universal language of the heart and reflecting, like a mirror, the innermost emotions of the mind, Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is more than a stage play—it is a wonderful moral classic. It argues for the two really great themes that can engage the mind of a man—human liberty and the immortality of the soul. It is a play that has long been a popular favorite with the infrequent theatre-goers and regular patrons alike, and wherever the Stetson company appears, it is greeted with a crowd. There is just enough pathos during the performance to show that life is not all sunshine and then comes floods of laughter which brings one away from sorrow's pall. Specialties are interspersed throughout the major numbers of scenes, so that the lover of high-class vaudeville, is well repaid for his time and money by attending the Stetson show, which will be seen at the Charlevoix theatre, Thursday evening, April 18. Prices 50 and 35 cents. Children 25 cents.

Professor Tillis and his Marionettes in human vaudeville, were a unique and novel attraction at the Majestic theater last week. A complete vaudeville show was staged by the dummy artists in both singing, dancing and talking acts. Mr. Tillis displayed excellent control of his miniature actors and stageland, giving to Charlevoix theater enthusiasts something new, pleasing and very laughable, as well as interesting.

Contracting and Building.

Let me figure with you on your repair work or new buildings. Will guarantee work first-class. J. M. Saunders, phone 165.

Good specialties at "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Charlevoix theater, Thursday evening, April 18.

Change of Location

Myrtie Young & Son
Insurance
Teddy Bear Bread

Temporarily
located first door west of
POWERS PLUMBING SHOP

VanPelt Place Phone 275

Take Care of the Pennies

And the Dollars will Take Care of Themselves

One of the best ways to save Pennies is to buy at lowest prices—Quality Considered.

Lowest Prices and Best Values are Offered at

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE
Telephone 125 Antrim Street

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT!

DOING WHAT?

Buying Shoes from the Pentucket Shoe Store

They are the Best

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor
320 Bridge Street Next to Bakers' Inn

Union Revival Meetings.

Evangelistic services will be held every evening this week and perhaps next also, in the store-room next to the Majestic Theatre. The local pastors will change of the meetings, the room has been fitted up in "mission style" with an organ, about 150 chairs and scriptural mottoes hanging upon the wall. Special song service every night at 7:30. A most cordial invitation is extended to all of the singers of the different churches to come and take their places with the choir. Everybody is invited to the meetings, come and bring your friends.

Notice.

Whereas, my wife, Martha, has left my bed and board without just cause and provocation, all persons are hereby warned not to trust her on my account on and after this date.
John Runyon.
April 15, 1912

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 17

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

HE LIKES THE STATE OF FLORIDA

Interesting Letter From Former Resident of Marion Township.

TAKES ISSUE WITH EDITOR

The Convict System of Road Building Makes Good Roads.

Whole State is Not For Sale—Trains Are Only Five Hours Late—Crop Yields Are Good.

Little River, Florida, April 13, 1912.

Dear Editor:

I see in your issue of March 6th that your contract with the Detroit House of Correction has been cancelled.

Now as to the handling of this class of convicts. I say convicts, because that is what we commonly called them. Here in Dade county, Florida, we have the chain gangs in which these prisoners are sentenced.

We have a county superintendent who with his appointed guards, have the working of these convicts, of course he works them under the general supervision and orders of our county board of commissioners.

I believe all who have visited this county will agree with me that we have as good roads as are to be found anywhere in the United States, and our convicts are at work on them continually.

I highly endorse this plan for the county of Charlevoix and feel sure that such would prove very satisfactory in obtaining and maintaining for you people better roads. Having lived the first eighteen years of my life in Charlevoix county at home with my parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Macgett, on the old homestead in the town of Marion and that good old settlement called Barnard, you see I have reason to feel interested in the good roads of your county.

It is with great pleasure and the deepest interest that I read the lines of your paper which comes to me from time to time and I wish you the best of success.

Please allow space in your valued paper to put at right some of the statements made by Glenn M. DuBois in your issue of March 6th. No doubt my friend thought when he wrote this that it would never come back to us, but like the man who talks about his neighbor it acts as a restless boomerang. It soon comes back again.

His head lines, "Whole State is For Sale," is untrue, or somewhat exaggerated, there is a great extent of the property in Dade county that is not labeled "For Sale." For instance our Congressman, Frank Clark, stated that he owned land in Florida which he thought so much of that it was not on the market and there are plenty like him in this respect. I take for granted that this writer has property for sale in our good old State of Michigan. However let us try to be fair to all and in all.

I do not believe that any one of us have any right to describe an entire state just from going across it, and in this instance, his journey was through what is generally conceded to be the poorest part of the whole state.

For example, I heard a man say just the other day that on his farm in Southern Michigan, this last fall he dug two acres of potatoes and only got a total of twelve bushels, however this would not be a fair statement to make on the state for I have dug potatoes in Michigan myself that yielded 300 bushels to an acre. I will state right here that our average yield in this particular section of Florida, this season, was 200 bushels of potatoes to an acre, and some sold as high as two dollars and ten cents per bushel, the lowest I have heard was one dollar and sixty cents.

Allowing that most of our property is for sale and labelled accordingly, people are here every winter from all the northern states and Canada. They are here to get away from the severe cold of the north, we have what they want, homes in a healthy and delightful warm climate and we have a right to label it, like Michigan or elsewhere. All we ask is our price. I know of property in Michigan which would gladly trade for property in Dade county, Florida, but I know of no land here to be traded for northern property. We sometimes come north, not to find a better climate, for the north has nothing we want except our friends and the good will of the people at large.

He says: Section men are unknown, and, that trains go when they please and arrive when they get ready. This does not refer properly to conditions here. I have never known a train to be over five hours late here; but I have known on several occasions trains to be blocked by snow and arrive twenty-four hours late in our good state of Michigan.

I came here September 22nd, 1906. I have lived here continually except eight weeks which myself and family spent very enjoyably last summer with you in Michigan visiting our relatives and friends, most of this time with my parents in Charlevoix county and town of Marion. While we were with you between May 29th and July 21st the temperature varied from 50 to 110 degrees. Since I have been in Dade county, over five years, the temperature has not went down below 35 degrees nor over 98 degrees above.

Having lived twenty-two years in Michigan I admire her, the state where I was born, above all the northern states and I wish her to have all justice and fairness.

I pray don't think hard of me for using free sway, in what I say, and in stating to you that I intend to stay here so far away in this beautiful county of Dade.

Your ever true friend,

A. D. MACGETT.

JUNIOR HOP WAS SUCCESS

Hall and Parlors Were Most Beautifully Decorated.

Program Was Given—Dancing Closed Evening's Enjoyment.

The Junior hop given at the bank hall last Friday evening was a success in every way.

The decorations, consisted of ferns, pennants and pillows.

The parlor floors were covered with rugs and suitable furniture, all adding to the appearance of the hall.

The dance hall was decorated in blue and yellow, the Junior colors, while one parlor was in green and white for the seniors, and the other was carried out in red and white, the colors of the athletic association.

About one hundred guests were assembled, consisting of the seniors, juniors, board of education, and the faculty, each one being permitted to invite a friend.

The early part of the evening was given up to the program which was made up of a play, following which, several musical numbers and readings were rendered, and the class song and poem, which showed a good deal of class spirit.

After this the remainder of the evening was given up to dancing, punch and wafers being served throughout the evening.

Music was furnished by the Cohen orchestra.

Annual Meeting May 1

The indications are that the annual meeting of the Western Michigan Development Bureau to be held at Traverse City May 1, will be the best attended annual meeting in the history of the organization. The bureau has a larger membership now than at any former time and the members are evincing more than usual interest in the various campaigns being carried out.

Among the propositions to be considered at the annual meeting is an amendment to the by-laws so that the Western Michigan Press Club will be represented on the board of control by two directors, the plan being to elect the president and secretary of the club as directors.

Contracting and Building.

Let me figure with you on your repair work or new buildings. Will guarantee work first-class. J. M. Saunders, phone 165. 1411

BOARD OF COUNTY ROAD COMMISSIONERS ORGANIZED

Commissioner Hammett Elected Chairman—Plans are Laid for a Comprehensive Road System—Supervisors Will Meet Tuesday—Good Roads Mass Meeting Will be Held in Connection.

The county road commissioners met Monday and organized by electing Mr. Hammett, chairman.

The board, after investigating, decided to recommend to the board the building of about 150 miles of roads reaching every part of the county. The roads which the commissioners will recommend building follow below and when built it will mean a good road within the reach of everybody. The roads and mileage recommended are:

Charlevoix to Norwood, nine miles; Charlevoix to East Jordan via Paddock's, Goodyear's and Walker school house, fourteen miles; East Jordan to Deer Lake and Boyne City, twelve miles; East Jordan to Boyne City; Boyne City to Boyne Falls, five miles; Deer Lake to Boyne Falls, four miles; Boyne Falls into Hudson, six miles; Boyne City to Walloon Lake, six miles; Charlevoix to Chandler, nine miles; Road through Chandler and Hudson, eight miles; Boyne Falls to Charlevoix along G. R. & I. Railway, eight miles; Charlevoix to Boyne City, fourteen miles; Greensky Hill to Bay Shore, six miles; Boyne City through Evangeline and Bay town, ship, seven miles; Boyne City to Wildwood, three miles; from Charlevoix through Marion, six miles; East Jordan south to county line two miles; East Jordan to Ellsworth road, four miles; southwest portion South Arm township, six miles; Advance to South Arm ferry, seven miles; Beaver Island, six miles.

Tuesday the board of supervisors will meet in special session to consider the question of submitting the proposition to the voters of the county of bonding the county for the sum of $350,000, for the building of good roads. Petitions have been freely signed in every voting precinct of the county asking that the question be submitted and the people of Charlevoix county are thoroughly aroused to the need of good roads.

In connection with the meeting of the board a good roads mass meeting will be held. Representatives from the state highway department will be present and explain the workings of the county system, where it is in force; the bonding proposition will be fully explained and it is desired that everybody turn out.

Boost for Good Roads.

KICKED BY A HORSE

Frank Fox of Hortons Bay Badly Injured Sunday Morning.

Frank Fox of Hortons Bay met with a very painful accident last Sunday morning, at the old Burns farm on the north side in this city. Mr. Fox went into the barn to care for the horses and one of them became frightened at the raincoat he wore. In self defense, as the animal is not a vicious one, it kicked him in the right leg, the hoof going through the wearing apparel right to the bone.

The large bone of the limb was shattered into small pieces while the smaller bone was broken in two. A portion of the bone was removed, while the remaining fragments were wired together.

Mr. Fox is doing nicely under the care of Dr. Wilkinson.

SEVENTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY

M. W. LaPeer Surprised by Grand Army and Relief Corps.

The W. R. C. and G. A. R. surprised Mr. and Mrs. M. W. LaPeer at their home on the south side Tuesday afternoon. The event was the celebration of Mr. LaPeer's seventy-second birthday. The afternoon was spent in reviewing old times and then came a delicious supper, after which the host and hostess were presented with a beautiful salad dish. The evening was spent in merry-making. Upon departure the guests wished Mr. LaPeer many more birthdays.

TEN MILLION DOLLARS

Value of Bean Crop to the Growers of Michigan—Increased Crop.

The Michigan Bean Jobbers Association has issued a small pamphlet on the subject of "A Campaign for Better Seed and Larger Bean Crops." The bean crop of Michigan amounts to about $10,000,000 to the grower and the association is planning to double this. Better seed and different methods of harvesting are two of the ways in which this is to be done and the farmers of this vicinity will do well to look into the matter.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many friends who so kindly remembered us in our last bereavement and especially those who sent flowers to our dear one during her illness and assisted us night and day through all those trying hours.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Miller, Harry Dodge.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders' Supply Co. 1711

BANK RECEPTION

Formal Opening of New Home of State Savings Bank Held Thursday.

The formal opening of the new home of the State Savings Bank Thursday afternoon and evening was a happy event. From the close of the banking hours until late in the evening the beautiful new banking house (a full description of which was published last week) was thronged with friends and well wishers of the bank and its officials.

Cashier Rachow and assistants were assisted in receiving the guests by the directors and their wives and from the time the building was entered until passing out all the guests were made welcome.

While the statements of the bank, as published from time to time, have given evidence of its steady growth in public confidence the opening of its new home was additional proof of the wisdom of its present management, and a source of pride to everyone who has the future of our city at heart.

POINTS IN SCHOOL LAW

Of Interest to Pupils and Patrons of Our Schools.

To Which Attention Is Called by the State Superintendent, Wright.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Wright calls attention to the following important features of the school law:

Special efforts are being made this year to insure an accurate census of the children of school age in the state of Michigan. The new law requires those who take the census to make a house-to-house canvass in the fifteen or twenty days before June 1. It is upon this census that the primary apportionment is made.

The school board selects the census enumerator and he or she is to make a house-to-house canvass, placing upon the list the names of all children between the ages of five and twenty years, whose parents or legal guardians are residents of the district. Children of summer resorters and beet-weeders and other persons temporarily in the district are not to be taken on the census. The legal residence of the parents or guardians determines the residence of the child. Children, who are orphans or have been deserted by their parents, may be reported as "waifs" but an explanation must be made in each instance. The residence of the husband determines the residence of young people of school age who are married.

Hundreds of eighth grade students in the rural schools of Michigan are preparing for the annual state examination which will be conducted in the various counties of the state, May 16-17. Much depends upon the results of this examination as those who are successful in securing diplomas may have their tuition paid to one of the three nearest high schools if their parents or guardians make written application on or before the fourth Monday in June to the school board in their home district. Should a contestant fail to pass, and the parents are willing to pay the necessary tuition for the freshman year in high school and the child is admitted to the high school and successfully passes the ninth grade, and secures a written statement to that effect from the superintendent, then application may be made to the primary district board for tuition for the succeeding years but not, of course, for the ninth grade. The rural board cannot pay more than $20 a year for each pupil unless the people at the annual meeting vote to pay more.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Ironton grange will give a fish pond social on the evening of May 3. Ice cream and cake will also be served. Five cents and under for fishing. Ice cream and cake 10 cents. Everybody come. 1711

Apple Trees.

One hundred Wagner apple trees for sale. Will arrive Monday, April 23. Otto Powers, phone 180. 1711

VAN PELT GETS INTO THE GAME

Sends Boosting Letter For Cause of Good Roads in County.

SHOWS BY THE FIGURES

That The Bonding Proposition is Good Business Sense.

Let us Build The Roads and Reap Benefit Now—Population Would Increase—Put Charlevoix County on The Map.

Well, what do you think of this, not that? It is too good to be true. For an even thirty years I have been writing for and talking "Good Roads" in Charlevoix county. Twenty years ago, I used to feel proud, when so many men called me "Good Roads" instead of by my name. Even at this late date, to think that there is a possibility of riding over a good road into Charlevoix from any direction is proof positive that "de world shanty do move" as the old ditty said. $300,000! Whew! That is an awful sum. I can hear the old croakers saying all kinds of things, and prophesying dire disaster to the county. We are going to the devil, double taxation, crushing the men who voted for it, damning the country, threatening to leave the county, etc. Well, this does not amount to anything; it can be easily proved to such people that the saving of making trip to town would a good deal more than pay their extra taxes. The crushing and damning of these men would not hurt anybody, and the going away of such people would make room for three more progressive. If I owned Charlevoix county and could mortgage it for the sum of $300,000 with which to build good roads, I would do it in a minute, and believe that I was making a first class business transaction, that is, if I had to hand all the stuff over the roads that is being hauled at the present time. Surely 100 loads a day would be a low estimate of the number that are hauled over all the roads in the county, and as double the weight could be carried over a good road that can be carried over them as they now are, at $4.00 per day, it would be a saving of $120,000 a year. Suppose we had to pay 6 per cent interest; this would be $180,000 a year or $300,000, and we would still $100,000.00 a year to the good, so if it were the case, it would pay the bonds in three years.

I will admit that perhaps this is somewhat overdrawn, but it is plain to be seen that long before the bonds would become due, the expense of building the roads would have been paid two or three times over, saying nothing about the pleasure of driving on them as compared with the "all-day-dragging-along" we now have to do.

Charlevoix is on the map, and it is bound to be grandest and best county in the state of Michigan.

Think of "Medmah," the great, great Shriner City on the north shore of Pine Lake, which is more than likely the place to be chosen by the Shriners for the proper location for building their beautiful city, then have a fine road, skirting the shore of Pine Lake from Charlevoix to Boyne City, Boyne City to East Jordan, and East Jordan back to Charlevoix, and every man in Charlevoix would be compelled to leave his own home and live in a tent or a barn in order to accommodate the large influx of people who would come to our beautiful county, so let us build the roads, and build them now.

WILL SPEAK MAY 4

Dr. Vaughn of University of Michigan on Tuberculosis and Its Eradication.

A telegram just received from President Hutchins of the U. of M. states that it is necessary to postpone the lecture on "Tuberculosis and its Eradication" to May 4. Don't forget the date and plan to attend. Dr. Vaughn is one of the best known medical experts in the world and dean of the medical department of the university.

Let the Courier come with Spring

BLOCKADED

Every Household in Charlevoix Should Know How to Resist It.

The back aches because the kidneys are blocked.
Help the kidneys with their work.
The back will ache no more.
Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

It's the best proof, for it comes from Charlevoix.

J. H. Lancaster, 203 May St., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have proven a valuable remedy to me. I can recommend them strongly. I was annoyed for seven years by my kidneys and suffered greatly from lame back. My back ached at night and when I arose in the morning I was stiff and lame. The kidney secretions passed too frequently and I had to get up many times during the night. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got them at the Ivy Drug Store. They have done me a world of good. I can rest better at night and only have to get up once. My back is strong and the aches and pains are gone. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for what they have done for me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

CORRESPONDENCE

CLARION

C. H. Miller has purchased a new team.

J. E. Darrah was in Charlevoix on Friday.

Mrs. Bertha Gurner went to East Jordan on Saturday.

Little Clifford Hankins returned Thursday from Ann Arbor.

Rev. Mr. Kennedy, and family, went to East Jordan Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brown visited friends in Springvale on Sunday.

Marris Davis who has been ill with pneumonia is slowly recovering.

Paul and Jean Colden returned to their school work at Petoskey on Sunday.

Mrs. Hattie Isaac of Mayfield spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Webster.

Rev. Mr. Killen of Indiana is holding special meetings this week in the Dankard church.

Mrs. W. O. Wheeler returned Tuesday from Indiana where she had been visiting her brother.

(Too late for last week.)

George Brown was in Boyne Falls Sunday.

J. W. Colden was in Charlevoix Monday.

J. E. Darrah went to Boyne City on Monday.

Mrs. Condy is visiting her daughter in Indiana.

Kristen Johnson of Pellston was in town Sunday.

Miss Agnes Johnson is clerking in A. J. Crago's store.

A son was born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Ecker.

The L. A. S. will serve dinner at the home of Mrs. Brown.

Paul and Jean Colden are home from Petoskey for a week.

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland

PHONE 297

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Goodwin returned to Walloon from Toledo on Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Johnson is visiting her daughter Mrs. Will Jackson of Marquette.

Mrs. George Brill of Walloon Lake was at Petoskey hospital last week for treatment.

Mrs. Ella Tillapaugh of Walloon who has been visiting her mother returned Monday.

Mrs. Bess Brown has resigned her position as clerk in the postoffice and gone to Walloon.

The Young Peoples' Bible class will give a box social at the K. O. T. M. hall on Friday evening.

Leon Ransom and Miss Ada Bardwell of Walloon are home from Petoskey for a week's vacation.

Miss Sadie Munis, primary teacher at Walloon Lake, was taken ill on Friday and on Sunday was removed to Petoskey hospital for an operation for appendicitis.

About fifty dollars has been raised by the Young Peoples' Bible class at the socials and entertainments given by them. This amount they have given to the pastor the M. E. church to be used in shingling the church roof. A bee to do the work will be held Wednesday.

About thirty six ladies spent a very pleasant afternoon on April 13 at the home of Mrs. D. H. Buckley of Walloon Lake. After a guessing contest, charades and songs, a fine luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Buckley leave in a short time for their new home at Curtis, Michigan.

Mrs. Delia Miles, of Tower, Mich., had a severe cough which hung on for weeks, doctored for it, but was not benefited. She says, "A friend advised Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and after using two bottles my cough was cured and I have never been bothered since. I gladly recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for all coughs and colds." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

NORTH BAY.

Henry Knuckle has finished excavating for a fine basement barn.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McEllan were Petoskey visitors Saturday.

Mrs. Arthur Van Amburg of Harbor Springs visited her people last week.

Hiram Starnier purchased the Light farm near Bay Shore last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kane, and son Otto, of Hayes visited at Long View farm Saturday and Sunday.

George North went to Petoskey Saturday; he expects to visit friends at Burt Lake before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kane of Hayes visited Mrs. Kane's brother, George Long and family, Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Starnier returned Saturday from Virginia where they have been for the past two years.

Ollie Van Amburg returned home Tuesday from Harbor Springs where she visited her brother and other friends.

Iva North returned home Saturday from near Cecil Bay where she has just closed an eighth month's term of school.

John Lane, St. Joseph, Mich., a member of A. W. Chapman Post, No. 21, G. A. R., was cured through the use of Foley Kidney Pills. He says, "I tried various kidney remedies but all failed to help me until I took Foley Kidney Pills and I can honestly say that they cured me completely. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf."

Atlas and Huron cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 862.

HAYES.

Wade Howe spent Sunday with his parents.

The farmers around Hayes are busy plowing.

Roy Kane and wife visited their mother Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ulrick spent Sunday with James Shearer.

Miss Addie Howe, who has been visiting at home, is now working at Charlevoix.

Miss Iva Lewis who has been visiting friends at Charlevoix is now at Petoskey.

Dec Smeethen and wife, and Master Clive Brontley spent Sunday visiting friends at Charlevoix.

Cement blocks for the cellar and other improvements—the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co.

MARION.

Mrs. Walter Williams and family have moved into the Al Hatch home.

Al Hatch has moved onto the Carlisle Himebaugh farm on the county line.

Mrs. George Hayes left Tuesday for an extended visit at Allegan, South Lyons and Northville. She will visit at the home of Elmer Stucker at Lake Odessa before returning.

BALD HEADS NOT WANTED

Baldness is Too Generally Considered a Sign of Advanced Age.

A bald-headed person does not have an equal chance with one blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over 35 years of age as new employees.

Probably 65 per cent. of bald-headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head, unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, and gives satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.

We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer back of our statements no one should scoff, doubt our word, or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test.

We want every one in Charlevoix who is suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair, or baldness to try our Rexall "33" Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly—say until three bottles have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, tighten the hair in its roots, and grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected, and we exact no obligation from the user whatever.

We are established right here in Charlevoix, and make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the sort of treatment we accord our customers, and we would not dare make the above offer unless we were positively certain that we could substantiate it in every particular. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Michigan.

SOUTH CHARLEVOIX.

William Brown is recovering from his illness of last week.

William Hall has moved out here and is employed on E. W. Coulter's farm.

Abraham Nowland moved into this neighborhood, on Stover St. last week.

E. W. Coulter is at Detroit this week, where he was called by the illness of his brother.

Miss Jessie Shapton returned home Saturday from Atwood, where she had been visiting relatives.

A Mother's Care.

A careful mother will not give her child a medicine without knowing it is pure, contains no opiates, and has healing and curative qualities. Such a medicine is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, and all affections of the throat and chest and lungs. Best and safest for children and grown persons. Contains no opiate. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Atlas and Huron cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 862.

For the Farmer Who Thinks.

Irrigation will bring maximum crops while the land is new and full of plant food, but where the crops are sold yearly by year irrigation will not of itself insure good results.—James Wilson Secretary of Agriculture.

Twenty tons of corn silage are now being harvested last fall by George L. Hyslop of Ohio. He uses it for fattening cattle and hogs. The most interesting thing about this yield is that it is the result of the proper utilization of barnyard manure. The manure shed has an important place on the farm.

For four important reasons the clover are among the most valuable of forage plants—first, the manifold use of their production, is exceptionally low; second, they are richer in protein than most of the forage crops, far richer than the grasses; third, they enrich the soil in nitrogen as well as soil so that the following crops are almost invariably good; fourth, in permanent meadows they ultimately enrich the soil in nitrogen that the grasses as well as the clovers more vigorous growth.—Professor W. P. Brooks, Experiment Station, Ames, Mass.

Going to build this spring? The place to buy your lime, pulp plaster, brick, and other material is at the Builders' Supply Co., phone 862.

Let the Contractor come with Spring

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

Countess Mason and Ella Gray spent Saturday and Sunday at their respective homes.

The members of the normal class have completed their relief maps of North America and have started their physical maps of South America.

Miss Hines received a letter from Marguerite Munger who is substituting in a school near Springvale. She is enjoying her school work very much.

The normal class and training room children have done some of the planting in the school hot bed and expect to finish it this coming week if favorable. Radish seeds, lettuce seeds, and onion sets have been planted.

HILTON SCHOOL.

Hugh Mayne and Clinton Howe are back to school again.

Five pupils were added to our number last week when Robert, Abner, Alice, John and Bert Jones joined us.

Earl Waffle left us last week to attend school near Atwood where his parents have rented a farm.

The school was furnished with a new dictionary this week.

The third grade are reading, "Stories from Garden and Field."

Franklin Hartwell whose help was needed at home, left school this month.

We received a letter from Elmer Gravelin one of our former pupils, who is now in Gadsby. She tells us she would like to be with us again.

Walter Hall visited us this month. The percentage of attendance is 98.800.

Mrs. N. Wells, Charles and Miss M. Zeiler called on Miss Frances Bolton. While there Miss Bolton served warm sugar which was enjoyed very much by her guests.

The surprise party given by the young people of this place was one of the most enjoyable events of this season.

Vacations for Everybody

In an article on vacations in the May "Woman's Home Companion," the author says in part:

"Horace Greely said he had been twenty years trying to find time to go fishing, and a few years later he died from overwork and anxiety. Many a farmer lives all his life within sight of running streams, or within sound of babbling brooks, and the suggestion that he hang up his hoe and go fishing never reaches him. Thoreau says, 'The better part of man is soon plowed into the soil as compost; and I have known some such lives. I knew a woman who put her babies in a barrel and left them while she worked in the field with her husband. Together they paid off the farm mortgage, and then they bought more farms and paid off more mortgages. They never took vacations. Neither of them ever saw a train of cars until the iron rails were laid through their own lands, and when the first train passed through, the old lady was heard to say, 'Well, I have worked hard all my life, but now I shall have it easy. I can just sit and milk and see the cars go by.'"

"Another family of my acquaintance, living on a large farm, with fifty cows to milk and care for, and five hundred hens to look after, finds time every year for an outing; rather, they hire extra help on the farm and take the time, and they do not take the time grudgingly either. They figure that what the outing costs is the best investment of the whole year. They have their own tent and camp for a week or more on a near-by stream or lake where fishing and boating are good. A fairly good tent can be bought for the price of a week's board at a summer resort, and the tent will last many years. Vacation does not necessarily spell Nantucket. Distance sometimes lends a great enchantment. We forget that the birds sing just as sweetly in our own fields and groves as they do in fields and groves hundreds of miles away. Why should we remain shut in during all the hot summer months just because we cannot travel far away? If we cannot afford to own a tent, there are even less expensive ways of camping out."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or roaring in your ears, and when it is extremely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Time goes out of ten are cured by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for evidence of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by local treatment. Send for circulars free. P. J. HENNEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A GOOD BANK IN A GOOD TOWN

— Directors —

R. P. FOLEY G. C. GEIKEN
W. J. RACHOW JOHN BURNS
J. L. CRANE P. D. CAMPBELL
H. S. HARSHA

— Officers —

R. P. FOLEY, President
G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier
C. O. McMAHON, Asst. Cashier

All Business given this Bank receives our personal attention. You are welcome to use our new offices at all time.

WASH DAY SALE

We Need the Monday

Will sell for Cash Only, from April 25 to May 1

1 dozen Clothes Pins	1c
7 bars Lenox soap	25c
12 bars Calumet Soap	25c
3 10c bottles Blueing	25c
3 10c bottles Ammonia	25c
6 pounds bulk Starch	25c
17 pounds Sal Soda	25c
Two 5c pkgs Bazaar Matches	5c
30c Washboard	25c
40c Washboard	33c

SPECIAL WEEK SHOE SALE

15c Baby Moccasins	10c pair
25c Baby Shoes	19c pair
50c Baby Shoes	37c pair
No. 1662 Child's $1 Shoes	60c pair
No. 1208 Child's $1.25 Shoes	80c pr

Special sale for one week on all Baby's, Children's and Misses' shoes

We still have a lot of Men's, Ladies' and Boys' lace shoes to close out at Very Low Prices
THIS WEEK

Bert Mason
Cash Grocer

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"

The Great Remedy for
Rheumatism, Lumbago,
Sciatica, Gout, Neuralgia,
La Grippe and Kidney
Troubles.

Applied externally, it cures
all aches and pains. Taken internally, it dissolves the
poisonous substance and restores nature to a healthy condition. Sold by Druggists.

One Dollar per bottle, no post prepaid upon receipt of price if not satisfactory to your locality.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
160 Lake Street, Chicago

SKIN SORES

Easily and Quickly Healed

Those who suffer
from various skin
eruptions, such as eczema, psoriasis,
etc., will find relief
in the use of this remedy. It is a simple application of the medicine to the affected area. It is easily absorbed and does not irritate the skin. It is a valuable remedy for all skin troubles.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25
and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not available in your locality
you can order direct from Swanson R. C. Co., 160 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent you without charge of postage. It is not a secret remedy, but a simple and effective one.

COSENDAY DYE WORKS

DRY CLEANERS

ESTABLISHED 1877

CLEANERS AND DYERS OF CARPETS

DRAPERIES, LACES AND GARMENTS

WRITE FOR PRICES

127-133 N. Jefferson Ave., Saginaw, Mich.

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON

Complete Abstracts

of Charlevoix County

Twenty years Experience

Shops and Public Notary

VANDELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH

Accountant at Law

Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

U. S. SHAW

Accountant at Law

Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. K. J. A. AULD

Dentist

Office in VanPelt Building

Over Livingston Store

Phone 130 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Eyes tested and glasses fitted

Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Special attention given to diseases of the EYE

Office over Hines & Co's drug store, Saginaw, Mich.

D. R. C. A. MONTAGUE

Physician and Surgeon

(Succeeding Dr. McFay)

Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.

Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness

$100.00 for Loss of Limb or Eye

$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit

Cost $6.00 per year. No other Dues

FRECKLES

By Gene Stratton-
Porter

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO.

CHAPTER XXIV.

RINGS AND A FEATHER.

ME angel's tear stained face flushed into dazzling beauty.

"Oh, Freckles, forgive me," she cried. "I've been through so much that I'm scarcely myself. I wouldn't be here bothering you when you should be sleeping. Of course you couldn't. You're too good to forget to remember a thing like that. Of course, you are! And when you don't remember, why, then it's the same as if I never happened. Oh, Freckles, I'm so glad! I'm so happy! It's dear of you to not remember. Freckles, perfectly dear! It's not wonder I love you so.

The wonder would be if I did not. I should like to know how I'm ever going to make you understand how much

I love you!"

"Hullo and all, she caught him in her breast, and then she was gone.

Freckles lay dazed with astonishment. At last his battling eyes opened about the room, searching for something approaching the human to which he could appeal, and, finding on his mother's portrait, he set it up before him.

"For the love of life! Me! Me!"

he cried. "Did you hear that? Did you hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you

hear that? Did you hear that? Did you that he willed from me when he knew I was living, of his blood and on ebur ity among strangers, I don't touch, not if I freeze, starve and burn too! If there ain't enough besides that, and I can't be earning enough to fix things for the angel!"

"We are not discussing money!"
burst in the man of affairs. "We don't want any blood money! We have all we need without it. If you don't feel right and easy over it, don't you touch a cent of any of it."

"It's right I should have what my grandmother intended for me father, and I want it," said Freckles, "but I'd die before I'd touch a cent of my grandfather's money!"

"Now," said the angel, "we are at going home. We have done all we can for Freckles. His people are here. He needs to know them. They are very anxious to get acquainted with him.
We'll turn him over to them and go home. When he is well, why, then he will be perfectly free to go to Ireland or come to the Lumberlot, just as he chooses. We will go right away."

McLean bore it for a week, and then he could stand it no longer. Communism with himself in the long, soundful nights of the swamp, he had learned of his loneliness and that for the last year his heart had been circling the Lumberlot with Freckles.

He started for Chicago, loaded with a big box of goldenrod, asters, fringed gentians and crimson leaves that the angel had carefully gathered for Freckles' room, and a little, lone slender package. He would not admit it even to himself, but it was an able to remain longer away from Freckles and leave him to the care of Lord O'More.

In a few minutes' talk, while Mc-Lean waited admission to Freckles' room, his tardiness had gently chartered of Freckles' rapid recovery, at his delight that he was nursed by his early surroundings and his desire to visit the Lumberlot with Freckles before they sailed. He said they were anxious to do all they could to help him Freckles' arrangements with the angel, as both he and Lady O'More regarded her as the most promising girl they knew and one that could be fully fitted to fill the high position in which Freckles would place her.

Every word he uttered was pungent with bitterness to McLean. The swamp had lost its flavor without Freckles, and yet as Lord O'More talked McLean fervently wished that he was in the heart of it.

All the fun and sunburn had been washed from Freckles' face in sweat of agony. It was a smooth, even white, his brow rift showing out faintly. What the nurses and Lady O'More had done to Freckles' hair McLean could not guess, but it was the most beautiful that he had ever seen. Fine as moss, bright in color, waving and crisp, it fell about the white face.

They had got his arms into—and his chest covered with a finely enbrodered pale blue silk shirt, with soft white tie at the throat. Among the many changes that had taken place during his absence, the fact that Freckles was most attractive and barely escaped being handsome remained at most unnoticed by the boss, as great was his astonishment at seeing both cuts turned back and the right arm in view. Freckles was using the unfamiliar arm that heretofore he had always hidden.

"Oh, Lord, sir, but I'm glad to see you!" burst out Freckles, almost rolling from the bed as he reached for him.
"I'm picking the angel's ring stone that my Aunt Alice ordered. It's an emerald—just me color, Lord O'More says.
Every color of the old swamp is in it.
I asked angel to have a little shamrock leaf cut on it, so every time I saw it I'd be thinking of the love, truth, and valor of that song she was teaching me.
Ain't that a beautiful song?"

Freckles tilted about a tray of unset stones that would have ransomed several valuable kings.

"I tell you I'm glad to see you, sir,"
he said. "I tried to tell me uncle what I wanted, but this ain't for him to be mixed up in, anyway, and I don't think I made it clear to him. I can be telling you, sir. I told him that I would pay only $200 for the angel's stone. I'm thinking that with what he has paid for me, and the biggest of this—that the angel did for me, that seems like a stingy little sum to him. I know he thinks I ought to be giving a lot more, but I feel as if I just had to be buying that stone with money I earned myself, and that is all I have saved of me wages. I don't mind paying for the stuff, or the dressing table, or Mrs.
Duncan's things, from this other money, and inter the angel can have every last cent of my grandmother's, if she'll take it, but just now—oh, sir, can't you see that I have to be buying this stone with what I have in the bank?"

"In other words, Freckles," said the boss, "you don't want to buy the angel's ring with money. You want to give for it your first awful fear of the swamp. You want to pay for it with the loneliness and heart hunger you have suffered there, with last winter's burning on the line and this summer's treading on the sun. You want the price of that stone to be the fears that have chilled your heart—the sweat and blood of your body."

Freckles' face paled with feeling.
"Dear Mr. McLean," he said, reaching up with a caress over the boss black hair and along his cheek. "Dear boss, that's why I've wanted you so I knew you would know. Now you will be looking at these? I don't want emeralds, because that's what she gave me."

Freckles heaped the pearls with the emeralds. He studied the diamonds a long time. The diamonds joined the emeralds and pearls. There was left a little red heap, and Freckles' fingers touched it with a new tenderness.

"I'm thinking here's me angel's stone," he exulted. "The Lumberlot, and me with it, grew in mine, but it's going to bloom, and her with it.
In this! There's the red of the wild poppies, the cardinal flowers and the little bunch of crushed foxglove that we found where she put it to save me.
There's the light of the camp fire and the sun setting over Sleepy Snake creek. There's the red of the blood we were willing to give for each other. It's like her lips and like the drops that dried on her beautiful arm that first day, and I'm thinking it must be like the brave, tender, clean, red heart of her."

Freckles lifted the ruby to his lips and banded it to McLean.
"Freckles, may I ask you something?" he said.

"Why, sure," said Freckles.
"There's nothing you would be asking that it wouldn't be giving me joy to be telling you."

McLean's eyes traveled to Freckles' right arm, with which he was pushing the jewels about.

"Oh, that!" cried Freckles with a merry laugh. "You're wanting to know where all the bitterness is, you?
Well, sir, I was carried from me soul heart and body on the tips of an angel's wings that hurt was necessary in the beginning to make today com-true. The wound had always been raw, but the angel was healing it. If she doesn't care, I don't. May I be asking you a question? Well, then, if this accident and all that's come to me since had never happened, what was it you meant to do with me?"

"Why, Freckles," answered McLean,
"I figured on taking you to Grand Rapids and putting you in the care of my mother. I had an idea it would be best to get a private tutor to coach you for a year or two, until you were fit to enter Ann Arbor or the Chicago university in good shape. Then I thought we'd finish in this country at Yale or Harvard, and end with Oxford, to get a good all round flavor."

"Is that all?" asked Freckles.
"No, that's leaving the music out. I intended to have your voice tested, and if you really were endowed for a career as a great musician, and had inclinations that way, I wished to have you drop some of the college work and make music your chief study.

Finally, I wanted to take a trip over Europe and clear around the circle together."

"And then what?" queried Freckles hesitatingly.

"Why, then," said McLean, "you know that my heart is boundlessly in the woods. I will never quit the timber business while there is timber to handle and breath in my body. I thought if you didn't make a profession of music, and had my inclination my way, we would stretch the partnership one more and take you into the firm, placing your work with me."

Freckles lifted anxious and eager eyes to McLean.

"You told me once on the trail, and again when we thought I was dying that you loved me. Do these things that have come to me make any difference in any way with your feeling toward me?"

"None," said McLean. "Nothing could make me love you more, and you will never do anything that will make me love you less."

"Glory be to God!" burst out Freckles. "When I graduated enough, well, all the angel and her father,
the Bird Woman, you and me—will go together and see me house and my relations and be taking that trip
When we get back, we'll add O'More to the lumber company, and golly, sir, but we'll make things hum! Good land, sir! Don't do that! Why, Mr.
McLean, dear boss, dear father, don't be doing that! What is it?"

"Nothing, nothing!" boomed Mc-
Lean's deep bass; "nothing at all!"
He abruptly turned away and hurried to the window.

"This is a mighty fine view," he said.

"I'll be glad to see Ireland," said Freckles, "but I ain't ever staying long. All me heart is the angel's, and the Lumberlot is calling every minute."

"Me heart's all me Swamp Angel's, and me love is all hers, and I have her and the swamp so confused in me mind
I never can be separating them. When I look at her, I see blue sky, the sun rifting through the leaves and pink and red flowers, and when I look at the Lumberlot I see a pink face with blue eyes, gold hair, and red lips, and it's the truth, sir, they're mixed till they're one to me!"

(Continued on page 7)

Ways to Save

If you are working on a salary your first thought each pay day should be to save a part of your earnings to provide for future use.

You can save one month's pay during the year and with small economy. This is our suggestion.—Have a savings account with this bank;
each month deposit one-twelfth of your salary;
do not spend it.

At the end of the year you will have saved a month's salary and 4 per cent compound interest. We pay you the interest twice a year.
Begin this month to save some amount every pay day.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nichols Harry Nichols A. Britars A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

GARDEN MAKING

Will soon be in full swing. Enjoy it by the use of new tools--Hoes, Rakes, Spades, Etc.

BRIGHTEN UP

Get That Painting Out of the Way

Paints, Oils, Varnishes

Gypsine and Muresco Wall Finish

THE VERY BEST

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

SEE ME

When in search of Jewelry for Gifts or own use. When you wish to purchase a reliable
Watch or Clock. When you want Table
Silverware or Cut Glass. When in need of first-class Jewelry Repairing.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's

$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes
to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own
one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, cleanest, most profitable opportunities ever received. Without previous experience you can duplicate the success of others.
Our handsomely illustrated 26 page catalog
will enable you to present the subject to customers in an interesting manner. Though you were piloting them through our factory, you would receive advice and instructions for selling, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't you be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory?
We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by creating the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who realized our great selling industry, recognized it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization,
but to learn all particulars, it
will cost you only the price of
a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 167.

THE VICTOR

SAFE & LOCK CO.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

To Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed.

I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine,
Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.
I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter how long standing.
I CURE EPILEPSY—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc. by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nervous system to perfect health.
I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague. In the first and second stages, I have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by sending my mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.
I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, Bland, morphine, cocaine, opio-tine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.
Any unfortunate girl given best of care. May work out free.
And all who write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once. I will advise which cure you need, may be worth hundreds of dollars. If that is all you want, I cannot cure. I will tell you. WHITE, BETHA.

#

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DUBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Carrier Building VanPelt Place

OFFICIAL PAPER OF CHARLEVOIX

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year	$1.50
One copy, six months	.75
One copy, three months	.45

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

Common Council

Council Chamber, Apr. 23, 1912

The common council for the city of Charlevoix met on the above date, Mayor Nordrum presiding.

Aldermen present: Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney, and Geiken. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Geiken that the request of Geo. H. Van Pelt for the use of a part of the street and walk in front of the vacant lot between the State Bank and Madison's store for purpose of piling material during the construction of a building on said lot be granted provided they keep out the necessary danger signals.

Motion carried.

Enter Ald. Webster.

The petition of Jas. M. Saunders and a number of the members of the M. E. church for the purpose of preventing the use of building on Lot 10 as a bath, by H. B. Wood, was read and referred to the committee on police, fire and health.

Moved by Ald. Glassford and seconded by Ald. Barney that in accordance with recommendations made by finance committee, the bill of Spizzen Runk & Co. of Toledo, for the issue of $250,000 refunding bonds of the city be accepted as follows: that the rate of interest be lowered to 4 1/2 per cent they to furnish the blank bonds and pay as per and accrued interest and a premium of $25,000.

Motion carried by the following aye and nay vote:

Ayes, Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney, Webster and Geiken.

Nays, none.

Moved by Ald. Glassford and seconded by Ald. Webster that the resignation of Edwin S. Stacks as street commissioner be accepted to take effect at once.

Motion carried.

Ald. Rachow moved the adoption of the following resolution which was seconded by Ald. Glassford.

Resolved by the common council of the city of Charlevoix, that the establishing and constructing of a sewer including the constructing of the necessary ventilation, manholes, gutters, lamp-holes, catch-basins, cesspools, flush-toilets and all necessary attachments in Nettleton street from the north line of Dixon avenue north to the southerly line of Aud Avenue, also in Petoskey avenue from the east line of Nettleton street to the east line of Dixon avenue, and in the center of lot five of block four of Fox and Rabon's unrecorded plat of the city of Charlevoix, is a necessary public improvement.

Resolved that the plans, specifications, plats, diagrams and estimates of the cost of the Board of Public Works, for the establishing and constructing of a sewer including all the necessary ventilations, gutters, manholes, lamp-holes, catch-basins, cesspools, flush-toilets and all the necessary attachments in the said streets in the city of Charlevoix, lots, yards of lots, lands and premises abutting and fronting on either side of Nettleton street from the north line of Dixon avenue north to the southerly line of Aud Avenue and all lots, lands and premises abutting and fronting on either side of Petoskey avenue from east line of Nettleton street east to the point opposite to center of lot five in block four of Fox and Rabon's unrecorded plat of the city of Charlevoix, excepting from the above all public streets and alleys.

Resolved that the said plans, plats, diagrams, specifications and estimates be deposited with the city clerk for the public examination, and that notices thereof and of the proposed improvement, and of the district to be assessed as above described and designated, and that the common council of the city of Charlevoix will meet at the council room on the 13th day of May, 1912, at seven thirty o'clock in the afternoon, to consider any objections thereto, be given for publication for two weeks in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper circulating in the city of Charlevoix.

This resolution passed and adopted on the 23rd day of April, A. D. 1912.

Ernest J. Miller, Mayor.

Resolution adopted at a regular meeting of the council this 23rd day of April 1912, by the following aye and nay vote.

Ayes, Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney, Webster and Geiken.

Nays, none.

Moved by Ald. Geiken and seconded by Ald. Webster that the following bond of H. D. Marshall and Broj. Brown be surety for the construction of a sewer in Chicago Ave. and Neck Street be accepted.

Know All Men by These Presents, that we, Henry D. Marshall, as principal, of the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, and Benjamin Brown, as surety, are hereby bound into the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, in the sum of five hundred and no one hundredths ($500.00) dollars, lawful money of the United States of America, to be paid to the said city of Charlevoix, Michigan, or to its certain attorney, successors or assigns, to which payment, well and truly to be made, we bind ourselves, our heirs and our administrators and each and every one of them by these presents. Signed and sealed with our seals and dated at the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, this 10 day of April, A. D. 1912.

The Condition of this Obligation is Such, that whereas the said Henry D. Marshall has entered into a contract with the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, bearing date the 10th day of November, 1911, which said contract is herewith attached.

Now Therefore, If the said Henry D. Marshall shall well and truly keep and perform all the terms and conditions of said contract on his part to be kept and performed and shall indemnify and save harmless the said city of Charlevoix, Michigan, as therein stipulated, then this obligation shall be in effect but otherwise to remain in full force and effect.

(SEAL)

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix.

Benjamin Brown of the city of Charlevoix, in said county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, the surety named in and who signed the within and foregoing bond, being duly sworn deposes and says that he is worth in unincumbered property except from execution under the laws of this state, the sum of five hundred and no one hundredths ($500.00) dollars, after payment of all just debts, claims and liabilities.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10 day of April, 1912.

Motion carried by the following aye and nay vote.

Ayes, Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney, Webster and Geiken.

Nays, none.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Webster that Ordinance No. 110 entitled an ordinance for the organization and government of the fire department of the city of Charlevoix.

Be and the same is hereby adopted by the following aye and nay vote.

Ayes, Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney, Webster and Geiken.

Nays, none.

Ald. Webster moved the adoption of the following resolution which was seconded by Ald. Priest.

Resolved by the common council that the meeting might be changed from Tuesday to Monday commencing with the first meeting night in May.

Adopted by the council at a regular meeting this 23rd day of April 1912. By the following aye and nay vote.

Ayes, Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney, Webster and Geiken.

Nays, none.

Moved by Ald. Webster and seconded by Ald. Geiken that the application of G. H. Van Pelt for a permit to erect a one story brick building on Bridge St. be granted.

Motion carried.

The petition of R. M. A. Johnston for a cement walk on east side of Michigan Ave. to Division street was read and referred to committee on streets and side walks.

Moved by Ald. Glassford and seconded by Ald. Webster that the mayor's appointment of W. E. Bedwin as street commissioner to fill vacancy be confirmed.

Motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Rachow and seconded by Ald. Glassford that the petition as presented by L. E. Smith and other property owners on State street for a reconsideration of the side walk grade from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery be accepted and Tuesday night April 30th set as the date of hearing.

Motion carried.

There being no further business the council adjourned.

E. J. MILLER, Clerk.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, VanPelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Probation after Death." Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.

Reading room open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

METHODIST CHURCH

9:30 a. m. Class Meeting.

12:00 m. Sunday School.

6:00 p. m. Epworth League.

Prayer Meeting Thursday evening, 7:30.

Preaching at Epworth church Sunday, 2:30 p. m.

You are welcomed to all our services.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. B. Aitchison, Pastor.

Morning Service, 10:30.

Sunday School at 11:45.

B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m. Topic, "Railroad Chaplains." Leader, Mrs. H. Kirby.

Evening Service at 7:30.

Evening service on Bridge street, Union Meeting.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Burgess School House.

"Strangers always welcome."

CONGREGATIONAL

Morning service at 10:30. Sermon by the pastor. A special offering will be taken for the famine sufferers of China.

Sunday School.

Service at 7:00 on 23rd p. m.

Meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society at 6:30 p. m.

At 7:30 p. m. the pastor will give the sixth number in the series of addresses on "Through the Mill"—"The Fifteen Dollar Pinner, Machinery and Manhood."

Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

For Sale.

A few choice breeding pens of Barred Plymouth Rocks for breeding purposes at common prices. Also eggs for hatching. Enquire of J. A. Andl.

Farm and Garden

RHODE ISLAND REDS.

Breed Just Now Riding High on Wave of Popularity.

Among the most popular chickens for attention in the breeds of tows are the Rhode Island Reds.

They receive their name from the state of Rhode Island, where they have been bred for a number of years for practical purposes. Recently, however, more attention is being paid to the perfecting of the plumage.

They are believed to have originated from crosses of the Asiaties, Mediterranean and Game. The former gives them size, the Mediterranean contributes to the laying qualities and the Game to their hardiness and color.

Rhode Island Reds have been considered a little difficult to breed true to color, but many excellent specimens may now be found in any careful fancier's yards.

Their military qualities are not dependent upon the color of the feathers but if one wishes to combine the useful with the fancy some consideration must be given to the proper mating of the specimens. The ear-lobs should be solid red, though a little white will not disqualify. An entirely white feather in the plumage is a serious defect. The feet and shanks should be a reddish brown in color. The eyes should be rather prominent and red in color. The neck of the male should be a brilliant red, with red undercolor; wings red, with lower web of feathers mostly black.

PRIZE-WINNING RHODE ISLAND RED HEN

When the wing is folded none of the black should appear. The back should be red, with red undercolor; the main tail and sickle feathers black or greenish black, breast red, with red undercolor. The entire surface of body should be as even and burnished as a color of red as possible—free from nearly imperceptible.

The female is in color almost like the male, though not so glossy or brilliant in luster. The neck should have a slight tinging at end of feathers. Colors red, with undercolor red, and the tinging black.

One of the main points to be desired is the proper undercolor, which should in all cases be red. Beware of smutty undercolor; it is a disqualification.

The birds belong to the general purpose fowls. They are among the best of layers, sit and hatch their own eggs are excellent table fowls and at the present moment are riding high on the crest of the wave of popularity.—Farm Press

Do not, for the sake of the soil and those who will be dependent upon it after you, burn the weeds, stubble and vegetation. Turn under all of these materials and let them be converted into humus, which is so essential for the soil. Its progressive and not retrogressive.

About Roses.

A rose tree breathes through its leaves. In dusty weather, therefore, the plant should be kept clean with frequent sprayings.

The best soil for roses is two-thirds loam and one-third manure. This soil should be at least eighteen inches deep.

Curled up leaves mean a maggot is at work. It should be caught and killed at once or it will kill the tree.

The budding of roses should be done in the early morning or at sunset. Mix guano with the rose tree's water when it is in bloom.

Never try to grow roses from seed. It takes too long. Those buds should not be prepared in wet weather.

Never plant a rose tree in a windy place. (Rosebushes should be syringed daily in May.)

Roses that from north do not thrive.

Singers and Public Speakers Need It.

The demifluent—properties of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound make it especially effective for hoarseness, tickling in the throat and inflamed vocal chords. It is a valuable aid to singers and public speakers. Chas. Boyle, the famous Irish tenor of Saginaw, Mich., says he has used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for years and would not think of filling an engagement without it. He always carries a bottle in his grip or suit case. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

An Ordinance No. 110.

Providing for the Organization and Government of the Fire Department of the City of Charlevoix.

Section 1. There shall be maintained, for the prevention and extinguishment of fires within the city of Charlevoix, a city fire department, which shall be organized as follows:

Section 2. The members of the fire department shall elect the chief, by and with the consent of the council, whose term of office shall be for the period of one year, and who shall be elected and confirmed at the time of the other appointments on the first Monday in May of each year. The chief and his assistant chief shall receive such compensation as the council may by ordinance or resolution provide. It shall be his duty to have entire charge and control of the fire equipment; to see that the same is at all times in proper condition to take persons and charges of the department at all fires; to receive, within ten days after his appointment, an assistant chief and a second assistant chief, by and with the consent of the council.

Section 3. The chief and his assistant chiefs shall select the members of the department and fill vacancies which may at any time arise by the rules of the department by resignation or from other cause. The chief shall have authority to discharge any member of the department, at any time, for incompetency, failure to attend fires, or other cause and sufficient reason satisfactory to himself.

Section 4. The department shall consist of eighteen members, in addition to the chief and his assistants named above. At any time that the membership is found to be insufficient by the chief and his assistants shall so notify the council, and if by resolution the council agree to increase in the membership, the chief may then select such additional members as he may deem necessary.

Section 5. There shall be paid to the members of the fire department the following compensation: Fifty cents each for each member responding to a false fire alarm, and the sum of one dollar each, for each member in attendance at a fire for the first hour, and fifty cents each, for each additional hour thereafter. All fire alarms shall be considered false where there is no actual fire, or where water is not turned out from the city mains or by means of the fire engine.

Section 6. The members of the fire department shall and become proficient in the handling of the fire apparatus of the city of Charlevoix, and shall receive each month from the first day of May to the first day of October, in each year, provided however, that members who are absent from duty for more than five days shall not be considered as a fire drill. The members actually attending two or more fire drills each month shall receive for such service, the sum of fifty cents each, per month from the city of Charlevoix.

Section 7. There shall be but one hose company, the present first ward company, to be placed in charge of the assistant or second assistant chief, as may be found advisable by the chief and certain members of the company detailed to have charge of that particular equipment.

Section 8. The chief and assistant chiefs shall by virtue of their office, hold and exercise the police powers of the city, and shall have authority to establish and maintain fire lines at all fires, and to prevent interference with the work of the firemen by anyone not a member of the department.

Section 9. The chief and assistant chiefs and members of the fire department shall agree to work under and be governed by the provisions of this ordinance before becoming members of the fire department.

Section 10. Any ordinance or resolution conflicting with the provisions herein contained, are hereby repealed. This ordinance shall take immediate effect.

Adopted at a regular meeting of the common council of the city of Charlevoix on the 23rd day of April, A. D. 1912. Attest: Ernest J. Miller, Mayor.

Ernest J. Miller, City Clerk.

Notice is hereby given that the plans, plats, diagrams, specifications and estimates of cost of the proposed establishing and constructing of a sewer including all the necessary ventilations, gutters, manholes, lamp-holes, catch-basins, cesspools, flush-toilets and all necessary attachments in Nettleton street from the north line of Dixon avenue north to the southerly line of Aud Avenue, also in Petoskey avenue from the east line of Nettleton street east to the point opposite to center of lot five in block four of Fox and Rabon's unrecorded plat of the village, now city of Charlevoix, have been deposited with the city clerk for public examination, and the district to be assessed for said improvement, to wit: all lots, part of lots, land and premises abutting and fronting on either side of Nettleton street from the north line of Dixon avenue, to the southerly line of Aud Avenue, and all lots, parts of lots, lands and premises abutting and fronting on either side of Petoskey avenue from the east line of Nettleton street east to the point opposite to center of lot five in block four of Fox and Rabon's unrecorded plat of the village, now city of Charlevoix, except from the above all public streets and alleys.

Notice is hereby given that the common council will meet in the council room on the thirtieth day of May, A. D. 1912, at seven thirty o'clock in the afternoon to consider any objections to the proposed public improvement.

Dated this twenty-third day of April, A. D. 1912.

Ernest J. Miller, City Clerk.

Building for Sale.

A large frame building on Olive street, formerly occupied by Barth's hatter shop. See ad. in bar column for description. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

For Sale.

Two-story, rubber floor room. Inquire Argo Milling Co. 111

IT'S a pleasure to feel, when you meet people, that there's nothing the matter with the way your clothes fit; that the style is right; that the fabrics look as if you hadn't economized too much.

Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes gives one that pleasant feeling of being right; they're worth all they cost for that alone. They don't cost much here.

Suits $18 and up

M. A. LEVINSON & CO.

This store is the Home of Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

We Recommend

Neponset Paroid Roofing

A Roofing which is largely used in government and railroad construction work and is highly endorsed by all leading architects as a most durable and Satisfactory Roofing.

Cheaper and better than Shingles

Before you buy any other Roofing investigate

Paroid Roofing

SOLD BY

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

SEEDS ON HAND

SPELTS

BARLEY

COW PEAS

SPRING WHEAT

MILLET

SEED OATS

Argo Milling Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

W. E. Myers the auctioneer was in the city Tuesday.

Miss E. Jackson of Traverse City is visiting friends here.

O. D. Hammond was in Boyne Falls Tuesday on business.

The Hunt started on her regular run from East Jordan Tuesday.

Anstin Taylor visited friends and relatives at Boyne City last week.

F. L. Slaght and bride arrived here from Lansing Monday night.

Miss Lois Frazer is attending school again after a short illness.

Prosecuting Attorney Fitch of East Jordan was in the city Monday.

Fred H. Clarke is working at S. M. See & Son's during Mr. See's illness.

Mrs. East Morse is convalescing after an illness of about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Whitlock have moved from this vicinity to Manton, Mich.

Mrs. Lawrence Isaman of East Jordan, visited relatives here last week.

Mrs. Robert Morrow and children of Central Lake, spent Sunday in the city.

Harold Bedford made a short business trip to Bellaire in his auto last week.

John Ward of Traverse City, was here on business the latter part of the week.

Sam Cooper of Petoskey attended the funeral of Mrs. Lula Oberlin last week.

Frank Brandow of St Ignace is the new florist now employed by B. B. Blair.

John Monroe and crew of East Jordan are here finishing work on some new docks.

J. W. Kirby made a combined business and pleasure trip to Central Lake yesterday.

Miss Martha Anderson of Grand Rapids arrived in the city Monday to spend the summer.

Mrs. Nally Cram, who is now staying at Petoskey, has been spending a few days in the city.

"Bob" Caldwell of Traverse City was calling on friends the latter part of the week.

Governor Osborn has issued a proclamation designating May 3 as Arbor and Bird day.

Alderman Geo. H. Brockway of Petoskey spent Sunday in the city with his son and family.

Mrs. Belle Nesser, formerly of this city, now employed at Petoskey, was in the city last week.

Little Ina Genett entertained a number of her friends at a birthday party Tuesday afternoon.

Roy Stafford left today for Cleveland, Ohio after spending the past week with relatives here.

Mrs. Wm. F. Pearl and Nellie Carman of Norwood visited at the home of J. H. Bugbee last week.

Nels Jorgenson, Master on the Pere Marquette railroad visited J. H. Bugbee and family Monday.

Capt. E. S. Small, formerly of this city now located at Milwaukee was calling on old friends last week.

Adda Keech and Irvin R. Hankins both of Clarion were married yesterday by Justice of Peace Collins.

Lynne Thomas worked at the express office last week, in the absence of Leland Cram, who was surveying.

O. E. Wilbur has returned home from his extended visit at Chicago. His wife will remain for some time yet.

Irwin P. Levy of Cincinnati left for his home Tuesday after spending a few days with friends in the city.

Mrs. Tooley of Boyne City who has been here for some time is ill at the home of her mother Mrs. L. W. Fitch.

Mr. Frankel of Chicago has been in the city a few days waiting to go to St. James, where he spends his summers.

E. R. Rieggesser and family and Mrs. Laing of Boyne City drove down in their auto the latter part of the week.

Will Marshall, returned home from Lansing Monday. His wife and baby will remain there about a week longer.

The next number in the series on Al Pridly's book will be given at the Congregational church next Sunday evening.

Stanton Gregory age fifty-six, an old resident of East Jordan, died suddenly at his home in that city Friday morning.

Natty Cram spent Sunday in the city and left Monday for Northport to work for the Booth Fisheries during the summer.

Charlie Novak, D. H. Fitch and O. D. Hammond took a prisoner to Boyne Falls yesterday where he was to have a hearing.

Robert Bridge and Harry Alcox spent Friday at East Jordan arranging to give the C. H. S. A. a minstrel at that place Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dodge have returned to their home at Birch Run, Mich. after attending the funeral of Mrs. Lula Oberlin.

The ladies of the Baptist church will hold a May day supper Wednesday evening May 1, in the church parlors. Every one cordially invited.

Miss Anna Lombard and Miss Koerth entertained about twenty of their friends, at the home of George Anderson, last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Charles See returned home yesterday from Petoskey, after spending the past week with Mr. See whose condition is very much improved.

Will Withers returned Monday from Petoskey and Cheboygan where he went on business connected with the Citizens' Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

The City of Boyne made the first trip to Beaver Island Monday returning Tuesday. The boat is now running on her regular schedule to Boyne City.

Charles Perry and Archie Borga were brought down here the first of the week from Boyne Falls by Sheriff Robbins and Nuzak, on a charge of larceny.

The mortgage tax law brought in approximately $15,000 to the state during the month of March. In January the receipts were $21,000 and in February $21,000.

J. L. Crane is in Chicago this week purchasing dry goods, rugs and house furnishings for the spring and summer seasons. Mrs. Crane accompanied Mr. Crane.

H. J. Gribble of Wisconsin arrived in the city Monday. Mr. Gribble is an experienced musician and has been engaged as leader of the Charlevoix city band this season.

Word has been received that the first Northern Michigan boat will not leave Chicago until May 1, but starts receiving freight today. The Missouri will be the first boat north.

The Charlevoix Ice Cream factory has been making many improvements during the winter months and are now prepared to serve the public with ice cream any way desired.

C. C. Price returned home last week from Port Orange, Fla. where he has been spending the winter. Mrs. Price, children and Mrs. Lucy Lamphear will remain there for some time.

The women taxpayers of Charlevoix county will all have a chance to vote at the election which is to be called to vote on issuing $350,000 in bonds for use in building roads in the county.

Dr. Bartlett began work on his Park-avenue home Monday. He will enlarge his dining room out over the present porch and this will be enclosed with glass. An extension porch will be built back of this affording the same room as before.

Alderman Barney wife and little daughter Marie left for Charlotte Friday to attend the wedding of the Doctor's sister which took place Saturday. Dr. Barney returned home Sunday while his wife and baby will make a week or ten day's visit there.

Mrs. Martha Gray, a lecturer who has spoken in a large number of the cities of the state with a good deal of interest, will deliver a lecture at the Congregational church of this city Wednesday evening May 8. Watch for further announcement.

The revival services held on Bridge street by the local pastors have been well attended. The meetings will continue every night this week but will probably close on Sunday night as the hall has been rented and the party desires to move in next week.

The steam barge Cronse ran aground near Marion Island last week. A life boat was manned and sent to Traverse City where they telegraphed here for the tug Parmelee. It went to the rescue and succeeded in getting the barge off with very slight damage being done.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Wilbur who left Yule, Michigan last Thursday morning for Duluth where they will help fit out the steamer Walter Scranton upon which they will spend the summer sailing as cooks, are spending a couple of days visiting their mother, Mrs. William Ranger.

Stanley Wilder has engaged the services of Fred Thayer of Hillsdale an expert jeweler and experienced watch maker. Mr. Thayer who comes here very highly recommended began work Monday. Mr. Wilder will now devote more time to his popular vaudeville house which he has felt necessary for some time.

J. L. Crane has been very fortunate in securing the services of M. L. Anderson of Ohio an experienced dry goods and carpet man and window trimmer. Mr. Anderson comes to us highly recommended as a citizen as well as an expert in his line. Mr. Anderson will move his family to Charlevoix in the near future.

The examination of Mr. and Mrs. William Witte of Traverse City charge with causing the death of their little child by abuse was concluded Saturday. They were bound over to the next term of court with bonds at $1,000 each. The threats of lynching from the crowd made it necessary to smuggle the prisoners from the place of trial.

PHILIPPINE SAVAGES.

The Uncouth Tingians Are Fond of Ornaments and Gay Colors.

There are many strange, uncivilized people among the Asiatic Americans of the Philippine Islands.

The Tingians are a very uncouth tribe of savages. Their head women have their arms almost completely covered with strings of beads, which so as to form beautiful and striking designs. A long, heavy string of beads is also twisted around the hair and hangs down the back like a braid. The skirt of these head women is white, with a blue border, and the waist is of light yellow. They smoke pipes of solid silver, ornamented with beads. In the bowls of which pieces of cigar are inserted.

The typical young Tingian chieftain wears a stiff collar of beads and a gayly colored ruffled shirt, over which is a sort of scarf trimmed with many silver coins. The members of this tribe are very fond of silver. They make a large number of finger rings from silver coins, and each man usually has from five to ten of these rings about his person, but not necessarily on his fingers.

The Tingians are fond of a peculiar dance. The music is produced by beating with the palms of the hands on "gansus" or tom-toms. The dancers, a man and a woman, with arms outstretched, circle about each other in a spiral, the man pursuing the woman with quick, jerky steps. As they approach the center of the spiral he suddenly swoops upon her, when she always eludes him by suddenly darting out of his reach.—Forrest Clark in Leslie's.

SLEEP AND REST.

Every Organ of the Human Body Has Its Periods of Repose.

All the organs of life rest in some way or other. The heart has an interval of rest between each combined act of contraction and expansion and the beginning of a fresh act. Between each expiration of the lungs and the succeeding inspiration there is a period of repose. Physiologists have calculated that the heart ceases during about one-fourth of the time. Certain of the other organs suspend their activity in part during sleep.

Old physiologists supposed that sleep was caused by the pressure of the blood on the brain. But modern physiology, with a tendency to regard the brain as the origin of all force and of all functions of the body, inclines to the view that sleep is caused by the withdrawal of blood from the brain.

As a rule, the larger the brain the more sleep it requires. Webster went to bed at 9 o'clock and rose at 5. General Grant used to say during his campaigns, "I can do nothing without nine hours' sleep."

A curious trait has marked men of large brain—that of sleeping at will. Banquards used to throw himself on the ground and go to sleep within a space of two minutes. Pitt was a sound sleeper and slept night after night in the house of commons while his colleagues watched the debate and roused him when it was necessary that he should speak.—New York Herald.

Good Business.

A famous pistol shot told a shooting story to the paper at San Francisco.

"There was a party of amateurs here in Frisco," he said, "who thought they would do some live pigeon shooting, so they ordered thirty birds from a suburban dealer.

"The shoot came off duly. It was a wonder. To give you a correct idea of it I must quote from a letter sent by the dealer for the amateurs the next day. The letter ran:

"Gentlemen—I thank you for your order and beg to state that I will be only too happy to supply you with birds for all future shoots. The entire thirty pigeons, for which you paid me 15 cents a head, returned home safely and, moreover, brought two strays with them. My price to you hereafter will be 1 cent per pigeon."—Los Angeles Times.

Where They Resemble.

"A man, like a watch, is known by his works," observed the epigram maker.

"And by the hours he keeps," added the wife.

"And by the spring to him," said the athlete.

"And by his being sometimes fast," remarked the reformer.

"And by the way his hands go up," put in the pugilist.

"And by his not always going when we want him to," finished the girl who'd been robbed of her beauty sleep.—Boston Transcript.

BEGINS NEXT WEEK

"Girl of The Limberlost"—The Courier's New Serial Story.

Next week we will begin publication of a new story, "The Girl of the Limberlost." If you have enjoyed reading "Freckles" you will enjoy this story by the same author. Tell your friends.

Another of the Courier's special features is the "Home Course in Road Making," by Logan Page of the government good roads department, this is a special feature and is full of value to every reader.

H. S. NOTES.

The athletic association will repeat the minstrel comedy in East Jordan on Friday evening of this week.

Misses Winnie Weaver and Mildred Johnson were high school visitors Thursday.

Is the interior of the high school building to be refinished? Well, Mr. DeVoe and the advanced arithmetic class spent a part of Friday morning in See's Furniture store measuring patterns in carpets, wall paper, etc.

Great interest is being manifested in athletics this spring. A number of good hurdlers and high jumpers have already come to the front.

Andrew Skye, who is training to represent the High School in the cross country run at the interscholastic meet, made a good record Saturday. He made sixteen miles in exactly two hours, and declared that he felt as good as when he started, and was ready for more.

Teachers' Examination.

The regular examination for April will be held in the high school building in the city of Charlevoix on Thursday and Friday, April 25 and 26, beginning at 8:30 standard time.

One half the questions in reading will be based on Hudson's Introduction to the History of Literature. Certificates for all grades will be issued from this examination.

Paper will be furnished for applicants.

Applicants who expect to have their papers forwarded to other commissioners will write with pen. Others may use pen or pencil.

All applicants will please notice that this examination is held under the new law changing the date from June to April.

J. H. Milford, Commissioner.

Coming Soon.

Thursday, May 2nd, is the date when J. Leahy, the optometrist, will be at Baker's Inn. One day only. Headaches and dizziness cured, crossed eyes straightened. Fitting children's eyes a specialty. Glasses guaranteed to fit. 1612

Good Printing means Business.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 10c first insertion.

FOR SALE—One pair shell curtains. Call No. 129. 1611

WANTED—Housekeeper. Enquire of N. A. Levenson & Co. Company's store. 1611

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Good wages. Enquire Postmaster. 1612

FOR SALE—21 Spring Pigs. Call or address. Thos. Cummings. Charlevoix, Michigan. Route 1. 1612nd

FOR SALE—House, barn and two lots on easy terms. Enquire at the premises. 34 Lewis street. 1611

TO EXCHANGE—For fresh eggs or wood or for sale—Beds, springs, mattresses, commodes, chamber sets, etc. Hotel Edison. 1611

FOR SALE—Eggs from thoroughbred St. G. Rhode Island Reds. $1.50 per 15 also black Orpington cockerels. Will Davy. Petoskey. 1611nd

FARM FOR SALE—80 acres 3 miles north-east of Charlevoix. In acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write D. W. Mahoney, P. O. box 133. 1611nd

FOR SALE—The large frame building in Charlevoix known as the North Boiler Shop, to be removed by buyer from present premises. Can be bought cheap if taken at once. See Robert W. Kane at Charlevoix, or W. H. Aldrich, Room 104 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill. 5041

Let me do your

DRAYING

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time

Phone 373

When you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.

Moving Household Goods A SPECIALTY

CHARLES TAYLOR

CRANE'S

PERCALES

SPRING - 1912

Percales are becomes more popular each season because of their excellent laundering qualities and the splendid colors and styles they are now being made in. We carry these in the

"Dependon"

quality in a large variety of patterns

36 inch at	-	12½c yard
31 inch at	-	10c yard

Light and dark backgrounds and all the plain solid colors

Carload of Buggies Just Unloaded

ALL KINDS

Durant & Dort and Flint Wagon Works

Now is the time to buy the Buggy you have been thinking about. This is the time to get the choice of the big shipment, and the prices are within the reach of all.

J. R. COOPER

Antrim Street

Charlevoix, Michigan

A House to Rent

Mr. Landlord:

Are you getting as much rent from your houses as you should, as much as the other houses in the same neighborhood bring. If not,

There is a Reason

If you were renting a house for your own use, would you pay as much for one from which the paint had nearly all peeled or chalked off, as you would for the one which showed the effect of the painter's brush.

Again do you realize that after the paint has worn off, that water soaks in and rots the wood. A house which is kept well painted will last many years longer than one that has been neglected.

Think it Over. Does your House need Painting

DeVoe's Lead and Zinc Paint

Will cover more surface and last longer than any other made. We sell it.

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912

A STATE AID ROAD IN NEW JERSEY.

The actual work of a state highway department should be under the direction of one man possessing technical qualifications, experience and executive ability. This official should be appointed by the commission. He should be a civil engineer, skilled and experienced in road construction and maintenance, and his salary should be fixed by the commission. His position should be permanent, and he should not be removed except for incompetence or malfeasance in office.

The state highway engineer should be empowered to appoint all of his as-

Oldest Royal Dynasty.
The oldest royal dynasty in the world is that of Japan, which goes back unbroken for 2,000 years.

We will be liberal and say $50 a piece

Remember, Rexall Remedies can be obtained in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Mich.

horns and a half hitch or loop around the nose, pull the head around to one

The Kansas experiment station has proved that for every 100 pounds of growth made by hogs fed grain alone 173 pounds may be made when alfalfa hay is fed in connection with it, and the grain that was worth $1 fed alone

Theodore Erickson
Local Agent

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled one of the best sales conducted in Chicago and Antrim counties. Address
Detroit Lakes, Minn. Phone 14-1444

These articles and illustrations must not be reprinted without special permission.

POULTRY NOTES

BY
C. M. BARNITZ
RIVERSIDE
PA.

CORRESPONDENCE
SOLICITED

THE BLACK MINORCAS.
"I suppose," said a show visitor, "your Black Minorcas lay dark shelled eggs."
"No, indeed," replied the fancier; "we can't match feathers and eggs like you ladies do hair and hats."
How true! Minorcas with black feathers, white skin and blue legs lay a white egg; Jet Black Silkies lay a black egg; White Rocks with snowy plumage, yellow skin and legs lay a brown egg; and White Leghorns with a yellow skin and legs lay a white egg.
"But the Minorca egg beats 'em all!" yelled a Minorca enthusiast.
Now, it's not our desire to have an egg battle with chicken cranks, but what is it, and for a big white egg the Minorca can't be beat, nor does any other egg beat them for size if you have a big Minorca strain.
One hundred and eighty eggs per year is no new Minorca record, and at over two pounds per dozen that's "big."

The Single Comb Black is the origin of the Rose Comb Black and Single

Photo by C. M. Barnitz.

BLACK MINORCA HEAD—IDEAL.

Comb White Minorcas, and its history may be traced back 100 years to Minorca, a sunny isle of the Mediterranean.

It is largest of the Mediterranean breeds, much resembles the Leghorns, though not so restless, reaches its high as ten pounds, and its close feathered, juicy, pink flesh is pronounced by some better than turkey.

The head and body shown are correct for male. The eyes should be dark hazel, beak black, face red, plumage brilliant black with beetle green sheen. The body of male and female is distinctively long, the back flat and slender, slanting evenly to tail; the breast rounded, the body tapering from thence to rear, the tail expanded and carried at an angle of 40 degrees. The hen's comb is large, droops to one side over head and forms one loop over back.

Photo by C. M. Barnitz.

PEN OF BLACK MINORCAS.

The Minorca is popular because it produces the goods.

C. C. BLACK MINORCA STANDARD WEIGHTS.

Cock 9 Pounds 7 1/2 Pounds
Cockerel 7 1/2 Pounds 6 1/2 Pounds

"THE FOOLS AIN'T ALL DEAD YET."

You kin bet, "I all the graveyards,
You kin bet, you assiduity,
You kin bet through human history,
With all its strange variety,
But of all that's kicked the bucket
I've a big word to bet
That you'll holler "fore you're through the job."
"The fools ain't all dead yet!"

"I am self made," boasts one of them.
It's true, and what a job!
He really and he truly looks
Just like a self made snob.
He wasn't made in Germany.
On that you're safe to bet.
Crow on, you self made rooster,
"The fools ain't all dead yet!"

"My ancestors," says number two, "came from a line of snobs.
We ain't a bit related to you ordinary chicks."
Oh, Johnny, run and get your gun and shoot this bird real quick!
He looks like some I've often seen a-tyin'
up the rope.
But if you kin bet him in the head here's the first green to bet.
You'll find the woods still full of them.
"The fools ain't all dead yet!"

"This world is gettin' worse," now we hear from number three.
"The people are insatiable except the Lord and me."
Oh, say, you long faced Pharisae, go out and chew your hay!
Some other ass will get your share while you stand round and bray.
When Peter turns you down below to hussle
the conf and sweat,
You'll find the fools are not all there—
"The fools ain't all dead yet!"
C. M. BARNITZ.

DON'TS.

Don't forget that one hen with scaly leg will infect the whole flock.
Don't advertise one thing and sell another. Some do this and miss.

Don't let the flock eat decayed vegetables or poisonous poisoning may result.

Don't advertise only when business is bright, for it was advertising made trade right.

Don't be a hobby run off with you ideas at times go out of style and, like hoopskirts, make people smile.

Don't feed moldy sprouted oats. A little salt in the sprinkling water will prevent mold and make the sprouts more palatable.

Don't forget that the winter grain ration is more concentrated and richer than the summer range bill of fare, with its delightful exercise in fresh air.

KURIDS FROM KORRESPONDENTS

Q. Which dressing best for market, the Mediterranean, Asiatic or American breeds? A. American.

Q. I have had uniformly large hatches the past season, but in one batch of incubator chicks a large number had very large eyeballs and they did not seem to know enough to eat. Was this the fault of the eggs or the incubator? A. Rather think it was your fault. You did not run your incubator the same for all your hatches and at too high a temperature for the one with the abnormal chicks. They were blind, thus couldn't eat.

Q. We have so many fleas on our poultry premises and these get on to the chicks' heads and in a short time kill them. Have you a remedy? A.
Apply carbolized vasoline to the sore on chicks' heads and the attached insect will soon be dead. Then spray the whole house and furniture, under the floor if open and any dusty haunts the insects frequent, with a mixture of tar disinfectant and water one to three.

Q. About how long is a vigorous pigeon's life and when does its natural force begin to wane? A. Fifteen years in thoroughbred kept under right conditions. The period of decline begins at ten years, and to extend their usefulness and to keep any weakness from showing in the offspring the old pair is then separated and mated to young breeders.

Q. I am anxious to breed large poultry, but do not like the Brahmas.
Cochins and Langshans because of their feathered legs. Please state the name of the largest clean legged chicken. A. The Orpington.

Q. Please make clear the distinction between the terms breed and variety.
A. For illustration, the Wyandottes are a breed made up of eight varieties—
Silver, Golden, White, Buff, Black,
Partridge, Silver Penciled, Columbian.

Q. Which are the "Mediterranean breeds? Which is most popular? Which is largest and lays the largest egg? A.
Leghorns, Minorcas, Spanish, Blue
Andalusians, Ancones, Leghorns. Minorcas.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

Eight billion blue hundred and twenty-six million dollars represents the wealth produced on the farms of the United States in 1910, and of this Texas, the Lone Star State, produced $361,110,000. Her turkey crop brought $1,000,000.

Poultry manure is being used extensively by Pennsylvania truckers for a top dressing for celery. It is applied about two weeks after the plants are set out and gives splendid results.

Eggs bought from farmers in April and May for 15 to 20 cents and placed in storage were sold in December for 40 to 50 cents per dozen. It costs 50 cents to store thirty dozen six to eight months, so you need no microscope to see the big profit.

It is wise to order that incubator before the rush. The factories start in the fall to stack up machines for spring trade. These are made in regular time and are better incubators than those that are rushed off the machinery and shipped before the varnish is dry.

Early in November a leading New York store was selling storage eggs at 40 cents, fresh eggs at 51 cents and germless White Leghorn eggs at 71 cents. How's that for high?

Among the dainties served on Christmas to the patients at the Danville (Pa.) State hospital were 190 turkeys and 500 mince pies. Twenty-eight Christmas trees added to the cheer.

While printer's ink is the greatest known booster, it can't keep a rooster on the top perch if he doesn't deserve to stay there. There are several varieties now being boomed that do not fit the American market. They will later take a quick drop, when the big fellows have worked the innocents to the limit.

The National Association of Hen-pecked Husbandry was recently held at Ocean Grove, N. J. A new member was presented with a live fat hen, the emblem of the order. There was very little business transacted, as the members were all on vacation.

A celebration was held in the between 1 o'clock, de to the end of Mme. de Neade.

FRECKLES

By Gene Stratton-
Porter

COPYRIGHT, 1904 BY DOUBLEDAY
PAGE & CO

(Continued from page three)

"I'm afraid it will be hurting some, but I have the feeling that I can be making my dear people understand, so that they will be willing to let me come back home. Send Lady O'More to put these flowers God made in the place of these glasshouse legacies, and please be cutting the string of this little package the angel sent me."

As Freckles held up the package, the lights of the Linberlost flashed in the emerald on his dagger. On the cover was printed: "To the Linberlost Guard!" Under it was a big, crisp, iridescent black feather.

THE END.

Peter Ettinger, 155 Sheldon St., Houghton, Mich., says: "For some time I suffered with kidney trouble, and intense pains in my back and the kidney action was very irregular. I took Foley Kidney Pills and in a very short time my pains left and my kidneys became normal."
For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

HOG NOT DIRTY BEAST.

Given Half a Chance It Will Keep Itself Clean and Healthy.

Cholera, parasites and pneumonia are some of the worst troubles hog breeders have to fight this time of year. The parasites, or worms, as they are called commonly, are always with the hogs more or less. It will be possible to eradicate cholera from the swine industry, according to Dr. F. S.
Schoenleber, state veterinarian of Kansas, reported in the Kansas Industrialist, before the breeders will be able to rid their stock of parasites.
Pneumonia may be prevented by keeping the hogs from taking cold.

Hogs are kept for years on the same lot—generation after generation—until the soil becomes saturated with the different parasites and their eggs.
With such surroundings a hog is certain to be infected. The animals look scrappy, and cholera is blamed for their condition.

Sanitation is the foundation of successful hog rearing. A hog lot should be plowed frequently and thoroughly disinfected. Every two or three years the lot should be changed to a new location. A hog isn't dirty in its habits.
If given half a chance it will keep clean.

One thing few persons know about a hog—it requires twice the breathing space for its weight as a horse or cow.
A hog can stand only half the exposure. Its fat may seem like a blanket, but the blood is the heat of all animals. A hog gets chilled easily because of the poor surface circulation.
contracts pneumonia, dies, and cholera is credited with another victim.

A simple remedy for worms is a mixture of wood ashes, salt and shired lime in about equal parts. It won't do the hogs an injury if allowed to eat all they wish. This mixture will help also to tone the system.

STUDY IN FARM ECONOMICS.

A wise man once wrote: "Just stop a moment and consider carting a ton of hay fifteen or twenty miles to market or feeding it upon the farm and carting a tub of butter to market. They are about equal in value, and note the difference in cartage."

GET OUT THE STUMPS.

Simple Device Whereby You Can Rid
Yourself of the Incumbrances.

A correspondent of the Iowa Homestead sends the accompanying illustration and description of a stump puller which he saw doing good work pulling mesquite trees on the banks of the Rio Grande river in southern Texas. The machine is very simple and may be worked by one man, and two men can pull out by the roots a very large tree.
As shown the machine is composed of three parts. A large double threaded iron or steel member forms the center, two swivels are located at either end,
a two inch hole is formed in the center in which a hand spike or iron bar is placed, by which the tool is operated.

STUMP PULLER

[From the Iowa Homestead.]

Ropes, chains or wire cables are made fast to the stumps or one tree and one stump and then fastened to the swivel at A. The tool is then turned with a handspike and something has to come of break. It seems that any blacksmith could make this tool at slight cost, and it would be very handy to have on many farms. Where one stump is found to fasten to less stakes may be driven into the ground.
As the force gained by turning the tool is rather slow one man can do much to help out with an ax by cutting away any unruly roots.

AS YOU WANT IT

The Courier's Job Department delight in putting out your work as you want it. If you are in doubt we will be pleased to give you advice. Our printers understand the art and our office is equipped with the best and latest new machinery and new type faces this season.

FACTS!!! FACTS!!!

The Courier

Has the largest Circulation

Prints more Local News

Has more Special Features

Than any other paper in this territory. We cover the field thoroughly. Mr. Advertiser--- Don't this mean something to you?

INVESTIGATE THESE FACTS

If you are not already a Subscriber to the Courier send for a three month's trial subscription or a Sample Copy. Once a Subscriber Always One. That's the Record for we Deliver the Goods.

Job Printing that's Right Advertising that brings Results

A Newspaper that Prints The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

ROYAL BAKING-POWDER

Absolutely Pure

Makes Home Baking Easy

No other aid to the housewife is so great, no other agent so useful and certain in making delicious, wholesome foods

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum No Lime Phosphates

Grange Column

Maple Grove Grange.

Maple Grove grange met in regular session Tuesday evening April 16, with Worthy Master E. E. Stroud in the chair. All officers were present.

The lecturer's hour was well carried out by speaking, readings, dialogues, and singing. All members are expected to help out with the lecturer's hour at the next meeting.

A discussion arose as to where to build the kitchen with the cement blocks which the grange has just purchased.

It was decided, with the grange all voting, to have a basement kitchen put under the hall. The grangers were all requested to come early to the next meeting and pile up the cement blocks.

The lecturer informed the grange that there will be a box social and fish pond at the hall in the near future.

After the usual order of business, Grange closed in due form, to meet again April 30.

Number of members present forty. Supper was served by the supper committee.

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 171f

Ironton Grange.

Ironton grange met in regular session Tuesday evening April 16 with an attendance of fifty-five members and five visitors. Worthy Master E. H. Clark, presided.

One application for membership was received. As there were some outside it was voted to hold the lecturer's program after the grange closed.

The grange voted to hold a plowing match this fall. As we had some practice last year we will try and have a plowing match next fall worth going to see.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and
General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and
Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

Farm and Garden

INTERNAL POTATO DISEASE.

Blotch Found Responsible in Ohio For Serious Loss to Vegetable Growers.

In a bulletin on potato troubles in Ohio the department of agriculture of the state has the following to say about "Internal Blotch," which causes serious loss to growers of the vegetable.

"This internal trouble of the potato may be confused by the layman with the internal markings of the tubers by the fusarium fungus. It is characterized by rusty blotches, irregularly distributed throughout the flesh. See the cut. 'No external symptoms' are visible. The trouble is to be observed only by cutting into the tuber. The cause of the disease is not known. Microscopic examinations and artificial culture work failed to reveal any organism. For the present it must be classed among the physiological troubles and is presumably due to irregularities in the growing season. Two years ago, in late potatoes which had made a rapid growth following the extreme drought of the summer, one of the buyers reported that in one lot between 15 and 20 per cent were infected with this disease.

"An expert reports having worked with the disease in England, which he designates 'internal disease and sprain.' His microscopic examinations did not reveal a specific organism. He carried out some experiments to learn whether infested seed would transmit the disease. His results could hardly be considered positive. It seems quite probable that the trouble is partly inherited by certain strains and closely associated with irregularities in the growing season.

Photograph by Ohio agricultural experiment station.

INTERNAL POTATO BLOTCH

"There is much evidence to indicate that many growers are practicing potato rotations of too short a duration. Most of such growers have attempted to maintain a three year rotation of wheat, clover and potatoes.

"The potato and dairy section of Ohio, is well adapted to this practice. However, this disease factor has been giving trouble. It is quite common to find growers who, upon raising a profitable crop of potatoes on an especially well fitted area, will run the risk of taking a second crop the next season from the same land. This is certainly poor practice as far as the disease factors are concerned."

"The potato and dairy section of Ohio, is well adapted to this practice. However, this disease factor has been giving trouble. It is quite common to find growers who, upon raising a profitable crop of potatoes on an especially well fitted area, will run the risk of taking a second crop the next season from the same land. This is certainly poor practice as far as the disease factors are concerned."

HELP FOR THE BUSY WIFE.

Dumb Waiter, Easily Made, Saves Many Steps From Kitchen to Cellar.

If you have a cellar beneath your kitchen here is a simple device I have found saves many steps, says a woman correspondent of Farm and Fireside. My waiter is two feet square and has four shelves one foot apart. This is about the right size for ordinary

RARELY MADE DUMB WAITER.

family use. It is framed with two sides open and two solid. The closed sides have strips, one on each side, that move in a groove in a case. These are in the center, just opposite the

HORSE COLLARS

This is the time of the year that your horse needs a New Collar. Why have your horse's shoulders ruined by using an old worn-out collar when you can buy a new fitting collar of me for a small investment.

See my line that I buy direct from the Collar Factory and I can Save you money.

Benj. Brown

Change of Location

Myrtie Young & Son

Insurance

Teddy Bear Bread

Temporarily

located first door west of

POWERS PLUMBING SHOP

VanPelt Place

Phone 275

SHOES

Just keep it in mind—we handle shoes—shoes that are built for wear, stand the wear, and cost less than you pay at other stores.

SMITH-WALLACE SHOES

are guaranteed to stand the wear and tear of all kinds of weather and conditions. The price we ask for them leaves some change in the pocketbook. Call and see them.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor
320 Bridge Street Next to Bakers' Inn

DOUBTS

are dispelled quickly when you ask for prices on meats and groceries at our store. Everyone has learned that the shelves are lined with fresh groceries of the highest quality, and the prices are as low as good goods can be sold. We can always fill your orders, both in meats and groceries.

THE CORNER STORE

McGEACH & MORSE
Telephone 125 Antrim Street

Wanted.

Best cash offer for the old Tom Palmer place, lots 11, 12 and 13, block 7 plat of Mt. Mansfield. Good house and barn, chicken house, well house, and good well of water with pump, two lots. Address J. W. Farleigh, 21 West Garfield Boulevard, Chicago, Ill. 144.

Buried at Public Expense.

In some of the cantons of Switzerland all the dead, rich as well as poor, are buried at the public expense.

Testing For Butter Fat.

The percentage of butter fat in milk depends almost entirely upon the individuality of the cow. The breed has something to do with it, of course, but not so much as the individuality. Feed cuts no figure. It is possible to increase the flow of milk by proper feeding, but not the percentage of butter fat. The Babcock test is the only means by which this percentage can be determined, and this is a good thing to use before purchasing dairy stock.

Correct Beef Form.

The beef cow is square in shape, full

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 18

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

EQUAL SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

Will be Submitted to Voters of State of Michigan.

PLANS FOR ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

Regular Political Canvass Will be Carried on by Suffragettes.

History of Suffrage Movement in Michigan—Voters Rejected It in 1874 When It Was Left to Vote.

Suffragists of Michigan are organizing in every county in the state and will make an determined effort to pass the equal suffrage amendment to the constitution which will be submitted to the voters next fall. Headquarters will soon be opened at Grand Rapids, but whether this is for the entire state or for Western Michigan has not as yet been decided.

All the features of a regular party campaign will be carried out by the suffragists. There will be a great deal of automobile campaigning, every county will have its chairman for the different branches of the work.

Already the speech making committee has responded to many calls through the state for speakers in various towns. W. C. T. U. organizations, church societies, debating clubs and other gatherings have been addressed. The literature committee has also met with many requests for printed speeches and other matter.

This is not the first time that equal suffrage has been put up to the voters of Michigan. In November, 1874, the question was submitted to the voters, the affirmative vote being 40,977 and the negative 35,937. Those not voting numbered 47,152 and the total vote for governor was 221,166.

Twice the house refused to submit to the people an amendment to the constitution conferring suffrage upon women. At the time of the annual session in 1890 the special committee on the part of the senate submitted a report recommending an amendment to the constitution so as to afford universal suffrage.

In 1893 the house committee returned a negative report, ridiculing the suffrage proposition. Two years later the senate committee submitted a favorable report, signed by Thomas W. Ferry.

In the legislature of 1890 both the house and senate committees voted no, referring to the "revolving arena of political strife" and using as an argument for their stand their "high regard for female character."

Nothing more was done for suffrage until 1873, when the house committee on state affairs and elections advised that the question be submitted. On March 18 a concurrent resolution was submitted and the senate voted 26 for and 4 against. The amendment was beaten at the polls.

Since that time the measure has been presented to every legislature until the present time without success.

Gov. Osborn is the first chief executive of Michigan to advocate equal suffrage, and the suffragists who worked for its passage are sharing honors with him.

BOY BADLY BRUISED

Franklin Howland Severely Injured by Falling From Carriage Last Friday.

Franklin, the young son of Lee Howland, was seriously hurt last Friday by falling from a carriage on Bridge street.

He was standing in the back of the carriage when the horse stopped and the driver alighted. He attempted to climb over the back into the seat when the horse became frightened at a passing vehicle and jumped throwing the child full force backward on to the pavement.

Although no bones were broken, his head was bruised severely and doubts were held for a time as to his recovery, but he is now doing nicely and will be fully recovered in a short time.

WILL MEET AT MANISTEE

Northern Michigan Soldiers and Sailors Association in July.

At a meeting of the board of trade, G. A. R. members and representatives of other organizations of Manistee held last week the preliminary arrangements were made for holding the annual reunion of the Northern Michigan Soldiers and Sailors' association there in July. It is planned to have the encampment continue over the Fourth of July, at which time the city will hold a great celebration and make the military parade one of the features. Another meeting will be held a few days later at which time the further details will be discussed. Manistee intends to entertain the old soldiers in a manner befitting their honorable records and a great amount of interest is being taken in the work. The encampment has been held in Traverse City for the past several years and was brought to Manistee upon an invitation from the business men and others last year.

ACT IS NOW MADE GENERAL

The Carrying of Concealed Weapons Strictly Prohibited.

License is Obtained From the Members of County Board of Examiners.

The law in regard to the carrying of concealed weapons passed by the last legislature is not generally understood by the people at large. It applies to all counties in the state, and in order that all may be posted and thereby avoid any trouble that the carrying of weapons is liable to get them into, the provisions of the law are given as follows:

Act No. 271, Public Acts 1911, entitled: An act to prohibit the sale, keeping for sale, loaning, giving away or carrying of certain dangerous weapons has been amended by special session of the legislature March 13, 1912. Section one reads as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any person, except as hereinafter provided, to go armed with a dirk, dagger, sword, pistol, revolver, willie, metallic knuckles, pocket-billy, sand bag, skull-cracker, slug-shot, razor, bat-plus over ten inches long, or other offensive and dangerous weapons or instruments concealed upon his person."

A new section has been added to the act, providing for its immediate effect. The amendment to this act makes the law operative in every county in the state and the prosecuting attorney, sheriff, in counties where no regularly organized police exists, and in counties where one or more regularly organized police force exists, the prosecuting attorney, sheriff and chief of police of the city within which such license is sought shall constitute a board whose duty it shall be and who shall have power to grant licenses to carry a revolver, pistol, or pocket-billy, and the said board shall meet on the first Monday in each month at the county seat for the purpose of hearing applications to carry a revolver, pistol or pocket-billy. A majority of said board shall constitute a quorum. The county clerk of each county shall act as secretary of said board and shall keep a correct list of all persons to whom licenses are issued, together with the number of such license and the date each license is revoked.

Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not more than $500 or by imprisonment in the state prison not more than two years or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Heretofore the above act was applicable only in counties of one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants or more. It is now in effect in every county in the state, and of officers, citizens and all who are likely to carry concealed weapons are hereby warned and notified in regard to same.

Going to build this spring?—The place to buy your lime, pulp plaster, brick, and other material is at the Builders' Supply Co., phone 86 2r.

GENERAL CLEAN-UP DAY THROUGHOUT ENTIRE STATE

State Board of Health Fixes Upon May 15 as the Date—Governor Has Issued a Proclamation in Accordance With Recommendation—General Co-operation is Asked For.

The most important asset subject to the principles of conservation of is good health. The largest financial burden in the people of Michigan is produced by disease. The diseases causing this output of money are preventable diseases. The most important principle of prevention of disease is sanitation. A proper degree of sanitation and hygiene consistently maintained will save thousands of lives and millions of dollars in this state each year.

There are in Michigan each month over 200 deaths from tuberculosis. This disease costs us $20,000,000 a year. Add to this the cost of typhoid fever, diphtheria, smallpox, cholera infantum, and the long list of preventable diseases and the amount becomes appalling. This matter is practically within the power of public control.

To the end that concerted activity, covering the entire state, may be established, his excellency, Chase S. Osborn, Governor of the State of Michigan, has designated May 15, 1912, as Public Health and Clean Up Day in Michigan.

In accordance with the spirit of his proclamation, the state board of health asks that it be made a day of general cleaning up of insanitary surroundings, and the establishment of sanitary, healthful conditions. This will bring about an unmeasured good if entered into with the spirit which the movement deserves.

We ask that mayors of cities and presidents of villages, through the cooperation of the local boards of health, extend the proclamation into every jurisdiction. It should be a day of special public health teaching in every school in the state. From every pulpit a sermon on good health might profitably be extended on the Sunday preceding. The newspapers might well anticipate the day by special editorials pertaining to the subject.

If all concerned will participate in the work, it will mean an arrest of summer diseases which will be of untold value.

R. L. Dixon, Secretary.

THE BOY EVANGELIST

Large Crowds Are in Attendance at Revival Meetings.

The Union revival meeting held by the local pastors on Bridge street have been so well patronized that it has been decided to continue the services for at least two weeks more, also thought best to call El Joseph Raycroft, the "Boy Evangelist" from Chicago to assist in the work. The meetings will be held every night this week at the Baptist church, song service commencing at 7:30 p. m. Next week the meetings will be at the Methodist church.

Last Sunday evening it was impossible to find seats for the large crowd desiring to hear the young preacher. Many were compelled to stand during the service. Thirteen came forward at the close of the meeting and professed conversion, while many more came to dedicate their lives for better Christian service.

There will be a "Mother's Meeting" held at the Baptist church on Thursday afternoon of this week. Mrs. Raycroft would like to meet all of the mothers and young ladies at that time.

On Saturday afternoon at 2:30 there will be a "Children's Meeting" at the same place. All school children are requested to be present if possible, parents also invited.

INTERESTING TEST OF SEED CORN

Made By Charlevoix County Normal Training Class Recently.

Vitality Seriously Impaired—Farmer Should Carefully Test Seed Corn.

The county normal training class under the direction of Miss Hines has been conducting a campaign of seed testing and has developed some very interesting facts.

Along with other seeds they have tested seed corn and have submitted the following report.

Two tests were made from selected seed corn.

First test: 25 grains planted. End of 10th day, 21 grains sprouted and 4 grains sprouted and not up.

Second test: 10 test dishes, 5 grains each. End of 3rd, 8 dishes all germinated, 2 dishes 4 grains each germinated. Average, 80 per cent.

Three tests made from corn that farmers expected to use for seed.

First: 10 grains planted. End of 10th day, 9 grains up.

Second: 10 grains planted. End of 10th day, 1 grain sprouted.

TWO INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Rural Mail Carrier Butler and R. B. Stafford the Victims.

Both badly Escape Serious Injuries Although Badly Bruised and Cut.

Monday morning, as rural mail carrier Butler had just started out on his day's journey, and was making the turn at the corner of Bridge and Clinton, R. B. Stafford started to cross the street, and becoming confused jumped in front of the car when the mud guard struck him knocking him down the machine running over both legs. Mr. Stafford was taken to Dr. King's office, where on examination, it was found that the only injuries received was a badly skinned arm and some severe bruises.

After seeing Mr. Stafford to the doctor's office, Mr. Butler started to crank up his machine when it kicked back, striking him beneath the eye. He in turn was taken to Dr. King's office where it was found that his nose was broken and he had a bad gash cut under the eye necessitating the taking of six stitches.

Both the injured are able to be out again.

HE MISSED HIS SWIM

J. E. Henderson Forgot About He Going Out of Lake Cadillac.

For the first time in a number of years J. E. Henderson, court stenographer, has missed taking his spring bath in the waters of Lake Cadillac while the ice was still in the lake. Because of press of business in Missaukee county last week, Mr. Henderson forgot about the swim until the ice was out. Last year he took his plunge on March 27 and the water was filled with floating chunks of ice at that time.

Cement blocks for the cellar and other improvements—the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co.

BEST FIVE VARIETIES

Of Apples to Grow in Grand Traverse Region According to Student of Problem.

The five varieties of apples which are the most profitable to grow in the Grand Traverse region, according to Edward Payson, of Traverse City, are the Jonathan, Delicious, Wagner, Rome, Beauty and Winesap. Mr. Payson has been studying the question of varieties in connection with our climate, soil and markets for three years and has reached the above conclusion. Other fruit men have other ideas. However, if a series of experiments could be conducted so that the kinds of fruit, and the varieties of each, that are the most profitable for us to raise, could be discovered, it would give us a chance to concentrate our efforts so as to get the greatest amount of money for the least expenditure of physical energy. We must advertise our region then in connection with these successful varieties the same as some of the western states are doing.

ONE BOY FROM EACH COUNTY

State Fair Will Pay Expenses to Boy Passing the Highest.

At Time of Regular Eighth Grade Examination May 16-17—A Prize Worth Gaining.

Some boy from this county is due for a nice trip next fall as the State fair has decided to send one boy from each county to the state fair at Detroit, September 16-21, to give him instructions while there in stock judging, soil testing, also, talks on various agricultural topics, and pay his expenses.

The selection of the boy will be made by the following committee in each county: County Commissioner of Schools, President of Farmers' Institute society and Master of Pomona grange.

The committee will meet to select the boy on June 4th or at the call of County Commissioner of schools.

The selection will be made from the two following examinations, taken by any boy in the county, between the ages of 14 and 18:

First—The regular county eighth grade examination to count 50 per cent.

Second—Examination on 20 questions prepared by the State fair management to count 50 per cent.

Second examination to be taken by applicants on afternoon of May 15th with regular 8th grade examination.

Second examination questions will be sent to each commissioner, under seal about May 5th. The boy in the county, between fourteen and eighteen having the largest average standing, will be selected by the above committee. Any boy in the county between fourteen and eighteen who wishes to attend the fair and have expenses paid, must take both examinations, and committee will select one boy from this number.

This is a fine chance for one bright boy in each county. The State fair management wish to thank, in advance, the above committee for selecting the boy and the county commissioners for giving the examinations and marking the papers.

Signed: N. P. Holt, Chairman, Thomas M. Sattler, Secretary, Frank Coward.

Amendment is Added.

Congressman Dadds succeeded in having an amendment on which he has worked long and hard, made a part of the general postoffice appropriation bill. This amendment would allow fraternal and other periodicals of a similar nature to carry advertising in their columns, and still be allowed the postal rate privileges of second class matter. Mr. Dadds has been making a determined fight on this bill in the face of strong opposition.

Wanted.

Man by month to care for lawn at Beach Hotel, Outside work. Enquire at Lewis Cottage, corner Dixon and Michigan avenues. 151

We do Fine Job Printing.

SPECIAL ELECTION IS CALLED

Voters of Charlevoix County Will Vote on Good Roads June 3.

IS DECISION OF SUPERVISORS

Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars Good Roads Bonds.

Sixty Thousand to Be Made Available This Season—Every Portion of County to Receive Benefit—Boost the Project.

Tuesday the board of supervisors met in special session to take action on the matter of submitting the question of bonding the county for the building of good roads. Every supervisor was in his place when the gavel fell. Petitions were read from nearly every voting precinct in the county, signed by a total of over five hundred free holders, asking that the board call a special election to submit the question of bonding the county for the sum of $350,000 for the purpose of building good roads in Charlevoix county.

The courtroom was comfortably filled with citizens from all portions of the county, and the board devoted its time to listening to an expression of opinion from different citizens in regard to the proposition.

All classes were represented and the generally expressed opinion was in favor of issuing bonds for the amount asked for, the only dissenting opinion being from John Kuntzen and Nat Burns, who presented a resolution adopted by Pomona grange against the issuing of twenty year bonds, although they were in favor of good roads but would rather pay for them by direct tax.

Mr. Cox, of the state highway department who was present as well as other speakers explained how a system of roads could be built much cheaper by a bond issue than by direct tax, as the commissioners could work out a definite plan. It was also explained that it was not the intention to issue twenty year bonds but to outline a plan where by we could build the roads now, reap the benefit and pay for them practically as we went along. It is the general opinion that as the grangers understand and study the matter their opposition will disappear.

This morning the board took up the matter of submitting the bonding proposition as asked for by the petitioners, and voted to submit the following proposition at a special election to be held June 3: the authorization of $350,000 in bonds, to be used as needed in the construction of good roads, $60,000 to be used this season payable in annual installments of $20,000 each, beginning in 1915. This is substantially the proposition which will be submitted to the voters and, if carried, it means that every portion of this county will receive the benefits of good roads.

Deputy Game Warden Stanford appeared before the board and explained the work of the department in endeavoring to prevent forest fires. The board took an adjournment until June 18.

PARENTS AND TEACHERS

Association Will Hold Regular Meeting Next Wednesday Evening.

The Parents and Teachers association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the high school building Wednesday evening May 8th, commencing at seven thirty o'clock. The subject for discussion is "School Examinations." The following program will be given:

Vocal solo, Chas. Wilkinson.

The Physical Effects of Examinations, Mrs. Armstrong.

The Moral Effects of Examinations, Mr. Taylor.

Examinations as a Mental Discipline, Mr. Craig.

Vocal solo, Mrs. Marting.

Examinations as They Appear in the Home, Mrs. Harsba.

Examinations as an Incentive to Study, Miss Hines.

Examinations from the Teacher's Standpoint, Mr. DeVoe.

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.
G. E. Dutton is having some land cleared on his farm here.
Mr. and Mrs. Nat Burns entertained company Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Pasco and daughter were calling on friends April 11.
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls visited Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ingalls Sunday.
We notice that D. E. Ingalls has built a new addition to his tenant house.
Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dodd and family visited Mr. Fink of Phelps one day last week.
W. E. Dodd planted his early potatoes Saturday, we also hear that there are others.
Mrs. Clara Dodd and grandson, Wesley, visited Mrs. David Alexander Thursday.
Mrs. David Alexander, and Miss Rogers, visited Mrs. E. A. Reed of Charlevoix Wednesday.
Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Dutton, and daughter Flora, of Charlevoix visited Mrs. Clara Dodd and family Sunday.
Orville Beattie, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gregory and A. Iris Dodd were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hansen Sunday.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They alter one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

SOUTH CHARLEVOIX.

Mrs. Burnett visited Sam Brown's Sunday.
Mrs. Grant Ferguson visited Geo. Fays Sunday.
Mrs. Francisak Boyne City was visiting relatives here Sunday.
Mrs. Schuyler Sanoley of Bay Shore was visiting her mother, Mrs. Preston, the first of the week.
Mrs. John Hammond had the pleasure of entertaining her son and family of Charlevoix last Sabbath.

ROCK ELM.

George Tyke expects to go west soon.
Our school closed with a picnic Tuesday.
Leon Vangorder is working for Abe Stevenson.
The buzz saw was at Wilbur Spidle's Saturday and Monday.
Miss Coy of East Jordan visited at Victor LeCroix' Sunday.
Jim Secord will build a large basement barn this summer.
Mrs. William Walker of East Jordan visited her sister Mrs. E. Vangorder one day last week.
Leon and Harry Vangorder and the Misses Viola and Marjorie Cleland visited Mildred Hutton Sunday.
The Miss Edith and Alma Hrode, who have been teaching in the eastern part of the county, are expected home this week.
Two or three of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bowen's children have diphtheria. Dr. Dickert of East Jordan is attending them.
Mr. Hollingshead, a young Free Methodist preacher from Intermedie, speaks to our people at the school house every Sunday after Sabbath school at 11:30 A. M.
Three candidates were instructed in the first and second degrees at Rock Elm grange Saturday night, also five in the third and fourth degrees. R. A. Brintnall, of Wilson grange being present and assisting in the work. Visitors were also present from Ironton and Boyne River granges. After the work was completed a most beautiful supper was served by the ladies.

WILSON.

George Todd, is working for Mr. Ulvnd.
Herbert Holland is on the sick list this week.
Fred Farmer is doing mason work for Frank Nemecsek.
We hear that there will be a picnic wedding dinner in Brickerville soon.
Children very often have trouble with their kidneys and bladder either as a result of weakness or of some children's disease. Mrs. John Thomas, Escanaba, Mich., says: "My little boy had a severe pain across his back and was so nervous he could not sleep at night but Foley Kidney Pills cured him in a short time." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

NO CAUSE TO DOUBT

A Statement of Facts Backed by a Strong Guarantee.

We guarantee immediate and positive relief to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where our remedy fails to do this we will return the money paid us for it. That's a frank statement of facts, and we want you to substantiate them at our risk.
Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night, do not cause diarrhea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.
Rexall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction. Three sizes: 12 tablets 10 cents, 26 tablets 25 cents and 50 tablets 50 cents.
Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charlevoix only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Miss Eunice Warden who is working near Boyne Falls spent Sunday at home.
Mrs. Maria Baker has been visiting friends and relatives in Wilson the past week.
Gladys Hudkins, who is teaching near Walloon Lake, spent Saturday and Sunday at home.
Samuel Richardson, Sr., has been suffering with rheumatism for a long time and is reported very low at present.
Leo Wilson attended Wilson grange Saturday evening and after grange he was seen down in the southwest corner of township until a rather late hour. I wonder what the attractions were?

Alex. Destimon, 90 Lake St., Muskegon, Mich., desires other people to benefit by the curative qualities of Foley Kidney Pills and says: "I wish to state that I have used Foley Kidney Pills and received more benefit from them than anything that I have ever used before. I had a bad case of kidney trouble and I wish to thank you for the help Foley Kidney Pills have given me." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

CLARION.

George Brown went to Boyne Falls on Sunday.
Vernon Brown of Springvale was in town Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy returned Saturday from East Jordan.
W. W. Niles and family of Walloon left last week for Curtis.
Ben Johnson left Wednesday for Curtis, where he will remain during the summer.
Miss Georgia Scroggie visited her sister Mr. Walter Masters of Walloon on Sunday.
Mrs. D. H. Buckley of Walloon spent Thursday and Friday with Clarion friends before leaving for her new home at Curtis.

Jas. Therio, of Iron River, Mich., finds Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a family medicine that helped all the family, so he always keeps it on hand. "Both my children and I were troubled with bad coughs and we used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It certainly cured us and I recommend it as a good cough and cold cure." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

NORWOOD.

Walden Valentine has gone to Pe-toskey for the summer.
H. Pierce has opened up his mill again for a two month's run.
The L. A. S. met with Mrs. Lucia April 23, with sixteen present.
Mr. and Mrs. Amos Miller are home after a six month's visit in Chicago.

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

The normal class and the training room children visited the fish hatchery on last Friday afternoon. They saw the eggs and fry of the white fish and lake trout.
Miss Carrie Miller called at the normal Monday morning during the agriculture period.

The results of seed corn germination are as follows: First test: Twenty-four grains of selected seed corn were planted and at the end of ten days, 90 per cent of the grains were sprouted and up. The same number of grains of crib corn were planted and not one of them sprouted. Second test: Fifty grains of selected seed corn were placed in ten saucers. At the end of the third day, 90 per cent of the grains had sprouted. The same number of grains of crib corn were tested in like manner and none sprouted.

C. H. S. NOTES.

The Shakespeare class is preparing to present the Court scene from the Merchant of Venice soon, and we are all looking forward to it with much interest.

The minstrel comedy as given by our boys in East Jordan Friday evening was truly a comedy. Owing to several other social events occurring on the same evening, the audience was very small, and the boys realized their expenses plus sixty cents. But never mind, they made up in fun for what they lacked in money, for everyone reported a rousing good time.

Miss Catten spent the week end at the home of Harold Tillatson in Bay Shore.

Mr. Bendell, a reader and lecturer in the employ of the Coyt Lecture Bureau, visited the Shakespeare class Friday afternoon, and very kindly helped the class in a rehearsal of the Court Scene. His suggestions were very much appreciated.

The freshmen English class had its first formal debate Friday morning and from all reports it was a good one. Keep it up, you're doing pretty well for freshmen.

Mrs. Ida Decker, 71 Carlyle Street, Battle Creek, Mich., had all the painful symptoms of severe kidney trouble. Her kidneys were congested, eyesight blurred, slept poorly, was nervous, tired out, and all run down. After taking Foley Kidney Pills she says: "The sick headache came no more, I slept soundly, was free from dizziness, and my kidneys and bladder stopped bothering me. Foley Kidney Pills cured me, and freed me of much misery." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Law Points For the Farmer.

In the construction of a written instrument by courts that construction will be adopted, if possible, which will make the instrument effectual and reasonable.—Driscoll, versus. Penrod, Ind. 55 N. E. 313.

Section 304 of New York state agricultural law puts San Jose scale in the same list with black knot or little peach as a prohibited ailment. The state commissioner of agriculture at Albany, N. Y., has full authority to act to prevent infection.

Has a widow the right to cut timber on land which she holds under her husband's will, giving it to her "to hold for her use as long as she lives?" asks a Pennsylvania correspondent of the Farm Journal. The answer is: "The widow is entitled to cut timber from the land for fuel, fences, agricultural operations and other necessary improvements. In taking wood for fuel she is entitled to take a reasonable quantity and to take good fuel and such as is conveniently situated. She has no right, however, to sell any of the firewood or timber or to exchange it for materials for repairs or to take more than is necessary."

HEARD IN CHARLEVOIX

Bad Backs Made Strong—Kidney Ills Corrected.

All over Charlevoix you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work, curing weak kidneys, driving away backache, correcting urinary ills. Charlevoix people are telling about it—telling of backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own town-people. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches, if you feel lame, sore and miserable, if the kidneys act too frequently, or passages are painful, scanty and off color, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Charlevoix citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.

Mrs. W. L. Cowan, 211 Clinton St., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for I have derived very good results from their use. I was subject to severe backache and pains in my kidneys and also annoyed by kidney irregularities. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Ivy Drug Store and they brought me great relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BANK

The compliments of the Directors and Officers of this Bank are presented to you with the respectful request that you will avail yourself immediately of our services. We can help you. Come in and let us talk it over.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A GOOD BANK IN A GOOD TOWN

—Directors—

R. P. FOLEY G. C. GEIKEN
W. J. RACHOW JOHN BURNS
J. L. CRANE E. D. CAMPBELL
H. S. HARSHA

—Officers—

R. P. FOLEY, President
G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President.
H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier
C. O. McMAHAN, Ass't Cashier

All Business given this Bank receives our personal attention. You are welcome to use our new offices at all times.

Bargain Sale One Week

For CASH ONLY From

May 1 to May 8

10c package Azie	3c
13c and 15c Prunes	10c
13c can Huron Peas	10c
20c can Pesant Salmon	15c
7 bars Lenox Soap	25c
12 bars Calumet Soap	25c
10c pkg Sun Cured Tobacco	5c
Two 5c pkgs Oakland Soap P'd'r	5c
10c pkg Voight's Cream Flakes	5c
Two 5c pkgs Bazaar Matches	5c

SPECIAL WEEK SHOE SALE

15c Baby Moccasins	10c pair
25c Baby Shoes	19c pair
50c Baby Shoes	37c pair
No. 1662 Child's $1 Shoes	60c pair
No. 1208 Child's $1.25 Shoes	80c pr

Special sale for one week on all Baby's, Children's and Misses' shoes

We still have a lot of Men's, Ladies' and Boys' lace shoes to close out at Very Low Prices

THIS WEEK

Bert Mason
Cash Grocer

Ford Cars Are Winners

More than one hundred thousand Ford Cars are in use today. More than four thousand individual Ford dealers are scattered over the entire United States and Canada today. I have taken the exclusive agency for Charlevoix and vicinity and solicit your business. If you are in the market for a car, I want to talk with you before you buy. Look at this

Ford Model "T" Four Door Touring Car
5 Passenger—4 Cylinder—20 Horse Power Car

Price: $690

Includes Extension Top, Automatic Brass Wind Shield, Speedometer, 2 six inch Gas Lamps, Generator, 3 Oil Lamps, Horn, Tools

WHERE CAN YOU DO BETTER

Ford Model Five is not a cheap car—it is the highest priced car in the world, none excepted. Yet, I am able to sell it at the lowest price. You are asked to buy a Ford for what it will do, based upon what it has done. Let me talk with you before you buy.

Theodore Erickson
Local Agent

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"

The Great Remedy for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, Neuritis, La Grippe and Kidney Trouble.

Applied externally, it stops all aches and pains. Taken internally, it cleanses the system, restores the system to a healthy condition. Sold by Druggists.

One Dollar per bottle, or sent prepaid upon receipt of price if not cashed in your locality.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
100 Lake Street, Chicago

SWANSON'S PILLS
Best Remedy for Constipation, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Bloating and Liver Troubles. 25c Per Box at Druggists

SKIN SORES
Easily and Quickly Healed

Those who suffer from Eczema, pimples or other skin eruptions know the misery of the disease. There is no need of suffering. You can easily get rid of it by a simple and inexpensive treatment known as the Five-Drop Salve. It is a carefully compounded ointment that for fifteen years has proven its efficacy in curing all skin diseases. The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25 and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. If it is not obtainable in your locality you can order direct from Swanson R. C. Co., 100 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent you more promptly than ever. It is an excellent remedy for eczema, skin and scalp diseases.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25 and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. If it is not obtainable in your locality you can order direct from Swanson R. C. Co., 100 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent you more promptly than ever. It is an excellent remedy for eczema, skin and scalp diseases.

COSENDAY DYE WORKS
"DRY CLEANERS"

ESTABLISHED 1877

CLEANERS AND DYERS OF CARPETS
DRAPERIES, LACES AND GARMENTS

WRITE FOR PRICES

127-133 N. Jefferson Ave., Saginaw, Mich.

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON

Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Platons Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH

Accountant at Law

Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. L. SHANAHAN

Attorney at Law

Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULU

Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store

Phone 183 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted

Phone—Office 66; residence 263.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. R. ARMSTRONG, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT

Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store, Charlevoix, Mich.
Telephone No. 25.

D. R. A. MONTAGUE

Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)

Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
$1,000.00 for loss of Limb or Eyesight
$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
Cost $4.00 per year. No other Dues

Did established Company with $100,000.00 State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.

Men and Women between 16 and 65 accepted, according to occupation. For further information address:

AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY
Dept. 19 Box 441 Erie, Pa.

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday Page & Company.

PROLOGUE.

It was in the woods that the girl of the Limberlost found her education, her love, her happiness and other good things, so, rightly, the air of the trees is in this story of her life. Here is a tale for lovers of the woods and for others who like a simple story, well told by one who knows the forest, can tell about "home folks" and can find the interest in everyday lives. Through these pages flutters the brilliant butterfly of tangled romance, the more sober butterfly, no less beautiful, of noble, quiet lives, well lived, and the gray moth of sorrow borne needlessly for many years. And if you listen closely you may hear the buzz of the little, busy existence of Billy, a youngster worth your knowing.

CHAPTER I.

Wherein Elora Goes to High School.

"ELORA COMSTOCK, have you lost your senses?" demanded the angry voice of Katharine Comstock as she glared at her daughter.

"Why, mother?" faltered the girl.

"Don't you 'why mother' me?" cried Mrs. Comstock. "You know very well what I mean. You've given me no peace until you've had your way about this going to school business. I've fixed you good enough, and you're ready to start. But in child of mine walks the streets of Oshkosh looking like a play actress woman. You wet your hair and comb it down modest and decent and then be off, or you'll have no time to find where you belong."

Elora gave one despairing glance at the white face, framed in a most becoming riot of reddish brown hair, which she saw in the little kitchen mirror. Then she snatched the narrow black ribbon, wet the comb and plastered the waving curls close to her head, bound them fast, placed on the skimpy black hat and started for the back door.

Mrs. Comstock watched the girl down the long walk to the gate and out of sight on the road to the bright sunshine of the first Monday of September.

"I let a dollar she gets enough of it by night!" Mrs. Comstock said positively.

Elora walked by instinct, for her eyes were blinded with tears. She left the road where it turned south at the corner of the Limberlost, climbed a snake fence and entered a path worn by her own feet. Touching under willow and scrub oak branches, she at last came to the faint outline of an old trail made in the days when the pre-lumber hunters of the swamp were hunted by armed men. This path she followed until she reached a thick clump of bushes. From the details in the end of a hollow log she took a key that unlocked the padlock of a large weather beaten old box, inside of which lay several books, a butterfly apparatus and an old cracked mirror. The walls were lined thickly with gaudy butterflies, dragon flies and moths. She set up the mirror, and, after more pulling the ribbon from her hair, she shook the bright mass over her shoulders, tossing it dry in the sunshine. Then she straightened it, bound it loosely and replaced her hat. She tugged vainly at the low brown calico collar and gazed despairingly at the generous length of the narrow skirt. She lifted it as she would have lifted it to be cut, if possible. That disclosed the heavy leather high shoes, at sight of which she looked positively ill and hastily dropped the skirt. Looking the case again, she hid the key and hurried down the trail.

She followed it around the north end of the swamp and then struck into a footpath crossing a farm in the direction of the upper of the city to the northeast. Again she climbed a fence and was on the open road. For an instant she leaned against the fence, staring and buried to her. "Would you tell me where the freshmen are?" she panted.

"Straight down the hall, three doors to your left," was the answer as the girl passed.

"One minute, please—oh, please!" begged Elora. "Do I knock or just open the door?"

"Go in and take a seat," replied the teacher.

"What if there aren't any seats?" gasped Elora.

"Classrooms are never half filled. There will be plenty," was the answer.

Elora removed her hat. There was no place to put it, so she carried it in her hand. She looked infinitely better without it. After several efforts she at last opened the door and, stepping inside, faced a smaller and more concentrated battery of eyes.

"Be seated," said the professor in charge of the class, and then, because he saw Elora was desperately embarrassed, he proceeded to lend her a book and to ask her if she had studied algebra. She said she had a little, but not the same book they were using. He asked her if she felt that she could do the work they were beginning, and she said she did.

That was how it happened that three minutes after entering the room she was compelled to take her place at the blackboard beside the girl of the hall whose flushed face and angry eyes avoided meeting Elora's. Being compelled to concentrate on her proposition, she forgot herself. When the professor asked that all pupils show their work, she finally wrote: "Elora Comstock" under her demonstration. Then she took her seat and waited with white lips and trembling hands as one after another the professor called the names on the board, while their owners arose and explained their propositions or dunked if they had not found a correct solution. She was so eager to catch their forms of expression and prepare herself for her recitation that she never took her eyes from the work on the board until clearly and distinctly "Elora Comstock" called the professor.

The dazed girl stared at the board. One tiny curl added to the top of the first curve of the "m" in her name had transformed it from a good old English patronymic that any girl might bear proudly to Cornstock. Elora stared speechless. When and how did it happen? She could feel the wave of smothered laughter in the air around her. A rush of anger turned her face scarlet and her soul sick. A hot answer was on her lips. The voice of the professor addressed her straightly.

"This proposition seems to be beautifully demonstrated, Miss Cornstock," he said. "Surely you can tell us how you did it."

That word of praise saved her. She was tall, straight and handsome as she arose.

"Of course I can explain my work," she said in natural tones. "What I can't explain is how I happened to be so stupid as to make a mistake in writing my own name. I must have been a little nervous. Please excuse me."

She went to the board, swept off the signature with one stroke, then, without a tremor, retrace it clearly. "My name is 'Comstock,'" she said distinctly. She turned to her seat and, following the formula used by the others, made her first high school recitation.

The face of Professor Henley was a study. As Elora took her seat he looked at her steadily. "It puzzles me," he said deliberately, "how you can write as beautiful a demonstration and explain it as clearly as ever has been done in any of my classes and still be so disturbed as to make a mistake in your own name. Are you very sure you did that yourself, Miss Comstock?"

"It is impossible that any one else should have done it," answered Elora steadily.

"I am very glad you think so," said the professor, "telling freshmen, all of you, to be careful to me. I should hate to begin the year with you feeling there was one among you small enough to do a trick like that. The next proposition, please."

When the hour was gone the class filed back to the study room, and Elora followed in desperation because she did not know where else to go. She could not study as she had no books, and when the class again left

ed and buried to her. "Would you tell me where the freshmen are?" she panted.

"Straight down the hall, three doors to your left," was the answer as the girl passed.

"One minute, please—oh, please!" begged Elora. "Do I knock or just open the door?"

"Go in and take a seat," replied the teacher.

"What if there aren't any seats?" gasped Elora.

"Classrooms are never half filled. There will be plenty," was the answer.

Elora removed her hat. There was no place to put it, so she carried it in her hand. She looked infinitely better without it. After several efforts she at last opened the door and, stepping inside, faced a smaller and more concentrated battery of eyes.

"Be seated," said the professor in charge of the class, and then, because he saw Elora was desperately embarrassed, he proceeded to lend her a book and to ask her if she had studied algebra. She said she had a little, but not the same book they were using. He asked her if she felt that she could do the work they were beginning, and she said she did.

That was how it happened that three minutes after entering the room she was compelled to take her place at the blackboard beside the girl of the hall whose flushed face and angry eyes avoided meeting Elora's. Being compelled to concentrate on her proposition, she forgot herself. When the professor asked that all pupils show their work, she finally wrote: "Elora Comstock" under her demonstration. Then she took her seat and waited with white lips and trembling hands as one after another the professor called the names on the board, while their owners arose and explained their propositions or dunked if they had not found a correct solution. She was so eager to catch their forms of expression and prepare herself for her recitation that she never took her eyes from the work on the board until clearly and distinctly "Elora Comstock" called the professor.

The dazed girl stared at the board. One tiny curl added to the top of the first curve of the "m" in her name had transformed it from a good old English patronymic that any girl might bear proudly to Cornstock. Elora stared speechless. When and how did it happen? She could feel the wave of smothered laughter in the air around her. A rush of anger turned her face scarlet and her soul sick. A hot answer was on her lips. The voice of the professor addressed her straightly.

"This proposition seems to be beautifully demonstrated, Miss Cornstock," he said. "Surely you can tell us how you did it."

That word of praise saved her. She was tall, straight and handsome as she arose.

"Of course I can explain my work," she said in natural tones. "What I can't explain is how I happened to be so stupid as to make a mistake in writing my own name. I must have been a little nervous. Please excuse me."

She went to the board, swept off the signature with one stroke, then, without a tremor, retrace it clearly. "My name is 'Comstock,'" she said distinctly. She turned to her seat and, following the formula used by the others, made her first high school recitation.

The face of Professor Henley was a study. As Elora took her seat he looked at her steadily. "It puzzles me," he said deliberately, "how you can write as beautiful a demonstration and explain it as clearly as ever has been done in any of my classes and still be so disturbed as to make a mistake in your own name. Are you very sure you did that yourself, Miss Comstock?"

"It is impossible that any one else should have done it," answered Elora steadily.

"I am very glad you think so," said the professor, "telling freshmen, all of you, to be careful to me. I should hate to begin the year with you feeling there was one among you small enough to do a trick like that. The next proposition, please."

When the hour was gone the class filed back to the study room, and Elora followed in desperation because she did not know where else to go. She could not study as she had no books, and when the class again left

ed and buried to her. "Would you tell me where the freshmen are?" she panted.

"Straight down the hall, three doors to your left," was the answer as the girl passed.

"One minute, please—oh, please!" begged Elora. "Do I knock or just open the door?"

"Go in and take a seat," replied the teacher.

"What if there aren't any seats?" gasped Elora.

"Classrooms are never half filled. There will be plenty," was the answer.

Elora removed her hat. There was no place to put it, so she carried it in her hand. She looked infinitely better without it. After several efforts she at last opened the door and, stepping inside, faced a smaller and more concentrated battery of eyes.

"Be seated," said the professor in charge of the class, and then, because he saw Elora was desperately embarrassed, he proceeded to lend her a book and to ask her if she had studied algebra. She said she had a little, but not the same book they were using. He asked her if she felt that she could do the work they were beginning, and she said she did.

That was how it happened that three minutes after entering the room she was compelled to take her place at the blackboard beside the girl of the hall whose flushed face and angry eyes avoided meeting Elora's. Being compelled to concentrate on her proposition, she forgot herself. When the professor asked that all pupils show their work, she finally wrote: "Elora Comstock" under her demonstration. Then she took her seat and waited with white lips and trembling hands as one after another the professor called the names on the board, while their owners arose and explained their propositions or dunked if they had not found a correct solution. She was so eager to catch their forms of expression and prepare herself for her recitation that she never took her eyes from the work on the board until clearly and distinctly "Elora Comstock" called the professor.

The dazed girl stared at the board. One tiny curl added to the top of the first curve of the "m" in her name had transformed it from a good old English patronymic that any girl might bear proudly to Cornstock. Elora stared speechless. When and how did it happen? She could feel the wave of smothered laughter in the air around her. A rush of anger turned her face scarlet and her soul sick. A hot answer was on her lips. The voice of the professor addressed her straightly.

"This proposition seems to be beautifully demonstrated, Miss Cornstock," he said. "Surely you can tell us how you did it."

That word of praise saved her. She was tall, straight and handsome as she arose.

"Of course I can explain my work," she said in natural tones. "What I can't explain is how I happened to be so stupid as to make a mistake in writing my own name. I must have been a little nervous. Please excuse me."

She went to the board, swept off the signature with one stroke, then, without a tremor, retrace it clearly. "My name is 'Comstock,'" she said distinctly. She turned to her seat and, following the formula used by the others, made her first high school recitation.

Ways to Save

If you are working on a salary your first thought each pay day should be to save a part of your earnings to provide for future use.

You can save one month's pay during the year and with small economy. This is our suggestion.—Have a savings account with this bank; each month deposit one-twelfth of your salary; do not spend it.

At the end-of-the-year you will have saved a month's salary and 4 per cent compound interest. We pay you the interest twice a year. Begin this month to save some amount every pay day.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bettars A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

GARDEN MAKING

Will soon be in full swing. Enjoy it by the use of new tools--Hoes, Rakes, Spades, Etc.

BRIGHTEN UP

Get That Painting Out of the Way
Paints, Oils, Varnishes
Gypsin and Muresco Wall Finish
THE VERY BEST

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

SEE ME

When in search of Jewelry for Gifts or own use. When you wish to purchase a reliable Watch or Clock. When you want Table Silverware or Cut Glass. When in need of first-class Jewelry Repairing.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, cleanest money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience you can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 20-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were piloting them through our factory. Now appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't you be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling inducement, rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 16 T.

THE VICTOR

SAFE & LOCK CO.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In fact, My Entire Life has been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds of Men and Women from Nervous Wrecks into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.

I CURE NERVOUS THROBLES from overwork, vice, I promptly and positively cure, no matter of how long standing.

I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE PILES in 20 days to stay cured and to never return.

I CURE CONSTIPATION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured my mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.

Any unfortunate girl given best of care. May work out, fers.

Call and see me or write in either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and I my advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars. His life!—to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WHITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.
Behling Sanitarium & Hotel, Behling, Mich., or Saginaw Sanitarium, Saginaw, Mich.

(Continued on page 7)

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at:
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VanPelt Place

OFFICIAL PAPER OF CHARLEVOIX

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year, $1.50
One copy, six months, .75
One copy, three months, .40

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

Common Council

Council Chamber, Apr. 30, 1912
The common council for the city of Charlevoix met on the above date, Mayor Nordrum presiding. Aldermen present, Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney and Geiken. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Enter Ald. Webster.
Moved by Ald. Geiken and seconded by Ald. Webster that the opinion of the city attorney in the matter of the petition of J. M. Sanders and others for the prevention of the use of building on lot 10 as a barn by H. B. Wood be received and placed on file and that a copy of same be furnished the petitioners.

Motion carried by the following aye and nay vote.
Ayes, Glassford, Priest, Rachow, Barney, Webster and Geiken.
Nays, none.

To the Honorable, the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Charlevoix:
In regard to the petition filed by members of the congregation of the M. E. Church in regard to the heavy barn or stable of Hefty Wood, I beg to report that he has not in any way complied with the provisions of the city ordinance and is subject to a fine of not more than $500. The council could by resolution compel him to put sheet iron on the building and metal or fireproof roofing with ladders or scaffolds connecting therewith. But Mr. Wood made application for a permit to build this barn, the council by a majority vote could have refused the permit on the grounds of the building being extra hazardous on account of fire. However, the barn having been built, there is no provision in the ordinance or at law whereby the city could compel Mr. Wood to remove the barn, and the only relief the city can offer the petitioners would be to pass an ordinance under the third section of the city general power, which provides that the city may prevent and remove anything conducive to disease, and to prevent and remove nuisances, or pass an ordinance under section twenty-four compelling Mr. Wood to remove, remove or dilate his stable, whenever the council should deem it necessary for the health, comfort and convenience of the inhabitants of the city. This of course would be a general ordinance affecting all barns and stables and other structures mentioned in section twenty-four. After having adopted the ordinance it would, in fact, be a quire a judicial decision to determine what would be a nuisance. I doubt the council's power to determine what constitutes a nuisance other than those things already determined by the courts. However, the council could compel the owners of stables to keep their barns clean, to keep the odor down and exterminate flies, by compelling stable owners to provide proper drainage, disinfectant and other things which would collect. This is possible to be done, and proper ordinance can be adopted, taking care of this phase of the question. If the council should under such ordinance, I would recommend that the ordinance committee meet with the health officer and ascertain the ways and means of keeping stables clean and wholesome.

Respectfully submitted,
Lyle Stranahan, City Attorney.

Dated April 30, 1912.
The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

April 30, 1912.
To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your committee on streets would report that they have carefully examined the State street grade and would consider entirely suitable and to order to conform more with the grade of the street from Division St. to the cemetery as follows: The street committee reported as follows in regard to sidewalk grade on State street from Garfield Ave. south to the cemetery as follows:

Ayes, Priest, Rachow, Barney, Webster and Geiken.

Nays, none.

There being no further business the council adjourned to meet on Monday May 6th at 7:30 p. m.

E. J. Hiller, City Clerk.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders Supply Co. 176

RENOVATION OF OLD ORCHARDS

Department of Agriculture Has Just Issued a Bulletin.

Telling Methods Used to Secure Profitable Results in Other States.

Michigan's old apple orchards on general farms can be made to pay well, if conditions are not too unfavorable. This is the plain teaching of a bulletin just issued by the department of agriculture. The bulletin tells what returns have been made from small renovated orchards in other parts of the country, particularly New York. A survey of 11,000 acres of orchard, mostly old, has been made in four fruit counties of New York. These orchards show an average yields in different years from 50 to 225 bushels per acre, bringing an average price of 75 cents per bushel.

More specifically, the department gives figures for a renovated orchard of 61 acres in western New York. Eight years is the period covered. The average yield during this time was 67 barrels to the acre, which sold for an average price of $2.23 per barrel. The average cost of production was $1.16 per barrel. From this orchard the average gross income has been $1,020.12 per year or $167.28 per acre. The net profit has been $572.85 per year or an average of $89.91 per acre. In calculating the net profit allowance has been made not alone for the cost of producing the crop but also taxes and live per cent interest on the investment in equipment and land.

A four acre orchard in Monroe county, New York, was renovated two years ago. The first year it produced not more than $25 worth of fruit for sale, orchards commonly doing little the first year after renovation. But last year this orchard produced fruit to the value of $1,100, with a net profit of $810, or $210 per acre.

The first year cost of renovating an old orchard is placed by the department at from $27 to $52.

Michigan has been making great strides in fruit production, but there are still many old orchards on the state which have not been awakened. Michigan is naturally a fruit section, with excellent advantages for the farmer who wants to make the old orchard pay. The conditions under which renovation will pay and just what to do to bring it up are told in the department's bulletin, which may be secured from the secretary of agriculture at Washington.

For Sale.
Two seated, rubber tired runabout. Inquire Argo Milling Co. 174

ORCHARD ADVICE.

Read Here About Pruning, Early Spring Spraying and Other Matters.
Diseased wood on a tree can never be made over again. Cut it off and allow another shoot to grow. Every day that such wood remains on a tree adds to the liability of losing it.

Before starting in fruit culture for market visit the progressive, practical fruit culturist and study details; also learn the cost of bushes, method of culture and the returns.

It is an excellent plan to whitewash the trees, filling the cracks of the bark with lime, so as to fill up the hiding places of fruit pests, as well as to destroy many which are hiding.

Spraying in the early part of the season seems like lots of waste of time and money, but when it comes to harvest and you find a larger proportion of marketable fruit you are then ready to admit that spraying pays.

Do not prune too closely. Pruning may be done any time in winter or early spring, but the wounds should be covered at once with paint. An old tree bleeds freely and will suffer if there are a large number of wounds on it.

Paint the scars on fruit trees to prevent decay where branches have been cut off. White lead and oil paints will keep out moisture. Whitewash is good for painting the entire trunk of the tree, and by adding sulphur to the whitewash fungi and insect life will be destroyed.—Farm Progress.

A pessimist will not believe an ear of corn on the stalk to be anything but a bubble until it comes out of its sheath and proves itself.

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

YOU may come to us with entire confidence in the matter of clothes. We want to be of service to you in the matter; we are not so anxious to sell you something as we are to have something to please you. Our effort is to have the right goods; there's nothing for us to gain by having anything else.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

clothes look right to us; we wouldn't try to sell them to you if we didn't think so. It's no trouble to guarantee your complete satisfaction with such goods; and no risk.

We know they're right; you'll find them so; style quality, tailoring, fit; all right.

Suits $18 and up

M. A. LEVINSON & CO.

This store is the Home of Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Let me do your DRAYING

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time

Phone 373

When you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.

Moving Household Goods A SPECIALTY
CHARLES TAYLOR

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, VanPelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:15 a. m.
Subject: "Everlasting Punishment."
Wednesday at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2:30 to 5:30 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

METHODIST CHURCH.
Revival meetings, changed from the Baptist church to the Methodist church beginning Sunday evening. In these meetings the pastors are assisted by El Joseph Raycroft, the boy preacher.
12:00 m. Sunday School.
6:30 p. m. Epworth League.
Prayer Meeting Thursday evening, 7:30.
You are welcome to all our services.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.
Morning Service, 10:30.
Sunday School at 11:45.
B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Mrs. Raycroft will have charge of the service.
Mission Circle on Friday afternoon at Mrs. Dentons.
Evening service, Union Meeting at the M. E. Church.
Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion Town hall.
"Strangers always welcome."

CONGREGATIONAL.
Morning service at 10:30. Rev. C. E. Taggart at Reed City will occupy the pulpit morning and evening and will also preach at Irons on the afternoon.
Sunday School at 12 m.

Meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society at 6:30 p. m.—Topic, "Unselfishness." Leader, Will Mitchell. This is the Consecration meeting and the usual offering will be received.

Preparatory service Thursday evening May 8. All desiring to unite with our fellowship are requested to send their names to the pastor before that time.

Disc Harrows Seed Drills

Rotary Corn Planters
Potato Planters
Bean and Corn Fertilizer

And remember that Cooper will buy Wool this year

J. R. COOPER

Antrim Street Charlevoix, Michigan

SEEDS ON HAND

SPELTS

BARLEY

COW PEAS

SPRING WHEAT

MILLET

SEED OATS

Argo Milling Co.

JACK CHAMPION WITH CHAMPION—RICHMOND STOCK CO.
Majestic Theater, Commencing Thursday, May 2

House Cleaning Time Has Come

We are ready to supply you with Wall Paper, Paint, and Hygienic Kalsomine

For the walls and woodwork
Full line Window Shades and Lace Curtains

All kinds of
HOUSE FURNISHINGS
at the right price. Call and investigate before buying.

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Next Friday is Arbor Day. Plant a tree.

Miss Merle Felix left Thursday for Chicago.

Rollie Lewis of Boyne City was in the city Tuesday.

A. G. Urquhart of Boyne City, was in the city Friday.

Harry Dodge is on a short business trip to Chicago.

F. E. Bonsinger of East Jordan was in the city Tuesday.

Chris Taylor of East Jordan was here the first of the week.

Miss Ione Catton spent Sunday with friends at Bay Shore.

C. H. Tooley of Boyne City, spent several days here last week.

Claude Juhenville of Boyne City was here on business today.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bush, Friday, a fine baby boy.

H. I. McMillan of East Jordan was in the city on business this morning.

Eighteen took the teachers examination, given the latter part of the week.

Mrs. J. A. Vought of Boyne City spent Sunday here with her husband.

Misses Lizzie and Louisa Jackson, of Northport, are visiting friends in the city.

Mrs. Ella Tillotson left Monday for Elk Rapids, where she will remain week.

Arthur Cook of Boyne City is visiting at the home of Mrs. George Durance.

Verle Cram arrived home from Detroit Saturday where he spent the winter.

Little Kenneth Wooley is slowly recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Jennie Parish visited relatives at Boyne City the latter part of the week.

W. H. White of Boyne City was in the city Tuesday attending the Good Roads meeting.

John Kirby Jr. left today for a two weeks' visit with his sister at Sheboygan, Wis.

Mrs. Stella Carlisle of Atwood is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. B. Mason.

S. C. Smith of Boyne City helped to swell the crowd of Good Roads boomers Tuesday.

Hugh McCartney made a short business trip to Williamsburg and Beaufort, Saturday.

H. A. Stevens, of Central Lake, was in the city on business the latter part of the week.

Moses Bowdish expects to leave in the morning on a short business trip to Ottawa, Ohio.

Mrs. J. B. Hyland of East Jordan, spent Tuesday in the city with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Minnie Baldwin entertained a number of her friends at a pot-luck supper Monday.

Supervisor Neech of the first ward is ill today and unable to attend the meeting of the board.

A dance and supper will be given by the Marion grange at their hall, Friday evening, May 10.

K. Stites, of Williamsburg, is in the city for a few weeks working with his brother Empire.

George G. Glenn and W. P. Porter of East Jordan attended the Good Roads meeting Tuesday.

M. J. Stockman and wife arrived home yesterday from Florida where they spend their winters.

Arthur Staley and wife are now located at Detroit, where they will make their future home.

Miss Nita Mayne made a short trip to Traverse City with her father the latter part of the week.

S. Dodge left for Chicago the latter part of the week, after an extended stay with his family.

Mrs. Jennie Compton arrived here yesterday from Victoria, B.C. where she has been for some time.

Earl Johnson and wife of Boyne City, were in the city visiting relatives the latter part of the week.

Don't fail to read the opening chapters of "A Girl of the Limberlost" which begins in this issue.

Deputy State Game, Fish and Forest Warden Stanford of Boyne City, is in the city on business today.

S. A. Marting returned to Ottawa, Ohio, yesterday after spending a few days in the city with his family.

Thomas Shapton arrived home Saturday from Ottawa, Ohio, to spend a short time with his family.

Born to Walter Yennmann and wife Thursday morning, a baby girl, who has been named Ruth May.

E. N. Clink and stenographer, Miss Belle Roy, of East Jordan were in the city on business the first of the week.

C. H. Tooley returned to his home at Boyne City Saturday after spending a few days in the city with relatives.

Mrs. Lena DeWitt of Waukegan, Ill., arrived in the city Saturday night and is visiting at the home of Dr. Brown.

The Rosa Belle of Sheboygan, Wis. was the first boat in this season. It arrived here late Monday afternoon.

The local city team played baseball at Harbor Springs, Sunday, the score being 9 to 3 in favor of the home team.

John Batsakis, who has been here with George Glados for some time, left Monday for Chicago on a short business trip.

Mrs. J. T. Oldham was called to Saginaw, Saturday, on account of the illness of her daughter, Mrs. E. H. Carpenter.

Judge F. W. Mayne, Dr. A. M. Wilkinson and A. J. Usher attended the Antrim County Republican Club banquet, at Central Lake Friday.

J. L. Crane and wife returned home Monday from Chicago and other southern points, after a week's combined business and pleasure trip.

J. L. Crane Jr. has been nominated one of the candidates for vice-president of the Michigan Union by the engineering department of the U. of M.

Jack Henry had the misfortune to lose two fingers of his right hand while repairing a part of the machinery on the Hm, the first of the week.

Charles See arrived home from Potosky Saturday. He will remain here about a week and then return to the sanitarium for further treatment.

Mrs. Alison Wood returned home the latter part of the week from Valley City, N. Dakota, where she had been visiting relatives for several months.

Hon. W. J. Pearson was in the city Friday on his way to Central Lake, where he attended the banquet given by the Antrim County Republican Club.

Miss Ida Price of East Jordan was in the city Saturday. Her brother Fred and wife returned on the afternoon boat with her, to visit there a few days.

Mrs. Minnie Baldwin has moved her hair-dressing parlors, to the rooms over L. S. See's store. She will be unable to take customers during the coming week.

A. Butters attended the bankers banquet held at Traverse City, Thursday. He was elected vice-president of the North Western Michigan Bankers club.

Rev. C. E. Taggart of Reed City will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church next Sunday morning and evening and will preach at Ironton in the afternoon.

A mass democratic county convention has been called to meet at Boyne City, Saturday, May 11, in the forenoon, for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention.

Gregory & Benton, real estate agents, report the sale of a part of the Wilbur Cline farm Evelyn township to Mr. John M. Edward of Chicago who will build a new house at once.

Mrs. Martha Gray of Traverse City will deliver her lecture upon "The Good Bishop of D—" from Victor Hugo's Masterpiece "Les Misérables" at the Congregational church Wednesday evening, May 8.

E. L. Berry of Grand Rapids arrived in the city the first of the week and took possession of the telephone office this morning, May 1, in place of Dr. Cronter, resigned, after a service of over a quarter of a century.

A. J. Winnick of Hayes was severely hurt last week while working with a stone boat. A part of the boat flew back striking him in the front part of the leg making a severe break. Dr. King was called and the break is mending rapidly.

Bert Henry left Tuesday afternoon for Michigan City, at which place he will be married on Thursday afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents, to Miss Dora Spaehtle. The many friends of Mr. Henry hope that success will follow them.

Announcements have been received here of the marriage of Miss Lulu Yettaw, formerly of this city, to Bert J. Davis of Chicago, on Monday, April 29. They are now on a short wedding trip to Milwaukee and will be at home in Chicago, after May 6.

Last Wednesday evening the residence of Mr. Bartlett was the scene of a party given by the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World. Cards were indulged in until a late hour, also music and refreshments. All in attendance declared they had an enjoyable time.

Bert Holden of Port Huron an expert meat cutter and sausage maker, has been engaged by George Johnston the meat market man, who means to give his patrons the best service possible. Mr. Holden has a family and has moved into the Glassford house on Antrim street.

Mr. A. B. Nicholas is visiting his son Burton and wife in their new home in Meridian, Miss. Burton reports his prospects as particularly bright, and he is delighted with the climate. On his way to Meridian Mr. Nicholas spent two days with Prof. J. B. Allen. East Jordan Enterprise.

Rev. Demas Cochlin, pastor of the First Congregational church of Traverse City says: "I have listened with deep interest to the lecture 'The Good Bishop of D-' by Mrs. Martha Gray. The lecture is an intense and thrilling narrative of the principal characters of Victor Hugo's masterpiece, and is delivered in a strong and earnest manner."

Eighth Grade Examination.

The regular eighth grade examination will be conducted May 16 and 17. Applicants may attend at Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City or St. James. The examination will be conducted in the high school buildings.

The questions in reading will be taken from "The Courtship of Miles Standish."—Longfellow.

Paper will be furnished applicants. An additional set of twenty questions will be furnished by the state fair association. Any farmer who wishes to do so, may answer these questions.

From the list answering this additional set of questions one boy will be selected and he will be given a free trip to the state fair this fall. This will be a prize worth winning.

1812 J. H. Milford, Commissioner.

Berry Plants for Sale.

Antibert Red Raspberry, 75c per 100 or $3.00 per 1000. Snyder blackberry, same price. Dunlop Strawberry, 50c per 100, $3.50 per 1000. E. A. Reed, Route No. 1. 181f

Good Printing means Business.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head. I cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15c first insertion.

WANTED—Housekeeper. Enquire at St. A. Levinson & Company's store. 171f

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Good wages. Enquire Postmaster. 172f

WANTED—Man to work on farm. Steady job. Good wages. Wm. Withers. Phone 9734. 181d

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Enquire, Mrs. H. W. Widdifield. Phone 115. 181f

FOR SALE—House, barn and two lots on easy terms. Enquire at the premises, 20 Lewis street. 181f

TO EXCHANGE—For fresh eggs or wood or for suit—beds, springs, mattresses, commodes, chamber sets, etc. Hotel Elston. 181f

FOR SALE—Eggs from thoroughbred S. C. Rhode Island Reds. $1.50 per dozen. Black Orpington cockerels. Will Davy, Potosky. 181d

FARM FOR SALE—80 acres 3 miles north-east of Charlevoix, 40 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write to W. Nuttoney, P. O. box 133. 174 pd.

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS

Fire Loss Suffered by Boyne City Publishing Company, Friday Morning.

Last Friday morning the Boyne City Journal suffered a fire loss of five thousand dollars through fire and water mostly covered by insurance.

The Journal is set by a linotype and the metal used in setting the type is kept hot by a melting pot kept heated by a gasoline torch. While the operator was filling the tank, which is kept on the wall, the large containing ran slipped from his hands and fell to the floor, splashing some of the fluid toward the fire under the metal pot, and in less than an instant the entire can and that in the reservoir as well as an fire and spread over the machinery, the ceiling and other parts of the building.

Quick work on the part of the fire department and the office force saved the building and a large portion of the office equipment but the linotype is a total loss.

As soon as possible the entire office will be put in shape again, and in the meantime the Journal is coming out on time and all work is being kept up.

Wanted.

Wanted one hundred men for assembling, and general work in automobile factory. Address or apply personally to Reo Motor Car Company, Lansing, Michigan. 1812

Maccabees of the World.

Mrs. E. A. Bader of Detroit, deputy for the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World, is at the Bartlett. Mrs. Bader is in the city for the purpose of increasing the membership in the order she represents. This order of the Maccabees is entirely separate from any order, though the similarity in names may cause confusion in the minds of prospective members. This is order's rates are on the National Fraternal Congress plan, for over seven years, therefore not requiring any rise in rates. It has a membership of 103,000 women in 51 states, territories and provinces of Canada and a reserve fund of over $5,000,000. Mrs. Bader will be glad to give any required information either by phone or personal call.

CRANE'S

Special Value in

Umbrellas

Ladies' 26 inch steel rod paragon frame Umbrella

Linen Union Cover

EXTRA QUALITY

Made at the famous Hull Factory

We have made a special price on these of $1.00

MAY SALE

COHEN'S STORE

MAY SALE

We urgently invite the attention of every Man and Women to this great event. There's conscientious effort behind it, and we know you will appreciate it. We put emphasis on the quality and value.

SPECIALS FOR

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday Only

A beautiful line of Shoes and Oxfords in tan and black for Men, Women and Children just received in patent leathers, gun metal, white buckskin and canvas shoes. See them whether you buy or not.

Muslin Underwear

Princess Slips, beautifully trimmed with lace and embroidery regular $1.50 value. $1.00

Princess Slips regular $2.00 value. $1.25

Petticoats regular $1.50 value. $1.00

Petticoats, regular $2.00 value, now on sale for $1.50

Regular $2.50 Nightgowns now on sale at $1.50

Regular $1.50 Nightgowns now on sale at $1.00

Ladies' Drawers, trimmed with lace and embroidery only 25c

Regular $1.00 and $1.25 Korsets 75c

Ladies' Dresses Just Received

White, all-over, embroidery dresses, neatly trimmed. $6.00

Other embroidery dresses on sale at $4, $5

Good house dresses at $2, $2.50

Pretty silk poplin and serge dresses at $12.00

A large line of Ladies' dress skirts to be closed out at cost

A large stock of Men's Furnishings just received

Dress and Work Shirts from 50c to $2.00

Hats and Caps in the latest styles 10c to $3.00

MEN'S DRESS PANTS

$5.00 pants $3.00 $4.00 pants $2.50

$3.00 pants $1.75 $2.00 pants $1.25

Cohens' Store

AYRES' BLOCK

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt.

Telephone No. 297

By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department
of Agriculture.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912.

THIS ROAD WAS LOCATED AND CONSTRUCTED BY A COMPETENT HIGHWAY ENGINEER.

Our road laws for the most part do not contemplate the necessity for skilled supervision in road work; hence most of the work is done under the direction of men who have no knowledge of road building and who have only a passing interest in it. This is a situation which is truly amazing, for skilled supervision is demanded in practically every line of work. To the trained road builder it is evident that no more prolific source of waste can be found than in unskilled supervision.

In nearly every public or private enterprise some measure of skill is required of the men who are expected to carry on the work. When a building is to be erected a number of men, each skilled in his own craft, are employed. One does not find that this man is employed because he needs the money and that one because he is a good fellow and the other because he has political influence, but because he is a skilled carpenter, competent bricklayer, a trained and capable painter, etc., throughout the entire

Is it not surprising, therefore, that we are willing to lavish the expenditure of $140,000,000 annually in the building and care of our public roads, so essential to our welfare and even our happiness to 100,000 men, most of whom are selected without any regard whatever for their technical and practical experience?

There is one element in American road administration which is universally conceded to be the very acme of in-

The whole subject of road improvement in the United States is now passing through a transitory stage. We are striving not only to meet the new conditions of traffic with new forms of construction, but our various state legislatures are actively engaged in endeavoring to meet the demand for road improvement by the enactment of suitable legislation and by the appropriation of the necessary funds."

Salaries, now, amount to over $140,000. And our pretty good officials have grown to an army more than 100,000 strong. The incompetence of a large number of officials is more difficult to remedy than the incompetence of a single official. It is manifestly impossible for a district or township with limited revenues to secure the assistance, advice and supervision of a high grade engineer, whereas in a centralized system the cost is so widely distributed as to impose but a slight burden on each of the smaller units. In the purchase of supplies and equipment a large saving can be effected by centralization, while in the reduction of personnel and in standardization of methods and equipment still greater economy results. It cannot fail to impress every thinking man that a system of extreme decentralization will mean an entirely unnecessary multitude of officials and irregular and ill directed road improvement.

THIS ROAD WAS REPAIRED UNDER THE

It is apparent that the smallest unit for effective control in the administration of road affairs is the state, although excellent results have been obtained under county systems where all the roads are placed under the jurisdiction of a competent and skilled highway engineer or superintendent.

Our highway departments, both county and state, should be entirely freed away from political influences. All road work should be placed in the hands of trained and experienced road builders, and all road taxes should be paid in cash. Road officials and caretakers should have sufficient compensation to justify them in devoting their entire time and attention to the work. Under such a system properly administered it will be possible to secure a dollar's worth of work for every dollar expended, which is certainly not the case at the present time, except where this plan has already been adopted.

Air Syringes.
In Europe they dust the paintings in all the great art galleries by means of air syringes.

"I was owing, probably to Dr. Clifton E. Hodge of Clark County, N. C., that such such a war was waged just at this time. He has made a special study of flies, and is an authority on methods for their extermination. His maxim is, 'Don't chase the fly; let it catch itself.' He advocates the use of traps attached to the garbage-can of the home, this being the headquarters of the fly. A hole about three inches in diameter should be made in the can cover, and at equal distances on the edge of this hole, three small holes should be bored in which the wires of the trap are put to hold it in place over the large hole. Leave the cover raised, and the flies enter the can, and after gorging themselves, they seek the light coming through the screen of the flytrap, on the top of the cover, and so are caught.

What Makes Soils Productive.

"Any soil which was once rich can again be made rich," is the declaration made by Professor Alfred Vivian, acting dean of the college of agriculture, Ohio State university, in a recent address. The principal factor concerned in the restoration of soil fertility, according to Professor Vivian, is organic matter. "The destruction of organic matter by cultivation and otherwise, is largely responsible for the depletion of our soils," said he.

D. W. Miller, 801 E. Court St., Flint, Mich., had a severe attack of kidney trouble and says: "There was a constant feeling of distress with

Chapman's Rest

Producers and
Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydr'ted Agricult'l Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery
call

Lee Howland
PHONE 397

A black and white illustration of a girl in a long dress looking up at a lantern hanging from a tree in a forest. The title "A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST" is written in large, stylized letters, and the author "BY GENE STRATTON-PORTER" is written below it. A small suitcase is on the ground. The illustration is signed "FRANK PARKER" in the bottom right corner.

Will Be Printed in This Paper
Opening Chapters Begin in this Issue

Order for Publication

At a session of said court, held at the Prothonotary's office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 23rd day of April
A. D. 1912.

It is ordered, that the 20th day of May, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition. Notice thereof to be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlotte City and County News, a paper printed and published lawfully.

A true copy,
1711

John M. Harris,
Judge of Probate

Notice is hereby given that the plans, profiles, diagrams and specifications and estimates of cost of the proposed establishing and constructing of a sewer, including all the necessary ventilations, gutters, manholes, catch basins, and other appurtenances, which works including all necessary attachments on Nettleton street from the north line of Dixon avenue, north to the southern line of the city of Chicago, and from the east line of Nettleton street east to and opposite the center of and five feet of block four (4) of Fox and the city of Chicago have been deposited with the city clerk for public examination, and the district to be assessed for said work and premises abutting and fronting on either side of Nettleton street from the front line of Dixon avenue, to the southerly line of Auld avenue; and all lots, parts of lots, lands and premises abutting and fronting on either side of Pottery avenue from the east line of Auld avenue short to a point opposite the center of lot five (5) of block four (4) of Fox and Edson's unrecorded plat of the village (now city) of Charlevoix, except from the above all public streets and alleys.

Notice is hereby given that the common council will meet in the council room on the thirtieth day of May, A. D. 1922, at seven thirty o'clock in the afternoon to

Dated this twenty-third day of April, A.
D., 1962.

1743 Ernest J. Hiller, City Clerk.

An Ordinance No. 110.

Providing for the Organization and Government of the Fire Department of the City of Charlevoix.
The City of Charlevoix Ordains:
Section 1. There shall be instituted, for the prevention and extinguishment of fires within the city of Charlevoix, a city fire department, which shall be organized as follows:

Section 2. The members of the fire department shall elect the chief, by and with the consent of the council, whose term of office shall be for the period of one year, and who shall be elected and confirmed at the time of the other appointments on the first Monday in May of each year. The

[illegible][illegible]

such additional members as reauthorized by said resolution.

Section 3. There shall be paid to the

[illegible][illegible]

Section 2. The chief and assistant chiefs and members of the fire department shall agree in writing to work under and abide by the provisions of this ordinance before becoming members of the fire department.

Section 3. Any ordinance

Section 10. Any ordinance or parts of ordinances conflicting with the provisions herein contained, are hereby repealed.

This ordinance shall take immediate effect.

Adopted at a regular meeting of the common council of the city of Charlevoix on the 23d day of April, A. D. 1912.

Attest: Obit Nordman, Mayor.
Ernest J. Miller, City Clerk. 172

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Mortgage Sale. Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and AuTrain counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone inhouse

ROYAL BAKING-POWDER

Absolutely Pure

MAKES HOME BAKING EASY

Light Biscuit
Delicious Cake
Dainty Pastries
Fine Puddings
Flaky Crusts

The only Baking Powder made
from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

Wilson Grange No. 719.

Wilson Grange met in regular session Saturday April 27, 1912 with an attendance of forty-three members and one visitor.

The members voted to buy 100 lbs. Paris green, twenty-five pounds of arsenate of lead and five cords of wood. The job was let to the lowest bidder to clean up the yard between the hall and sheds. The ladies' auxiliary announced that they would hold a meeting at the hall on Wednesday afternoon May 8, for the purpose of electing officers.

After a lengthy program consisting of music, songs, readings and recitations, grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks.

Atlas and Huron cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 86 2-r.

THEATRICAL

Manager Wildern of the Majestic theater has been very fortunate in receiving the Champion-Richmond Stock company for an engagement of eight days, starting Thursday, May 2nd.

The company comes well recommended and present high class tabloid versions of famous plays. The opening production, a version of "A Woman's Revenge" is both strong in comedy and sensational scenes and tells a very interesting story of New York City life.

One performance will be given nightly, starting at 8:00 o'clock with change of play nightly. Prices 10c and 25c.

FOR THE STOMACH

Here's an Offer You Should Not Overlook.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets remedy stomach troubles by aiding nature to supply the elements the absence of which in the gastric juices causes indigestion and dyspepsia. They aid the stomach to digest food and to quickly convert it into rich red blood and material necessary for overhauling natural body waste.

Carry a package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets in your vest pocket, or keep them in your room. Take one after each heavy meal and prove our assertion that indigestion will not bother you.

We know what Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are and what they will do. We guarantee them to relieve indigestion and dyspepsia. If they fail we will refund your money. Three sizes: 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00.

Remember, Rexall Remedies can be obtained in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf Proprietor, Charlevoix, Mich.

ANTRIM COUNTY REPUBLICANS

Hold Fifth Annual Banquet at Central Lake Friday Night of Last Week.

Senator Scott Made a "Hit"—Attendance Was Large and Enthusiasm Was High.

Friday night the fifth annual banquet of the Antrim County Republican club was held at Central Lake, and, like all previous meetings of the Antrim Republicans, was an unqualified success in attendance, enthusiasm displayed and good things to eat.

The program as advertised was carried out in full the only exception being in the toastmaster, Hon. Andrew Dougherty officiating in place of Hon. George L. Lusk and Hon. D. E. Alward who took the place of Speaker Baker. The program follows:

Selection, Traverse City Male Quartette.

Real Republicanism, Hon. Frank D. Scott.

Michigan Legislation, Past and Prospective, Hon. John Q. Ross.

Selection, Male Quartette.

Address, Hon. D. E. Alward.

Violin solo.

The Republican Party, Past and Present, Hon. Gerret J. Dickema.

Our senator, Hon. Frank D. Scott, made one of the best addresses of the evening, and Republicans from this county who were in attendance say that Scott proved himself the equal of any of the experienced old time campaigners who were present.

Those in attendance from this city were Judge F. W. Mayne, Dr. A. N. Wilkinson and A. J. Usher.

How to Stop Drafts.

A simple and practical way to prevent drafts entering under a door that has through shrapnel a while crack under it is to fold three thicknesses of paper together just the width of the door and two inches deep and cover it with serge or cloth as near the color of the door as possible.

Sew to this three small brass rings a quarter of an inch from each end and one in the middle. Fasten into the bottom of the door three small screw hooks and hang the rings to them. You will have a perfect protection from cold air coming under the door and one that is easily removed and kept dusted.

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, blue lining see the Builders Supply Co., phone 86 2-r.

SEASONING THE WORK HORSES

Farmers should beware of putting horses into heavy spring work too abruptly. After a winter of partial idleness the animals are unfitted for hard labor and should be put to work gradually. A little seasoning in advance always pays. This kind of light work at the beginning and the kind of feed that a work horse will do well on in the spring are outlined below.

Rather than plunge at once into heavy plowing it is more sensible to work the horses for a few hours, then switch to lighter work about the farm, with frequent resting periods. In this way the animals can be hardened in a week to steady work.

The farmer should not forget that when heavy work begins the horses should have an increase of feed. In

The spirited stallion herewith illustrated is a fine example of the highest type of Percheron, the breed to which much credit is due for improving the draft horses of this country. An active big horse will always sell well. This is the kind the grower is successful in producing where good care is given and high class animals are constantly used for breeding.

the winter the work horse received a ration of hay with two or three ears of corn three times a day. Now he will need more grain with same allowance of hay. A gallon of oats added to the corn will be better than doubling the feed of corn. Oats are not so heating and serve as a laxative. In fact, a work team will do better on oats as a ration than on any other one grain ration. Corn gives strength, and for that reason it is well to feed a little. The work horse should have free access to salt, as in the spring he sweats a great deal and consequently consumes more salt than when idle.

The work horse also demands a greater supply of water during the cropping season. He gets hot, sweats freely, so must necessarily utilize a good deal of water. The water should be clean and pure. If it comes bubbling from a spring or splashing from a well so much the better. Water from stagnant ponds or bog wallows is to be avoided. The farmer who leads his horse to such a place for water has lost his kindness for the faithful animal.

Long before night the horse may be a little tired. Don't be cruel enough to lash him to the work. Let him go through the day steadily and without excitement. At night unhitch him and put him in a cool, commodious stall that is well bedded. It is simply unparadise for a man to demand that his tired horse stand in a muddy stall all night long. The horse has earned a right to a liberal feed and a comfortable bed. It pays the farmer to keep his horse in trim for work by giving him a good place to rest.

The horse should also be carried regularly to rid his coat of all sweaty matter and open up the pores of the skin.

CHARCOAL FOR HOGS.

Before the deep, heavy snows cover the coals and often refuse in the hog lot take the time to rake them up into a pile and some day when the wind is not blowing nor from a direction that would turn down any of the farm buildings set the heap on fire.

After it has started to burn rake the coals that are dampest and driest over the blaze so that it will not flare up and burn the coals too quickly. A slow, smoldering fire thus will be maintained, and the charred coals will form an excellent charcoal, says the Farm Journal.

It should be understood that charcoal for hogs tends to promote ideal digestion and assimilation, tones up the general system and assists in warding off diseases.

TRAINING THE HORSE.

Kindness and Patience Are Essential to Success.

If you want a good disposition in that colt which is to become a part of your farm next spring, begin now to make it such by being kind to the prospective mother, writes J. E. Gordon in National Stockman. An oath, a kick, a lash with the whip will leave its mark upon the foal. Kindness in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred will win. There is more power even with a horse in kind words than in oaths.

Patience is indispensable in the care and training of the young horses. Perhaps more well-bred, high-spirited horses are ruined by the impatience of the owner than from any other one cause. When we begin the training of young horses two or more years old without any previous handling we

HORSE COLLARS

This is the time of the year that your horse needs a New Collar. Why have your horse's shoulders ruined by using an old worn-out collar when you can buy a new fitting collar of me for a small investment.

See my line that I buy direct from the Collar Factory and I can Save you money.

Benj. Brown

should be very careful to remember that they are entirely ignorant of the meaning of the terms we use.

We sometimes act as though we thought the colt should become well trained in the art of doing different kinds of work in a very few days, and if he does not we become impatient and very often abuse him.

Kindness, patience and firmness are the really successful handling of horses. Kindness implies that the horse is properly fed and cared for, patience that he has been allowed plenty of time to learn the things you require him to do and firmness that you require obedience from him both in and out of the harness. That gentle firmness in the parent compels the child to respect and admire the same. So gentle firmness with the horse results in willing service. No place in the training of the horse is this firmness needed more than in teaching the horse to start and stop at your command. It sometimes becomes necessary for us to take hold of the bridle or the lines and teach the horse he must stand. A horse that will not stand when he has been quietly stopped is not of much value to the owner. Firmness does not mean you are to start the horse with a lash of the whip or a snap of the lines, nor does it mean that you are to stop him with a jerk. Firmness does mean you have asked him to do something that he cannot do, therefore you require him to do it.

Selecting the Brood Sow.

In choosing our breeding stock the factor of prolificness should receive considerable attention. Select the breeding stock from large litters. Never select an animal for breeding purposes, no matter how good an individual it may be, if it comes from a litter numbering only two or three. It will be more profitable to select an animal somewhat inferior in certain individual points, but which is known to be from a prolific strain. The word prolific does not only mean a large number of pigs in a litter, but it also refers to the regularity of breeding. A sow may have ten or twelve pigs in a litter, but may breed only once a year. Another sow may have seven or eight pigs at a litter and breed twice a year. With one sow we would raise ten or twelve pigs during the year, while with the other we should raise fourteen or sixteen. It is easy to tell which would be the more profitable. When properly handled and cured for, sows should produce two litters each year. A sow that will produce only one litter each year should be discarded from the breeding herd and replaced by one that will do better.—Farm and Fireside.

Mares or Geldings?

The man who keeps geldings or mules for his farm work secures only their labor in return, while the man who keeps draft mares receives not only their labor, but in addition to this their colts. It is true that somewhat more team force must be kept where the work is done by mares than where the work is done entirely by geldings, but when we consider that three mares can be counted upon to do as much as any team of geldings of equal weight and strength, that the difference in feed cost will not exceed $20 per year and that the three mares can be counted upon to produce in addition to their labor at least two colts that are worth $100 each as yearlings it is apparent that the mares are the more profitable.—National Stockman.

Silage For Bulls.

Silage is too loosening to prove suitable as a chief feed for bulls which should be kept muscular by the feeding of mixed rations and by allowing abundant exercise. It is best to feed hay, fodder and grain to the herd bull, but a little good silage will do no harm.—Breeder's Gazette.

Clean the Cow Barn.

The cow barn should and can be kept so clean that milking will not prove objectionable to any of the farm women. To do this the barn should be cleaned once per day. The proper arrangement of floor and gutter will help much in ease of cleaning, and the right kind of cow tie will keep the manure in the gutter where it belongs, and the cow will keep clean. The use of bedding, preferably wheat straw, in moderate quantities along with reasonable precautions for barn cleaning will make milking a pleasure.

Change of Location

Myrtie Young & Son

Insurance

Teddy Bear Bread

Temporarily

located first door west of

POWERS PLUMBING SHOP

VanPelt Place

Phone 275

SEEDS

Stowell's Evergreen sweet corn	20c quart
Early Minnesota sweet corn	20c quart
Nott's Excelsior peas, early	30c quart
Telephone peas, late	30c quart
Golden wax, German wax black beans	25c quart
Oxheart and Danvers carrots	$1.50 pound
Long Red Mangel	40c pound
Ruta Baga	50c pound
Hubbard Squash	75c pound
Sweet Peas	50c pound
Timothy and clover seed

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

SHOES

Just keep it in mind—we handle shoes—shoes that are built for wear, stand the wear, and cost less than you pay at other stores.

SMITH-WALLACE SHOES

are guaranteed to stand the wear and tear of all kinds of weather and conditions. The price we ask for them leaves some change in the pocketbook. Call and see them.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor
320 Bridge Street Next to Bakers' Inn

DOUBTS

are dispelled quickly when you ask for prices on meats and groceries at our store. Everyone has learned that the shelves are lined with fresh groceries of the highest quality, and the prices are as low as good goods can be sold. We can always fill your orders, both in meats and groceries.

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE
Telephone 125 Antrim Street

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 19

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

DAY CHOSEN FOR THE THIRD TERM

As President Western Michigan Development Bureau for Another Year.

RECEIVED UNANIMOUS VOTE

D. S. Payton and Ford P. Robbins Re-Elected Charlevoix County Directors.

Plans Made for Season's Work—Special Attention Will Be Given to Improving Grade of Fruit—Exhibits at Apple Show.

At the annual meeting of the Western Michigan Development bureau held last week, D. H. Day, of Glen Haven, was again honored by being elected for a third term to the highest office within the gift of the organization. Mr. Day has proved a valuable man for the position and the directors could not see any reason why he should not be retained in the office. He is always enthusiastic over the work that is being done and never lets an opportunity pass to help along the work and make the results for which the organization is striving a permanent benefit to the twenty counties which he represents.

In accepting the office, Mr. Day stated that it had been his cardinal principle never to accept a third term. He never believed that it is good for any organization to follow this policy, but as the directors insisted, he would accept, providing that they would all get into this work and pull with him. He knows that this is the best land in the world and wants to tell others the same thing. The directors all agreed to stand together in the great work of development and work for the greatest success during the coming year.

The following officers were chosen:

President—D. H. Day, Glen Haven. First vice president—A. S. White, Grand Rapids.

Second vice president—Henry Knowlton, Cadillac. Treasurer—B. R. Hendel, Manistee.

Directors were elected from the different counties and corporations, those from this vicinity being: Charlevoix county—D. S. Payton and Ford P. Robbins. Antrim county—H. S. Amerson and E. R. Harris.

Kalamazoo county—A. L. Denel and John F. Quinlan.

B. C. G. & A. R. R.—M. D. Reeder. Western Michigan Press Club—Perry F. Powers and George W. Perry.

During the meeting many excellent papers were read along the different lines of work that had been carried on by the bureau during the year, and some of the phases that had developed from this great work.

B. R. Hendel, of Manistee, in his subject, "Relation of the Real Estate Men to the Bureau," said that it was absolutely necessary that they be associated with the organization, and that the men be thoroughly organized themselves, and when they have the welfare of their own work and that of the region at heart, they will do the best, everything will be honest, and a square deal will be given to all. Harmony must prevail.

F. A. Mitchell, of Manistee, giving the relation of the railroads, and transportation lines to the bureau, said that even while the maintenance of all these lines was constantly increasing, yet they felt that it was the very best thing to contribute their share to this splendid work, and he believed thoroughly in all that had been done and all the many plans that had been suggested for the coming year, each must work in harmony with the other.

J. W. Cruise, of Honor, stated that the keynote of success was the fact that the real estate men have a good proposition to place before the people, and be strictly honest in all that they say and do, see that all fake schemes were killed, get together, stay together and all pull together.

Mr. Burns of Grand Rapids, a traveling man, gave one of the most enthusiastic talks of the afternoon when he was called upon to give his experience in the many years that he has been on the road, and how he came to be interested in this region, and the farm propositions. He owns large interests on the Beaver island and other places. He is getting many of his friends interested, and he reiterated the fact that the continued success will surely come with the strict honesty of those who have propositions, the firm faith in your locality, the pull-together spirit of all, and the keeping everlastingly at it. He commended the great work of the bureau and wished them all manner of success for the year to come.

President Day was enthusiastic over the work that had been done, and stated that splendid missionary work could be done in the counties that had not as yet paid their contributions, and they intended to camp in that territory and show by facts and figures that they were receiving good results and that it was but fair that they aid in this work, and the officers with the aid of the directors from those counties would work with the boards of supervisors and kindred organizations to convince them that these facts were true. It was always the pull-together spirit that won.

A. S. White of Grand Rapids in (Continued on page 4)

IMPROVEMENTS AT BELVEDERE

Everything Being Cleaned Up in Readiness for Opening Season.

Many Summer Residents Are Here Looking After Building Operations.

The grounds of the Charlevoix Summer Home association never looked more beautiful than now, and all the employees are busy clearing up the debris of fall and winter.

The new boat houses are well along and everything is being rushed to have them in readiness by the opening of the season. If there is any difference in the stage of the water, it is a trifle higher than last year.

Mrs. I. W. Lewis of Indianapolis is here looking after the details of the finish of their new cottage which is nearing completion.

The two new tennis courts will be ready for the summer, making six in all.

The Pine lake dock went through the winter with little or no damage from the ice.

Mrs. Ellen C. Ward has alterations on the way in her cottage overlooking Round Lake.

Mrs. Heaton of Detroit, always an early comer, will arrive May 9th. A. C. Clement of Joliet, Illinois will come June 1st.

L. S. Rupert of Bloomington, Illinois, has a new cottage building on his location just south of the grounds of the Charlevoix Summer Home Association.

The cottage of Charles O'Rourke of Indianapolis is ready for occupancy.

Prof. A. C. McLaughlin of Chicago, who purchased the Bishop Gillespie property, and Emerson W. Price of Lima, Ohio, are making some alterations in their cottages.

J. B. Balch of Kalamazoo is putting in a basement and furnace under his cottage on the lower terrace.

The miniature course has been located between Ferry Avenue and the railroad, in front of the Belvedere hotel and will be ready for practice upon the arrival of the golf enthusiasts.

Mr. Foley writes that he will be at Charlevoix, May 15, to prepare for the opening of the Belvedere hotel.

TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Of Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed Spent in an Enjoyable Manner.

An enjoyable event was held last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed, it being their twentieth wedding anniversary.

The Royal Neighbors prepared a pot-luck supper and invited their husbands. About twenty were present, and one of the ladies made a delicious wedding cake, which made it seem like a real bridal party.

The host and hostess were presented with a handsome china tea set.

COURIER WILL PLAY NO FAVORITES IN CAMPAIGN

Will Endeavor to Give People Full Information in Regard to Candidates at Primary Election—All Will Be Given a Square Deal—Don't Ask for Favors as No Partiality Will Be Shown.

In this issue appears the first announcement of the primary campaign about to begin and the Courier again takes an opportunity to announce the policy which will govern it during the campaign.

The Courier believes in printing all the news and will, as news matter, print the authorized announcement of all candidates for public office as well as whatever matter of news value that develops during the progress of the campaign. If the candidates desiring anything more it must be paid for at the regular advertising rates. That does not mean all we may say in support of a candidate will be advertising—all advertising will be plainly marked—but it does mean that when a candidate brings in copy and asks its publication it will be considered as advertising.

While the Courier will support some candidates and urge their nomination with all the influence it possesses, we believe that we can best serve our party by taking no part in the contest for county officers and we will give every candidate a fair, square deal. If, however, we have reason to believe that the nomination of any candidate would be injurious to party success, or his election will be detrimental to the best interests of the people, we shall not hesitate to urge that he be defeated at the polls.

We shall during the progress of the campaign give a short review of candidates for all positions to the end that all our readers may become familiar with the career of candidates, and know who it is that asks their votes, and why they ask them.

To our friends, who have aspirations for nomination to county office, we announce now that it will be useless to ask us to personally support your candidacy through the columns of this paper, as we cannot give it to you, no matter what may be our personal feelings. In your advertising we shall ask you to refrain from personal attacks on your opponents, as we shall refuse to handle such matter.

Hoping that we have made our position plain and that our friends will co-operate with us in the carrying out this policy, to the end that success may come in November, we again repeat that we play no favorites and everybody will get a square deal.

ELECTION IS OFF

Special Election to Vote on Bonding Delayed by Clow in Proceedings.

Owing to the impossibility of giving proper notice, as required by the statute, of the special election called last week to vote on the question of bonding the county for the building of good roads, it has been found necessary to stop proceedings and such election will not be held on June 3.

While it is a source of regret that the election could not have been held at the date named, the will of the people could have been ascertained in time for the commission to outline its plans for the present year, it is a source of congratulation that the error was discovered in time to save further expense.

While the matter is delayed for a short time the agitation for good roads will still continue and the matter is up to the June meeting of the board.

HOT FIRE ON BRIDGE STREET

Meyer and Neubert Suffer Loss of Over Five Thousand Dollars.

Building and Stock of Bazaar Goods Destroyed With Partial Insurance.

Wednesday afternoon the firemen were called out by a fire in the building occupied and owned by Meyer & Neubert dealers in bazaar goods located at the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets, caused by the leakage of gasoline.

The fire was a blind affair, dense clouds of smoke filling Bridge St. for nearly the entire length, but owing to the peculiar atmospheric conditions, coupled with the hard work of the firemen, the fire was kept confined to the one building which is a total wreck as well as the stock.

Mr. Meyer was quite severely injured in an effort to extinguish the fire. The loss on the building is about $3,500 fully covered by insurance, loss on stock will amount to about $2,000, no insurance.

Meyer & Neubert will probably erect a new brick building.

Berry Plants for Sale.

Cuthbert Red Raspberry, 75c per 100 or $5.00 per 1000. Snyder blackberry, the same price. Dunlop Strawberry, 50c per 100, $3.50 per 1000. E. A. Reed, Route No. 1. 181f

HENRY SPAETH

Charlevoix Boy Marries Indiana Girl—Will Live in Ohio.

A nuptial event around which considerable interest centers was solemnized Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Spaeth, 518 Wabash street, when Miss Dora Spaeth, their daughter, and Albert G. Henry of Charlevoix, Mich., were united in matrimony. The ceremony was very simple, the service having been read by Rev. Paul Iron, the bride's pastor, at 3 o'clock. The wedding guests included only the relatives and a few most intimate friends of the contracting parties.

The bride is an estimable young lady and is well known in this city. For some time past she has been located in Chicago, where she has been engaged as a trained nurse. Mr. Henry is an engineer and with his bride will locate in Ottawa, O., where he has a fine position.

The many friends of the bride will wish her much happiness in her new home, while to Mr. Henry is extended their hearty congratulations.—Michigan City (Ind.) News.

FOUR BIG DAYS AT BOYNE CITY

Opening of Maple Leaf Race Track on July Third to Sixth.

Races, Aeroplane Flights, Automobile Racing and Base Ball Games—Big Time.

Yes, Boyne City is going to celebrate the glorious Fourth of July, and is just that patriotic that she won't be satisfied with one day, but will begin on Sunday before the Fourth and last two days after, and if the celebrants can't get all of the patriotism out of their system in that time, it may be extended.

Anyway, there will be four days celebration, commencing July 3, and lasting until the night of July 6, under the auspices of the Maple Park association.

According to the plans now well to hand by the directors of the association, Maple Park will be completed two weeks before the Fourth of July, and the new race course will be in perfect condition so that horsemen desiring to participate in the great four days carnival, will have ample time to acclimatize their horses and themselves to the best half mile track in the state, for it is the determination of the association to make this track the finest that money can construct, and what with the best site, there is no doubt but this will be easily accomplished, and that will insure the coming of the best horses even from the best circuits, and Boyne City is destined to see some of the best races ever pulled off anywhere.

Among the many features of the celebration, in addition to the races, will be aeroplane flights each day, balloon ascensions, automobile races, and first class base ball games. There will be shows of all descriptions, big and little, even to the Punch and Judy variety. We'll have Roscoe, the "snake eater," who eats 'em alive just like you would a banana.

The association plans to make this the biggest event ever pulled off in Northern Michigan, and there will be fully ten thousand people visit Boyne City during the period, taking in the sights, Boyne's industries, the ball games and shows, and witness Boyne's general prosperity and enterprise. Excursions will be run from all nearby towns both by rail and water.

There will be street parades galore, and at least calculations, a half dozen bands to lead the parades and cater to the musical souls of the visitors.

Make your arrangements now to come and enjoy this, the greatest Fourth of July celebration in the history of Michigan at Boyne City, and you will have no occasions, for regret, but if you miss it, your happiness will be remorse.

Don't forget the dates; July 3, 4, 5, and 6. At Boyne City, Mich.

For Sale.

Choice thoroughbred White Leghorn eggs. $1.00 for fifteen. A. J. Shockley, Charlevoix, Mich. 191f

Let the Courier come with Spring

EASTERN END OF COUNTY

Well Fitted For Development Industry of Sheep Husbandry.

SEVERAL FARMS HAVE FLOCKS

Sheep Raising Profitable from Different Points of View.

Dogs Are a Pest to be Fought Against—Law Should Be Strictly Enforced Hereafter Several Sheep Killed.

One of the principal industries which much work has been done to introduce into this county is sheep husbandry, the eastern end of the county being particularly fitted for the raising of sheep. To one who has any natural liking for sheep there is no occupation more pleasant and they afford a source of revenue which becomes available twice a year, a crop of wool and the lamb crop.

One of the best features of sheep husbandry is the fact that there is no better weed destroyer known and the farmer that has a flock has a working force seven days in the week busy destroying foul stuff and brush and while the eastern part of the county is comparatively free from noxious weeds it is a natural soil for the growing of brush and right here a flock of sheep will pay a large share of their keep.

Another feature of sheep raising is the value of the manure. There is no more valuable fertilizer known than sheep droppings which contain all the elements of plant food needed in our soil and on that item alone sheep largely pay their own way.

Several in that section have gone into the industry with good results and other have the matter under consideration, but are doubtful about investing owing to the plague of sheep killing dogs—this spring these pests have again got in their work according to reports, Trask and Hoffman of the farm known as the Robbins farm, near Boyne Falls, having lost twelve valuable ewes and six spring lambs Sunday night. While in times past the strict enforcement of the law, taxing dogs may not have been a positive necessity in that locality it is hoped that now that the industry is being started that more vigilance will be shown than reports indicate has been the case in the past.

EMREY IN THE RACE

Present Register of Deeds Announces His Candidacy for Renomination.

In this issue appears the announcement of the candidacy of Romeo A. Emrey, of this city, for renomination to the office of register of deeds on the republican ticket.

Mr. Emrey is one of the best known men in the county and needs no introduction. He has made a popular and efficient official in the past which is the best promise of the future, if successful.

Mr. Emrey has always been a hard worker for party success and at the present time is the president of the Charlevoix County Republican club.

BOYLE IS CANDIDATE

Benver Island Man Announces His Candidacy for Register of Deeds.

In another column, W. W. Hoyle of St. James, announces his candidacy for the republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primaries.

Mr. Hoyle is one of the best known residents of his locality and two years ago was a candidate for the same position, making a very creditable showing. He bases his claim to preference on his record as a working Republican and the fact that his section of the county has never been represented by a county official.

For Sale.

Two seated, rubber tired runabout. Inquire Argo Milling Co. 17f

CORRESPONDENCE

BEAVER ISLAND

Barge R. C. Wente loaded here this week.

Ulysses McCann visited Charlevoix last week.

Capt. "Tim" Roddy is spending a few days with his family.

The steamer Eugene C. Hart came in Sunday on her first trip.

Harry McCollough of Manitowoc is the new 2nd assistant at Beaver Head Light.

D. C. Schwitzer has returned from Charlevoix where he had been visiting his family.

W. S. Burns is getting out five thousand fruit trees on his place at the south end of the island.

Miss Zou Adams was here last week with millinery goods for Mrs. E. M. Atchison of Charlevoix.

Township treasurer Chas. Roddy and Frank McCannley transacted business to Charlevoix last week.

John Basley has sold his farm here and leaves this week for Ireland to spend the remainder of his days.

Mrs. Jane Coabus of Escanaba has opened up a millinery and ladies furnishings in C. C. Gallagher building.

Mrs. H. Briggs of Elk Rapids is visiting her sister Mrs. Fred Nackeman for a few days. This is the first time Mrs. Briggs has visited the island in over twenty years.

There is more Colic in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Colic to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Colic Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ATWOOD

Trailing arbutus.

Every person is busy now.

Ethan Joliffe and Albert Harwood were in Central Lake last Friday on business.

We will bet that H. Klooster lays more eggs in one day than any one store in the state.

How is this for a name given to a baby boy of late Umhlehlehngberinbelalsttimela. 7*1, 7*1, 7*1.

Our eighth graders are working hard every day; getting ready to attend the examinations next week.

Rev. Samuel Joliffe of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, will be here the latter part of this week for two or three days to look after some business of his.

Won't we have lively times this summer: presidential election, election of a new state governor, woman suffrage and the county road system (and no saloons).

M. E. Byers and wife of Canon City, Colorado, will be here in a few days for the summer. Mr. Byers comes for his health. Gene, as we call him, is an Atwood boy and we will be pleased to meet him again.

Alex. Destimon, 90 Lake St., Muskegon, Mich., desires other people to benefit by the curative qualities of Foley Kidney Pills and says: "I wish to state that I have used Foley Kidney Pills and received more benefit from them than anything that I have ever used before. I had a bad case of kidney trouble and I wish to thank you for the help Foley Kidney Pills have given me." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

NORTH BAY.

Farmers are busy plowing and seeding.

Laura Voelker called on Iva North Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Priebe visited at Paul Brauer's Sunday.

Ralph Starmer is working his father's farm this summer.

Thomas Fletcher has the wall nearly completed for a basement barn.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Lang called on Charles Smith's people Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Alonzo Craspey of Mancelona is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Dan McLellan and family.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Pettengill and little daughter, of Petoskey visited at Long View farm Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cooper and children, of Petoskey visited Mrs. Cooper's parents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shaw of Horton Bay Sunday.

HAYES.

The farmers around Hayes are busy putting in crops.

George Cook and wife visited at Arthur Woodens Sunday.

Mrs. Harker Kirby is visiting at

Mrs. Anna Howes for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wooden visited at Mrs. Frank Williams Sunday afternoon.

Archie Howe and Miss Arrah Howe visited at their cousins, Miss Lela Howes Sunday.

Miss Iva Lewis has returned home from visiting friends at Harbor Springs and Petoskey.

Miss Hazel Shearer and Miss Dulcie Howe spent Saturday afternoon and Sunday at Charlevoix.

Mrs. Ida Becker, 74 Carlyle Street, Battle Creek, Mich., had all the painful symptoms of severe kidney trouble. Her kidneys were congested, eyesight blurred, slept poorly, was nervous, tired out, and all run down. After taking Foley Kidney Pills she says: "The sick headache came no more, I slept soundly, was free from dizziness, and my kidneys and bladder stopped bothering me. Foley Kidney Pills cured me, and freed me of much misery." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

MARION.

Mrs. Albert Black is able to be up again after a short illness.

Mrs. Augusta Ingalls, who was seriously ill, is slowly recovering.

Miss Duran of East Jordan is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Paquette.

The Ladies auxiliary of Marion Center grange met with Sister Paquette last Thursday. After the business was over a very dainty lunch was served.

Children very often have trouble with their kidneys and bladder either as a result of weakness or of some children's disease. Mrs. John Thomas, Escanaba, Mich., says: "My little boy had a severe pain across his back and was so nervous he could not sleep at night but Foley Kidney Pills cured him in a short time." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

The class has finished its work on the physical map of South America.

Miss Lila Shapton, Class of 1911, called at the normal room last Thursday afternoon.

Rev. F. M. Taylor of the Methodist church, has kindly consented to preach the baccalaureate sermon for the normal class.

The pictures, which were loaned to the normal for a period of six months by the state librarian, have been returned to the State Library at Lansing.

Georgia Adams, who was unable to finish the normal course this year on account of illness, visited the normal Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

The normal class attended the session of the board of supervisors Wednesday forenoon. The board of supervisors was discussing the subject of bonding the county for the purpose of improving the roads of Charlevoix county.

The training room children invited the normal students to attend their Bird and Arbor Day program Friday afternoon. After a pleasing program the children and normal students went to the garden and planted phlox in the flower garden.

C. H. S. NOTES.

Don't forget the field meet at Petoskey, May 25.

Ida Levinson and Marion Emery were high school visitors Thursday.

HELP THE KIDNEYS

Charlevoix Readers Are Learning the Way.

It's the little kidney ills—The lame, weak or aching back—The unnoticed urinary disorders—That lead to dropsy and Bright's disease.

When the kidneys are sick, Help them with Doan's Kidney Pills.

A remedy especially for sick kidneys. Doan's have been curing kidney troubles for 75 years.

Endorsed by 50,000 people—endorsed at home.

Proof in a Charlevoix citizen's statement.

H. Markwardt, Bridge St., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good kidney and bladder remedy. I have them frequently when having lame back and trouble from my kidneys. I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills from the Ivy Drug Store and they have always benefited me, relieving my aches and correcting the kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Robert Cook of Bay View, Wisconsin, was a high school visitor last week.

The school tennis courts are being rolled out and put in commission for the spring and summer months.

Mr. Carpenter has the track team working every night. Some of the boys are showing fine form in high jumping and pole vaulting.

Errors of deduction: nothing is better than a good lesson; a poor lesson is better than nothing; therefore a poor lesson is better than a good one.

Charlevoix met Petoskey on the base ball diamond Saturday for the first game of the season, and was defeated by a score of 14-5. But we are not discouraged. Our turn is coming.

Don't be frightened by those students who go about the halls and yard screaming and tearing their hair. They are members of the Shakespeare class rehearsing their parts for Friday night. They are harmless.

On Friday evening, May 10 at 7:30, a literary program will be rendered in the high school room by members of the senior and junior classes. The principal feature of the evening will be a presentation of the court scene from "Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice," by the Shakespeare class. You are cordially invited to attend.

Jas. Therto, of Iron River, Mich., finds Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a family medicine that helped all the family, so he always keeps it on hand. "Both my children and I were troubled with bad coughs and we used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It certainly cured us and I recommend it as a good cough and cold cure." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

A Mother Praises the Boy Scout Idea.

In the May "Woman's Home Companion," a mother gives her personal experiences with her troublesome boy of twelve or fourteen years of age and tells how his connection with the Boy Scouts of America made a better boy of him. "The twelve points of the Scout law," says the mother, in her article, are

1. A Scout is trustworthy
2. A Scout is loyal
3. A Scout is helpful
4. A Scout is friendly
5. A Scout is courteous
6. A Scout is kind
7. A Scout is obedient
8. A Scout is cheerful
9. A Scout is thrifty
10. A Scout is brave
11. A Scout is clean
12. A Scout is reverent.

After telling how her son entered the movement, she goes on to say:

"I had hoped my boy would be all these things, and had so admonished him. But these are Scout laws, mind you, not advice and admonitions, not hopes backed by maternal pleadings and fears, but laws, self-imposed when the Scout takes his oath; for in taking the oath he promises to obey these laws. That settled it. If the Scout movement stood for these things, and inspired and exacted them, I was with it, heart and soul."

"From the start the whole thing was a great success. The boy, for one, benefited immensely by the association. It could take me too long to tell you how much. I only tell you humbly that some of the faults in him which I had worked with for years, such as selfishness, shiftness, occasional cowardice, and sometimes irreverence, began to disappear, and without fret or friction. A good Scout had none of these faults; they are against the Scout law. He was trying to be a good Scout; that was all."

"Have you a boy of your own? If you have, I think you cannot do better than to look into the Scout movement. He is sure to hear of it, and, if he is anywhere near twelve, or thirteen, or fourteen, he is pretty sure to want to join it. I beg you, too, not to put anything in his way; and then, further, I beg you to keep your hands off. Your part is to listen when he talks to you about it; to approve; to have a good supper waiting for him when he comes back from his Scout tramps, and to continue to say your prayers at night for him."

If air slaked flue be in earth in which plants are potted it will keep worms away.

Most growers using flats sow one and a half to two inches apart. The seed need not be covered with more than one-fourth of an inch of soil. Water thoroughly immediately after sowing, and do not apply more water than is absolutely necessary. Overwatering, high temperatures and lack of ventilation are responsible for appalling plants.

Mats of some kind must be used at night for the protection of the plants in flatbeds and cold frames. These should be removed as soon as possible in the morning when the sun is shining and replaced on the frames not later than 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Some air should be admitted to the frames every day if the weather will permit.—National Stockman and Farmer.

BANK

The compliments of the Directors and Officers of this Bank are presented to you with the respectful request that you will avail yourself immediately of our services. We can help you. Come in and let us talk it over.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A GOOD BANK IN A GOOD TOWN

—Directors—

R. P. FOLEY G. C. GEIKEN
W. J. RACHOW JOHN BURNS
J. L. CRANE P. D. CAMPBELL
H. S. HARSHA

—Officers—

R. P. FOLEY, President
G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier
C. O. McMAHAN, Asst. Cashier

All Business given this Bank receives our personal attention. You are welcome to use our new offices at all times.

Ford Cars Are Winners

More than one hundred thousand Ford Cars are in use today. More than four thousand individual Ford dealers are scattered over the entire United States and Canada today. I have taken the exclusive agency for Charlevoix and vicinity and solicit your business. If you are in the market for a car, I want to talk with you before you buy. Look at this

Ford Model "T" Four Door Touring Car

5 Passenger—4 Cylinder—20 Horse Power Car.

Price: $690

Includes Extension Top, Automatic Brass Wind Shield, Speedometer, 2 six inch Gas Lamps, Generator, 3 Oil Lamps, Horn, Tools

WHERE CAN YOU DO BETTER

Ford Model Five is not a cheap car—it is the highest priced car in the world, none excepted. Yet, I am able to sell it at the lowest price. You are asked so buy a Ford for what it will do, based upon what it has done. Let me talk with you before you buy.

Theodore Erickson
Local Agent

Bargain Sale One Week

For CASH ONLY From

May 8 to May 15

10c package Azie	3c
13c and 15c Prunes	10c
13c can Huron Peas	10c
20c can Peasant Salmon	15c
7 bars Lenox Soap	25c
12 bars Calumet Soap	25c
10c pkg Sun Cured Tobacco	5c
Two 5c pkgs Oakleaf Soap P'd'r	5c
10c pkg Voight's Cream Flakes	5c
Two 5c pkgs Bazaar Matches	5c

SPECIAL WEEK SHOE SALE

15c Baby Moccasins	10c pair
25c Baby Shoes	19c pair
50c Baby Shoes	37c pair
No. 1662 Child's $1 Shoes	60c pair
No. 1208 Child's $1.25 Shoes	80c pr

Special sale for one week on all Baby's, Children's and Misses' shoes

We still have a lot of Men's, Ladies' and Boys' lace shoes to close out at Very Low Prices

THIS WEEK

Bert Mason
Cash Grocer

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved BY THE USE OF "5-DROPS"

The Great Remedy for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, Neuralgia, La Grippe and Kidney Trouble.

Applied externally, it stops all aches and pains. Taken internally, it dissolves the poisonous substance and assists nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by Druggists.

One Dollar per Bottle, or sent prepaid upon receipt of price if not obtainable in your locality.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY Chicago 100 Lake Street.

SWANSON'S PILLS

Best Remedy for Constipation, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Bloating and Liver Trouble. 25c Per Box at Druggists.

SKIN SORES

Easily and Quickly Healed

Those who suffer from eczema, pimples, or other skin eruptions know the trouble. There is no cure unless the cause is removed. The Five-Drop Salve can easily get rid of it by a simple and inexpensive application. It is a carefully compounded ointment that for fifteen years has proven its value as a soothing, healing remedy for eczema, pimples, burning sores, wounds, burns, salt rheum, ringworm, piles, and so on. A single application will usually give immediate relief. The burning, irritating inflammation quickly subsides and the sores dry and disappear.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25 and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not obtainable in your locality you can order direct from Swanson R. C. Co., 100 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent prepaid upon receipt of price. It is an excellent remedy for cracked skin and chapped lips.

COSENDAY DYE WORKS

DRY CLEANERS

ESTABLISHED 1877

CLEANERS AND DYERS OF CARPETS

DRAPERIES, LACES AND GARMENTS

WRITE FOR PRICES

127-133 N. Jefferson Ave., Saginaw, Mich.

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON

Complete Abstracts of Charlevoix County

Twenty years Experience. Maps and Plans on Short Notice. VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH

Attorney at Law

Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. B. SHANAHAN

Attorney at Law

Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD

Dentist

Office in VanPelt Building Over Levenson's Store

Phone 133 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Eyes tested and glasses fitted. Phone—Office 66; residence 205.

Office in New Postoffice Building

R. H. ARMSTRONG, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT. Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store, Charlevoix, Mich. Telephone No. 253.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE

Physician and Surgeon

(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.)

Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention. For further information address: AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY, Dept. 19 Box 441 Erie, Pa.

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident

$10.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness

$1,000.00 for loss of limb or eye

$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit

Cost $4.00 per year. No other dues.

Old established Company with $100,000.00 State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.

Men and Women between 16 and 65 accepted, according to occupation.

For further information address: AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY, Dept. 19 Box 441 Erie, Pa.

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Company.

Wesley Sinton walked down the road a half mile and turned in at the lane leading to his home. His heart was hot and filled with indignation. He had told Elora he did not blame her mother, but he did. His wife met him at the door.

"Did you see anything of Elora, Wesley?" she questioned.

"Most too much, Maggie," he answered. "What do you say to going to town? There's a few things has to be got right away."

"Where did you see her, Wesley?"

"Along the old Limberlost trail, my girl, torn to pieces sobbing. Her, conge always has been fine, but the thing she met today was too much for her. We ought to have known better than to let her go that way. I ought to have gone in and seen about this school business. I'm no man to let a fatherless girl run into such trouble. Don't cry, Maggie. Get me some sugar and I'll hitch up and see what we can do now."

"What can we do, Wesley?"

"I don't just know. But we're got to do something. Kate Comstock will be a handful, while Elora will be two, but between us we must see that the girl is not too much pressed about money and that she is dressed so she is not ridiculous. She's saved us the wages of a woman many a day. Can't you make her some decent dresses, Maggie?"

"Well, I'm not just what you call expert, but I could beat Kate Comstock off to pieces. I know that skirts should be plaited to the hand instead of gathered and full enough to sit in and short enough to walk in. I could try. There's patterns for sale. Let's go right away, Wesley."

"Well, set me a life of supper while I hitch up."

They drove toward the city through the beautiful September evening, and as they went they planned for Elora. The only trouble was not whether they were generous enough to get what she needed, but whether she would accept what they got and what her mother would say.

They went to a large dry goods store, and when a clerk asked what they wanted to see neither of them knew, so they stepped to one side and held a whispered consultation.

"What had we better get, Wesley?"

"Best if I know," exclaimed Wesley. "I thought you would manage that. I know about some things I'm going to get."

At that instant several schoolgirls came into the store and approached them.

"There!" exclaimed Wesley breathlessly. "There, Maggie! Like them! That's what she needs! Buy like they have!"

Before she knew it Margaret was among them.

"I beg your pardon, girls, but won't you wait a minute?" she asked.

The girls stopped with wondering faces.

"It's your clothes," explained Mrs. Sinton. "You look just beautiful to me. You look exactly as I should have wanted to see my girls. They both died of diphtheria when they were little. If they had lived they'd been near your age now, and I'd want them to look like you. I know a girl who would be just as pretty as any of you if she had the clothes, but her mother does not think about her, so I got to mother her some myself."

"She must be a lucky girl," said one of the girls.

"Oh, she's for me," said Margaret, and I love her. I want her to look just like you do. Please tell me about your clothes. Are these the dresses and hats you wear to school? What kind of goods are they and where do you buy them?"

The girls began to laugh and cluster around Margaret. Wesley Sinton strode down the store with his head high in pride of her, but his heart was sore over the memory of two little faces under brushwood sod. He inquired his way to the shoe department.

"Why, every one of us have on gingham or linen dresses," they said, "and these are our school clothes."

For a few moments there was a babel of laughing voices explaining to the delighted Margaret that school dresses should be bright and pretty, but simple and plain and nifty cold weather they should wear.

"I'll tell you," said Ellen Brownlee, "my father owns this store. I know all the clerks. I'll take you to Miss Hartley. You tell her just how much you want to spend and what you want to buy, and she will know how to get the most for your money."

"That's the very thing," agreed Margaret. "But before you go tell me about your hair. Elora's hair is bright and wavy, but yours is silky as hatched flax. How do you do it?"

"Elora?" asked four girls in concert.

"Yes; Elora is the name of the girl I want these things for."

"Did she come to the high school today?" questioned one of them.

"Was she in your classes?" demanded Margaret without reply.

Four girls stood silent and thought fast. Had there been a strange girl among them, and had she been overlooked and passed by with indifference because she was so very shabby? If she had appeared as much better than they as she had looked worse would her reception have been the same?

"There was a strange girl from the country in the freshman class today," said Ellen Brownlee, "and her name was Elora."

"That was the girl," said Margaret. "Are her people so very poor?" questioned Ellen.

"No, not poor at all, come to think of it," answered Margaret. "It's a peculiar case. Mrs. Comstock had a great trouble, and she let it change her whole life and make a different woman of her. She used to be lovely, but all she does now is droop all day and walk the edge of the swamp half the night and weep."

"Now tell me about your hair," persisted Margaret Sinton.

So they took her to a toilet counter, and she bought the proper hair soap, also a nail file and cold cream for use after windy days. Then they left her with the experienced clerk, and when at last Wesley found her she was loaded with bundles, and the glint of other days was in her beautiful eyes. Wesley carried some packages also.

"Come on, now, let's get home," he said.

CHAPTER III.

Wherein Elora Procures Her Books and Finds Means of Earning Money.

ALL the way home Wesley and Margaret Sinton discussed how they should give Elora their purchases and what Mrs. Comstock would say.

"I am afraid she will be awful mad," said Margaret Sinton tremulously.

"She'll just rip," replied Wesley graphically. "But if she wants to leave the raising of her girl to the neighbors she needn't get fractious if they take some pride in doing a good job. From now on I calculate Elora shall go to school, and she shall have all the clothes and books she needs, if I go around on the back of Kate Comstock's land and cut a tree or drive off a calf to pay for them. Why I know one tree she owns that would put Elora in heaven for a year. Just think of it, Margaret! It's not fair. One-third of what is there belongs to Elora by law, and if Kate Comstock raises a row I'll tell her so and see that the girl gets it. You go to see Kate in the morning, and I'll go with you. Tell her you want Elora's pattern, that you are going to make her a dress for helping a man. And sort of blot at a few more things. If Kate balks I'll take a hand and settle her. I'll go to law for Elora's share of that and then she can take her share."

"Why, Wesley Sinton, you're perfectly wild."

"I'm not! Did you ever stop to think that such cases are so frequent there have been laws made to provide for them? I can bring it up in court and force Kate to educate Elora and board and clothe her till she's of age, and then she can take her own share."

"Wesley, Kate would go crazy!"

"She's crazy now. The idea of any mother living with as sweet a girl as Elora and letting her suffer till I find her crying like a tinner! It makes me fighting mad!"

When Wesley came from the barn Margaret had four pieces of crisp gingham, a pair blue, a pink, a gray with green stripes and a rich brown and blue plaid. On each of them lay a yard and a half of wide ribbon to match. There were handkerchiefs and a brown leather belt. In her hands she held a wide brimmed tan straw hat having a high crown banded with velvet strips, each of which fastened with a tiny gold buckle.

"It looks kind of bare now," she explained. "I find three quills on it here. The price was two and a half for the hat, and those things were a dollar and a dollar and a half apiece I couldn't pay that."

"It does seem considerable," admitted Wesley, "but will it look right about them?"

"No, it won't," said Margaret. "It's going to have quills on it. Do you remember those beautiful peacock wing feathers that Phoebe Simms gave me? Three of them go on just where those came off, and nobody will ever know the difference. They match the hat to a nicety, and they are just a little longer and richer than the ones that I had taken off. I was wondering whether I better sew them on tonight while I remember how they set or wait till morning."

"Don't risk it!" exclaimed Wesley anxiously. "Don't you risk it! Sew them on right now."

"Open your bundles, while I get the thread," said Margaret.

Wesley set out a pair of shoes. Margaret took them up and plucked the leather, and stroked them.

"My, but they are pretty!" she cried. "What else did you get?"

"Well, sir," said Wesley, "I saw something today. You told me about Kate getting that tin ball for Elora to carry to high school, and you said you told her it was a shame. So I just inquired around till I found this, and I think it's about the ticket. Decent looking and handy as you please. See here, now!"

Wesley opened the package and laid a brown leather lunch box on the table. Inside was a space for sandwiches, a little porcelain box for cold meat or fried chicken, another for salad, a glass with a lid which screwed on, held by a ring in a corner, for custard or jelly, a flask for tea or milk, a beautiful little knife, fork and spoon fastened in holders and a place for a napkin.

"Margaret was almost crying over it. 'How I'd love to fill it!' she exclaimed."

"Do it the first time just to show Kate Comstock what love is!" said Wesley. "Get up early in the morning and make one of those dresses tomorrow. Can't you make a plain gingham dress in a day? I'll pick a chicken, and you fry it and fix a little custard for the cup, and do it up brown. Go on, Maggie, you do it!"

"I never can," said Margaret. "I am slow as the litch about sewing, and these are not going to be plain dresses when it comes to making them. There are going to be edgings of plain green, pink and brown to the bias strips and trunks and pleats about the hips, fancy belts and collars, and all of it takes time."

"Then Kate Comstock's got to help," said Wesley. "Can the two of you make one and get that lunch tomorrow?"

"Easy, but she'll never do it!"

"You see if she doesn't!" said Wesley. "You get up and cut it out, and soon as Elora is gone I'll go after Kate myself. She'll take what I'll say better alone. But she'll come, and she'll help make the dress. These other things are our Christmas gifts to Elora. She'll no doubt need them more now than she will then, and we can give them just as well. That's yours, and this is mine, or whichever way you choose."

Wesley untied a good brown umbrella and shook out the folds of a long brown raincoat. Margaret dropped the hat, arose and took the coat. She tried it on, felt it, cooed over it and matched it with the umbrella.

"Did it look anything like rain tonight?" she inquired so anxiously that Wesley laughed.

"And this last bundle?" she said, dropping back in her chair, the coat still over her shoulders.

"I couldn't buy this much stuff for any other woman and nothing for my own," said Wesley. "It's Christmas for you, too, Margaret!" He shook out fold after fold of soft gray satiny goods that would look lovely against Margaret's pink cheeks and whitening hair.

"Oh, you old darling!" she exclaimed and fled sobbing into his arms.

At 4 o'clock next morning Elora was shelling beans. At 5 she fed chickens and pigs, swept two of the rooms of the cabin, built a fire and put on the kettle for breakfast. Then she climbed the narrow stairs to the attic she had occupied since a very small child and dressed in the hated shoes and brown socks, plastered down her crisp curls, ate with breakfast she could not, pinning on her hat, started for town.

"There is no school in your going for an hour yet," said her mother.

"I must try to discover some way to earn those books," replied Elora. "I am perfectly positive I shall not find them lying along the road wrapped in tissue paper and tagged with my name."

She went toward the city as on yesterday. Her perplexity as to where tuition and books were to come from was worse, but she did not feel quite so badly. She never again would have to face all of it for the first time. She had been through it once and was yet living. There had been times yesterday

(Continued on page 7)

Ways to Save

If you are working on a salary your first thought each pay day should be to save a part of your earnings to provide for future use.

You can save one month's pay during the year and with small economy. This is our suggestion.—Have a savings account with this bank; each month deposit one-twelfth of your salary; do not spend it.

At the end of the year you will have saved a month's salary and 4 per cent compound interest. We pay you the interest twice a year. Begin this month to save some amount every pay day.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Butlers A. F. Bridge Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

GARDEN MAKING

Will soon be in full swing. Enjoy it by the use of new tools--Hoes, Rakes, Spades, Etc.

BRIGHTEN UP

Get That Painting Out of the Way

Paints, Oils, Varnishes

Gypsin and Muresco Wall Finish

THE VERY BEST

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

SEE ME

When in search of Jewelry for Gifts or own use. When you wish to purchase a reliable Watch or Clock. When you want Table Silverware or Cut Glass. When in need of first-class Jewelry Repairing.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Sales and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to obtain one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clean cut money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. We enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were plotting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling sales, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling inducements, rendered it necessary to double our output. We are spending many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization, but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 16 T.

THE VICTOR SAFE & LOCK CO.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Sales Annually.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE. I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter of how long standing. I CURE EPILEPSY, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves in perfect health. I CURE PILES in 30 days to stay cured and to never return. I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 25 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by seeing my mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week. I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, opium or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.

Any unfortunate girl given best of care. May work out fees. Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once. My advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars life-time to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.

Helding Sanitarium & Retreat, Helding, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
 A. J. USHER, Business Manager
 Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
 One copy, one year.....$1.50
 One copy, six months......75
 One copy, three months......40

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
 Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

DAY CHOSEN FOR THIRD TERM

(Continued from page 1.)

his paper, "Relation of the Commercial Organizations to the Bureau," was full of good things. He laid particular stress on the fact that each one should manifest this same spirit of hearty co-operation, and in this way each would be benefited, for each particular line of work, civic, industrial, educational, commercial, agricultural, horticultural, religious, all work for the betterment of the city and its surrounding region.

At the evening session the rooms were filled, and intense interest was manifested in all the different discussions.

C. P. Buck presented his paper on marketing and standardizing of fruit, and it showed careful study of the subject that is of the utmost importance to this region. He suggested the markets be studied; that the uniform package be adopted; that there be three grades for the apples; that possibly a central body be selected for the cure of the fruit and the proper handling. This was discussed by several. It was referred to a committee of L. F. Perrett, John F. Gibson and R. H. Elsworth.

The matter of the apple show was taken up and after discussion it was moved that this be held under the auspices of the Association of Commerce, of Grand Rapids, and that this organization decide on the date, at the same time having the State Horticultural society meet with them, and have in addition an exhibit of potatoes and vegetables.

It was decided that the delinquent counties be visited, and the various organizations and the private individuals together with the boards of supervisors be interviewed, showing them the splendid results that had come from the other counties and that they should not overlook themselves.

The barn painting campaign seemed to strike everyone as one of the best things that could be done. It would preserve the buildings, to say nothing of the great improvement in the looks; then as the good road question was making it possible for more autos to be brought into this region, the many new people that would naturally come here should see the very best looking farm buildings. The expense would be small compared to the results that would be forthcoming.

Secretary Gibson was in receipt of a letter from G. Herbert Taylor, representing J. & H. Goodwin, of London, Liverpool and Leeds, the largest exporting firm of American apples in the world. Mr. Taylor will meet Mr. Gibson in New York when he starts on his trip abroad, and will follow him in a few days, to a conference with this firm in London, and listen to Mr. Gibson's proposition for opening a market for the western Michigan apples. Last year this firm exported 600 carloads of American apples.

It was also decided to continue the glass jar exhibit and refill the present jars with new fruit as soon as they were in the market, getting the very best. This exhibit, as it has been taken to the various shows, has been one of the best advertisements that could be gotten together, for people have seen just what can be grown and naturally have become more deeply interested in this region.

Going to build this spring? The place to buy your lime, port plaster, brick, and other material is at the Builders' Supply Co., phone 86 2-r.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE VOTES

Six States Have Granted Woman Suffrage—Five Will Vote Question This Fall.

Six states have already granted full suffrage: Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington and California. Five more states are to vote on amendments to their constitutions this fall granting woman suffrage. They are Oregon, Kansas, Ohio, Wisconsin, and Michigan. In thirty-one out of the forty-eight states women can vote on certain questions, chiefly on school and municipal matters.

Dr. Wiley is strongly in favor of woman suffrage as is also Judge Lindsay of Denver. Both men declare that women take a much more prejudiced view of questions concerning the public welfare than do men.

The Chicago Record-Herald is the first big daily to devote a whole page to the woman-suffrage movement, though most of the leading papers give an occasional writeup of the progress of the movement. The full page in the Record-Herald will appear regularly in its Sunday edition.

The new children's bureau, just established by Congress is to have as its head Miss Julia C. Lathrop, of Chicago. This is the first time a woman has been appointed to any government position of such importance but no one questions the eminent fitness of Miss Lathrop for this work.

The suffrage campaign in Michigan was launched in Grand Rapids, May 7, with Mrs. Beatrice Forbes Robertson as the chief speaker. The whole state is to be organized by counties, with headquarters at Grand Rapids and Detroit, from which literature and speakers will be sent out.

There are people in this town who unthinkingly neglect a "mere cold" though they would not otherwise expose their children or themselves to danger. Yet a cold neglected may develop into contagious diphtheria, bronchitis, or pneumonia. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly for its stops coughs quickly and cures colds. It contains no opiates and is safe for children. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Cement blocks for the cellar and other improvements—the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co.

Home-seekers' Excursions.

The third edition of "Wealth in Michigan Farms," published by the Pere Marquette railroad, is ready for distribution. The folder is illustrated with half-tone views of Western Michigan orchards and farms.

The dates for the Home-seekers' excursions into Michigan for the year 1912 have been set as follows: May 7 and 21, June 4 and 18, July 9 and 23, August 6 and 30, September 3 and 17, October 1, 15 and 28, November 12 and 26, December 10.

On these dates round trip excursion fares will prevail from Chicago, Michigan City, Benton Harbor and Toledo.

WILL MEET AT EAST JORDAN

Women's Christian Temperance Union County Convention Next Week.

Interesting Program Has Been Arranged—Many Will Attend From This City.

The county convention of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the Presbyterian church, East Jordan, next Tuesday and Wednesday, May 14-15. The following interesting program has been arranged.

Tuesday Afternoon.

1:30: Call to order.

Opening devotionals, Mrs. H. P. Parmelee, Charlevoix.

Roll call, response Scriptural promises.

Appointment of committees.

In memoriam, Mrs. Anna E. Corey Boyne City.

Solo, Miss Verschel Lorraine, East Jordan.

Annual reports of Unions, Boyne City, Boyne Falls, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Norwood.

Vocal duet, Misses Marjorie Bowen and Grace Malpass.

Personal observations on the dry regime of three years and the late local option experiences.

Vocal solo, Mrs. Cameron, Norwood.

Tuesday evening.

7:45: Scripture reading and prayer.

Greetings, for the City, Mayor R. F. Steffe; for the Churches, Rev. T. Porter Bennett.

Instrumental duet, Miss Violet Grigsby and William Webster.

Greetings:

For the schools, Superintendent Northon.

For the missionary societies, Mrs. Jennie Janieson.

For the W. C. T. U., Mrs. T. P. Bennett.

Response for county, Mrs. R. H. Armstrong, Charlevoix.

Wednesday morning.

8:30: Executive Committee meeting.

9:00: Devotions, Mrs. Sara M. Wilkinson.

Reports.

Paper, The Home in its Relations to the Schools, Mrs. W. F. Empey.

Report of Credentials Committee.

Election of Officers.

Paper, The Home, Mrs. M. H. Robertson.

Solo, Mrs. A. M. Bardick, Charlevoix.

Question box.

Adjournment.

Headquarters for seeds at S. Orłowski & Son's.

1911

GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY

Judge of Evidence Drawn for Circuit Court—

Commences May Twentieth.

Will Gildea, Penine.

Condy C. Gallagher, St. James.

Elmer Richards, South Arm.

Fred Holland, Wilson.

Charles Miller, Boyne City, 1st ward.

John Good, Boyne City, 2nd ward.

John Lewis, Boyne City, 3rd ward.

Frank Parquett, Boyne City, 4th ward.

Charles Graves, Charlevoix, 1st ward.

Rudolph Korth, Charlevoix, 2nd ward.

Peter McCafferty, Charlevoix, 3rd ward.

Henry Wagner, Norwood.

Frank Banks, Melrose.

James Willis, Marion.

Ed. L. Ingelright, Hudson.

M. K. Chew, Hayes.

Hiram Brock, Eveline.

Frank Bricker, Evangeline.

James Wyers, Charlevoix.

S. A. Hines, Chandler.

Oscar Wangerman, Boyne Valley.

Volthe Fox, Bay.

Thomas Burke, Penine.

John King, St. James.

Aeroplane Exhibitions.

An aeroplane company has been organized in Petoskey recently. The company has made plans to teach people to aviate and will also give exhibitions at that city.

J. J. Douglas an expert aviator, will come to this city during the latter part of the week for the purpose of making arrangements for exhibitions to be given here during the summer.

This popular attraction should have the hearty support of the citizens of Charlevoix and with a small effort arrangements could be made to afford a good display of aviation in this city. All that is needed is a 6-ft. or landing place in which the machines may be landed. Each machine has pneumatic tires which so the landing will not injure our scenic spots.

We do Fine Job Printing.

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

YOU may come to us with entire confidence in the matter of clothes. We want to be of service to you in the matter; we are not so anxious to sell you something as we are to have something to please you. Our effort is to have the right goods; there's nothing for us to gain by having anything else.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

clothes look right to us; we wouldn't try to sell them to you if we didn't think so. It's no trouble to guarantee your complete satisfaction with such goods; and no risk.

We know they're right; you'll find them so; style quality, tailoring, fit; all right.

Suits $18 and up

M. A. LEVINSON & CO.

This store is the Home of Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, VanPelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Adam and Fallen Man." Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.

Reading room open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

METHODIST CHURCH.

9:30 Class meeting.

10:30 Morning sermon.

12:00 m. Sunday School.

6:30 p. m. Epworth League.

7:30 Evening service.

Our services are helpful. You are invited.

Preaching at Epworth church Sunday 2:30 p. m.

The Boy Preacher will preach.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.

Morning Service, 10:30.

Sunday School at 11:45.

B. V. P. P. 6:30 p. m.—Mrs. Raycroft will have charge of the service.

Mission Circle on Friday afternoon at Mrs. Dentons.

Evening service, Union Meeting at the M. E. Church.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion Town hall.

"Strangers always welcome."

CONGREGATIONAL.

Morning service at 10:30. Rev. C. E. Taggart of Reed City will occupy the pulpit morning and evening and will also preach at Ironton in the afternoon.

Sunday School at 12 m.

Meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society at 6:30 p. m.—Topic, "Unselfishness." Leader, Will Mitchell.

This is the Consecration meeting and the usual offering will be received.

Preparatory service Thursday evening May 8. All desiring to unite with our fellowship are requested to hand their names to the pastor before that time.

Librarian's Report.

Librarian's report for month of April 1912.

Total number books issued 1658.

Fiction, 698.

Juvenile fiction, 600.

Non-fiction, 361.

Philosophy 3, religion 12, sociology 51, philology 3, natural science 14, useful arts 12, fine arts 15, literature 56, history 29, travel 38, biography 26, general works 2.

Average of books issued daily 70.

Total attendance in reading room 682.

Men 122, women 153, children 117.

Daily average attendance 33.

New patrons, enrolled in April 12.

Wanted.

Man by month to care for lawns at Beach Hotel. Outside work. Enquire at Lewis Cottage, corner Dixon and Michigan avenues.

tsf

Balcony Sale

Beginning Saturday we will sell

Lace Curtains, Blankets, Comfortables, Portiers and Small Rugs at

One-Fourth Off

50ct CURTAINS at 35ct

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

Disc Harrows Seed Drills

Rotary Corn Planters
 Potato Planters
 Bean and Corn Fertilizer

And remember that Cooper will buy Wool this year

J. R. COOPER

Antrim Street

Charlevoix, Michigan

SEEDS ON HAND

SPELTS

BARLEY

COW PEAS

SPRING WHEAT

MILLET

SEED OATS

Argo Milling Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Sheriff Robbins was in the city Tuesday.

Don't forget that next Wednesday is "Clean-up Day."

F. A. Smith made a business trip to St. James today.

Miss Mildred Johnson was sick the first of the week.

Prosecuting Attorney Fitch was in the city Tuesday.

John Foley of Petoskey is in the city today on business.

Mrs. S. M. Rose visited at Boyne City the first of the week.

Born to Alfred Lusk Tuesday morning, a fine baby girl.

Judge Mayne is holding court at Traverse City this week.

A. L. Coulter, now of Ypsilanti, was in the city over Sunday.

Joe Aldender of Boyne City, was here on business yesterday.

Ray Chase of Boyne City was in the city Tuesday on business.

Miss Margery Washburn visited relatives at Petoskey last week.

Everez Nordrum spent Saturday and Sunday with friends at Petoskey.

Mrs. F. M. Taylor has been visiting at the home of her son in Boyne City.

G. W. Priest and wife are now occupying their cottage on the north side.

Sam Levinson left Monday for a week's visit with friends at Grand Rapids.

Mrs. John Lamphar made a short business trip to Boyne City Monday.

Fred Lanway of East Jordan, was in the city on business the first of the week.

Mrs. E. J. Miller, who has been seriously ill, is at this time much improved.

Emery Nyman of the Booth Fisheries spent Sunday with his parents at Petoskey.

Dr. G. W. Cronter is expected home from New York the latter part of this week.

John D. Thackeray of Kalamazoo, is visiting with R. A. Emrey and family this week.

William Vandermade of Petoskey was in the city on business the latter part of the week.

Mrs. John M. Mills of Kalamazoo is making her parents, M. W. Lapeer and wife, a visit.

Miss Edith Lamoreaux left yesterday for a two week's visit with relatives at Boyne City.

Miss Nora Malloy of St. James, was taken to the Traverse City State Hospital last Friday.

Miss Leila Campbell attended the wedding of her brother Frank, at Traverse City Saturday.

Mrs. Catherine Herrington has returned home after a short visit with friends at Traverse City.

Charles See returned to the Saville sanitarium at Petoskey, Monday, for further treatments.

John Early of St. James, has been here this week, waiting to leave for Burton Port, Ireland via Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Keiser and daughter, Marjorie, have returned from a short visit at Traverse City.

Harrison McCall returned home the first of the week from Pine hurst, N. C., where he has spent the winter.

Mrs. O. C. Alvord died this morning about three o'clock. Besides her husband, she leaves a large family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Usher and sons, Kenneth and Clare, visited friends in Boyne Falls and Boyne City over Sunday.

John H. Parker of Boyne City, chairman of the board of supervisors, was in the city on business Monday.

Mrs. O. E. Wilbur returned home Monday from Chicago, where she has been visiting relatives the past six weeks.

Mrs. A. D. Crickshank returned home Sunday from a week's visit at Howell and other southern Michigan points.

Miss Isabelle Lawrence formerly of this city, now of Paw Paw, and her sister were here the latter part of the week.

H. P. Parmelee and wife, who have been spending part of the winter at Grand Rapids, returned home Saturday.

Michel Shavage and Patrick Clark were let out of the county jail after serving a ten days sentence on a charge of larceny.

L. Cook returned Monday from Pontiac where he has been spending the winter with his daughter, Mrs. Ralph Smith.

The S. S. Illinois made her first trip in here Friday night about ten thirty, with Captain Stufflebeam again in command.

Dennis Woodard and William Reinhardt of East Jordan are awaiting trial in the county jail, the charge being larceny.

Mrs. Rex Bartholomew and children of Boyne City, visited at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank Hull, the latter part of the week.

Miss Isabelle Mitchell left Friday for Ottawa, Ohio, where she will act as bookkeeper for the West Michigan Sugar Company.

John S. Ackert made a trip to Northport last week on the Arthur, for the purpose of moving his household goods to this city.

Frank Metcalf and wife left this morning for Iron Mountain, Michigan, where they will visit at the home of M. J. Fox and family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Waller of Lake Forest, Illinois, were in the city last week overseeing the building of their cottage on the north side.

Arthur Karslake of East Jordan has started the construction of a skating rink on the grounds where the bottling works was located.

Emerson W. Price and wife of Lima, Ohio, are in the city this week looking after the rebuilding of their cottage on the Belvedere resort.

Mrs. Laura Donaldson witnessed the marriage ceremony of her brother Frank at Traverse City, Saturday returning home that night.

Edward Clark of Springvale was brought here the latter part of the week on a charge of assault with intent to commit great bodily harm less than the crime of murder.

O. E. Case of Traverse City is here this week packing the goods of Edward Widdfield in preparation of moving them to Lansing, Michigan where Mr. Widdfield will reside.

A pot-luck supper was given last Thursday on John Miller and wife, it being Mrs. Miller's birthday. The party consisted of the W. R. C. and G. A. R. and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

A. J. Davidson and family left the latter part of the week for their new home at Ottawa, Ohio. They will make about a week's visit at St. Louis, Michigan, with relatives.

Fred M. Benham of Athens, Georgia, has been in the city a few days, on his way to St. James, where he will visit his niece, Mrs. Northcutt, who has been very ill, but is much better now.

The goods are being placed on the shelves of Art Burgeon's new store in the building formerly occupied by the State savings bank. The store will probably be open for business next Thursday.

A. F. Young returned home Sunday from Kokomo, Indiana, where he purchased a new Apperson auto. From Kokomo Mr. Young drove the car to Lexington, Covington and Cincinnati and from there home.

A surprise party was given last evening on Miss Bessie Allen, at the home of C. J. Lapeer, by a number of her school friends. The event was given in honor of her birthday and everyone had a good time.

Capt. Robertson's home at Northport, was burned to the ground last Wednesday night. Most of the furniture was saved, but it was badly damaged.—Grand Traverse Her.

ald. Capt. Robertson is well known in Charlevoix.

A. R. Canfield of Clare, Michigan, secretary of the democratic state central committee and reading clerk of the national house of representatives, was in the city Tuesday and Wednesday.

George W. Baxter, formerly proprietor of the Boyne Citizen, has disposed of the Dowagiac Daily Herald property which he purchased last fall. Mr. Baxter intends to locate in the newspaper business elsewhere, probably in this state.

The Ne-g-zee association of Eastern Stars are holding a convention at Mancelona today and Thursday. Those from here in attendance are F. H. Wilkinson and wife, Messdames "Glassford, Priest, Butler, Young, and Miss Maggie Coulter.

Reports to the Methodist general conference show a total membership of 3,234,832 with 18,989 ministers, 30,398 churches and 163 conferences. The total value of the church and parsonage properties throughout the world was given as $216,400,437.

Auditor-General Fuller sends out notification that under the law of 1911 the distribution of primary school money will be made in July this year instead of May. He states the money when distributed will be about $8 for each child of school age.

A very enjoyable afternoon was passed at the residence of Mrs. Edward Redman, Wednesday, it being the occasion of a thimble party, followed by a tea given by the ladies of the Maccabees of the World. These ladies are very enthusiastic over their lodge and intend to have a series of these entertaining affairs.

Charlevoix is experiencing a big building boom. In addition to the numerous new cottages and repairs now under way at the resorts and in other portions of the city, three new business blocks are in course of construction. Every mechanic in the city is busy and it has been necessary to call on our neighboring towns for help.

Frank Campbell formerly of this city, and Miss Matilda Anderson, of Traverse City, were married at the home of the bride's parents, last Saturday at 12:30 p. m. The groom has a position in the Milwaukee public schools as manual training teacher, and is another of our boys who is making good. The best wishes of their many friends go with them.

Captain William Harkett, keeper of the Petoskey lighthouse for the past fourteen years, committed suicide last week by placing a thirty-two caliber revolver against the side of his head and sending a bullet through his brain, death resulting instantly. Poor health caused the act, Harkett having left the hospital where he had been taking treatment only an hour before the suicide. He leaves a wife and three sons, and was 46 years of age.

For Sale.

26 foot launch, with 6 h. p. Eclipse motor.

Enquire, Myrtle Young & Son, Phone 275. 1911

Reliable seeds at Orlowski & Son's. 1011

W. C. T. U. MEETING

Program for Meeting to be held Friday Afternoon With Mrs. M. Geer.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday afternoon, May 10, at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. M. Geer. The topic is "Woman and the Ballot" and the program is as follows:

Roll call—Quotations from suffrage leaders.

Scripture reading and prayer—Mrs. Richard Lewis.

Song—The new America.

Equal Suffrage in Michigan—Miss Jessie Himes.

Ten Reasons Why Women Should Vote—Mrs. H. P. Parmelee.

Poem, "The Wife"—Mrs. A. M. Burdick.

Suffrage Sentiment in the Western States—Mrs. P. D. Campbell.

Song—Suffrage in Dixie Land.

Question Box—Mrs. H. A. Polnam.

Straw ballot.

The Revival Meetings.

The non revival meetings are still in progress. This week they are being held in the M. E. church.

This the fourth week but the interest is still on the increase. Forty have so far professed conversion and the churches are being greatly blessed. Meetings will be held every night this week in the church.

The public is invited. The Boy Preacher is still assisting. Have you heard him?

Wanted.

Wanted one hundred men for assembling, and general work in automobile factory. Address or apply personally to Reo Motor Car Company, Lansing, Michigan. 1812

THEATRICAL

The Champion-Richmond Stock Co. began an eight nights engagement here last Thursday evening at the Majestic, playing the popular tabloid versions of famous plays.

The company is well balanced and each person carries his or her part with ease and their quick and snappy deliveries have won them many friends among our town people.

The noted play of East Lynne will be played Thursday evening and on Friday the company will produce the "Engineer," a Pennsylvania story.

The Majestic has offered the best attractions in pictures the past week and the management will endeavor to hook only the best of attractions in future.

The Champion-Richmond Stock Co. leaves Saturday and we assure them they will be remembered in the hearts of many who witnessed their performances every night.

To the Electors.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.

1911 adv. W. W. Boyle, St. James.

COURIER

BARGAIN

COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 10c first insertion.

WANTED—Housekeeper—Enquire at N. A. Levinson & Company's store. 1811

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Enquire, Mrs. H. W. Widdfield. Phone 105. 1811

FOR RENT or SALE—My house and lot. Enquire Mrs. H. W. Widdfield, 105 Kerry Avenue. 1811

FOR SALE—House, barn and two lots on easy terms. Enquire at the premises, 20 Lewis street. 1811

FARM FOR SALE—80 acres 3 miles north-east of Charlevoix. 40 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write D. W. Mahoney, P. O. box 133. 1811

CRANE'S

We Not Only Recommend SIMMONS
KID GLOVES
But agree to keep them pressed, shapely and mended forever
FREE OF CHARGE

ASK US ABOUT IT

Crane's

Charlevoix, Michigan

FIRE SALE

Full and complete stock of Bazaar Goods

AT AUCTION

THURSDAY AND SATURDAY

May 9th and 11th

Beginning at 2:00 o'clock p. m.

These goods are as good as new, being only slightly damaged by smoke and water

Don't Miss This Opportunity

Meyer & Neubert, Props.

W. E. Byers, Auctioneer

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

Home Course In Road Making

VI.—The Construction and Maintenance of Earth Roads.

By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department
of Agriculture.

Copyright by American Press Assoc.,
Chicago, 1912.

THERE are about 2,000,000 miles of earth roads in the United States, not including the roads in Alaska and our island possessions. In other words, we have enough earth roads in this country to reach around the earth at the equator eighty times, and what is more, a very large percentage of these roads will remain in use for a long time to come.

Our earth roads cannot be made to take the place of gravel or macadam, but with proper construction and adequate maintenance they can be greatly improved, and this can be accomplished without any considerable outlay of money. Good earth roads are within the financial means of nearly every community in the country.

PROPERLY CONSTRUCTED AND MAINTAINED EARTH ROAD.

It is a common mistake to think that a road is a mere path through the country that it is useless to try to do anything to improve our earth roads. This is a mistaken idea. In fact, a good earth road is the stepping stone to a macadam road. The earth road is the foundation for all future improvements. With proper plans for the future the earth road can be constructed at once. A comparatively small annual outlay for maintenance will then serve to keep it in shape until funds are available for further improvement with a hard surface.

One of the most frequent faults with our present earth roads is that they are located where they should not be. Grades are too often unnecessarily steep, drainage is poor or entirely lacking and streams are seldom crossed at the most favorable bridge site. To relocate these roads entirely or even to a large extent is out of the question. The general location of the present roads must be maintained because of the farm improvements which have been made along them. But wonderful improvements can be made by modifying the location of short sections here and there. Instead of going over a steep hill it is often feasible to go around it on a much easier grade without materially increasing the distance.

The elimination of one or two steep hills on a line of road will frequently enable horses to draw three or four times as much to market as they could draw on the old road. It takes approximately four times as much power to draw loads on 10 per cent grades as on a level.

The earth road should have at least six hours of sunshine each day. Brush and trees which impede the drying action of the sun should be removed. The southern and western exposures should be as complete as possible. With gravel and macadam roads this is not so necessary, as a certain amount of moisture is needed to keep down the dust.

But comparatively few of our earth roads have been dignified by any improvement which could be termed construction. To expect a good earth road where none has ever been built is like expecting a harvest from ground which has never been tilled. An earth road must be built, just as a macadam or gravel road must be built, and skill and experience are required in order to secure the best results.

The first and last requisite in road construction is drainage. This, of course, must be modified to suit the conditions of soil and climate. Where the soil is heavy and retentive care must be taken to get rid of the water quickly and completely. For this purpose the roadway must be raised eight to ten inches above the side ditches and the side ditches should be of ample size and provided with sufficient fall to properly care for the heaviest rains. Ordinarily the only ditches needed are those made with a road scraper, which are wide and comparatively shallow.

Culverts of sufficient capacity should be provided at low places or for natural watercourses. Wood and terra cotta tile do not, as a general rule, make satisfactory culverts. The first will soon decay, and the latter is liable to break unless it is very carefully laid. Stone or concrete culverts are the best and cheapest in the long run. The main things to bear in mind in building culverts are that they should have sufficient capacity to quickly dispose of the maximum flow of rainwater and that they are given sufficient fall to keep themselves clean. Increased fall also increases the capacity, but if much fall is given the spillway should be paved and the outlet and intake protected with suitable wing walls.

All material subject to decay, such as sod, grass or weeds and vegetable mold, must be carefully excluded. The aim must always be to build a roadway as solid and impervious to moisture as possible. Water from every source, surface or underground, must be got rid of. Except in sandy or very arid regions, water is the great enemy of earth roads.

The earth road can best be crowned and ditched with a reversible road machine or scraper and not with picks and shovels, scoops and plows. One road scraper with suitable power and operator will do the work of many men with picks and shovels and do it better. The road scraper should be used when the soil is damp, so that the soil will pack and bake. If it is worked dry it takes more power to operate the machine, and, furthermore, dry earth and dust retain moisture and quickly rot after rains.

Shoulders are often formed on both sides of the road by constant travel in one place, which prevents storm water from flowing into side ditches, retaining it in the ruts and softening the roadway. These ruts and shoulders can usually be entirely eliminated by a judicious use of the split log drag.

The price of good roads is eternal vigilance in maintenance. This is perhaps even more true of earth roads than any other. The rains and melting snow soften the surface more or less, and passing traffic forms ruts and depressions. These, if allowed to remain, will retain more water at the next rain, and more mud and deeper ruts and larger depressions will be formed. It is self evident, therefore, that the main thing in maintaining heavy soil roads must be to keep the drainage good. For this purpose there is nothing which equals the split log drag or other similar devices.

The principle of the action of the drag is simply this: The drag and most heavy rolls will puddle and set very hard if worked when wet. The drag is essentially a puddling machine. After each run and while the earth is still plastic, but not sticky enough to adhere to the drag, out or two trips up and down the road are made with the drag. Only a small amount of earth is moved, just enough to fill the ruts and depressions and smooth over the surface with a thin layer of plastic clay, which packs very hard, so that the next rain, instead of finding ruts and depressions in which to collect, runs off, leaving the surface but little affected.

The time and labor involved in keeping an earth road properly drained are small. Five dollars per mile per year seems to be about the average cost in the middle states. The essential requisite is that the work shall be done at the time it is needed. This is the point which seems hardest to impress on the average man. The little attention the earth road needs must be given promptly and at the proper time if the best results are to be obtained.

We have become so accustomed to the old habit of doing our road work at our convenience that we can hardly force ourselves to realize that anything else should be even suggested. One thing is absolutely certain, and that is that we will never have anything like improved earth roads until we adopt a system of continuous maintenance. The amount of work required at the time is usually small, but it is imperative that it be done promptly or not only will the amount be large, but the roads will be bad for long periods of time.

SPLIT LOG DRAG.

When the traffic is not too heavy our earth road, when properly constructed and rightly maintained, can in general be kept fairly good most of the year and passable at all times. When the traffic is very heavy the earth road must give way to a hard surface, such as gravel, macadam, brick, etc. But even then a good earth road is a great gain, as it provides the foundation for the hard road.

A Long Hop.
Scientists tell us that a grasshopper can jump about 200 times its own length.

ANGER OF FIRE IN THE HOMES

State Fire Warden Palmer Sends Out
Bulletin of Warning.

How Fires May Be Avoided, How They Originate—
And How to Prevent.

Mother, you care for your home, because it holds all that is most precious to you. Will you protect it to the best of your ability? Will you see all possible precaution against fire? We know you will, if you realize the fire dangers in your home, and so we want to call your attention to the little careless things that cause fires and annually destroy many homes and cost many precious lives.

Stoves. Use a perfect stove. If the stove is cracked, fire is liable to fall on the floor. Have metal protection under the stove and back of it, if within two feet of the wall. Do not place kindling in the oven over night. Do not hang clothing near the stove or stove-pipe. Never use kerosene to kindle the fire nor allow your help to do so.

Chimney. Defective chimneys cause many fires. Have them examined by an expert and repaired, if necessary. Have them cleaned once a year at least.

Matches. Never use the parlor or crack-head match; the safety match costs no more. Keep phosphorus matches in a metal receptacle with cover. Never allow your children to play with matches. The hazard to their lives and to your home is too great. Do not throw matches in the wood box or receptacle containing papers.

Kerosene. Keep kerosene in a metal can. Allow no filling of lamps or kerosene oil stove by artificial light.

Gasoline. This is especially dangerous. Keep it in an air-tight metal can, marked "GASOLINE." Never take gasoline from the can by lamp-light, nor fill the gasoline stove when there is any fire around. Never use gasoline for cleaning near a fire or lamp. If you must use it, go outdoors.

Oil and oily rags. When painting or varnishing is done in your home, be sure that no oily rags are left lying around. Destroy them. This also applies to rags used on freshly varnished floors. Keep paint, oils and varnishes in closed receptacles.

Gas. If you have gas in the house, make sure of an outside shut off. Never allow swinging gas brackets to be installed. Gas brackets near windows are bad, as the window curtains are liable to flap against the jet, catch fire, and in turn set the house on fire.

Electric appliances. These have brought new dangers to the home. The electric iron should rest on a metal standard. When not using the iron turn off the current. Let this become a fixed habit. Electric toasters, warmers, etc., should rest on metal base. Do not use electric bed warmers. These appliances are often attached to already overloaded wires with disastrous results. Never employ incompetent workmen in tampering with the wiring or attaching appliances. Never use paper shades or paper or cotton decorations on your electric lamps or wires. Do not hang drop cords over nails or pipes or suspend them by wires.

Rubbish. Do not store excelsior or other inflammable stuff in the cellar. The dampness may cause combustion. Rubbish should not be allowed to accumulate in cellar, garret or elsewhere. Have the leaves and rubbish around the house raked up. A careless passer-by may cause a fire by throwing a cigar stub or match.

Rubbish fires. Allow none of these near any building or a windy day; the danger is too great.

Shingle roof. The defective shingle roof is the best kind of a fire catcher. Have it repaired. Insist on fire-proof roofs on new buildings.

Smoking. Your husband and sons ought to know better not to smoke in bed. Cigarettes are especially dangerous from a standpoint of fire.

Fire should be man's servant, never his master. Hate fire, the "Red Plague," as you would the black plague. Fire prevention in your home is better than an obituary over the remains of your loved ones or the sympathy of your neighbors over your property loss. Protect your home.

D. W. Miller, 301 E. Court St., Flint, Mich., had a severe attack of kidney trouble and says: "There was a constant feeling of distress with painful kidney action." Foley Kidney Pills cured me completely, dispelling all kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness, discomfort and I slept soundly again. I heartily endorse Foley Kidney Pills. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

The Heroine of the Forest

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

BY
GENE STRATTON-PORTER

This Celebrated Novel, Talked of the Country
Over Because of Its Charming Romance and Stirring Action,

Will Be Printed in This Paper
Opening Chapters Began in May 1st Issue

LEGAL NOTICES

Order for Publication

State of Michigan. The Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.
At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1912.

Present, Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Mary K. Wilkinson, deceased.
Charles J. Higgins having filed in said court his petition praying the administration of said estate be granted to himself or to some other suitable person.
It is ordered, that the 24th day of May, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.
It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.
A true copy.
John M. Harris,
Judge of Probate.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the plans, plats, diagrams, specifications and estimates of cost of the proposed establishing and constructing of a sewer, including all the necessary ventilations, gutters, manholes, traps, pipes, catch basins, cess-pools, flush tanks including all necessary attachments on Nottelton street from the north line of Dixon avenue, north to the south line of Nottelton street, also in Detroit avenue from the east line of Nottelton street east to a point opposite the corner of lot five of block four of Fox and Eaton incorporated plat of the village, municipality of Charlevoix, have been deposited with the city clerk for public examination, and the district to be assessed for said improvement, to wit: all lots, part of lots, land and premises, situated and fronting on either side of Nottelton street from the north line of Dixon avenue, to the south line of Nottelton street, and all lots, part of lots, land and premises situated and fronting on the east line of Nottelton street from a point opposite the corner of lot five of block four of Fox and Eaton incorporated plat of the village, municipality of Charlevoix, except from the above all public streets and alleys.

It is hereby given, that the common council will meet in the council room on the thirtieth day of May, A. D. 1912, at seven thirty o'clock in the afternoon, to consider any objections to the proposed public improvement.

Dated this twenty-third day of April, A. D. 1912.
Ernest J. Miller, City Clerk.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage, bearing date the 31st day of March, A. D. 1911, made by Morris L. Woody and Jennie S. Woody, his wife, of Marquette township, Charlevoix county, Michigan, to William Peters, who is also known as W. M. Peters, at the same place, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 31st day of March, A. D. 1911, in Liber 2nd mortgages on page 302, and which mortgage was duly assigned by the said William Peters, to W. M. Peters, to Grant, Whitford & Sons Company of Charlevoix, Michigan, by deed of assignment bearing date the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1911, and recorded in the Register of Deeds for said county of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1911, in Liber 3rd of mortgages on page 302, and which mortgage was duly assigned by the said William Peters, to Grant, Whitford & Sons Company, a corporation, to said William Peters, by deed of assignment dated March 25, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the Register of Deeds for said county of Charlevoix, in Liber 3rd of mortgages on page 127, in which mortgage there is contained a clause providing that the sum of eight hundred dollars, principal and interest, under the terms of said mortgage, and no part or proceeds of law or in equity having been paid in or toward the same, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the 10th day of May in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve, at 10 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Charlevoix, Charlevoix county, Michigan, that being the building in which the Circuit Court for said county of Charlevoix is holden pursuant to the laws of said state, there shall be a public sale of the highest bidder, the property described in said mortgage, of so much thereof as shall be sufficient to pay said principal and interest on said mortgage, together with the costs of sale including an attorney's fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) as provided in said mortgage and the laws of the State of Michigan, said premises being described in said mortgage as situate in townships thirty-three (33), north of range eight (8) west of the third range west of the city of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: All that part of the east half (E. 1/2) of the southwest quarter (S. W. 1/4) of the southeast quarter (S. E. 1/4) of the northeast quarter (N. E. 1/4) of section thirteen (13), in township thirty-three (33), north of range eight (8) west of the third range west of the city of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, lying and being west of the right of way of the railroad intersecting said descriptions and now controlled and operated by the Pere Marquette railroad company.

Dated, February 1, A. D. 1912.
Louis Whitford,
Assignee of Mortgage.

Henry Hoffman,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgage.
Business Address, St. Ignace, Michigan.
713

TOO MUCH LAND.

There seems to be an almost irresistible inclination on the part of many persons to cultivate too much land. Land well cultivated will produce better crops with less work than a large acre poorly cultivated. The small farm with the use of brains will do better work than will the large one where only muscle is used.

Good Maxims.
Good maxims are germs of all good; firmly impressed on the memory, they nourish the will.—Joubert.

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and
Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery
call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone Inhouse.

A Girl of the Limberlost

BY
Gene Stratton Porter

(Continued from page three)

day when she had prayed to be hidden or to drop dead, and neither had happened. "I guess the best way to get an answer in prayer is to work for it," muttered Elnora grimly.

In an Onashasha book store she asked the prices of the list of books that she needed and learned that $9 would not quite supply them. She anxiously inquired for second hand books, but was told that the only way to secure them was from the last year's fresh men.

"Do you wish these?" asked the clerk hurriedly, for the store was rapidly filling with school children wanting anything from a dictionary to a pen.

"Yes," gasped Elnora, "oh, yes! But I cannot pay for them just now. Please let me take them, and I will pay for them on Friday or return them as perfect as they are. Please trust me for them a few days."

The clerk looked at her doubtfully and took her name.

"I'll ask the proprietor," he said. When he came back Elnora knew the answer before he spoke.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but Mr. Hann doesn't recognize your name. You are not a customer of ours, and he feels that he can't take the risk. You'll have to bring the money."

Elnora clumped out of the store, the thump of her heavy shoes beating as a hammer on her brain. She tried two other houses with the same result and then in sick despair came into the street. What could she do? She was too frightened to think.

There it stood in a bank window in big black letters staring straight at her:

Wanted - Caterpillars, cocoons, chrysalides, pupae cases, butterflies, moths, Indian relics of all kinds. Highest scale of prices paid in cash.

Elnora caught the wicket at the cashier's desk with both hands to brace herself against disappointment.

"Who is it wants to buy cocoons, butterflies and moths?" she panted.

"The Bird Woman," answered the cashier. "Have you some for sale?"

"I have some, but I do not know if they are what she would want."

"Well, you had better see her," said the cashier. "Do you know where she lives?"

"Yes," said Elnora. "Would you tell me the time?"

"Twenty-one after 8," was the answer.

She had nine minutes to reach the auditorium or be late. Should she go to school or to the Bird Woman? Several girls passed her walking swiftly and she remembered their faces. They were hurrying to school. Elnora caught the infection. She would see the Bird Woman at noon. Algebra came first and that professor was kind. Perhaps she could slip to the superintendent and ask him for a book for the next lesson.

As she went down the long hall she noticed the professor of mathematics standing in the door of his recitation room. When she came up to him he smiled and spoke to her.

"I have been watching for you," he said, and Elnora stopped, bewildered.

"For me?" she questioned.

"Yes," said Professor Henley. "Step inside."

Elnora followed him into the room, and he swung the door behind them.

"At teachers' meeting last evening one of the professors mentioned that a pupil had betrayed in class that she had expected her books to be furnished by the city. I thought possibly it was you. Was it?"

"Yes," breathed Elnora.

"That being the case," said Professor Henley, "it just occurred to me as you had expected that you might require a little time to secure them."

"Who is it wants to buy cocoons, butterflies and moths?" she panted.

and you are too fine a mathematician to fall behind for want of supplies. So I telephoned one of our sophomores to bring her last year's books this morning. I am sorry to say they are somewhat misplaced, but the text is all here. You can have them for $2 and pay when you get ready. Would you care to take them?"

Elnora sat suddenly, because she could not stand another instant. She reached both hands for the books and said never a word. The professor was silent also.

At last Elnora arose, hugging those books to her heart as a mother grasps a lost baby.

"One thing more," said the professor. "You can pay your tuition quarterly. You need not bother about the first installment this month. Any time in October will do."

So Elnora entered the auditorium a second time. Her face was like the brightest dawn that ever broke over the Limberlost. No matter about the lumbering shoes and skimpy dress just now—no matter about anything, she had the books. She could take them home. In her garret she could commit them to memory if need be. She could show that clothes were not all. If the Bird Woman did not want any of the many different kinds of specimens she had collected she was quite sure now she could sell ferns, nuts and a great many things. Then, too, some one moved over this morning, and several girls smiled and bowed. Elnora forgot everything save her books and that she was where she could use them intelligently—everything except one little thing away back in her head. Her mother had known about the books and the tuition and had not told her when she agreed to her coming.

(Continued next week.)

GET DOWN TO FERTILITY.

No Reason For Discard of Plant Food. Flow Your Land Deeply.

In a recent issue of Farm and Fireside a contributor writes a very interesting article on soil fertility in which he shows the different qualities that soil must have and how, when the soil becomes depleted, some sort of replenishment of the lost qualities must be provided. Following is an extract from the article:

"One of the ways we have of increasing our crop yield is to plow deeper. This is like running the hand a little deeper into the pocket. It is true, and it does not take the place of adding to our soil nitrogen, potash and phosphoric acid, but it does enable us to make available soil fertility that is really ours and to the benefit of which we are fairly entitled."

"But will this deeper soil really give us better crops? That homely creature the woodchuck may answer that question for us, wherever he has his home. See what he does by his system of deeper digging. The rankest grass on the whole farm is right around the woodchuck hole. What has he done? He has brought up some of the fertility that has all these years been locked up waiting for us to make it available. The rains have moistened this soil, the sunshine has warmed it, and splendid grass is the result."

"So this is a plea for deeper cultivation. I know it will take a little harder work on the part of our horses to bring this rich earth up. And if we had to hold the plow as we used to our arms would surely ache before night, but the beautiful ridges of today, which hold themselves, have lessened the work of turning over the soil. We may as well have the extra depth of soil to grow better crops as to let it lie there idle to the dark. On many farms there are layers of what have been called 'hard pans' a little way below the surface. These form tables which hold the moisture and prevent it from finding its way deeper into the earth. They also in some degree form a barrier to the progress of plant roots downward. Other lands do not present this barrier, but wherever the soil is thus packed down it needs breaking up. "Drainage will do very much to help about this, and a little raising of the clerks, so that the plowshare will dig deeper, will certainly enable our crops to get hold of and make available the locked up reserve fertility."

INSURANCE.

Save and apply a few more tons of barnyard manure to your soil and increase the yield. Manure is the best insurance against drought. It makes the soil retain more moisture and furnishes plant food which hastens maturity.

Care of Calves.

The calves should have clean pens and plenty of outdoor exercise. If they can have the run of the farm they will do well. See that they get plenty of water. Because a calf is drinking milk is no valid reason for thinking that he does not need fresh water.

Rice Bran and Molasses.

John C. Burris, professor of animal husbandry, Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas, College Station, Tex., says: Our experiment with rice bran and blackstrap molasses as feeds for hogs and beef cattle as a substitute for corn, leads us to think very favorably of them as a substitute for corn for horses and mules doing any degree of work; in fact, these feeds are used extensively in Louisiana for mule feeding. However I believe that the ration would be improved by also mixing in about two pounds cottonseed meal for 100 pounds live weight per day. The following daily ration should prove a good one for a thousand pound horse or mule doing hard work: One pound rice bran, three pounds blackstrap molasses, two pounds cottonseed meal, twelve to fourteen pounds sorghum, prairie, Bermuda and Johnson grass hay. I consider rice bran and molasses about the cheapest concentrated feeds on the market at the present time.

STREET TREES AS BEAUTIFIERS

Results Obtained in Holland Through Systematic Culture.

EXAMPLES FOR AMERICA.

Small Cost Per Capita For Care of Trees in Utrecht and The Hague. Valuable From Hygienic Point of View—Their Worst Enemy.

Now that there is beginning a general movement in the United States to bring about systematic cultivation of trees, not only by reforestation on a grand scale, but by the growth of shade trees in towns and cities for the ornamentation of streets, the experience of Holland in providing forest effects for its citizens should be of interest to Americans. There is perhaps no other well populated country in the world which has so many well wooded towns as has Holland. Most of the streets and grachten, or canals, have arches of trees. Utrecht has two rows of trees on either side of its quaint canals. Its canal banks are constructed as if in two stories. The lower story, almost flush with the water level, is lined with warehouses and vaults, while the upper story has dwellings and shops.

LINDEN TREES BORDERING A CANAL.

Not only do shady walks tempt people to enjoy the open air, but the living roots in the soil have a purifying effect, which was by no means to be despised in the past, when the drainage of Dutch towns left much to be desired. Further, the foliage produces ozone and purifies the air. It also tends to keep the air moist and to temper the wind, thus causing less dust to be blown about. In the autumn the fallen leaves give the same kind of service that is given by tea leaves scattered on a floor when the room is to be swept—they lay the dust. More important still, trees wage war upon noxious bacteria, for investigations by scientists show that these harmful growths are comparatively rare where trees are plentiful. Besides all this, the aesthetic value of beautiful trees certainly is not small. In Holland all these useful services are gratefully recognized and the trees are carefully tended by the municipalities. The cost of this care per capita in the different towns varies somewhat. Last year, for example, Utrecht devoted 21 cents of its budget to its trees for each inhabitant and The Hague 28 cents.

It has been found that not every kind of tree will thrive in the streets of a town, for trees have many enemies both above and below ground. Gas escaping from pipes underground is the worst enemy of trees, because quite small quantities of it are deadly. For this reason spring preparations are taken against the escape of gas in Dutch towns. Here a strictly sanitary underground system of pipes is installed, but even such a system is not understood. The city of Amsterdam has very narrow streets, and the houses are, high. Neither the city nor the pavement has a drainage system, and the result is a very bad situation.

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 1711

AS YOU WANT IT

The Courier's Job Department delight in putting out your work as you want it. If you are in doubt we will be pleased to give you advice. Our printers understand the art and our office is equipped with the best and latest new machinery and new type faces this season.

FACTS!!! FACTS!!!

The Courier

Has the largest Circulation

Prints more Local News

Has more Special Features

Than any other paper in this territory. We cover the field thoroughly. Mr. Advertiser--- Don't this mean something to you?

INVESTIGATE THESE FACTS

If you are not already a Subscriber to the Courier send for a three month's trial subscription or a Sample Copy. Once a Subscriber Always One. That's the Record for we Deliver the Goods.

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings
Results

A Newspaper that Prints
The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

"Who is it wants to buy cocoons, butterflies and moths?" she panted. and you are too fine a mathematician to fall behind for want of supplies. So I telephoned one of our sophomores to bring her last year's books this morning. I am sorry to say they are somewhat misplaced, but the text is all here. You can have them for $2 and pay when you get ready. Would

ROYAL

Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes delicious home-baked foods of maximum quality at minimum cost. Makes home baking a pleasure

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum—No Lime Phosphates

NATIONAL AID FOR GOOD ROADS

House of Representatives Passes Bill to Grant Subsidies on Rural Routes.

Rural Parcel Post Agreed on as a Compromise—Other New Postal Features.

Authorizing the appointment of a joint committee of the two houses which shall report a general parcels post bill at the beginning of the next session of Congress, the House after long debate agreed upon an experimental parcels post for strictly rural routes and a general parcels post, which extends to domestic shipments of fourth class mail matter at the International Postal Union rate of twelve cents a pound for packages weighing not more than eleven pounds.

The rural route parcels post will handle packages of the same weight limit at a rate of five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound. The action of the House is a compromise between the different advocates of various schemes of parcels post legislation. These divergent plans range all the way from the condemnation of the express companies and the establishment of an "express post" to the "zone system" and unlimited parcels post bills. The bill also provides that all editorial or reading matter for which money has been received must be labelled "advertisement."

A compromise on the parcels post and express provisions occupied most of the time of debate and was agreed to after numerous amendments were voted down.

A proposal by Representative Roddenberry of Georgia to prevent the circulation of newspapers containing liquor advertisements in dry territory was defeated.

A provision in the bill was passed which would grant a subsidy to all highways used in the rural free delivery mail service. These roads would be divided into three classes with subsidies of $25, $20 and $15 a mile. It is estimated the cost of the first year would be $10,000,000 to $18,000,000.

The amendment, offered by Representative Shackelford of Missouri, was a compromise of 20 good roads bills introduced during the present session of Congress. It divides all highways used in the rural free delivery mail service into three classes. Class A, is to receive $25 per mile a year, class B $20, and class C $15. The amendment was adopted by 132 to 39.

The division was between city and country. Democrats and Republicans from rural communities combined to defeat the arguments of a similar coalition of representatives from the cities.

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, blue lining see the Builders Supply Co., phone 80 2 r. 171f

The best seed corn at Orłowski & Son's. 191f

Eighth Grade Examination.

The regular eighth grade examination will be conducted May 10 and 17. Applicants may attend at Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyce City or St. James. The examination will be conducted in the high school buildings.

The questions in reading will be taken from "The Courtship of Miles Standish."—Longfellow.

Paper will be furnished applicants. An additional set of twenty questions will be furnished by the state fair association. Any farmer boy between fourteen and eighteen who wishes to do so, may answer these questions.

From the list answering this additional set of questions, one boy will be selected and he will be given a free trip to the state fair this fall. This will be a prize worth winning.

192 J. H. Milford, Commissioner.

Atlas and Harcon cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 80 2 r. 171f

Good Printing means Business.

These articles and illustrations must not be reprinted without special permission.

"GLOONACH" AND SOREHEAD AMONG GOSLINGS.

Goslings need few pills because they have few ills. Rubbernecks are almost exempt from disease except when goslings, and we have seen but two ailments among them, neither necessarily fatal.

The first is a lameness, a swelling of the leg that especially affects the knee joint.

Where goslings are not kept in loose, in dirty, damp sleeping quarters, the cause of this trouble may be traced to inbreeding, breeding from immature birds or poverty of blood, the latter from insufficient food or food lacking nutritive quality.

Yes, geese may live 100 years, but not that stock closely inbred, for with out a change of blood occasionally their young grow small and weak and go off their legs. We have seen six in ten from immature breeders flattened out by this leg disease, which the Irish, the great goose experts, call "gloonach."

Where geese graze on rich grass land and there is normal rainfall this peculiar swelling seldom appears, but where pasture is of poor quality, the grass dry and wiry, where there is a drought and goslings must eat parched, nutritious herbage, they of ten go lame.

They begin to limp, sit down often, lag behind, at last go down for good and are found helpless with wings spread. The legs swell, enlarge from knee to toe, joints are not, and more meat causes intense pain. If taken in time and placed in a dry pen with moderately littered floor and fed a liberal nutritious mash, with plenty of drinking water, charcoal and grit handy and the swollen parts rubbed with which hazel, after a few days the lameness disappears.

Photo by C. M. Barnitz

DOWN WITH "GLOONACH."

The other trouble that affects goslings is sorehead, which generally affects head, neck, face and eyes. While sometimes caused by food adhering to these parts and soiling, by stinging nettles and thistles, this condition is mainly caused by very small grass ticks, which adhere to the gosling's head parts, causing pain, swelling, loss of blood and even blindness. Affected birds should be confined, fed well and the affected parts washed with carbolic soap. Carbollized vaseline applied to the sores after cleansing has the same good effect.

THE ROSE AT MOTHER'S DOOR.

There are roses that bloom of a beauty so rare That queens might be proud such sweet flowers to wear. But the rose that's most lovely, the rose I adore, Is the old fashioned rose at my old mother's door.

White lilacs, blue violets, what incense you raise, As if with sweet breath your Creator to praise. But for fragrance the sweetest, for rose that breathes more, Smell the old fashioned rose at my old mother's door.

There are pictures so lovely they seem like a dream, As if angel fingers had worked out their scheme. But there is a picture appeals to me more—When mother waits, smiling, in her rose entwined door.

"I would not live away," and when I shall die I pray that my old godly mother be nigh. And when her prayer's ended, the earth covered o'er, Plant there a sweet rose from my old mother's door.

C. M. BARNITZ

HATCHABILITY VS. FERTILITY.

Yes, you were surprised when that incubator full of fertile eggs didn't hatch. You saw those germs, you did, and you caused that incubator too. But fertility isn't hatchability. Think it over. To be fertile an egg must only be impregnated, but to be hatchable that germ must come from strong stock, and to produce a chick from the germ that egg must contain the elements that compose a chick. A perfect egg contains 11 per cent

I save you money on single harness. I have them in all styles and prices.

A good plain harness at $8.50
Exceptionally good value at $12.00
Others at $14.00, $16.00, $18.00

Remember my harness is fully guaranteed and seeing my line will satisfy you that I can save you money.

Also a large assortment of Heavy Harness.

Benj. Brown

S. ORŁOWSKI & SON

Headquarters for all kinds

Reliable Seeds

Seed Corn

Red Cob Ensilage Corn

Buckwheat

Millet

Everything in Seeds

SHOES

Just keep it in mind—we handle shoes—shoes that are built for wear, stand the wear, and cost less than you pay at other stores.

SMITH-WALLA E SHOES

are guaranteed to stand the wear and tear of all kinds of weather and conditions. The price we ask for them leaves some change in the pocketbook. Call and see them.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor
320 Bridge Street Next to Bakers' Inn

All Tickets Are Out

We have ordered the dishes for which we have been giving tickets and will redeem all tickets outstanding. No more tickets will be given out, but we will sell you Groceries and Meats at attention compelling prices. Bear in mind that our stock is always fresh.

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE
Telephone 125 Antrim Street.

Notice From Dog Warden.

Sometime ago the old taxpayer had a spell and got him and wagon in his head. In reply I would say it is the sixth of May and whether you have one dog or two or three, go to the city clerk's office and pay your dog license and you won't be bothered with the gun or wagon. Neither will you have to say the dog warden is lower than the dog when he is trying to do his duty as an officer should.

Yours respectfully,

George W. Cook,
Dog Warden and Police.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders' Supply Co. 171f

Let me do your

DRAYING

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time

Phone 373

When you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.

Moving Household Goods

A SPECIALTY

CHARLES TAYLOR

SEEDS

Stowell's Evergreen sweet corn	20c quart
Early Minnesota sweet corn	20c quart
Nott's Excelsior peas, early	30c quart
Telephone peas, late	30c quart
Golden wax, German wax black beans	25c quart
Oxheart and Danvers carrots	$1.50 pound
Long Red Mangel	40c pound
Ruta Baga	50c pound
Hubbard Squash	75c pound
Sweet Peas	50c pound
Timothy and clover seed

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 20

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

PREVENTION OF FOREST FIRES

State Game, Fish and Forestry Wardens Are Hard at Work this Year.

LUMBERMEN ARE AIDING

Co-operation of all Residents in Threatened Territory Asked For

Law in Regard to Careless or Willful Setting of Forest Fires—Forest Scouts Being Organized By Boys to Help.

The state game, fish and forestry warden is making a particular effort this year to prevent forest fires. Deputy Stanford of Boyne City having charge of the work in this section. The large territory which each man must cover makes it rather an uphill job and only the hearty co-operation of the people in the territory in danger can make the movement a success. Mr. Stanford informs us that the supervisor in each township is a fire warden, and one deputy is also appointed in each township to act in conjunction with the supervisor and during his absence.

In addition the Michigan Hardwood Lumberman's association has appropriated $10,000 to assist in the work and has wardens at work in the danger belts.

The forest scout movement, which is an organization of boys to assist in the protection of forests from fires, is gaining headway rapidly and will do great work in connection with the state and lumbermen's organization. Parents should caution their children in regard to setting fires when in the woods, and the matter should also be brought before the pupils of the schools by superintendents and teachers. Only by educating the public up to the great loss to the state by fires each year, can we expect to reap the maximum amount of benefit from the efforts being made to prevent this great yearly drain on our natural resources, which for the past eleven months has exceeded the enormous sum of $4,000,000.00.

Frequent publications of the state law provisions regarding fires in the woods are made and still people are found who are professedly unacquainted with the provisions of this important act. We reprint an important section of the act and all should read it carefully.

Sec. 9. Any person who wilfully, negligently or carelessly sets on fire any woods, grass lands, or other combustible material, whether or not on his own lands, by means thereof the property of another is injured or endangered, or any person who wilfully, negligently or carelessly suffers any fire set by himself to damage the property of another, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months. Any person who maliciously sets on fire, or causes to be set on fire any woods, grass lands or other combustible material, whereby the property of another is destroyed or life is endangered, shall be punished with a fine not over five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the State Prison for a term of not over ten years, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 10. Any person who shall kindle a fire on or dangerously near to forest or grass lands, and leave it unquenched, or shall be a party thereto, and any person who shall use other than incombustible wads for firearms, or who shall carry a naked torch, fire brand or other exposed light, or dangerously near to forest land, causing risk of accidental fire shall be punished with a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisonment in county jail not exceeding three months.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated.

1912

RONEO A. ENNEY.

Let the Courier come with Spring

GOOD ROADS MEETING

Held at Boyne City Yesterday—Will Ask for a Special Election.

An enthusiastic good roads meeting was held at Boyne City yesterday. Those in attendance from this city were R. W. Kane, Lisle Shanahan, R. W. Paddock, R. C. Hammett, A. B. Clark, D. S. Payton and W. J. Gallagher.

It was decided to ask the board of supervisors to submit the bonding proposition at a special election to be held at the time of the August primaries.

Worthy Master Means of the Pomona grange, who was present, stated that Pomona was under a misapprehension when it passed the opposition resolution, and he thought they would look upon bonding with favor.

WILL GET INTO FIGHT

Herbert F. Baker Will Go After Seat in United States Senate.

Speaker H. F. Baker when in Lansing recently was asked whether he was ready to enter the race for the United States Senate from Michigan. Mr. Baker replied:

"I am looking about now and the big show will probably open immediately after the national convention in Chicago."

OLD SETTLERS' ASSOCIATION

Officers Preparing for The Annual Meeting at Traverse City.

Which Will be Held Wednesday June 26 at the Central School Grounds.

Officers of the Old Settlers' association for the counties of Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Emmet, Leelanau and Kalkaska counties, met at Traverse City recently for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements for the annual meeting of the association which will be held Wednesday, June 26th, at the Central school grounds, Traverse City.

Committees have been appointed and everything points to the most successful meeting in the history of the organization. A new feature, one which will increase in interest and value as the years pass is the exhibit of historical relics, photographs and mementos which are to be furnished by old settlers or anyone who may have some article that with each year of its age grows more valuable to not only the individual, but is an educational in itself to the coming generation. Those who have photographs of buildings which perhaps now have been replaced by brick structures, photographs of ancestors, or in fact, anything that is any way historical or connected with the Grand Traverse region, will be gladly received by the historical committee and given the best of care. Perhaps you have some memento of bygone days that would prove of great interest to hundreds of people. The older it is the better, and it surely will be a pleasure to the old settlers to "swap" stories concerning these bits of interesting history at their meetings. The plan is to place these relics in a permanent cabinet form, so at times of old settlers meetings they can be moved to wherever the meeting is held and the remainder of the time given a place of honor in the Traverse City library. Contributions to the historical department should be sent to Geo. G. Bates at the Herald and Record Co. office, Traverse City.

The officers of the association are: President, A. V. Friedrich, Traverse City; secretary, E. O. Laid, Old Mission; treasurer, O. J. Powers, Elk Rapids; historian, Mrs. Wm. Love, Traverse City. County vice presidents—Antrim, E. S. Noble, Elk Rapids; Benzie, T. B. Pettitt, Benzonia; Charlevoix, Capt. O. E. Wilbur, Charlevoix; Emmet, M. F. Quinn, Potoskey; Leelanau, D. H. Day, Glen Haven; Kalkaska, A. K. Palmer, Kalkaska; Grand Traverse, E. Wilhelm, Traverse City.

For Sale.

Two seated, rubber tired runabouts. Inquire Argo Milling Co. 1711

WILL BE UNSURPASSED BY NONE IN MICHIGAN

Capacity of Beach Hotel Will be Increased by One-third—Another Story Has Been Added—Grill Will be Opened and Special Lobster and Fish Suppers Given During Summer—Other New Features.

For several weeks workmen have been busy on the Beach Hotel. Another story has been added, increasing the capacity of the hotel one third, which with the improvements made on the different cottages, under the same management, will give fifty additional rooms, new and elegant furniture has been put in and in addition to having the finest location of any resort hotel in Northern Michigan the service and facilities for the entertainment of guests will be unequaled by none.

Mrs. Baker informs us that it is the intention this year to open a grill, the west end of the dining room, with its magnificent view of Lake Michigan, being used for that purpose. During the summer a speciality will be made of fish and lobster suppers which will be served two or three times a week in the grill. Short orders at all times will also be served, and special service will be given to catering to afternoon parties, on the veranda overlooking the lake. Service will also be given at homes if required.

The grounds of the hotel and cottages next to the lake are being laid out, shade trees and flowers being set out, and it will be difficult to find a more beautiful place to take a few moments rest than here where you can look out over Lake Michigan as far as the eye can see.

Most of the trained employees of last year will again be with the Beach hotel and the grill will be in charge of one of the most expert men in this line of work in the country.

As is well known Mr. and Mrs. Baker never do things by halves and the Beach hotel, which already has gained a reputation for being among the best in the resort region will this year have attractions which cannot be found elsewhere.

AT AN EARLY AGE

Miss Bessie Hamlin Died at Her Home in This City Friday.

Miss Bessie Hamlin, was born on a farm about two miles from this city, on June 2, 1887. Her home had been at this place all her life, and when but a young girl, she became a member of the Episcopal church. She has been sick about fifteen months and died Friday, May 10, at 2:00 p. m., of consumption.

She had been under constant medical treatment, besides the loving care of her father and friends.

The services were held from the house Sunday afternoon, and were conducted by Rev. Atchison.

The floral offerings were profuse and the attendance large, which showed that she had many friends, who offer their sympathy to the sorrowing father and brothers.

Her brother, George, wife and child, of Traverse City, were the only out of town attendants.

SECOND WEEK IN NOVEMBER

fixed as The Date of This Fall's Apple Show.

Will be Held at Grand Rapids—More Farm Products Will be Shown Than Last Year.

At a meeting held at Grand Rapids last week, participated in by the representatives of the Association of Commerce and Western Michigan Development bureau it was decided to hold the next apple show in Grand Rapids in the Coliseum in conjunction with the association. This action was taken because the business men of Grand Rapids were on the alert and made the best offer of any of the cities that were in the field for the big event. The date will be the second week in November and it is the intention of the promoters to make it more complete than last year by adding farm products that have not hitherto been shown at exhibits of this class.

The officers elected to take charge of the show are:

President—Carroll E. Sweet, Grand Rapids.

Vice President—D. H. Day, Glen Haven.

Manager—John L. Gibson, West-ern Michigan.

To Republican Electors of Charlevoix Co.

I desire to announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Treasurer at the August Primary.

2012

ROY L. LORRAINE.

Everything in seeds at Drlowski & Son's.

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 1711

OPENS THIS WEEK

A. Bergeon Announces Opening of New Dry Goods Store—Experienced Man.

After several weeks of preparation, the new dry goods store of A. Bergeon will be opened the last three days of this week in the building formerly occupied by the State Savings Bank. The building has been thoroughly overhauled inside and Mr. Bergeon will have one of the lightest and neatest stores to be found in the city.

Mr. Bergeon is well known in this city, having long been in the employ of J. L. Crane, and understands the business from A to Z. He will be assisted by Miss Mildred Fanning and Miss Merle Feltz.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER

Roy L. Lorraine of East Jordan, Candidate for Republican Nomination.

Roy L. Lorraine of East Jordan, announces his candidacy in this is sue for the Republican nomination for county treasurer, subject to the August primary.

Mr. Lorraine is an old resident of the county, having been until recently the editor of the East Jordan Enterprise. He has held the position of treasurer locally and is well qualified for the position if nominated and elected.

NEW PENSION BILL PASSED

Benefits Determined by Present Age and Length of Service.

Pensions Range from Thirteen to Thirty Dollars—Cost $26,000,000.00.

The service pension bill has been passed by the Congress in the form agreed upon in conference. The conference agreed upon a measure requiring about half of the expenditure of the Sherwood bill and about one million more than the Smoot senate bill. The estimates are that the measure as passed will cost about $26,000,000 annually.

The pension benefits accruing to old soldiers under this bill are shown by the following rates per month, the benefits being determined by their present age and length of service:

Sixty-two years, 90 days, $13; six months, $13.50; one year, $14.00; eighteen months, $14.50; two years, $15; thirty months, $15.50; three years or more, $16.

Sixty-six years, 90 days, $15; six months, $15.50; one year, $16.00; eighteen months, $16.50; two years, $17; thirty months, $18; three years or more, $19.

Seventy years, 90 days, $18; six months, $18.50; one year, $19; eighteen months, $19.50; two years, $20; thirty months, $21; three years or more, $22.

Seventy-five years, 90 days, $21; six months, $21.50; one year, $22; eighteen months, $22.50; two years, $23; thirty months, $24; three years or more, $25.

The above rates are for Civil war veterans. The maximum is $34 per month, and this amount also is fixed for all veterans of the Mexican war who served sixty days or more.

Pension benefits date from the time of filing application. Any veterans already pensioned under other acts may profit by this if thereby they may secure a higher rate. But they may not be pensioned under this act and any other at the same time.

COMMON COUNCIL

Mayor Nordrum Again Appoints R. W. Kane City Attorney—Council Refuses to Confirm.

Little was doing at the meeting of the common council Monday night although the session lasted until nearly midnight. The annual large of instructing the street commissioner to post notices forbidding the riding of bicycles and roller skating on the sidewalks was enacted. The mayor again sent in the name of R. W. Kane for the office of city attorney but the appointment was not confirmed.

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, fine lining see the Builders' Supply Co., phone 362-r. 1711

CALENDAR IS A LONG ONE

For the Next Term of Circuit Court Which Convenes Monday.

FORTY CASES ARE NOTED

Fourteen Criminal, Thirteen Each of Chancery and Issues of Fact.

Four Violators of Liquor Law—Only Seven Couple Seek Release from Galling Marriage Bonds this term.

Circuit court will convene in regular May session on next Monday. The calendar is a long one there being fourteen criminal, thirteen issues of facts and thirteen chancery cases noted. Seven divorce cases appear on the calendar, which follows:

CRIMINAL.

People vs. Herman L. Swift, gross indecent liberties with a male person, three cases.

People vs. Frank Hengy, statutory rape.

People vs. William Caldwell, violation of liquor law.

People vs. Antoine Auce, violation of liquor law.

People vs. Arden Watson, violation of liquor law.

People vs. Arthur Wooley, wife desertion.

People vs. Oliver Allard, violation of liquor law.

People vs. Homer Williams, statutory rape.

People vs. Laura Joels, keeping disorderly house.

People vs. Leonard Benson, wife desertion.

People vs. Edward Clark, assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder.

People vs. Ben Whaling, wife desertion.

ISSUES OF FACT.

Thomas Crooks vs. East Jordan Co-operative Co., trespass on the case.

George E. Nicholls vs. City of Boyne City, trespass on the case.

Peter Seoon vs. W. H. White Co., trespass.

Charles R. and E. C. Alexander vs. Peter Weishuhn, principal defendant James Payne, Garnisher defendant, assumpsit.

Nicholas Butters and Bridge vs. William Richardson, principal defendant, West Michigan Sugar Co., Garnisher defendant, certiorari.

American Wire Fence Co. vs. Wilhelm & Monroe, assumpsit.

Sykes Steel Roofing Co. vs. Wilhelm & Monroe, assumpsit.

Carrie Tucker vs. Reuben P. Foley, appeal assumpsit.

Robert W. Kane vs. Peter H. Boyle, appeal assumpsit.

Elmer R. Rice vs. Joseph Brothers, appeal assumpsit.

Parma Manufacturing Co. vs. Bolter Basket Co., assumpsit.

Frederick Pohl vs. Marcus E. Miles, trespass.

Arden Howe et al vs. N. S. Plank, CHANCERY.

J. I. Case Fitting Machine Co. vs. Timothy Heston, foreclosure.

John Curtis vs. The Charlevoix Golf Association, injunction bill.

James E. Darner vs. Bernard Gallagher, bill to quiet title.

William Stahl vs. Philip B. Wachtel et al, bill to quiet title.

Sam Straw vs. Walter Black, bill to quiet title.

Frank Meyer vs. Bert A. Isbell, et al, foreclosure.

Sadie Wiggins vs. Thomas Wiggins, divorce.

Robert G. Madill vs. Elaine J. Madill, divorce.

Satie N. Mosher vs. Walter Mosher, divorce.

Iris D. Wolley vs. Arthur Wolley, divorce.

Ruth O'Brien vs. Eljah O'Brien, divorce.

Katherine L. Pitcher vs. Henry F. Pitcher, divorce.

Katella Francisco vs. James Francisco, divorce.

Notice K. of P.'s.

The K. of P. Banquet, which was postponed last week, is indefinitely postponed. Order of Com. 201.

For Sale.

Choice thoroughbred White Leghorn eggs. $1.00 for fifteen. A. J. Shockley, Charlevoix, Mich. 1013 pd

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Adams are both on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls were callers of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hansen Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black, Jr., Sunday.

Mrs. W. E. Dodd, and children, visited her mother, Mrs. Arthur Beattie, Saturday and Sunday.

Lloyd Gregory is at Petoskey, taking treatment for inflammatory rheumatism. Last report he was gaining some.

Mrs. Walter Black and Mrs. Geo. Meggison were out getting new members for the Gleamers last week. We heard that they got four new members.

Mrs. Alexander, and son Elvie, Miss Rogers, Mrs. Clara Dodd, A. Iris Dodd, and son Wesley, attended the W. C. T. U. meeting at Mrs. Geer's of Charlevoix, Friday.

Mrs. Elmer Ingalls opened her 200-egg incubator last Thursday in the presence of a number of friends and took out 147 good lively chicks. Let us hear from others in this line.

Miss Lila Taylor, teacher of the Johnson school, will give a box social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Friday night, May 17. Rev. Taylor of Charlevoix will be present. Ladies all invited to bring a box, girls their purse.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has now discovered that local disease and local treatment requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from four to five times a day. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: J. C. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc.

CLARION.

J. W. Coldra was in Boyne City Saturday.

Mr. Davoll of Boyne Falls was in town Friday.

Dr. Cunkle of Boyne Falls was a Clarion visitor last week.

Mrs. Hankins and son Clifford went to Ann Arbor on Sunday.

N. W. Card of Pellston visited relatives on Card street last week.

J. E. Darragh returned Saturday from Lansing and Grand Rapids.

Poor Commissioner McCabe of Emmet county was in town one day last week.

Sheriff Robbins and Prosecuting Attorney Finch were in town one day last week.

A son was born one day last week to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Darsey of Wallon Lake.

John Older, who is foreman of an extra gang for the G. R. & L., left with his men Sunday for Mackinaw City.

Mrs. Charles Johnson returned last week from Marquette where she has been visiting her daughter Mrs. Will Jackson.

BAY SHORE.

There is to be a barn raising at Tom Fletcher's Tuesday.

Wm. Dunn who is sick with pneumonia is reported to be gaining.

Misses Elsie Harner and Gladys Brotherton and Norman Bowman of Petoskey visited Carpenter school Thursday.

The Blues won by 10 points in the Red and Blue contest of the Bay Shore Sunday school and there will be a banquet at the near future.

Amos Deitz, who has been sick with pneumonia at Petoskey hospital for the past three weeks, expects to be able to leave the Petoskey hospital the first of the week.

NORWOOD.

Our school will close in three weeks.

Mr. Madison of East Jordan was in town Monday on business.

The L. A. S. gave a supper Wednesday, proceeds seven dollars.

Morris Valcaine will take the eighth grade examination at Charlevoix.

Mr. Lucia has begun work on the Patterson cottage. They are expected June 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Valcaine, Mrs. Wm. Lucia and little daughter Marguerite spent a day in Charlevoix.

Children very often have trouble with their kidneys and bladder either as a result of weakness or of some children's disease. Mrs. John Thomas, Escanaba, Mich., says:

"My little boy had a severe pain across his back and was so nervous he could not sleep at night but Foley Kidney Pills cured him in a short time." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Children very often have trouble with their kidneys and bladder either as a result of weakness or of some children's disease. Mrs. John Thomas, Escanaba, Mich., says:

"My little boy had a severe pain across his back and was so nervous he could not sleep at night but Foley Kidney Pills cured him in a short time." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Children very often have trouble with their kidneys and bladder either as a result of weakness or of some children's disease. Mrs. John Thomas, Escanaba, Mich., says:

"My little boy had a severe pain across his back and was so nervous he could not sleep at night but Foley Kidney Pills cured him in a short time." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Children very often have trouble with their kidneys and bladder either as a result of weakness or of some children's disease. Mrs. John Thomas, Escanaba, Mich., says:

"My little boy had a severe pain across his back and was so nervous he could not sleep at night but Foley Kidney Pills cured him in a short time." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Children very often have trouble with their kidneys and bladder either as a result of weakness or of some children's disease. Mrs. John Thomas, Escanaba, Mich., says:

"My little boy had a severe pain across his back and was so nervous he could not sleep at night but Foley Kidney Pills cured him in a short time." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

Hundreds of Charlevoix Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Charlevoix people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Charlevoix reader, of the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Surely the experiences of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far away places. Read the following:

Mrs. M. Olney, 300 W. Hurlland Ave., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, and consider them a very valuable kidney remedy. I have taken them on several occasions for kidney complaint and severe backaches and have been greatly benefited. Other members of the family have used Doan's Kidney Pills for lame back and pains in the kidneys and they have received good results. Doan's Kidney Pills were obtained from the Ivy Drug Store, and we highly recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McLennan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BEAVER ISLAND.

Ben Langenhoff of Pellston spent last week on the island.

Patato buyers from St. Ignace and East Jordan were here last week.

Mrs. Mary Smith of Manistique is visiting her parents for a few days.

Miss Flora Garret of Manistique is visiting her aunt Mrs. J. C. Gallagher.

The funeral of Mrs. "Val" McDonough occurred last week. Mrs. McDonough leaves a husband and six small children, the youngest only two weeks old.

W. J. Gallagher, Capt. M. J. Bonner, Jas. H. Gallagher, W. J. Gallagher, Jr., W. A. Schind, Mike McCann, Jas. Donley and John Green, attended the K. C. convention at Petoskey this week.

Mrs. Ida Decker, 71 Carlyle Street, Battle Creek, Mich., had all the painful symptoms of severe kidney trouble. Her kidneys were congested, eyesight blurred, sleep poorly was nervous, tired out, and all run down. After taking Foley Kidney Pills she says: "The sick headache came no more, I slept soundly, was free from dizziness, and my kidneys and bladder stopped bothering me. Foley Kidney Pills cured me, and freed me of much misery." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

HAYES.

Maple Grove school was out last Friday.

Harker Kirby and wife are living on their new farm in Hayes.

Miss Lela Howe visited at her cousin's, Miss Arrah Howes Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirby and son Glen visited at his son's, Harker Kirby, Sunday.

Highway Commissioner A. O'Brien has commenced working on the road.

D. W. Hiller, 801 E. Court St., Flint, Mich., had a severe attack of kidney trouble and says: "There was a constant feeling of distress with painful kidney action. Foley Kidney Pills cured me completely, this feeling of kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness disappeared and I slept soundly again. I heartily endorse Foley Kidney Pills. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf."

SCHOOL REPORTS

COUNTY NORMAL.

County School Commissioner J. H. Milford, visited the normal room a short time last Thursday morning.

Marguerite Minger returned to her work last Tuesday. She has been substituting in a school near Springvale for the past four weeks.

The normal class and training room children have been doing some further work in the garden, the past week. Some of the things planted were: Wheat, buckwheat, oats, radishes and carrots.

The following have begun their further work in practice teaching: Louisa Murs and Myrtle Pearl in the fourth grade geography; Winnie Cunningham in third grade language, and Lila Gray in the chart class.

The class attended the meeting in the Parents' Association last Wednesday evening. The topic under discussion was, "Examinations in the Public Schools." Very good arguments were presented, both in favor of, and against examinations.

CHARLEVOIX NOTES.

Miss Lombard was absent Thursday on account of illness.

Miss O'Neill and Miss Cara Meech were H. S. visitors Thursday.

Robert Bridge has been elected captain and Will Mitchell manager of the baseball team.

Watch for announcements of the concert to be given by the 7th and 8th grades in the near future.

Supt. Butler of Boyne City and County Commissioner Milford called at the high school Thursday.

Wall Mitchell taught the Advanced Arithmetic class Thursday morning, during Mr. De Voe's absence.

The baseball team met a second defeat Saturday at East Jordan, but not a crushing defeat, for Charlevoix held them to a score of 5 and 4. Besides, our spirit are unimpaired. A few of the teachers and students accompanied the boys. They want a still larger number to help them out Friday at Boyne City. Come out and show your school spirit.

Jas. Therio, of Iron River, Mich., finds Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a family medicine that helped all the family, so he always keeps it on hand. "Both my children and I were troubled with bad coughs and we used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It certainly cured us and I recommend it as a good cough and cold cure." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

HOW TO AMUSE CHILDREN.

Many Tasks Mothers Can Give Little Ones to Do.

There is a great deal in the way of keeping peace in the family generally, and in the nursery particularly, in letting children help.

A child is naturally busy. Watch the little one just beginning to discover that he has fingers and toes that wiggle and see how busy he keeps them.

Watch the creeping little one that makes his unnoted way to a chessboard and neat workbasket and see how spoons, pinushions and all the useful articles fly as he throws them as far as his chubby arms can—not, as many think, from a purely mischievous spirit, but simply because he wants to be busy.

Supply a child with something, anything it can do, and it will be happy. Set it down with an injunction to "sit still and behave," and watch the wriggling little figure and hopeless countenance. There can be nothing more barbarous than to insist upon absolute quiet from a baby.

And there are so many small things a mother can give her little ones to do. They can lift a chair and place it on the other side of the room; they can carry a small rug out on the porch, make believe to shake it and, if provided with a tiny broom, make still more earnest belief to sweep it. How happy and self satisfied is the small girl that is "helping mother!"

Unless one has thought out the matter it is more than amazing how very quick a little child is to learn. Here, truly, we may almost believe in the saying from Indian ancestry—that is, if we have ever watched a monkey imitate the actions of people. I once was the proud mistress of a darling little Jocko, who, when detected in one of his thousands of mischievous tricks, would place one tiny paw upon his head and another on his little trunk and mean in approved style. If asked sympathetically, "Poor Jocko! Sick?" he would look as if at the edge of the grave. If forgiven and told so in words and by tone of voice the little misal would scamper in high glee all about, showing plainly that there was nothing on earth the matter.

Now, really a baby is very much like a monkey. Keep it busy and keep it out of mischief. Let it find things to do itself, and it will be sure to find something that will create no harm. Give a ball or cord. True, there will be snarls, and the cord may be lost for all good forever and a day; but, oh, the pleasure and delight it has given that baby!—Keep the little ones busy if they are to be happy, and do not, I beg, try to make them "sit still." It is impossible.

Alex. Bestin, 90 Lake St., Muskegon, Mich., desires other people to benefit by the curative qualities of Foley Kidney Pills and says: "I wish to state that I have used Foley Kidney Pills and received more benefit from them than anything that I have ever used before. I had a bad case of kidney trouble and I wish to thank you for the help Foley Kidney Pills have given me." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Fully Qualified.

The story is told of a man who by some unaccountable blunder by the appointing authority was made judge of a minor court. He could neither read nor write, but that did not give him any uneasiness, although it aroused some fears in the breast of his wife.

"What are you going to do when there's any reading or writing comes into cases?" she timidly inquired.

"The folks that bring the reading will read it, and the folks that want the writin' will write it," calmly replied his honor, "for if they can't I shall commit 'em. All I've got to attend to, Horry, is the judgment, and I can do that as quick as anybody."

THE CHARLEVOIX STATE SAVINGS BANK

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A GOOD BANK IN A GOOD TOWN

—Directors—

R. P. FOLEY, G. C. GEIKEN, W. J. RACHOW, JOHN BURNS, J. L. CRANE, P. D. CAMPBELL, H. S. HARSHA

—Officers—

R. P. FOLEY, President, G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President, H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President, W. J. RACHOW, Cashier, C. O. McMAHAN, Ass't Cashier

All Business given this Bank receives our personal attention. You are welcome to use our new offices at all times.

Bargain Sale One Week

For CASH ONLY From

May 15 to May 22

10c package Azie	3c
13c and 15c Prunes	10c
13c can Huron Peas	10c
20c can Peasant Salmon	15c
7 bars Lenox Soap	25c
12 bars Calumet Soap	25c
10c pkg Sun Cured Tobacco	5c
Two 5c pkgs Oakleaf Soap P'd'r	5c
10c pkg Voight's Cream-Flakes	5c
Two 5c pkgs Bazaar Matches	5c

SPECIAL WEEK SHOE SALE

15c Baby Moccasins	10c pair
25c Baby Shoes	19c pair
50c Baby Shoes	37c pair
No. 1662 Child's $1 Shoes	60c pair
No. 1208 Child's $1.25 Shoes	80c pr

Special sale for one week on all Baby's, Children's and Misses' shoes

We still have a lot of Men's, Ladies' and Boys' lace shoes to close out at Very Low Prices

THIS WEEK

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

Ford Cars Are Winners

More than one hundred thousand Ford Cars are in use today. More than four thousand individual Ford dealers are scattered over the entire United States and Canada today. I have taken the exclusive agency for Charlevoix and vicinity and solicit your business. If you are in the market for a car, I want to talk with you before you buy. Look at this

Ford Model "T" Four Door Touring Car

5 Passenger—4 Cylinder—20 Horse Power Car

Price: $690

Includes Extension Top, Automatic Brass Wind Shield, Speedometer, 2 six inch Gas Lamps, Generator, 3 Oil Lamps, Horn, Tools

WHERE CAN YOU DO BETTER

Ford Model Five is not a cheap car—it is the highest priced car in the world, none excepted. Yet, I am able to sell it at the lowest price. You are asked so buy a Ford for what it will do, based upon what it has done. Let me talk with you before you buy.

Theodore Erickson

Local Agent

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"

The Great Remedy for
Rheumatism, Lumbago,
Sciatica, Gout, Neuralgia,
La Grippe and Many
Troubles.

Applied externally, it gives all aches and pains, then internally, it dissolves the
poisonous substance and restores nature to its healthy condition. Satisfactory
results.

One Dollar per bottle, or sent prepaid with receipt of price if not returned in your bottle.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
110 Lake Street, Chicago

SWANSON'S PILLS

Best Remedy for Constipation, Sick
Headache, Bloating and Liver Troubles. 25c Per Box at Drugists

SKIN SORES

Easily and Quickly Healed

Those who suffer
from eczema, pimples or other skin eruptions know the misery.
There is no cure for them unless you can easily get rid of it by a simple and inexpensive preparation known as the Five-Drop Salve. It is a carefully compounded ointment that for five years has been proven to relieve
all skin troubles,
wounds, burns, salt rheum, ringworm, piles and sores. A single application gives immediate relief. The burning, irritating inflammation quickly subsides and the sores dry and disappear.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25
and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all drugists. It is not obtainable in your locality you can order direct from Swanson's R. Co., 110 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent postpaid upon receipt of price. It is an excellent remedy for cracked skin and scaly humors.

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON

Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County

Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plats on Short Notice

VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH

Attorney at Law

Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. S. SHANAHAN

Attorney at Law

Bank Bldg. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AUD

Dentist

Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levenson's Store

Phone 120 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Physician and Surgeon

Office in New Postoffice Building

R. R. ALMSTEDT, M.D.

Physician and Surgeon

Special attention given to diseases of the EYE,
EAR, NOSE and THROAT

Office over Hines & Co's drug store,
Telephone No. 25, Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE

Physician and Surgeon

Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled
some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address
Central Lake, Mich. Phone 100-10

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness

$100.00 for loss of limb or eye

$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit

Cost $6.00 per year. No other dues
or assessments.

Old established Company with thousands of policy holders and insured the investment of $10,000,000.

Men and Women between 18 and 65
accepted, according to occupation.

For further information address
AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY
Dept. 17, Box 411 Erie, Pa.

Incorrigible.

"Have you had by anything for a rainy day?" asked the serious friend

"Yes," replied the frivolous person.

"I'm cutting out all the 'fair and warmer' weather predictions and preserving them."—Washington Star.

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday,
Page & Company.

CHAPTER IV.

Wherein Elmore Meets the Bird Woman and the Sinton Are Disappointed.

FROM Elmore took her little parcel of lunch and started to the home of the Bird Woman.

She must know about the specimens first, and then she would go out to the suburbs somewhere and eat a few bites. She dropped the heavy iron knocker on the door of the big red log cabin, and her heart thumped at the resounding stroke.

"Is the Bird Woman at home?" she asked of the maid.

"She is at lunch," was the answer.

"Please ask her if she will see a girl from the Limberlost about some moths," inquired Elmore.

"I never need ask if it's moths," laughed the girl. "Orders are to bring any one with specimens right in. Come this way."

Elmore followed down the hall and entered a long room with high paneled walls, old English fireplace with an ornamental and closets of peculiar china filling the corners. At a bare table of oak, yellow as gold, sat a woman
Elmore often had watched and followed covertly around the Limberlost. The Bird Woman was holding out a hand of welcome.

"I heard," she laughed. "A little postcard box or just the bare word 'specimen' passes you at my door. If it is moths I hope you have hundreds.
I've been very busy all summer and unable to collect, and I need so many.
Sit down and lunch with me while we talk it over. From the Limberlost, did you say?"

"I live near the swamp," replied Elmore. "Since it's so cleared I dare go around the edge in daytime, though we are still afraid at night."

"What have you collected?" asked the Bird Woman as she helped Elmore to lunch.

"I am afraid I am bothering you for nothing and imposing on you," Elmore said. "That collected frightens me.
I've only gathered. I always loved everything outdoors, and so I made friends and playmates of them. When I learned that the moths die so soon,
I saved them especially, because there seemed no wickedness in it."

"I have thought the same thing," said the Bird Woman encouragingly. "Then because the girl could not tell me she learned about the moths the Bird Woman asked Elmore if she knew what kind she had."

"Not all of them," answered Elmore.
"Before Mr. Duncan moved away he often saw me near the edge of the swamp, and he showed me the box he sent me for Freckles and gave me the key. There were some books and things, so from that time on I studied and tried to take moths right, but I am afraid they are not what you want."

"Are they the big ones that fly most ly June nights?" asked the Bird Woman.

"Yes," said Elmore. "Great gray ones with reddish markings, pale legs, green, yellow with lavender and red and yellow."

"What do you mean by 'red and yellow'?" asked the Bird Woman so quickly that the girl almost jumped.

"Not exactly red," explained Elmore, with tremulous voice. "A reddish-lavender brown, with many colored spots and gray lines on their wings."

"How many of them?" It was the same quick question.

"Well, I had over 200 eggs," said Elmore, "but some of them didn't hatch, and some of the caterpillars died, but there must be at least a hundred perfect ones."

"Perfect! How, perfect?" cried the Bird Woman.

"I mean whole wings, no down gone and all their legs and antennae," faltered Elmore.

"Young woman, that's the rarest moth in America," said the Bird Woman solemnly. "If you have 100 of them they are worth $100, according to my list. I can use all that are whole."

"What if they are not perfect right?"
quavered Elmore.

"If they are perfect that does not make the slightest difference. I know how to sort them so that I can put them into my skins. I choose where

Long after the Bird Woman drove away Elmore remained. She had her problem, and it was a big one. If she told her mother would she take the money to pay the taxes? If she did not tell her how could she account for the books and things for which she would spend it? At last she counted out what she needed for the next day, placed the rest in the farthest corner of the case and locked the door. She then filled the front of her skirt from a heap of arrow points beneath the case and started home.

With the first streak of red above the Limberlost Margaret Sinton was busy with the glugging and the brilliant paper pattern she had purchased. Wesley cooked the breakfast and worked until he thought Elmore would be gone, then he started to bring her mother.

"Now you be mighty careful," cautioned Margaret. "I don't know how she will take it."

"I don't either," said Wesley, philosophically. "But she's got to take it some-way. Then dress up to be finished by school time in the morning."

Wesley did not sleep well that night.
By the time he reached the front gate and started down the walk between the rows of oaks and lady slippers he was perspiring, and every pin-and-convincing speech that had been his brain. Mrs. Comstock helped him she met him at the door.

"Good morning," she said. "Did Margaret send you for something?"

"Yes," said Wesley. "She sent me for you. She's got a job that's too big for her, and she wants you to help."

"Of course I will," said Mrs. Comstock. "It was no one's affair how long the previous day had been, or how the endless hours of the present would drag. "What is she doing in such a rush?"

Now was his chance.

"She's making a dress for Elmore," answered Wesley. He saw Mrs. Com-stock's form straighten, and her face harden, so he continued hastily. "You see Elmore has been helping us at harvest time, butchering, and with unexpected visitors for years. We've made out that she's saved us a considerable sum, and as she wouldn't ever touch any pay for anything we just went to town and got a few clothes we thought would fit her up a little for the high school. We want to get a dress done today mighty bad, but Margaret is slow about sewing, and she never can finish alone, so I came for you."

"And it's such a simple little matter, so dead easy; and all so between old friends like, that you can't look above your boots while you explain it," sneer-ed Mrs. Comstock. "Wesley Sinton, what put the idea into your head that Elmore would take things bought with money when she wouldn't take the money?"

Then Sinton's eyes came up straight-ly.

"Finding her on the trail last night sobbing as hard as I ever saw any one at a funeral. She wasn't complaining at all, but she's come to me all her life with her little hints, and she couldn't hide how she'd been laughed at, twittered and run face to face against the fact that there was books and tuition unexpected, and nothing will ever make me believe you didn't know that."

"If any doubts are troubling you on that subject, sure I know it! She was so anxious to try the world I thought I'd just let her take a few knocks and see how she liked it."

"As if she'd ever taken anything but knocks all her life!" cried Wesley Sin-ton. "Kate Comstock, you are a heartless, selfish woman. You've never allowed Elmore any real love in her life.
If ever she finds out that thing you'll lose her, and it will serve you right."

"She knows it now," said Mrs. Comstock fully, "and she'll be home tonight just as usual."

"Well, you are a brave woman if you dared put a girl of Elmore's make through what she suffered yesterday and will suffer again today and let her know you did it on purpose. I admire your nerve. But I've watched this since Elmore was born, and I see enough. Things have come to a pass where they go better for her if I interfere."

"As if you'd ever done anything but interfere all her life! Think I haven't watched you? Think I, with my heart raw in my breast and too numb to resent it openly, haven't seen you and Marg Sinton trying to turn Elmore against me day after day? When did you ever tell her what her father meant to me? When did you ever try to make her see the wrong of my life and what I've suffered? No, indeed!"

"Kate Comstock, that's unjust!" cried Sinton. "Only last night I tried to show her the picture I saw the day she was born. I begged her to come to you and tell you pleasant what she needed and ask you for when I happen to know you can well afford to give her."

"I can't!" cried Mrs. Comstock. "You know Lena!"

"Then get so you can!" said Wesley Sinton. "Any day you say the word you can sell $5000 worth of rare tuffier off this place easy. I'll see to clearing, and working the fields cheap as dirt, for Elmore's sake. I'll buy you more cattle to fatten. All you've got to do is sign a lease to pull thousands from the ground in oil, as the rest of us are doing all around you."

"Cut down Robert's trees!" shrieked
Mrs. Comstock. "Tear up his land!
Cover everything with horrid, greasy oil! I'll do that!"

"You mean you'll let Elmore go like a beggar and hurt and mortify her just because I've got to the place where I can sell what I'm going to do."
Margaret and I went to town last night, and we got what things Elmore needs most urgent to make," her look a little
continued on page 7.

Young Men

Your power consists of something more than mere muscle. Your financial strength is well worth developing.

The best aid to financial development is a confidential relationship with a bank that will take an interest in your progress.

Let your Financial Interests exercise and grow.
OPEN A CHECKING OR SAVINGS AC-
COUNT AS CIRCUMSTANCES DICTATE.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nichols Harry Nichols A. Butlers A. R. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

GARDEN MAKING

Will soon be in full swing. Enjoy it by the use of new tools--Hoes, Rakes, Spades, Etc.

BRIGHTEN UP

Get That Painting Out of the Way
Paints, Oils, Varnishes
Gypsine and Muresco Wall Finish
THE VERY BEST

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

SEE ME

When in search of Jewelry for Gifts or own
use. When you wish to purchase a reliable
Watch or Clock. When you want Table
Silverware or Cut Glass. When in need of first-class Jewelry Repairing.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's

$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes
to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, and who make the best of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own
one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clearest money-making opportunities ever offered. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others.
Our latest-issued 24-page catalog
will enable you to present the subject to customers in an interesting manner as though you were plotting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before some one else gets the territory?
We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our
company was celebrated by creating the most modern safe
factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling literature, couldn't help but realize the importance of our proposition.
We are specializing many thousands of dollars by having our sales organization,
but to learn all particulars, it
will cost you only the price of
a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 16 T.

THE VICTOR

SAFE & LOCK CO.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed.

I Have Cured Hundreds of Nervous Weakness, Insomnia,
Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.

I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter of how long standing, the following:

1. CURE ITIS--Epilepsy, St. Vitus' Dance, Paralysis, etc. by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerve to perfect health.

2. CURE PILES in 20 days to 30 days and 100% cure.

3. CURE CONSTIPATION, the great White Plague. In the first and second stages, I have made a special study of this disease for 25 years. Has a hundred given up by being advised. Show I cannot treat at home by my mail. I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, hot and cold water, and other means are used for the cure.

4. CURE BRONCHITIS, in 100% cure, in 100% cure, in 100% cure, in 100% cure, other or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.

Any unfortunate girl who has lost her virginity, may work out for herself and her mother, by following my plan. No matter what the cause, you are sure to find me fully today. I will answer all the queries which come to me, and will send you a full and complete book, if I cannot cure you, I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M.D.

Residing Sanitarium & Retreat, Belling, Mich. or Synona Sanitarium, Synona, Mich.

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
 A. J. USHER, Business Manager
 Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
 One copy, one year..... $1.50
 One copy, six months..... .75
 One copy, three months..... .40

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
 Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

CROP REPORT FOR LAST MONTH

Condition of Wheat Much Below Report of Last Month.

Peach Trees Have Been Badly Damaged—All Crops Are Behind Last Season.

Wheat. The condition of wheat is very much below the figures given on April 1st, the average being 63 in the state, 53 in the southern counties, 68 in the central counties, 79 in the northern counties and 92 in the upper peninsula.

The condition on April 1st, in the state was 81, in the northern counties 90 and in the upper peninsula 91.

Owing to the continued cold weather during the month of March the wheat fields were protected by snow nearly the entire month and the result was that the estimated condition on April 1st was too high.

The per cent of wheat that will be plowed up because winter killed or otherwise destroyed is 23 in the state, 28 in the southern counties, 16 in the central counties, 10 in the northern counties and 4 in the upper peninsula.

Rye. The average condition of rye in the state is 81, in the southern counties 77, in the central counties 80, in the northern counties 88 and in the upper peninsula 96.

Meadows and clover. The condition of meadows and pasture in the state is 81 in the southern counties 79, in the central and northern counties 82 and in the upper peninsula 94.

The average of clover sown as compared with last year is 89 per cent in the state, southern and central counties, 86 in the northern counties and 100 in the upper peninsula. The average of clover that will be plowed up because winter killed or otherwise destroyed is 20 per cent in the state and southern counties, 17 in the central counties and 21 in the northern counties and upper peninsula.

Oats. The average sown, or that will be sown, as compared with last year is 99 in the state, 102 in the southern counties, 96 in the central counties, 93 in the northern counties and 100 in the upper peninsula.

Spring pigs and lambs. The per cent of spring pigs as compared with 1911, is 83 in the state, 83 in the southern counties, 87 in the central counties and 86 in the northern counties and upper peninsula. The per cent of lambs saved as compared with 1911, is 89 in the state and southern counties, 90 in the central counties and upper peninsula and 84 in the northern counties.

Farm wages. The average monthly wages with board, in the state is $26.48, in the southern counties $26.86, in the central counties $26.21, in the northern counties $24.89 and in the upper peninsula $23.41.

The average wages by the day without board, in the state is $1.50, in the southern counties $1.60, in the central counties $1.51, in the northern counties $1.47 and in the upper peninsula $1.70.

The average wages in the state last year, by the month with board was $25.30 and the average wages by the day without board was $1.51.

Fruits. Reports from all the peach growing sections of the state indicate that the trees and buds have been badly damaged by severe winter weather and the backward spring. The present prospect for the peach crop as compared with May 1st, 1911, is 60 and for other fruits from 10 to 20 per cent below the average prospect for peaches in the Michigan fruit belt is 21 per cent.

There are people in this town who mindlessly neglect a "mere cold" though they would not otherwise expose their children or themselves to danger. Yet a cold neglected may develop into contagious diphtheria, bronchitis, or pneumonia. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly for its stops coughs quickly and cures colds. It contains no opiates and is safe for children. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

The Third Degree

Ordeal of Two Brothers Accused of Murder

By JAMES L. TOMLINSON

"If a policeman," said the retired detective, "should walk into this room and arrest me on a charge of murder do you suppose I would laugh at him or do you suppose that I would slaps consider that I would be put to a temporary inconvenience? Not by any means. I should consider the chances for or against my conviction to be about even."

"That's strange," I replied. "I suppose you detectives, being used to a thing at the bottom of things, are always sure of guilt or innocence."

"Suppose we are sure ourselves, haven't we to convince a jury, and are there not detectives employed to secure evidence on the other side?"

"Wouldn't the knowledge that you were innocent be a great advantage?"

"I wouldn't even possess my such knowledge. How would I know that I had developed a criminal instinct? Do you suppose the criminal knows how that they have committed a murder? I have known a man to wake up in jail the morning after having killed several persons at once and, having been chased by a mob, express himself surprised at finding himself in a strange place. His antecedents showed insight in three generations."

"The most remarkable mixup I ever met with in a murder case happened when I was a young man living in Ohio. The town of B. where it occurred, had but five or six thousand inhabitants, and any comparatively unimportant happening was noticed and discussed in time, if not cleared up to their own satisfaction that they had enceph and all belonged to Nathan Goodrich.

"On this evidence, which had been revealed by a dream, but which was in itself laughable, the Emory brothers were arrested. They had been enduring a strain the matter for years and now that the storm had broken were both unbalanced. Dick Emory, the younger, looked like a conscience-stricken man who found himself, face to face with punishment for crime. His brother seemed better able to stand up under the accusation."

"Then an experiment was tried, something like this third degree business we have nowadays. A clergyman was sent to visit the brothers to talk with them about their spiritual welfare, and really to work upon them to confess. Upon the elder brother he produced no especial effect but with the younger he succeeded far beyond his expectation. Dick Emory confessed that he and his brother the morning after their quarrel with Goodrich went to his house with a view to obtaining payment of the debt he owed them and taking satisfaction in case they failed. They found him alone and dressed, having just got out of bed. Goodrich did not pay the debt, and Dick Emory cut his throat. Then the brothers dragged the body down into the cellar and buried it."

"When Dick Emory was asked what had become of the body he replied that they had made frequent visits to the cellar whenever they could do so without being discovered, each taking away a portion of the body and burning it in a wood near by till the body had all been consumed."

"Dick Emory was much broken up by his brother's confession, but he persisted in saying that Dick had not told the truth. However, there was being plenty of evidence to convict them, they were placed on trial, and it didn't take the jury very long to find them guilty. Some time after the execution I don't remember how long, Dick Emory, under the influence of the physician for death, confessed. This is what the few who remained in the town said that Goodrich had been murdered by the Emory boys."

"Nevertheless some of the family and friends of the murderers, though they did not attempt to explain away the evidence, persistently insisted that they didn't believe Goodrich had been murdered. One of them, hoping that he might still be alive, began to insert personal for him in the newspapers. The newspapers didn't circulate in the town, though even then there were a good many of them. The first advertisement was followed by others of the convicted men's friends and relatives, and finally the ball got rolling and a lot of papers were publishing the particulars."

"Finally a communication was sent to a St. Louis paper from somewhere in the interior of Missouri from a woman stating that a man named Goodrich with something the matter with his upper story had been in the town about six years before. She and several other citizens remembered him quite well and would know him if they were to see him again. Goodrich is not an uncommon name, so the advertisement placed no great value on the clue. Nevertheless they raised funds for one of their number named Telford to go to Missouri and make inquiries. When he reached the town where Goodrich was reported to have lived and showed those there who remembered him a photograph of the missing man some of them identified it at once while others said there was no resemblance to the man who had been there. Telford spent several months in searching through the newspapers to find another place where the man had been and finally got wind of him in St. Joseph. A person there told him that he had heard of Goodrich in Kansas City, which was then a place of some ten or twelve thousand people. Telford found traces of him there, but no one seemed to know where he had gone. But having reported his progress so far as he had proceeded, the citizens of it, who had disbelieved that the murder had been committed while others who, after Telford got on Goodrich's track were converted, raised more funds. Telford kept advertising and at last heard of the missing man in Cairo, Ill. He went there, and before he had had an opportunity to communicate with those who had given him the information which brought him he saw Goodrich on the street. He looked much older than when he had left B. and seemed to him a shattered mental condition."

"Telford telegraphed ahead that he would be in B. with Goodrich on a certain day and hour, and when the two arrived the whole town was at the station. They entered the murdered man up to the court, which happened to be in session, and called on the judge to issue a release of the Emory boys. There was no precedent for such a release, but the judge didn't dare refuse so he gave an order to the sheriff to bring the brothers into court."

"The boys got out of jail, but they didn't get into court. They were carried on the shoulders of the citizens to the town hall, where they were shown on the platform with Goodrich beside them, and the mayor offered them a humble apology for their persecution, as he called it, and the town raised a purse of $2,500 as some compensation for what they had endured."

"How were their confessions explained?" I asked the narrator.

"By nothing," Goodrich. That's the only explanation for such confessions, maintaining them as they are often a natural way is, and a natural confession is a mental process of physical nature."

"By nothing," Goodrich. That's the only explanation for such confessions, maintaining them as they are often a natural way is, and a natural confession is a mental process of physical nature."

"By nothing," Goodrich. That's the only explanation for such confessions, maintaining them as they are often a natural way is, and a natural confession is a mental process of physical nature."

"By nothing," Goodrich. That's the only explanation for such confessions, maintaining them as they are often a natural way is, and a natural confession is a mental process of physical nature."

"By nothing," Goodrich. That's the only explanation for such confessions, maintaining them as they are often a natural way is, and a natural confession is a mental process of physical nature."

"By nothing," Goodrich. That's the only explanation for such confessions, maintaining them as they are often a natural way is, and a natural confession is a mental process of physical nature."

Clothes That Keep Shape

YOU know the importance to you of having your clothes keep shape; and you know how very uncommon this quality is in clothes. One very important point in giving clothes this shape-keeping quality is the proper shrinking of the cloth before it's cut.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx

have their own process of shrinking; by special machinery which they invented. It's a process that would ruin any but all-wool fabrics; you can imagine what would happen to the common cotton mixtures of which most clothing is made if the fabrics were subjected to such a process.

We just thought you might be interested in knowing why our Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes keep their shape so well; you can see why we like to sell them.

Suits $18.00 and Up

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

This Store is the Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.
 Christian Science Society, Van Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Mortals and Immortals." Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m. Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:30 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
 Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

METHODIST CHURCH.
 9:30 Class meeting.
 10:30 Morning sermon.
 12:00 m. Sunday School.
 6:30 p. m. Epworth League.
 7:30 Evening service.
 Our services are helpful. You are invited.
 Preaching at Epworth church, Sunday 2:30 p. m.
 The Boy Preacher will preach.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
 Rev. B. A. Nelson, Pastor.
 Morning Service, 10:30. Subject, "Baptist Principles."
 Sunday School at 11:45.
 B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Leaders, Frank Pande and Roy Winkley.
 Evening service, 7:30.
 Prayer meeting, Thursday evening, 7:30.
 Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion town hall.
 Revival meetings every night at Burgess school house.
 "Strangers always welcome."

CONGREGATIONAL.
 Morning service at 10:30. Preaching by Principal G. R. Patton. Sunday School at 12 m.
 Meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society at 6:30 p. m.—Topic, "Why and How to Please Christ." Paul Harsha will lead the meeting.
 Evening service at 7:30. Mr. Catton will preach.
 Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

Atlas and Huron cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 862 r.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our many friends for the beautiful floral offerings, and their many kindnesses shown us during the sickness and death of our beloved daughter and sister.

A. M. Hamilton,
 George Hamilton,
 Louis Hamilton,
 Charlie Hamilton.

Berry Plants for Sale.

Cuthbert Red Raspberry, 75c per 100 or $10 per 1000. Snyder blackberry, the same price. Dunlop Strawberry, 75c per 100, $10 per 1000. E. A. Reed, Route No. 1.

Wanted.

R. J. Grubb is organizing a boy band called The Boy Scout Band and wants 20 or more boys under 20 years of age. Apply at Baker's Inn.

THEY MARCHED THE MURDERED MAN TO THE COURT.

Disc Harrows Seed Drills

Rotary Corn Planters Potato Planters Bean and Corn Fertilizer

And remember that Cooper will buy Wool this year

J. R. COOPER

Antrim Street Charlevoix, Michigan

SEEDS ON HAND

SPELTS

BARLEY

COW PEAS

SPRING WHEAT

MILLET

SEED OATS

Argo Milling Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Frank Geiken of Pellston, was in the city Tuesday.

Earl Young went to Petoskey Tuesday on business.

Capt. M. J. Bonner of St. James, was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Nally Cram of Petoskey was in the city the first of the week.

Glen Warren of Peloskey spent Sunday in the city with friends.

Samson Godbolt shipped the first carload of potatoes south yesterday.

Guy Dugan of Ypsilanti, is in the city today calling upon old friends.

Sam Levinson arrived home from a short visit at Grand Rapids, Friday.

Mrs. L. Cutter, of Traverse City, is making a visit with relatives in the city.

Dan Durance and son Ralph of Boyne City, spent Saturday in the city.

Drs. King and Wilkinson made a professional visit to Bellaire last week.

E. J. Griddle is organizing a boy scout band composed of boys under twenty.

David Francis, of Boyne City, was here on business the latter part of the week.

Miss Keiser, a trained nurse from Petoskey, is in the city caring for Mrs. Miller.

Dr. Crozier has returned home from New York where he has been for sometime.

Henry Black and wife have returned home, after a short visit at Traverse City.

Mrs. Will Marshall and baby have returned home from an extended visit at Lansing.

Mrs. James Hingham of Boyne City, visited her sister, Mrs. Jennie Parish last week.

Wilbur Pugh left Tuesday morning for Detroit where he has a position as chauffeur.

Mrs. Frank Geiken, of Pellston, is making a short at the home of G. C. Geiken and family.

L. D. Bartholomew arrived home Friday, after spending the winter in the south and West.

Miss Addie Strinck, of Ludington, is making a visit with her sister, Mrs. J. C. Miller.

Roy L. Lorraine, the East Jordan candidate for county treasurer, was in the city Tuesday.

Fred Stiles and wife of Williamsburg spent Sunday in the city with E. Stiles and family.

Worth A. Johnson of Boyne City, was here on business yesterday enroute to East Jordan.

Mrs. Morris Anderson and child joined Mr. Anderson of Crane's store, Saturday night.

George Hamlin and family of Traverse City attended the funeral of their sister Sunday.

Mrs. G. C. Geiken left Saturday for Chicago, where she will make her daughter, Caroline, a visit.

The City of Boyne will run three trips Friday, one at 9:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m. and 8:40 in the evening.

A. L. Creamer is expected the latter part of the week to get the Inn in readiness for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davall, were in the city the latter part of the week, enroute to Boyne Falls.

Miss Emma Jones while playing on Clinton street last Thursday evening, fell and broke her arm.

Mrs. Fred Price left Saturday for Northport, where she will make an extended visit with her parents.

Mrs. F. E. Frazier was called to Hart, the latter part of the week, by the serious illness of her mother.

Miss Elena O'Leary and the Misses Orlowski attended the K. of C. state convention at Petoskey yesterday.

There were thirty births and seventeen deaths in Charlevoix county during the month of March.

Special convocation of Charlevoix lodge, F. & A. M., Tuesday evening May 21. A good attendance is desired.

The condition of Mrs. E. J. Hitter at this writing is very serious, and but very little hope is given for her recovery.

Miss Myrtle Seeley of Detroit spent a few days in the city last week as the guest of her sister, Mrs. John S. Akers.

Henry Wood and wife are now occupying their new home on Clinton street after making extensive improvements on it.

Mrs. Henry Kenyon of Portland, Michigan, was called here Monday by the serious illness of her daughter, Mrs. E. J. Miller.

Mrs. L. E. Geer left yesterday for Petoskey. From there she will go to Wecombing where she will be with Mrs. Clara Gray.

Miss Louise Thompson returned to her home at the Sun, after being employed for some time at the home of Dr. Bartlett.

Phil Heandean, arrived home the latter part of the week from Gloucester, Mass., where he has spent several months fishing.

Mrs. Ray Bandker and son Raymond, of Chicago, arrived here the latter part of the week, to spend the summer with relatives.

Mrs. Ben Campbell and daughter, Mrs. Arthur Wentz, of Petoskey visited at the home of Will Campbell, the latter part of the week.

R. W. Padlock, D. S. Payton, R. C. Hammet, Lisle Shanahan and D. H. Fitch, attended the good roads meeting at Boyne City yesterday.

Edward Widdfield has accepted a position with the Michigan Supreme court which also enables him to engage in general practice.

Miss Anna Peterson, formerly of this city, was united in marriage with Charles Hayward of Hesperia, at her home in Petoskey last Sunday.

Edward Burnett and wife of Harbor Springs spent Sunday in the city with his parents. Mr. Burnett and wife have just returned from California.

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. are making preparations for the proper observance of Memorial Day. Complete program will be published next week.

Mrs. L. Z. Nettien and grandson, Robin returned the latter part of the week from Hellingham, Washington, where they spent the winter with relatives.

About twenty went from here to East Jordan on the Olympic last Saturday to witness the ball game, the score of which was 8-7 in favor of East Jordan.

Byron House, an old resident of Melrose township died at his home in that township Tuesday. Mr. House has been a resident of this county since 1875.

On Sunday evening at the home of the bride's mother on Belvedere avenue, occurred the marriage of Sarah Painter to Kenneth Hathaway of East Jordan.

Mrs. James McGeagh was taken to the Lockwood Hospital at Petoskey, Monday evening. She stood the trip very well and will undergo an operation tomorrow.

The Misses Caro Meech and Elizabeth Levinson left Tuesday for Boyne City. From there they will go to Boyne Falls and Harbor Springs to visit friends.

A farewell party was given Monday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Marting at the home of Lisle Shanahan and wife. Cards were played and everyone had a good time.

El Joseph Rayerdt the "Boy Preacher" will assist Rev. H. Atchison in special evangelistic services at the Burgess school house every night for the next two weeks.

A party consisting of H. L. McNellan and George Carr, of East Jordan, Romeo Emrey and Lou See went on a short fishing trip up the Jordan river Saturday night returning Sunday.

Mrs. Kate Miller, Earl and Marjorie are now occupying the bungalow on Clinton street, owned by Mr. Carpenter. Their house will be occupied by Mr. Berry, the telephone manager.

A civil service examination for clerk and carrier will be held at the post office June 5. Application blanks and full information will be furnished on application to Mason, H. Rose at the post office.

About thirty-three lady friends including the Royal Neighbors gave a surprise on Monday afternoon to Mrs. Clara Marshall. After a pot luck supper she was presented with several handsome presents.

Miss Lula Taylor's school will give a box social Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith in Marion township. The proceeds are to go toward art work for her school. Good program. All are invited.

R. W. Kane and A. B. Clark of this city, and Capt. M. J. Bonner of St. James, attended a heat option meeting at Boyne City yesterday. A fine banquet was given to them and the good roads committee at the hotel Wolverine.

The Congregational church has extended a call to Rev. C. E. Taggart, of Reed City to become their pastor. It is not known whether Mr. Taggart will accept the call. It is evident that Reed City will put forth a strong effort to keep him.

The new fruit store owned by LaLonde brothers is now open and adds greatly to the appearance of that part of the city. They were formerly engaged in the same line of business in Boyne City and are experienced hands at the business.

McLachlan & Vought are now located in the portion of the mammoth cement garage which Mr. Vought is erecting on Antrim street, devoted to the blacksmithing department. When finished Mr. Vought will have one of the most complete garages north of Grand Rapids.

Leon F. Brower, "Tid," who has long been a member of the Courier force, the past two years as foreman, leaves tonight for Reed City where he accepted a position as foreman in the office of the Oscoda County Herald. Mr. Brower is a good citizen as well as a good printer.

Those from this city who attended the K. of C. state convention at Petoskey this week were, Fred Carter and wife, Joseph Haffet and wife, Louis Orlowski and wife, James Gaskin and wife, Joe Howard, William Finnan, Sr. and 1st Charles Zeidler and Thomas Baret.

The latter part of the week, Mrs. Harry Nicholls and mother, Mrs. Nellie Wood, received a severe shock while driving. The horse became frightened at a passing automobile, throwing both occupants out. Mrs. Nicholls was not badly hurt but Mrs. Wood sustained a broken wrist and various bruises.

The following officers were elected at the meeting of the Men's association held at Mancelona last week. President, Mrs. H. A. Stevens, Central Lake; first vice-president, Mrs. Larry Charles, Mancelona; second vice-president, Mrs. F. A. Butler, Charlevoix; secretary, Maude Smith, Boyne City; treasurer, Mrs. Susan Cramer, Harbor Springs.

A prominent merchant of this city shows us a pamphlet which contains arguments against the Oldfield bill now pending in Congress, which seeks to remove the fixed price on certain well-known standard goods. The effect of the passage of the bill would enable the mail order houses to advertise well advertised brands of goods at a low price, as fenders, creating the impression that all their goods were sold cheaper than by the home merchant, which is false, and also prevent the legitimate dealer from getting the small profit which he now gets at a standard price. It seems to us to be a vicious bill which should be defeated.

The supreme court has just rendered a verdict in an Antrim county case that is somewhat unusual. The editor of the Mancelona Herald was sued for libel by the superintendent of their schools, and at the trial the jury first brought in a verdict for $1,500, and requiring the editor to publish a retraction of the charge upon which the libel was grounded. But Judge Mayne refused to receive such a verdict and sent the jury back to make a verdict in money terms, and the jury then brought in a verdict of $3,000, and from this the editor appealed.

The supreme court now reverses the judgment unless the plaintiff will accept the first money judgment of $1,500.

To the Electors.
I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.

Res. adv. W. W. Boyle, St. James.

Wanted.
Man by month to care for lawns at Hotel, Outside work. Enquire at Lewis Cottage, corner Dix, on and Michigan avenues. 181

STATE HAS LOTS OF MONEY

Most Money in Treasury Than at Any Time in Six Years.

Nearly Eight Million Dollars on Hand May 1—Six Million Primary School Money.

The monthly report of the state treasurer shows the state to have more actual cash on hand than at any time for the last six years, $7,992,978.76 being the exact amount.

On this the specific tax fund has a balance of $1,000,102.13, which amount will be increased nearly $1,000,000 more before the department closes its books today. The money will all be distributed to the primary school fund at the end of the month.

The general fund shows a balance on hand of $2,573,215.08, an amount far in excess of any year for the last seven years.

The report also shows that for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1911, a total of $3,408,218.24 has been expended from the general fund, with receipts amounting to $6,724,419.31. The amount of primary school money to be apportioned among the school districts of the state this year will be nearly $6,000,000.

The best seed corn at Orlowski & Son's.

OUR COUNTY FINANCES

As Reported by County Treasurer Lewis for the Month of February.

The report of the county treasurer for the month of May is as follows:

RECEIPTS
Balance on hand Apr. 1st, 1912.	$3,377.64
Received from delinquent taxes.	204.81
Received from redemption credit.	21.07
Received from interest fund.	2.87
Received from Teachers Institute fees.	7.00
Received from mortgage tax.	262.90
Total.	$3,875.29
DISBURSEMENTS
General fund.	$260.88
Post fund.	130.15
Criminal fee orders.	5.20
Probate court orders.	24.87
Soldiers relief orders.	52.12
Cities, Townships and Villages.	164.12
Religion taxes.	12.00
Mortgage tax, to State of Michigan.	12.00
Detroit House of correction.	34.16
Balance on hand May 1st, 1912.	25,114.72
Total.	$3,614.92

Report, Charlevoix, Mich., May 11, 1912.
RICHARD LEWIS, County Treasurer.

THE DAIRYMAN.

The best profit in dairying comes from the production of strictly first class butter for private customers.

From the time it is churned until it is marketed butter should be exposed to the air as little as possible.

Don't overfeed the calves. Overfeeding has caused the loss of many a good calf. Rather underfeed than overfeed the young calf.

It is best to reduce the milk producing food, so that a mature cow will go dry and rest for a month to six weeks before calving.

Don't let the cows out in the stables to stand around. It doesn't pay. Keep them in the stable, where they should be kept warm.

A peddler doesn't give milk. But it creates the price that produces the cure that produces more milk.

Coming May 30.

Thursday, May 30th, is the date when J. Leahy, the optometrist, will be at Baker's Inn, one day only. Headache cured, crossed eyes straightened, glasses guaranteed to fit.

Good Printing means Business.

COURIER
BARGAIN
COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 100 first insertion.

FOR SALE—Small potatoes for seed. Conter Brothers. 202

FOR RENT OR SALE—My house and lot. Inquire Mrs. H. W. Nowland, 102 Ferry Avenue. 193pt

FOR SALE—House, barn and two lots on west terms. Enquire at the phone, 241 Lewis street. 194

FOR SALE—One who, 18x8. Never has been put up; also one double buggy. Enquire at Mrs. Wm. L. Grady's. Route 3, Charlevoix, Michigan. 201

FOR SALE—30 acres, 200 feet wide, 100 feet deep, 100 feet wide, 100 feet deep, 100 feet wide, 100 feet deep. Enquire at the phone, 100. 191

CRANE'S

Special Ribbon Sale Saturday, May 18th

All Silk Satin Taffeta Ribbon
3 and 4 inches wide

Colors---Navy, Cardinal, Light Blue, Pink, White, Black, etc.

For this Day Only

10c yard

A Remarkable Value

3 Yards Only to Each Customer

House Furnishings

Nothing needed to furnish a house is lacking in our immense stock.

We can sell you everything you need ready to take possession of your new home.

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

SEEDS

Stowell's Evergreen sweet corn	20c quart
Early Minnesota sweet corn	20c quart
Nott's Excelsior peas, early	30c quart
Telephone peas, late	30c quart
Golden wax, German wax black beans	25c quart
Oxheart and Danvers carrots	$1.50 pound
Long Red Mangel	40c pound
Ruta Baga	50c pound
Hubbard Squash	75c pound
Sweet Peas	50c pound
Timothy and clover seed

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

BERGEON'S OPENING SALE

3 DAYS THURSDAY - FRIDAY - SATURDAY 3 DAYS
MAY 16th, 17th, 18th

We are going to open a Dry Goods Store in the building recently vacated by the Charlevoix State Savings Bank and intend to keep a complete line of staple dry goods at all times. We propose to give the people of Charlevoix and surrounding county, merchandise at the lowest possible prices consistent with quality. We just returned from the Chicago market, where we purchased our stock. Everything is new and strictly up-to-date. Our motto will be "A Square Deal for Everybody." Below we enumerate some of the bargains we have to offer.

Dress Goods

Danish Poplar Cloth in blue, brown, black and cardinal, regular price 25c yard sale price yard 19c

Silks

We have a variety of exclusive silk shirt waist patterns, three yards in each pattern, which sell regularly for 55c and 60c per yard. We will offer per yard at 38c

Serpentine Crepe

A variety of very pretty patterns, regular price 18c, sale price..... 14c

Colonial Drapery Scrim

All new spring patterns in plain and figured with border. Regular price 25c, sale price per yard..... 17c

Linen Crash

All linen Russian Crash, 17 inches wide regular price 10c, sale price..... 8c

Silkolines

All our fancy patterns which sell regular for 12 1/2c yard, sale price..... 9 1/2c

The Kabo styles in corsets are always the latest. We will carry a full line of this make of corsets.

We have been fortunate in securing the agency for the Pictorial Review Patterns. None better on the market.

Petticoats

New style Petticoats made of rich finish feather-weight sateen, deep flounce of accordion plaiting. Regular price $1.00, sale price..... 80c
Regular $1.25 Petticoats 95c

Shirt Waists

White Shirt Waists, low neck, short sleeves, embroidered front. Regular price $1.25, sale price..... 95c

Bargains in Bedding

Wool finished blankets, size 62x74, in white with pink and blue striped border, edges bound with tape. Regular price $1.75. Sale price..... $1.25

COMFORTS

Regular $1.35 Comforts, 72x78.....$1.15
Regular $1.65 Comforts, 72x78.....$1.25
Regular $1.85 Comforts, 72x78.....$1.45

PILLOWS

Fancy Ticking. Sizes 20x26 and 22x28
Regular $1.25 pair, sale price.....95c pair
Regular $1.50 pair, sale price.....$1.20 pair
Regular $3.25 pair, sale price.....$2.50 pair
Regular $4.50 pair, sale price.....$3.75 pair
Regular $5.00 pair, sale price.....$4.15 pair

Notion Specials

White tape all widths, per roll 1c
5 rolls only to a customer.
Darning cotton in black only 1c
3 spools to a customer.

Ribbon Specials

Sorority Hair Bow Ribbons, 5 1/2 inches wide, with fancy edge, all colors, regular price 25c, per yard 18c
Messaline Ribbon in all colors, 6 inches wide, regular 25c yard 17c sale price.....

A. BERGEON

Charlevoix

Michigan

A Girl of the Limberlost

BY
Gene Stratton Porter

(Continued from page three)
like the rest of the high school girls. Now here it is in plain English. You can help get these things ready and let us give them to her as we want."
"She won't touch them!" cried Mrs. Comstock.

"Then you can pay us, and she can take them as her right."
"I won't!"

"Then I will tell Elmore just what you are worth, what you can afford and how much of this she owes. I'll loan her the money to buy books and decent clothes, and when she is of age she can sell her share and pay me."

Mrs. Comstock gripped a chair back and opened her lips, but no words came.
"And," Stinton continued, "if she is so much like you that she won't do that I'll go to the county seat and lay complaint against you as her guardian before the judge. I'll swear to what you are worth and how you are raising her and have you discharged or have the judge appoint some man who will see that she is comfortable, educated and decent looking!"

"You—won't!" gasped Mrs. Comstock.
"I won't need to," said Stinton, his heart softening the instant the harsh words were said. "You won't show it, but you do love Elmore. You can't help it! You must see how she needs things. Come, help us fix them and be friends. Maggie and I couldn't live without her, and you couldn't either. You've got to love such a fine girl as she is. Let it show a little!"

"You can hardly expect me to love her," said Mrs. Comstock coldly. "But for her a man would stand back of me now who would beat the breath out of your sneaking body for the cowardly thing with which you threaten me. After all I've suffered you'd drag me to court and compel me to tear my Robert's property. If I ever go they carry me. If they touch one tree or put down one grassy oil well I will be over all I can shoot before they begin. Now, see how quick you can clear out of here!"

"You won't come and help Maggie with the dress?"
For answer Mrs. Comstock looked about swiftly for some object on which to lay her hands. Knowing her temper, Wesley Stinton left with all the haste consistent with dignity. But he did not go home. He crossed a field and in an hour brought another neighbor who was skillful with her needle. With shaking hand Margaret saw their coming.

"Kate is too busy to help today," she can't sew before tomorrow," said Wesley cheerfully as they entered.
That quieted Margaret's apprehension a little, though she had some doubts. Wesley prepared the lunch and by 4 o'clock the pretty dress was finished as far as it possibly could be until it was fitted on Elmore.

LEGAL NOTICES

Order for Publication.

State of Michigan, The Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.
At a session of said court held at the Probate Office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 23rd day of April A. D. 1912.
Present, Hon. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Mary R. Wilkerson, deceased.
Charles J. Jellison having filed in said court his petition praying for admission of said estate to be admitted to himself or to some other suitable person.
It is ordered, that the 24th day of May A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said Probate Office, he and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.
It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.
A true copy. John M. Harris, Judge of Probate 1912

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricul'l Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

Home Course In Road Making

VII.—Highway Culverts and Bridges.

By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department of Agriculture

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912

CULVERTS and bridges are constructed for a two-fold purpose. In the first place, they are required to provide the necessary grade for the road, and in the second place, to furnish a suitable passage for traffic over waterways. A large percentage of the highway culverts and bridges in this country were built of wood in the first instance, and in later years many of the smaller culverts have been rebuilt with some kind of pipe, either of terra cotta, cast iron or more recently of corrugated metal. It is impracticable in a short paper to discuss the various forms of pipe culverts. They are purchased in the open market, and the road official uses his judgment about the size of pipe that should be laid to serve the requirements of the location in question.

The following principles should, however, be borne in mind. All pipe culverts should be laid deep enough so that the pipe will not be injured by the traffic passing over it, and head walls should in all cases be built at each end of the culverts to prevent them from being washed out. The maximum fill to be allowed over a clay pipe culvert should be at least three feet. The objection to pipe culverts is that they become easily clogged and are thus more useless. Clay pipe culverts are easily broken unless they are well laid and well protected.

FIG. 1.—CONCRETE CULVERT WITH STEEL I-BEAM IN CENTER.

The most simple and natural form of bridge consists of timbers laid across the stream or opening which is to be passed over and covered with planks to form the roadway. Walls should be built to support each end of the timbers, and these are called abutments. The width of the opening which they cross is termed the span. The timbers themselves are called stringers, and the planks are usually referred to as the flooring.

The size of the stringers required increases with the span and the distance apart, center to center, that they are laid. For example, a 2 inch by 6 inch stringer will do for a two foot span, while a 6 inch by 10 inch or 8 inch by 12 inch stringer is required for a twenty foot span. The distance apart that the stringers are required to be laid varies with the thickness of the planks to be used and the amount of traffic.

The weight of the materials in the bridge is commonly referred to as the dead load. The additional load which the bridge is designed to carry is known as the live load and consists of animals, wagons or motor vehicles or pedestrians. A crowd of people standing close together on a bridge is usually estimated at about 100 pounds per square foot of floor space.

The strength of the bridge depends upon the kind of timber used, the dimensions of the timber, the amount used and its location, and also very largely upon the span of the bridge. For example, assuming a loaded wagon carrying 5000 pounds per wheel, a yellow pine board one inch thick and eight inches wide would require stringers to support it about every thirteen inches apart to carry the load safely, while a plank of the same width and two inches thick would require stringers three feet apart, and a three inch plank would require stringers about every four feet apart. These figures are based upon the assumption that yellow pine Douglas fir or a good quality of oak would be used. If such timbers as white pine, hemlock or spruce are used, then stringers would be required about every eight inches for a one inch board, every two and one-half feet for a two inch plank and every three feet for a three inch plank.

The following table gives the approximate sizes of stringers required for the different spans:

Span in feet	Size of stringer in inches	Span in feet	Size of stringer in inches	Span in feet	Size of stringer in inches
2	2x6	10	6x10	20	12x12
4	4x8	12	8x12	25	14x14
6	6x10	14	10x14	30	16x16
8	8x12	16	12x16	35	18x18
10	10x14	18	14x18	40	20x20
12	12x16	20	16x20	45	22x22
14	14x18	22	18x22	50	24x24
16	16x20	24	20x24	55	26x26
18	18x22	26	22x26	60	28x28
20	20x24	28	24x28	65	30x30

In the above table round timbers or logs may be substituted for the stringers, in which case the diameter of the log should be taken one and one-eighth times the greatest diameter of the stringer as shown.

FIG. 2 illustrates two methods by which the bridge may be strengthened by bracing. In the first method, the bridge is strengthened by a single brace, and in the second method, the bridge is strengthened by two braces, one on each side of the center.

safely. That is, the simple beam 12 inches by 12 inches square and 24 feet between points of support will carry safely a concentrated load of one and one-half tons at its center, while if the same beam be made into a King post beam by passing underneath the beam a one inch steel rod, which is made fast at either end of the beam, and inserting a single post under the load at the center of the beam, then such a beam will carry about two and three-quarter times as much, or a load of three and three-quarter tons, safely, while if the same beam be built into a King truss beam the load concentrated at the center may then be increased to nine tons.

The best culverts and smaller bridges are built of reinforced concrete. The cost is greater than for wooden or pipe culverts in the first instance, but if well built there should be no further cost for repairs. That is, the first cost is the last cost, while durability and safety are secured from the outset.

Good materials, consisting of crushed stone or gravel, sand and portland cement and water, are required for concrete. Deformed steel rods imbedded in the concrete are used for strength, ending the over spans. The placing of these materials into concrete in place is a matter of "art" that one who is not understood but nevertheless should not be undertaken by one who is unfamiliar with the use of concrete.

There are three general kinds of concrete culverts, which are known as the concrete box type. They are built for the smaller sizes up to such as have an opening about four feet by six feet wide. For sizes above that the floor is usually left out where it is not needed to protect the foundation, or paving may be substituted for it. The floor and side walls are constructed of concrete with or without metal reinforcement, usually without such reinforcement. The proportions of concrete used for the floor and side walls are usually, 1, 3, 6—that is, one part by measure of portland cement, three parts by measure of sand and six parts by measure of crushed stone or gravel. For spans above ten or twelve feet the cover needs to be strengthened with concrete beams. This type is known as the concrete T beam from its resemblance to the capital letter T. They are placed adjacent to each other, the distance from center to center depending upon the load which the bridge is expected to carry.

The best type of concrete culverts for spans from ten feet up to thirty feet is the steel I beam imbedded in concrete, as shown in Fig. 1. Here the concrete floor is designed to carry the load across the span from one I beam to another, while the steel I beams carry the load from one abutment to the other. It often happens that the culverts are built on yielding foundations and that the abutments sometimes settle, causing cracks that would be dangerous in some types of culverts, but it is the ability of the steel I beam type to withstand such conditions as these that makes it the best type to build. The I beams are imbedded in concrete to protect them from rust. Sometimes they are simply painted or more often painted at all, and when would be a permanent bridge is allowed to rust and for lack of proper care.

For details in regard to the method of designing and building concrete bridges attention is called to Bulletin No. 23, "Highway Bridges and Culverts," issued by the office of public roads, United States department of agriculture.

No road can be called a good road that is dotted with broken, worn-out and unsafe wooden culverts and bridges, such as are encountered on many of our highways at the present time. Such bridges are a menace to our traveling public and are expensive to maintain. The price of timber is advancing, and the increasing traffic demands safer bridges and culverts. Reinforced concrete for this class of work appears to form the best solution of this problem. Bridge construction is eminently the work for the engineer, and his services should in all cases be secured.

FIG. 2.—COMPARATIVE TYPES AND LOADS FOR WOODEN BEAMS.

The Road Contract System.

There are three systems of road maintenance in use in this country—viz, the contract system, the labor tax, or personal service system, and the system which provides men permanently employed to look after particular sections of road. The contract system has been used to some extent in various states, but it has never been found entirely satisfactory. As a general rule the amount paid for this work is small, and such poor service is rendered that in many cases the roads have become worse rather than better.

The oldest royal dynasty in the world is that of Japan, which goes back unbroken for 2,000 years.

JOB DEPARTMENT

The Courier's Job Department delight in putting out your work as you want it. If you are in doubt we will be pleased to give you advice. Our printers understand the art and our office is equipped with the best and latest new machinery and new type faces this season.

FACTS!!! FACTS!!! The Courier

Has the largest Circulation
Prints more Local News
Has more Special Features

Than any other paper in this territory. We cover the field thoroughly. Mr. Advertiser--- Don't this mean something to you?
INVESTIGATE THESE FACTS

If you are not already a Subscriber to the Courier send for a three month's trial subscription or a Sample Copy. Once a Subscriber Always One. That's the Record for we Deliver the Goods.

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings Results

A Newspaper that Prints The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building VanPelt Place
Charlevoix, Michigan

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure
The only Baking Powder made
from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar
NO ALUM, NO LIME PHOSPHATE

Grange Column

Rock Elm Grange.

Regular session of Rock Elm grange was called to order April 27 by W. M. Fred Van Gorder. Vacancies filled as follows: G. K. Abe Stevenson; A. S. Harry Van Gorder. The master's bill of $248 for pedastals and supplies was allowed. After a short recess, Melvin D. Alderson, Ivon Fink and George Ostrom were obligated in the 1st and 2nd degrees by Bro. R. A. Brimhall of Wilson grange. These brothers were then initiated in the 3rd and 4th degrees with W. A. Loveday and W. A. Stroebel. An excellent harvest feast was served by the ladies. The literary program consisted of the following: A recitation by Marjorie Cleland, a talk on "The Kind of a Man I Would Like for a Husband" by Miss Maddam, a talk on "What We Shall Raise if the Fruit Crop Falls" by Levi Metz and a song by the grange choir. Number members present, thirty. Visitors present, seven. Grange closed in form.

Going to build this spring? The place to buy your lime, pulp plaster, brick, and other material is at the Builders' Supply Co., phone 80 2-r. 171f

Charlevoix Grange.

Charlevoix grange met in regular session Monday night with an attendance of over eighty, visitors being present from Wilson, Norwood, Marion Center, Maple Grove and Ironton granges. A communication was read from Pomona relative to the means of raising money to build good roads, which was discussed by Brothers Lewis, Stroud, Willis, Ward, Dutton, Bagbee and others. After which it was laid on the table for further discussion. The lecturer had a fine program, visitors from other granges assisting. The following was announced as the program for the next meeting: General theme, "The Home." Recitation, Florence Meggison. Discussion, Sanitation of the rural home, led by R. W. Padlock. Gardens and their influence on the family, vegetable, Richard Shapton; flower, G. E. Dutton. Building the rural neighborhood, through the school, J. M. DeVoor; through farmer's organization, E. H. Ward; through the church, Mrs. Lewis. Music throughout program, Mrs. Dutton. After grange closed a feast was served.

Headquarters for seeds at S. Orłowski & Son's. 171f

Bayshore Grange.

Bayshore grange opened in due form Friday evening May 10 with all officers present except one. Mrs. Reed, Kathryn Glaser and Dervey Jones were elected to membership. One application card was presented. Secretary read communication in regard to bonding Charlevoix county for the building of good roads. Remarks by several. The committee appointed at last meeting: Hazel Gilmarin, Bessie Tillotson, Agnes Worth, Ambrose Fromm, Lee Brecheisen and Otis Plank, to entertain, had charge of the following program which was enjoyed by all members present. German song by the young ladies of the committee; Dialogue, "The Echo," by Otis Plank and E. Burck; Dialogue, "Pat and the Post Master," by A. Tillotson and William Brecheisen. Dialogue, "Watermelon Pickles," by Mrs. E. Burck and Otis Plank. Recitation, "When Maude Got Home from College," by Ethel Zipp. Music by Orrie Hoover. Dialogue, "Mark Twain and the Interviewer," by J. C. and Blanche Wallace. Dialogue by Mrs. Pillman and Fred Gregory. Talk on the subject, "Which is the Wiser, the Man That Neglects His Work, or the One That Never Leaves Home," by Mrs. Jones. Recitation, "St. Peter at the Gate," by J. C. Wallace.

Reading, "Accident Policy," by Ambrose Fromm. "Those Old Sweethearts of Mine," by O. C. Atwood. The "Sweethearts" were represented by several young ladies, ending with a tableau.

The lecturer appointed the following committee to have charge of the lecture hour at the next meeting, each member of the committee to have fifteen minutes. Committee: Melba Reed, Mrs. Zipp, John Praebe, E. Burck and Orrie Hoover. Fifty-five members were present, visitors, Barnard grange one, Horton Bay one and Maple Grove one. The following were extended a special invitation for the lecture hour, Mrs. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Sly and Kathryn Glaser. There will be degree work at the next meeting which will be held May 24.

Cement blocks for the cellar and other improvements—the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co. 171f

HOW TO GROW A SEED GARDEN

Good Rules For the Inexperienced Gardener to Remember.

The one invariable rule of the experienced gardener is to order his seeds for the season's plantings as early in the year as seeds are obtainable.

It must be remembered, too, that for the best results seeds of some flowers, annuals and perennials, and of some vegetables must be planted indoors, nursed into sturdy growth before the season is come for outdoor planting and "grown out," as the gardener expresses it, so that they may be set in the open ground as soon as the spring is sufficiently advanced to make the transplanting safe.

For starting seeds indoors it is best to make use of shallow boxes some three or four inches deep. The florists call these "flats," and a visit to any florist's shop will supply the beginner with an idea of their construction. Avoid making them too wide or too long, for when filled with earth they are heavier than you would imagine. In the bottom of the boxes drill quarter inch holes and over these set bits of broken flowerpots. Fill in first with coarse earth, to which sand or ashes may be added to insure good drainage. Toward the top add finer earth until the surface layer, half an inch deep, is of soil that is finely pulverized. For very small seed fill the "flat" to within a quarter of an inch of the top of the box, sow the seed lightly, making sure of an uniform distribution as possible, and press these in place with a board. Water carefully with a fine spray and set the box in a warm, light situation.

Larger seed are covered to varying depths, depending upon the size of the seed. A safe rule is to bury the seed to a depth four times its own size. It is apparent, of course, that flats for these coarser seed are not filled so full of earth. It is generally advisable to fill the boxes partially to the point where the seed are to be planted, then to place the seeds on this surface at the required distance apart and finally to sift the pulverized earth on top until the boxes are filled to within a quarter inch of the top.

Perennials for the garden are easily raised from seed by the amateur, provided, of course, the professional gardener himself adopts that means of propagation. Some perennials, however, are best propagated by root division. Not a few may be grown from seed provided one has the time and patience to expend on them, but there is little to be gained with these when there is, comparatively speaking, a large group that responds readily to this sort of treatment. The perennials easiest raised from the seed are the following: Adonis, aquilegia, Alyssum saxatile, Bellis perennis, geranium, larkspur, phlox, campanula, delphinium, dianthus, gaultheria, Geranium sanguineum, digitalis, niphedea, heuchera, asters and lychnis. This list by no means exhausts the possibilities. There are other varieties that the gardener as he becomes more expert will add to his collection.

A word of advice may be permissible in regard to the purchase of seeds. It is a matter of economy to buy of standard firms, whose seed may be depended upon to be true in name, good in quality and most likely to germinate, even if the price seems a little higher than that demanded by other firms. The gardener must remember that he is seeking to gain time, to grow sturdy stock, and that he offsets both if he uses weak seed. The plant can be no better than its source, and it is well to see to it that only reliable seeds are sown. Study the catalogues thoroughly, proceed cautiously in the selection of varieties, either in flowers or vegetables; rely on established sorts rather than upon "novelties" and, as it was suggested in the beginning, lose no time in ordering the seeds required.

Reliable seeds at Orłowski & Son's. 171f

VALUE OF SILAGE AS A WINTER FEED

All farmers will agree that pastures furnish the most ideal feed for all classes of live stock, and, judging from the experiments, the most profitable adjunct of corn and hay in a ration for dairy cows, fattening steers and sheep, writes W. O. Forbes in the Kansas Farmer.

There is no feed like the green grasses of our pastures to tone up the system of the aged stock and put the young stock in a condition of thrift and growth.

What a boon it would be if we could have pasture for our stock the year around! But this is impossible, so the next best thing we can do is to find some feed that is as near like pasture grass as is possible, to find a feed that is palatable and one that can be raised on our farms.

In searching about for winter feeds of this description we find that there are only two such feeds which can be grown profitably. These feeds are roots and corn ensilage. In comparing the feeding value of the two we find that corn ensilage has a slight advantage, in that it gives us larger gains and milk yields, but this difference is very small and of little consequence. Let us consider, then, which crop gives the largest tonnage per acre and requires the least labor to grow.

First, we find that ensilage will yield on the average about one-half again as much per acre as mangels, the largest yielding root crop we can grow. In considering the labor, Amesbury of the Pennsylvania station says it costs over twice as much to feed and harvest an acre of roots as compared with raising and putting into the silo an acre of corn. Drawing our conclusion from these statements, corn ensilage is by far the better pasture substitute of the two.

Professor A. L. Haefler of the Nebraska station has worked out some interesting data on the cost of producing a ton of silage. Figuring in the rent of land, plowing, cost of seed, planting and cultivating, he found that it cost 72 cents per ton. The cost of filling the silo, allowing a liberal wage for men and teams, he found to be 74 cents per ton. The cost of machinery and storage, including all items such as interest on money invested, depreciation and repairs and even taxes and insurance, was 48 cents per ton. Adding these three initial costs together, we find that the cost of producing a ton of corn silage to be $1.94. Professor John Bower of Iowa has another way of figuring it in which he arrives at about the same figures.

The next question would be, What is a ton of corn ensilage worth? Since it has no market value, because it cannot be shipped or hauled about, we will have to figure its value by comparing it with other feeds and roughage. On this basis the best authorities estimate its value at from $5 to $6 per ton. Taking the lowest value of $5 per ton and deducting $1.94, the cost of a ton of silage, we still have a margin of $3.06 per ton. On a hundred ton silo this would mean a saving in one year of $306 worth of feed, to say nothing of the labor saved and the general good condition of the stock resulting from the feeding of silage. So the farmers are right who testify that a silo erected on their farms and filled will pay for itself in a year.

FARM WISDOM.

Animals to retain health must have fresh air and sunshine, and yet there are thousands of farms that afford neither.

A pen of hogs is nearly always a sign of a thrifty farmer, and the larger the number the greater the indications of thrift.

Horse pelts are considerable when it exports to thoughtful care of one's horse when it is exposed to wintry weather.

The sheep know their master's voice—there is no doubt about that. But it is more important to know what they do when they hear it—whether they flee in fear or come with expectancy.

Winter is a most trying time of the year to make good quality butter, but it can be done. Intelligent care will do it, and the price of which good butter is selling makes it worth while to take pains.

There ought to be a pleasurable excitement in raising one's better calves and testing them after they "come in." One runs a chance always of finding a half a ton of butter a year out of his herd, and that is like finding a pearl.

FEEDING BEEF CALVES.

Method Practiced by a Successful Nebraska Farmer.

Feeding baby beef for market is perhaps the most highly specialized industry in our whole system of live stock management, with the possible exception of "priming" hoghouse lams. Baby beef is a highly finished product. It takes a careful and skillful feeder to produce it, and the finished product must be first class in order to command a profitable market, says Orange Juhl Farmer.

Out in Hall county, Neb., lives a young German farmer, Paul Frauten by name, who is the expert baby beef feeder of the whole Platte valley. He sort of grew up in the lusher or the art was handed down to him by his father, who has been a cattle feeder for a great many years.

I save you money on single harness. I have them in all styles and prices.

A good plain harness at $8.50
Exceptionally good value at $12.00
Others at $14.00, $16.00, $18.00

Remember my harness is fully guaranteed and seeing my line will satisfy you that I can save you money.
Also a large assortment of Heavy Harness.

Benj. Brown

Would advise you to test your Seed Corn at once, as there was very little Corn grown by our farmers last summer suitable for seed.

If it don't test good enough, we have some that will.

S. ORŁOWSKI & SON

The main factors of success in feeding young cattle for baby beef, according to Mr. Frauten's experience, are first, securing well bred, high class animals and, second, feeding them growing and thrifty by feeding heavily all the time. The Frautens have used pure bred stock continuously in their herd with the result that their stock is very high grade Herefords and Shorthorns. These high class cows crossed with pure bred shire produce calves in every way suited to the requirements of baby beef production.

"We keep our cows well fed and thrifty so they are able to produce strong, large calves," says Mr. Frauten, "and then we feed for heavy milk production so that the greatest growth and development are secured while the

The chief factor in the progress of my Shorthorn breeding has been a good bull, says a Iowa stock raiser in Breeder's Gazette. Judging from my experience and observation, this foundation is the most important influence in founding a herd and assuring the subsequent success of any breeder. Through the agency of a persistent sire a uniformity of type may be established. This to a large extent determines a breeder's standing and the prices which he may command. Important as it is to have a good sire, it is quite as essential that the females should be of a high order. The Shorthorn bull shown was a prize winner last fall.

calves run with their dams. Whenever it is possible to do so we arrange a creep for the calves and keep a rush of bran or other grain in the trough. I like to wear the calves rather early in the fall before all the green pasture is gone. I feed them ground corn and alfalfa hay as roughage and have chopped corn and crushed oats in the troughs where they can reach it.

If the calves have been handled as I have outlined, receiving considerable grain from the time they are able to eat it, there is little difficulty in getting them on full feed. I feed ground corn and cob meal and pea size flake. When I have plenty of hogs following to take care of the waste I also feed

SHOES

Just keep it in mind—we handle shoes—shoes that are built for wear, stand the wear, and cost less than you pay at other stores.

SMITH-WALLA E SHOES

are guaranteed to stand the wear and tear of all kinds of weather and conditions. The price we ask for them leaves some change in the pocketbook. Call and see them.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor
320 Bridge Street Next to Bakers' Inn

All Tickets Are Out

We have ordered the dishes for which we have been giving tickets and will redeem all tickets outstanding. No more tickets will be given out, but we will sell you Groceries and Meats at attention compelling prices. Bear in mind that our stock is always fresh.

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE
Telephone 125 Antrim Street

Let me do your DRAYING

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time.

Phone 373

When you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.

Moving Household Goods A SPECIALTY.

CHARLES TAYLOR

whole shelled corn, but better gains are secured if the grain is crushed or chopped. I always save the third cutting of alfalfa for my baby beef because the stems are finer and the quality generally higher. If I don't have enough first class alfalfa for the whole season I save the best until last and use it to put in high finish on the calves. "The calves are put on feed in December and are fed in open lots. A comfortable shed opening to the south fur places shelter to the young animals whenever they want it, but during most of the winter they prefer to sleep in the open air. I keep the feed yard well bodied and am particularly careful to have plenty of straw under foot during the snowy and wet seasons. Feeding is all done in the open. Plenty of good, pure water is always before the calves and salt is given liberally."

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 21

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

OPINIONS FROM APPLE EXPERTS

Given to Illinois Enquirer on Best Varieties of Trees to Set Out.

IN GRAND TRAVERSE REGION

Answered by W. H. Shirley, and Professors Eustace and Taft.

Would Use Wagener as Filler—Wealthy and Duchs Also Used—Very Little Gained by Top-Worked Spies.

Question: I want to plant about 20 acres of apples in northern Michigan along side of an old orchard I have now, which will pay the cost of maintaining the new one. Want to put in some Spies and fill them with peaches, at least five acres.

If I put in more Spies what apple will be the best filler? I am located on high land, near Traverse City, close to the big lake and to a small lake also. Will Jonathans grow well up there? Would it be wise to put Spies 4 feet apart and Jonathans as fillers 22 feet apart? If Jonathans go in alone, how big a tree do they become? Are they as early a bearing variety as the Wagener?

Is twenty-ounce Pippin a commercial apple, and if so, when will it bear, and how big a tree does it become? We have few old trees that raised some remarkable fruit this year, twenty-ounce Pippins.

One reputable nursery quotes and urges a Northern Spy grafted onto another stock as Greening, saying it will leave four or five years. What do you think of the claim?—F. W. B. Illinois.

Answer by Prof. H. J. Eustace, Michigan Agricultural College: We would suggest that you consider the Wagener apple as filler among the Spies, rather than the Jonathan. The Jonathan will make a good tree, but in your section of the country, it is not likely to attain the size which you would probably be satisfied with. It is more of a southern apple than is the Wagener, which will grow to a high degree of perfection in your region.

We would not advise you to plant commercially of the Twenty-ounce Pippin in your region. It is very well for planting in the south and in some other sections, but it has not been sufficiently tested in your region.

We cannot advise you to plant some varieties, such as the Greening, and then top graft it to the Northern Spy. This is frequently spoken of, but we do not know of any authentic cases where four or five years has been saved in bringing the Northern Spy into bearing in this way. We have seen Northern Spy this fall, seven years old, that bore a dozen to fifteen very fine fruits, and this was done by a lot of splendid care and good heavy pruning.

Answer by W. H. Shirley, M. H. Grove—I would say to set the Spies 50 feet apart and use Wagener or Jonathan as fillers. Set on the diagonal plan. Wagener is much the earliest bearer of the two. Jonathan is not so very large growing a tree as many other varieties, and when set alone 40 feet is about right.

Twenty-ounce is not a profitable variety in this (Allegan) section, although it might be in the Traverse section, as some varieties of apples ripen later there than here. It is a shy bearer with us.

I am unable to say anything about Northern Spy grafted on Greening, but I would try a few if I were planting an orchard again.

Answer by Prof. L. R. Taft—Wagener, Wealthy and Duchs are the varieties most commonly used as fillers in Michigan. Jonathan also is a good variety for the purpose if given good care, otherwise the fruit will be small. It succeeds well in Michigan, if the conditions are favorable. Owing to its drooping habit it requires less room than most sorts, but it needs more than Wagener, and if used with Northern Spy, nothing less than 22 feet should be used as the distance between the trees. Although an early bearing sort, it does not bear as early as the Wagener.

The Twenty-ounce Pippin is seldom grown, and is not a desirable variety. The name, however, is often confused with that of another variety, Twenty Onnee, which is quite distinct. This is often grown on a commercial scale, and is probably the variety referred to. Although it sells readily, the trees do not bear as regularly as many sorts and the fruit often drops badly unless picked early. Its bearing age is about like that of the Baldwin.

Very little will be gained along the line mentioned by using top-worked Northern Spy trees.

DANCING PARTY

Thursday Evening in Honor of Birthday of Mr. and Mrs. Wildern.

About twenty-five couples were pleasantly entertained at an informal dancing party at the Bank Hall, Thursday evening in honor of the birthdays of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wildern.

The dance hall and parlors were prettily decorated. The music was furnished by the Cohen orchestra. Punch was served during the entire evening.

The out-of-town guests were F. Y. Rice, O. A. Porter, H. E. Bowen and their wives, Mrs. Kortof, Miss Hall and Miss Wingate, all of Pelee, who came over in automobiles.

The guests departed at a late hour, hoping to celebrate with Mr. and Mrs. Wildern on another birthday.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE CAMPAIGN NOTES

Advocates Are Busily at Work in all Parts of the Country.

Opinions on Question as Expressed by Several Members of Congress.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union, of Detroit, is to take an active part in the woman suffrage campaign in Michigan.

Oakland county has begun to organize in the votes-for-women movement. Mrs. D. H. Glass, wife of the Methodist minister at Pontiac, is president, and Probate Judge K. P. Rockwell, of Pontiac, is treasurer of the organization formed.

The Suffrage Federation of Cook county has been formed in Illinois largely through the efforts of Miss Jane Addams. Thirty-two woman suffrage clubs in the county have thus joined the federation. One of the objective points planned for is to ask the National Republican convention to incorporate an equal suffrage plank in its platform.

The Democratic State Convention of Pennsylvania has put in its platform a plank calling for an immediate referendum on the question of woman suffrage.

Congress has been discussing the granting of suffrage to women in Alaska. In the course of the debate Representative Stephens of California said: Woman suffrage in California has convincingly demonstrated its usefulness and value. I believe we should have equal suffrage in every state and territory.

Representative Hobson of Alabama declared himself to be in favor of woman suffrage, because woman's influence is so greatly needed in legislation bearing upon child life and public morals and health.

Representative Berger of Wisconsin favored woman suffrage as a matter of democracy. He said: "Women form fully one-half of the adult population. They are folks, like men. They ought to have same rights and privileges." The Chicago Record-Herald says editorially in a recent issue regarding the woman suffrage parade in New York city: "Last Saturday the 'votes for women' advocates held a parade. In 1911 there were 3000 marchers. This year there were 20,000. The marchers were encouraged all the way. The clowns and cheerleaders were absent. Many, including the police inspector in charge of the parade, declared themselves converts so impressed were they by the physical and moral character of the demonstration."

For Sale.

Choice thoroughbred White Leghorn eggs. $1.00 for fifteen. A. J. Shockley, Charlevoix, Mich. 1912

Everything in seeds at Orlovski & Son's. 1911

CHARLEVOIX'S OPPORTUNITY ---WILL SHE GRASP IT?

Emerson W. Price Writes Letter in Regard to Park Project—No Up-to-date City Can Afford to Be Without Such a Breathing Spot—Location in Center of City Would Be An Ideal Spot.

I have before me the issue of The Courier of Wednesday, May 15th and note the article on first page on the subject of a park in the commercial section of the city and which recommends the purchase of the Green property for that purpose.

Every summer for twenty years I have spent in Charlevoix and have a love deep and abiding for it and for all that will promote its well-being and insure its success and prosperity, and I feel no apology is necessary for the views expressed here.

Charlevoix needs a park in just such a location and needs it badly—a shady, restful, inviting spot in the heart of the business section and on the shore of Round Lake. A place where those who are tired may find a cheery, attractive place to rest, read or visit.

If I have ever heard a single criticism often repeated and urged, it has been that Charlevoix has never provided a comfortable "out-of-doors" resting place in its business center. This place is a logical site—in fact, it is ideal. The stores, post office, banks, telephone and telegraph offices on one side, and the ferry and boat landings, with all the activity of Round Lake on the other. Shady, cool, inviting, accessible.

No city, especially no summer city, as up to date and prosperous as Charlevoix, and drawing to her doors the class of residents that each year come in increasing numbers, can afford to be without just such a spot.

This is Charlevoix's opportunity—a fascinating, logical, beautiful spot, ready to hand, and which if secured now and for the purpose outlined, will in the years to come prove to be, not only its chiefest jewel, but an investment that will add value, charm and delight to a charming and delightful city.

Emerson W. Price, Lima, O.

The above from Mr. Price, one of our best known summer residents, hits the nail squarely on the head. Charlevoix's opportunity is before her. Will she grasp it or let it pass by? Now is the time to take it up or at least to sound public sentiment, and we welcome comment on the proposal. Gentlemen of the council get busy and ascertain the views of the citizens. If we want to secure this site for a city park we must do it at once.

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Daniel S. Payton Will Seek Nomination for County Treasurer.

In this issue Daniel S. Payton announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination for county treasurer.

Mr. Payton has served the people in this important position before and made a record for correctness and efficiency second to none in the state.

He is one of the directors of the Western Michigan Development bureau and Charlevoix county has no more enthusiastic booster than Daniel S. Payton.

SHOULD BE PLOWED AT ONCE

Alfalfa Growers Should Hasten Preparation of the Seed Bed.

Inoculation Material Will be Furnished by U. S. Department of Agriculture.

M. M. Burnham, president of the Potosky Improvement Association and authority in growing of alfalfa in Western Michigan, has issued the following statement that is of interest to alfalfa growers:

"Not less than ten thousand acres should be sown to alfalfa in Western Michigan this spring. Good Montana seed is being sold by local dealers at $10.00 per bushel—about two-thirds the price of mammoth clover. Those who intend liming, or fertilizing the soil for alfalfa should make the application thereof as early a date as the condition of the soil will admit it, as it will add to its usefulness for this year to get the fertilizer thoroughly incorporated with the soil before sowing the alfalfa. To get the greatest good from liming, especially if ground limestone is used, the lime should be sown a year in advance of the seed."

"It is proposed to inoculate the seed before sowing, the material for inoculation can be procured from the Agriculture Department, at Washington, D. C., at any time, and it will be mailed free to all applicants at any time."

"Soil to be sown this spring should be plowed at once (if not already plowed) and is should be cultivated weekly until June 1st, when the seed should (preferably) be sown. If this thorough course of cultivation is followed, and no 'nurse crop' is sown, with it there will be no danger of deteriorating effects because of the hot and dry weather. Thorough and long continued cultivation of the seed bed before seeding is imperative to success in this section."

PASSED AWAY LAST THURSDAY

Mrs. Ernest J. Miller's Life Struggle is Over—Leaves Husband and Son.

One of Charlevoix Most Highly Respected Residents Called Early in Life.

Died, at her home in this city Thursday afternoon, after a brief illness, Mrs. Ernest J. Miller.

Martha Underwood Miller was born June 19, 1882, at Holland, Mich., where her girlhood days were spent. In 1899 she moved, with her parents, to Ionia county, where she resided until her marriage to Ernest J. Miller, which occurred on the anniversary of her birth, June 19, 1908, since when she has resided in this city.

She leaves, besides her husband, one son, Don aged three; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kenyon, of Portland and three sisters, Misses Florence, Dorothy and Alena Kenyon, all of Ionia county, and five brothers, Delbert and Frank of North Dakota and Raymond, Nathan and Charlie Kenyon of Portland.

She was a member of the Methodist church and of Charlevoix Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah.

The funeral was held Saturday at the Methodist church Rev. F. M. Taylor officiating. Burial at Brookside.

Seldom has it been the lot of the Courier to record a sadder death than that of Mrs. Miller. Since coming to our city she had gained a place in the hearts of our citizens by her quiet manner and was in the fullest sense, one of the highest types of an American wife and mother. The high regard in which she was held was manifested by the many beautiful floral tributes and the large attendance from our different organizations. As a further mark of respect our city officials attended the funeral in a body and the business houses were closed during the hours of the funeral.

Coming May 30.

Thursday, May 30th, is the date when J. Leahy, the optometrist, will be at Baker's Inn, one day only. Headache-cured, crossed-eyes straightened, glasses guaranteed to fit. 2012

MAY FESTIVAL

To be Given by the Grades at Opera House Friday Evening May 24.

Following is the program for the May festival which will be given by the grade pupils in our public schools at the opera house Friday evening May 24.

1. Revel of the Leaves—G. A. Venzie, Chorus.
2. Little Cotton Dolly—Adam Gelbel, Edna Noble.
3. Butterfly Dance, Phila Armstrong.
4. a Papa's Letter—Adon; b Lias, —P. L. Dunbar, Pauline Markam.
5. Housemaids' Chorus—From Opera "Bulbul," 7th and 8th grade girls.
6. a Bringing the Cattle Home—Jessie Gaynor; b A Boy's Song—Jessie Gaynor; Ralph Coulter, Franklin Weaver, Lloyd Auld, Perry Mason.
7. The Call to Arms—G. A. Venzie, Chorus.
8. Subject to change.
9. "Patsy," Kate D. Wiggins, Hazel Mills.
10. a "Ave Maria," b "Miserere," —I'll Trovatore, Helen Armstrong.
11. Out on the Deep—F. N. Lohr, 7th and 8th grade boys.
12. a A Spring Song—Ciro Piusanti; b Baby's Boat—Jessie Gaynor, 6 H. S. Girls.
13. Sailor's Hornpipe.
14. Skating Song—G. A. Venzie, Chorus.

COUNTY LOCAL OPTION FORCES

Hold a Very Important Meeting at Boyne City Last Week.

Committees are Appointed to Look After the Different Phases of the Work.

Last week the executive and other committees of the county local option organization held a meeting at Boyne City to close up the affairs of the campaign and to arrange for future contests and the enforcement of what has already been gained.

The three important committees of the organization—executive, law and order and publicity were named. The executive committee consists of Hon. W. J. Pearson, Boyne Falls, chairman; W. H. White and J. M. Harris, Boyne City; R. W. Kane, Charlevoix; A. H. Clark, Marquette, together with W. P. Porter, of East Jordan, president of the county organization, ex-officio member.

The committee on law and order is J. M. Harris, Boyne City, chairman; W. H. White, Boyne City; Hon. W. J. Pearson, Boyne Falls; W. P. Porter, East Jordan; R. W. Kane, Charlevoix.

R. W. Kane was named as chairman of the publicity committee and empowered to select the remaining members of the committee. There was no change made in the officers of the general county organization but the work of the old officials was heartily endorsed and commended.

The meeting went carefully over the financial affairs of the organization, and prioritized the expenses among the towns. Everything was found in the best of shape, and ready for any further action that might be necessary.

It was determined that there should be a strict lookout kept for violators of the local option law, bootleggers and other perpetrators of vice and crime, and that information would be secured, not only to tell the people about it, but to furnish the evidence for the officers to enable them to make arrests and to punish the guilty. The committee having this in charge invites the co-operation of every person in Charlevoix county who has the interests of the county's moral welfare at heart, and it is hoped that all will help this stand for the right and law enforcement—keeping the county even cleaner than it has been for the past three years.

The ladies of the Congregational church will serve a 25 cent supper in the church parlors, on Wednesday evening, May 23, from 5:30 to 8:00 o'clock. 2111

The Norwood Sunshine Circle will give a program at the hall Friday evening, May 24. Ice cream will be served—all for 25 cents. Everyone invited. 2111

OFFICIAL PROGRAM MEMORIAL DAY

Arrangements are Announced by Committee of Woman's Relief Corps.

FOR THURSDAY MAY THIRTIETH

Rev. F. M. Taylor Will Deliver the Principal Address.

Public School Children Will Assist—It is Hoped That Citizens Generally Will Turn Out in Memory of the Dead.

As usual the proper arrangements have been made for the observance of Memorial day in this city, the work being in charge of the W. R. C. Sunday morning the veterans and W. R. C. will attend the Congregational church where they will be addressed by Rev. H. A. Putnam. Undoubtedly there will be a large attendance of citizens at this service as it is probably the last Sunday this popular minister will be with us.

At 10:00 o'clock a. m. Memorial Day the procession will be formed by Capt. Harrison Berlan, Master of Ceremonies, and D. C. Nettleton, Marshall of the Day, at the I. O. O. F. hall on Bridge street and headed by the band, will proceed to the cemetery where the following program will be carried out.

Music by the Band.
Song—America, Schools.
Prayer, Rev. B. Atchison.
Remarks, Mayor Olin Nordrum.
Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, Miss Deibel.

Chorus, Public School Children.
Address, Rev. F. M. Taylor.
Ritualistic Work of the W. R. C.
Song, Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Benediction, Rev. H. A. Putnam.
It is hoped that there will be a general turning out of the citizens generally, and all the assistance possible will be given the veterans, whose ranks have become so thin that they could no longer keep up a post, and the Relief corps in rendering proper tribute to those who suffered that our country might survive as one nation.

COURT ADJOURNED

Williams Acquitted by Jury—Jury Excused Subject to Call of the Court.

Circuit court opened up Monday morning with Judge Lantz of Cadillac on the bench in the absence of Judge Mayne. The following disposition was made of the cases on the calendar:

People vs. Henry, nolle pros.
People vs. Caldwell, dismissed.
People vs. Aune, dismissed.
People vs. Watson, continued.
People vs. Allard, arraigned and stood mute, plea of not guilty entered, continued.
People vs. Williams, tried and verdict of not guilty given.
People vs. Joels, continued.
People vs. Benson, sentence suspended.
People vs. Clark, nolle pros, re-arrested and continued.
People vs. Whaling, suspended sentence.
People vs. Nazur, continued.
People vs. Mikowick, continued.
Issues of Fact.
Kane vs. Hoyte, plaintiff wins.
Tuesday afternoon the jury was excused to call of the court.

REPUBLICAN CLUB

Will Hold Annual Banquet at Boyne City June Fourteenth.

The executive committee of the Charlevoix County Republican club have fixed upon June 14 at the Wolverine hotel, Boyne City, as the time and place for the annual banquet. The program has not as yet been arranged nor speakers secured but will be announced later.

As this will probably be the last gathering together of the Republicanists prior to the election it is hoped that every active Republican will plan to attend.

Reliable seeds at Orlovski & Son's. 1911

CORRESPONDENCE

CLARION
Mr. and Mrs. Jones went to Charlevoix on Monday.

Paul and Jean Couden spent Sunday with their parents.

The Ladies' Aid will meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. Webster.

Frank Banks and G. W. Ruffe are attending court at Charlevoix this week.

W. W. Niles and family returned to Walloon, Lake last week from Curtis.

There will be a Memorial service held at the M. E. church here on Sunday, May 26.

Mrs. Catherine Gundy returned Friday from Indiana, where she has been visiting her daughter.

Miss Virginia Johnson and Miss Inez Jounce took the 8th grade examination at Petoskey last week.

Going to build this spring? The place to buy your lime, pulp plaster, brick, and other material is at the Builders' Supply Co., phone 86 2r.

BARNARD.

Lottie Ager was seven years old Sunday.

Sam Chase moved into his new house last week.

Ed Heise, wife and baby and Annie Ager spent Sunday at home.

The Ladies' Aid society have had the church papered and cleaned.

Lloyd Gregory is quite lame in his knees. He expects to go to Petoskey again for treatment.

The friends of George Willis will be sorry to hear of his wife's death. He took her to New Mexico last fall in hopes of her regaining her health but in vain. She died on May 1, leaving her husband and three small children.

Headquarter for seeds at S. Orlovski & Son's.

NORTH BAY.

School closed in District No. 1 Tuesday.

Thomas Fletcher's barn was raised Tuesday May 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McLellan and daughter visited at Charles North's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Long attended the Methodist church at Horton Bay Sunday.

William Drums of Carpenter was buried Wednesday. Elder Weaver of Petoskey had charge.

Iva North returned home Saturday after spending a few days with her brother and family in Petoskey.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders' Supply Co. 17r.

BEAVER ISLAND

The R. C. Wentz loaded lumber here this week.

D. C. Schweizer has sold out his mill and timber holdings to G. Cole.

N. Lafreniere and wife returned home from Grand Rapids and Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Schindler are spending this week in Manistee and Chicago.

Dr. King of Charlevoix was called here Monday by the illness of Mrs. A. Roddy.

C. C. Gallagher, John King, Will Gilden and Thos. Burke are jurors at this term of court.

Charlevoix Rock

Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland

PHONE 297

BACK GIVES OUT

Plethora of Charlevoix Readers Have This Experience.

Your tax the kidneys—overwork them—

They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back gives out—it aches and pains.

Urinary troubles set in.

Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

Residents of this vicinity endorse them.

Can Charlevoix people doubt the fact of evidence?

G. E. Bristol, 514 N. East street, Boyne City, Mich., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, obtained at Watson's Drug Store, and have found them to be a remedy of merit. I have been ailing for some time by a persistent ache and pain in the small of my back. My kidneys did not act as they should. I obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them as directed. I recommend them, for I am feeling so much better in every way since I used them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Francis Donlevy left on Monday's boat for Chicago to visit his brother John who is quite ill.

Miss Beatrice J. Gallagher left on Monday's boat for Milwaukee on a short visit with her sister.

County Commissioner of Schools Clifford and Trust Officer Bashaw were island visitors last week.

Mayor Germaine of Traverse City was here last week looking over his timber holdings on the island.

Henry Lalreniere had the misfortune to leave his foot badly jammed by the carriage in B. L. Co.'s Mill.

The prompt and efficient work of the bucket brigade saved Mrs. E. McDonald's house from destruction by fire Sunday afternoon.

The Senior class of St. James high school will hold commencement exercises on June 24th. A fine program is out for the occasion.

Capt. "Tim" Roddy, who has spent the past three weeks with his family here, returned to Chicago, Mr. Roddy goes on the steamer Ministee this season.

School Reports

C. H. S. NOTES.

Are you going to the May Festival Friday evening? Don't miss it.

Zona Adams and Ora Esler were H. S. visitors Tuesday p. m.

We are glad to see the eighth graders looking a little happier this week. These examinations were rather stiff, but never mind, the joys of freshman life will more than compensate.

The following visited H. S. Thursday afternoon, Guy Dorgan, Geo. Finnane, Bessie Howe, Margaret Woods, Lottie Cohen. "Thursday always was our Junior day."

School began half an hour early last Friday and closed at 12 o'clock instead of 11:15 in order that we might get through with our day's work and go to Boyne City with the ball team. We are not enthusiastic about the single session.

The members of the Physics class are studying the X ray, but they don't seem to see through it.

The greatest teams as well as the greatest men often fall. The C. H. S. baseball and cross country teams are good climbers but they slipped on a little town at the head of the Pine Lake. Friday afternoon our teams, accompanied by a half hundred rooters, went to Boyne City with high ambitions and a double hitch on victory. At 3 o'clock the cross-country race was announced. The seven-mile course included many hills and the roots were rough. It was a big undertaking for the C. H. S. athletes but they were game and Skye succeeded in landing third and Durance fifth place. Boyne now possesses, in addition to the other attractions, the champion C. C. team of Northern Michigan.

In baseball we did not fare much better as the game ended with the score standing 10-4 in Boyne's favor. From the 2d to the 8th inning the boys played a remarkably fine game and it is worthy of note that during the entire game Boyne got but 3 hits and Charlevoix 12. Next Saturday our team will take revenge on the East Jordan nine. The game will be played on our home grounds. Come out and cheer for the boys.

Concrete blocks for the cellar and other improvements the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co.

SHEEP ON THE FARM.

Mutton Breeds Return Best Profits to the Small Grower.

The most profitable kind of sheep for the eastern farmer with his limited acres is undoubtedly the mutton sheep, writes C. C. Page in Country Gentleman.

From a standpoint of best returns for care and feed the mutton breeds should be ranked in the following order: Dorset, Southdown, Shropshire, Hampshire, Cotswold, Lincoln, and so on.

The experience of the writer has been that the first three breeds are undoubtedly the ones for the farmer to choose from. The Dorset breeds twice a year and often produces twins. In selected flocks from 60 to 70 per cent. have twins. They will shear about nine pounds of wool, worth 21 cents a pound, and the lambs will bring about 25 each.

The Southdown should be classed next to the Dorset in not returns. Although one of the smallest breeds, it furnishes the largest leg of mutton and ranks first in early maturity, quality and dressing. The Shropshire is a very profitable sheep in rough pastures, being a hardy rustler. It also furnishes excellent mutton. If warm quarters are to be had and plenty of attention

The Southdown is the generally accepted type of the mutton and short wool sheep. The breed takes its name from the downs that face the southern coast of England. Its smooth, even body, its round, clean barrel, its short legs, its fine head and broad saddle make it profitable for the American breeder or farmer. Its mutton has long been well and highly, both here and abroad, always bringing the highest price.

can be given, the selection of the breed may be made with a view to producing both ewes and lambs.

Sheep should not be kept with horses or swine, for they are liable to get killed. They will go fairly well with rows, but leave a strong scent that the cattle do not like. The very best grain ration that can be given to sheep is a mixture of equal parts of oats, bran and cracked corn. A 200 pound ewe should receive one and a half bushels of this ration a day. A good general ration is clover hay and corn fodder. Too much alfalfa hay should not be fed. Care should also be observed in feeding alfalfa, for large quantities will cause abortion in breeding ewes.

Sometimes the market demands a pink test, which may be obtained by feeding peas and alfalfa. Sheep do best on high rolling ground. Low ground produces foot rot and parasites. Sheep should not be allowed to run for more than two years in succession in any one field, since their close grazing will finally cause the pasture to die out.

Rates under one and a half years of age should not be used. Ordinarily one hundred and fifty ewes may be allowed to run with one mature ram during a season. It is best to have the ewes all come in at about the same time.

THE SHEPHERD.

Let the sheep out in the yards on fine days, but never expose them to storms.

Old ewes should be fattened and disposed of before they lose any teeth. They are all right, as a rule, up to six years or a little older.

Ten tons of hay will feed 100 sheep one year. The hay should be clover, alfalfa or mixed grasses, such as redtop, blue grass, timothy, etc.

Sheep, like other animals, are creatures of habit and should always be handled by the same attendant, who should move among them gently and give notice of his approach by speaking to the flock.

It is not wise to let the hands shift for themselves with older sheep.

Sheep should have salt by them all the time. Keep salt in a box in the pen or pens and keep salt in it all the time. If deprived of salt they might eat too much when a fresh supply is given.

THE SUCCESSFUL COW.

Points That Indicate a Profitable Dairy Animal.

The three essentials for a successful dairy cow are vigor, capacity for food and well developed organs for milk production. The cow must have a good breathing apparatus, indicated by a large nostril, wide breast and good width across the floor of the chest. Good width here and good girth indicate a good heart. The eye is also an indicator of strength and good physique, as well as temperament. A strong nerve system is also essential.

It is a well known fact that the longer the top line of the cow's back the more vigor and strength she possesses. A full, well developed hindquarters is also an indication of strength and good physique.

and level. In the conformation of the thighs and legs there should be ample under round.

The udder itself should commence well up and extend along the under line until it gradually blends with it, thus insuring the greatest capacity.

The veins should be prominent, indicating a large amount of blood circulation. The milk vein which extends from the udder along the under side of the abdominal wall should be large, crooked and long. These veins bear a direct relation to the milk secret.

In addition to these general characteristics a breeder may desire distinguishing breed characteristics and quality of type in his herd.

A happy combination of pedigree and selection of the animal is what is needed by the breeder. The more animals one has of high breeding quality in the pedigree the less likelihood one has of bringing together two low producing elements and getting as a result an animal of low production. It is generally conceded that the influence of parents in heredity is 50 per cent. of the grandparents 25 per cent. and of the great-grandparents 12.5 per cent. Thus an animal that is removed six or seven generations from another animal under consideration has but small influence. Professor P. A. Campbell, Maine Experiment Station.

The Dairy Herd.

A man's dairy herd will be just what his ideas of a dairy herd are. If he gives the herd no thought it will be a poor herd with small producing ability. It is the amount of thought and applied energy that causes a man to rise above the average, whether in dairying or in any other growing.

A dairy herd can't be built up by growing and feeding food alone. The man's mind and the thought that only can go with improved stock. These conditions give you the best thought of the time in dairy herd improvement, and so does the thinking. If you will apply the thought it will be well worth your while. Kansas Farmer.

Fresh Earth For Hogs.

If you are not situated so that you can let your hogs out, draw a load of earth and throw it over into the pens now and then. The hogs will work it over and take a lot of comfort doing it. Makes them grow faster too.

Children very often have trouble with their kidneys and bladder either as a result of weakness or of some children's disease. Mrs. John Thomas, Escanaba, Mich., says: "My little boy had a severe pain across his back and was so nervous he could not sleep at night but Foley Kidney Pills cured him in a short time." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

COUNTY NORMAL.

Lillian Flanders had charge of Miss Swene's room for a short time last Thursday morning.

Last Wednesday some tests were started with squash, beet, corn, alfalfa, buckwheat, rye, wheat, onion and tomato seeds. The rye and wheat are being tested so that we will be able to see the difference between them when they first come up above the ground.

Miss Hines received a letter from Miss Bessie Straw of the class of '07, who is down in Texas for her health. Miss Straw is getting along nicely but is unable to return this year.

The normal class and training room children have done some more planting in the garden.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than in other districts put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Dr. J. C. Chas. & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional medicine on the market. It is taken internally in the form of a small pill, and it acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case of catarrh cured. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: J. C. CHAS. & CO., Toledo, Ohio, Small Pills for Catarrh.

Take Hall's Kidney Pills for constipation.

Also and Hines are also followed possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 86 2r.

17r.

BANK

The compliments of the Directors and Officers of this Bank are presented to you with the respectful request that you will avail yourself immediately of our services. We can help you. Come in and let us talk it over.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A GOOD BANK IN A GOOD TOWN

—Directors—

R. P. FOLEY
W. J. RACHOW
J. L. CRANE

G. C. GEIKEN
JOHN BURNS
P. D. CAMPBELL

H. S. HARSHA

—Officers—

R. P. FOLEY, President
G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier
C. O. McMAHAN, Asst. Cashier

All Business given this Bank receives our personal attention. You are welcome to use our new offices at all times.

Bargain Sale One Week

For CASH ONLY From

May 22 to May 30

10c package Azie	3c
13c and 15c Prunes	10c
13c can Huron Peas	10c
20c can Peasant Salmon	15c
7 bars Lenox Soap	25c
12 bars Calumet Soap	25c
10c pkg Sun Cured Tobacco	5c
Two 5c pkgs Oakleaf Soap P'd'r	5c
10c pkg Voight's Cream Flakes	5c
Two 5c pkgs Bazaar Matches	5c

SPECIAL WEEK SHOE SALE

15c Baby Moccasins	10c pair
25c Baby Shoes	19c pair
50c Baby Shoes	37c pair
No. 1662 Child's $1 Shoes	60c pair
No. 1208 Child's $1.25 Shoes	80c pr

Special sale for one week on all Baby's, Children's and Misses' shoes

We still have a lot of Men's, Ladies' and Boys' lace shoes to close out at Very Low Prices THIS WEEK

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"

The Great Remedy for
Rheumatism, Lumbago,
Sciatica, Gout, Neuritis,
La Grippe and Kidney
Trouble.

Applied externally, it cures
all aches and pains. Taken internally, it dissolves the
poisonous substance and restores the system to a healthy
condition. Sold by Druggists.

One Dollar per bottle, or sent prepaid upon receipt of price if not obtainable
in your locality.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
100 Lake Street, Chicago

SKIN SORES

Easily and Quickly Healed

Those who suffer
from eczema, pimples,
eruptions, itching,
burns, salt rheum, ringworm, head and neck. A single application of this medicine
restores the system to a healthy
condition. Sold by Druggists.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25
and 50 cent packages, and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not obtainable in your locality,
you can order direct from Swanson R. Co.,
100 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent postpaid upon receipt of price. It is an excellent remedy for cracked skin and scalp tumors.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
100 Lake Street, Chicago

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON

Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Plats on Short Notice
VAN PELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH

Attorney at Law -
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

LESLIE SHANAHAN

Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD

Dentist
Office in Van Pelt Building
Over Levison's Store
Phone 137 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 65; residence 265.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. R. ARMSTRONG, M.D.

Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE,
EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co.'s drug store,
telephone No. 235. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE

Physician and Surgeon
Succeeding Dr. LeFevre.
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Office in Van Pelt Building Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled
some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address
Central Lake, Mich. Phone 100-100.

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
$1,000.00 for loss of limb or eyesight
$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
Cost $5.00 per year. No other dues nor assessments.

Old established Company with
$100,000.00 State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.
Men and Women between 16 and 65
accepted, according to occupation.
For further information address:
AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY
Dept. 19 Box 441 Erie, Pa.

Incorrigible.

"Have you laid by anything for a rainy day?" asked the serious friend.
"Yes," replied the frivolous person.
"I'm cutting out all the 'fair and warmer' weather predictions and preserving them."—Washington Star.

BY GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday
Page & Company.

CHAPTER V.

Wherein Mrs. Comstock Laughs the First Time in Sixteen Years.

THE neighbor left, and Margaret packed her purchases into the big market basket. Wesley took the hat, umbrella and raincoat, and they went down to Mrs. Com-stock's. As they reached the step Margaret spoke pleasantly to Mrs. Comstock, who sat reading just inside the door, but she did not answer.

Wesley Sinton opened the door and went in, followed by Margaret.
"Kate," he said, "you needn't take out your mad over our little racket on Maggie. I ain't told her a word I said to you or you said to me. She's not so very strong, and she's sewed sluce 4 o'clock this morning to get this dress ready for tomorrow. It's done and we came down to try it on Elnora."

"Is that the truth, Mag Sinton?"
demanded Mrs. Comstock.
"You heard Wesley say so," proudly affirmed Mrs. Sinton.

"I want to make you a proposition," said Wesley. "Wait till Elnora comes.
Then we'll show her the things and see what she says."

"How would it do to see what she says without bringing her?" sneered
Mrs. Comstock.

"If she can stand what she did yesterday and will today she can hear most anything," said Wesley. "Put away the clothes if you want to till we tell her."

"Well, you don't take this wait, I'm working on," said Margaret, "for I have to have in the sleeves and the collar. Put the rest out of sight if you like."

Mrs. Comstock picked up the basket and bag, and went to her room and closed the door.

Margaret threaded her needle and began to sew. Mrs. Comstock returned to her room, while Wesley fidgeted and fidgeted inwardly. He could see that Margaret was nervous and almost in tears, but the lines in Mrs. Com-stock's impassive face were set and cold. So they sat and the clock ticked off the time—one hour, two, dusk, and no Elnora. Margaret long since had taken the last stitch she could. Occasionally she and Wesley exchanged a few words. Mrs. Comstock regularly turned a deaf ear and moved nearer a window. Just when Margaret and Wesley were discussing whether he had not best go to town to meet Elnora, they heard her coming up the walk. Wesley dropped his tilted chair and squirmed himself. Margaret gripped her sewing and turned pleading eyes to the door. Mrs. Comstock closed her book and grimly smile.

"Mother, please open the door!" called Elnora.

Mrs. Comstock arose and swung open the screen. Elnora stepped in beside her, bent half double, the whole front of her dress gathered into a sort of bag filled with a heavy load and one arm stuck high with loads. In the dim light she did not see the Sintons.

"Please hand me the empty bucket in the kitchen, mother," she said. "I just had to bring these arrow points home, but I'm scared for fear I've soiled my dress and will have to wash it. I'm to clean them and take them to the bank er in the morning, and oh, mother, I've sold enough stuff to pay for my books, my tuition and maybe a dress and some lighter shoes besides. Oh, mother, I'm so happy! Take the books and bring the bucket!"

Then she saw Margaret and Wesley.
"Oh, glory!" she exclaimed. "I was just wondering how I'd ever wait to tell you, and here you are! It's too perfectly splendid to be true!"

"Tell us, Elnora," said Sinton.
"Well, sir," said Elnora, doubling down on the floor and spreading out her skirt, "set the bucket here, mother.
These points are brittle and have to be put in one at a time. If they are chipped I can't sell them." And she told all that had happened.

Elnora laid the last arrow point in the pull and arose, shaking leaves and bits of baked earth from her dress.
She reached into her pocket and produced her money and waved it before their wondering eyes.

"And that's the joy part!" she exulted.

"Please hand me the empty bucket in the kitchen, mother," she said.

Elnora waved the wallet and started for the bedroom. When she opened the door she gave a little cry.

"What have you people been doing?"
she demanded. "I never saw so many interesting bundles in all my life. I'm skipped to death for fear I can't pay for all of them and will have to give up something."

"Wouldn't you take them if you could not pay for them, Elnora?" asked her mother lustily.

"Why, not unless you did," answered Elnora. "People have no right to wear things they can't afford, have they?"

"But from such old friends as Margaret and Wesley," Mrs. Comstock's voice was only with triumph.

"From them best of all," cried Elnora shoutily. "From a stranger sooner than from them! To whom I owe so much more than I ever can pay now."

"Well, you don't have to," said Mrs.
Comstock. "Maggie just selected these things because she is more in touch with the world and has got such good taste. You can pay as long as your money holds out, and if there's more necessary maybe I can sell the butcher

a calf, or if there's things too costly for us, of course, they can take them back. Anything that ain't used can be returned. They were only brought here on trial."

The girl began opening the packages.
The hat came first.

"Mother," cried Elnora. "Mother, of course, you have seen this, but you haven't seen it on me. I must try it on."

"Don't you dare put that on your head until your hair is washed and properly combed," said Margaret.
"While it dries you can eat your supper, and this dress will be finished.
Then you can put on your new ribbon and your hat. That little round bundle on the top of the basket is your stockings."

Margaret sat down and began sewing swiftly and a little later opened the machine and ran several long seams.

Elnora was back in a few minutes, holding up her skirts and stepping daintily in the beautiful new shoes.

Wesley and Margaret scarcely breathed for a long time. Then Wesley went to do the feeding. Elnora set the table. When the water was hot Margaret placed a big towel around Elnora's shoulders and washed and dried the lovely hair according to the instructions she had been given the previous night. As the hair began to dry it billowed out in a sparkling sheen that caught the light and gleamed and flashed.

"Now, the idea is to let it stand naturally, just as the curl will make it.
Don't you do any of that nasty, quilly smoothing, Elnora," cautioned Margaret.

"Wash it this way every two weeks while you are in school, shake it out and dry it. Then part it in the middle and turn a front quarter on each side from your face. You tie the back at your neck with a string—so, and the ribbon goes in a big, loose bow—I'll show you." One after another Margaret Sinton tied the ribbons, creasing each of them so they could not be returned, as she explained that she was trying to see which was most becoming.
Then she produced the raincoat,
which carried Elnora into transports.

To Wesley and to Margaret the bright young face of Elnora, with its pink tints, its heavy dark brows, its bright blue gray eyes and its frame of curling reddish brown hair was the sweetest sight on earth, and at that instant Elnora was radiant.

She set the hat on her head. It was just a wide tan straw with three exquisite peacock quills at one side. Margaret Sinton cried out, Wesley slapped his knee and sighed like a blast and Mrs. Comstock stood speechless for a second.

"I wish you had asked the price before you put that on," she said impatiently. "We never can afford it."

"It's not so much as you think," said
Margaret. "Don't you see what I did?
I had them take off the quills and I put on some of those Phoenix Simms gave me from her peacocks. The hat will only cost you a dollar and a half."

She avoided Wesley's eyes and looked straight at Mrs. Comstock. Elnora removed the hat to examine it.

"Why, they are those reddish tan quills of yours," she cried. "Mother, look how beautifully they are set on!
I think they are fine. I'd much rather have them than those from the store."

"So would I," said Mrs. Comstock.
"If Margaret wants to spare them, that will make you a beautiful hat, dirt cheap, too! You must go past Mrs.
Simms and show her. She would be pleased to see them."

Elnora sank into a chair because she couldn't stand any longer and conten-plated her hat. "Landy, ain't I a queen?" she murmured. "What else have I got?"

"Just a belt, some handkerchiefs and a pair of top shoes for rainy days and colder weather," said Margaret, handling over parcels.

"About those high shoes, that was my idea," said Wesley. "Soon as it rains low shoes won't do, and by taking two pairs at once I could get them some cheaper. The low ones are two and the high ones twenty-five, together thirty-seven and a half. Ain't that cheap?"

"That's a real bargain," said Mrs.
Comstock. "If they are good shoes,
and they look it."

"This," said Wesley, producing the last package, "is your Christmas present from your Aunt Maggie. I got mine, too, but it's at the house. I'll bring it up in the morning."

The bundled Margaret the umbrella, and she passed it over to Elnora, who opened it and sat bracing under its shelter. Then she kissed both of them.
She got a pencil and a slip of paper and set down the prices they gave her of everything they had bought except the umbrella, added the sum and said happily: "Will you please wait till tomorrow for the money? I will have it then, sure."

"Elnora," said Wesley Sinton,
"wouldn't you?"

"Elnora, hustle here a minute!" called
Mrs. Comstock from the kitchen.
"I need you."

"One second, mother," answered Elnora, throwing off the coat and hat and closing the umbrella as she ran.
There were several errands to do in a hurry, and then supper. Elnora chattered incessantly. Wesley and Margaret talked all they could, while Mrs.
Comstock said a word now and then,
which was all she ever did. But Wesley Sinton was watching her, and time and again he saw a peculiar little twist around her mouth. He knew that for the first time in sixteen years she really was laughing over something. She had all she could do to preserve her usually sober face. Wesley knew what she was thinking.

After supper the dress was finished,
the plans for the next day discussed, and then the Sintons went home. Elnora gathered her treasures.

As she started for the stairs she stopped.

(Continued on page 7)

Young Men

Your power consists of something more than mere muscle. Your financial strength
is well worth developing.

The best aid to financial development is a confidential relationship with a bank that will take an interest in your progress.

Let your Financial Interests exercise and grow.
OPEN A CHECKING OR SAVINGS AC-
COUNT AS CIRCUMSTANCES DICTATE.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bettars A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

GARDEN MAKING

Will soon be in full swing. Enjoy it by the use of new tools--Hoes, Rakes, Spades, Etc.

BRIGHTEN UP

Get That Painting Out of the Way
Paints, Oils, Varnishes
Gypsin and Muresco Wall Finish

THE VERY BEST

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

SEE ME

When in search of Jewelry for Gifts or own
use. When you wish to purchase a reliable
Watch or Clock. When you want Table
Silverware or Cut Glass. When in need of first-class Jewelry Repairing.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's

$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and Prospecting boxes
to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, and of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own
one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clearest money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others.
Our handsomely illustrated 28-page catalog
will enable you to present the subject to customers in an interesting and convincing manner. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talks which will be most profitable for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory?
We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

The 25th anniversary of our
company was celebrated by erecting the most modern safe factory in the world. Wide-awake men who received our special selling inducement, rendered it necessary to enlarge
our output. We are spending
many thousands of dollars enlarging our sales organization,
but to learn all particulars, it will cost you only the price of a postal card.

Ask for Catalogue 167.

THE VICTOR

SAFE & LOCK CO.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed.
I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Vigor,
Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.
I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively CURE, no matter how long standing.
I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Hysteria, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.
I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home-doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by writing my mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.
I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to satisfy cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, etc., opium or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.
Any unfortunate girl given bad of care. May work out fees.
Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will tell you what my studies which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars life time to you. If I cannot cure you, I will send you a WHITE TULIP.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.
Belling Sanitarium & Retreat, Belling, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courtier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months......75
One copy, three months......40

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

SPRING SCHEDULE

Northern Michigan Transportation Co.—Missouri and Illinois on Regular Trips.

The spring schedule of the Northern Michigan Transportation Company, which went into effect May 14 and will continue until June 20, provides for trips as follows, the steamships Missouri and Illinois making the runs.

North Bound.
Leave Chicago every Tuesday at 8:00 p. m.

Leave Charlevoix every Wednesday at 8:00 p. m.

Leave Chicago every Saturday at 8:00 p. m.

Leave Charlevoix, every Sunday at 8:00 p. m.

South Bound.
Leave Charlevoix every Thursday at 9:00 p. m.

Leave Charlevoix every Saturday at 9:00 p. m.

Leave Charlevoix every Monday at 9:00 p. m.

THEODORE S. PARMELEE

Passed Away Wednesday at His Son's Home in This City.

Theodore S. Parmelee was born December 31, 1845, in St. Joseph county, Michigan, and died May 15, 1912, at the home of his son Will in this city. He has been a resident of this city for the past two years, and has been ailing all that time.

Although not very well known here, his few friends realized his worth of character.

Besides his wife, who is at Williamstown, W. Virginia, he leaves three sons.

The funeral services were held from the home of W. E. Parmelee, Friday, at 2:30 p. m., and were conducted by Rev. H. A. Putnam.

AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Mrs. Julia Scott Vrooman Places Conservation Magazines on File.

Mrs. Julia Scott Vrooman, one of our well known summer residents has recently subscribed for the "Survey," weekly publication which comes accompanied by a monthly magazine for the library. These publications are the leading publications on conservation and all interested in this great subject can now find them on file at the library, thanks to the generosity of Mrs. Vrooman.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination, for the office of County Clerk, at the August primaries, and if nominated and elected, I will do my best to serve the public in said office. I also wish to thank the electors of Charlevoix county for the support they have given me in the past, and will appreciate your support at this time.

21st adv. RICHARD LEWIS

To the Electors.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.

19th adv. W. W. Boyle, St. James.

To Republican Electors of Charlevoix Co.

I desire to announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Treasurer at the August Primary.

20th adv. ROY L. LORRAINE

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated.

19th adv. RONALD A. EMERY

Notice.

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the primary election to be held August 27th.

21st adv. DANIEL S. PAYTON

Prophetic Strokes

A Clock Whose Hands Had Not Moved For Years Suddenly Strikes at Night

By F. A. MITCHEL

In the Harz mountains stands the castle of Wertheim, though it is now in ruins. In the castle tower was a clock, which was said to be one of the great ever made. During the period when the castle was last inhabited this clock had long ceased to strike the hour. Its clumsy frame was still perched away up in the tower, so rusty that even a strong man could not wind it even if the weights were removed. The old baron remembered having heard it strike when a child, but he was sixty years old and the only one in the castle or in the neighborhood who remembered the sound of its toll. But it was even then like the death rattle in the throat of a giant.

Once that day the staircase in the tower ascending its four sides in frequent right angles some seventy feet had completely rotted away, leaving the clock on the strong floor that had been built for it.

Baron Ludwig Wertheim was the owner of the castle at the period of this story. He had but one son, below

"THE CASTLE NEWS TO ME!"

whom there was no male heir to the title. He was forty years old and his wife thirty-eight, and they had no children. This was a source of distress to the old baron, realizing, as he did, that with his son the title would be due extinct. Since it was one of the oldest and most respected in the land these living in the vicinity for the same reason.

One night when a bleak November wind was blowing these people in the castle and in the forest of the Harz were awakened by a strange sound, a sound that thrilled them and filled them with wonder. They heard the strokes of a tower clock. To them it seemed to come from the bottom of the tower, as if it were a demon. The only clock capable of emitting such strong vibrations with a hundred miles was the one in the tower of Wertheim castle.

And what a sound it was! Baron said that it seemed to them like the distant boom of a gun on a ship's deck, some that it was a knell, some like the sound of a thousand hammers to prayer. All agreed that it was a large, and to all there were that hoarse wheezing and creaking that might be expected from long disused and rusty mechanism.

One, two, three! Then there was a silence, while the listeners counted the beating of their hearts, at the end of which the strokes were resumed.

But what a difference between the first and last series of beats! Instead of being funeral the second were joyous. Could these silvery tones come from the old clock in the tower? And yet what clock was there near by that could be heard so distinct, so vivid? None. One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten! The strokes were counted by every person in the castle, beneath the castle and within hearing distance of the castle. They were heard by persons living ten miles away. These joyous strokes sounded differently to different persons. To some they were like the sound of well-chimed bells, to some the chiming of bells, or to others those which ring out in a chattering.

Of all who heard them the old baron was the only one to interpret them. He counted the first strokes and when he heard the third knew that his heir, as he sometimes called the son, had sent him a message. Then the ten strokes that followed ended in a restful slumber such as he had not known for years.

The next morning the castle and the surrounding forest were filled with the sound of a hundred voices, some saying that a clock had been repaired.

them by some mischievous person who had climbed up to the clock and struck the bell, that it was superstition, or imagination alone that led those who heard the sounds to attribute to them different intentions. One of these skeptics entered the tower at the bottom and looked up to determine if he could see any evidence left above as to how it could have been started. There was nothing but the four interior sides, showing marks here and there of where the staircase had been built against them. But even this man bent a hasty retreat, for while he stood gazing upward a piece of stone or mortar fell from above, landing within a few feet of him. He was too frightened to notice what it was, and no one else dared enter the tower.

Only the baron felt in himself the cause of the old clock suddenly to summing the strokes that it had given for nearly sixty years. But it was not that from that memorable night he who had appeared youthful and vigorous for his years, began to show signs of decay. A cold storm in December brought on a chill, from which he emerged much weakened. In February he received a shock from which it was evident he would not recover.

One day his son entered the room where he lay with news that he hoped might raise his father to rally. He announced that a child would be born to the house of Wertheim.

"That is not news to me," said the old man, and turning over, fell into a sleep. Hours after this his daughter-in-law approached the old man's bed to receive his congratulations. He was still sleeping and so still that she became alarmed and called her husband. The baron was dead.

A great concourse of people attended the funeral of the man they loved so well. It was held in the chapel of the castle, and after the ceremony the body was lowered into a vault made in the chapel floor. Then the three, having left many a paragon on the replaced marble slab, withdrew.

That night it was rather in the small hours of the morning that the sleeping in the castle were awakened by a crash so loud that it was heard for miles around. No one got out of bed to learn the cause of the noise, but shivering with an unaccountable dread. But with the first light of day many jumped out of bed and, putting on their clothes, went out into the courtyard with a view to learning what had disturbed their slumbers. They looked together exchanging remarks and looking about them to see if there was any evidence that part of the old walls had fallen. But the walls were the same as the night before. Then one man went to the clock tower and looked inside. There was a heap of old rusty iron and rotted wood. It was the clock.

The event, happening the night of the baron's funeral, strengthened the opinion of those who had averred that there was something more than human in the mysterious strokes which had been heard at the close of the previous year. Might not they have foretold the baron's death?

"How could that be?" protested the doubters. "There were here but three strokes and the baron did not die for four months."

"Granted," was the reply. "But he died in the third month of the year. And, as to the clock, surely it was the tolling of its own as well as the baron's death."

One thing puzzled all—the fact that the old man when his son announced to him that a grandchild would be born to him not only replied that it was not news to him, but manifested no interest in it, as if he had been told of their belief that, whatever the message the clock had given, it had been a warning of death.

In time it was announced that the child would be born in October. Then some one remembered that October was the tenth month in the year and that the number of the second series of strokes that had been given by the old clock had been ten.

At this discovery nearly every one who had doubted the supernatural behavior of the clock gave in, and there was no longer a doubt that if it were Ludwig's grandchild should be a boy they, too, would be converted. On the 10th day of October a baby boy came into the world, and not a week within the castle had the old baron's remains been removed. He had been blessed by the birth of a male child to perpetuate the family name of which he was so proud.

The astonishment at this prophetic announcement was nothing to that of one who was in the secret of the mysterious strokes. A young man with a mania for climbing, by throwing a looped rope over a projection of the tower, had succeeded in getting up to the clock and had made three sounds with a piece of iron, which he followed by ten more with a piece of wood.

So astounded was he with the coincidences which subsequently occurred that he almost believed he had been sent to the tower by some guardian spirit of the baron to make the announcement to him of events that afterward occurred. When the first line of wonder had cleared from the child's eyes, he had, however, a striking tale to tell of his climb. He said that he had seen a clock in the tower, and that it had struck ten times.

The next morning the castle and the surrounding forest were filled with the sound of a hundred voices, some saying that a clock had been repaired.

Tyler and his son, who were present at the funeral, were the only ones who had seen the clock.

Clothes That Keep Shape

YOU know the importance to you of having your clothes keep shape; and you know how very uncommon this quality is in clothes. One very important point in giving clothes this shape-keeping quality is the proper shrinking of the cloth before it's cut.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx

have their own process of shrinking; by special machinery which they invented. It's a process that would ruin any but all-wool fabrics; you can imagine what would happen to the common cotton mixtures of which most clothing is made if the fabrics were subjected to such a process.

We just thought you might be interested in knowing why our Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes keep their shape so well; you can see why we like to sell them.

Suits $18.00 and Up

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

This Store is the Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christian Science Society, VanPelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:15 a. m.

Subject: "Soul and Body." Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.

Reading room open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2:30 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. B. A. Nelson, Pastor. Morning Service, 10:30. Subject, "Baptist Principles."

Sunday School at 11:15. B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Leader, Mrs. Lee Howland. Topic, "The Sunday School as a Missionary Power."

Evening service, 7:30. Prayer meeting, Thursday evening, 7:30. Revival meetings every night at Burgess school house.

"Strangers always welcome."

CONGREGATIONAL

Morning service at 10:30. The pastor will speak to the G. A. R. and W. R. C.

Sunday School at 12 m. Vesper service at 5 o'clock p. m.

This is probably the last Sunday Mr. Putnam will be present.

Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

There are people in this town who not thinkingly neglect a "mere cold" though they would not otherwise expose their children or themselves to danger. Yet a cold neglected may develop into contagious diphtheria, bronchitis, or pneumonia. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly for its stop-coughs quickly and cures colds. It contains no opiates and is safe for children. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Horton Bay Grange.

Horton Bay Grange met to regular session, Friday evening, May 17, with Worthy Master Bert VanHoesen in the chair.

After the usual order of business one candidate was instructed in the third and fourth degrees.

After a short program, grange closed in form. Refreshments were served. Attendance 14. Next meeting June 7.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness during our recent bereavement and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Horton grange for their offerings.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bowen.

The best seed corn at Orlovsky & Sons.

Current blocks for the cellar and other improvements the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Company.

Disc Harrows Seed Drills

Rotary Corn Planters Potato Planters Bean and Corn Fertilizer

And remember that Cooper will buy Wool this year

J. R. COOPER

Antrim Street

Charlevoix, Michigan

SEEDS ON HAND

SPELTS

BARLEY

COW PEAS

SPRING WHEAT

MILLET

SEED OATS

Argo Milling Co.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

John Kendall of Detroit, was in the city last week.

Miss Louise Winkler is visiting at Boyne City this week.

Born to Joe Oliver and wife Monday, May 20, a fine boy.

Born to L. Griner and wife of Marion, last Sunday, a girl.

Miss Ethel Jacobs visited friends at Petoskey over Sunday.

Judge Lamb of Cadillac is holding court here this week.

Born to Joe Lemmeur and wife, on Tuesday a fine baby boy.

F. J. Meach is out on the streets again after a short illness.

Tim Shores has a baby girl at his house, born last Monday.

George Taylor has purchased a farm in Eveline township.

Emory Nyman spent Sunday at Petoskey with his parents.

Mrs. A. P. Smith of Kalkaska, is visiting friends in the city.

W. H. Quick of Boyne City, was in the city on business Monday.

Postmaster R. E. Newville of Boyne City, was here Monday.

Mrs. Sarah Strigley of Levering is making a short visit in the city.

The Misses Hazel and Clara Pierce visited at Elk Rapids last week.

Mrs. Krenyon and Mrs. Stone of East Jordan are in the city today.

Don't forget the May Festival at the Opera House, Friday evening.

Henry Wood was in Central Lake on business, Friday and Saturday.

A. B. Nicholas, of East Jordan was here the latter part of the week.

Verle Cram made a short trip to Empire and Glen Haven last week.

Miss Eva Cohen made a brief business visit to Traverse City Tuesday.

Mrs. Stanley Wildern and children are visiting friends at Boyne City.

Hon. H. R. Pattengill of Lansing, was in the city the latter part of the week.

Charles McGeagh visited his mother at Petoskey the first of the week.

Miss Florence Hanshaw visited at Empire and Glen Haven last week.

B. A. Herman left tonight on a business trip to Chicago and other points.

Deputy Sheriff Houghton of Boyne City was a business caller Friday.

R. C. Hammet is driving a new Haines machine which arrived here Monday.

Misses Ida Lovinson and Anna Kaufman are visiting friends at Petoskey.

Misses Leila Campbell and Hazel Price spent Sunday with friends at Petoskey.

Frank Metcalf and wife have returned from their short visit at Iron Mountain.

Hon. Dallas Bondeman of Kalamazoo, arrived in the city the first of the week.

Mrs. A. E. Cross, of East Jordan was in the city last Friday, enroute to Central Lake.

Jacob Klooster of Barnard, reports the birth of twin girls Saturday at his farm.

Mrs. E. B. Minor and son of Traverse City are the guests of F. H. Clark and family.

Judge Mayne is attending the L. O. O. F. grand encampment at Port Huron this week.

C. S. and A. L. Miller of Lake Odessa, were called here by the death of Mrs. Miller.

Fine Upholstering
Hair Mattresses
Renovated
Box Springs to Order
Boat and Porch
Cushions

AWNINGS

Call Bell phone 178 Petoskey and we will call with samples and prices.

Ask your neighbor about our work.

Scattergood Bros.
Petoskey, Mich. 211

Remember the May Festival at the Opera House Friday evening, given by the school.

Mrs. J. S. Peabody of Sunfield, Michigan, attended the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Miller.

It is reported that E. H. Foss of Bay City will enter the race for United States senator.

Mrs. H. H. Wood and Mrs. Alson Wood visited relatives near Alford the latter part of the week.

Clay Felts left yesterday for Ottawa, Ohio, where he has accepted a position with the Sugar Co.

The mortality report for the month of April shows that 3,174 deaths occurred in Michigan.

Mrs. G. E. Hodges and daughter of Elk Lake, are visiting at the home of W. J. Rachow and wife.

Mrs. E. D. Hines and daughter Isabelle, spent the week end in the country with Mrs. Adelia Porter.

Miss A. Pearl Lewis spent Sunday at her home in East Jordan. She was accompanied by Miss Lower.

A. J. Cramer arrived here Monday from Pinckney, N. C. He will immediately start work on the Inn.

Mrs. Ward Bennett and son Kent, nor visited friends and relatives at Empire and Glen Haven last week.

Misses Gladys Smith and Edith Schapler of Petoskey visited friends and relatives here the first of the week.

John Coniskey, a prominent attorney of Escanaba, was in the city the first of the week on legal business.

Mrs. F. J. Todd, Mrs. Nally Cram and Mrs. Will Campbell visited George Marsar and family at Phelps Friday.

The fish hatchery closed the latter part of the week, Mr. Phillips returning to his home at Northville, Saturday.

Patrick H. Kelly has announced that he will be a candidate for Congressman-at-large from the state of Michigan.

Justice Collins united in marriage on Tuesday, May 20, Nellie Sullivan of Emmet, and Edward Miller of Boyne City.

Dr. Armstrong was called to Saginaw Friday by the death of his brother, George, returning the first of the week.

Mrs. Walter Horner and Mrs. Anderson of Manistee are here as delegates to the convention at the M. E. church.

An hon. DeBoer, who has been at Gloucester, Mass., for some time, arrived in the city Monday to make his parents a visit.

Miss Lila Shapton left this morning for Mt. Pleasant, where she will attend the May Festival Friday and Saturday of this week.

Barry A. Dodge left last week for Philadelphia, Pa., where he has accepted a position with the General Motor Truck company.

On Friday evening, May 21st, the choruses of the Charlevoix school will give their second annual May Festival at the Opera House.

Miss Minnie Preston, a teacher in the public schools at Boyne City, visited at the home of John Mitchell and family over Sunday.

Miss Edith Lamoureux returned Sunday from a short visit with her sister, Mrs. Ruegger, at Boyne City. Miss Maid Squires returned with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krenyon, son Raymond and daughter, Alena, of Portland, Michigan, were called here by the death of Mrs. E. J. Miller.

About fifty went to Boyne City last Friday on the City of Boyne to witness the ball game and cross-country run returning in the evening about eight-thirty.

The opening of Burgeon's new dry goods store last week was a success, and the many who attended saw one of the most prettiest stores in the city.

Mrs. Will Mason of Charlevoix, and her sister Miss Mable are visiting their sisters Mrs. Claude and Harry Phillips of Sturgeon Bay and Pellston.

Secretary Gibson of the Western Michigan Development Bureau states that the growers in this district will have one million bushels of apples to sell this year.

How's this for quick action? Last week Conlter Bros. advertised potatoes for sale in the Courier bargain column and before they received their paper inquiries were coming in.

Among those who attended the opening game of the Michigan State League were Charles Bush, Romeo Emrey, Earl Miller, Frank Hines, H. R. Fowler and Lee Howland.

The eleventh annual convention of the Grand Traverse district of the Women's Missionary Society is now being held at the M. E. church, a goodly number of outsiders attending.

About forty enjoyed a good time at the home of Dr. Bartlett last evening. A pot luck supper followed by a dance took up the greater part of the evening, while cards were also indulged in.

For president, Eugene V. Debs of Indiana; for vice-president, Emil Seidel of Wisconsin; is the way the national ticket of the Socialist party reads. This is the fourth time Mr. Debs has been chosen as the leader of his party.

Next Sunday L. E. Buell of Ann Arbor, secretary of the state Y. M. C. A., will address the Men's Bible class on the subject "What to do for Our Young Men and Boys." Mr. Buell is a very forceful speaker and all should hear him.

Postmaster Fitch informs us that city delivery of mail will begin June 25. Under the regulations of the department it will be necessary for all house holders who wish mail delivered to secure a mailbox which can be purchased from 50 cents to $1.50.

Not to be belittled in the many improvements taking place in Charlevoix, Bert Beaudoin is giving the interior of his ice cream parlors a complete overhauling and will open the summer season in better shape than ever to please his host of patrons.

Mrs. Ella Tillotson of Charlevoix, deputy Great Commander of the L. O. O. F. M. M. was in Petoskey Saturday, assisting in the preparations that are being made by the Petoskey lodge to attend the grand rally at Alanson May 27.—Petoskey Evening News.

Word has been received of the death, May 1, of Mrs. George Willis formerly of Barnard, who went to New Mexico last summer for her health. She leaves her husband and three small children, one of whom has been ill but was better at last reports.

Capt. Morton, superintendent of the 12th life-saving district was in the city last week and was well pleased with our station which is a credit to Charlevoix. It has been undergoing many improvements this spring and the grounds never made a more pleasing appearance.

Sheriff Roblins brought Alex. Mikowick of Boyne Falls to the county jail Monday on a charge of assault with intent to commit great bodily harm less than the crime of murder. The assault was committed on Mike Tziki, Mikowick striking him over the head with a hammer.

Geo. W. Kent of Traverse City, formerly editor of the Traverse City Eagle until its consolidation with the Record, and since engaged in the advertising and insurance business, has assumed editorial control and management of the Boyne City Journal. Mr. Kent will receive a hearty welcome back to the newspaper held and Charlevoix county.

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, blue litig see the Builders Supply Co., phone 862 r. 1711

MAY PLAY FESTIVAL

Given at Bank Hall Saturday by Miss Armstrong's Physical Culture Class.

On Saturday, at the Bank hall occurred one of the prettiest and most successful children's parties ever given in our city, when Miss Helen Armstrong closed her term of lessons for children's dancing and physical culture class with a May party.

It was a demonstration of folk dances and some of the work as taught in our large cities. Misses Dorothy Armstrong and Marjorie Weaver were the able assistants with music and games.

The grand march of forty children with their pretty costumes reminded one of a flower garden, and was a beautiful sight.

There were several games set to music as: How do you do? in which they circled round greeting each other present.

Various dances were given, special features being the Sailors' Hornpipe by seven boys in costume; Irish Fift, by Billy Bob Paddock dressed in Irish costume, Dutch Dance by Eleanor Fineman, in costume with wooden shoes. A Dance to Spring by Miss Dorothy Armstrong and a Buttery dance by Miss Phila Armstrong.

Dainty flower caps and May baskets were given as favors and each child made their courtesy in the teacher at the close. Everyone present agreed that it had been a very enjoyable affair.

The ladies of Barnard will serve ice cream and cake at the M. E. church, May 21. A good program will be rendered. Proceeds for the pastor. Price 15 cents. Everybody welcome.

Let the Courier come with Spring

COUNTY CONVENTION HELD

Woman's Christian Temperance Union at East Jordan.

Mrs. A. M. Burdick Elected President—Will Meet at Boyne City Next Year.

The Charlevoix County W. C. T. U. convention met on Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning last in the Presbyterian church. The sessions were all interesting, though it is to be regretted that not so many delegates from outside were present as were looked for, and the interest was sustained throughout. Mrs. Weston, the president, took charge. The devotional exercises both afternoon and evening were conducted by the pastor, and the business program was varied both during afternoon and evening sessions by vocal and instrumental music, the Misses Lorraine, singing a beautiful solo in the afternoon and the Misses W. Bowen and Grace Malpass a very sweet duet. Mrs. Cummings received an encore for a very dramatically rendered recitation.

At the beginning of the evening session, the organist, Miss Grigsby played some very choice selections on the organ (including the Rosary) and later on accompanied Mr. Webster on violin. The evening hour was almost entirely given up to the address of welcome. First of course was Mayor Stiles who on behalf of the city in a few well chosen words expressed high opinion of the valuable services to the country of the great W. C. T. U. organization, and then his honor certainly sprang a sensation in presenting to the president, on behalf of the city, a large key gilded and inscribed on the one side "welcome W. C. T. U." and on the reverse side May 14, 1912 and decorated with an immense bow of white ribbon. Rev. T. Porter then expressed the welcome of the churches, Supt. Norton for the public schools, and Mrs. Bennett on behalf of the local W. C. T. U.

Wednesday morning was given up to business, election of officers—Mrs. Burdick of Charlevoix being elected president in place of Mrs. Weston resigned, who has served the county with marked efficiency and fidelity during many years. Mrs. S. Wilkinson of Charlevoix corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. Joynt recording secretary, and treasurer Mrs. Demarest of Boyne City.

The meeting adjourned at 11:30 to meet next year at Boyne City. Notice ought not to be omitted of the excellent papers read on Wednesday morning, one by Mrs. Emory of "The Home in its relations to the schools" the other on "The Home" by Mrs. M. H. Robertson which were much appreciated by those present.—East Jordan Herald.

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 1711

FOR COUNTY CLERK

Richard Lewis Announces His Candidacy for the Republican Nomination.

In this issue Richard Lewis announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination for county clerk. Dick Lewis is one of the most popular men in Charlevoix county, and if chosen for the position, would bring to the office the benefit of his prior experience, having served previously in the same office to the entire satisfaction of his constituents, and before the close of the campaign his opponents will have to go some to defeat him.

Good Printing means Business.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rate each week thereafter. No ad less than 15¢ first insertion.

FOR SALE: Second hand binder, cheap. Inquire Conlter Bros. 2123 r.

WANTED: Girl for general housework. Inquire Will Dellinger. 2111

FOR RENT or SALE: My house and lot. Inquire Mrs. H. W. Nowland, 122 Perry Avenue. 1914

FOR SALE: House, barn and two lots on easy terms. Inquire in the premises. 24 Lewis street. 191

FOR SALE: One 40, 1000, Never has been out of the house. Double houses. Inquire of Mrs. Wm. C. Grady, Route 4 Charlevoix, Michigan. 211

FARM FOR SALE: 300 acres, 3 miles north of Charlevoix. 100 acres cleared, fully watered. Call or write to W. S. Johnson, P. O. Box 123. 2111

CRANE'S

Scrub Hard---NO MORE
Put Linoleum on Your Floor

Be sure it's Crane's Long-wearing

LINOLEUM

You will find our assortment the handsomest on the market, including the newest coloring effects in Wood Grains, Tiles and Florals.

6 and 12 ft. wide
50 to 65c sq. yd.

For long, hard, satisfactory service we recommend the grades we carry.

CRANE'S

Decoration Day Sale

Saturday, May 25

Sweeping reductions of Trimmed Hats. Our entire stock of children's and misses' hats to be sold at

Surprisingly Low Prices

Mrs. E. M. Atchison

Charlevoix, Michigan

No-Sag Screen Doors

Why buy the ordinary screen door when you can buy the No-Sag Door, which we guarantee will not sag out of shape, and will gladly replace any No-Sag Door which proves defective.

PRICES

$1.25 to $2.50

A full line of wood and metal extension window screens. Let us figure with you on the necessities.

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Home Course In Road Making

VIII.—The Sand-Clay Road.

By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department
of Agriculture.

Copyright by American Press Assn.
Clarion, Pa.

A SAND-CLAY road is composed of sand and clay mixed in such proportions as to form a compact and firm support to traffic. The perfect sand-clay road should be neither sticky nor sandy. The sand and clay may form a natural mixture, in which case the road is termed a "natural sand-clay road." The two materials may have become mixed in the fields along the road by successive cultivation of the soil, and if this soil is used in the construction of a road it is known as "top soil road." There are many varieties of clay and consequently a wide variation in the characteristics of a sand-clay road. The quality of the sand is a variable factor, as it may range all the way from fine, dust-like particles to coarse grains and gravel and may be perfectly clean or mixed with loam and other material. In consequence of these wide differences in the materials constituting sand-clay roads it is impossible to maintain a uniform standard as to quality of the road or methods of construction.

MIXING THE SAND AND CLAY.

Not all but most sand consists of tiny grains of quartz. While quartz is one of the hardest minerals known, it possesses practically no binding or cementing power. The grains of sand, instead of cohering in a tough mass under the impact of traffic and the action of water, remain loose and shifting. Fine sand when dry is easily displaced by the wind, which produces in this way the ever shifting sand hills. No road is so difficult to travel as one through the sand.

If clay has been carried in small quantities by running water and deposited as sediment it is known as "sedimentary clay." If the feldspathic rock has been disintegrated in place by water, the clay is known as "residual clay." The sedimentary clay, having been carried in the form of fine particles, is finer grained than the residual clay and is more sticky and plastic. In contrast with sand, which possesses no binding power, but is very hard, clay is a powerful binder, but does not possess the quality of hardness. It is evident that in the construction of a sand-clay road the important property in the clay is its plasticity or tendency to become sticky and elastic when mixed with water. The clays which are most plastic are called "ball clays." Another important property which is possessed by clays in widely varying degrees is the porosity or capacity for rapid absorption of water. Clays which possess this quality in the highest degree fall to pieces under the action of water. These clays are called "slaking clays." It will readily be seen that the plastic or ball clays will form a better and more powerful binder for sand-clay roads than will the slaking clays; but, on the other hand, they will be much more difficult to mix, as they disintegrate with far less rapidity.

The shrinkage of clay is an important characteristic in connection with the building of roads. When water is mixed with clay expansion results, and when the water evaporates the clay contracts. This characteristic of expansion is much more pronounced in some clays than in others, and it must be apparent that the clays which expand the least are preferable for road building.

The theory of the sand-clay road is very similar to the theory of the macadam road. In the latter rock dust and screenings fill the voids between the larger fragments of stone and when wet serve as a cement or binder. The action of sand and clay is likened to the mortar between stones and clay to the mortar between stones. In the most successful sand-clay road just a sufficient amount of clay is used to fill the voids. In this way the road is made wear-resistant, while the sand serves as a binder. If too much sand is used the result will be a road that is too sandy; if too much clay is used the road face of the road will become sticky after rains.

The best mixture of sand and clay can be made when the materials are wet, and particularly is this true of the plastic or ball clays.

If the clay is a plastic or ball clay much greater effort will be necessary to obtain a complete mixture; if it is a slaking clay the mixture will be much more readily obtained. This kind of clay is not as satisfactory, however, as the ball clay, as its binding powers are much less. In selecting clay for road purposes it is always best to select the stickiest clay available. A common test is to wet the thumb and place it against a piece of clay. If the clay will not stick to the thumb it is safe to assume that it will be a poor binder in a sand-clay road.

As the desirable proportions of sand and clay are such that the particles of clay barely fill the voids between the grains of sand, it is well in determining the quantity of clay to be applied to a sand road or sand to be applied to a clay road to know approximately how much is needed. A simple method for determining the relative quantity is to take two glasses of the same size and fill one with dry sand, which it is proposed to use and the other with water. The water should then be poured carefully in the glass of sand and allowed to trickle down through the sand until it reaches the bottom of the glass. When the water has been poured into the glass of sand to the point of overflowing, we may assume that the voids between the grains of sand have been filled, and consequently the amount of water taken from the full glass would represent the volume of clay needed to fill the voids in a volume of sand equal to that in the other glass. It is better to use a little less clay than would appear to be necessary, as the tendency is to over-estimate the amount needed.

Good drainage is the most essential feature of the sand-clay road just as it is of all other types of road. A sandy or gravelly soil affords better natural drainage, and if the sand is present to an exceptional extent the only provision necessary for drainage will be to mow the surface of the road in the same manner as prescribed for earth, gravel or macadam roads. If the road is located through land that is so low as to be continually wet it will be necessary in addition to crowding the road to provide with ditches on each side and to raise the road a little higher than the surrounding country.

After proper drainage has been secured the roadbed should be crowned, beginning near the source of supply of the clay or sand. The clay should then be spread to a depth of from six to eight inches in the center, sloping off gradually to a thin layer at the sides. Upon the clay should be placed a thin covering of sand. If the clay is of the plastic kind it will then be necessary to plow and harrow it, advantage being taken of rains to puddle the surface with a disk harrow. Sand should be gradually added until the surface of the road ceases to ball and cake.

If the clay is placed on sand to a depth of six inches a cubic yard of clay will cover fifty-four lineal feet; consequently a sixteen foot road treated in this manner would require one cubic yard of clay for each three feet of length. A mile of sixteen foot road would therefore require 1,728 cubic yards of clay.

If the clay subsoil is to be treated with sand it should be plowed and harrowed to a depth of about four inches. On this prepared subsoil should be placed from six to eight inches of clean sand, spread thickest at the center and sloping to the sides in much the same manner as the clay is applied to a sand road. These materials should then be mixed dry instead of the wet mixing, which is preferable when clay is applied to sand. This is preferable because the clay can be better pulverized when in a dry state. After dry mixing the road should be puddled following the first heavy rain. When the materials are thoroughly mixed and puddled a road machine or grader should be used to give proper crown to the road, and if a roller is available the road can be improved by the use of it. As it is impossible to determine exactly the proportions of sand and clay to be used in the first place, it is necessary to give careful attention to the sand-clay road for a considerable time after it is completed, in order that additional sand or clay may be applied as needed.

A SAND-CLAY ROAD.

In 1911 there were only 2,000 miles of sand-clay roads in the United States, but at the present time there are approximately 25,000 miles.

A farmer writer says he keeps the rats from gnawing the harness by keeping a lump of salt where they can get it. He says it is the salt they want and that is why they gnaw the harness.

(These articles and illustrations must not be reprinted without special permission.)

PACKING EGGS FOR HATCHING.

Baggage smashers just owe to make egg smelters, so pack eggs for hatching in a style to balk the blunders.

That eggman becomes a yeggman who packs the advance price then ships the eggs in any old way.

Egg receptacles should be strong enough to avoid excessive express and should have handles.

Packing should be light and a padded interior as to save from breakage and shock, the latter being responsible for many poor hatches, the embryos being destroyed in transit.

Egg shipments should be distinctly tagged "EGGS," be sent direct as possible.

Photo by C. M. Barnitz.

EGG CARTON—PAPER WRAPPING.

shible on mild days to escape freezing, and the buyer should be notified of date of shipment in advance.

There are several good style cartons on the market, but many use boxes or chip baskets when more than a setting are ordered.

Some use egg fillers in these, but the majority pack in the simple manner we here describe, soft paper or excelsior being used. Cover bottom of box with a good springy layer of packing, wrap eggs well and stand them on end in rows and leave room around sides for a cushion.

Place plenty of packing between eggs and egg layers and on the top so that contents of package cannot move.

It is wise to remember that egg buyers get their brooders or incubators ready to receive the eggs and are inconvenienced if they do not arrive at time set.

It is wise for the shipper to remember that not only is the eggshell fragile, but the germ also and may easily be destroyed in transit. He should therefore, do his best to protect them so that they reach the customer in the best possible condition.

EGGS PACKED IN EXCELSIOR.

If eggs are fresh and fertile and do not hatch well before the start of hatch house by mail let the buyer put this in his pipe and smoke it.

A canvass of the most prominent egg sellers in this country and Canada on the question, "What do you consider a reasonable hatch from fifteen eggs shipped by express?" revealed the not jolly response, "Seven." We have never had so low an average on eggs shipped as here described.

THE WHITE HOLLAND TURKEY.

The first White Hollands are said to have been bred in Holland over a hundred years ago and brought to this country by the thirty Dutch. They were sports from the original turkeys taken to the old world over 400 years ago and at first were small and delicate.

This made them unpopular with breeders of market turkeys, for a small turkey cuts a poor figure as a Christmas table centerpiece, so American turkey breeders at once got busy and crossed them with white sports from the Mammoth Bronze, the giants of poultrydom, and this infusion of new blood not only made them bolder, but built them to a size very popular at market, as will be seen by the new standard weights for this beautiful variety:

When bred, fed and finished right they often equal the Bantam in size.

Some urge as objection to this splendid variety that its color makes the bird a conspicuous mark for hawks.

We have bred white, buff and black turkeys, and hawks have caught no more of one variety than another, and we can't see that color makes much difference to a bird of prey with such telescopic sight that it can see a gray mouse in the grass while sailing high in the air.

It is yet to be proved also that a white Holland mother turkey can't see

Photo by C. M. Barnitz.

OLD DOB.

a hawk as quickly as the Bronze and fight him off as valiantly.

Mr. White Holland ditto.

The White Holland is a beauty with its pure white plumage, jet black beard, pink nose and feet, red neck and head, graceful shape and magnificent carriage.

It makes an attractive centerpiece about correct size for general market requirements, free from objectionable dark feathers and the equal of any in juicy flesh and delicious flavor.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

Australia's experiment stations are discarding the trap nest and penning hens that are tested singly and claim to get better and more natural results from this method.

It is the custom of some to give the first feed to chicks in the incubator. This fouls the machine for the next hatch. It gets a sour smell, and succeeding eggs do not hatch well.

There's an old saying, "Hope deferred maketh the heart sick." An investigation revealed eggs that had been in cold storage for two years. Hope this revelation won't make your stomach sick.

A burlap tray, so easily made and placed on the incubator door before eggs hatch, makes a soft place for chicks to drop and saves you scrubbing out the ditch where chicks are allowed to run on the board bottom.

An easy way to tell whether eggs contain live chicks is to put them into water heated to 103 degrees. The live eggs float and bob up and down, but the dead ones simply float. By passing each egg before your snout you can tell the rotten eggs that shoot.

The poultry brooder, off his hands while they are in condition and demand not only makes room for young stock, lessens his work and saves feed, but has ready money to catch that cash discount when he lays in winter supplies.

Jan. 1, 1911, there were 513,498 cases of eggs in thirty-three cold storage warehouses and by Feb. 1, 1911, 315,355 cases or 3,153,550 dozen had disappeared down the throats of egg consumers. That shows the vast number of people who eat cold storage eggs and how quickly the trust handles its goods.

L. M. Barnitz.

Mrs. Ida Decker, 11 Carlyle Street, Battle Creek, Mich., had all the painful symptoms of severe kidney trouble. Her kidneys were congested, eyesight blurred, slept poorly was nervous, tired out, and all run down. After taking Foley Kidney Pills she says: "The sick headache came no more, I slept soundly, was free from dizziness, and my kidneys and bladder stopped bothering me. Foley Kidney Pills cured me, and freed me of much misery." For sale by Frank N. Merrill.

EVERYBODY'S SNUG.

The wind is howling loud outside. But I'm all right. No draft can hit her in the spine. She's snug and warm tonight.

It's down to zero, awful cold. But old Ben's sleeping sound. In her bed snug on a dry bed. Horse blanket tucked around.

The snow is drifting awful deep. But Towser is O. K. He's sleeping right beside the hens On a nice bed of hay.

Just see the bitzard! Oh, the wind! But it can't reach the cows. They sleep or chew their juicy cud Beneath the well fitted mud.

Twenty below, but that the dogs. They're snoring out of sight. They sleep on a dry bed of straw In their pen clean and tight.

I'm sleepy; I must say good night. Since all are warm and fed. I hope that you and all of yours Have just as snug a bed.

D. W. Miller, 301 E. Court St., Flint, Mich., had a severe attack of kidney trouble and says: "There was a constant letting of distress with painful kidney action. Foley Kidney Pills cured me completely, dispelling all kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness disappeared and I slept soundly again. I heartily endorse Foley Kidney Pills. For sale by Frank N. Merrill.

Ford Cars Are Winners

More than one hundred thousand Ford Cars are in use today. More than four thousand individual Ford dealers are scattered over the entire United States and Canada today. I have taken the exclusive agency for Charlevoix and vicinity and solicit your business. If you are in the market for a car, I want to talk with you before you buy. Look at this

Ford Model "T" Four Door Touring Car

5 Passenger—4 Cylinder—20 Horse Power Car

Price: $690

Includes Extension Top, Automatic Brass Wind Shield, Speedometer, 2 six inch Gas Lamps, Generator, 3 Oil Lamps, Horn, Tools

WHERE CAN YOU DO BETTER

Ford Model Five is not a cheap car—it is the highest priced car in the world, none excepted. Yet, I am able to sell it at the lowest price. You are asked so buy a Ford for what it will do, based upon what it has done. Let me talk with you before you buy.

Theodore Erickson

Local Agent

House Furnishings

Nothing needed to furnish a house is lacking in our immense stock.

We can sell you everything you need ready to take possession of your new home.

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

For Sale

An American Harrow Co.'s

MANURE SPREADER

One hundred bushel, practically new, one-half retail price.

Address or Phone

IRA. G. MOSHER

Charlevoix, Michigan

A Girl of the Limberlost

BY

Gene Stratton Porter

(Continued from page three)

ped. "May I kiss you good night, mother?" she asked lightly.

"Never said any slithering," said Mrs. Comstock. "I should think you'd lived with me long enough to know that I don't care for it."

"Well, I'd like to show you in some way how happy I am and how I think you."

"I wonder what for?" said Mrs. Comstock. "Mrs. Shinton picked that and brought it here, and you pay for it."

"Yes, but you seemed willing for me to have it, and you said you would help me if I couldn't pay all," insisted Elvira.

"Myrtle I did," said Mrs. Comstock. "Myrtle I did. I meant to get you some heavy dress skirts about Thanksgiving, and I still can get them. Go to bed and for mercy's sake don't begin mooning before a mirror and make a duce of yourself."

CHAPTER VI.

Wherein the Heart of Pete Carson is Touched by a Girl.

MRS. COMSTOCK picked up several papers and blew out the kitchen light. She stood in the middle of the sitting room door for a time and then went into her room and closed the door. Sitting on the edge of the bed, she thought for a few minutes and then suddenly buried her face in the pillow and again heaved with laughter.

Down the road plodded Margaret and Wesley Shinton. Neither of them had words to utter their united thought.

"Done," hissed Wesley at last. "Done brown! Did you ever feel like a bloomin' confounded donkey? How did the woman do it?"

"She didn't do it," replied Margaret through her teeth. "She didn't do anything. She just trusted to Elvira's great big soul to bring her out right, and really she was right, and so it had to bring her. She's a darling, Wesley. But she's got a time before her. Did you see Kate Comstock grab that money? Before six months she'll be out coughing the Limberlost for bugs and arrow points to help pay the tax. I know her."

"Well, I don't," exclaimed Shinton. "She's too many for me. But there is a laugh left in her yet. I didn't suppose there was. Bet you a dollar if we could see her this minute she'd be chuckling over the way we got left."

Both of them stopped in the road and looked back.

"There's Elvira's light in her room," said Margaret. "The poor child will feel those clothes and pore over her books till morning, but she'll look decent to go to school, anyway. Nothing is too big a price to pay for that."

"Yes, if Kate lets her wear them. Ten to one she makes her finish the week with that old stuff."

"No, she won't," said Margaret. "She don't dare. Kate made some concessions all right, big ones for her—if she did get her way in the matter. She bent some, and if Elvira proves that she can walk out two-handed in the morning and come back with that much money in her pocket, an awful lot of books and buy a turpentine like that she proves that she's for some consideration, and Kate's smart enough. She'll think twice before she'll do that. Elvira won't wear a calico dress to high school again. You watch and see if she does. She may have got the best clothes she'll get for a time for the least money, but she won't know it until she tries to buy goods herself at the same rates. Wesley, what about those prices? Didn't they shrink considerably?"

"You began it," said Wesley. "Those prices were all right. We didn't say what the goods cost us; we said what they would cost her. Surely she's mistaken about being able to pay all that. Can she pick up stuff of that value around the Limberlost? Didn't the Bird Woman see her trouble and just give her the money?"

"I don't think so," said Margaret. "Seems to me I've heard of her paying or offering to pay them that would take the money for bugs and butter flies, and I've known people who sold that banker Indian stuff. Once I heard that his pipe collection beat that of the government at the Philadelphia centennial. These things have come to have a value."

"Well, there's about a bushel of that kind of valuables piled up in the woodshed that belongs to Elvira. At least I picked them up because she said she wanted them. Maggie, how the nation did Kate Comstock do that?"

"You will keep on turling, Wesley. I told you she didn't do it. Elvira did it! She walked in and took things right out of our hands. Suppose we'd got Elvira when she was a baby, and we'd reared on her all the love we could on our own, and we'd coddled, petted and spoiled her, would she have made the woman that thing alone, learning to think for herself and taking all the knocks Kate Comstock could give have made of her?"

"You bet your life," cried Wesley warmly. "Having anybody don't hurt them. We wouldn't have done anything but love her. You can't hurt a child loving it. She'd have learned to work, be sensible, steady, and grown into a woman with us, without suffering like a poor touchless dog."

"But you don't get the point, Wesley. She would have grown into a fine woman with us; just seems as if Elvira was born to be free, but as we would have raised her, would her heart ever have known the world as it does now? Where's the anguish, Wesley, that child can't comprehend? See how what she's seen of her mother hasn't hardened her. I guess we'd better keep out. Maybe Kate Comstock knows what she's doing. Sure as you live, Elvira has grown bigger on knocks than she would on love."

"I don't suppose there ever was a very fine point to anything but I missed it," said Wesley. "Because I am blunt, rough and have no book learning to speak of. Since you put it into words I see what you mean, but it's dinged hard on Elvira, just the same. And I don't keep out. I keep watching closer than ever. I got my slip in the face, but I don't take my guess. Kate Comstock learned her lesson, some as I did. She learned that I was in a nest, that I would have her a coat if she didn't loosen up a bit, and she's haven't. You see if she does it."

"Up the attic Elvira flitted like a panther, set them on her little table, started the books and put away the precious clothes lovingly. Then she slipped into her little white nightgown, shook down her hair that it might be come thoroughly dry, set a chair before the table and feverishly opened one of the books. A still draft swept the attic, for it stretched the length of the cabin and had a window in each end. Elvira arose and, going to the east window, closed it. She stood for a minute looking at the stars, the sky and the dark outline of the struggling trees of the rapidly dismantling Limberlost. In the region of her case a tiny point of light flashed and disappeared. Elvira straightened and wondered. Was it wise to leave her precious money there? The light flashed once more, wavered a few seconds and died out. The girl waited. She did not see it again, and so she went back to her books.

In the Limberlost the building figure of a man slouched down the trail.

"The Bird Woman was at Freckles' room this evening," he muttered. "Wonder what for?"

He left the trail, entered the enclosure still distinctly outlined and approached the case. The first point of light flashed from the tiny electric lamp on his vest. He took a duplicate key from his pocket, felt for the padlock and opened it. The door swung aside. The light flashed the second time. Swiftly his glance swept the interior.

"Bout a fourth of her moths gone, Elvira must have been with the Bird Woman and given them to her." Then he stood tense. His keen eyes discovered the roll of bills hastily thrust back in the bottom of the case. He snatched them up, shut off the light, relocked the case by touch and swiftly went down the trail. Every few seconds he paused and listened intently. Just as he reached the road the low ho of a screech owl waveringly prolonged fell on his ears, and he stopped. An instant later a second figure approached him.

"Is it you, Pete?" came the whispered question.

"Yes," said the first man. "I was coming down to take a peep when I saw your flash," he said. "I heard the Bird Woman had been at the case today. Anything doing?"

"Not a thing," said Pete. "She just took away about a fourth of the moths. Probably had the Comstock girl getting them for her. Heard they were together. Likely she'll get the rest tomorrow. Ain't picking getting bare these days?"

"Well, I should say so," said the second man, turning back in disgust. "Coming home now?"

"No, I am going down this way," answered Pete, for his eyes caught the gleam from the window of the Comstock cabin, and he had a desire to know why Elvira's attic was lighted at that hour.

He stretched down the road, occasionally feeling the size of the roll he had not taken time to count. He chuckled frequently.

"Feels fat enough to pay," he whispered. "Bill, I beat you just about seven minutes."

The attic was too long, the light too near the other end, and the cabin stood much too far back from the road. He could see nothing, although he climbed the fence and walked back opposite the window. He knew Mrs. Comstock was probably awake and that she some-bind the cabin. He returned to the road, passed and again climbed the fence. Opposite the west window he could see Elvira. She sat before a small table reading from a book between two candles. Her hair fell in a bright sheen around her, and with one hand she lightly shook and tossed it as she studied. The man stood out in the night and watched.

For a long time a leaf turned occasionally and the hair drying went on. The man drew nearer. The picture grew more beautiful as he approached. He could not see as well as he desired, for the screen was of white mosquito netting and it angled him. He cautiously crept closer. The elevation shut off his view. Then he remembered the screen would shade the west and again long across the window at the west end of the cabin. From that point Elvira had stepped from the side to a table and set down the standing trunk at the foot. He reached it and noiselessly swung himself up. Three steps out on the big limb the man shuddered. He was within a few feet of the girl.

Elvira closed the book and laid it aside. She picked up a towel and, turning the gathered ends of her hair, rubbed them across it and, dropping the towel on her lap, tossed the hair again. Then she sat in deep thought. By and by words began to come softly. Near as he was the man could not hear at first. He bent closer and listened intently.

"I never could be so happy," murmured the soft voice. "The dress is so pretty, such shoes, the coat and everything. I won't have to be ashamed again, not ever again, for the Limberlost is full of precious moths, and I can always collect them. The Bird Woman will pay more tomorrow, and the next day, and the next. When they are all gone I can spend every minute gathering coons and hunting other things from sell. Oh, thank God for my precious, precious money! Why, I didn't pray in vain after all. I thought when I asked the Lord to hide me, there in that big hall, that he wasn't doing it because I wasn't covered from sight that instant. But I'm hidden now; I feel that." Elvira lifted her eyes to the beatus above her. "I don't know much about paying properly," she muttered, "but I do thank you, Lord, for hiding me in your own time and way."

Her face was so bright that it shone with a white radiance. Two big tears welled from her eyes and rolled down her smiling cheeks. "Oh, I do feel that you have hidden me," she breathed. Then she blew out the lights, and the little wooden bed creaked under her weight.

(Continued next week.)

Alex. DeStinson, 90 Lake St., Muskegon, Mich., desires other people to benefit by the curative qualities of Foley Kidney Pills and says: "I wish to state that I have used Foley Kidney Pills and received more benefit from them than anything that I have ever used before. I had a bad case of kidney trouble and I wish to thank you for the help Foley Kidney Pills have given me." For sale by Frank N. McCall.

FENCE YOU CAN SHIFT.

Useful in Inclosing Temporarily Rich Bit of Pasture.

Rather than cut a rich piece of fodder to be gathered and moved away to the sheep, hogs or other stock it is often more economical to pasture it off in a small place at a time. The lack of a suitable fence often prevents this. A portable fence may be built according to the plan shown in the drawings beneath. It requires but a few panels of this to inclose sufficient field for a day's cropping, when it can be shifted to new ground for the next day. If sheep with lambs are to be folded in this way an extra board will be needed at the bottom of each panel.

PANEL OF PORTABLE FENCE.

These panels may be built twelve or thirteen feet in length and must be thoroughly braced to keep the fence firm from endwise motion. Cross pieces at the bottom of the upright should be long enough to keep the fence firm sideways. The upright used for the portable base should be 2 by 4 inches, with iron hooks driven or screwed in at proper intervals to receive the end boards of the panels. American Agriculturist.

Jas. Therio, of Iron River, Mich., finds Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a family medicine that helped all the family, so he always keeps it on hand. "Both my children and I were troubled with bad coughs and we used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It certainly cured us and I recommend it as a good cough and cold cure." For sale by Frank N. McCall.

YOUR TEMPER.

Remember that when you are right you can afford to keep your temper and when you are wrong you can't afford to lose it.

He Was Within a Few Feet of the Girl.

time went to the window behind her home at night. At first a ray went up from it to the sky, then a porch and any one in the house was there as if for this. The light was so bright that it

JOB DEPARTMENT

The Courier's Job Department delight in putting out your work as you want it. If you are in doubt we will be pleased to give you advice. Our printers understand the art and our office is equipped with the best and latest new machinery and new type faces this season.

FACTS!!! FACTS!!!

The Courier

Has the largest Circulation

Prints more Local News

Has more Special Features

Than any other paper in this territory. We cover the field thoroughly. Mr. Advertiser--- Don't this mean something to you?

INVESTIGATE THESE FACTS

If you are not already a Subscriber to the Courier send for a three month's trial subscription or a Sample Copy. Once a Subscriber Always One. That's the Record for we Deliver the Goods.

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings Results
A Newspaper that Prints The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2-27

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure
The only Baking Powder made
from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar
NO ALUM, NO LIME PHOSPHATE

CHANCE FOR FRUIT MEN

Great Britain Market for Apple Growers in This Region.

Honest Pack and Guaranteed Quality Demanded—Product Admitted to Excess West.

On May 13, Secretary John L. Gibson of the Western Michigan Development bureau held a conference in Boston with a representative of a large English firm which makes a specialty of exporting apples from this country to Great Britain. They stated that they had heard a great deal about the excellent flavor and appearance of the Michigan apple and were willing to take any quantity up to 600 carloads per year if they could be assured of the quality and grading of the fruit. This opens a new field for the Grand Traverse apple, and if the growers are capable of handling the proposition in a satisfactory manner they will be assured of a permanent market for the finest product they can raise.

With the present method of sorting and packing in yokes among the growers it would be futile to try to enter and hold such a market, as only the best selected stock is wanted and the firm is willing to pay the price for it. With the adoption of a proper standard of sorting and packing and a guaranteed honest pack it would be easy sailing for the growers. It is to be hoped that the local apple men will wake up to their opportunity and try to secure this reliable market for the Grand Traverse product.

At the present time the 600 carloads that are handled yearly by the firm come from the Oregon and Washington orchards, and have to be shipped clear across the country. They would be perfectly satisfied to secure their fruit in Michigan, if the quality is guaranteed equal to the western product, as it would save the present freight rates by cutting off the thousands of miles that the apples have to be hauled to get them to the Atlantic coast.

This is a market that is worth while to the Michigan growers and it is to be hoped that they will rise to the occasion and try to secure it as a permanent thing for the future. The way has been opened to them by Mr. Gibson. All that remains to be done is to produce the goods and pack them in an honest manner and that will hold the trade.

Notice to Dog Owners.

All Dog owners are warned to pay their dog license without further delay and avoid trouble.
210 By Order of Council.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and
General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cement
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and
Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

Harmony Grange No. 1451

The last meeting of Harmony Grange No. 1451 was the most successful in point of numbers in its history. Three new members were initiated in the first two degrees.

The matter of incorporation of the grange was left in the hands of Brother W. C. Birdick, Committee on site and plans for building a hall consisting of Master O. D. Wilson, Brother George Williams and Overseer H. L. Willson reported and were continued. Woman's work committee will meet on Wednesday, May 22 with Sister Edna Snell. An instructive literary program was carried out.

Care of the Heifer.

The most common mistake made in developing a heifer is in not recognizing the fact that she is actually a cow and needs caring for the same as any cow and managing that she needs a special looking after or, its extreme, no care and that any odds and ends are good enough feed; also that she needs to "rough it" to make her hardy and cause her to "take hold" of her feed without any signs of dalliance. All this last is wholly wrong and has no part in the proper developing of a heifer. First, hardness and constitution are born with a calf, never supplied after, so that when the calf is dropped if it is fully developed, active, a full mouth of teeth and goes right after its dairy lunch you may count on a healthy, hardy animal in after years if well housed and cared for. A heifer should always be kept growing and never suffer for the needed amounts of food daily to make it grow, but never in such abundance as to "stuff it," clog its appetite and upset its digestion.—Rural New Yorker.

The Kicking Cow.

In many instances the milker makes or unmakes a cow. Better never put a fine cow into the hands of a poor milker. It will do no harm, however, and it may do much good to put the poor cow into the hands of a good milker. The cow that is naturally vicious and possesses a tendency to kick or switch her tail in the milker's face at frequent intervals is apt to so exasperate that person that he may not only handle her roughly, but also deal out the same treatment to the other cows. Thus she is a detriment to the entire herd in an indirect way.—Farm and Fireside.

Draft Horse Conformation.

A heavy draft horse should be long shanked. If a horse is short ribbed he is likely to be middle and nearly always a poor feeder. His stomach is too small to contain enough feed to serve him from one meal to another. When cut at hard work he generally has a favored out appearance. A light frame of horse seldom yields well, and weight in a draft horse, if it comes from bone, shows and weighs, gives a long and substantial appearance to the animal.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the many acts of kindness shown us during the illness and death of our beloved one and for the many beautiful floral tributes and music.
Ernest J. Hilber,
Don C. Hilber.

Take Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Charlevoix County Fair Association, will be held in the City of Charlevoix, on Monday the 23rd day of June, 1912, at 10 o'clock in the afternoon.

The following amendments will be voted on at said meeting:
Article 2 of the Constitution to be amended to read as follows: "The object of this Association is to establish a fund, from which to secure necessary benefits to the families or beneficiaries of deceased members."

Article 3 of the Constitution to be amended to read as follows: "Any Old Fellow or Rehebe, or Benefactor member in good standing in the Association, who is a resident of Charlevoix County, may be received into membership upon a written application, signed by the applicant, and recommended by two of the Board of Directors."

Article 4 of the Constitution to be amended to read as follows: "This Association may be altered or amended at any annual meeting of this Association, by a two-thirds vote of the members present at such meeting, upon written application signed by the members and presented to the Board of Directors at any of their meetings, at least two weeks prior to the annual meeting of the Association, at which time the application shall be read and the members shall be given an opportunity to be heard thereon. Such application shall specify what article of the Constitution is proposed to be amended or altered."

Article 5 of the By-Laws to be amended to read as follows: "The annual meeting of this Association shall be held on the first Monday in June of each year, in the City of Charlevoix, at such place as shall be determined by the Board of Directors, notice of which time and place shall be given by the Secretary in writing or by printed postal cards to each member, at least one week prior to such meeting, for the election of officers and the transaction of such other business as may come before it."

Article 6, Sec. 1, Article 8, Sec. 1, Article 9, Sec. 1 of the By-Laws, each to be amended to read "he or she" and "his or her" wherever the masculine "he" or "his" appears in conformity with the Constitution as amended to include Rehebe members in the Association.

Also other business as may legally come before said meeting.
By order of the Board of Directors,
Dated at Charlevoix, Mich., this 20th day of May 1912.
Richard Lewis, Sec.

We do Fine Job Printing.

COW CARE BEFORE AND AFTER CALVING.

The dairy cow when dry should be fed chiefly on roughage. A small allowance of grain, say two pounds daily, will be quite enough, provided she is in reasonably good physical condition, and it is well to have it rich in protein, says Hoard's Dairyman.

Bran or oats or a mixture of bran and oats with a little oilmeal or some other feed rich in protein is always to be relied upon for a cow before calving. Corn silage and roots are very acceptable feeds if the cow has no pasture. In connection with the question of lowance of clover or alfalfa hay or some other roughage rich in protein.

A cow at this time should not be fed more roughage than she will eat up clean. If fed too liberally there is danger of her getting into the habit of eating the most palatable parts of the roughage and wasting much good food. A cow on pasture needs no grain, but a little roughage would be very acceptable. Of course if the animal is thin in flesh it is well to feed some grain. The amount must depend entirely upon the condition of the cow.

If the cow has been properly fed there will be no necessity for giving any medicine after calving. A bran mash over which some warm water has been poured is a very acceptable feed.

The Holstein breed has some very staunch friends among the Canadian dairy experts. It was Professor H. H. Dean who wrote: "While other breeders were and are paying attention to 'fine horns, slim necks, bright eyes, thin shoulders, long tails, solid colors, creamy noses, wedge shape' and all the rest of the kind which dairymen have taken up from time to time, the breeders of Holstein cattle kept and are keeping the cows doing business at the milk pail. The effects of this policy are seen today in the splendid records which are now being made in all parts of Canada and the United States. The Holstein shown herewith is an ideal dairy type."

pecially in cold weather. Ground out-axed with grain and a pail of warm water can be given, for it will be found that her feverish and exhausted condition at this time demands considerable water, and it is much better to be given warm than cold. She should not be exposed to cold drafts of air.

At the beginning of her milking period the cow should be fed very lightly of grain, but a liberal allowance of good silage, roots and hay. As she gains strength and resumes her normal condition the grain portion of her ration may be increased. The increase may be kept up as long as the animal responds to the extra feed. When she has reached her maximum flow of milk she should be fed a little less grain.

The time to establish the milk flow of the cow is when she is fresh. It should take three to four weeks to bring her to a full flow of milk and to bring a full ration. There is no objection in the period of lactation when care and indulgence feeding have a more important bearing upon her year's record. The dairy cow should be fed liberally, but care should be taken not to overfeed her and carry her beyond her capacity. This works injury not only to her milk function, but to her breeding powers.

With proper care and feeding there is little danger of calving troubles. If, however, the udder becomes inflamed and painfully extended it may be relieved by withdrawing some of the contents or by warm fomentations.

SAVING THE BABY PIGS.

Care of the Brood Sow and Her Litter at Farrowing Time.

In the early spring before the sows farrow 1-grind two bushels of corn and four bushels of oats together, writes S. E. Jennings in the American Agriculturist. 1-grind the corn largely to get the oats ground, as it is hard to grind oats alone. I think the grinding crushes the hull and the hogs get more out of them, as unground unhusked corn passes through whole. To this I add 400 pounds shipstuf, 100 pounds tank-ore, 50 pounds oilmeal and mix all together. To eight gallons of this mixture I add ten gallons of hot water and then ten gallons of cold and feed to twenty-five young sows.

I also feed shuck corn. The hogs eat some of the blades, and they help them. It saves husking the corn, and the hogs do better than on husked corn. Some of the shuck corn works down through, and the hogs work all day rooting after it, which gives them exercise. When hogs are fed on corn they eat and then lie down. The corn feeder keeps them clean.

At farrowing time I watch my hogs closely. At the hundred and eighth to the hundred and tenth day I put each sow in a small pen by herself. I like the "A" shape house best, as the hogs cannot lie on the pigs. When it is very cold I place a lantern in the top of the "A" shape house, and it keeps them warm. It also gives light. I do not think a sow will lie on as many pigs if a lantern is kept burning about three

BICYCLES

I have received another large shipment of Bicycles direct from the factory, and by seeing my line before you buy, I can save you money. I can convince you beyond a reasonable doubt that I sell bicycles at a very low price, and they are the best on the market. I also handle

Bicycle Tires
Bicycle Parts

Bicycle Repairing
Motor-cycles

I ALSO BUY AND SELL SECOND HAND BICYCLES

Benj. Brown

Would advise you to test your Seed Corn at once, as there was very little Corn grown by our farmers last summer suitable for seed.

If it don't test good enough, we have some that will.

S. ORLOWSKI & SON

SHOES

Just keep it in mind—we handle shoes—shoes that are built for wear, stand the wear, and cost less than you pay at other stores.

SMITH-WALLACE SHOES

are guaranteed to stand the wear and tear of all kinds of weather and conditions. The price we ask for them leaves some change in the pocketbook. Call and see them.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor

320 Bridge Street Next to Bakers' Inn

Green Grocer's Goods....

Radishes, Lettuce, Cabbage, Etc.
Fresh as the dew in the morning.

Don't fail to call and look over our PINEAPPLES. Our stock is always fresh. All orders for groceries and meats promptly delivered.

THE CORNER STORE

McGEAGH & MORSE

Telephone 125 Antrim Street

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Hearing of Claims.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.
In the matter of the estate of Mary R. Wilkinson, deceased.
Notice is hereby given that six months from the 24th day of May, A. D. 1912, have been allowed by creditors to present their claims against said deceased to said court, for examination and adjustment, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said court, at the probate office, in the City of Charlevoix in said county, on or before the 24th day of December, A. D. 1912, and that said claims will be heard by said court on Monday the 24th day of December, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.
Dated May 20th, A. D. 1912.
John M. Harris,
Judge of Probate.

For Sale.

Two seated, rubber tired runabouts. Inquire Argo Milling Co. Ltd.

Let me do your DRAYING

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time

Phone 373

When you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.

Moving Household Goods

A SPECIALTY

CHARLES TAYLOR

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 22

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MAY 29, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

BIG MEETING HELD LAST WEEK

Grand Traverse District Women's Home
Missionary Society of M. E. Church.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Delegates Were Present From All Over
The District--Attendance Was Good

Fine Program Was Carried Out--Old Officers
Were Re-Elected--Mrs. Barnes of Petoskey Chosen President.

On Tuesday of last week the Grand Traverse District Women's Home Missionary society met at the M. E. church in this city. The meeting was ably presided over by Mrs. Barnes of Petoskey, who by her original and unexpected remarks gave spice to each session.

In a few choice words the convention was welcomed by Mrs. P. D. Campbell and the response was given by Mrs. Minor of Traverse City. Mrs. Minor was formerly Miss Minnie Goss, superintendent of our schools. She said that the convention had been welcomed to the most beautiful place in the world. Tourists say that even Venice is not so beautiful as Charlevoix.

Mrs. Pinnock of Harbor Springs gave the district report. The W. H. M. S. sustains many laborers among foreigners, Indians, and needy, and the outlook grows more and more encouraging. The total amount raised in the district this year was $534.30, and the number of members 252. Manistee is now the banner city.

The address delivered Tuesday evening by Rev. Manning of Petoskey was most inspiring. He was assisted by Mr. Parker of Petoskey, who drew rapidly and effectively a crayon picture of New York harbor with its hordes of foreigners just landing. Over the ship in harbor the form of Christ was seen symbolic of His aid in our work. Rev. Manning said in part that the great needs of the society are funds and laborers. There are more than five hundred towns in the state of Oregon that are churchless. Our success on the frontier, and among the negroes and immigrants more than repays the effort. Not one of our negroes who has graduated from one of our institutions has disgraced himself or done a criminal act. A lively discussion followed the paper on tithing. All agreed that if the church members would give one-tenth of their income for the Lord's churches would be out of debt, missionary work would prosper, and there would be less friction and fewer tired women in the world. During the sessions the convention was favored with music by the Wilkinson brothers, Miss Sharp, Miss Putnam and a class of Sunday school girls; also a reading by Mrs. James Wilkinson, all of which was greatly enjoyed.

The following officers were re-elected: President, Mrs. Emma L. Barnes, Petoskey; vice-president, Mrs. Olive Ewing, Harbor Springs; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Anna Pinnock, Harbor Springs; recording secretary, Mrs. Bertha Johnson, Traverse City; treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Parker, Petoskey.

HIRSHBERG--COHEN

Well Known Charlevoix Girl Married to Bad Axe Business Man.

A very pretty wedding occurred Tuesday at high noon when Miss Eva Cohen, of this city, and Sam Hirschberg, of Bad Axe, Michigan, were united in holy wedlock at the home of the bride, Rabbi Joseph Strinkowsky officiating.

The house was most artistically decorated with pink and white carnations, sniifax, palms and ferns. The ceremony took place under a large canopy, gracefully entwined with sniifax.

At the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mrs. Arthur Cohen, cousin of the bride, the bride, beautifully gowned in white satin with a full tulle veil which fell to the hem of her gown, crowned with lilies-of-the-valley, came down stairs, meeting the groom under an arch. They were preceded by little Goodman Cohen, nephew of the bride, who carried the ring in a lily. The bride was given away by her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Cohen, while the groom was given away by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Danto of Detroit.

The bride's sister, Miss Bessie Cohen and Mr. Irwin Levy, of Cincinnati, were maid of honor and groomsmen.

Immediately following the ceremony, a delicious six course wedding breakfast was served. Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. Hirschberg left for a two weeks trip to Detroit, Chicago and Buffalo. They will be at home after June 15 at Bad Axe, where Mr. Hirschberg is manager of a store which is one of four which his firm, Hirschberg & Sons, operate in the southern part of the state.

Mrs. Hirschberg is well known to all our readers having been the active manager of "Cohen's Store" for several years and all unite in wishing her all happiness and joy.

PROTECTION FROM FIRE LOSSES

State Fire Marshal Issues Warning to Property Owners.

Big Losses From Carelessness--Many Fires Could Be Avoided.

Fire losses in the United States amount to about $250,000,000 annually $300,000 a minute.

Under conditions as they are in Europe, the losses should be $90,000,000 only.

This tremendous difference is due to better building construction, less carelessness and greater individual responsibility in Europe.

It is estimated that 50 per cent of this appalling fire waste is due to "carelessness."

We find this especially true in case of stove fires, and ask your merchants to learn and practice the important lessons of tidiness and carelessness.

Insurance money taken from the pockets of others pays the merchant for his merchandise, in part, never for interruption in business, loss of customers, etc.; so the honest merchant loses by every fire. The dishonest one is a criminal.

In the space of one bulletin we can give only a few cautions for preventing fires in stores and factories.

1. Buildings. Use fire-proof material, as far as possible in constructing new store buildings, especially the roof. Provide and use fire doors and shutters to protect your buildings, especially the roof. Provide and use fire doors and shutters to protect your store from possible fires in the neighborhood. In renting look for such a building. Your rent may be higher, but your insurance will be less and safety and security greater.

The other cautions we desire to give are all embraced in the terms "Carefulness and Tidiness."

2. Never keep gasoline or naphtha except in an underground tank. Keep other oils in an outside fire-proof building, never in the main building, and allow no filling of lamps or of cans by artificial light.

3. Destroy all oily waste and rags each day. During the day keep them in a standard metal waste can.

4. Allow no rubbish, papers or packing material to accumulate in or about your store. Keep these in fire-proof rooms or receptacles.

5. Permit no ashes to be put in wooden boxes or barrels or against walls of buildings. Provide a metal receptacle.

6. See that your electric wiring and fixtures and all changes in the same are approved by the city electrician.

7. Never use sawing gas brackets.

8. Do not permit paper, cotton or other decorations on your electric globes, wires or other fixtures. The use of candles in decorating is also dangerous. Keep inflammable materials and decorations away from stoves and stove pipes and steam pipes.

9. Do not hang drop cords over nails, hooks or suspend them from wires or wrap them around steam pipes.

10. Do not use or sell the parlor

ARE NOW LOCATED FAR AWAY FROM CIVILIZATION

Robert C. Jarvis Writes Interesting Letter to Courier From Montana--Scared By a Cowboy--Not So Bad as Looked for--Will Be Continued in Next Issue With Homesteader's Experiences.

Starvation Hope Claim,
Harlem, Montana.

Dear Friend:

Having promised to tell you of our homestead experience I will begin with our arrival in our city. Possibly you do not conceive the appropriateness of the heading of this epistle. But when I tell you how far we are from civilization, etc., its full meaning will burst upon you as spontaneously as it did upon us.

Needs I tell you how it thrilled us to the marrow when the porter of the train upon which we traveled, entered our coach and announced the next station to be Harlem. All the previous planning, expectations and anticipations surged through our minds. Cowboys with guns and lassos, the prairie, its vastness, cacti, rattlesnakes and Indians. All we had pictured, all we had "been told" would soon be a realization.

The train creaked into the station. Fearing we had not yet reached the town but had stopped by a way station for some reason we enquired of the conductor our whereabouts and he assured us we were in Harlem, and turned about his business leaving us stranded by what they persisted in calling depot.

After the train pulled out there was only one person on the station platform, a cowboy, a real sure enough cowboy, having read about cowboys and their pranks with eastern tenderfoot I was for starting off across the prairie. But mother stated that it was absolutely necessary that we find out where the hotel was located and to interview this person. He stood about six feet high, now that I have my right sense of height, though at the time mother thought seven feet and when she told me it was my place to make the inquiry, I was certain he was at least eight feet five in the morning he wore. He was leaning against the corner of the building and at that moment as he looked at me I was sure he was about to pull a six shooter and demand a Saloon or Merry Widow or "Snap head" match. Keep matches in a metal box away from mice and rats.

11. Before starting the heavy winter tires make sure that your heating plant and chimney are in good repair and clean. Have metal protection under and at the back of the stove. Run stove pipes direct to a brick chimney, never through ceilings or partitions. The chimney should be built from the foundation up, never rest on brackets.

12. Never permit rubbish fires near any buildings. It is better that several merchants join in building a safe burner at a safe and convenient place.

13. Wooden boxes and saw dust are dangerous conspirators.

14. All windows, doors, stairways and elevator shafts should be kept from goods and materials of every kind.

15. Have chemical fire extinguishers on every floor.

INSPECTION. Every merchant should inspect his premises daily.

C. A. PALMER,
State Fire Marshal.

ODD FELLOWS STRONG

Statistics Show That the Order Had Good Growth
For the Year.

An audit of the books and accounts of the grand lodge of L. O. O. F. in Michigan has just been completed by the financial committee and will be reported to the supreme lodge.

According to figures taken from the books there are 529 lodges in the state, 53,456 members, and there were 4,733 initiations during the year. There were 517 deaths and 17 members were expelled. Relief was extended to 2,892 members and 136 families, at an expense of $98,282.50. Receipts from all sources during the year were $385,307.02. The invested fund of subordinate lodges amounts to $1,177,423.03.

Let the Courier come with Spring

waltz. I began to perspire fluently and had a weird volcanic feeling when I saw him reach for his hip pocket. I exerted every muscle, struggled silently but try as I would I could not swallow the immense lump that had formed in my throat.

It was a great relief when his hand came in view to see a big handkerchief with which he mopped his brow. I suddenly remembered mother and something about a hotel. Finally a severe poke in the back from mother's umbrella brought me to my clear sense of duty and I realized that if I perished I must enquire as to the whereabouts of the nearest hotel. In setting down my luggage, a bundle with shoes in it fell on the platform and at the sudden noise my blood stopped still within me and I straightened up immediately. Finally, with one hand jammed into my coat pocket to keep it from skating, and trying to control my knees so as not to display their uneasiness I managed to drag myself within speaking distance of the terror. After moistening my parched lips I asked in a tolerably steady voice if he knew where there was a hotel? I saw at once that I had attracted of it, for straightening up from where he leaned and turning to me with a scowl he said in the meekest voice I ever heard. "Our hotel burned down this winter."

After finding I had at least a stronger voice than he I ventured with more confidence. Where I might secure lodging? Having obtained the necessary information I thanked him, assured my mother we were perfectly safe and we proceeded to the rooming house.

The following morning found me up bright and early. And after no little trouble I secured a man and his "outfit" who declared he would pack my stuff.

The only article we had difficulty in obtaining was a gasoline stove, last we compromised by getting a second-hand stove which furnished its share of excitement but that comes later. So with all packed in the wagon we started for the claim.

MUST BE ENROLL- ED BY JUNE 27

If You Cast Your Vote at August
Primary Election.

Enrollment May be Made by Affidavit Filed With City or Town Clerk.

When next fall's primaries roll round, each elector in Michigan will find himself in possession of a desire to vote. He will want to participate in his party's choice for governor, lieutenant-governor, county and legislative officers. Pursuant thereto, he will present himself at his polling place and demand his party ticket--just as thousands have repeatedly done up and down Michigan in recent months. The tally clerk will look him up in the "book" and tell him that he failed to enroll and that he therefore has not qualified himself to participate in the primary--just as happened to thousands up and down Michigan in recent months. Thereupon the elector will rid himself of much language unsuited to these columns. He will roundly cuss the law for his own negligence to observe the law. He will kick about regulations because he failed to obey regulations. But he will not vote. Now is the time to prepare yourself to vote at the primaries. If you are not re-enrolled, as required by law, you can enroll any time up to June to June 27th with your city clerk or your township clerk. Here is a section from the law. You read it: "Any qualified elector may become enrolled and be eligible to vote at any primary election if he shall deliver to the city or township clerk or other officer in charge of the enrollment book a written request for said enrollment accompanied by an affidavit setting forth that he is a qualified elector of said township, ward or precinct, and that it is his bonafide intention to affiliate with the political party in which he seeks to enroll; provided that no enrollment by notice and affidavit shall entitle any elector to vote at any primary that shall occur within two months from the date of said enrollment."--Elk Rapids Progress.

Boyer City Excursion.

The steamer City of Boyne will make three trips to Boyne City Thursday, Decoration Day, leaving here at 9:30 a. m., 1 p. m. and 8:50 p. m. Fare for round trip for the 1:00 o'clock trip will be fifty cents.

The Boyne City and Cadillac teams of the Michigan State League will occupy the diamond at Boyne City and the boat will return to Charlevoix after the game.

IMPORTANT TO BEAN GROWERS

Bulletin from Experiment Station--The Importance of Testing Seed.

Condition of Weather at Time of Harvesting Injured Last Fall's Crop.

In a press bulletin issued this week from the Michigan Agricultural college experiment station it is stated that the wet conditions which prevailed generally over the state during the fall months from late September until after heavy frosts, preselected the most unfavorable conditions for harvesting the bean crop which has been experienced in Michigan in many years. It was necessary to turn the beans repeatedly and in most cases to expose them to the unfavorable weather for several weeks. This resulted in the development of mold and the beans becoming badly discolored. In many cases also the crop was not harvested before heavy frosts, or was harvested in a wet mired condition, and were later injured by freezing. Numerous tests of these discolored beans which have been received from different sections of the state show a very low germination, in fact practically all of these beans failed to germinate, or made a very weak growth.

All farmers are cautioned about planting any beans that are badly discolored, as it will be impossible to get a normal stand and growth even by thick planting. Many tests of beans showing no discoloration have likewise resulted in a very low germination, probably due to the fact that they were frozen while in a wet condition.

The farmers of the state have not usually made germination tests of their beans under normal conditions, but it is especially important this year. It is important not only on account of getting a good grade of beans which will show a good percentage of germination, but as all bean growers know it is important to have seed that will make a quick vigorous germination. The beans showing slow germination and retarded growth seldom, if ever, make a satisfactory crop.

All bean growers are urged to make simple germination tests of their seed beans, as follows: Plant 100 beans in some sand or loamy soil, either in a box inside or in a warm place outside. After the first beans have been up for two or three days make a count of those that have germinated and determine the percentage. The germination test may also be made by placing the beans between some pieces of cloth or blotting paper which are kept in a moist condition in a closed receptacle. If the seed beans show a low percentage of germination or fail to make a vigorous growth in the germinator, new seed should be secured. If seed can be found in the neighborhood which was harvested early in a good condition, this will probably show a good germination. Finally the local bean grower will be able to secure seed of good quality for the bean growers of the community, if the demand for the same is made known sufficiently early.

For Sale.

Two seated, rubber tired runabout. Inquire Argo Milling Co. 171

END OF THE SCHOOL YEAR

Dates for Commencement Week Have Been Arranged.

TEN WILL RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

In the Graduating Class of Charlevoix County Normal Class.

Professor W. H. French Will Address the Class-- Fine Programs Have Been Arranged for Class Day and Commencement.

The arrangements have been perfected for the commencement exercises of the Charlevoix County Normal class, and the different events connected therewith promise to be the most interesting in the history of our city.

The class this year numbers ten, the class roll being: Winnie M. Cunningham, Lillian A. Flanders, Lila B. Gray, Louisa M. Narsa, Constance M. Mason, Marguerite B. Munger, Myrtle Pearl, Ella Rasmussen, Lillian M. Randall, Enid E. Todd.

The officers are: President, Lillian A. Flanders; vice-president, Lillian M. Randall; secretary and treasurer, Constance M. Mason.

Class colors--lavender and white. Class flower--lilac. The exercises of the week will commence Sunday, June 2, when the baccalaureate sermon will be preached at the Methodist church by Rev. F. M. Taylor.

Wednesday evening, June 5, will be class day at the Methodist church for which the following program has been arranged:

Violin solo, "Angels Serenade,"--Braga, Lillian M. Randall.

"Agriculture in the County Normal School," Ella Rasmussen.

"Gardening Songs and Drills," Training Room Children, Marguerite B. Munger.

"The Story of the School Garden," Told by the Training Room Children, Enid E. Todd.

"Fruit Growing in Western Michigan," Winnie M. Cunningham.

Vocal Solo and Chorus, "Last Night," Constance M. Mason and Normal Class.

Theme, "The Backward Child," Louisa M. Narsa.

Piano Solo, "The Gondolier,"--Lila B. Gray.

Theme, "Training for Citizenship," Myrtle Pearl.

"Back to the Farm Movement," Lillian A. Flanders.

Chorus, "The Shower," Normal Class.

Thursday evening the commencement exercises will be held at the same place, at which time the following program will be given:

Processional, Miss Mildred C. Munger.

Invocation, Rev. B. Atchison.

Address, "The Big Four," Prof. W. H. French.

Music, Wilkinson Quartet.

Presentation of Diplomas, Com. J. H. Milford.

Chorus, "Good Night," Normal Class.

Alumni reunion in Normal room following the above program. Janie Mitchell, 18, President of Alumni.

THEATRICAL

Manager Wildern, of the Majestic, has been fortunate to secure "The Alvarado Players," who will appear at his popular playhouse June 6-7-8 in repertoire, opening with Denman Thompson's famous "Down East Folks."

This company comes highly recommended as one of the best on the road and only by their having these vacant dates was Mr. Wildern able to secure them.

The attraction for June 3-4-5 will be Sergeant Mears and Little Narsa in "The Camp Followers."

C. R. Bellinger has just received the finest line of table silver, cut glass, clocks and watches ever brought to our city. New goods are arriving daily--and it's a real pleasure to look his stock over. 221

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, etc. write to the Builders Supply Co., phone 862-r. 171

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
100 Lake Street, Chicago

SWANSON'S PILLS

Best Remedy for Constipation, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Bloating and Liver Trouble. 25c Per Box at Druggists

SKIN SORES

Easily and Quickly Healed

Those who suffer from Eczema, pimples or other skin eruptions know the trouble. There is no cure of suffering. You can easily get rid of it by a simple and inexpensive preparation known as the Five-Drop Salve. It is a carefully compounded ointment that for fifteen years has proven its value as a soothing, healing remedy for eczema, pimples, running sores, wounds, burns, salt rheum, ringworm, piles and sores. A single application will usually give immediate relief. The burning, irritating inflammation quickly subsides and the sores dry and disappear.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25 and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not obtainable in your locality you can order direct from the manufacturer, I. C. Co., 100 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent post paid upon receipt of price. It is an excellent remedy for cracked skin and eczema.

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Titles on Short Notice
VANPelt Place Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

LESLIE SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levison's Store
Phone 123 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone—Office 66; residence 265.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co's drug store.
Telephone No. 235. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
Succeeding Dr. LeFevre
Special attention to diseases of women and children. Always given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 65.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Actress Gerald Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
$100.00 for loss of limb or eye sight
$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
Cost $6.00 per year. No other dues nor assessments.
An established Company with $100,000 State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.
Men and Women between 18 and 65 accepted, according to occupation.
For further information address:
AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY
Dept. 19 Box 411 Erie, Pa.

A Slave to Style.

"Your little friend has the ribbon of honor again this week, while you never win it."
"Why, mamma, Suzanne is blond, and blue is becoming to her, but I am a brunette and can't wear it."—Pete Miele.

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday Page & Company.

A GIRL OF THE LUMBERLOST

BY GENE STRATTON-PORTER

CHAPTER VI—Continued.

Pete Corson dropped from the hub and found his way to the road. He stood still a long time, then started back to the Lumberlost. A tiny point of light flashed in the region of the case. He stopped with an oath. "Another bound trying to steal from a girl," he exclaimed. "But it's likely he thinks if he gets anything it will be from a woman who can afford it, as I did." He went on, but beside the fences and very cautiously. "Swamp seems to be alive tonight," he muttered. "That's three of us out." He entered a deep place at the north-west corner, sat on the ground, and, taking a pencil from his pocket, he tore a leaf from a little notebook and laboriously wrote a few lines by the light he carried. Then he went back to the region of the case and waited. Before his eyes swept the vision of the slender white creature with tossing hair. He smiled and worshipped it until a distant rooster faintly announced dawn.

Then he unlocked the case again and replaced the money, laid the note upon it and went back to concealment, where he remained until Elvora came down the trail in the morning, looking very lovely in her new dress and hair. She had had a great struggle with her hair. It crinkled, blowed and shone, and she could not avoid seeing the becoming frame it made around her face. But in deference to her mother's feelings the girl set her teeth and bound her hair close to her head with a shoestring. "Not to be changed at the case," she told herself. That her mother was watching she was unaware. Just as she picked up the beautiful brown ribbon Mrs. Comstock spoke.

"You had better let me tie that. You can't reach behind yourself and do it right." Elvora gave a little gasp. Her mother never before had proposed to do anything for the girl that by any possibility she could do herself. Her heart quivered at the thought of how her mother would arrange that bow, but Elvora dared not refuse. The offer was too precious. It might never be made again. "Oh, thank you," said the girl, and, sitting down, she held out the ribbon. Her mother stood back and looked at her critically. "You haven't got that like Mag Stinton had it last night," she announced. "You little idiot! You've tried to plaster it down to suit me, and you mislaid it. I liked it away better as Mag fixed it after I saw it. You didn't look so peevish."

When Elvora looked in the glass the bow was perfectly tied, and how the gold tone of the brown did catch the light of the shining hair! Just then Wesley Stinton came to the door. "Good morning," he cried heartily. "Elvora, you look a picture. My, but you're sweet. If any of them city boys get sassy you tell your Uncle Wesley and he'll horsewhip them. Here's your Christmas present from me." He handed Elvora the leather lunch box with her name carved across the strap in artistic lettering. "Oh, Uncle Wesley!" said that was all Elvora could say.

"Your Aunt Maggie filled it for me for a starter," he said. "Now, if you are ready I'm going to drive past your way and you can ride almost to Oubasha with me and save the new shoes that I made." Elvora slipped the strap and turned back the lid. This disclosed the knife, fork, napkins and spoon, the milk flask and the butter packed with dainty sandwiches wrapped in tissue paper, and the little compartments for meat, salad and the custard cup. "Oh, mother!" cried Elvora. "Oh, mother, isn't it fine? What made you think of it, Uncle Wesley? How will I ever thank you? No one will have a finer lunch box than I. Oh, I do thank you. That's the dearest gift I ever had. How I love Christmas in September." "It's a mighty handy thing," assented Mrs. Comstock, taking in every detail with sharp eyes. "I guess you are Wesley Stinton's heart gave one great leap in his breast. His face was whiter than the girl's snow. "Was you praying out loud, honey?" he almost whispered.

"I might have said words," answered Elvora. "I know I do sometimes. I've never had any one to talk to, and I've played with and talked to myself all my life. You've caught me at it often, but it always makes mother angry when she does. She says it's silly. I forget and do it when I'm alone. But, Uncle Wesley, if I said anything last night you know it was the merest whisper, because I'd have been so afraid of waking mother. Don't you see? I sat up late and did two lessons."

Stinton was studying himself. "I'll stop and examine the case as I come back," he said. "Maybe I can find some clew. That other—that was just accidental. It's a common expression. All the preachers use it. If I was going to pray that would be the very first thing I'd say."

The color came back to Elvora's face. "Did you tell your mother about this money, Elvora?" he asked. "No, I didn't," said Elvora. "It's dreadful not to, but I was afraid. You see, they are clearing the swamp so fast. Every year it grows harder to find things, and Indian stuff gets scarcer. I want to graduate, and that's four years unless I can double on the course. That means $20 tuition each year and new books and clothes. There won't ever be so much at one time again—that I know. I just got to hang to my money. I was afraid to tell her for fear she would want it for taxes, and she really must sell a tree or some cattle for that, mustn't she, Uncle Wesley?"

"On your life, she must!" said Wesley. "You put your little wad in the bank all safe and never mention it to a living soul. It don't seem right, but your case is peculiar. Every word you say is a true word. Each year you will get less from the swamp, and things everywhere will be scarcer. If you ever get a few dollars ahead, that can start your college fund. You know you're going to college, Elvora?"

"Of course I am," said Elvora. She jumped from the carriage and soon found that with her books, her lunch box and the box of arrow points she had a heavy load. She was almost to the bridge crossing the culvert when she heard the distressed screams of a child. Across an orchard of the suburbs came a small boy, after him a big dog, urged by a man in the background. Elvora's heart was with the small flying figure in any event whatever. She dropped her load on the bridge and with practiced hand caught up a stone and flung it at the dog. The beast curled double with a howl. The boy reached the fence, and Elvora was there to help him over. As he touched the top she swung him to the ground, but he clung to her, clasping her tightly, sobbing and shivering with fear. Elvora carried him to the bridge and sat with him in her arms. For a time his sobs to her questions were indistinct, but at last he became quieter and she could understand.

It was a little of a boy, nothing but skin covered bones, his burned, freckled face in a mottled of tears and dust, his clothing unspeakably dirty, one great toe in a festering mass from a broken nail and sores all over the visible portions of the small body.

"You wouldn't set a dog on a boy for just taking a few old apples when you fed 'em to pigs with a shovel every day, would you?" he said. "No, I wouldn't," said Elvora hotly. "You'd give a boy all the apples he wanted if he hadn't any breakfast and was so hungry he was all twisty inside, wouldn't you?"

"Yes, I would," said Elvora. "If you had anything to eat you would give me something right now, wouldn't you?" "Yes," said Elvora. "There's nothing but just stones in the package. But my dinner is in that case. I'll gladly divide."

She opened the box. The famished child gave a little cry and reached both hands. Elvora caught them back. "Did you have any supper?" "No." "Any dinner yesterday?" "An apple and some grapes I stole." "Whose boy are you?" "Old Tom Higgins." "Why don't your father get you something to eat?"

"He does most days, but he's drunk now." "Hush! You must not!" said Elvora. "He's your father!" "He's your father!" "He's spent all the money to get drunk, too," said the boy, "and Jimmy and Belle are both crying for breakfast. I'd 've got out all right with an apple for myself, but I tried to get some for them, and the dog got too close. Say, you can't just throw, can't you?"

"Yes," admitted Elvora. She poured half the milk into the cup. "Drink this," she said, holding it to him. The boy gulped the milk and swore joyously, gripping the cup with shaking fingers. "Hush!" cried Elvora. "That's dreadful!" "What's dreadful?" "To say such awful words."

"Huh, pa says worse 'n that every breath he draws." Elvora stared into the quaint little face and saw that the child was older than she had thought. He might have been forty by his hard, unchildish expression. "Do you want to be like your father?" "No, I want to be like you. Couldn't a nigger be prettier 'n you? Cuz I have more milk."

Elvora carried the disk. The boy (Continued on page 7)

Young Men

Your power consists of something more than mere muscle. Your financial strength is well worth developing.

The best aid to financial development is a confidential relationship with a bank that will take an interest in your progress.

Let your Financial Interests exercise and grow. OPEN A CHECKING OR SAVINGS ACCOUNT AS CIRCUMSTANCES DICTATE.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Battara A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners
Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

GARDEN MAKING

Will soon be in full swing. Enjoy it by the use of new tools--Hoes, Rakes, Spades, Etc.

BRIGHTEN UP

Get That Painting Out of the Way
Paints, Oils, Varnishes
Gypsine and Muresco Wall Finish
THE VERY BEST

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

SEE ME

When in search of Jewelry for Gifts or own use. When you wish to purchase a reliable Watch or Clock. When you want Table Silverware or Cut Glass. When in need of first-class Jewelry Repairing.

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, cleanest money-making opportunities ever revealed. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsome illustrated catalogue containing full details of the safe business is sent free to all who send us a stamped, addressed envelope in as interesting a manner as possible. You will receive it through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for prospecting customers to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Sales Annually.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Cure I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE. I CURE NERVOUS TRUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, on matter of how long standing.

I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE PILES in 20 days in any case and to never return. I CURE CONSTIPATION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 20 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by sending me my mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and special rooms are given for 20c a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or narcotic habits. Just cases treated at home. Any unfortunate girl given best of care, may work out for me. Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice, which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars. Write to me. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY. ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M.D.
Holding Sanitarium & Retreat, Belding, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
 A. J. USHER, Business Manager
 Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
 One copy, one year, $1.50
 One copy, six months, .75
 One copy, three months, .40

For advertising rates apply for schedule, enclosed at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

Additional Local

John Lyndup has returned from Grand Rapids where he has been working during the winter months.

A. M. Hamlin, left this afternoon for Traverse City where he will make a short visit with his son and family.

In the game between Charlevoix and East Jordan Saturday, on the home grounds, the local team were the victors 16-15. Charlevoix had a very good lead at the beginning of the game but East Jordan put forth strong efforts, the score up to the last inning being a tie.

Captain Robertson of Northport has been appointed to the chief command of the new cutter, Vawabam. Captain Robertson is an old navigator of the great lakes. He sailed the old Petoskey of the Northern Michigan line for eight years, and after that was in the Ann Arbor ferry service. For the past two years he has been in the fishing business at Northport.

Graduating Gifts...

We are showing a splendid line of new things for the Graduate:

Sterling Silver Spoons
 " Napkin Markers
 " Perfume Boxes
 " Powder Pencils
 " Match Boxes
 " Pocket Knives

Big variety of Sterling Silver articles, anyone of which makes a suitable gift.

Solid Gold and Gold filled Neckchains Pearls
 Bracelets
 Rings, Bar Pins
 Cuff Pins,
 Hat Pins, Etc.

Coat Chains
 Sleeve Links
 Scarf Pins
 Tie Clasps
 Fobs, Etc.
 Fountain Pens
 Pennants, Etc.

Also the finest stock of Ladies' and Men's Watches in Charlevoix county, and at prices 25 per cent lower than you can buy elsewhere.

Come in and see for yourself that we show the most up-to-date line in this part of the country.

All Engraving Free
 Expert Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing.

Stanley Wildern

Jeweler

UNDER NEW LAW

Veterans Should Hasten Applications—Information How to Proceed.

The pension department is being flooded with applications for pensions under the new service and age pension law, the number which it is expected will be received is over 400,000.

The pensions under the new act date from the time the application is received by the pension bureau. Hence veterans should hasten their applications, which should be addressed to the commissioner of pensions at Washington. To make valid application it is not necessary that the precise blanks printed for the pension bureau should be used, though such blanks are furnished upon application to the commissioner.

If veterans wish to apply without waiting for a government blank they should go before a notary and make affidavit, giving age, present residence, place and time of enrollment, name under which enrolled, rank with company and regiment of the army or vessels if in the navy, war in which service was rendered, additional service if more than one enlistment, statement that he had no other service than that specified, personal description at enlistment, places of residence since leaving the service, giving dates when residence was changed; giving certificate number if already a pensioner and number of original number if previous application has been made. The plain statement should be made that the declaration is made for the purpose of being enrolled under the provision of the act of May 11, 1912. Postoffice address should be given.

The pension bureau has had some trouble through failures of notaries to complete the jurats of affidavits. Sometimes notaries neglect to add their signatures. In that event the application is incomplete and may cause loss to the pensioner.

Mrs. George Taylor has accepted the agency for "The Story of the Wreck of the Titanic." Any one wishing the book can secure it for only one dollar of Mrs. Taylor at the Bell block. 221

Honey Producers, Attention!

Now is the time when colonies should be given a hasty examination to determine which have died and which need feeding, and many colonies that would otherwise die can be saved if attended to in time.

No colony should be examined or its hive opened unless the day is clear and reasonably warm and should not be left open for a longer period than is absolutely necessary, and in closing the hive great care should be exercised in repacking the packing that constituted the winter protection.

Where colonies have died the hives with their contents should be taken into the house, and later on these bottles and combs can be used as extracting combs with colonies that have wintered well, or they can be used for making increase, as the bees will soon free them of dead bees and other refuse and make them all right again.

Where rapid increase is desired we shall have to resort to artificial methods of division, as natural swarming cannot be depended upon to give us all the increase desired.

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 174

"Down East Folks" at the Majestic next week. 221

In attempting to form without grasses the farmer is lifting without a lever. He is pulling a load with the weight on the hind wheels. He is cutting with a dull ax.

Coal Ashes Kill Hen Pests.

In the spring of 1909 my henhouse, a small one, but large enough for my small flock of hens, became badly infested with mites. I had a large window opening on the south side of the house, but no glass, but it was covered with muslin during the cold weather, and I had it well to have the roosting place protected by a muslin curtain during the cold months. This curtain was swarming with mites, and I removed it and subjected it to a bath of boiling water. Then, following the advice of an acquaintance who keeps a few hens, I dusted all parts of the house thoroughly with one sifted coal ashes and placed a supply of the ashes in the house for the hens to dust themselves with and have kept up the supply ever since. I have had no more trouble with mites, and the hens keep remarkably free from lice.—Rural New Yorker.

The Alvarado Players in repertoire at the Majestic next week. 221

Her Chance and She Took It. Wednesday—I made the mistake of my life last night. I told my wife I didn't like her now go away. She didn't say a word. She just stood up, got her things, and she left me. Oh, no! It wasn't that. But now she wants the money for another.—Boston Transcript.

The best seed corn at Orlovski & Son's. 214

REV. TAGGART RECEIVES CALL

Reed City Pastor To Fill Congregational Pulpit.

He Recently Preached Two Sermons in This City—Reed City Regrets the Loss.

The Congregationalists of Reed City have been given a great surprise in the resignation of Rev. C. E. Taggart which was tendered Tuesday. Rev. Taggart called a special meeting of the trustees that afternoon at which he tendered his formal resignation asking that same be acted upon by the church as soon as convenient. The trustee board reluctantly accepted same and a meeting of the church will be called to take final action in the matter.

Rev. Taggart completed his first year in Reed City the first of last month and at this time the local church increased his salary $100, making his income $1,000 besides parsonage. At Easter time a number of the church attendants also presented him with a purse of $50 in gold. The increase and the free will Easter offering show plainly the high esteem in which he is held by the local Congregationalists and it is with deep regret that they learned of his intention of leaving.

The resignation is the result of a call from the church at Charlevoix where he is offered a pulpit which takes with it an increase in salary. Rev. Taggart recently preached at Charlevoix and the two sermons were in the main responsible for his being tendered a call.

Rev. Taggart came to Reed City from Hittfield—and that church very reluctantly released him and it will be with as much reluctance and regret that the Reed City church will release him so that he may accept the greater opportunities at Charlevoix.—Oscoda County Herald.

There are people in this town who unthinkingly neglect a "mere cold" though they would not otherwise expose their children or themselves to danger. Yet a cold neglected may develop into contagious diphtheria, bronchitis, or pneumonia. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly for its stops coughs quickly and cures colds. It contains no opiates and is safe for children. For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
 Christian Science Society, VanPelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.

Subject: "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism De-mo-ni-ized."
 Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
 Reading room open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:30 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH.
 Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
 Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.
 Morning Service, 10:30. Subject, "Victory in the Christian Life."
 Sunday School at 11:45.

B. Y. P. C. 6:30 p. m.—Leader, Edward Edwards. Topic, "Fidelity."
 Evening service, Baptismal Service.

Thursday evening, Monthly Covenant and prayer meeting.
 Preaching next Sunday afternoon Marion Town hall.
 "Strangers always welcome."

METHODIST CHURCH.
 9:30 Class meeting.
 10:30 Preaching by pastor. Subject: "How to obtain eternal life."
 12:00 m. Sunday School. Lesson, Mat. 6, 1-18.
 6:30 p. m. Epworth League. Topic—"Abstinence, Glory of Manhood." 1 Pet. 2:11-12.

Baccalaureate sermon to the Normal class, 7:30.

Thursday Prayer meeting.
 Special meetings at Epworth church conducted by the pastor assisted by the Boy Preacher L. Joseph-Raycroft.

Our services are helpful. You are invited.

CONGREGATIONAL.
 Morning service at 10:30. The pastor will conduct the closing service of his pastorate with this church.

Sunday School at 12:00.
 Meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30. Topic, "Fidelity." The meeting will be led by Marie Dinkley.

At 7:30 the congregation will join with the baccalaureate service in the Methodist church.

Midweek service Thursday evening at 7:30.

YOU can't get any better clothes than we can show you, no matter how you get them; no matter who takes your measure; no matter how much you pay for them. There are no better clothes made than our clothes; you get certainty of quality in fabrics, certainty of correct style, certainty of honest tailoring, certainty of good fit. If you don't get them all here, we'll give you back your money.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

This is the only place and the only way to get certainty in clothes.

Suits $18 Up

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

This Store is the Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 10 words.

FOR SALE—Secondhand lumber, cheap. Inquire Courier Block. 212p

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Inquire Will Bellinger. 210

FOR SALE—New Weber wagon, used about a week. Inquire of Will C. Hall, phone 283r. 212

FOR SALE—House, barn and two lots on easy terms. Inquire at the premises, 20 Lewis street. 104

FOR SALE—One 5-hp. 1908. Never has been put up; also one double buggy cheap. Inquire of Mrs. Wm. C. Grantly, Route 2, Charlevoix, Michigan. 204

FARM FOR SALE—Sixteen 2 miles north of Charlevoix. 10 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write to W. Mahoney, P. O. box 133. 204p

WANTED—Launch. Best one I can get in exchange for my 1908 7 h. p. Buick cylinder motorcycle in fine running condition. Cost $250 and seems as good as new. Will sell for $250 cash. Write or phone L. B. McLean, Boyne City. 221

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of County Clerk at the August primaries, and if nominated and elected, I will do my best to serve the public in said office. I also wish to thank the electors of Charlevoix county for the support they have given me in the past, and will appreciate your support at this time.

214-adv. RICHARD LEWIS

To the Electors.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.

194f adv. W. W. Boyle, St. James.

To Republican Electors of Charlevoix Co.
 I desire to announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for County Treasurer at the August Primary.

204adv. ROY L. LORRAINE.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to merit your approval your support will be appreciated.

194adv. ROBERT A. ENRIE.

Notice.

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the primary election to be held August 27th.

214-adv. DANIEL S. PAYTON

The Coming of Summer

which means that weather reminds us that to properly care for our food and beverages will require a perfect refrigerator.

Have You A Satisfactory Refrigerator?

If not we want to show you the famous Leonard Line. We have them in zinc and porcelain lined. Don't fail to see them before buying at

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

Ivanhoe

Double finger tipped Silk

Gloves

In white, black and colors
 A guarantee of QUALITY on every Glove.

50c to $1.50

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Don't forget the field meet at Petoskey Saturday.

Will Vandermade of Petoskey, was in the city Friday.

Mrs. Oluf Nordrum visited friends at Petoskey Sunday.

David Francis of Boyne City, was here on business yesterday.

Ira Hilton of Boyne Falls, was in the city the latter of the week.

Miss Ella Moore of Traverse City, is visiting relatives in the city.

Miss Amelia Stone of Battle Creek, is making a short visit in the city.

R. P. Foley and family arrived in the city the latter part of the week.

Mrs. R. M. A. Johnston has returned home after a short visit in Wisconsin.

A. Hirschberg and wife of Bay City, attended the Hirschberg-Cohen wedding.

Mrs. A. Vought of Boyne City, spent Sunday in the city with her husband.

Mesdames Lansing and Broadway, of Boyne City, were visitors here last week.

Earl Johnston of Boyne City, spent a few days with his parents this week.

Irwin Levy of Cincinnati, attended the Hirschberg-Cohen wedding yesterday.

Attorney Urquhart of Boyne City, was here on business the latter part of the week.

Ray Baker, city editor of the Petoskey Evening News, was in the city Monday.

Fred Price has gone to Holland Michigan, where he has work for some weeks.

Miss Jennie Himes made a brief trip to Petoskey last Friday, returning Saturday.

J. O. Plank, who spent the winter in Chicago, was in the city on business last week.

Ben Segal and wife of Harbor Springs, attended the Hirschberg-Cohen nuptials.

Mrs. Lamoreaux and daughter, Edith, visited relatives at Boyne City over Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Geiken returned to her home at Pellston last week after a week's visit here.

Misses Edith Schappler and Gladys Smith of Petoskey spent Sunday in the city.

Mrs. Joe Lemieux is much worse today, all hopes having been given up for her recovery.

Miss Anna McHugh left last Thursday for a short visit with relatives at Kalamazoo.

Mrs. Lena Welling of Big Rapids, has been visiting at the Cohen residence the past week.

Arbuthnot Nordrum has returned home after teaching for a short time at Walloon Lake.

Mrs. L. E. Geer returned Saturday from Waukegon where she has been the past two weeks.

Mrs. E. Norton has returned home from Petoskey where she has been taking medical treatments.

Attorney A. B. Nicholas of East Jordan was in the city on business the latter part of the week.

Henry Spinner a nephew of George Taylor was one of the victims of the Titanic disaster.

Will Darling arrived in the city last week and is getting the laundry in readiness for the summer.

Victor Peppier and Seth Smith, of Petoskey, made a short business visit to this city last Thursday.

The pastor of the Congregational church of this city will close his work here next Sunday morning.

Miss Amy Harsha entertained a number of her friends at a pot luck supper last Wednesday evening.

John Kirby arrived home Thursday from Sheboygan, Wisconsin, where he made a two weeks visit.

Mrs. Arthur Cohen of Jackson, near Sarah Leynson, arrived here Monday for a short visit with relatives.

Mrs. G. C. Geiken has returned home after making a short visit with her daughter Caroline, in Chicago.

Joe Steinberg and wife of Harbor Springs, were in the city to attend the Hirschberg-Cohen nuptials, Tuesday.

Mrs. Louis Mercier was taken to Petoskey Sunday where she entered the Saville Sanitarium for treatment.

Mesdames A. Alcox, Bader, and O. D. Hammond made a business trip to East Jordan yesterday in the Emory car.

Mrs. Pleasant Hyland returned Monday from East Jordan where she has been visiting her son and family the past week.

Rev. F. M. Taylor will deliver the three-quarter address to the normal class at the Methodist church Sunday evening June 3.

Ben Gray of Louisville, Kentucky, was in the city the first of the week on business connected with the Svea Insurance Company.

M. H. Turner, who was with the Inn management last season, will manage the Ottawa Beach hotel this season.

Judge Mayne was appointed Grand Inner Sentinel of the Grand Jurament L. O. O. F. which was in session at Port Huron last week.

Minor Vandermade, of Leland, has been spending a few days in the city with his brother Peter, and wife.

Several from this city took advantage of the excursion to Petoskey Sunday, returning early in the evening.

Misses Amy Harsha and Charlotte Cohen made a combined business and pleasure trip to Petoskey last Thursday.

Mrs. Louis Allard and son Lee, of Gloucester, Mass., arrived in the city last week to remain during the summer months.

Mrs. James McLaughlin who underwent a serious operation at Lockwood hospital is improving.—Petoskey Evening News.

Married yesterday afternoon by Justice of Peace Collins, Miss Nabel Ferriman of Petoskey, and Walter Harris of this city.

J. E. Loskot, wife and son, have returned from Albion, where the former has been running a theater during the winter months.

Miss Louise Winkler left Monday for her home at Walloon Lake, after spending some time at the home of Stanley Wildern and family.

Edward Graves and Miss Theresa Wood, both of East Jordan, were married at the M. E. parsonage by Rev. F. M. Taylor last Wednesday.

Mrs. E. L. Stanford and children of Boyne City returned home Monday, after making a short visit at the home of James Gaskins and family.

The commencement exercises of the Charlevoix high school will be held Friday evening, June 14. Professor S. B. Laird will deliver the address.

The National Aeroplane company will give a demonstration of their ability at the Emmet county fair grounds, near Petoskey, next Wednesday.

Mrs. James Pinnock and Mrs. H. E. Walker returned to their homes at Harbor Springs the latter part of the week, after spending a few days in the city.

Last week we was in error in stating George Taylor had purchased a farm in Eveline township. Mr. Taylor owns a farm there which he purchased over a year ago.

William A. Brnbaker, chairman of the prohibition state central committee, will speak on state wide prohibition at the Methodist church May 31 at eight o'clock p. m.

Mrs. A. T. Stewart of Chicago arrived in the city the latter part of the week, to oversee improvements which are being made on their Charlevoix and Ironton property.

Mrs. Henry Barth has bought of Charles See, a house and two lots opposite the Catholic school. The deal was put through by the Gregory & Benton real estate agency.

The May Festival given by the schools at the Opera House last Friday evening was a decided success, each one taking part putting forth every to make it the best yet.

Miss Kathryn Lapeer has been unable to attend her duties at M. A. Levinson and Co.'s store the past week, on account of illness. Her sister, Mrs. John Mills, has been taking her place.

The firemen were called out last Saturday at noon, by a fire at the home of J. M. Ackert. It started in the roof from a chimney causing damage to the amount of $500, fully covered by insurance.

The steamer City of Boyne will run an excursion from Boyne City and Charlevoix to Petoskey, Saturday to the field meet and base ball games, leaving here at 8:15 a. m. and Petoskey at 6:30 p. m.

Richard Lewis, O. Nordrum, Lon Hardshe, Ed Vate, Albert Arnold, Jesse Fewless, Colonel Hamilton, J. R. Cooper, Reuben Geer, and Silas Alcox attended the L. O. O. F. encampment at Boyne City Saturday.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union will give a farewell reception for Mrs. H. A. Putnam at the Congregational church Saturday afternoon from 3:00 to 5:00. All members of the union are invited to be present.

Bert VanAlsburg has purchased the Mor-e meat market, located in the store of McLaughlin & Morse, corner State and Antrim streets. Mr. VanAlsburg is an old hand at the business and will endeavor to serve

Lawn Lingerie Waists

Raised and Eyelet Embroidery
Cluster Tucks and
Lace Edge Scallops
Cluney Effects and Val. Bands
Large Variety of Styles
All sizes—

98c

Hair Bow Ribbons

Extra wide Hair Bow
All Silk Taffeta Ribbon
Six inches wide
All colors—

15c yd.

Silk Taffeta Ribbons

All Silk Satin Taffeta Ribbons
Widths up to 5 inches wide
All colors—

10c yd.

Summer Vests

Women's Bleached
Ribbed Gauze Vests
Crochet Neck and Arm Holes
Shell-Stitched Body

5c ea.

CRANE'S

PRICES TALK But Remember Quality

QUANTITY buying is what always gets the price. Our outlet is such that we have become quantity buyers in all our lines, and we offer our customers the benefits. These are our everyday and everyday prices. No need to wait for sales.

Our business has grown because we have satisfied our customers. It is still growing because of our satisfied customers.

Bedspreads

Heavy grade crochet Spread, full size, 72x88, regular $1.25 grade, our price

$1.00

Huck Towels

Linen Union Huck Towel, full weight and even heavy weave, size, 18x34. By the dozen we offer you these at 10½c ea.

Feather Pillows

19x26 Feather Bed Pillows, covered with fancy floral ticking—a great bargain

39c ea.

Standard Prints

64x64 Standard Prints in medium and light colors, large variety of patterns

4½c per yard

Special Notion Values

Aluminum Thimbles.....1c ea
Nickle Safety Pins, all sizes.....2c doz
Pearl Buttons, white, all sizes.....2c doz
Cotton Tape, white, black, all widths.....1c roll

Curtain Rods

Heavy brass rods with brass ends and hooks, usually sold for 10 cents

5c each

Coat Hangers

Hardwood, wax finish, coppered hook, a special bargain

3c each

Umbrellas

26 inch, paragon frame, linen union Umbrella, made in the celebrated Hull Bros. factory. A very special value, latest long handles of fine woods,

$1.00

Lace Curtains

Nottingham Lace Curtains, overlapped stitch edge, latest patterns—special values

30 in. wide - - - 39c pair
50 in. wide - - - 98c pair

Brussels Rugs

Carpet Size

Manhattan Mills wool faced Brussels Rug, pattern well designed and fine coloring, positively the best value in wool faced carpet size rug on the market, full size 9x12

$11.40

J. L. CRANE

DRY GOODS, CARPETS, FURNISHINGS

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

all his patrons in the best possible manner.

Managers Creamer of the Inn and Turner of the Ottawa Beach hotel, have formed a co-partnership and will assume the management of the Highland Pines Inn, now under construction at Wrentham Woods, North Carolina, during the coming winter season.

Egbert Carpenter arrived home Saturday from Grand Rapids, where he has been for the past two weeks after spending the winter in Florida. He is much improved in health and finds many improvements have taken place since his going away last fall.

Bert VanAlsburg has purchased the Mor-e meat market, located in the store of McLaughlin & Morse, corner State and Antrim streets. Mr. VanAlsburg is an old hand at the business and will endeavor to serve

For Sale.

Stock of General Merchandise, Dry Goods and Groceries in town of 1700. Best location in the city. Did $25,000 business last year. Will sell on account of bad health.

Enquire of Bert M. Holden at Johnston's Meat Market. 22-1

For Sale.

An American Harrow Company manure spreader. One hundred bushel, practically new, one half retail price. Address or phone Ira G. Mosher, Charlevoix, Mich. 22-1

Wool Wanted.

Will pay the highest market price for wool. H. Kautman. 22-1

W. B. 1147 Corset

W. B. 1147 Corset is the royal road to beauty of form.

The boning is firm but pliable
Absolutely Rust Proof
Dainty Trimmings and Splendid grade of Material
Special Value at—

$1.00

Children's Waists

Bleached Knit Underwaists
Elastic 1x1 Rib
Taped Over Shoulders
Strongly sewed Buttons at side and back of Waist
All sizes—

10c

Hair Nets

Double Strand Silk Hair Nets
Knotted Ends
Perfect Colors
Light, dark and medium brown
Black and blonde

3c ea.

Latest Shoe Styles

We have just received a stock of

LADIES' SHOES

in the latest styles. We carry none but the best and are selling shoes cheaper than any other place in the city. A call will convince you.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor

320 Bridge Street

Next to Baker's Inn

Home Course In Road Making

IX.—The Gravel Road.

By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department
of Agriculture.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912

GRAVEL may be defined as a mass of small fragments of stone which have been more or less rounded through the action of water and which have been deposited by the same agency along sluggish river channels or about the margins of lakes or other bodies of water. It may have been formed from the hard rocks along the seashore, the fragments of which, dislodged by the elements, fall into the water and are washed back and forth through the action of the waves, gradually becoming rounded and smaller.

In the New England states and other of the states lying north of the Potomac and Ohio river region—gravel pits, which are frequently termed glacial gravels on account of their direct or indirect association with ice action, are quite widely distributed, and these have been and may be used to a greater or less extent in road improvement.

A POORLY BUILT GRAVEL ROAD.

During recent geological history of the continent the Atlantic and Gulf borders have been submerged at intervals. The ocean has advanced inland a number of times. During each of these periods of continental submergence the harder rock remnants along the inner margins of the ocean's advance have been rounded, worn down, deposited and redeposited with varying proportions of sands and loams and clays, thus forming beds of gravel, which are today available for road building purposes.

Gravel roads and macadam roads alike have often received sweeping condemnations as unsatisfactory when the cause of failure was poor construction and not the character of the material used. The need of care in grading and drainage in the construction of macadam roads is being quite generally recognized, but unfortunately many amateur road builders seem to think that gravel roads may be constructed by simply piling gravel on the surface and leaving it to be packed by the passing traffic. In point of fact, the grading and drainage and other details in connection with the construction of a gravel road should be done with as much care and thoroughness as in the case of a macadam road. Moreover, in the one case as in the other specifications must be adapted to varying local conditions. Of course, the gravel itself must be selected with care. That which contains a sufficient quantity of binding material so that it stands as a vertical wall when it is being excavated is generally the best, for the reason that this same binding material will re-compact the gravel when used for road building.

There are three important qualities which should be possessed by road building gravel—hardness, toughness and cementing or binding power. Of these three qualities the last is the most important. This binding quality is due in part to the presence of oxide of iron, lime or ferruginous clay and in part to the angular shape and size of the pebbles composing the gravel. Blue gravel is universally conceded to be the best for road construction, because it is usually derived from trap rock. As the pebbles composing the gravel retain the characteristics which they formerly possessed as a part of the larger rock itself, it follows that as trap rock is considered an excellent material for road building, trap rock gravel should occupy the same relative rank among the gravels. Limestone is, generally speaking, a soft rock, and consequently limestone gravel, which is quite rare, will usually be found soft and will wear rapidly. Quartz possesses practically no binding power, although it is very hard. Therefore gravel which contains an exceptionally large percentage of quartz will not prove satisfactory, as it will fail to consolidate and will thus fail to maintain a firm surface. In other words, the smaller the fragments in a gravel, the better, provided they are of a hard material. The larger the fragments, the more likely they are to be of a soft material, and the smaller the fragments, the more likely they are to be of a hard material.

to pit gravel for the reason that the action of the water has worn the pebbles smooth and practically all the fine binding material has been removed by the same agency. Even if clay or loam is mixed with river or creek gravel the result is not likely to be as satisfactory as that obtained by the use of pit gravel. Pit gravel frequently contains too much clay or earthy matter, while river gravel may have too much sand. In such cases it is sometimes advisable to screen the gravel so as to eliminate the material which is too fine or that which is too coarse. The screen should be similar to that which is used in preparing material for macadam road. In the handling of the gravel care should be exercised not to separate the binding material from it, nor should this binding material be allowed to settle to the bottom in spreading the material over the road surface. It will often be found advisable to spread a thin layer of such binding material over the surface after the material has been distributed and rolled, and after this the surface should be sprinkled and rolled again or else rolled while still damp from the rains.

A large part of the gravel found in the Atlantic coastal plain is so well sorted and uniform in roundness as to require any assembling for road building purposes, but when the gravel, especially that which is to constitute the surface layer, contains larger pebbles these should be removed and either thrown aside or else rolled into the foundation or reworked. At least 90 per cent by weight of the gravel should be pebbles above one-eighth inch in size, and there should be no pebbles in the bottom layer that will not pass through a two and a half or three inch ring, and in the top layer there should be no pebbles which will not pass through a one and one-half inch ring. Not over 20 per cent of the mass should be clay, and this should be uniformly mixed and should contain no large lumps. Ten or 15 per cent of clay produces better results than 20 per cent.

If the foundation or subgrade is loose it should be carefully rolled. It is quite as important to have a solid foundation for a gravel road as for a macadam road. Gravel will compact to about 80 per cent of its depth, loose measure, provided earth shoulders are placed on both sides of the road to prevent the wasting away of the gravel on the sides. If gravel is abundant, however, these shoulders may be built of gravel instead of with earth, or the road may be surfaced with gravel from shoulder to shoulder. If the compacted depth of the gravel road is to be eight inches and the width twelve feet it will take about 2,250 cubic yards of gravel to the mile, and it is best to make the first layer about six inches in depth, loose measure, and the second layer about four inches in depth, loose measure.

Gravel should not be dumped directly on the road, as this will usually result in a rough, uneven surface. If specially devised spreading wagons are not used, the gravel should be dumped on boards and spread from them on to the road. The gravel should be placed on the road commencing at the end nearest the gravel pit, in order that the teams will aid in packing the material. A spike or tooth harrow may be used to advantage in spreading the material, but if the gravel contains only a small amount of binding material the harrow should not be used, as it will have the effect of bringing the larger pebbles to the surface and shaking the binding material to the bottom.

Each layer of gravel should be rolled separately. The rolling should begin at the sides and continue toward the center until the surface is thoroughly compacted. The surface layer should

A PROPERLY CONSTRUCTED GRAVEL ROAD, be sprinkled while the rolling is in progress, but if a roller and sprinkler are not available the road should be constructed if possible in the spring of the year, as the successive rains will cause the material to pack much better than if the road were built in the dry hot summer or early fall.

If the gravel is lacking in suitable binding material and clay or loam is available a limited quantity of such material may be spread over the surface. The clay should be used very sparingly, however, as it absorbs water and causes the road to become soft and muddy in wet weather and dusty in dry weather. When the clay dries it contracts and causes the road to crack. Clay is also affected by frost.

The same may be said of loam. The best binder of all is iron oxide, which is frequently found in the pebbles. Very satisfactory results may be obtained by surfacing the gravel road with a thin layer of limestone or trap rock screenings.

This spill for drug or some similar device may be used to good advantage in maintaining the gravel road.

Plenty of Trouble.

Nobody ever found a world yet in which there wasn't some trouble for somebody.—Baltimore Sun.

PREHISTORIC MAN.

Three Races That Have Left Traces of Their Customs Behind Them.

Science has proofs of the existence of several prehistoric races, but only three of these have left traces of their customs behind them. These are Homo Europeanus, Homo Euraficus and Homo Eurasicus. The first race is extinct. Its representative man resembled the remains of Neanderthal. His forehead was low and retreating and his eyebrows beveled.

Probably the second race journeyed to Europe from the north of Africa. Their traces have been found on the Thames, in Moravia, and in caves of different regions.

Sergy, a close student of human origins, traces the second race to the paleolithic culture of the quaternary epoch in the south of France. In that culture analogies with Mycenaean and prehistoric Egyptian civilization are found. Some families of the race may have been inspired by their adventures and artistic instincts to wander onward out of their own land to a land specially suited to the development of their dreams of something that they had never been able to produce in their own country. The geographical conditions, the climate and the natural beauty of the land they settled in may have allured them and encouraged them to develop their artistic taste.

The third race, Homo Euraficus, came into Europe from western Asia and its members were the ancestors of the modern European peoples, Harper's.

The Ferocious Microbe.

Life is growing so complicated for the average modern human being says the Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette. It has been discovered by medical men that birds are dangerous carriers of disease—that "even the uttering of a canary in its cage may throw out infection" and that as for the commonplace, impudent parrot, he often suffers from something called psittacosis, which may be transmitted to the unsuspecting owner. The unfriendly germ, the virulent microbe, the bustling bacillus, browse on our carpets, hide in our books, hold swimming races in the water we drink. They seat themselves by our side in the trains, invade the very clothes we wear and penetrate to the innermost portions of our anatomy by means of the atmosphere which we shall very soon be cautioned not to breathe.

A Tert Critic.

The Abbe d'Aulagnac, who wrote admirably on dramatic composition and had inspired many living examples of failure in that direction, was so imprudent after thirty years' abstinence to write a tragedy himself. In the preface he boasted that he, of all dramatists, had most scrupulously observed the rules of Aristotle, whose inspiration he had followed! To this it was replied by one who had suffered from his criticism, "I do not quarrel with the Abbe d'Aulagnac for having followed the precepts of Aristotle, but I cannot pardon the precepts of Aristotle that caused the abbe to write such a tragedy."

A Deadlock.

"Burton's marriage with that heirless will never come off."

"Why not?"

"She won't marry him till he's paid all his debts, and he can't pay his debts till she marries him."—London Telegraph.

In a number of north central states a good many pairs of the Hungarian and ring-necked pheasants were turned loose a year or more ago under the direction of the state game wardens. For any readers who may not be aware of the fact it will not be out of place to state that in most instances these birds are to be protected for a period of years and that it is a violation of law to shoot them at any time during the year.

The Kansas state board of health has adopted a rule which provides that when eggs that have been in cold storage two weeks or more or have been packed in any preserving substance are sold at wholesale or retail they shall bear a label stating the length of time they have been in storage. This would seem to be simple justice to the strictly fresh egg and should give Kansas some some incentive to buy eggs during the winter months.

The value of beet sugar and its by-products for the past year was $10,000,000, while the value of cane sugar was $15,000,000. Consumers of sugar paid during the same time for the production of the home sugar industry in duties on the vast quantity of sugar imported more than the combined value of the domestic output. This taken together with the fact that a great majority of the beet sugar factories over the country are owned by the American Sugar Refining company, does not put the consumer in a religious frame of mind when he pinks down his dollar for eleven or twelve skippy pounds of sweetening.

A fellow, might be pardoned for trailing jackknives "unsight and unseen," but if he knows which side his bread is buttered on he will draw the line in the use of this method when it comes to getting a wife or a piece of land. Hardly a day goes by for the country as a whole but some unsuspecting victim is sending his good hard cash to some promotion company for land which could never produce a crop, owing to the absence of water or the opposite condition—so much water that the soil could never be drained. It is a bit expensive to travel hundreds of miles before buying a piece of land, but it is the only safe or sensible thing to do.

School Reports

COUNTY NORMAL.

Tuesday afternoon the normal class, accompanied by Miss Humes and Miss Whiting, visited the two-room school at Ironton, making the trip Mr. Hart's launch. The work of Miss Moseley and Miss Rich was very interesting as well as profitable. After observing the work at the school we crossed the lake and spent some time in looking over the Stuart farm, which is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Straw. Mr. Stuart's farm is up to date and modern in every respect and various improvements are rapidly being made up on it.

Tom Scroggie, class of '08, who has closed the year's work in his school near Haysville, visited the normal room Monday morning.

The announcements for the normal commencement exercises have come and the members of the class are arranging their program.

C. H. S. NOTES.

Leo Powers, Lee Allard, John Kirby and Emerson Hall were U. S. visitors Thursday.

We are proud of our baseball team for the fine game played Saturday with East Jordan. It was a good, stirring game all the way, and the score 12-11 in favor of Charlevoix. While not large, it shows that the boys had to work hard for what they got.

Ethel Shapton visited the H. S. Tuesday.

Miss Cotton spent the week end in Ironton.

We shall soon be forced to meet our old, but welcome friends, the semester exams, again. Reviews have already begun, and of course we are enjoying them.

Hazel Jolliffe has left school on account of her father's illness.

Brilliant Latin student—pronouncing Latin verbs—dandere—"and dander."

The annual Northern Michigan Track and Field meet will be held at Petoskey on Saturday, June 1st. Watch for further announcements.

D. W. Miller, 801 E. Court St., Flint, Mich., had a severe attack of kidney trouble and says: "There was a constant feeling of distress with painful kidney action. Foley Kidney Pills cured me completely, dispelling all kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness disappeared and I slept soundly again. I heartily endorse Foley Kidney Pills. For sale by Frank N. McCall."

Ensilage For Beef Making.

Speaking of ensilage for beef production, may it not be possible that the silo will prove to be the one thing that was lacking to make the change from ranch and range production to farm production of beef at once easy and profitable? All reports from those who have tried it show the value of ensilage in beef making, and those who have once used this method continue to use it.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Hearing of Claims.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

In the matter of the estate of Mary E. Wilkinson, deceased.

Nathaniel J. Jolliffe, executor of said estate, do hereby give notice that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said court, at the probate office, in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on or before the 24th day of December, A. D. 1912, and that said claims will be heard by said court on Monday the 24th day of December, A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

Dated May 24th, A. D. 1912.

John M. Harris, Judge of Probate.

Take Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Charlevoix County Odd Fellows' Benefit Association will be held in the I. O. O. F. hall in the city of Charlevoix, on Monday the 3rd day of June, 1912, at 8 o'clock in the afternoon.

The following amendments will be voted on and carried:

Article 2 of the Constitution to be amended to read as follows: "Any third Fellow or Rebekah, or Encampment member, in good standing in Subordinate Rebekah Lodge or Encampment in Charlevoix County, may be received into membership upon a written application, signed by the applicant, and recommended by two of the Board of Directors."

Article 10 of the Constitution to be amended to read as follows: "The Constitution of this Association shall be held on the first Monday in June of each year, at the place of the Association, or such place as shall be given by the Secretary in writing or by printed postal cards to each member, at least one week in advance of such meeting, and such other business as may come before it."

Article 1, Sec. 1, of the By-Laws, to be amended to read "he or she" and "his or her" wherever the masculine "he or his" appear in conformity with the Constitution as amended to include Rebekah members of the Association."

Also other business as may legally come before said meeting.

By order of the Board of Directors, Charlevoix, Mich., this 24th day of May 1912.

Richard Lewis, Sec.

Ford Cars Are Winners

More than one hundred thousand Ford Cars are in use today. More than four thousand individual Ford dealers are scattered over the entire United States and Canada today. I have taken the exclusive agency for Charlevoix and vicinity and solicit your business. If you are in the market for a car, I want to talk with you before you buy. Look at this

Ford Model "T" Four Door Touring Car

5 Passenger—4 Cylinder—20 Horse Power Car

Price: $690

Includes Extension Top, Automatic Brass Wind Shield, Speedometer, 2 six inch Gas Lamps, Generator, 3 Oil Lamps, Horn, Tools

WHERE CAN YOU DO BETTER

Ford Model Five is not a cheap car—it is the highest priced car in the world, none excepted.

Yet, I am able to sell it at the lowest price. You are asked so buy a Ford for what it will do, based upon what it has done. Let me talk with you before you buy.

Theodore Erickson

Local Agent

No-Sag Screen Doors

Why buy the ordinary screen door when you can buy the No-Sag Door, which we guarantee will not sag out of shape, and will gladly replace any No-Sag Door which proves defective.

PRICES

$1.25 to $2.50

A full line of wood and metal extension window screens. Let us figure with you on the necessities.

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Let me do your DRAYING

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time

Phone 373

When you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.

Moving Household Goods

A SPECIALTY

CHARLES TAYLOR

Fine Upholstering Hair Mattresses Renovated

Box Springs to Order

Boat and Porch

Cushions

AWNINGS

Call Bell phone 156 Petoskey and we will call with samples and prices.

Ask your neighbor about our work.

Scattergood Bros.

Petoskey, Mich. 214

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

(Continued from page three)

drained the cup. He drew a breath of satisfaction as he gazed into her face. "You wouldn't go off and leave your little boy, would you?" he asked.

"Did some one go away and leave you?" questioned Elvora in return.

"Yes; my mother went off and left me and left Jimmy and Belle, too," said the boy. "You wouldn't leave your little boy, would you?"

"No."

The boy looked eagerly at the box. Elvora lifted a sandwich and uncovered the fried chicken. The boy gasped with delight.

"Say, I could eat the stuff in the glass and the other box and carry the bread and the chicken to Jimmy and Belle," he offered.

Elvora silently uncovered the custard with preserved cherries on top and handed it and the spoon to the child. Never did food disappear faster. The child went next, and a sandwich and half a chicken breast followed.

"I better leave the rest for Jimmy and Belle," he said. "They're 'st fightin' hungry."

Elvora gave him the remainder of the carefully prepared lunch. The boy clutched it and ran with a sideways hop like a wild thing.

Elvora covered the dishes and cup, polished the spoon, replaced it and closed the beautiful case. She caught her breath in a tremulous laugh.

"If Aunt Margaret knew that she'd never forgive me," she said. "It seems as if secrecy is literally forced upon me—and I hate it. What will I do for lunch? I'll have to go sell my arrows and keep enough money for a restaurant sandwich."

So she walked hurriedly into town sold her points at a good price, deposited her funds and went away with a neat little bank book and the note from the Limberlost carefully folded inside. Elvora passed down the great hall that morning, and no one paid the slightest attention to her. The truth was she looked so like every one else that she was perfectly inconspicuous. But in the coat room there were members of her class. Surely no one intended it, but the whisper was too loud.

"Look at the girl from the Limberlost, in the clothes that woman gave her!"

Elvora turned on them. "I beg your pardon," she said unobtrusively. "I couldn't help hearing that! No one gave me these clothes. I paid for them myself."

Some one muttered, "Pardon me," but incredulous faces greeted her.

Elvora felt driven. "Aunt Margaret selected them, and she meant to give "Drink this," she said, holding it to him. "You wouldn't take them. I paid for them myself." There was a dead silence.

"Don't you believe me?" panted Elvora.

"Really, it is none of our affair," said another girl. "Come on; let's go."

Elvora stepped before the girl who had spoken. "You have made this your affair," she said, "because you told a thing which was not true. No one gave me what I am wearing. I paid for my clothes myself with money I earned selling moths to the Bird Woman. I just came from the bank where I deposited what I did not use. Here is my credit." Elvora drew out and offered the little red book. "Surely, you will believe that," she said.

"Why, of course," said the girl who first had spoken. "We met such a lovely woman in Brownlee's store, and she said she wanted our help to buy some things for a girl, and that's how we came to know."

"Dear Aunt Margaret," said Elvora. "It was like her to ask you. Isn't she splendid?"

"She is indeed," chorused the girls.

Elvora set down her lunch box and books and unlatched her hat, hanging it beside the others. While her back was turned into the room came the girl of her encounter on the first day, walked to the rack and, with an exclamation of approval, took down Elvora's hat.

"Just the thing I have been wanting," she said. "I never saw such beautiful quilts in all my life. They match my new brocade to perfection. I've got to have that kind of quilts for my hat. I never saw the like. Where is it and where did it come from?"

No one said a word, for Elvora's question, the reply and her answer had gone the rounds of the high school. Every one knew that the Limberlost girl had come out ahead, and Sadie Reed had not felt amiable when the little brown hat had been added to Elvora's wardrobe in the algebra class.

Elvora's swift glance was pathetic, but no one helped her. Sadie Reed glanced from the hat to the faces around her and wondered.

"Why, this is the freshman section. Whose hat is it?" she asked again, this time impatiently.

"That's the lass of the cornstalk," said Elvora with a forced laugh.

The response was genuine. Every one shouted. Sadie Reed blushed, but she laughed also.

"Well, it's beautiful," she said, "especially the quilts. They are exactly what I want. I know I don't deserve any kindness from you, but I do wish you would tell me at whose store you got those quilts."

"Gladly," said Elvora. "You can't get quilts like those at a store. They are from a living bird. Phoebe Simms gathers them in her orchard as her peacocks shed them. They are wing quilts from the mules."

Then there was a perfect silence. How was Elvora to know that not a girl there would have told that?

"I haven't a doubt but I can get you some," she offered. "She gave Aunt Margaret a great lunch, and those are part of them. I am quite sure she has more and would spare some."

Sadie Reed laughed shortly. "You needn't trouble," she said. "I was foolish. I thought they were expensive quilts. I wanted them for a twenty dollar velvet toque to match my new suit. If they are picked off the ground, really, I couldn't use them."

"Only in spots," said Elvora. "They don't just cover the earth. Phoebe Simms' peacocks are the only ones within miles of Ounahsha, and they moult but once a year. If your hat only cost $20 it's hardly good enough for those quilts. You see, the Almighty made and colored those himself, and he puts the same kind on Phoebe Simms' peacocks that he put on the head of the family in the forests of Ceylon way back in the beginning. Any old manufactured quilt from New York or Chicago will do for your little twenty dollar hat. You ought to have something infinitely better than that to be worthy of quilts that are made by the Creator."

How those girls did laugh! One of them walked by Elvora to the auditorium, sat with her during exercises and tried to talk whenever she dared to keep Elvora from seeing the curious and admiring looks level upon her. For the brown eyed boy whistled, and there was pantomime of all sorts going on behind Elvora's back that day.

Happy with her looks no one knew how much she saw, and from her absorption in her studies it was evident she cared too little to notice. It soon developed that to be inconspicuous and to work was all Elvora craved.

After school she went again to the home of the Bird Woman, and together they visited the swamp and took away more specimens. This time Elvora asked the Bird Woman to keep the money until noon of the next day, when she would call for it and have it added to her bank account. She slowly walked home, for the visit to the swamp had brought back full force the experience of the morning. Again and again she examined the crude little note, for she did not know what it meant, yet it bred vague fear.

(Continued next week.)

Alex. Desha, 90 Lake St., Muskegon, Mich., desires other people to benefit by the curative qualities of Foley Kidney Pills and says: "I wish to state that I have used Foley Kidney Pills and received more benefit from them than anything that I have ever used before. I had a bad case of kidney trouble and I wish to thank you for the help Foley Kidney Pills have given me." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

German Farmers' Economy. The German farmers are installing drying systems for beet and potato leaves, which contain a great amount of nutriment for cattle. By these installations it is calculated that a saving of $12,000,000 a year can be effected, while in previous years Germany was forced to buy $8,000,000 worth of cattle food from other countries. The dried leaves are wetted again just before being fed to the cattle.—Eberbach Review.

Just Thero, of Iron River, Mich., finds Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a family medicine that helped all the family, so he always keeps it on hand. "Both my children and I were troubled with bad coughs and we used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It certainly cured us, and I recommend it as a good cough and cold cure." For sale by Frank N. Metcalf.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders' Supply Co. 151

FOLDING HARROW.

Called by Writer "Handiest Thing I Have Handled For Some Time."

The handiest thing I have handled for some time is a harrow that does not have to be loaded, says a writer in the Farm and Fireside. All that is necessary when you wish to go from one field to another is to take hold of one side and turn it over on top of the other and then turn both pieces on their edges. The harrow then rests on the cleats shown in the drawing. The iron on the front end of the two parallel pieces protects the front end, and the harrow is then ready to travel on any kind of a road. The iron can be made of old wagon tires, except the long rod it, which runs full length of the harrow.

FOLDING HARROW.
(From Farm and Fireside.)

R is a three-fourths or a one inch rod running through the harrow and connecting the lugs on the irons A, each iron being about two inches wide and one-fourth inches thick and having the "end turned back, forming a socket like the hinge on a gate. It is the hook to which the doubletree is fastened by its clevis. The cleats C are pieces of wood about one foot long and two and one-half or three inches square, bolted on the side so that the harrow can be turned off the back and ride.

The cleats and the ends should be iron, so as to prevent wear and to keep them from splitting.

Those having Monterey cypress hedges on their premises would do well to postpone trimming them until after the 1st of April. A number of these hedges with which the writer is acquainted have been virtually killed out by doing the job in the winter.

Bones can be converted into fertilizer by those who have no mill suitable for grinding them by placing the bones in layers and covering them with wood ashes, keeping the mass moist. In about two months the bones will be reduced so that they can be easily broken.

The simple minded congressman still seems to be pinning faith to the annual distribution of seeds to his individual constituents. To make this farce possible the department of agriculture is now asking for bids for the furnishing of 200,000 pounds of vegetable seeds and 50,000 pounds of clover seeds.

All too many men who really believe they have been called to preach seem to stupidly ignore the cold, hard fact that any minister who does not take the pains to pay his debts contracted on week days hasn't a message that is worth a copper to deliver to his parishioners when they gather at kirk on Sunday morning.

There are in Germany 28,111 co-operative societies of one kind or another, having a membership of 4,572,740. Half of the number of organizations are credit and mutual loan societies, 2,207 are consumers, and 4,581 are agricultural producers' societies. Of the latter class 3,000 cover dairy-farming and farming.

Both cottonseed and linseed meal are very concentrated or rich foods and on this account should be fed sparingly. While as high as five pounds of the former feed constitute a day's feed in some sections of the south, in the north dairymen usually feed between one and two pounds a day, while steers being fitted for market are fed from two to three pounds daily.

The best complexion dope on earth is not stuff that can be dusted out of a shaker or squeezed out of a tube, but nutritious food stewed away in the stomach—milk, beef, eggs, cereals, fruit—which make new blood and enrich the old. The complexion this kind of treatment results in is more than skin deep, doesn't show in one's wrinkles or brush off on your best fellow's coat sleeve.

The farmers in several New England states are growing restive under a state of affairs existing at present resulting from laws which protect deer for the benefit of the few city sports when they themselves must in many cases furnish free forage for the and mules during the closed season. It would seem from the farmer's standpoint not only an imposition, but a game of graft.

Crate Fattened Poultry.

The best feed for the crate fattening of poultry is ground grain moistened with milk. It can be fed to secured for the purpose. A good sort and shiners or brown or off of the middle into soft mush, with a little of warm water into a good feed for fattening with this method. Young chickens are perhaps the most profitable.

JOB DEPARTMENT

The Courier's Job Department delight in putting out your work as you want it. If you are in doubt we will be pleased to give you advice. Our printers understand the art and our office is equipped with the best and latest new machinery and new type faces this season.

FACTS!!! FACTS!!!

The Courier

Has the largest Circulation

Prints more Local News

Has more Special Features

Than any other paper in this territory. We cover the field thoroughly. Mr. Advertiser--- Don't this mean something to you?

INVESTIGATE THESE FACTS

If you are not already a Subscriber to the Courier send for a three month's trial subscription or a Sample Copy. Once a Subscriber Always One. That's the Record for we Deliver the Goods.

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings
Results

A Newspaper that Prints
The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

The only Baking Powder made
from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar
NO ALUM, NO LIME PHOSPHATE

INSURANCE PUZZLE BEING SOLVED

J. L. Barber of Rondo, Working on the Matter.

If Policy Holders Get Busy It Is Believed That Muddle Will Be Settled.

The following letter, received from J. L. Barber, who is endeavoring to clear the affairs of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance company, sheds some light on the steps that are being taken to dissolve the company with as little loss as possible:

"The affairs of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance company are coming out better than I have ever dared to hope for.

"We have succeeded in collecting more than the original debt, thirteen thousand dollars, and it is all bank deposit, and well secured notes, and we haven't heard from one-half of the policy holders yet.

"Now we have got to get enough more to pay the receivership expenses and interest on borrowed money, and wish to refund forty per cent of the money that Mr. Vorhies, the receiver, has already collected and expended.

"Let every man get busy and see if we cannot get enough in the next ten days to get us out of this muddle. Sixty per cent will more than pay out, there will be money left, but I will see that every man gets a chance to pay his share, and then we will all have some money coming back to us.

"If each and all pay without any trouble fifty per cent will let us out for good and all. Then we can disband and be done with it for all time, both present, past and future. The money can be paid to D. S. Payton, Alfred Van Dusen or Henry Wagner of Norwood.

"If every policy holder will settle at once and use his influence to get others to settle, he will help himself and all other policy holders.

"Judge Shepherd has promised to give me a hearing at the time he takes action on the big assessment, which is nearly ready.

"Yours truly,
"J. L. Barber."

For Sale.

Choice thoroughbred White Leghorn eggs, $1.00 for fifteen. A. J. Shockey, Charlevoix, Mich. 1913 pd

Everything in seeds at Orlowski & Son's.

THE FLY CAMPAIGNS

Are Being Started by Michigan Tuberculosis Association All Over the State.

With the approach of the summer months the Michigan association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis is pushing the fly campaign, and it should be the object of every society to advance the work and give the benefit of its assistance. With an early start every effort should be a success.

The fly season is at hand and with an adequate and intelligent effort much can be done toward keeping down their numbers and reducing the danger from the transmission of disease germs to an appreciable extent. The house fly is an important factor in spreading typhoid, tuberculosis, and many other germ diseases. So it is not a mere nuisance but a positive enemy to life and health. They are the badge of dirt and filth and if we clean up all the insanitary places, making a strong effort to keep them clean, we will have a great change in the number of flies.

Flies are looked upon, in general, as simply an annoyance, but in truth they are a real menace, bringing infection from a distance. More screens should be used and no refuse which tends in any way to fermentation should be permitted on the premises.

Care should also be taken in the choice of fly poisons. The use of those dangerous to human life should be avoided.

Notice to Dog Owners.

All Dog owners are warned to pay their dog license without further delay and avoid trouble.

By Order of Council.

Reliable seeds at Orlowski & Son's.

Farm and Garden

CABBAGE ROOT DISEASE.

Virginia's Experience and Advice on Methods of Combating Pest.

In describing the cabbage clubroot disease, which has inflicted injury on the cabbage growers of Virginia, the agricultural experiment station of the state says:

When a field is badly infected with this disease it may appear at the seedling stage as a dwarfing of the young plants, but the fields are not usually badly enough infected the first season to manifest the disease until the cabbage is half grown. In districts where the disease has just begun to get a foothold the grower notices that the plants which are being infected show a tendency to wilt on bright sunny days, although at night they recover and do not wilt on the following day unless it is again bright and warm. Such plants may succeed in making enough growth to produce a salable cabbage, although it is somewhat undersized and slightly loose. The earlier the plant is infected with the disease the smaller is the head produced. If the diseased plant is pulled up one finds that it has a swollen and contorted root in place of the fine fibrous roots of the normal plant. This explains the wilting when one remembers that the soil and its dissolved food substances are taken up through the fibrous roots. When the plants are infected at the seedling stage they are usually killed before the season is half over, and the infected areas may be seen entirely bare of cabbage. The swollen, contorted roots, which have robbed the plant of its food material, begin to decay in the soil in the latter part of the season and continue the process of decay, added by frosts and soil bacteria, so that nothing of them is seen the following spring. The disease is caused by a fungus, and the following methods of treatment are recommended:

Photo by Virginia agricultural experiment station.

WELL DEVELOPED CASE OF CLUBROOT.

Avoid introducing any material into the field which may carry the germs of the club root from diseased fields. Guard especially against diseased soil and diseased cabbage plants.

Practice crop rotations which will allow at least three years between crops of cabbage, rutabagas or turnips.

Apply stable manure to the crop which precedes cabbage, but not to the cabbage crop itself. If acid phosphate is applied the same rule would hold.

Lime will more successfully counteract the club root disease than other substances. Apply it at the rate of 100 bushels or more per acre one or two years previous to planting the cabbage.

ADVICE ON SUGAR BEETS.

Cultivation Points Found Good by the Ohio Department of Agriculture.

Have good loam land. That which raises the best corn is the best to raise beets.

Land must be deeply plowed. We are after a root crop, not something that grows above the ground.

Use plenty of seed. If you do not get a good stand you will not get a good crop of beets.

Seed is cheap and is furnished by the factories at cost price.

Roll the beets well. Roll again.

Watch the hand labor at the time they are thinning and blocking the beets. This is important.

Cultivate thoroughly. Do not stop at any time. You cannot fire beets as you can corn.

It is the cultivation that puts the sugar in the beets.

The German farmer says, "You have to hoe in the sugar."

The land must be thoroughly tilled—not because beets will not stand more water than corn, but because the hand labor costs so much that the farmer should not run any risk on land that is not well tilled.

Beets take a little more of the fertility from the land than corn. According to Professor Hopkins, it takes 100 pounds of nitrogen, 18 pounds of phosphorus and 150 pounds of potassium for a twenty ton crop of beets. The fertility can be returned to the land by plowing under the tops and feeding the pulp to cows and putting the manure back on the land.

Sugar itself is twelve parts of carbon to one part of water chemically united.

Beets get the water from the rain that falls upon the ground; get the carbon from the air through the leaves.

Beets raised on clover sod, the land of which has been thoroughly tilled,

BICYCLES

I have received another large shipment of Bicycles direct from the factory, and by seeing my line before you buy, I can save you money. I can convince you beyond a reasonable doubt that I sell bicycles at a very low price, and they are the best on the market. I also handle

Bicycle Tires

Bicycle Repairing

Bicycle Parts

Motor-cycles

I ALSO BUY AND SELL SECOND HAND BICYCLES

Benj. Brown

Would advise you to test your Seed Corn at once, as there was very little Corn grown by our farmers last summer suitable for seed.

If it don't test good enough, we have some that will.

S. ORLOWSKI & SON

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and
General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and
Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

Majestic Theatre

June 3rd, 4th and 5th

Sergeant Mears and Little Naranck

"The Camp Followers"

June 6th, 7th and 8th

"The Alvarado Players"

In repertoire, opening with Denman Thompson's

"Down East Folks"

This Shows You What "Honorbilt" Means

Turn back the top of the toes and you will find that most of the shoes have a canvas tip under the leather tip.

Mayer
HONORBILT SHOES

have two layers of good leather over the toes. ALL Mayer shoes are made that way. This is just one of many points where Mayer shoes differ. They are made solid and honest—"They're built on Honor. You can always be sure of quality when you buy shoes with the Mayer trade mark. We have in stock a full line of the latest styles of these up-to-date shoes ready for your inspection.

Come in and look at them.
See them and know why they are the leading shoes for well-dressed men.

This is the trade mark on the bottom of every "Honorbilt" shoe, which means that the shoe is "solid leather" throughout. BE SURE TO LOOK FOR IT ON THE SHOES YOU BUY.

SOLD BY

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

could make easily twenty tons to the acre.

Sugar companies now pay $4.50 for beets testing 13 per cent and 33 1/2 cents for every 1 per cent additional.

The farmer should endeavor to increase the yield of sugar in the beet. This they can do by thorough cultivation.

DAIRY WISDOM.

Many bits of dairy wisdom were spoken by Secretary Wilson of the United States department of agriculture in his address at the opening of the National Dairy show in Chicago recently. The following is an extract from that address:

"When we make the most of our time and nerves we will sell no cow feed to Europeans to maintain their soil fertility and reduce ours as we now do."

Making Use of Empty Cans.

If the housewife is using very much canned goods—store goods, we mean—ask her to save all the empty cans. You will find them very useful in the garden.

Melt the tops and bottoms off and tie a string around the remaining coils of tin to keep them in shape. They will be handy to use in place of flats. Place a dozen or more of these cans filled with soil on a board or in a shallow box in the window and plant melon and cucumber seeds in them. When the weather permits the hills are prepared and the can with the growing plant set out, then the string is cut and the can relaxes, leaving the dirt with the plants in the ground without so much as breaking a root. The can is then removed and used elsewhere.

They are also valuable for potting plants and covering cuttings—Farm Press.

Building Up the Soil.

Joseph B. Wing gives the sensible advice to use limestone always to build soils through the growth of the clovers and alfalfa. The formula is in this order: Keep up the lime content in the soil; that will hold the clover and alfalfa; plow under an occasional crop of either with phosphate. Then your soil will be strong for any crop.

Coming June 6-7-8 the famous Alvarado Players to the Majestic, opening with Denman Thompson's famous "Down East Folks." 22tf

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 23

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

LOCATED ON THEIR HOMESTEAD

Continuation of Montana Letter From Robert C. Jarvis Began Last Week.

VERY HARD ROAD TO TRAVEL

Scenery Where Homestead is Located is Most Beautiful.

Winds Howl and Make Music During the Night
Further Experiences in Proving up Homesteads Will be Written Later.

I'll never forget that ride. * * * It was evident that during the last wet spell there had been quite some travel over the road for the grubbo was rough and lumpy. It had taken in the sun until it was as hard as cement. At first it was not so bad but after about a mile had rolled beneath us it became terrible. I never sat on such a hard seat. Every time the horses would press into the collar enough to move that cart of misery it was all I could do to restrain from groaning. It seemed it would snap my head off or wreck internally.

The locating attorney informed us our land lay eight miles out and that there was already a house on it built by a man who formerly intended filing on the claim. "Would we never get there?" Mother was completely exhausted from the traveling she did back and forth on the wagon seat. Her hat had lurched over her right ear. Her hair had been ruffled into utter confusion. Hanging into the wagon seat with both hands and her eyes bulging out the knobs on a hall tree we presented a most mirthless picture.

Our driver was a native son. He had tramped the bad lands some twenty years, rode the worst of horses, knew all the rattlesnake to calities, and could tell enough blood curdling stories to excite the oldest settler, let alone two such decidedly soft tenderfeet as we.

After we had floundered over seemingly thirty miles of that ragged trail we were informed we were driving on our land and that presently we would see our shack. On—ours, all ours, nobody else's just ours. Three hundred and twenty acres of land, a home, tree, fence, providing—well you know the law—Uncle Sam bets you three hundred and twenty acres of land against $22.50 that you can't live on it five years without starving to death.

We dragged our goods off the wagon. The driver damaged twelve dollars and bidding us good luck was on his way and we watched him disappear over the horizon.

Mother seated herself on a mattress wrapped in a carpet while I sank on the old rusty springs to ease my weary bones. We gazed around and then looked at each other and without a word spoken and we perfectly understood each others thoughts and we walked forth that old familiar song "We're here because we're here."

But the scene. Positively it was a gorgeous, magnificent evening. The sun was slowly sinking in the Snake Butte gorge, and the slanting rays across the prairie lent a soft sheen to the rolling land that was beautiful. The sky was the deepest violet and the most delicate of rose. And the ever changing green of the ground presented a scene that held one spell bound.

But as we felt more duty than spell bound we took up arms and proceeded to get ready for the night. Night, that was the unhappy thought. By the time it overtook us we had the beds up, a table thrown together and a lamp lit. Oh that night. Not a snail of a tree (for we have not one) nor the babble of a brook. Nothing absolutely nothing to break that intense silence. Only the chorus of a few lonely frogs. But it was welcome more than welcome. Each creak of the floor sent a shiver over all my body. The cold perspiration maintained a position on my face that was entirely undesirable. My half felt cool and separated. How vividly I remembered the stories that driver had told. I could see them all. But he was well armed for the occasion while we didn't even possess a dog-gun.

There's a most refreshing Montana breeze blowing all night which made our poor shack groan and moan. I have experienced blows in Michigan, but never such a persistent increasing energetic blow as that night. Never having heard a coyote each unusual moan of the wind seemed to be the "kill cry" of a pack of coyotes making directly for our shanty. I made up my mind the next morning that "winds may blow and make their sounds but they've got to quit twisting my shanty around."

FITTINGLY OBSERVED

Memorial Day Program Carried Out in Full—Rev.
Rev. Taylor Gave Fine Address.

Memorial Day was observed in this city, the program as announced in last week's paper being carried out in full. The procession was formed on Bridge street, pupils from the schools filling two wagons. The first distinguishing number of old veterans was vividly brought to mind by the small number able to follow the flag on this occasion. The principal address, which was given by Rev. F. M. Taylor, was a fine effort and brought forth many words of praise from the large crowd that assembled at the cemetery. After the conclusion of the program the graves of the departed ones were decorated.

RECEPTION GIVEN TUESDAY NIGHT

At Congregational Church in Honor of Rev. Putnam and Family.

Who Will Leave This Week for His New Field of Labor at Ludington.

Last evening a farewell reception was held at the Congregational church in honor of Rev. Holden A. Putnam and family. Mr. Putnam leaves this week to take up the work at Ludington. The reception room was most beautifully decorated with lilac and apple blossoms. About two hundred were present. Punch and wafers were served by the ladies of the church.

Upon coming to order, A. L. Rich, in behalf of the men of the church, presented Mr. Putnam with a purse filled with money. Mrs. W. H. Miller performed a like service in behalf of the ladies of the church in presenting Miss Elizabeth with several pieces of jewelry. Karl Young acting as spokesman in behalf of the Christian Endeavor society presented Mrs. Putnam with a beautiful piece of cut glass. Mr. and Mrs. Putnam and Miss Elizabeth all gave feeling responses.

Judge Mayne, R. W. Kane, Hon. A. Butters, Thomas Shawley, Mrs. Burnett, W. H. Miller and Rev. Atchison of the Baptist church all spoke of the high esteem in which Mr. Putnam and family were held and the regret in parting from them. All responded.

It is with a general feeling of regret on the part of everybody in the city that we part with Mr. Putnam and family. Not only as a pastor has Mr. Putnam won a place in our hearts as well as in his church but his loss will be felt in the city at large, as he always took an active part in all that went to build up the city. During the six and one half years he has been with us, the church has increased, not only in membership but in the influence which it has had for the betterment of our city. Prior to taking up his work here Mr. Putnam has filled pulpits at the Soo, Ypsilanti, Hudson, where he was located for twelve years, and at Tipton, in all of which places the work flourished under his management.

While we regret to see him go it is pleasure that we can announce that each year he will spend a portion of his time with us as it is his intention to spend the month of August on his farm near Ironton.

We congratulate the people of Ludington in being able to secure so splendid an addition to their city, but we shall insist in claiming him as a Charlevoix county farmer, and citizen, and temporarily loaned to our sister city.

Coming June 6-7-8 the famous Alvarado Players to the Majestic, opening with Denman Thompson's famous "Down East Folks." 224

WOULD INCREASE VALUE OF CHARLEVOIX PROPERTY

More Than All the Improvements We Now Have—Advertising Value of Park in the Center of City Cannot be Over Estimated—Letter From James I. Dissette, a Prominent Summer Resident.

Indianapolis, May 28, 1912
Charlevoix Courier,
Charlevoix, Mich.

Gentlemen:
Allow me to heartily endorse all that was said by my friend Emerson W. Price, of Lima, O., with regard to the proposed park between Round Lake and Bridge street. For thirteen years my family has spent the summer season at Charlevoix, and our affection for the place and our interest in everything pertaining to it is second only to that pertaining to our home in Indianapolis. In my opinion, such a park in the proposed location will be the best thing that Charlevoix has yet done, and I believe it will do as much or more to appreciate the value of all the adjoining property than have your paved streets, good sidewalks and new buildings. In the discussion of the matter, I hope to see brought out and properly emphasized the value such a park will be in advertising the beauties of Charlevoix to the world at large. In the summer season, when lake travel is at its height and thousands are going to Mackinac Island and other northern points, what a splendid first impression the tourists will get of Charlevoix as the big hosts swing slowly around in Round Lake and approach the dock! At such times the passengers all crowd the decks, and as first impressions are usually lasting, they will carry away a most favorable impression of the beauty of the town and the progressive-ness of its citizens, and the numbers of the summer visitors will be appreciably increased. In this way direct returns will be received upon the investment, in addition to contributing to the comfort and pleasure of both citizens and those of us who are with you for the summer season only. I sincerely hope the park project will become an actual fact in the immediate future.

Yours very truly,
James I. Dissette.

Here is another letter from one of our best known summer residents, in regard to the park project which brings out new ideas not heretofore published in regard to Charlevoix's taking advantage of a splendid opportunity.

The last few years have seen a remarkable development of Charlevoix's business section beginning with the erection of the Van Pelt buildings, which are a credit to the city, as well as to Mr. Van Pelt. The improving of Bridge street, by new buildings, which had been at a stand still for years, has been going forward, and the business section of the city has begun to keep pace with the residence section in improvements. The See building, the Brown and the State Bank buildings have all been erected in the last year or two and this year Van Pelt is building on Bridge street and the Vought and Hooker buildings, being erected just around the corner on Antrim, are all evidences of the faith which their owners have in the city.

With this improvement going on it seems to us that an opportune time has arrived, as Mr. Dissette says, when the city can do something, and it surely would, to increase the value of the property of those who have shown by their works—the faith they have in the future of the city. Mr. Dissette also brings out the advertising value which such a park would have for the city and the splendid first impression it would leave. This is worth thinking over and we will take it up later.

ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Charlevoix County Odd Fellows Association
Has Splendid Growth.

Members of Rebekah Lodges are Admitted to Membership—Officers Elected.

Last Monday night the Charlevoix County Odd Fellows Benevolent association held its annual meeting in this city. A fair representation was present from different parts of the county. The amendment to the by-laws permitting members of the Rebekah lodges, to become members was adopted as well as other amendments.

During the past year the association has had a splendid increase in membership seventy-one members having been added during the year.

The total membership is now 170. The membership in the different lodges and the increase in each during the year is as follows: Charlevoix 114, increase 39; Boyne River 37, increase 14; Jordan River 11, increase 7; Boyne Falls 6, increase 6; Kocanum 8, increase 5. The following officers were elected: President, Olaf Nordmark; vice-president, Roy L. Lorraine; secretary, Richard Lewis; treasurer, Frank E. Wood; Directors—Charlevoix, W. H. Hignam; Boyne City, R. E. Newville; East Jordan, Eber Burdick; Boyne Falls, W. A. Davoll; Frank L. Pierce, and Oliver Nagee.

After the business of the association was over the members enjoyed a delightful supper which was served by Charlevoix lodge of Rebekahs.

For Sale.

Stock of General Merchandise, Dry Goods and Groceries in town of 1700. Best location in the city. Did $25,000 business last year. Will sell on account of bad health.
Enquire of Bert M. Holden, at Johnston's Meat Market. 224

Subscribe for the Courier.

TWELVE YEARS EXPIRED

Ward Estate Heirs' Wools Lands Sold and Proceeds Divided.

Suit has been filed in the Bay county circuit court by Willis C. Ward of Orchard Lake, Oakland county, one of the sons of David Ward, the one time king of pine forests in this section asking for a portion of the estate left by his father and requesting that the property be disposed of at auction giving the various heirs their share of the proceeds. The petition is one of the largest documents ever filed in the Bay county court at the beginning of any trial, consisting of 92 typewritten pages.

The defendants in the case are the sons and daughters, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law and grandchildren of David Ward. Mr. Ward died May 9, 1900, leaving a large amount of property consisting chiefly of timbered lands in Oscoda, Antrim and Charlevoix counties. It was the biggest in the state until recently. More than 80,000,000 feet of timber have been cut off yearly. He appointed trustees and they were instructed to carry on the business for a period of six years after the death of Mr. Ward when they might close up the estate if they so desired but the will called for the keeping of the property intact 12 years after the death of Mr. Ward. This time was up Wednesday.

PETOSKEY WON FIRST HONORS

At Northern Michigan Track and Field
Meet Held Saturday.

Taylor and McGeagh of Charlevoix Team Broke Records—Summary of Events.

In the Northern Michigan track and field meet held at Petoskey last Saturday, Petoskey carried off first honors with 37 points, Harbor Springs second with 23 points, Charlevoix third with 21 points, Traverse City fourth with 19 points and Boyne City fifth with 3 points. Capt. Taylor of the C. H. S. track team won the highest number of points of any man at the meet, also lowering the record made in the 100 yd. dash, making a new record of 10 1-5 sec. in that event. Charles McGeagh captured the high hurdles in record time also, making a new record of 17 1-5 sec. for that event. Summary follows:

120 yd. high hurdle—1st C. McGeagh, C; 2nd Koepke, P; 3rd Cleveland, T. Time—17 1-5 seconds.
High jump—1st Watchel, P; 2nd Newman, H. S.; 3rd Cleveland, T. Height—5 ft. 2 in.
100 yd. dash—1st Taylor, C; 2nd Hamill, P; 3rd Boss, P. Time 10 1-5 seconds.

1 mile run—1st Newman, H. S.; 2nd Dorr, B; 3rd Leo, P. Time 5 min. 21 1-5 sec.

Pole vault—1st tied McNeil, P, and Murchill, T; 3rd tied Hart and Durance, C. Height, 9 ft. 6 1-2 in.

Shot put—1st Cleveland, T; 2nd Foster, T; 3rd Koepke, P. Distance, 38 ft. 8 in.

Discus—1st Hartman, H. S.; 2nd Cleveland, T; 3rd Leo, P. Distance 92 feet 8 1-2 inches.

220 yd. low hurdles—1st Hamill, P; 2nd McGeagh, C; 3rd Koepke, P. Time 27 4-5 sec.

110 yd. dash—1st Newman, H. S.; 2nd Watchel, P; 3rd Morse, T. Time 2 min. 18 sec.

440 yd. dash—1st Newman, H. S.; 2nd Hamill, P; 3rd Boss, P. Time 34 2-3 seconds.

Broad jump—1st Taylor, C; 2nd Newman, H. S.; 3rd Adams, P. Distance, 19 ft. 3 in.

Half mile relay—1st Petoskey, 2nd Charlevoix, 3rd Harbor Springs.

"The Missouri Girl" which comes to the Charlevoix Theatre next week produces more genuine, hearty laughter than any comedy yet written. In connection with a strong and interesting plot, it contains most ludicrous situations. The company presenting the play is fully capable of extracting this fun and dealing it out to the public in a most satisfactory manner. 231

For building material of all kinds

Let the Courier come with Spring phone the Builders' Supply Co.—174

NEXT WEEK WILL BE BUSY ONE

For the Members of Graduating Class of Charlevoix High School.

SEVENTEEN IN THE CLASS

Professor S. B. Laird Will Deliver the Commencement Address.

Class Day Exercises Will Take Place June 13th at the High School—Commencement June 14th.

For the pupils of the high school next week, with its graduating festivities will be the most important of the entire year. Commencement week is always a busy one and this year is an exception to the city.

Class day exercises will be held at the high school Thursday evening, June 13. The baccalaureate address will be given at the Methodist church Sunday night by Rev. F. M. Taylor. Following is the program: Salutatory, Marion L. Parsons.

Essay, "Usefulness of Simple Machines," Hazel Pearl.

"Demonstration of the Mechanical Advantage of Pulleys," A. Loren Hart, Robert Bridge, Guy Withers, James Krick.

Instrumental Duet, Marguerite McNeill, Vera Nowland.

Reading, Carlisle M. Cole.

Oration, "Initiative and Referendum," William W. Mitchell.

Vocal Solo, Countess M. Mason.

Essay, "The Value of Agriculture," Louisa M. Marsa.

Chemical Experiment, Charles E. McGeagh, Lola B. Sherman, Frances Durance, Amos Nasson.

Valedictory, Mable E. Dunlop.

Class Song, Class of 1912.

The commencement exercises will be held at the Opera house Friday evening, Professor S. B. Laird having selected to deliver the address.

The class this year numbers seventeen, ten girls and seven boys. The class roll follows: Robert Bridge, president; Vera Nowland, secretary and treasurer; Caroline M. Cole, Mabel E. Dunlop, Frances Durance, Loren A. Hart, James F. Krick, Charles E. McGeagh, William W. Mitchell, Countess M. Mason, Louisa M. Marsa, Marguerite E. McNeill, Amos Nasson, Hazel Pearl, Lola B. Sherman, Guy S. Withers, Marion L. Parsons.

Class colors—white and green.

Class flower—white carnation. Motto, "Always Higher."

GOLDEN WEDDING

Celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Holly of Clarion
Last Friday.

The golden wedding was celebrated at Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Holly of Clarion May 31, 1912. Their children and grandchildren, to the number of twenty-two, and one great grandchild, were present at the old home to help celebrate the occasion and wish them much joy.

As the supper hour drew near many friends and neighbors of Clarion and Wallon Lake unexpectedly appeared with well filled baskets to help further celebrate this happy time.

After the beautiful marriage ceremony with ring was performed by Rev. H. G. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Darragh standing with the couple, and the four little grand daughters acting as ring-bearer and flower girls. The guests were seated at two long tables placed in the grove in front of the house, which had been profusely decorated with flags and bunting, and enjoyed a bountiful repast.

After a pleasant evening the guests departed leaving best wishes with the bride and groom of fifty years.

Charlevoix Grange.

At the meeting to be held next Monday night, the same program will be given as announced for the meeting two weeks ago.

Plenty of singing and dancing woven into a strong play, mounted with beautiful scenery and excellent stage effects, go to make up the performance of "The Missouri Girl" at Charlevoix Theatre, Wednesday evening, June 12. 231

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

Mrs. Peter Block is very ill.
Mrs. Clara Hull, formerly of Marion is very ill at this writing.
Mrs. H. Himebaugh visited Mrs. Albert Bultch one day last week.
Mrs. Milton Block visited her mother, Mrs. McPharland, Sunday.
Ivan and Lew Fink of Phelps called on W. E. Dodd and other friends Sunday.
Mrs. Elmer Ingalls' incubator broke its own record Saturday morning by hatching 150 live chicks.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Philpott spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. McPharland of Charlevoix.
Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Gregory and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker and son made a trip to East Jordan in Mr. Gregory's auto Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth Dutton are taking the advantage of the holidays by spending them at their farm, upon which they are making some good improvements.
Miss Lulu Taylor closed a very successful term of school in district No. 5 Friday last. She also had a box social and with the proceeds purchased a sanitary drinking fountain and pictures for the school.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer the Hundred Dollar Reward for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, etc.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

WILSON

(Too late for last week.)

The farmers are all busy getting in their crop.
Herbert Holland has gone to Traverse City to work.
Miss Grace Hamlin closes a successful term of school in Afton this week Saturday.
Miss Emma Todd, who has been working in East Jordan the past few weeks, has returned home.
On Thursday morning another wedding, when Mary Dvorak and John Hajek were united in marriage at the same place.
On Monday of last week Fred Hiney and Miss Mary Davis were united in marriage at the St. Joseph's Catholic church in the Bohemian settlement.

How to Help Keep Down Expenses.
Mrs. J. E. Henry, Akron, Mich., tells how she did so: "I was bothered with my kidneys and had to go nearly double. I tried a sample of Foley's Kidney Pills and they did me so much good that I bought a bottle, and feel that they saved me a big doctor's bill." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

CLARION

Mrs. Will Hough spent Tuesday at Maunton.
H. V. Newton returned Saturday from North Dakota.
Miss Teresa Philipps returned Saturday to East Jordan.

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building-Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

School closed here on Friday with a picnic dinner at K. Q. T. M. hall.
Miss Maggie Johnson and Miss Smith of Petokey were in town Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holly of Mackinaw City visited at O. V. Holly's last week.

Howard Holly of Petokey visited his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Holly on Thursday.

Miss Carolyn Phelps of Petokey was the guest of Mrs. Ada May Bantwell of Walloon Lake last week.

The Memorial service was held at the church here Thursday afternoon. A fine program was given. The drill given by the pupils of the grammar room was especially good.

They Put an End to It.

Charles Sable, 30 Cook St., Rochester, N. Y., says he recommends Foley Kidney Pills at every opportunity because they gave him prompt relief from a bad case of kidney trouble that had long bothered him. Such a recommendation, coming from Mr. Sable, is direct and convincing evidence of the great curative qualities of Foley Kidney Pills. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

School Reports

C. H. S. NOTES.

Edward Edwards called at the high school Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Helen Cook of Wisconsin was a high school visitor Wednesday afternoon.

"Where, oh where are the wise old seniors?" Writing examinations. Won't they laugh at us next week?

Mr. Van Die, a Y. M. C. A. worker and leader of the boys' camp on Torch Lake, gave a very interesting talk to the high school Wednesday morning. He told of the High School Conference which is to be held at the camp in July. Charlevoix is entitled to 3 delegates, and those chosen are Andrew Skye, Paul Harsha and Clare Nowland.

Mrs. Lela Love, wife of Wiley Love, a former living near Covena, Ga., says: "I have taken Foley Kidney Pills and find them to be all you claim for them. They gave me almost instant relief when my kidneys were sluggish and inactive. I can cheerfully recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

COUNTY NORMAL.

Winnie Cunningham had charge of Miss Lower's room Monday morning while the latter visited some of the other rooms.

Lillian Knodall substituted in Miss Kety's room Monday during the latter's absence in Mt. Pleasant. Ella Rasmussen had charge of the room Tuesday.

Wednesday afternoon the training room children and normal class, accompanied by Miss Himes and Miss Whiting, enjoyed a beach party. Games were played and later in the afternoon lunch was served in the park.

The members of the normal class were among the delegates who went to the cemetery Thursday to commemorate Memorial Day. Countess Mason represented the "Goddess of Liberty" and the whole class helped in the singing.

The class day program of the County normal class will be given Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Methodist church. The commencement program will be given Thursday evening at the same place and hour with Prof. W. H. French of Lansing as the speaker.

When Buying, Buy Only the Best
Costs no more but gives the best results

H. L. Blomquist, Esdaille, Wis., says: "My wife considers Foley's Honey and Tar Compound the best cough cure on the market. 'She has tried various kinds but Foley's gives the best result of all.' Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

Reading Character.

Careful Parent—Before I can give consent to your proposed marriage to my daughter I must know something about your character. Sultor—Certainly, sir, certainly! Here is my bank book. Careful Parent—After a glance—'Take her, my son, and be happy.—London Tit-Bits.

No Change.

Little Willie had been present at a christening of a little cousin and had taken great interest in the ceremony. A few days later he had to be vaccinated, and when the operation was over he inquired of the doctor: "What's my name now?"

There is a Difference.

What is the difference between a candle and a Scotchman's baggy? The one is a child's toy and the other is a Scotch child.—London Tit-Bits.

Let us believe we can and help for the rest.—De Phila

Good Printing means Business.

DON'T GIVE UP

Discouraged Citizens Will Find Comfort in the Experience of a Charlevoix Man.

Experience is the modern instructor. Profit by the experience of others. It may save your life. The experience of friends and neighbors.

The testimony of Charlevoix people.

Will bring renewed encouragement.

Here is a case in point:

Bert Beaudoin, 328 Bridge street, Charlevoix, Michigan, says: "I have been bothered off and on for several months by my kidneys. The secretions were irregular in passage and I suffered from severe backaches and pains in my loins. I used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, obtained at the Ivy Drug Store, and they brought me splendid results. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for I am free from my aches and pains and the kidneys are normal."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMurray Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

HOW TO START SWEET PEAS.

Advice From a Successful Woman Grower.

"My hint is to those who have not yet grown sweet peas and to those who have tried, but failed," writes a woman. "I have grown them in almost every conceivable manner advocated both by professional and amateur alike and have won numerous first prizes, but my greatest success was achieved by a plan of my own."

"I collected a number of strong cardboard boxes and, having cut them to a uniform depth of about three inches, I divided them into equal sections of about four inches square. I then filled all the sections with good soil pressed well down and placed one seed in each. All were sown in March. The boxes were then put together in an ordinary box frame protected only from sharp frosts and excessive rains and, of course, the terrible sparrow."

"The seeds all germinated splendidly, and the resultant plants grew strong and vigorous. My peas are so strong that I can lift a plant by its stem and the whole section of soil, having been thoroughly taken possession of by its numerous rootlets, will come away intact. This is very advantageous, as the plants so treated suffer but the slightest check while being transferred to their flowering quarters, which should take place about April 5."

How to Make a Novel Salad.

A delicious and delicious salad—good at all times—is made by laying a slice of canned Hawaiian pineapple on a lettuce leaf. Heat a knife and spread cream of Non-dairy cheese over the pineapple, arrange pointed strips of pineapple like the points of a pinwheel over the cheese; heap mayonnaise in the center and put a stuffed olive on top.

Mrs. M. A. McLaughlin, 312 Jay St., LaCrosse, Wis., writes: "I suffered all kinds of pains in my back and hips on account of kidney trouble and rheumatism. I got some of Foley Kidney Pills and after taking them for a few days there was a wonderful change in my case, for the pain entirely left my back and hips and I am thankful there is such a medicine as Foley Kidney Pills. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor."

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

An occasional colt or young horse to sell, even when one is not making a business of raising horses, is a help to any farmer.

The steady decline in the number of sheep grown in this country leads the thoughtful to wonder how long it will be before these useful animals shall disappear from this continent.

The pure bred sire and a dam of the same type of as good blood as it is possible to get will usually bring a desirable colt.

Don't make changes in feed of ewes near lambing time. Clover or alfalfa hay, wheat bran and flaked meal are safe. Corn is unsafe. Avoid it.

Properly handled and cared for, the farm mare can do nearly as much work with raising the colt as she would otherwise.

Just a few hours of exposure to a driving windstorm will chill lambs so that they never will be quite so good afterward.

Going to build this spring?

The place to buy your lime, pulp plaster, brick, and other material is at the Builders' Supply Co., phone 86-2-r.

151

Searching For New Fertilizers.

An extensive investigation of the fertilizer resources of the country is under way by the bureau of soils of the United States department of agriculture. The availability of various materials is being ascertained, and the possibility of developing a commercial source of potash is being investigated.

Farm and Garden

HENS' LUNCH COUNTER.

Outdoor Feed Hopper Found Very Successful by New York Experts.

The accompanying illustration shows a capacious outdoor hopper which has been found very successful by the New York agricultural experiment station at Ithaca. It has the advantage of holding a large supply of whole and ground grain, meat scrap, shell and grit sufficient for fowls at range for several days.

One side of the top of this double hopper is hinged to open for filling.

Photo by New York College of Agriculture.

OUTDOOR FEED HOPPER FOR POULTRY.

The top is covered with roofing paper and has wide overhanging eaves and closed ends to protect the feed trough from rain. The sides gradually approach until they are four inches apart at the bottom, which is one and one-half inches above the bottom of the feed trough. The feed trough is four inches wide, with a four inch retaining board on each side. At every four inches or closer, on the body of the hopper directly over the feed trough, six inch lengths of common fence wire are driven through holes in the side of the hopper and into the top edge of the feed trough. These wires serve to prevent the birds from stirring the feed out.

The hopper may be made as long and deep as desired. The dimensions recommended are five feet long, three feet high and thirty-two inches wide. The steeper the sides the less will be the danger of elongating. By placing the wires not more than two and one-half inches apart, or by putting a small cap on the top edge of the feed trough projecting half an inch into the trough, the possibilities of wasting are lessened. A hopper of this size will hold about 75 pounds of mixed grain, 125 pounds of mixed ground feed, 45 pounds of grit and 35 pounds of beef scrap. It should cost far less labor and material about $4.

Care of the Brood Sow.

Success in pork production is largely affected by the attention given to the health and comfort of the brood sow. She should always be housed in a warm, comfortable place. Preferably this will be a cot well supplied with straw and having a door which swings both ways, always closing when the sow enters in or out. This cot may be located at some distance from the feeding place, so that she will get the necessary exercise in walking to and from her food. Her food should consist largely of bulky foods, such as milk, roots and clover hay, which will keep her in good condition without fattening. As farrowing time approaches the bulk should be cut down, less water should be given, and more protein and oily feeds should be fed, so as to keep the sow in a laxative condition.—American Agriculturist.

Watch Your Drain Tile Outlets.

A thing for every farm owner to remember should be to look after his tile drain outlets in cold weather, that they may not get clogged by muskrats, rabbits or other rodents, nor by sods slipping over the tiles, thus waterlogging the soil during the wet season.—Farm Journal

Keep the Best.

Do not make the mistake of giving the purchaser the pick of your flock. Keep the best cow, the best horse, the best of everything. So shall you be proud of your stock and proud of your occupation.

REASONS FOR STAYING ON THE FARM.

It is the safest real estate investment.

It is the best place to avoid doctor bills.

There is no place like it for bringing up a family.

It affords the greatest opportunity to cultivate the lamp of optimism.

It is the foundation of all national prosperity.

It produces the estates and wealth for the nation's people.

It offers the best chance to live in peace with God and man, than which nothing better can be desired.

It is easier to leave the farm than it is to get back to it after you are once in the city working as carpenter, bricklayer, errand boy, or in any other of the four hundred occupations.

It gives a man room to build his own home. In town another is likely to build the home for you and to the end town it is a prison and a curse.

Let the Courier come with Spring.

BANK

The compliments of the Directors and Officers of this Bank are presented to you with the respectful request that you will avail yourself immediately of our services. We can help you. Come in and let us talk it over.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A GOOD BANK IN A GOOD TOWN

—Directors—

R. P. FOLEY
W. J. RACHOW
J. L. CRANE

G. C. GEIKEN
JOHN BURNS
P. D. CAMPBELL

H. S. HARSHA

—Officers—

R. P. FOLEY, President

G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President

H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President

W. J. RACHOW, Cashier

C. O. McMAHAN, Ass't Cashier

All Business given this Bank receives our personal attention. You are welcome to use our new offices at all times.

SILVER HULL SEED

BUCKWHEAT

2 CENTS 2

Per Pound

Argo Milling Co.
Charlevoix

Latest Shoe Styles

We have just received a stock of

LADIES' SHOES

in the latest styles. We carry none but the best and are selling shoes cheaper than any other place in the city. A call will convince you.

The Pentucket Shoe Store

MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor

320 Bridge Street

Next to Bakers' Inn

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"

The Great Remedy for
Rheumatism, Lumbago,
Sciatica, Gout, Neuralgia,
La Grippe and Kidney
Trouble.

Applied externally, it stops all pains and spasms. Taken internally, it dissolves the
poisonous substance and assists nature in restoring
the system to a healthy
condition. Sold by Druggists.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
100 Lake Street, Chicago

SWANSON'S PILLS

Best Remedy for Constipation, Sick
Headache, Sour Stomach, Bile, and Liver Troubles. 25c Per Box at Druggists

SKIN SORES

Easily and Quickly Healed

Those who suffer
from eczema, pimples, running sores, eruptions, skin itching, etc., know the misery of suffering. There is no need of suffering. You can easily get rid of it by a simple and inexpensive procedure known as the Five-Drop
Salve. It is a carefully compounded ointment that for fifty years has been used with a soothing, healing, and antiseptic effect. It cures
eczema, pimples,
running sores,
wounds, burns, salt
rheum, ringworm, piles and scalds. A single application usually brings immediate relief. The burning, irritating inflammation quickly subsides and the sores dry and disappear.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25
and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not obtainable in your locality
you can order direct from Swanson R. C. Co.,
100 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent postpaid upon receipt of price. It is an excellent remedy for cracked skin and scalp tumors.

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON

Complete Abstracts

of Charlevoix County

Twenty years Experience

Maps and Platons on Short Notice

VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH

Accounty at Law

Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. L. SHANAHAN

Accounty at Law

Bank Block

Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD

Dentist

Office in VanPelt Building

Over Levenson's Store

Phone 123 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Eyes tested and glasses fitted

Office—Office 66; residence 205.

Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M.D.

Physician and Surgeon

Special attention given to diseases of the EYE,

EAR, NOSE and THROAT.

Office over Hines & Co's drug store,

Telephone No. 235. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. R. A. MONTAGUE

Physician and Surgeon

(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)

Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.

Telephone No. 235. Charlevoix, Mich.

Office in Bank Block

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled

some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. All free

Central Lake, Mich. Phone in house.

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness

$1,000.00 for Loss of Limb or Eyesight

$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit

Cost $6.00 per year. No other dues

or assessments.

Old established Company with

$100,000 State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.

Men and Women between 16 and 65

accepted, according to occupation.

For further information address:

AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY

Dept. 19 Box 441 Erie, Pa.

A Slave to Style.

"Your little friend has the ribbon of honor again this week, while you never win it."

"Why, mamma, Suzanne is blond, and blue is becoming to her, but I am a brunette and can't wear it."—Pelo

Mele.

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday,
Page & Company.

CHAPTER VIII.

Wherein Mrs. Comstock Indulges In
"Frills" and Billy Roapears.

It was Wesley Sinton who really wrestled with the problem as he drove about his business.

He did not have to ask himself what it meant; he knew. The old Corson gang was still holding together.

Elder members who had escaped the law had been joined by a younger brother of Jack's, and they met in the thickest of the few remaining fast places of the swamp to drink, gamble and loaf. Then, suddenly, there would be a robbery in some country house where a farmer that day had sold his wheat or corn and not paid a visit to the bank, or in some neighboring village.

The home of Mrs. Comstock and Elnorah adjoined the swamp. Sinton's land lay next, and not another residence or man easy to reach in case of trouble. Whoever wrote that note had some human kindness in his breast, but the fact stood revealed that he feared his strength if Elnorah was delivered into his hands. Where had he been the previous night when he heard that prayer? Was that the first time he had been in such proximity? Sinton drove fast, for he wished to reach the swamp before Elnorah and the Bird

Woman would go there for more months.

At almost 4 he came to the case, and dropping on his knees studied the ground, every sense alert. He found two or three little heel prints. Those were made by Elnorah or the Bird

Woman. What Sinton wanted to learn was whether all the rest were the footprints of one man. It was easily seen they were not. There were deep,

even tracks made by fairly new shoes,

and others where a well worn heel cut deeper on the inside of the print than at the outer edge. Undoubtedly some of Corson's old gang were watching the case and the visits of the women to it. There was no danger that anyone would attack the Bird Woman.

She never went to the swamp at night, and on her trips in the daytime every one knew that she carried a revolver, understood how to use it and pursued her work in a fearless manner.

Sinton was afraid for Elnorah, yet he did not want to add the burden of fear to Katharine Comstock's trouble or to disturb the joy of Elnorah in her work.

He stopped at the cabin and slowly went up the walk. Mrs. Comstock was sitting on the front step with some sewing. She dropped her work on her lap, laid her hands on it and looked into his face with a sneer.

"You didn't let any grass grow under your feet," she said.

Sinton saw her white, drawn face and comprehended.

"I went to pay a debt and see about this opening of the ditch, Kate."

"You said you were going to prosecute me."

"Good gracious, Kate!" cried Sinton.

"Is that what you have been thinking

all day? I told you before I left yesterday that I would not need to do that.

I want to ask you if you ever see anything about the swamp that makes you think the old Corson gang is still alive?"

"Can't say that I do," said Mrs. Comstock. "There's kind of dancing lights

there sometimes, but I supposed it was just people passing along the road with lanterns."

"Kate, I have got to tell you something. Elnorah stopped at the case this morning, and somebody had been into it in the night."

"Broke the lock?"

"No. Used a duplicate key. Today I heard there was a man here last night.

I want to know around a little."

Sinton went to the end of the cabin and looked up at the window.

There was no way any one could have reached it without a ladder, for the logs were hewed and mortared filled the cracks even. Then he went to the west end. The willow faced him as he turned the corner. He examined the trunk carefully. There was no mistake about small particles of black swamp muck adhering to the sides of the tree. He reached the low branches and climbed the willow. There was earth on the large limb crossing Elnorah's window. He stood on it, holding the branch as he had done the night before, and looked into the room. He could see very little, but he knew that if it had been dark outside and sufficient light for Elnorah to study inside

he could have seen vividly. He brought his face close to the netting, and he could see the bed with its head to the east, at its foot the table with the candles and the chair before it, and then he knew where the man had been who had heard Elnorah's prayer.

Mrs. Comstock had followed around the corner and stood watching him.

"Do you think some slyling hulk was up there peekin' in at Elnorah?" she demanding indignantly.

"There is muck on the trunk and plenty on the floor," said Sinton.

"Hadin't you better get a saw and let me take this branch off?"

"No, I hadn't," said Mrs. Comstock.

"First place, Elnorah's rimmed from that window on that limb all her life, and it's hers; second place, no one gets ahead of me after I've laid warning.

Any crow that perches on that roof again will get its feathers somewhat scattered. Look along the fence there and see if you can find where he came in."

The place was easy to find as was a trail leading for some distance west of the cabin.

"You just go home and don't fret yourself," said Mrs. Comstock. "I'll take care of this. If you should hear the dinner bell at any time in the night

you come down. But I wouldn't say anything to Elnorah. She best keep her mind on her studies if she's going to school."

When the work was finished that night Elnorah took her books and went to her room to prepare some lessons.

but every few minutes she looked toward the swamp to see if there were lights near the case. Mrs. Comstock raked together the coals in the cooking stove, got out the lunch box, and sitting down, she studied it grimly. At last she arose.

"Wonder how it would do to show

Mag Sinton a frill or two," she murmured.

Mrs. Comstock was up early and without a word banded Elnorah the lunchbox case as she left the next morning.

"Thank you, mother," said Elnorah and went on her way.

She walked down the road, looking straight ahead until she came to the corner, where she usually entered the swamp. She paused, glanced that way and smiled. Then she turned and looked back. There was no one coming in any direction. She kept to the road until well around the corner, then she

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Attorney Halstead of Petoskey, was in the city yesterday.

A. G. Urquhart of Boyne City was a business caller Tuesday.

Mrs. Dan Durand of Boyne City, made a call here last week.

Attorney Gundry of Flint, made a business visit here Tuesday.

Miss Artinus Nordrum is a new clerk at M. A. Levinson & Co.

Mrs. Cora Gray of Petoskey, was in the city the first of the week.

John Hunsdon and wife of Traverse City are visiting friends here.

M. S. Miles and R. E. Corey of Boyne City were in the city Monday.

The Messrs. Swigart and Kelley visited friends at Petoskey Saturday.

Mrs. H. A. Carr visited with friends at East Jordan over Sunday.

Joseph Rothchild of New York, has been visiting friends in the city.

Miss Anna McHugh has returned from her week's visit at Kalamazoo.

Henry B. Sweeney is the new prosecuting attorney of Emmet county.

Herman Meyer of Boyne Falls, was in the city on business Saturday.

Prosecuting Attorney Fitch of East Jordan, was in the city yesterday.

Miss Jessie Shapton started work Monday at the M. A. Levinson & Co. store.

Misses Mildred Johnson and Elsie See visited with friends at Petoskey Saturday.

Postmaster Newville of Boyne City was in the city Monday night on business.

Fred Thayer of the Walden jewelry store visited friends at Boyne City last week.

E. V. Madison and son Vincent visited relatives at East Jordan the first of the week.

Miss Sarah Jane McClure has returned to Pellston after making a short visit here.

Mrs. Richard Shapton has returned home after making a short visit at Traverse City.

Capt. Joe Metevier of Harbor Springs is in the city fitting out the yacht Rosalie.

Mrs. M. B. Babcock is in Marion township assisting in taking care of Mrs. Peter Block.

The condition of Mrs. McGeagh is without change slight hopes being held for her recovery.

The next meeting of the Pomona grange will be held with South Arm grange Thursday June 27.

Louis J. Mercer returned Monday from Walloon Lake where he has been working a short time.

Sixteen are taking the examination today for city carrier. It is being held at the high school.

The ladies auxiliary of the Iron-ton grange will give an ice cream social and fish-pond June 14.

Clarence Wood accompanied by a friend, has arrived home to spend the summer with his parents.

Charles Danto and wife, formerly Mrs. Lena Levinson, left Monday for their new home at Detroit.

The public schools opened for work Friday after closing Thursday in honor of Memorial day.

Frank "Doc" Provost left Monday for Ottawa, Ohio, where he will work for the Ottawa Sugar Company.

Will Graves was in Traverse City last Friday as a representative of the Boat and Gun Club of this city.

Miss D. Campbell of Coldwater, has withdrawn from the race for the republican nomination for governor.

Rev. Halden A. Putnam, wife and daughter Elizabeth left this morning for their new home at L'Ange-ton.

Wade B. Smith has been appointed county clerk of Emmet county to succeed the late Colonel Dickinson.

Mrs. Laura Donaldson has opened dress-making parlors in the Finckes block over L. S. Scott's grocery store.

John C. Walker has sold his farm in Marion Township to Mr. Decker, formerly of Montmorency county, Michigan.

F. E. Frazier and daughter, Lois, were called to Hart the latter part of the week by the serious illness of a near relative.

Mrs. A. J. Shockley has bought of L. D. Battledown his home on State street, and will now locate here permanently.

Rev. James Hyslop formerly of this city, has accepted the pastorate of the congregational church at Hudson, Michigan.

Will Shockley left this morning for Gaylord on business. He will return and make a short visit in the city with his parents.

Dr. John Gardner and Mrs. Susan Gardner, of Lisbon, Iowa, are making a short visit at the home of B. P. Wilkinson and family.

The Gregory and Bolton real estate exchange report the sale of Emmet N. Conley's place on Norwood road to James O'Brien.

Edward Smith and wife of Detroit, have arrived in the city to spend the summer with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Oldham.

Mrs. Nally Cram accompanied by Miss Louise Macey, has gone to Wetsington to take charge of Mrs. Cora Gray's hair dressing parlors.

Dr. J. Leahy left Monday for Washington, D. C., to attend the unveiling of the Columbus monument by the Knights of Columbus.

W. A. DaVoll of Boyne Falls attended the meeting of the Charlevoix County Oddfellows Benefit association in this city Monday night.

The date of the banquet of the Charlevoix County Republican Club, to be held at Boyne City, has been changed from June 14 to June 28.

The Petoskey papers say that an effort is being made to induce Dr. C. J. Gray of that city to enter the race for state senator from this district.

Mrs. A. M. Burdick, S. I. Allex, and Capt. Pugh are attending the Woman's Christian Temperance Union convention at Manistee this week.

Misses Helen and Dorothy Armstrong leave tomorrow morning for White Plains, N. Y. where they will make an extended visit with relatives.

A goodly number from East Jordan attended the funeral of Mrs. Jepson held here Sunday. The crowds were brought down here on Hnni and City of Boyne.

The W. R. C. wish to thank the citizens, schools and the normal class under the supervision of Miss Himes, for their hearty support in the Memorial day exercises.

Judge Angell has granted the receivers of the Pere Marquette authority to issue $3,500,000 in receivers' certificates to pay outstanding obligations and provide new equipment.

About 150 people from Charlevoix and Boyne City witnessed the field meet held at Petoskey Saturday. The City of Boyne took them and returned about nine o'clock in the evening.

Little George Brockway had two of his fingers badly cut last Wednesday while playing with a lawn mower. He was taken to a hospital in Petoskey and the hand is now doing nicely.

Mrs. Clara Dennis, formerly of this city, since finishing her special music course, has received and just refused an offer to act as pianist to travel in the Philippines during the winter of 1912-13.

Will Campbell met with a very painful accident Sunday morning, in boarding Mr. Sears automobile his foot slipped, throwing him down, the car running over and smashing his foot.

About twenty friends surprised George Hamilton at his home last Wednesday evening the event being his birth anniversary. Refreshments were served and all who were present report a good time.

CHARLEVOIX THEATRE - WED. NIGHT ONLY JUNE 12

NORTON & RITH OFFER

Mr. Fred Raymond

In His Famous Comedy

"THE Missouri Girl"

The Big Comedy Hit of the Season

"Zeke and Daisy"

Are creating a riot of laughter to crowded houses

You'll Laugh till You're Blue in the Face

Special Scenery

New Songs and Music

A companion play to "Way Down East"

GET BUSY!

ORDER SEATS NOW

MISS WANITA WALLACE AS "THE MISSOURI GIRL"

PRICES 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c

Seats now on Sale at Central Drug Store

ZEKE AND DAISY

CALLED BY SUDDEN DEATH

Mrs. Florence Jepson, of East Jordan, Stricken With Heart Failure.

Died Thursday Night While Returning From Auto Trip to This City.

People were shocked to learn that Mrs. Florence Jepson of East Jordan, owner of the steamer Hnni, had suddenly died Thursday evening while on her way home from visiting her husband's grave at this city. Mrs. Jepson has not been wholly well for some months, being subject to heart trouble, and Thursday evening came to this city in E. N. Clark's auto, with Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Clark and Mrs. Walterhouse. They were returning, and when near Iron-ton Mrs. Jepson remarked that she did not feel just right and a few moments later was taken with an attack of heart trouble and almost instantly expired.

As quickly as possible Mr. Clark communicated by phone with Engineer Hyland, of the Hnni, and Capt. George Jepson, her son, who with Dr. Dicken went as soon as they could get conveyance; but in the meanwhile Mr. Clark and party returned with the body to Charlevoix.

Mrs. Jepson was a woman of remarkable executive ability, and on the death of her husband, several years ago, took up the business and has continued it very successfully since, and has won a large circle of friends both in a business and a social way.

Her death will be a hard blow to her family, who will sadly miss her at a time when it would seem she is so badly needed. She leaves four living children—Laura, now Mrs. Roy Gregory; George, captain of the Hnni; and Lisle and Florence, younger children.

The body was taken to East Jordan on the boat, Friday noon. The funeral was held from the residence, at 12 noon, on Sunday, and the body was brought here for burial.

"The Missouri Girl" has no superiors and few equals because it contains all the elements that go to make up an entertaining performance. The production will be seen at the Charlevoix Theatre, Wednesday evening, June 12.

Cement blocks for the cellar and other improvements—the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co.

Wool Wanted.
Will pay the highest market price for wool. H. Kaufman.

A Female King.
Hatshepau, Egyptian queen, in B. C. assumed male attire and style and title of king.

A Long Hop.
Scientists tell us that a grasshopper can jump about 200 times its own length.

CRANE'S

Misses' and Children's MIDDY BLOUSES

Made of good grade Linen with Navy, Copenhagen Blue or Red Sailor Collars and Cuffs. Stripes of same material on sleeves and pocket edge. Metal eyelets and silk lacing.

Sizes 6, 8, 10, 12
14, 16 and 18 years

50 cents

CASH Prices on Meats Saturday Only

Prime Rib Roast Beef 14, 16 cents
Chunk Roast 13c
Stews 9c, 11c
Boneless Corned Beef 12 1-2 cents
Pork Roast 14c, 16c
Chunk Pork 12 1-2c
Pork Loins 11c
Veal Roast 11, 14, 16c
Veal Stews 8, 10, 11c

Get your orders in early for Sunday Chicks

The Market on the Corner
Bert VanAlsburg
Corner State and Antrim Streets
Phone 125

Looking Glasses.
The value of a looking glass is usually estimated by the thickness of the glass, because the thicker it is the stronger it must be; but, speaking scientifically, thick glasses are defective, because the outlines of the image reflected are less clearly defined. There are really three reflections and consequently three images in every glass mirror—one from the upper surface of the glass, the second from the lower surface and the third from the metallic layer at the back. An ideal mirror is one with a perfectly flat surface. But it is only possible to obtain this result in comparatively small glasses. The larger glasses do not reflect a true image, as they can't be made quite flat.

Tough on Fido.
"My girl used to think a lot of her pug dog, but I've managed to get the edge on him since we married."
"How did you work it?"
"Fido wouldn't eat her cooking, and I did."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Knew the Feeling.
"Judge, I simply have an irresistible impulse to steal."
"I have those irresistible impulses sometimes," said the judge. "I have one right now to send you to jail. Sixty days."—Kansas City Journal.

X. — The Macadam Road.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912

THE MODERN MACADAM ROAD

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

(Continued from page three)

ditonium beside one of the very nicest girls in Charlevoix, and it was the fourth day. But the surprise came at noon when Ellen insisted upon Elnora lunching at the Brownlee home and convulsed her parents and family and overwhelmed Elnora by a greatly magnified but moderately accurate history of her lunch box.

"Gee, but it's a box, daddy?" cried the laughing girl. "It's carved leather and fastens with a strap that's got her name on it. Inside are trays for things all complete, and it bears evidence of having inclosed delicious food, but Elnora never gets any. She's carried it two days now, and both times it has been empty before she reached school. Isn't that killing?"

"It is, Ellen, in more ways than one. No girl is going to eat breakfast at 6 o'clock, walk three miles and do good work with no lunch. You can't tell me anything about that box. I sold it last Monday night to Wesley Sliton, one of my good country customers. He told me it was a present for a girl who was worthy of it, and I see he was right."

When Elnora entered the coat room after having had luncheon with Ellen Brownlee there was such a difference in the atmosphere that she could feel it.

"I am almost sorry I have these clothes," she said to Ellen.

"In the manner of sense, why?" cried the astonished girl.

"Every one is so nice to me in them. It just sets me to wondering if in time I could have made them be equally friendly to the others."

Ellen looked at her introspectively. "Well, yes, I believe you could," she announced at last. "But it would have taken time and heartache, and your mind would have been less free to work on your studies. No one is happy without friends, and I just simply can't study when I am unhappy."

That night the Bird Woman made the last trip to the swamp. Every specimen she possibly could use had been purchased at a fair price, and three additional had been made to the bank book, carrying the total to a little past $200. There remained the Indian relics to sell on Saturday, and Elnora had secured the order to furnish material for nature work for the grades. Life suddenly grew very full. There was the most excitingly interesting work for every hour, and that work was to pay high school expenses and start the college fund. There was just one little rift in her joy. All of it would have been so much better if she could have told her mother and given the money into her keeping. But the struggle to get a start had been so terrible. Elnora was afraid to take the risk.

When she reached home she only told her mother that the list of the things had been sold that evening.

"I think," said Mrs. Comstock, "that we will get Wesley to move that box over here back of the garden for you. There you are apt to get talked farther into the swamp than you intend to go, and you might rifle or something. There ought to be just the same things in our woods and along our swampy places as there are in the Limberlost. Can't you hunt your stuff here?"

"I can try," said Elnora. "I don't know what I can find until I do. Our woods are undisturbed, and there is a possibility they might be even better hunting than the swamp. But I wouldn't have Preckles' case moved for the world. He might come back some day and not like it. I've tried to keep his room the best I could, and taking out the box would make a great hole in the side of it. Store boxes don't cost much. I will have Uncle Wesley buy me one and set it up wherever hunting looks the best early in the spring. I would feel safer at home."

CHAPTER IX.

Wherein Mrs. Comstock Manipulates Margaret, and Billy Acquires a Residence.

Elnora hurried upstairs to change her dress. Margaret Sliton came that night, bringing a beautiful blue one in its stead and carried away the other to hinder.

"Do you mean to say those dresses are to be washed every two days?" questioned Mrs. Comstock.

"They have to be to look fresh," replied Margaret. "We want our girl sweet as a rose."

"Well, of all things!" cried Mrs. Comstock. "Every two days! Any girl who can't keep a dress clean longer than that is a dirty girl. You'll wear the goods out and fade the colors with so much washing."

"We'll have a clean girl anyway."

"Well, if you like the job you can have it," said Mrs. Comstock. "I don't mind the washing, but I'm so inconvenient with an iron."

Elnora sat late that night working hard over her lessons. The next morning she put on her blue dress and ribbon, and in those she was a picture. Mrs. Comstock caught her breath with a queer stirring around her heart and looked twice to be sure of what she saw. As Elnora gathered her books her mother silently gave her the lunch

"Feels heavy," said Elnora gayly. "And smelly!"

Elnora went down the road thinking of the children with whom she probably would divide. Of course, the bridge would be occupied again. So she stopped and opened the box. Undoubtedly Mrs. Comstock was showing Margaret Sliton the "frills." The cake was still fresh, and there were four slices. The sandwiches had to be tasted twice before Elnora discovered that heebennits had been used in a peanut recipe, and they were a great improvement. There were preserved strawberries in the cup, potato salad with mint and cucumber in the dish and a beautifully browned squash from the stable loft.

"I don't want to be selfish," murmured Elnora. "But it just seems as if I can't give away this lunch. If mother did not put love into it she's substituted something that's likely to fool me."

She almost felt her steps lagging as she approached the bridge. A very hungry dog had been added to the trio of children. Elnora loved all dogs and, as usual, this one came to her in friendliness. The children said "Good morning!" with alacrity, and another paper parcel lay conspicuous.

"How are you this morning?" inquired Elnora.

"All right," cried the three, while the dog sniffed ravenously at the lunch box and held a perfect tattoo with his tail.

"How did you like the hologna?" questioned Billy eagerly.

"One of the girls took me to lunch at her home yesterday," answered Elnora.

Dawn broke beautifully over Billy's streaked face. He caught the package and thrust it toward Elnora.

"Then maybe you'd like to try the hologna today?"

The dog leaped in glad apprehension of something, and Belle scrambled to her feet and took a step forward. The look of finished greed in her eyes was more than Elnora could bear. She opened the box and divided the milk between Billy and the girl. She gave each a piece of cake leaving one and a sandwich Billy pressed forward eagerly, bitter disappointment on his face, and the elder boy forgot his charge.

"Aw, I thought they'd be meat!" lamented Billy.

Elnora gave way. "There is," she said gladly. "There is a little pigeon bird. I want just a teeny piece of the breast, for a sort of keepsake, just one bite, and you can have the rest among you."

Elnora drew the knife from its holder and cut off the wishbone. Then she held the bird toward the girl.

"You can divide it," she said. The dog made a bound and seizing the squall sprang from the bridge and ran for life. The girl and boy hurried after him. With awful eyes Billy stared and swore tempestuously. Elnora

Then Billy dropped the dust, bored both fists into his eyes and fled sobbing into Elnora's new blue skirt. She stooped to meet him and consolation began.

After the luncheon was given to the three children Elnora was hustled into the wagon with the girls and driven on the run to the high school. They sang a song beginning.

Elnora, please give me a sandwich: I'm ashamed to ask for cake.

As they went on, Elnora did not know it, but that was her lullation. She belonged to "the crowd." She only knew that she was happy and vaguely wondered what her mother and Aunt Margaret would have said about the proceedings.

Saturday morning Elnora helped her mother with the work. When she had finished Mrs. Comstock told her to go to Sliton's and wash her Indian relics so that she would be ready to accompany Wesley to town in the afternoon. Elnora hurried down the road and was soon at the cistern with a tub busily washing arrow points, stone axes, knives, pipes and skin cleaning implements. There were not so many points as she had supposed, and some she had thought the finest were chipped and broken. Still there was quite a large box of perfect pieces to carry to the city.

Then Elnora hurried home, dressed and was waiting when the carriage reached the gate. She stopped at the bank with the box and Sliton went to do his marketing and a little shopping for his wife.

At the dry goods store Mr. Brownlee called to him: "Hello, Sliton! How do you like the fate of your lunch box?" Then he began to laugh.

"I always hate to see a man laughing alone," said Sliton. "It looks so selfish. Tell me the fun and let me help him."

Brownlee wiped his eyes. "I supposed you knew, but I see she hasn't told."

Then the three days' history of the lunch box was repeated with particulars which included the dog.

(Continued next week.)

A Card.

This is to certify that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound does not contain any opiates, any habit forming drugs, or any ingredients that could possibly harm its users. On the contrary, its great healing and soothing qualities make it a real remedy for coughs, colds and irritations of the throat, chest and lungs. The genuine is in yellow package. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and accept no substitute. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

While lime is a great deodorant and disinfectant, it is also a great irritant. Remember this when you are tempted to scatter slaked lime in that brooder or henhouse. If placed on a damp floor and removed before the fowls get on to it or send it into the air with their whirling wings it is a great benefit.

Plovers' eggs in England are considered a great dainty and are especially popular at the king's table, where they are often served for breakfast. They are served at the London restaurant at $5 apiece.

It has been demonstrated again and again that turkeys cannot be profitably raised on wet land. High, sandy, gravelly soil is best, and there is much of such ground on farms that hardly pays for fillings which turned into turkey playground would bring big profit.

The breeders of Buckeyes are quietly pushing their breed and are going to pull off a big surprise on the Rhode Island Red enthusiasts, with whom they mostly compete. This breed was originated by Mrs. Frank Metcalf of California and was named after Ohio, her native state.

There is a big kick against the breed pictures of the new Standard, the stock and Buckeye fanciers being most mad. The flocks surely look as if they were shot and missed, and no one will surely get the Buckeye fever who sees them.

Miss Margaret Mahoney, residing near Boston, raised seventy-six young turkeys last season at a cost of $40 and sold them at a profit of $250. It was only her third year's experience, too, and shows what a brassy, patient American girl can do if she does live among the turkey pessimists of the turkey graveyard belt.

A fancier that has to hustle is the fellow who expects his birds to mature in time for fall fairs. The birds must be forced from January to September to get proper size and feather. To win. Very good care must be taken of such fowls or they will break down or molt and thus be unfit for winter shows.

Chicken raisers at Mount Carmel, Pa., have a big time with rats and wildcats. The rats gobble the chicks and the wildcats catch the pullets that stray about without a chaperon. The ministerial association is in much agitation over the situation.

Eggs with thin shells are often broken during the hatch, and their contents, smeared over the others, closes the pores, and the germs suffocate. Keep such eggs for cooking, and feed ground shell in the mash as a remedy.

With all the booming of breeds the single comb White Leghorns still hold their place as the greatest layers. Go where you will you find these wonderful fowls doing the paying stunt, whether the flock be large or small, when they resolve proper care.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders' Supply Co. 1st

We do Fine Job Printing.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell, Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings
Results

A Newspaper that Prints
The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

Grange Column

-Ironton Grange.

Ironton grange met in regular session May 31, 1912 with H. E. Clark, Master in chair.

Thirty-five members and two visitors were present.

The grange voted on giving $25.00 to Joe Kemp to help finish his house so they could move in it. The committee being Will Steinburg, Will Meggison, and John Koudsen.

The lecturer's program consisted of songs, stories, readings, recitations and a talk by Mrs. John Koudsen on life insurance.

Ironton grange had planned on a plowing match at Marion Center had told them they might. But at their last meeting they were told that Marion was also planning on a plowing match, so all further plans and committees were suspended.

Grange was then closed in regular form to meet again in two weeks.

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, blue lining see the Builders Supply Co., phone 56-2-6. 171

Wilson Grange, No. 719.

Wilson grange met in regular session Saturday May 25, 1912 with an attendance of forty members and three visitors from Deer Lake grange.

After the usual order of business the meeting was turned over to the Lecturer.

The literary program consisted of several readings.

The Ladies auxiliary meets every Wednesday before grange night in the hall.

Grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks.

DEATH OF MRS. SHORES

At the Age of Twenty-six leaves Husband and Two Children.

Mrs. Tim Shores died at home in this city Friday after an illness of about three weeks. Mrs. Shores, whose maiden name was Elinor Gramp, was born in this state six years ago and has been a resident of this county several years. She leaves beside her husband, two children.

The funeral was held Monday at the Catholic church, burial at Brookside.

For Sale.

An American Harrow Company manure spreader. One hundred bushel, practically new, one half retail price. Address or phone Ira G. Mosher, Charlevoix, Mich. 2211

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

THEATRICAL

"The Missouri Girl," a comedy that has stood the test of eleven years before the public and never yet failed to please, will be the offering at the Charlevoix Theatre Wednesday, June 12.

This production is being advertised as "The Greatest Fun Event of the Season" and amusement lovers who remember the show in previous years say the phrase is aptly selected. From first to last the play is an avalanche of laughter. "Zeke Dobson," gawky country lad, the chief character, is pronounced by critics "The Greatest Comedy Character in the History of the Stage." The character is a natural one, just such a boy as everyone has met and still the situations are so funny and his actions so ludicrous that it keeps the audience screaming with laughter.

In the second act the country birthday party gives an opportunity for some excellent vaudeville numbers and here again "Zeke Dobson" makes a hit in a country dance styled the clod-hopper dance, which is said to faithfully reflect the dancing that is most liked by the natives of southwestern Missouri.

The Majestic theatre will offer an unusual attraction the last half of next week when "The Alvarado Players," a high class dramatic stock company, comes for three days starting Thursday June 6.

The company had a run of forty weeks at one of Grand Rapids' leading theaters last year, it numbers ten people and has been pronounced the strongest organization of players that has toured northern Michigan cities in a long time. They will give a change of play each night, opening with "Down East Folks," a rural comedy by Dennison Thompson, author of "The Old Homestead." Because of the heavy expense attached to the engagement the prices will be 15 and 25 cents.

SOLDIERS' REUNION

Tri-county Association Will Meet at Buckley the Last Week in June.

The twenty-fourth annual reunion of the tri-county soldiers' and sailors' association will be held at Buckley June 25-28. A good program of entertainment is being arranged and some of the best speakers in the state will be in attendance. A cordial invitation is extended to all old soldiers and sailors and the general public to attend.

History on Coins. The knowledge of coins and medals through the inscriptions and devices thereon is to an extent a history of the world from the date in which metals were applied to such uses, says the New Era. Events engraved upon these remain hidden in tombs or buried in the bosom of the earth, deposited there in ages long past by careful and unskilful hands, only awaiting the research of the patient investigator to tell the story of their origin. Numismatic treasures are scattered all over the world, and are often supplied to define the border line between sacred tradition and positive history (Gibson remarks). "If there were no other record of Hadrian his career would be found written upon the coins of his reign."

Waste Paper in Paris.

Paris, police give strict attention to the act against throwing waste papers and refuse upon the streets. An absent minded old gentleman carelessly dropped a hundred franc note from his waistcoat pocket, whereupon a sharp-eyed policeman requested the old gentleman to give his name and address, submit to arrest. But when the offender reached into the gutter and picked up the waste paper and opened it before the policeman's eyes he was let off with an apology and a profound bow.

Sentiment.

"What is life without sentiment?" exclaimed the womanly person.

"Yes," replied Mr. Growcher, "but I don't always provide a square deal. Sentiment is what enables a girl to trade a lock of her hair for a $100 engagement ring."—Washington Star.

Rather Rough.

Mrs. Benjamin—Why do they give him such a awful name as "Bristles?" Benjamin—Because he is always "on his hog."—New York Press.

No great good comes without looking after it.—Daugh.

Handling a Celery Bed.

Sow celery in February, March or beginning of April in rows in line, rich soil and if dry enough press the soil firmly with a roller or the back of the spade. Keep the seed bed well watered, as celery germinates very slowly. Transplant from June to August. Celery does best in a moist, mucky soil and in situations where plenty of water is abundant in the soil.

O YOU ALFALFA!

What makes the farmer's team so slick And helps them plow ground double quick And gives the trotter such a pace That she quick wins in every race? Alfalfa.

What makes the cow give double milk, Sweet golden butter fine as silk, And her twin calves grow double size And at the fair win every prize? Alfalfa.

What makes the roosters crow so loud, The gobblers strut around so proud? What makes the hens lay twice a day And all the poultry pay, pay, pay? Alfalfa.

What makes the hogs grow extra hams, The fleecy ewes bear triplet lambs, The steers quick put on double weight And the big bull jump over the gate? Alfalfa.

What is it grows so many crops, Just keeps on growing, never stops; Makes a new soil of one that's dead And beats the crimson clover head? Alfalfa.

What makes the honest farmer smile From ear to ear, about a mile, And makes his pocketbook so fat And pays for wire a fine Easter hat? Alfalfa.

C. M. BARNITZ.

ASTONISH THE SHARKS.

Altutaki Islanders Pull Them Up by the Tail With Ropes.

The island of Altutaki, one of the Hervey group, in the Pacific, is surrounded by islets underneath which are submarine caverns, the homes of sharks. These sharks, which are about six feet long, are esteemed a delicacy, and the natives catch them with nooses.

Arrived over the entrance to the shark cave, the fishermen leaves his canoe to the care of his companions and dives to the bottom, carrying with him a strong cord tied into a slip knot. He expects to find two or three sharks at home well satisfied and drowsy after feeding in the lagoon, with their tails toward the entrance. Selecting the largest, the diver adroitly adjusts a noose over the tail, taking care that it hangs loosely. If he has another noose he secures a second shark.

The shark catches him, with his mouth on the white, sandy bottom, rises to the surface in order to assist his friends in hauling up the fish. The astonished shark suddenly finds itself ascending tail first to the surface, where a smart blow from an ax between the eyes or on the tail ends its career. Exchange.

A Growsome Pun.

A foreigner who was at work shoveling ore in the bottom of a vessel whistling in the port of a city in northern Ohio jumped upon the bucket to ride out of the hold. The increased burden broke the hook by which the bucket was attached to the lifting cable. Man and bucket fell back into the hold, and the man received injuries from which he died. An administrator was appointed, who said the holding company for damages. The lawyer employed for the plaintiff was in conversation one day with a friend, who remarked:

"I should think that the company, after an accident like that, would lose time in installing stronger hoisting apparatus. It ought to be sufficient warning."

"Sufficient!" exclaimed the lawyer. "Why, man, that was only a drop in the bucket."—Philadelphia North American.

Librarian's Report.

Total number of books issued 1043. Fiction, 431; juvenile fiction, 433; total non-fiction, 173.

Philosophy, 1; religion, 4; sociology, 42; history, 1; history 13; travel 20; biography 8; general works 2; natural science 5; useful arts 7; fine arts 12; literature 63.

Daily average of books issued 48. Total number readers, in reading room 593. Daily average 26.

Men 101, women 152, children 416. New patrons enrolled in May, 7.

We do Fine Job Printing.

LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Circuit Court for the County of Emmet, in Chancery.

In the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, an insolvent corporation.

The undersigned, Frank L. Voorheis, receiver of said corporation, duly appointed by said court, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the order of said court, he has made an assessment upon all members and persons insured in said company of such sums of money as in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay all the losses and liabilities of said company, together with all the services and expenses of said receiver, and that such assessment will be presented to the Honorable Frank Shepley, circuit judge, for confirmation, at his chambers in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1912, at the hour of one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. All persons interested will take notice thereof. Dated, June 1, 1912.

221 Frank L. Voorheis, Receiver.

Woman Suffrage Notes.

A woman voter in California says that it took her only a few seconds to mark her ballot when she voted in a recent election and that as she lived only two blocks from the polling place she was away from home less than 10 minutes. On her return home she found that nothing had happened during her absence. She says she has been much struck by the "consideration" that has been shown women since they have become "people." They were so used to "deconsideration" that the difference is a novel and delightful experience.

How Carroll D. Wright, National Commissioner of Labor, said: "The lack of direct political influence constitutes a powerful reason why women's wages have been kept at a minimum."

Women have municipal suffrage in England, Scotland, Ireland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark. City government in all these places is better than in America.

It has been argued that the ballot would add to women's burdens. Instead it would tend to lighten them. It would take far less time to vote for clean streets than it does to clean and scrub and dust to the effort to keep the dirt on the streets out of the house. Cities in Europe where women have municipal suffrage have clean streets.

Representative Hobart from Alabama said recently in a public address that he had been astonished to find not a single law of Congress relating to the prevention of infant mortality. There were laws looking to the welfare of children. He declared that women were needed to look after the interests of children, public sanitation, and similar problems.

Miss Belle Squires has written a strong letter of protest to the county collector of Cook county, Illinois. She states that her "No Vote, No Tax League" of Chicago includes hundreds of women tax-payers who are anxious for a tax case to be made. If only women were allowed to vote and not men the latter would very quickly see the force of the argument of "No Taxation without representation is tyranny."

This Shows You What "Honorbilt" Means

Turn back the top of the toes and you will find that most of the shoes have a canvas tip under the leather tip.

Mayer

HONORBILT SHOES

have two layers of good leather over the toes. ALL Mayer shoes are made that way. This is just one of many points where Mayer shoes differ. They are made solid and honest—"They're built on Honor. You can always be sure of quality when you buy shoes with the Mayer trade mark. We have in stock a full line of the latest styles of these up-to-date shoes ready for your inspection.

Come in and look at them. See them and know why they are the leading shoes for well-dressed men.

Mayer

SOLD BY

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

Mayer

This is the trade mark on the bottom of every "Honorbilt" shoe, which means that the shoe is "solid leather" throughout. BE SURE TO LOOK FOR IT ON THE SHOES YOU BUY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Circuit Court for the County of Emmet, in Chancery.

In the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, an insolvent corporation.

The undersigned, Frank L. Voorheis, receiver of said corporation, duly appointed by said court, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the order of said court, he has made an assessment upon all members and persons insured in said company of such sums of money as in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay all the losses and liabilities of said company, together with all the services and expenses of said receiver, and that such assessment will be presented to the Honorable Frank Shepley, circuit judge, for confirmation, at his chambers in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1912, at the hour of one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. All persons interested will take notice thereof. Dated, June 1, 1912.

221 Frank L. Voorheis, Receiver.

Mayer

SOLD BY

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

Mayer

This is the trade mark on the bottom of every "Honorbilt" shoe, which means that the shoe is "solid leather" throughout. BE SURE TO LOOK FOR IT ON THE SHOES YOU BUY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Circuit Court for the County of Emmet, in Chancery.

In the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, an insolvent corporation.

The undersigned, Frank L. Voorheis, receiver of said corporation, duly appointed by said court, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the order of said court, he has made an assessment upon all members and persons insured in said company of such sums of money as in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay all the losses and liabilities of said company, together with all the services and expenses of said receiver, and that such assessment will be presented to the Honorable Frank Shepley, circuit judge, for confirmation, at his chambers in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1912, at the hour of one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. All persons interested will take notice thereof. Dated, June 1, 1912.

221 Frank L. Voorheis, Receiver.

Mayer

SOLD BY

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

Mayer

This is the trade mark on the bottom of every "Honorbilt" shoe, which means that the shoe is "solid leather" throughout. BE SURE TO LOOK FOR IT ON THE SHOES YOU BUY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Circuit Court for the County of Emmet, in Chancery.

In the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, an insolvent corporation.

The undersigned, Frank L. Voorheis, receiver of said corporation, duly appointed by said court, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the order of said court, he has made an assessment upon all members and persons insured in said company of such sums of money as in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay all the losses and liabilities of said company, together with all the services and expenses of said receiver, and that such assessment will be presented to the Honorable Frank Shepley, circuit judge, for confirmation, at his chambers in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1912, at the hour of one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. All persons interested will take notice thereof. Dated, June 1, 1912.

221 Frank L. Voorheis, Receiver.

Mayer

SOLD BY

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

Mayer

This is the trade mark on the bottom of every "Honorbilt" shoe, which means that the shoe is "solid leather" throughout. BE SURE TO LOOK FOR IT ON THE SHOES YOU BUY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Circuit Court for the County of Emmet, in Chancery.

In the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, an insolvent corporation.

The undersigned, Frank L. Voorheis, receiver of said corporation, duly appointed by said court, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the order of said court, he has made an assessment upon all members and persons insured in said company of such sums of money as in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay all the losses and liabilities of said company, together with all the services and expenses of said receiver, and that such assessment will be presented to the Honorable Frank Shepley, circuit judge, for confirmation, at his chambers in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1912, at the hour of one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. All persons interested will take notice thereof. Dated, June 1, 1912.

221 Frank L. Voorheis, Receiver.

Mayer

SOLD BY

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

Mayer

This is the trade mark on the bottom of every "Honorbilt" shoe, which means that the shoe is "solid leather" throughout. BE SURE TO LOOK FOR IT ON THE SHOES YOU BUY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Circuit Court for the County of Emmet, in Chancery.

In the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, an insolvent corporation.

The undersigned, Frank L. Voorheis, receiver of said corporation, duly appointed by said court, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the order of said court, he has made an assessment upon all members and persons insured in said company of such sums of money as in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay all the losses and liabilities of said company, together with all the services and expenses of said receiver, and that such assessment will be presented to the Honorable Frank Shepley, circuit judge, for confirmation, at his chambers in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1912, at the hour of one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. All persons interested will take notice thereof. Dated, June 1, 1912.

221 Frank L. Voorheis, Receiver.

Mayer

SOLD BY

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

Mayer

This is the trade mark on the bottom of every "Honorbilt" shoe, which means that the shoe is "solid leather" throughout. BE SURE TO LOOK FOR IT ON THE SHOES YOU BUY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Circuit Court for the County of Emmet, in Chancery.

In the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, an insolvent corporation.

The undersigned, Frank L. Voorheis, receiver of said corporation, duly appointed by said court, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the order of said court, he has made an assessment upon all members and persons insured in said company of such sums of money as in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay all the losses and liabilities of said company, together with all the services and expenses of said receiver, and that such assessment will be presented to the Honorable Frank Shepley, circuit judge, for confirmation, at his chambers in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1912, at the hour of one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. All persons interested will take notice thereof. Dated, June 1, 1912.

221 Frank L. Voorheis, Receiver.

Mayer

SOLD BY

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

Mayer

This is the trade mark on the bottom of every "Honorbilt" shoe, which means that the shoe is "solid leather" throughout. BE SURE TO LOOK FOR IT ON THE SHOES YOU BUY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Circuit Court for the County of Emmet, in Chancery.

In the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, an insolvent corporation.

The undersigned, Frank L. Voorheis, receiver of said corporation, duly appointed by said court, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the order of said court, he has made an assessment upon all members and persons insured in said company of such sums of money as in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay all the losses and liabilities of said company, together with all the services and expenses of said receiver, and that such assessment will be presented to the Honorable Frank Shepley, circuit judge, for confirmation, at his chambers in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1912, at the hour of one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. All persons interested will take notice thereof. Dated, June 1, 1912.

221 Frank L. Voorheis, Receiver.

Mayer

SOLD BY

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

Mayer

This is the trade mark on the bottom of every "Honorbilt" shoe, which means that the shoe is "solid leather" throughout. BE SURE TO LOOK FOR IT ON THE SHOES YOU BUY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Circuit Court for the County of Emmet, in Chancery.

In the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, an insolvent corporation.

The undersigned, Frank L. Voorheis, receiver of said corporation, duly appointed by said court, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the order of said court, he has made an assessment upon all members and persons insured in said company of such sums of money as in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay all the losses and liabilities of said company, together with all the services and expenses of said receiver, and that such assessment will be presented to the Honorable Frank Shepley, circuit judge, for confirmation, at his chambers in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1912, at the hour of one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. All persons interested will take notice thereof. Dated, June 1, 1912.

221 Frank L. Voorheis, Receiver.

Mayer

SOLD BY

Bert Mason

Cash Grocer

Mayer

This is the trade mark on the bottom of every "Honorbilt" shoe, which means that the shoe is "solid leather" throughout. BE SURE TO LOOK FOR IT ON THE SHOES YOU BUY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Circuit Court for the County of Emmet, in Chancery.

In the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Charlevoix, Emmet and Charlevoix Counties, Michigan, an insolvent corporation.

The undersigned, Frank L. Voorheis, receiver of said corporation, duly appointed by said court, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the order of said court, he has made an assessment upon all members and persons insured in said company of such sums of money as in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay all the losses and liabilities of said company, together with all the services and expenses of said receiver, and that such assessment will be presented to the Honorable Frank Shepley, circuit judge, for confirmation, at his chambers in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1912, at the hour of one-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. All persons interested will take notice thereof. Dated, June 1, 1912.

221 Frank L. Voorheis, Receiver.

Mayer

SOLD BY

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 24

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

ADVERTISING BY THE CANDIDATES

Regulated by the Law Governing Michigan Primary Election.

TO NEWSPAPERS ALONE

Size of Campaign Cards and Pictures on Same Limited.

Postal Cards and Letters are Allowed—Candidates Must Ascertain the Advertising Rates of Newspapers—Other Points in Law.

Between now and the primary election, the date of which is August 27, candidates will do well to carefully study the law which restricts their activity in pushing their campaign. For their benefit we publish the sections of the Michigan primary law in regard to political advertising.

Sec. 47. It shall be unlawful for any candidate for nomination under the provisions of this act, after the date on which he has announced himself a candidate for any office included within the provisions of this act, or after he has filed his petition to have his name placed upon the primary ballot, and before the close of the polls of such primary on primary day, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any other person, to post, pay for posting, or cause to be posted upon or in any building, or upon any tree, post, fence, bill board, telegraph or telephone pole, vehicle or other object within the territory where he is a candidate, any campaign card, banner, hand bill, poster, lithograph, half-tone engraving, photograph or other likeness of himself, or other advertising matter need, or intended for the purpose of advertising or advancing his candidacy for office.

Sec. 48. It shall be unlawful for any person, after he has declared himself a candidate for any office included in the provisions of this act or filed his primary petition therefor as herein provided, and before the close of the polls on primary day, for the purpose of promoting his candidacy therefor, or for use in his campaign for such office, directly or indirectly, to print or cause to be printed, pay or cause to be paid for printing, circulate or distribute, or cause to be circulated or distributed, any campaign cards, hand bill, banner, poster or other advertising matter larger than two and one-fourth inches in width by four inches in length, except postal cards and letters, or which contains any lithograph, half-tone engraving, photograph or other likeness of himself, which likeness is larger than one and one-half inches in width by two inches in height, excepting advertisements in newspapers as hereinafter provided, or to publish or cause to be published, pay for publishing, or cause to be paid for publishing, any printed matter whatsoever, or any lithograph, half-tone engraving or other likeness of himself, or any other political advertisement of any kind or nature whatsoever which is intended, published or manufactured for the purpose of promoting or advancing his candidacy for such office, or influencing voters relative to his said candidacy in or upon any magazine, program, bill of fare, ticket for any ball or other entertainment, or upon or in any other substance or publication whatsoever, except in a daily, weekly or monthly newspaper which has been regularly and bona fide published and circulated for at least three months before such advertisement is to be inserted therein. It shall be unlawful for any person to do or perform for or on behalf of any such candidate or to help or injure the candidacy of any candidate, any of the acts or things which it is by this act made unlawful for such candidate to do.

Sec. 50. It shall be unlawful for any candidate for nomination for any office included in the provisions of this act, or any other person on his behalf, for the purpose of helping his candidacy for such office, directly or indirectly to pay for publishing or cause to be inserted or published in any newspaper any lithograph, half-tone engraving or other likeness of such candidate larger than one and one-half inches in width by two inches in height or any advertisement in which more than ten per centum of the printed matter is printed in a larger type than the regular type used in printing the editorials of such newspaper, excepting therefrom the name of such candidate and the title of the office for which he is a candidate, and no such candidate shall pay for, or directly or indirectly, cause any advertisement or any likeness of himself to be inserted or published in any such newspaper which charges or demands from him a higher rate therefor than the highest regular rate which such newspaper charges other persons or firms for non-political advertisements for the same space, position and number of insertions, and all candidates shall exercise reasonable diligence to ascertain what such regular advertising rate is before inserting any such advertisement, and if he shall be misinformed as to such rate he shall not be held responsible under the provisions of this act for such illegal publication. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation or employee thereof, soliciting or receiving any such advertisements or printed matter for any such newspaper from any such candidate, to misinform any such candidate as to such advertising rates.

IMPORTANT POINTS IN SCHOOL LAW

Which Should be Given Careful Study by Patrons and Officers.

Districts Boards Have Almost Unlimited Power—Who are Allowed Votes.

Many points of interest are being brought out by Superintendent of Public Instruction L. L. Wright, in regard to the conduct of district schools that should be given careful study by the various boards. The district boards have almost complete taxing power, the electors of a school district being legally able to vote money only for the erection of school houses, buying of sites and the payment of tuition in excess of $20 per pupil. Taxes for all other purposes are voted by the school board. The board is to use its own judgment as to the amount of taxes necessary for repairs on school property, new school equipment, fuel, teachers wages, water supply, heating plants, and all other equipment, such as sheds and outbuildings, fences and other necessities. The electors of a district have no right to let contracts for fuel or anything else, nor to dictate as to the selection of teachers or the amount of their wages. Such business is left entirely to the board.

The qualifications of electors at school meetings is also being strictly defined, as it has been found that there are many illegal voters exercising their franchise at school elections. There is no sex distinction; a woman having the same right to vote as a man if she is otherwise qualified. The following provision is quoted from the school laws relative to the qualification of voters: "No person has a right to vote unless he or she is the parent or guardian of children whose names are on the school census or has property assessed for school taxes. In addition voters must be citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age and residents of the district at least three months preceding the election."

The law excludes all men and women who are not parents or guardians of children on the census list or who do not pay school taxes, regardless of their other qualifications. Objections of the law will disfranchise hundreds who previously have voted.

Making Improvements.

Manager Berry of the Michigan State Telephone Co. has received notice that his company will soon start work rebuilding its outside plant. The cost of this work will approximate $14,000.

Equipment has been ordered also for three sections of switchboard to be used for long distance business, and the present long distance positions will be converted into local boards to take care of the rapid growth here.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Leslie Giddings, Age 53, Died in the Masonic Home at Alma.

Remains Brought Here for Burial Tuesday—Masons Escort Body to Resting Place.

After an illness of about year and a half, Leslie Giddings passed away about 1:00 Monday afternoon at the Masonic Home, Alma, Michigan.

He was born in Clarkston, Oakland county, in 1859, and came to Charlevoix about thirty years ago. Since that time he has lived here, always filling some position on the different boats.

In 1889 he was married to Mary Lamphar, and to them was born a son, Arlo.

About six years ago while acting as engineer on the small steamer R. J. Gordon, a cylinder was blown out, severely scalding him, and since that time he has never been in a well condition.

One year ago last February he was taken to the Masonic Home at Alma, at which place he died.

Sunday evening he suffered a severe stroke of apoplexy, and died from it Monday.

The body was brought home last night, being met at the train by the Masons. The services took place from the home this afternoon at two o'clock, and at the M. E. church one half hour later.

Many beautiful floral tributes were given as a token of the high esteem in which he was held, and the sympathy of all is with the wife and son in their hour of bereavement.

Levi Lamphar, of Chicago, Mrs. Ada Smith of Pontiac, and Horatio Giddings of Jackson, sister and brother of the deceased came Tuesday afternoon.

FRIDAY IS FLAG DAY

Governor Chase S. Osborn Issues Proclamation Urging General Observance.

Governor Chase S. Osborn has issued the following proclamation: "Our beautiful flag is a symbol of government. The nation is our first home. Without it there can be no domestic peace and safety, no moral advance, no material prosperity, no order.

"Every person who raises an arm in labor or defense has a stake in the country, and the flag is for all in every walk of life. It is glorious to die for it, and it is most meaningful to live for it. To respect it is to respect self, for it stands for that of which all are a part.

"Each day and month and year every citizen should dedicate himself anew to such department as will hallow the history of our flag and contribute to its emblematic splendor today and tomorrow.

"Therefore I, Chase S. Osborn, governor of the commonwealth of Michigan, do issue this proclamation and earnestly urge the observance of Friday, June 14, as Flag Day."

INSURANCE MATTERS

Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company Reported in Good Condition.

L. E. Tubbs, secretary and treasurer of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company was in Charlevoix last week, where he had collected three cases in justice court for collection of the liability assessment against the members and former members of his company. Of this number of cases sixty-four settled, the remaining ones made arrangements to pay their assessments at an early date. Mr. Tubbs reports that he has had over 250 cases in justice court and has taken judgment in only six cases, the others having all settled. One half of the indebtedness has been collected in and paid in the last nine months, and Mr. Tubbs claims that there is a sufficient amount on the books to collect to clear away the entire indebtedness and that he is intending to clean up the whole thing within the next six months. The company is taking on new insurance all the time, and is in better condition than it has been for several years. Pottery Record.

DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS

Breaking of Fly Wheel at Electric Light Plant Creates Havoc.

William Wilcox Killed Early Monday Morning—Third Accident of its Kind in Year.

Last Monday morning the peaceful slumberland of East Jordan was aroused about 4:30 by what sounded to the residents like a terrific explosion of dynamite, which turned out to be a crash of the broken fly-wheel of the engine at the electric plant in that place. The engine which was running the dynamo began to run away with itself and while at this terrific speed the fly-wheel broke and crashed through the building and a piece weighing about a 1000 pounds was hurled 600 feet to the south of the building. One piece of the pulley struck the generator, wrecked that, leaving the city of East Jordan without lights and power.

William Wilcox, engineer at the plant was struck by the flying wheel and was so badly smashed that he was hardly recognized. It is thought that he tried to stop the engine when he saw it was running away and was killed in the attempt. Deceased is survived by a wife and two young children. An inquest was called Monday and adjourned until Tuesday when it was again adjourned until Wednesday morning, as his brother wished to make an investigation.

The city auxiliary electric light plant will be put in readiness so that it will be in operation Thursday. This is the second accident in which a life was lost in the plant during the past year, and the third fly-wheel that has been broken in the past year, on different machinery.

BLUE RIBBON RACES

Will be Held in Detroit the Week Beginning July Twenty-Second.

This year marks the twenty-sixth anniversary of the Blue Ribbon races. Other cities may offer rich stakes and purses, but the annual event of the Detroit Driving Club is conceded to be in a class by itself, the premier of the trotting and pacing meetings in this country. The week beginning with July 22 has been set apart for this midsummer carnival of speed and during that period twenty trotting and pacing races will be decided on the exceptionally fast track at the Michigan state fair grounds.

More good horses are in training and there is more enthusiasm among owners and drivers than ever in the past so that when the bell rings those who enjoy the sport of the sulkeys will have a chance to see some splendid contests at Detroit.

While the complete program for this meeting is not yet announced, it is known that there will be at least two star events daily, so that a person is certain to see something worth while any day he spends in the spacious grand stand. Detroit is the only city that is able to give such an attraction to its patrons, and is doing so because the sport-loving of the state want only the best, which always can be found at the Blue Ribbon races.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Mrs. Sarah Graham Dies Tuesday at Her Home in Chicago, Illinois.

Mrs. Sarah Graham, widow of the late James Graham, died at her home in Chicago last Tuesday aged eighty-two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham were old residents of this county. Mr. Graham dying several years ago. About eight years ago Mrs. Graham went to Chicago, where she has resided since.

The funeral was held at the Holy Angels' church, Chicago, and the body brought here for burial, Friday, which took place at Brookside.

She leaves one son, Joseph L. Graham of Chicago, and two daughters, Mrs. Agnes Moore of Cheboygan and Mrs. Minnie Hargess of Chicago, all of whom were present at the burial.

FIRE PREVENTION

Mail Carriers Ordered to Assist Forest Rangers and Fire Wardens.

More than a million miles of road way territory is comparatively sparsely settled sections of the country will be covered by a forest fire preventive force of 35,000 men, as the result of an order issued recently by Postmaster General Hitchcock. These men are the rural and star route mail carriers, who are directed to co-operate with forest rangers and state fire wardens in every way possible.

There are forty-two thousand rural and thirteen thousand star-route carriers. Their daily routes take them, for the most part through sparsely inhabited parts of the country in many sections through the wilderness itself. The aggregate length of the daily routes is about 1,200,000 miles and the carriers have every opportunity to note closely the country through which they pass.

By the terms of the order, the duty of the carriers, on observing a fire or any indications of a fire, will be to notify the nearest forest ranger or fire warden.

MRS. MC GEAGH PASSED AWAY

Death Occurred Wednesday Afternoon Following an Operation.

Had Resided in this County Since 1882—Prominent Church and Society Worker.

Mrs. James McGeagh of this city died Wednesday at the Lockwood hospital Petoskey where she underwent an operation about three weeks ago.

Gladya Jefferies was born January 8, 1868, in Chere county Michigan. She came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jefferies, to Charlevoix county in 1882. After graduating from school she taught for some time in Marion township. In 1890 she was united in marriage to James McGeagh. Three children were born, Charles, Dwight and Forrest. She, with her husband, was baptized in 1891 by Rev. Haynes into the fellowship of the Baptist church where she remained in good standing until the time of her death. She was an active member in the church, Sunday school, and Young Peoples' society, also the W. C. T. U. and other organizations, until her health failed. She had a light stroke of paralysis about three years ago, from which she never fully recovered. During the last two years she has been a patient sufferer most of the time, twice undergoing a serious operation without a murmur of complaint. Eight weeks ago the funeral services of Mrs. R. R. Wilkinson, her mother, was held. Although she bore up bravely at the time, there soon came the reaction, and she was confined to her bed from which she never arose. She had an unswerving faith in her Saviour, and although she would have been glad to remain with her family, yet said she was perfectly willing and ready to go if God called her at this time. Her last words were spoken to the nurse: "I can't see now, if you see any of my boys, tell them to remember mother."

Besides her husband and three children, she is survived by two brothers, Charles Jefferies of this city and Elson Jefferies of Florida. Also a great number of relatives and friends who deeply sympathize with the family whose hearts are heavily laden with sorrow.

The funeral, which was one of the largest attended ever held in this city, was held Saturday afternoon. The members of the W. C. T. U., Daughters of Rebekah and Order Eastern Star attending in a body. Burial took place at Brookside cemetery.

Useful Birthday Gift. Edw. Shapton was the recipient of a fine birthday gift one day last week when his father presented him with a fine Ford delivery auto, to be used for delivering milk.

The machine is easy running and one which any one should be proud to drive. It is the first of its kind to enter Charlevoix but here is hoping others as good may follow.

Useful Birthday Gift. Edw. Shapton was the recipient of a fine birthday gift one day last week when his father presented him with a fine Ford delivery auto, to be used for delivering milk.

The machine is easy running and one which any one should be proud to drive. It is the first of its kind to enter Charlevoix but here is hoping others as good may follow.

FOR CONGRESS- MAN AT LARGE

Michigan Electors Will Have New Official to Vote for This Year.

ONLY ONE CANDIDATE IN FIELD

Patrick H. Kelly Has Announced Himself for the Nomination.

No Man in Michigan Better Qualified—Has Been in Every Portion of the State—a Popular Orator—Everybody's His Friend.

As it is the custom the Courier will between now and the date of the primary election, to be held August 27, give its readers a short sketch of the candidates for the various offices, so they may be helped some in making their choice.

Again we want to call your attention to the fact that if you are not already enrolled you must enroll between now and June 27, by filing an affidavit with the city or township clerk.

The voters of Michigan this year will be called upon to vote for Congressman-at-large, an official which has never before been elected from this state. Every ten years, after the United States census is taken a new apportionment is made of the congressional districts. In making the apportionment, last year it was found that the increase in the population of Michigan was such that she was entitled to an additional member of Congress, which would give her twelve instead of eleven as now. The last legislature, however, failed to redistrict the state so the new member of Congress will this year be chosen by the entire state.

For this position, so far, only one candidate has announced himself, Hon. Patrick Henry Kelly of Lansing. It is not thought that any other candidate will enter the race against Mr. Kelly as it would be hard to find a better man for the position than "Pat" Kelly as he is best known to every voter in the state of Michigan. There is probably no man in the entire state who knows his Michigan better than he for there is hardly a village or cross roads that he has not visited, and no man would know better the needs of the state from his own personal knowledge. In addition to his knowledge of the state Mr. Kelly is peculiarly well fitted for the position in all other ways. His genial personality which has made every one in Michigan his friend would make him a power in Washington when it was coupled with his ability for last year Kelly demonstrated that man who not only could present his ideas in an entertaining manner but had the brains behind him to impress his hearers.

Pat Kelly will be nominated we believe without opposition, and he will be elected, and we believe that he will be as popular in Washington as he is in his own state, our popular man in public man.

THREE SCORE YEARS

Hiram Porter of Barnard Surprised in Honor of Birthday Last Wednesday.

Last Wednesday evening a gathering of friends to the number of thirty dropped in upon Hiram Porter of Barnard to remind him of his 60th birthday. The evening was most pleasantly spent in visiting, games and singing by a quartet from Charlevoix consisting of Anna Pool, John Kirby, Will Hamlin and Will Ripley, after which a fine supper was enjoyed.

Mr. Porter was presented with China Sea weed racker and seven dollars in money by his children. This was Mr. Porter's first experience with either a birthday or surprise party.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders' Supply Co. - 1711

Wool Wanted. Will pay the highest market price for wool. H. Kaufman. - 22-11

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 1711

CORRESPONDENCE

MARION.

We notice that Will Monty has purchased an auto.
Edd Shapton has just had a new piano put in his home.
W. E. Dodd and family, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hansen Sunday.
Mrs. Newman and daughter, Miss Julia, entertained company Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Almon Yettaw visited their father and family Saturday.
Mrs. Will Panget and Mrs. David Alexander attended the funeral of Mrs. McGeagh.
Mr. and Mrs. Pasco and daughter visited her brother, Will Smith at Norwood, Sunday.
William Shapton is to be congratulated on his choice in buying a beautiful new auto.
Mr. and Mrs. William Eastcott of Ellsworth visited their daughter, Mrs. Henry Black, Jr., Friday.
The ladies' auxiliary of Marion Center grange met with Sister Minnie Smith Thursday. After the business was over a dainty lunch was served.
Miss Hazel and Master Harold Burns gave a party to a number of their friends Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Hazel's birthday. A dainty lunch was served under the shade of an apple tree. They all reported a very nice time.

Born, to Alex Kerr and wife, June 2, a son.
Mrs. Albert Edwards and Miss Ida, were guests of Mrs. James Adams, Monday.
Miss Myrtle Winkler has been spending a few days with Mrs. C. VanZant.
The Ladies' Auxiliary of Marion Center grange, met with Mrs. Frank Smith Thursday.
Mrs. Hipp and children of East Jordan visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil at Phelps, last week.
Mr. and Mrs. George Winkler were called to Atwood last week by the illness of her father, James McCannan.
Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. John Withers, and Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Smith were visitors of Frank Smith and wife Sunday.
Mrs. Call who has been visiting her brother, Mr. Gornell, returned to England last week. Mrs. Gornell who was to accompany her was taken very ill.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CUREN & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ATWOOD

Hello everybody.
Are you reading about Ellanore? Come Norwood correspondent we want you to speak every week.
Indications just now look as though there will be an abundance of fruit.
Isn't every up to date farm prettier, just now, than any city you ever saw?

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
Chemical Lime
Bulk Building Lime
Barreled Building Lime
Hydrated Agricultural Lime
Crushed Stone
Pulverized Stone
Furnace Fluxing
Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland
PHONE 297

George Lord raised his new barn on Saturday last. More of them to follow soon.
Joe Hoffman sold his driver last week to Jake Bingema. Consideration $150.00.

Mrs. Will Byers has 300 little chickens and Mrs. Will Knight has 180. Almost every woman has from 75 to 100 of them.

Our little folks gave an entertainment last week, after which ice cream and cake was served. Proceeds netted $14.00.

Mr. Visser has a new auto truck wagon. It's a dandy so they say, but Pete is running into everything—water, tanks, ditches, and is still right side up.

Ethan Jalliffe, who has been sick is not able to do anything, and will not this summer. Mr. Jalliffe takes his way of expressing his love to the many who visit him daily.

Mrs. M. A. McLaughlin, 512 Jay St., LaCrosse, Wis., writes that she suffered all kinds of pains in her back and hips on account of kidney trouble and rheumatism. "I got some of Foley Kidney Pills and after taking them for a few days there was a wonderful change in my case, for the pain entirely left my back and hips and I am thankful there is such a medicine as Foley Kidney Pills." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

ST. JAMES

The R. C. Wente loaded lumber here this week.
Mrs. H. Herrick visited Charlevoix friends last week.
W. A. Germaine of Traverse City is here again this week.
Schooner X-10-U-S took a cargo of shingles to Ludington.
Gus Kitzinger of Manistee transacted business here last week.
The Lighthouse Tender, Hyacinth was in the harbor Monday night.

Alfred Richards and wife of Provenomont were island visitors last week.
Barge City of Baltimore took a cargo of shingles from here last week.

Frank Greene has opened up a meat market in the Greene building on Main street.

Miss May Gallagher, who spent the winter in Chicago, has returned home for the summer.

R. Gilden and mother, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gilden, returned to Charlevoix the first of the week.

Frank Miller of this place has been granted a patent on an invalid bed with a sectional spring frame, so arranged whereby it can be adjusted to any inclination so that an invalid might be comfortably supported in any desired position.

PHELPS.

Fred Mason is baling a nice lot of hay this week.
Harmon Himebanchi has been on the sick list for a few days but is now on the gain.

Mrs. Ike Feltenburger returned home the 4th of June from her three weeks' stay at Stanwood and Woodville and other points.

Mrs. George Haynes has been visiting for a number of weeks in Detroit, Hopkins, Lansing, Northville, South Lyons, Rushton and Lake Odessa.

The farmers are getting anxious about the seed beans they have contracted for as the ear of beans has not arrived at Ellsworth as soon as it was expected.

A good many farmers are complaining about their fields of corn rotting. Never mind neighbors do as I am going to do, that is where your field does not come all right, plant it with beans to the 20th of June.

They Put an End to It.

Charles Sahle, 30 Cook St., Rochester, N. Y., says he recommends Foley Kidney Pills at every opportunity because they gave him prompt relief from a bad case of kidney trouble that had long bothered him. Such a recommendation, coming from Mr. Sahle, is direct and convincing evidence of the great curative qualities of Foley Kidney Pills. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

NORTH BAY.

Miss Eva North is visiting at Cecil Bay.

Henry Kunkle lost a horse last week.

Henry Kunkle is working on a farm south of Petoskey.

Born, June 6, to Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Volker, a daughter.

Mrs. William Corwin of Petoskey is visiting at Long View farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Kolla Long visited friends in Petoskey Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Jim Dilworth and Miss Anna West of Horton Bay were callers at John Priebe's Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leg North and children, and Miss Ruby VanOrden of Petoskey visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. North, Sunday.

Mrs. Lola Love, wife of Wiley Love, a farmer living near Covenau, Ga., says: "I have taken Foley Kidney Pills and find them to be all you claim for them. They gave me almost instant relief when my kidneys were sluggish and inactive. I can cheerfully recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

NORWOOD.

Petromaster Chase spent a day in Charlevoix.

A new baby girl at Harold Stafford's, June 7.

Charles Wisner is calling on old friends this week.

Mr. Pierce made a business trip to Ellsworth this week.

Frank Valentine spent Friday in Petoskey and Charlevoix.

The George H. VanPelt, family have arrived for the summer.

Quite a number of Norwood people attended the Mosher case last week.

Mrs. Henry Carman went to East Jordan Saturday to spend a week with her daughter, Mrs. Reinhardt.

Mr. and Mrs. Holecheck spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Ed. Hull, near Charlevoix.

When Buying, Buy Only the Best Costs no more but gives the best results.

H. L. Blomquist, Esquire, Wis., says his wife considers Foley's Honey and Tar Compound the best cough cure on the market. "She has tried various kinds but Foley's gives the best result of all." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

SOUTH CHARLEVOIX.

Miss Jessie Shapton is clerking for Levinson.

A little rain would be very acceptable about these days.

Phydy Webster of Bay Shore was visiting at his uncle's, Amos Webster, last Sunday.

Mrs. Preston was visiting at her daughter's, Mrs. Sanby at Bay Shore, part of last week.

Geo. Fay who has been laid up for the last week with a sprained ankle, has recovered enough to go to work on Monday.

How to Help Keep Down Expenses.

Mrs. J. E. Henry, Akron, Mich., tells how she did so: "I was bothered with my kidneys and had to go nearly dumb. I tried a sample of Foley's Kidney Pills and they did me so much good that I bought a bottle, and feel that they saved me a big doctor's bill." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

HAYES.

The farmers around here are very busy putting in their crops.

Mrs. Harker Kirby spent last week visiting at her brother's in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howe visited at their brother's, Philip Howe, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Tysver and family of Massachusetts are here visiting relatives at Charlevoix.

Literary Notes

Says Man Can Get Along Without Women, But Not Women Without Men.

In the June "Woman's Home Companion" appears a remarkable article showing the inequality that exists between men and women. The article is called "The Vanishing Husband" and opens with a description of a New England family in which the wife is described as being attractive and bright. The story of this household goes on as follows:

"Her husband was a lean, taciturn gentleman, kindly withal, but lacking profile and emphasis. Where the wife gave you the quality of plenty and comeliness, he symbolized in one's mind the leanness of the New England uplands on which he lived. Nor was he a conversationalist. An occasional 'M-m' or 'Uh-uh' and uninspiring remarks about the pigs and the weather were the most one ever got from him. One wondered how he had had the good fortune to come by his handsome, capable, and amusing wife.

"Yet at that household a strange phenomenon occurred almost daily. At ten Henry would remark:

"I'm going out."

"Upon which his wife would take it up like a challenge:

"Where are you going, Henry?"

"I'm going out," Henry would remark with that picturesque quiver which was his joy.

"Going to the store, Henry?"

"I might be passing by there," Henry would give reply.

"What you want to waste your time for, getting around on the top of crack-boxes and getting into a

GET TO THE CAUSE.

Charlevoix People Are Learning the Way

There is but little peace or comfort for the man or woman with a bad back. The distress begins in early morning—keeps up through the day. It's hard to get out of bed, it's torturing to stoop or straighten. Plasters and liniments may relieve, but cannot cure. The cause is inside—the kidneys. When suffering so, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the tested and proven kidney remedy, used in kidney troubles for over 75 years. Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of such cases. Proof in the testimony of a nearby resident:

"Mrs. R. M. McKee, 214 Mason St., Charlevoix, Mich., says: 'I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly. I had been troubled for several months by kidney disease. I bloated quite badly and had weak back and severe pains in my kidneys. My rest was broken at night. I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills at the Ivy Drug Store and they have given me relief in every way.'

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlhurn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

box of sawdust, I don't see," his spouse would retort, generally to his retreating back. "You got plenty to do at home. I wish you'd sometimes stay home, Henry," she would add plaintively.

"There she was, handsome and able, entreating—yes, that is the word for it—her meager bodied and meager-souled mate to remain, that he might throw the light of his countenance upon her.

"It seems to me that that this is typical. Here we have the fundamental weakness of women: 'Men can get along without their women-folks, but women cannot get along without men.'

Going to build this spring? The place to buy your lime, pulp plaster, brick, and other material is at the Builders' Supply Co., phone 86 2r.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

We notice the automobile manufacturers are using big space in certain poultry journals. They think egg farmers have money to burn because eggs are high, but forget about the middleman so sick and sly.

Three thousand eight hundred students studied poultry culture in the colleges of the United States last year. Yes, the rooster has evolved over the barnyard fence into college curriculum ministerial excepted. The preachers know all about poultry by intuition.

One frequent cause of infertile eggs and chicks dead in the shell is the malnutrition of immature stock. Weekly chicks often also result. The egg record of adults is known, their eggs give larger chicks; they have run the gamut of disease and their stamina is known.

A good way to hang a fowl while plucking is to drive two nails a foot apart and from these hang a rope to catch the feet. Then hook a two pound weight to the fowl's lower bill to hold the bird still and in position. The rest is easy.

What a mess one makes in a wheat bin! They soon chew out the heart of the grain and leave a pile of waste. Our English combs paint wooden vessels and bins with paraffin, and it is so obnoxious to rodents that rats and mice will not gnaw through the receptacles.

Seventy-two miles from New York in the Eastport district of Long Island between 300,000 and 400,000 young ducks are marketed per year. One specialist hatched 12,000 last year. Petaluma, Cal., may have the White Leghorns, but New York sure has the quacks.

One reason why many do not get eggs in paying quantities is because they have the idea that all hens lay alike. They do not think of the fact that certain breeds are especially for eggs, others for a good quantity of eggs and meat and still a third variety for meat. Examples of these three are Leghorns, White Wyandottes and Cochins.

One way housewives teach their hens to call each other's feathers is to throw scalded feathers where the flock can get them. They eat them greedily, and the next rain, when their plumage gets wet, they proceed to gobble each other's garments. Better save those feathers. They're worth money.

American Dominique breeders report splendid sales the past season. The old Dominiques are a fine breed, and to see them come back into their own will tickle the veteran fanciers who have been keeping up a fight for the Brahmas, Cochins, Dominiques and other old and valuable breeds that have been in danger of being crowded out in the craze for new breeds and varieties.

A Stern Father.

Thus Manlius Torquatus fought a duel with a gigantic giant, Marcius Genuinus. In the war of 391 B. C. and slew the latter. Torquatus had been challenged and engaged in the contest contrary to an order issued by his father, the Roman commander, forbidding single encounters with the enemy. For violating this rule the parent had his son beheaded.

BANK

The compliments of the Directors and Officers of this Bank are presented to you with the respectful request that you will avail yourself immediately of our services. We can help you. Come in and let us talk it over.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A GOOD BANK IN A GOOD TOWN

—Directors—

R. P. FOLEY, G. C. GEIKEN
W. J. RACHOW, JOHN BURNS
J. L. CRANE, P. D. CAMPBELL
H. S. HARSHA

—Officers—

R. P. FOLEY, President
G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier
C. O. McMAHAN, Asst. Cashier

All Business given this Bank receives our personal attention. You are welcome to use our new offices at all times.

SILVER HULL SEED BUCKWHEAT

2 CENTS 2 Per Pound

Argo Milling Co.
Charlevoix

Latest Shoe Styles

We have just received a stock of

LADIES' SHOES

in the latest styles. We carry none but the best and are selling shoes cheaper than any other place in the city. A call will convince you.

The Pentucket Shoe Store
MORRIS GOLDSTEIN, Proprietor
320 Bridge Street Next to Baker's Inn

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Quickly Relieved
BY THE USE OF
"5-DROPS"

The Great Remedy for
Rheumatism, Lumbago,
Sciatica, Gout, Neuralgia,
La Grippe and Kidney
Trouble.

Applied externally, it cures
all aches and pains. Taken internally, it dissolves the
poisonous substance and
restores the system to a healthy
condition. Sold by Druggists.

One Dollar per bottle, or sent prepaid upon receipt of price if not obtainable
to your locality.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE COMPANY
100 Lake Street, Chicago

SWANSON'S PILLS

Best Remedy for Constipation, Sick
Headache, Sour Stomach, Bloating and Liver Trouble. 25c Per Box at Druggists

SKIN SORES

Easily and Quickly Healed

Those who suffer
from Eczema, pimples,
or other skin eruptions know the distressing nature of these troubles.
The Five-Drop Salve is a simple and inexpensive remedy, known as the "Five-Drop"
Salve. It is a carefully compounded ointment that for fifty years has been in vogue
as a soothing, healing remedy for eczema, pimples, running sores,
wounds, burns, salt rheum, ringworm, piles and itching. A single application will usually give immediate relief. The salve is sold in small tins and is easily carried in the pocket. It is an excellent remedy for cracked skin and scald burns.

The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25
and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not obtainable in your locality
you can order direct from Swanson R. & Co.,
100 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent postpaid upon receipt of price. It is an excellent remedy for cracked skin and scald burns.

Business Cards

D. A. NETTLETON

Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Platons Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE, Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH

Attorney at Law

Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

J. B. SHANAHAN

Attorney at Law

Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD

Dentist

Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store

Phone 123 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WILKINSON

Physician and Surgeon

Eyes tested and glasses fitted
Phone Office 262 residence 263

Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Special attention given to diseases of the EYE,
EAR, NOSE and THROAT.

Office over Hines & Co's drug store,
Telephone No. 255, Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE

Physician and Surgeon

(Succeeding Dr. L. F. FRY)

Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.

Office in Bar k Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS

AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled
some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address
Central Lake, Mich. Phone 1000.

Let me do your
DRAYING

An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 323 when you have language to transfer or any thing that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.

CHARLES TAYLOR

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
$1,000.00 for loss of limb or eye sight
$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
Cost $5.00 per year. No other dues
or assessments.

Old established company with
$100,000 State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and in-guarantee the payment of Claims.
Men and Women between 16 and 65
accepted, according to occupation.
For further information address:
AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY
Dept. 19 Box 441 Erie, Pa.

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST
BY GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday,
Page & Company.

CHAPTER IX—Continued.

"Now, jump!" commanded Brownie.
"Blessed if I see anything funny," replied Sinton. "And if you had thought that box and furnished one of those lunches yourself you wouldn't either. I call such a work a shame.
I'll have it stopped."

"Some one must see to that, all right. They are little leeches. Their father earns enough to support them, but they have no mother, and they run wild. I suppose they are crazy for cooked food. But it is funny, and when you think it over you will see it if you don't now."

"About where would a body find that father?" inquired Sinton grimly.
Mr. Brownie told him, and he started, locating the house with little difficulty.
House was the proper word, for of home there was no sign. Just a small empty house with three unkempt little children racing through and around it.

The girl and the older boy hung back, but dirty little Billy greeted Sinton with, "What you want here?"
"I want to see your father," said
Sinton.

"Well, he's asleep," said Billy.
"Where?" asked Sinton.
"In the house," answered Billy, "and you can't wake him."

"Well, I'll try," said Wesley.
Billy led the way. "There he is!"
he said. "He is drunk again."
On a dirty mattress in a corner lay a sleeping man who appeared to be strong and well.

Billy was right. You could not wake him. He had gone the limit and a little beyond. He was now facing eternity.

Sinton went out and closed the door.
"Your father is sick and needs help," he said. "You stay here and I will send a man to see him."
"If you just let him alone, he'll sleep it off," volunteered Billy. "He's that way all the time, but he wakes up and gets his something to eat after awhile. Only waltz twists you up inside pretty fast."

"The boy was no air of complaint.
He was merely stating facts."
Wesley Sinton looked hard at Billy.
"Are you twisted up inside now?" he asked.

Billy told a grimy hand on the region of his stomach, and the filthy little waif sank close to the backdoor.
"Get your life, boss," he said cheerfully.

"How long have you been twisted?"
asked Sinton.
Billy appeared to the others. "When was it we had the stuff on the bridge?"

"Yesterday morning," said the girl.
"Is that all gone?" asked Sinton.
"She went and told us to take it home," said Billy ruefully, "and cause she said to, we took it. I'd had come back, he was drinking some more, and he ate a lot of it—most the whole thing, and it made him sick as a dog, and he went and wasted all of it.
Then he got drunk some more, and now he's asleep again. We didn't get hardly none."

"You children sit on the steps until the man comes," said Sinton. "I'll send you some things to eat with him.
What's your name, sonny?"
"Billy," said the boy.
"Well, Billy, I guess you better come with me. I'll take care of him," Sinton promised the others. He reached a hand to Billy.

He's perfectly unselfish with his brother and sister! But we must wash him before Aunt Margaret sees him. I wonder if mother—
"You needn't bother. I'm going to take him home the way he is," said Sinton. "I want Maggie to see the worst of it."

"I'm afraid!" began Elmore.
"So am I," said Sinton, "but I won't give him up. He's taken a sort of grip on my heart. I've always been crazy for a boy. Don't let him hear us."
"Don't let him get killed!" cried Elmore. During their talk Billy had wandered to the edge of the walk and barely escaped the wheels of a passing automobile in an effort to catch a stray kitten that seemed in danger.

Sinton drew Billy back to the wall and held his hand closely. When they started home Billy sat on the front seat. He drove with the hitching strap tied to the railing of the dashboard, dourly the whip and yelled with dis-light. At first Sinton laughed with him, but by the time he left Elmore with several packages at her gate he was looking serious enough.

Margaret was in the door as they drove up the lane. Sinton left Billy in the carriage, hitched the horses and went to explain to her. He had not reached her before she cried, "Look, Wesley, that child! You'll have a runaway!"

Wesley looked and ran. Billy was standing in the carriage, slashing the mattress with the whip.

"See me make 'em go!" he shouted as the whip fell a second time.
He did make them go. They took the hitching post and a few fence palings, which scraped the paint from a wheel. Sinton missed the lines at the first effort, but the dragging post impeded the horses, and he soon caught them. He led them to the barn and ordered Billy to remain in the carriage while he unhitched. Then leading Billy and carrying his packages he entered the yard.

"You run play a few minutes, Billy,"
he said. "I want to talk to the nice lady."
The nice lady was looking rather stupid as Sinton approached her.

"Where in the name of sense did you get that awful child?" she demanded. Her husband told her Billy's story.

"He's half starved. I want to wash him and get clean clothes on him and give him some supper," he said.

"Have you got anything to put on him?"
"Yes."
"Where did you get it?"
"Bought it. It ain't much. All I got didn't cost a dollar."

"A dollar is a good deal when you work for it the way we do."
"Well, I don't know a better place to put it. Have you got any hot water? I'll use this tub at the kitchen."
Please give me some soap and towels.

Instead Margaret pushed by him with a shriek. Billy had played by producing a word from his pocket, and having tied the tails of Margaret's white kitchen together, he had climbed on a box and hung them across the clothesline. Wild with fright, the kittens were clanking each other to death, and the air was white with fur. The spring had twisted, and the frightened creatures could not recognize friends.
Margaret stepped back with bleeding hands. Sinton cut the cord with his knife, and the poor little cats raced under the house bleeding and disfigured. Margaret, white with wrath, faced Sinton.

"If you don't hitch up and take that animal back to town," she said, "I will."
Billy threw himself on the grass and began to scream.

"You said I could have fried chicken for supper," he wailed. "You said she was a nice lady."
Sinton lifted him, and something in his manner of handling the child infuriated Margaret. His touch was so gentle! She reached for Billy and gripped his shirt collar in the back. Sin-ton's hand closed over hers.

"Gently, girl," he said. "This little body is covered with sores."
"Sore!" she ejaculated. "Sore?"
What kind of sores?

"Oh, they might be from bruises made by fists or boot toes, or they might be bad blood from wrong eating, or they might be pure filth. Will you hand me some towels?"
"No, I won't," said Margaret.
"Well, give me some eggs, then."

(Continued on page 7)

Young Men

Your power consists of something more than mere muscle. Your financial strength
is well worth developing.

The best aid to financial development is a confidential relationship with a bank that will take an interest in your progress.

Let your Financial Interests exercise and grow.
OPEN A CHECKING OR SAVINGS AC-
COUNT AS CIRCUMSTANCES DICTATE.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Bettars A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

GARDEN MAKING

Will soon be in full swing. Enjoy it by the use of new tools--Hoes, Rakes, Spades, Etc.

BRIGHTEN UP

Get That Painting Out of the Way
Paints, Oils, Varnishes
Gypsin and Muresco Wall Finish
THE VERY BEST

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's

$50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes
to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and
well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own
one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clean-cut money-making opportunities ever revealed. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others,
our handsomely illustrated 200-page catalog
will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were plotting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving them the taking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory?
We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

THE VICTOR
SAFE & LOCK CO.
CINCINNATI, OHIO

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Sales Annually.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Hearing of Claims.

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.
In the matter of the estate of Mary R.
Wilkinson, deceased.
Notice is hereby given that six months from the 20th day of May, A. D. 1912, there shall be a hearing of the claims against the estate of said deceased, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said court, at the probate office, in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on or before the 20th day of December, A. D. 1912, and that said claims will be heard by said court on Monday the 20th day of December,
A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

Dated May 20th, A. D. 1912.

John M. Harbo,
Judge of Probate.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and
General Distributor of Building Supplies

ement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Comm on rick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and
Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
 CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
 DuBois & Usher, Proprietors
 A. J. USHER, Business Manager
 Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
 One copy, one year.....$1.00
 One copy, six months......75
 One copy, three months......40

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
 Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

Shearing the Sheep.
 Do not shear sheep very early, as a few hot days in May will not make them suffer as much with their wool as a few cold days and storms in June. About the 1st of June is a good time as warm weather will then be expected and the wool has risen from the skin, making it easy to shear. Some sheep will stand up on a hard floor and severely move, others have to be held like a calf, and still others struggle so they have to be held and laid down on a bench. One should be careful about clipping the hide, as that will make them struggle. At the time of shearing keep a sharp knife at hand and examine each foot. Most of them will have the hoof grown under. This should be pared off, as dirt will get under and make the foot sore. On stony land, however, this will not occur. Also have some good blue tar at hand with a soft swab put some up each nostril. They will not object to it, and it will set up a sneezing which is good for them.

The Draft Brood Mare.
 The brood mare to produce typical draft stock must herself be of draft type—that is, low down, wide, roomy, compact, strong in muscles, with good flat, clean, flinty bone—free from undue coarseness, especially good in legs, joints and feet, well set locks, reasonably long shoring pasterns and good, large, well shaped hoofs.

For common and fancy truck, live clay, blue lining see the Builders Supply Co., phone 5125.

Don't Wait

We place on sale to-morrow morning the most remarkable bargains yet offered.

- | | |
|-------------------|--------|
| Sneiders Catsup | 20c |
| 25c | |
| Sneider's Chilli | 20c |
| Sauce 25c | |
| Globe Milk | 45c |
| 6 cans | |
| Shaker Salt | 25c |
| 3 cans | |
| Corn, 12c | 25c |
| 3 cans | |
| Peas, 15c | 25c |
| 2 cans | |
| Cherries, sweet | 20c |
| Best Quality | |
| Plums, 25c | 20c |
| Large egg | |
| Olives, Ever Best | 20c |
| Best Quality | |
| Pickels, any kind | 20c |
| quart cans | |
| Queen Ann Soap | 25c |
| 7 bars | |
| Cal. Family Soap | 25c |
| 10 bars | |
| Matches | 25c |
| 7 boxes | |
| Prunes, A 1 | 25c |
| 2 1/2 pounds | |
| Superlative Flour | |
| Having a large | |
| quantity on hand | |
| will make the | |
| price | |
| per barrel | $6.30 |

With any of the above purchases amounting to $3.00 we will give 17 lbs. of Sugar for $1.00

CASH PRICES ONLY

The Corner Store

Out of the Bread Line

A Woman's Love Makes a Man a Wreck.

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912.

It had been a strange year for Jim Collins. He did not care to look back over the past twelve months. It was enough for him that during the period he had dropped from his plumbeous honest labor to the pitiful slave of a habit. A red-lump glowed down at the corner by Lillian's bakery—at its entrance to the alley that ran around the back door. As Jim went to ward it the saloons along the avenue were closing up, doors swung open and discharged quarrelsome groups of men, who scattered up and down the pavement, some of them making the midnight hideous with their raucous voices.

Jim Collins passed them and went on to the entrance to the alley. Here he joined a line of men which was silently forming in the dim alley—drifted from the city's troubled seas—who were waiting for the nightly dose of bread which Lillian's bakery gave to its poorer neighbors after the example of a greater philanthropist farther uptown.

Down at the entrance, near the red light, Jim Collins slowly followed the shortening line. He was impatient of the delay, for he was anxious to receive his bread and seek a certain bench in the square near by, where a maple tree formed an excellent shelter in a moderate rain. If he was delayed much longer the much to be desired bench would be pre-empted by some other contestant of the night.

In front of him a woman's form was vaguely outlined. A shawl was thrown

SHE TURNED A FURNISHED FACE TO HIS over her head and wrapped about her shoulders. As they drew within the window's radius of dim yellow light Jim could see her figure plainly.

Her slenderness reminded him of Kitty Lee—and the remembrance of Kitty brought a muffled oath to his lips. It was not pleasant to recollect that drink had not only cost him a good job, but had drifted him away from Kitty Lee into a moonstrum of dissipation. They had been engaged, and he had given her a ring with a cheap blue stone, but she had blushed so beautifully as she bent and lightly kissed the token of their betrothal. Then he had been light hearted enough to do that?—had also leaned down and kissed the ring and then kissed his sweetheart's lips. He growled heartily as a pain smote his heart.

The woman moved ahead and he followed. It was her turn at the window, and she stretched out a thin, pallid hand for the coveted loaf of bread. On her hand glimmered a ring with a blue stone.

When Jim Collins had received his loaf he turned and hastened after the woman. Almost at the entrance to the street he caught up with her and laid his hand on her arm.

"Kitty," he said earnestly. "She turned a frightened face to his, a face once pretty, now worn by privation into thin, sharp lines.

"Jim—Jim Collins—what do you want?" She drew away from him and lambed the bread under her shawl.

"What's the matter? What are you doing here?" he demanded huskily. "I might ask you that question—if I didn't know," she flared in weak defiance.

"You tell me what you're doing here," he insisted authoritatively. "I'm hungry," she half sobbed. "I ain't had any work for five weeks—and I can't get none. I couldn't have kept my room if Mrs. O'Brien hadn't waited for the rent."

There was a long silence as they passed down the empty street. At last Jim spoke gruffly:

"If there's any homes, you want call me or any mean things you want say about the way I've moved—you can say 'em now you won't have no reason to offer this." He shook his broad shoulder defiantly.

broke. "And if I should hurt myself—if I should be whiped right off this here earth, where I've acted like a fool—would anybody have a cure?" Jim's voice was bitter with self contempt.

"Oh, Jim—Jim!" quavered Kitty's voice weakly. "You know I'd cure—don't be a coward."

"I wasn't going to do anything desperate—except get a job and go to work, like I should have done a year ago. I can get a job tomorrow morning driving a truck for Sullivan, and it's $9 a week. Of course that ain't as much as I was earning when—when—I put that ring on your finger." His voice ended in a strange shivering note, as if he was going to break down and cry.

Her thin hand sought his and found it. "You've got good stuff in you, Jim. If you could only let drink alone," she said wistfully.

"I'm going to have a big hard try at it, Kitty," he said solemnly. "I'm not going to get up and swear all sorts of promises and break half of 'em—but I'm going to try—try—try hard to break off and maybe!" he hesitated and turned his head aside.

"Maybe what?" she whispered.

"Maybe you might sort of pray a little now and then—you know that helps along some and I'll try a lot."

Kitty uttered the ghost of her old merry laugh. "All right, Jim—boy—you do the trying and slip a prayer in now and then yourself—two won't do any hurt! I'll pray night and day for your successful trying."

"If I don't come out all right—it will be because I ain't dead," averred Jim firmly. "I wonder if I got the right to ask you a question, Kitty?" he asked humbly.

"Most anybody can ask a question," she evaded.

"But this one you might think was none of my business, and yet it is too."

"I guess you won't ask anything I don't want to answer," said Kitty, with a return of her old assurance. "I was wondering," said Jim slowly, "why you was wearing that ring on your left hand. I saw it and recognized you when you took the loaf of bread. If you wanted to shake me altogether and thought I was no good you could have shook the ring altogether instead of changing it to the other hand."

There was a little silence before Kitty answered: "It wasn't for any reason you thought, Jim; it was only because my finger got so thin it wouldn't stay on. You know I never sent you away, but you did frighten me some when you was—was"—Poor Kitty sought for a kinder word to frame the unpleasant truth.

"When I was just plain drunk," he blurted Jim bitterly. "Don't try to soften it, Kitty, dear. It'll do me good to hear it. Now, I'm going to leave you here, and I'll get some money from Sullivan tomorrow night, and I'll bring you the pay at the end of the week. Maybe some day—oh, there isn't any use in my looking ahead—I got to prove myself first," he ended.

"You meant some day, when you've got luck on your feet again and have got a little money laid by and have proved that you can stay straight—you mean that maybe our hands will be published in St. Joseph's?" Kitty's voice was wonderfully tender as she asked the question, and Jim's face was radiant with happiness as he replied:

"God bless you, Kitty! Yes!" he choked—"after I've restored your faith in me you can tell me and I'll go to Father Cahill and have him put up the banns. It'll be the happiest day of my life."

At 7 o'clock the next morning Jim Collins climbed up to his seat on a high red truck and slipped the reins over the backs of a pair of heavy grays. He had spent the remainder of the night in a doorway. He was cold and hungry, but there was something new stirred within him—something greater than the love with which he had won pretty Kitty Lee; it was a greater love for her and he forgot everything save her pale and tired face.

"Ain't I the mean dog to let her go to the bread line?" he asked himself acingly as he started forth after his first loaf.

It was a long and a hard day. Big hearted Sullivan had respected Jim's desire to do better and had insisted on the young man's eating a hearty meal at noon, and at night he paid him for the day's work. "I'll pay you every night till you get started," he promised, and Jim was grateful.

His greatest joy came when he carried the dollar and fifty cents to Kitty that evening. "Jim," she said, placing her hand on his arm, but not looking into his face; "Jim, you can't guess what I've done today—I hope you won't be mad at me."

"You haven't got a job—you ain't fit to work, Kitty, and I forbid it," he said rapidly.

"No—only, I went to Father Cahill today and told him to put up our banns next Sunday," said Kitty quietly, though he could see that she was crying.

"Why—Kitty—why—you ain't going to marry me before I make good, are you?" he cried incredulously.

"I got that much faith in you, Jim Collins," she said solemnly. "I'm going to marry you and stick by you and we'll work up together. I ain't got to wash all you ugly good—because I know you're good."

Jim took her in his strong arms. "Kitty Lee, there ain't no other woman in this world you'd love better than I do!" he said earnestly.

"Jim Collins, I ain't got no more faith in you than I got in the world that's full of sinners and liars."

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

This Store is the Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 15¢ first insertion.

FOR SALE—House, barn and two lots on Lewis street. Enquire at the premises. 20 Lewis street. 204 pt.

FOR SALE—30 acres north-east of Charlevoix. 10 acres cleared, fully well improved. Call or write to W. Mahoney, P. O. box 133. 204 pt.

WANTED—A free agent to sell the best and best on the market. A mail box is necessary before the establishment of Free Delivery Service. Make $100 to $500 daily. Write quick for catalog and particulars. Sample box prepaid $1.25. Address: Home Supply Co., Joliet, Illinois. Room 25, Young Bldg. 204 pt.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of County Clerk, at the August primaries, and if nominated and elected, I will do my best to serve the public in said office. I also wish to thank the electors of Charlevoix county for the support they have given me in the past, and will appreciate your support at this time. 204 adv. RICHARD LEWIS

To the Electors.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated. 204 adv. W. W. Boyle, St. James.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to merit your approval your support will be appreciated. 204 adv. ROMEO A. ENRIE.

Notice.

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the primary election to be held August 27th. 204 adv. DANIEL S. PAYTON

Expert business repairing is our specialty at the right price. Frank Chamberlain. 204 pt.

Lytle's Couriers in west springs.

One pleasant thing about our business is the satisfaction we get from the satisfaction we give. Our customers go away satisfied; if the satisfaction doesn't last we want them to come back and tell us so.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

clothes satisfy; in style, in all wool fabrics, in fine tailoring, in fit, and in price.

Suits $18 Up

The Coming of Summer

which means that weather reminds us that to properly care for our food and beverages will require a perfect refrigerator.

Have You A Satisfactory Refrigerator?

If you want to show your the famous Leonard Line. We have them in zinc and porcelain lined. Don't fail to see them before buying at

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

Dr. A. B. Spinney will be at

BAKER'S INN, Charlevoix, FRIDAY, JUNE 14

From 9:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m.

Dr. A. B. Spinney of Detroit, a specialist of 53 years' experience in treating chronic diseases, will give FREE CONSULTATION.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Father's Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE. I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter of how long standing. I CURE ITES—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.

I CURE ITES in 30 days to stay cured and to never return. I CURE CONSUMPTION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. These I cannot treat at home by sending my mail. I will take to my Sanatorium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, cocaine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home. Any unfortunate girl given up of care. May work out for—Call and see me or write to either Sanatorium at $100. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once. I advise which course you should take to get your health back. Write today. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.

Building Sanatorium & Retreat, Building, Mich., or Synona Sanatorium, Synona, Wis.

New Real Estate Office.

I believe Charlevoix is about to grow more rapidly than at any time in its history. I feel so certain of that I am going to open a branch real estate office here at once. My office in Boyne City is doing good business and will be continued. I will have a good assistant in the Charlevoix office as well as in Boyne City and will be in each city certain days of each week.

Twelve years ago I "had a hunch" that Boyne City was going to grow. We all pulled together and made it grow. We can do the same thing here. My faith was rewarded far beyond my expectations. I believe it is Charlevoix's turn to grow, and that a big, healthy and rapid growth is certain.

It is bound to grow. You can't stop it if you would. And if the people pull together here as I understand they do, that will make it grow twice as fast.

If you have some real estate in or near Charlevoix for sale at a bargain price I will be glad to have you tell me about it. I know of several families who contemplate buying in this city and vicinity.

If you want to buy real estate I will be glad to surprise you with some of the bargains I have already listed. Perhaps one of them is what you have been looking for but did not know it was for sale.

This week I offer a business block renting for $40.00 a month in exchange for a good farm worth $3,500.00.

Also a blacksmith shop, including tools, building, etc., worth $1,200.00 for a small farm of equal value.

SEE I. B. McLEAN ABOUT IT

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A. J. Usher has been ill the past two days.

Edith Schapler of Petoskey, spent Sunday in the city.

Postmaster Chase of Norwood was in the city Saturday.

Roy Lorraine of East Jordan was in the city Saturday.

County Treasurer Lewis was in East Jordan Thursday.

Emery Nyman spent Sunday with his parents at Petoskey.

Miss Zona Adams spent Sunday with friends at Petoskey.

Mrs. L. M. DeVoe made a brief visit to Petoskey last week.

Mrs. Henry Cooper visited relatives at Boyne City Sunday.

Treasurer Bashaw of East Jordan was in the city Thursday.

Born to Fred Simineau and wife Saturday evening, a baby girl.

W. J. Clark of Harbor Springs made an auto trip here Sunday.

The Bon Ami club made an auto trip to Petoskey Sunday evening.

Wm. C. Upthegrove, of Elk Rapids is making a short stay in the city.

J. L. Sebring and family of Kalamazoo, have arrived for the summer.

Miss Miller spent Sunday in the city, returning to Petoskey Monday.

Mrs. E. E. Pugh returned from her visit at Frankfort and Maunice.

D. C. Loveday, of East Jordan made a business call here Saturday.

Mrs. Z. A. Young has returned home from a short visit at Central Lake.

John Mortimer, of Boyne City, is working for Robert Bonthron this week.

George Gladys opened an ice-cream parlor in East Jordan last week.

Mrs. George Bacot was at the Saville sanitarium at Petoskey last week.

Misses Helen and Dorothy Armstrong left Friday for a visit in New York.

A class of nine will graduate from the East Jordan High School this year.

W. E. Parmelee and family left Friday for a short visit at Grand Rapids.

Earl Lynn left Monday for St. Louis, Mo., where he will join his parents.

Eugene Byers and wife of Atwood, spent Sunday with Emmet Cowler and wife.

I. B. McLean of Boyne City, made a short business call here last Thursday.

Mrs. Bert Beaudoin and son Lisle, left yesterday for a short visit at Bay View.

Arba Cameron and family have arrived in the city to make a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Fred Slight has returned from her two week's visit in southern Michigan.

Mrs. D. H. Francis of Boyne City, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Minnie Preston.

Mrs. Laura Donaldson is ill this week, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Campbell.

John Cheney of the S. B. & A. Co., Traverse City, was here the latter part of the week.

Manager Follet, of the Chicago Club, arrived in the city the latter part of the week.

Miss Esther Roland went to Traverse City Friday for a few days' visit with relatives.

Miss Gladys Smith of Petoskey, visited her sister, Mrs. Raymond Brockway last week.

Mrs. G. W. Priest returned from Petoskey Saturday, where she had been since Thursday.

The M. A. C. will graduate the largest class in the history of the institution this year.

Mrs. H. Brotherton of Petoskey accompanied the body of Mrs. James McGeough to this city.

Miss Isabelle Knight of Central Lake, is visiting friends and relatives here this week.

W. D. C. Germaine returned to Traverse City Saturday, after paying a visit to St. James.

Miss Mary E. Clark is now located at Norwood for the summer, with G. N. VanPelt and family.

Christopher Bailey and wife, have returned to their home in this city after an extended absence.

Paul Purdy of Boston, Mass., has accepted a position for the summer in Emery's clothing store.

Mrs. G. S. Fredericksen, of Chicago, is visiting at the home of her brother, Dr. W. R. Barney.

Meyer Levinson and wife are in Petoskey today on a brief visit.

Mrs. Jennie Watson, of Frankfort, is in the city on business today.

Miss Madeline Mullen left Tuesday night for a short visit at Chicago.

Ben Brown is attending the Merchants' association at Grand Rapids this week.

Born to Hugh King and wife at Ironton, Monday, a nine pound baby boy.

Mrs. O. W. Dreese of Alanson, is in the city attending the L. O. T. M. M. meeting.

Ed Emory and son Willie of Ogdensburg made a business trip here last week.

Gulo Hines has returned home from his two weeks' business visit at Grand Rapids.

Capt. Wm. Finucan left this morning to get the Manitowish in readiness for the coming season.

Roy Marshall and family are making a visit at the home of his father Henry Marshall.

Mrs. Arthur Cohen left for her home at Jackson this morning after a two week's visit here.

Joseph L. Graham of Chicago attended the burial of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Graham, Friday.

Judge Mayne and family have moved into the Bentley cottage recently bought by Mrs. Mayne.

John Taylor, of Newberry, has been making a short visit with his parents, George Taylor and wife.

Miss Flora Caldwell of Traverse City, has been visiting the past week with H. Bedford and family.

Mrs. S. A. Compton and daughters Lillian and Della, left last week for their summer cottage at Bay View.

Mrs. Wm. Bennett and daughter, Miss Carrie of Glen Haven, are visiting at the home of Ward Bennett.

Miss Kathryn Lapeer has resumed her duties at M. A. Levinson & Co.'s store, after a two-week's illness.

Mrs. and Mrs. Sherman Castle of Petoskey, were guests at the home of Adam Pfister and family last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barney, of Charlotte, are visiting at the home of their son and family, Dr. W. R. Barney.

Miss Pearl Neil, who trimmed the past season for Mrs. Atchison, has returned to her home at Grant, Michigan.

Mrs. Louis Mercier returned home Monday from Petoskey, where she has been taking treatments the past two weeks.

Miss Lillian Emrey arrived home Saturday from Howard City, Michigan, where she acted as milliner the past season.

George Hollencheck, of Norwood, is the new clerk for the summer months at Bert Beaudoin's confectionery store.

Mrs. John L. Mills has returned to her home at Kalamazoo, after visiting at the home of her parents, M. Lapeer and wife.

The teachers who are to teach here next year entertained those who are not coming back, at a beach party Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Alden Chamberlain arrived home the latter part of the week after spending the winter in the southern part of the state.

W. H. Jarman, formerly of Evening, who has been connected with the Buckley Enterprise, has purchased the Copenish Progress.

Clarence Bridge arrived home this morning from Schenectady, N. Y., where he has been taking up the electrical engineering course.

Mrs. Agnes Moore of Cheboygan and Mrs. Minnie Burgess of Chicago were called here last week for the burial of their mother Mrs. Graham.

The base-ball game which took place last Sunday between the city team and Boyne City Independents was won by the home team, score 7-11.

Mrs. MacLarg, and two little grandsons who are spending the summer at Halstead's Landing on Pine Lake, were in the city, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Blanchard returned to their home at Chicago Monday, after a week's visit with their daughter, Mrs. Orton Van Dusen.

The Grand Lodge of Michigan, at their annual session held recently in Detroit, increased the per capita tax for the benefit of the Masonic home at Alma from twenty to forty cents.

A school of local deputies of the L. O. T. M. M. is being held at the Elston today. East Jordan, Petoskey, Central Lake, Harbor Springs, Alanson and this city are represented.

Richard Crane, a pioneer resident of Boyne City, passed away Monday in his home after a short illness. Mr. Crane was a brother-in-law of Henry Cooper of this city.

The remains of Ralph Knox, brother of Mrs. A. A. Swinton, of this city, were brought here Saturday from New York. Brief services were held at the train, burial immediately taking place in Brookside cemetery.

The state of Michigan has sold 2,300,000 pounds of binder twine this season, which is somewhat in excess of sales last year at the same time, last year's sales being 2,225,000 pounds.

The annual value of poultry and eggs sold is more than that of the silver, gold and pig iron produced. The annual import of eggs in England approximates 100,000,000 dozen and into the United States 17,000,000 dozen.

Last Sunday a party consisting of Misses Winnie Weaver and Kathryn Deibel, and Messrs. George Finucan and Nelson Rose, enjoyed the pleasant day as it was, by cruising to Boyne City on a motor boat. They report a fine time, the scenery being beautiful.

Chief of Fire department, Marshall, returned home Saturday morning from attending the State Firemen's convention at Kalamazoo and a visit to the fire departments of Battle Creek, Jackson, Grand Rapids and other points.

Mrs. Amy Hart Campbell and little son, Lee Loren, arrived last week from West Liberty, Iowa, to spend the summer with A. L. Hart and family. They were accompanied by Miss Charlotte Docken, then who will also remain here during the summer.

The Titus and Potes' meat market at this place has been purchased by a firm which will be known as the D. Norman MacDonald Co., and be conducted in the future by said company. Norman is at present located at Charlevoix, but will return here as soon as he can be released from his position at that place.—Kalamazoo Leader.

The remains of Mrs. Walter Smith were brought here last Friday by her husband from Canon City, Colorado, services taking place at their home on Sunday, being conducted by Rev. Stevens, of Harbor Bay. Mrs. Smith was formerly Mrs. Myrtle Hamlin, daughter of Leroy Hamlin, of Hayes. Besides the husband, she leaves three small who will mourn her loss.

Work will begin next Monday on the extension of the Boyne City Gaylord & Alpena railway, east from Gaylord. It is the plan of the White interests to reach their large timber holdings in that section so as to bring the logs here to be converted into timber, thus greatly benefiting the industrial conditions here by prolonging the cut each year as long as the great supply there lasts.—Boyne City Journal.

The work on the Dixon avenue paving is rapidly developing and at present the work has reached the Chicago Club entrance. The vast amount of cement work in front of the hotel, forming drives and parks is finished and affords excellent drives and beautiful resting places as well as a picturesque splendor in its design. A large force of men are at work on the project and are rapidly crowding nearer the end of the goal.

Misses Helen and Dorothy Armstrong arrived in New York city Sunday a main company with the Misses Travis. They are now at "The Olympia" a well known Hygienic Institute of Prof. Wm. Muldoon, one time world famous athlete and at present one of the leading authorities in the U. S. on physical culture and health. It is located in a picturesque spot overlooking the Hudson, not far from Long Island sound, a half hour's ride from the city.

A fishing party consisting of Ben Jesselson and Roy Carlson, Chicago; K. Lewis, O. D. Hammond, Lou Haushew, D. E. Meach, Olin Nordrum, A. Algeox, Joe Cooper, Mr. Fanning, William Rowan, Geo. Stafford, Amos Webster, Colonel Hamilton, Silas Swails, Ed Gallagher and Roy Ripley enjoyed a trip up the north shore leaving here Friday and returning Sunday evening. On the return trip they stopped at Beaver Island and added one to their number, the new member being "Bowery Bill" Gallagher.

Trunks, suit cases, harness of all kinds at the Chamberlain's harness shop.

She Was in a Hurry.

"Can you not wait on me immediately?" demanded the richly dressed lady.

"I'm in a great hurry."

"Yes; let me have your prescription."

said the harassed druggist.

"I have no prescription. I want you to look up a number for me in the telephone book."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Centen blocks for the cellar and other improvements—the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co.

A Female King.

Hatshepsut, Egyptian queen, in 1583 B. C. assumed male attire and the style and title of king.

We do Fine Job Printing

CRANE'S

We are pleased to offer you the following special values in house furnishings for the Summer Season of 1912

We offer you these with the knowledge that the Qualities are Right and the Prices very Low.

18x34 Linen Union Huck Towel, dozen	$1.25
Right weight and size for Hotel and Domestic Use 19x42 Heavy Turkish Bath Towels	$1.50
per dozen
25x44 Extra heavy Turkish Towels	$2.75
per dozen
72x90 Medium-weight Bed Sheets	$5.50
per dozen
63x90 Extra quality Bed Sheets	$6.50
per dozen
72x90 Extra quality Bed Sheets	$7.50
per dozen
81x90 Extra quality Bed Sheets	$8.00
per dozen
42x36 Medium weight Pillow Cases	$1.40
per dozen
45x36 Medium weight Pillow Cases	$1.50
per dozen
42x36 Extra quality Pillow Cases	$2.00
per dozen
45x36 Extra quality Pillow Cases	$2.20
per dozen
56x84 Full bleached crochet Bed	$1.00
Spreads, each
72x87 Full bleached crochet Bed	$1.00
Spreads, each

The two spreads above mentioned are just the right size for full size and three quarter beds and the right weight for easy laundering.

We have other grades at $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50

45x76 Cotton fleeced bed Blankets per pair 50c

Grey, Tan and White, for Three-quarter Beds

64x76 Cotton fleeced bed Blankets, $1.00

German finish, pair

Grey, Tan and White for Full Sized Beds

We also carry a full line of Feather Pillows, ranging from 39c to $3

We would be pleased to show you these special values in house-furnishings at any time

Just Received a new line of

Trunks and Suit Cases

—All kinds of—

Light and Double Harness and Truck Harness

Excellent Quality

Reasonable Prices

All Kinds of Repairing Work Guaranteed

Frank Chamberlin

Something New

Have you seen these beautiful goods in Ivory Finish?

Jewel Boxes Hair Receivers
Powder Boxes Elegant for Gifts
Headquarters for Souvenir Spoons

C. R. BELLINGER
Pioneer Jeweler

Don't forget our Saturday Sale
on Meats

Come in and be convinced that we can save you money. Try some of our cooked meats such as

Pickled Heart and Tongue
Pickled Pigs' Feet
Liver Sausage
Pork Sausage
Bologna and Frankfurts

— All Home Made —

The Market on the Corner
Bert VanAllsburg
Corner State and Antrim Streets
Phone 125

Home Course In Road Making

XL.—The Relation of Automobiles to Modern Highways.

By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department
of Agriculture.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912.

THE most complex problem now engaging the attention of highway engineers all over the world is the preservation of the crushed stone road under the destructive action of motor vehicles and the devising of new methods of construction adapted to the requirements of this twentieth century traffic. That the automobile has come to stay no one will dispute. It is estimated that there are already about 450,000 machines owned in the United States, and the number is increasing at a marvelous rate.

AN OILED MACADAM ROAD WITH MACHINE TRAVELING SIXTY MILES PER HOUR—NO DUST.

The fact that must give us concern is that the old methods of construction which have stood every test for more than 100 years are inadequate to meet the conditions of this new form of traffic and that we are in the midst of a transition period which must eventually revolutionize the science and art of the road builder. The highway engineer of today is called upon to answer the question: What way will the automobile travel on a road, what is the exact cause of wear, and finally to devise an adequate remedy.

When Tresaguet, the great French engineer, made his report to the committee of bridges and roads in 1775 he set forth the principles of construction which, as modified and added to by John L. Macadam in the early part of the nineteenth century, have proved adequate until the twentieth century. These great road builders and their successors sought to secure a road capable of withstanding the wear of iron-tired horse-drawn vehicles, for the motor-driven vehicles had no place in their philosophy. They worked upon the theory that the dust abraded from the crushed stone would fill the voids between the angular fragments and when wet serve as a cement, thereby making the road surface practically a monolith. The iron-tired horses and the iron-tired wheels passing over the road from time to time were dependent upon to wear off a sufficient amount of rock dust to replace that carried away by wind and water, and this under the action of moisture re-cemented, thereby automatically renewing the bond of the road surface.

The rubber-tired wheels, moving at excessive speed, fail to produce any new dust from the rock, but the tremendous shearing effect of the driving wheels loosens this dust, and as the body of the machine displaces a large volume of air the deflected currents carry the rock dust off the road, thereby effecting a permanent loss of the all-essential binder. It follows that the road is soon stripped of its due binding material, exposing the upper or wearing course of the stone. These stones, robbed of the binding material, are soon loosened by the shear of the driving wheels, leaving the road badly raveled or disintegrated. It is, of course, apparent that the effects described are greatly intensified on curves, where skidding is most frequent.

Highway and mechanical engineers have agreed that the action of the automobile on the road surface is a complex phenomenon. Theories have been advanced. While it is true that the drag of the tire, skidding, shape of the car body, suction of the pneumatic tires, all contribute to produce the effect, the most conclusive experiments seem to warrant the assertion that the great tractive force or shear exerted by the driving wheels of motorcars is the main factor of injury.

A series of tests conducted by the United States office of public roads in 1908 produced some interesting results along this line. Cars of various weights and types were run over a measured course at different rates of speed and right-angle photographs taken of each run. A sixty-horsepower car stripped for racing, weighing with its driver and mechanism about 2,800 pounds, was driven over this stretch of road at rates of speed varying from five to sixty miles per hour; the speed being increased five miles per hour for each trip over the road. Up to fifteen miles an hour little or no effect was produced on the road, but from twenty miles an hour the effect was striking with each increase in speed. These demonstrations proved that little or no effect is produced by the front wheels and that practically the entire disturbance of the road is produced by the rear or driving wheels. If the effect were produced by suction or vacuum the action of both front and rear wheels should be somewhat similar at least. It seems apparent to the writer, therefore, that the road best adapted to motor traffic is the road which will best resist this powerful tractive shear. It has already been demonstrated that no plain macadam road is capable of resisting this force.

The efforts of progressive highway engineers are thus directed primarily toward the preservation of our stone surfaced roads and the construction of dustless roads by the use of a binder more powerful than stone dust and, secondly, to minimizing or mitigating the dust nuisance.

For the purpose of disseminating intelligently the experiments thus far conducted with special binders (the term "dust preventives" has been applied to all of the various binders having for their main object either suppression or the prevention of dust. These may be divided into two classes, temporary and permanent. The temporary binders serve merely as palliatives and require frequent renewal. The permanent binders, so called, enter into the structure of the road as a constituent element and are either incorporated with the other materials at the time of the construction or applied later by a surface treatment.

In the class of temporary binders may be included water, salt solutions, light oils and tars and oil and tar emulsions, waste sulphur fumes, etc., while the permanent binders include the heavy petroleum oils and tars, pitches and numerous oil, tar and asphalt preparations. The value of salt solutions, which have been used to some extent, lies in the hygroscopic character of the dissolved salt, which, having considerable affinity for water, keeps the road surface in a moist condition long after a surface treated with water alone would have become dry through evaporation.

The light oils and tars as well as the oil and tar emulsions depend for their effect upon a comparatively small amount of true binding base left upon the road surface after the volatile products have evaporated. These materials prove effective only so long as they retain their binding power. When the binding power is destroyed it is necessary to apply more material.

The heavy oils and tars differ from the lighter products in that they contain a much greater amount of true binding base. The results are, therefore, of a more lasting character and hence the name "permanent binders." The semisolid and solid preparations usually contain a still greater amount of binder. With some few exceptions all of the true binders are bitumens.

The usual method of applying these materials to the road surface is by spraying. The temporary binders can usually be applied cold, but the permanent binders because of their much greater viscosity must be heated until sufficiently fluid. In England and France the use of coal tar is permitted to a large extent, and their methods of application have been highly developed. Machines are in general use which are self-propelled and in which the tar is heated and applied to the road surface as a spray under high pressure. These so-called "tar sprayers" are not only very economical in the use of tar, but insure a more even distribution and better penetration of the road surface than it is possible to obtain in almost any other way.

In the construction of dustless roads the crucial question is that of cost. The effort must be to develop a form of construction which will withstand fast automobile traffic and at the same time be within the financial resources of the community. This is largely being done at present by the use of a bituminous binder instead of rock dust. The two methods generally employed are known as the penetration and the mixing methods. In the former the bituminous binder is sprayed over the stone and allowed to penetrate through the voids and coat the stones usually to a depth of two or three inches. In the mixing method the stones and binder are thoroughly mixed either by hand or machine, so that each stone is covered with a thin film of the binder. This method in general insures the better and more even distribution of the binder throughout the road surface, but the cost is greater than that of the penetration method.

AN UNOILED ROAD WITH MACHINE TRAVELING SIXTY MILES AN HOUR—PLENTY OF DUST.

One of the chief causes of the great number of failures which have been recorded in the use of bituminous road materials is the failure of the user as well as manufacturer to understand certain fundamental principles. To many it is a matter of fact and an oil and tar, while a sticky substance, is a vast difference in quality as seen in the tar products of different sources. The oils also range from those of a paraffin base to those of a asphaltum base. Specifications for the bituminous material should be based on these facts.

The temperature of a surface, when it is extraordinary high, no less than 100 degrees F.

WEANING THE SPRING CALVES.

Several of the most deadly calf ills originate in infections of the navel before it heals. The utmost cleanliness at calving time, coupled with disinfection, is therefore necessary, says a correspondent of Iowa Homestead. The calf should be received on clean straw and the navel string, after being tied with cord that has been thoroughly saturated with disinfectant, should also be covered with disinfectant. When the calf is taken away at once, as is the practice in some dairies, it should be rubbed thoroughly until it is quite dry, with its blood circulating vigorously. Care should be taken to see that the navel is free from manure and the mouth should be cleared of mucus if necessary. Most farmers leave the calf with the cow till at least it has been loked dry. Keep the cow on hay, but sufficient diet, let her be free to take exercise and be careful that the towels are free.

The first feed given to the calf is the milk of its own dam or of a cow that calved the same day. The first milk is quite different from ordinary milk.

Photo by University of Wisconsin.

The Jersey is the most refined in type of all cattle. The line of the legs is fine and compact, like that of a highly bred carriage horse. The head is fine, with a dished face and large, prominent eyes. The jaws are free from flesh, and the whole head has a thoroughbred appearance which appeals to the lover of the beautiful in animals. The neck is long and thin, and the withers are thin at the setting on of the neck. The back is generally straight, and the hips are very broad in proportion to the rest of the body. The tail is set on well up and very generally ends with a heavy switch. These general characteristics, combined with the ability to give the richest milk, makes the Jersey the ideal family cow. The Jersey cow shown herewith is Double Time, owned by the University of Wisconsin. She has a record of 1,529 pounds of milk containing 69 pounds of butter fat.

and is nature's special provision for the calf. If the cow should die in calving, which is sometimes the case, an efficient substitute of first milk can be made by beating up a raw egg in half a pint of milk. For the first week the calf should get the milk of its dam. For although some dairymen think that after the fifth milking the milk is fit for dairy purposes, the milk is often not absolutely normal for five or six days after calving. The best test of fitness is to boil the milk. If it will boil without curdling it is fit for dairy purposes; otherwise it is not.

Many dairymen put the calf on skim milk within two or three weeks, but my personal choice is to feed whole milk until the calf is a month old. When the change is made it ought to be gradual with each increase of separated milk, a corresponding quantity of new milk being withdrawn. With the first introduction of separated milk some addition must be made to the feed to compensate for the cream that is withdrawn. The food most commonly used is flaked oil meal, which may be boiled or steamed and added to the separate milk, commencing with a tablespoonful or so and working up to half a pound a day by the time the new milk is withdrawn entirely. Two parts each of oatmeal and cornmeal boiled together with one part of flaked meal will also prove effective.

BUILDING THE IDEAL VILLAGE.

Woman Describes a Town That Would Appeal to One's Fancy.

THE MARKET A BIG FEATURE.

It Should Be Built in Center of the Town and Should Carry a Supply of Good Substantial Foods—School and Clubhouse Necessary.

Mrs. Mary Patterson, former president of the New Jersey Woman's Federated Clubs, once described the ideal village as follows:

"Let us take an imaginary journey," she said, "to a slightly elevated spot somewhere amid a beautiful ideal village or town. Let there be a clean, well-swept greenward shaded with trees and cut with winding roads, a few hills and a cool, picturesque valley to one side, through which a clear, happy river net curls its way untroubled with sewage and disease-carrying insects and unspooled by the dumps of refuse usually deposited along such banks. Let us see there lush green grass, flowers and birds."

"On one of these hills near by we find a roomy schoolhouse, than which nothing better is known, where the children are being educated in the real things of life, in common sense and in industrial and organic matters, with no danger of forced mentalities.

"Here we find usefulness with beauty of method. As a result horse or coarse play and disrespect are unknown. In individual and careful thinking are encouraged, and appreciation is developed, with a plan of manner and the cultivation of the healthiest bodies."

"In the center of the town, near a few choice shops and offices, we find an airy and well built market where only the best and purest foods can be bought, not necessarily luxuries, but the substantial varieties that make blood and muscle strong and of good quality, a place where it is not sufficient to simply label the contents of packages, but where it is necessary to tell which beefsteak has had its fat extracted, what pea and fowl have been embalmed, what animals died of disease and what fruit has had its natural fermentation stopped by the use of preservatives."

"It is, in fact, a place to buy food where one is not in danger of one's life or, worse, one's health at every turn."

"Let us perhaps build two churches in our beautiful village, although that may be one too many, but let there be one opening the gate of heaven through the intellectual door or under the portal of the undermind where reason reigns and science prevails. Then a little farther on let us find another, bracing and on earth through the aid of the emotions, with the heart as the bridge and the senses trained to love. Let them both be beautiful, but let us go first to one and then the other till in the future they unite."

"Our community is made up of homes, cheerful, normal, happy homes. Individual in expression, cooperative in unselfishness and loyalty in design where the atmosphere is the guiding element, where nothing is held that gives more trouble than worth, where harmony, health and happiness leave not a crumb for hell to pick through."

"And now a little walk to the right, and opposite the park we are led to the village clubhouse, a fine pleasure edifice equipped for all ages. It is a place where play and gymnastics are supervised, a place for games of all sorts, with rooms for music, art, dancing, etc., and for that foolish frivolity without which society would lose its charm."

"May we keep our hand to the wheel and help to usher in the new village home, if not in detail, at least in essence—a home where one might free the spirit by just living, where doctors and lawyers are the minimum in number and teachers are the maximum, a place where only health is known and where the whole air thrills with life."

POINTERS FROM THE TURKEY DOCTOR.

Large gabbies do not insure large stock, for size comes from big hens but nothing very heavy mates often results in injured hens. When hens are rigged down the side pluck feathers around wound, bathe with hydrogen peroxide, sew up with white silk, tying each stitch separately, and pen a quiet alone.

Such injury nearly always results in soft shelled eggs, and the victim is on the shelf for the season.

When turkeys get that sleepy disease that is attended with great thirst, fever and yellow diarrhea and often with distended, sour crop it is nearly always a case of overfeeding or feeding indigestibles. Feeding on filthy ground, green corn, excess cabbage, frozen vegetables or frozen or sour mash frequently brings results.

Ten drops of turpentine in two ounces of milk three nights in succession is a good remedy for adult turkeys.

When turkeys refuse to eat it is not always a case of indigestion. The bird's mouth and throat may be covered with canker patches, the yellow topped sores causing pain and later feeding with feeding and even with breathing. Place the patient in comfortable quarters, gently remove canker, apply hydrogen peroxide to raw surfaces and serve a moist milk mash.

When long, turkeys often exhibit symptoms of various diseases at the same time, and a wrong diagnosis may be made. It is wise, therefore, to look for the when turkeys appear sick. Turkey flu especially listless the head, neck, throat, wing quills, thighs and huff, and pure Persian based powder dusted into feathers to skin is their balm.

GARDEN SEED SOWING.

Hard to Find Man Who Can Perform Operations Properly.

Among the different gardening operations there is none more difficult than seed sowing. To get a man who can properly sow both broadcast and with hand drill all the various seeds is almost a hopeless task. The subject needs close study to avoid heavy losses, which may come either way by over or under-sowing or by entire failure. Some operators would make us believe that the time for broadcast sowing is just absolutely. Such is not the case. There are times and subjects when broadcast sowing is very successful. The reason for this is very plain upon investigation. Broadcast seed is covered at varying depths, so that under almost all conditions a stand is obtained. If the weather turns wet after seeding those seeds nearest the surface will sprout; if dry the deeply buried ones will have their chance, while if the drill method they are all uniformly covered, hence if the weather turns unfavorable for the depth at which they were sown the whole lot may be a failure. Old market gardeners know, from experience that it is easier to get a stand of lettuce, spinach, milch or turnip by broadcast sowing than by drilling; hence the method is still in use. We do not like broadcast sowing, but admit its uses, says the Gardener.

Ford Cars Are Winners

More than one hundred thousand Ford Cars are in use today. More than four thousand individual Ford dealers are scattered over the entire United States and Canada today. I have taken the exclusive agency for Charlevoix and vicinity and solicit your business. If you are in the market for a car, I want to talk with you before you buy. Look at this

Ford Model "T" Four Door Touring Car

5 Passenger—4 Cylinder—20 Horse Power Car

Price: $690

Includes Extension Top, Automatic Brass Wind Shield, Speedometer, 2 six inch Gas Lamps, Generator, 3 Oil Lamps, Horn, Tools

WHERE CAN YOU DO BETTER

Ford Model Five is not a cheap car—it is the highest priced car in the world, none excepted. Yet, I am able to sell it at the lowest price. You are asked so buy a Ford for what it will do, based upon what it has done. Let me talk with you before you buy.

Theodore Erickson
Local Agent

No-Sag Screen Doors

Why buy the ordinary screen door when you can buy the No-Sag Door, which we guarantee will not sag out of shape, and will gladly replace any No-Sag Door which proves defective.

PRICES

$1.25 to $2.50

A full line of wood and metal extension window screens. Let us figure with you on the necessities.

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

To operate seed drills successfully requires close attention. Where a very thin stand is desired and a drill set very close it will be found that after some time the machine has actually sifted the seeds by allowing the small ones to pass and rejecting the large ones and thereby reducing the stand for the last one-half. Some machines will not stand close regulation at all as they choke up unless the flow is increased. When this is the case the only way out is to proceed rapidly, thereby reducing the time for the seed to roll out. Where land is too rough for any work such machines as have a two piece cover can often be made to work by removing one side of the covering device, thus allowing seeds to pass. Another way to handle rough land is to proceed with a single wheel too, using one slim cutting tool to open a mark and roll the seeds inside. This can be made to work, where nothing else will. Sifts that bake readily can be handled satisfactorily by opening a slight furrow, removing the covering device entirely and allowing the seeds to fall directly into the seed without covering. This permits the weak seedlings to come up through the cracks. There can be no greater mistake made than preparing land too fine. If it is liable to puddle and bake. A certain amount of roughness is absolutely necessary to keep such soils open.

Fine Upholstering
Hair Mattresses
Renovated
Box Springs to Order
Boat and Porch
Cushions

AWNINGS

Call Bell phone 174 Petoskey and we will call with samples and prices.

Ask your neighbor about our work.

Scattergood Bros.
Petoskey, Mich. 2111

Good Printing means Business

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

(Continued from page three)

Margaret compromised on pieces of old tablecloth.

Stanton led Billy to the elstern, pumped cold water into the tub, poured in a kettle of hot and, beginning at the head, scoured him. The boy shut his little teeth and said never a word, though he twisted occasionally when the soap struck a raw spot. Margaret watched the process from the window in amazement and ever increasing anger. Where did Wesley learn it? How could his big hands be so gentle? Stanton came to the door.

"Have you got any peroxide?"

"A little," she answered shyly.

"Well, I need about a pint, but I'll begin on what you have."

Margaret handed him the bottle. Wesley took a cup, weakened the drug and said to Billy: "Man, these sores on you must be heated. Then you must eat the kind of food that's fit for little men. I am going to put some medicine on you, and it is going to sting like fire. If it just runs off I won't use any more. If it boils there is poison in these places, and they must be tied up, dressed every day, and you must be washed and kept mighty clean. Now, hold still, because I am going to put it on."

"I think the one on my leg is the worst," said the undaunted Billy, holding out a raw place. Stanton poured on the drug. Billy's body twisted and writhed, but he did not run.

"Gee, look at it!" he cried. "I guess they're poison. You'll have to do it all of them."

Stanton's teeth were set as he watched the boy's face. He poured the drug, strong enough to do effective work, on a dozen places over that little body and bandaged all he could. Billy's lips quivered at times, and his chin jumped, but he did not shed a tear or utter a sound other than to take a deep interest in the boiling.

"Now am I clean?" asked Billy.

"Yes, you are clean outside," said Stanton. "There is some dirty blood in your body, and some bad words in your mouth, that we have to get out, but that takes time. If we put right things to eat into your stomach that will do away with the sores, and if you know that I don't like bad words you won't say them any oftener, than you can help, will you, Billy?"

Billy leaned against Stanton in apparent indifference.

"I want to see me!" he demanded.

"How long until supper, Margaret?" asked Stanton.

"You are going to keep him for supper?" she asked.

"Sure," said Stanton. "That's what I brought him for. It's likely he never had a good square meal of decent food in his life. He's starved to the bone."

Margaret arose deliberately, removed the white cloth from the supper table and substituted an old red one she used to wrap the bread. She put away the pretty dishes they customarily used and set the table with old plates for plates and kitchen arisid. But she fried the chicken and was generous with milk and honey, snowy bread, gravy, potatoes and fruit.

Stanton repainted the scratched wheel. He mended the fence, with Billy holding the nails and handling the pickets. Then he filled the old hole, dug a new one and set the hitching post.

Billy hopped on one foot at his task of holding the post steady as the earth was packed round it. There was not the shadow of trouble on his little freckled face. Stanton threw in stones and pounded the earth solid around the post. The sound of a gulfing sob attracted him to Billy. The tears were rolling down his cheeks. "If I'd a knowed you'd have to get down in a hole and work so hard I wouldn't 'a hit the horses," he said.

"Never you mind, Billy," said Stanton. "You will know next time, so you can think over it and make up your mind whether you really want to be before you strike."

Stanton went to the barn to put away the tools. He thought Billy at his heels, but the boy lagged on the way. A big, snowy turkey gobbler rescued the small intruder in his especial preserves, and with spread tail and dragging wings came at him threateningly. If that turkey gobbler had known the sort of things with which Billy was accustomed to holding his own he never would have issued that challenge. Billy accepted instantly. He danced around with stiff arms at his sides and imitated the gobbler. Then came his opportunity and he jumped on the big turkey's back. Wesley heard Margaret's scream in time to see the flying leap and admire its dexterity. The turkey tucked his tail and scurried. Billy slid from his back and as he fell he clutched wildly, caught the folded tail and instinctively hung on for life. The turkey gave one scream and relaxed its muscles. Then it fled in disfigured defeat to the hay-stack. Billy scrambled to his feet holding the tail, and his eyes were bulging.

"Why, the blasted old thing came off!" he said to Stanton, holding out the tail in amazed wonder.

Stanton caught suddenly, forgot everything and said: "Selling which Billy thought a turkey tail of no account and flung that one high above him, shouting with childish laughter as the feathers scattered and fell.

Margaret, watching, burst into tears. Wesley had gone mad. For the first time in her married life she wanted to tell her mother. When Wesley had waited until he was so hungry he could wait no longer he invaded the kitchen to find a cooked supper baking on the back of the stove, while Margaret with red eyes nursed a pair of demoralized white kittens.

"Is supper ready?" he asked.

"It has been for an hour," answered Margaret.

"Why didn't you call us?"

"That 'm's' had too much comradship in it. It irritated Margaret.

"I supposed it would take you even longer than that to fix things down again. As for my little and my poor little kittens they don't matter."

"I am mighty sorry about them, Margaret, you know that. Billy is very tight, and he will soon learn."

"Soon learn?" cried Margaret. "Wesley, Stanton, you don't mean to say 'a you think of keeping that creature here for some time?"

"No; I think of keeping a decent, well behaved little boy."

Margaret set the supper on the table. Seeing the old red cloth, Wesley stared in amazement. Then he understood. Billy appeared around in delight.

"Ain't that pretty?" he exclaimed. "I wish Jimmy and Belle could see. We wish we let out out of our hands as off a old dogwoods box, and when we fix up a lot we have newsmen. We ain't ever had a nice red cloth like this."

Wesley looked straight at Margaret, so intently that she turned away, her face flushing. He stacked the dictionary and the geography of the world on a chair and lifted Billy beside him. He heaped a plate generously, cut the food, put a fork into Billy's little fist and made him eat slowly and properly. Billy did his best. Occasionally greed overcame him, and he used his left hand to pop a bite into his mouth with his fingers. These lapses Wesley patiently overlooked and went on with his general instructions. Luckily Billy did not spill anything on his clothing or the cloth. After supper Wesley took him to the barn until he finished the night work. Then he went and sat by Margaret on the front porch. Billy appropriated the hammock and swung by pulling a rope tied round a tree. The very energy with which he went at the work of swinging himself appealed to Wesley.

"Merdy, but he's an active little body," he said. "There isn't a lazy bone in him. See how he works to pay for his fun."

"There goes his foot through it!" cried Margaret. "Wesley, he shall not ruin my hammock."

"Of course he shall!" said Wesley. "Wait, Billy, let me show you."

Thereupon he explained to Billy that ladies wearing beautiful white dresses sat in hammocks, so little boys must not put their dusty feet in them. They must just sit in them and let their feet hang down. Billy immediately sat and allowed his feet to swing.

"Margaret!" said Stanton after a long silence on the porch. "Isn't it true that if Billy had been a half starved sore-out, dog or animal of any sort that you would have pitied and helped care for it and been glad to see me get any pleasure out of it I could?"

"Yes," said Margaret coldly.

"But because I brought a child with an immortal soul there is no welcome."

"That isn't a child. It's an animal."

"You just said you would have welcomed an animal."

"Not a wild one. I meant a tame beast."

"Billy is not a beast," said Wesley.

"He is a very dear little boy," Margaret said. "You've always done the church going and Bible reading for this family. How do you reconcile that with the way you are treating Billy?"

Margaret arose. "I haven't treated that child. I have only let him alone. I can barely hold myself. He needs the hide lashed about off him."

"If you'd cared to look at his body you'd know that you couldn't find a place to strike without cutting into a raw spot," said Stanton. "Besides, Billy has not done a thing for which a child should be punished. He is only full of life, no training and with a boy's love of mischief. He is just a bully little chap, and I love him."

"Oh, good heavens!" cried Margaret, going into the house as she spoke.

CHAPTER XI.

Wherein Mrs. Comstock and Mrs. Stanton Clash Over Billy.

STANTON sat still. At last Billy, tired of the swing, came to him and leaped his slight body against the big knee.

"Am I going to sleep here?" he asked.

"Sure you are," said Stanton.

"Where can he sleep?" he asked Margaret.

"I'm sure I don't know," she answered.

"Oh, I can sleep in any place," said Billy. "On the floor or anywhere. Home I sleep on pa's coat on a store box, and Jimmy and Belle they sleep on the store box too. I sleep between them so's I don't roll off and crack my head. Ain't you got a store box and a old coat?"

Stanton arose and opened a folding lounge. Then he brought an armful of clean horse blankets from a closet.

"These don't look like the pile where a little boy should have, Billy," he said, "but we'll make them do. This will tent a store box all follow."

Billy took a long leap for the lounge. When he found it heaved he proceeded to bathe until he was tired. By that time the blankets had to be re-folded. Wesley had him, Margaret and help, while both of them sought to enjoy the job. Then Billy lay a wad curled up in his coat, and a dog But unity he sat up, the blankets around restlessly. Then he arose, went to Stanton and leaned against his knee. Stanton picked up the boy and folded his arms around him. Billy sighed in rapturous content.

"That bed feels so hot like," he said. "Jimmy always jabbed me on one side and Belle on the other, and so I knew I was there."

Billy slid from Stanton's arms and walked toward Margaret until he reached the middle of the room. Then he stopped and at last sat on the floor. Finally he lay down and closed his eyes. "This feels more like my bed; if only Jimmy and Belle was here to crowd up a little so it wasn't so alone like."

"Won't I do, Billy?" asked Stanton in a husky voice.

Billy moved restlessly. "Seems like—seems like—toward night as if a body got kind of lonesome for a woman/ person—like her."

Billy indicated Margaret. "You don't like boys, do you?" he questioned.

"I like good boys," said Margaret.

Billy was at her knee instantly.

"Well, say, I'm a good boy," he announced proudly.

"I do not think boys who hurt helpless kittens and pull out turkeys' tails are good boys."

"Yes, but I didn't hurt the kittens," explained Billy. "They got mad 'bout a little fun and scratched each other. I didn't s'pose they'd act like that. And I didn't pull the turkey's tail. I just held on to the first thing I grabbed and the turkey pulled. Honest, it was the turkey pulled." He turned to Stanton. "You tell her. Didn't the turkey pull? I didn't know its tail was loose, did I?"

"I don't think you did, Billy," said Stanton.

Billy stared into Margaret's cold face. "Sometimes at night Belle sits on the floor and I lay my head in her lap. I could pull up a chair and lay my head in your lap—like this, I mean." Billy pulled up a chair, climbed on it and laid his head on Margaret's lap. Then he shut his eyes again. Margaret could have looked little more reprieved if he had been a snake.

Billy was soon up.

"My, but your lap is hard," he said. "And you are a good deal fatter as Belle, too." He slid from the chair and came back to the middle of the room.

"Oh, but I wish my pa wasn't dead," he cried. "The flood broke and Billy screamed in desperation.

Out of the night a soft, warm young figure flashed through the door and with a swoop caught him in her arms. She dropped into a chair, nestled him closely and drooped her fragrant brown head over his little bullet-eyed red one and rocked softly as she crooned over him.

"Billy, boy, where have you been? Oh, I have been to seek a wife. She's the boy of my life. But, then, she's a young thing, and she won't leave for money."

Billy gripped her with a death grip. Elnora wiped his eyes, kissed his face, away and sang.

"Do you love me tight as that?" he questioned blissfully.

"Yes, luscious and bushels," said Elnora. "Better than any little boy in the whole world."

Billy looked at Margaret. "Shod don't," he said. "She don't want me here 't all."

Elnora smothered his face against her breast and rocked.

"You love me, don't you?" he said.

"I will if you will go to sleep."

"Every single day you will give me four dinner for the bologna, won't you?" said Billy.

"Yes, I will," replied Elnora. "But you will have a good lunch as I do after this. You will have milk, eggs, chicken, all kinds of good things, little pies and cakes, maybe."

Billy shook his head. "I am going back home soon as it is light," he said. "She don't want me. She thinks I'm a bad boy. She's going to whip me— if he lets her. She said so. I heard her. Oh, I wish he hadn't died! I want to go home." Billy shrieked wildly.

Mrs. Comstock had started to walk slowly and meet Elnora. The girl had been so late that her mother reached the Stanton gate and came up the path until the picture inside became visible. Elnora had told her about Stanton taking Billy home. Mrs. Comstock had some curiosity to see how Margaret bore the unexpected addition to her family. Billy's voice, raised with excitement, was plainly audible. She could see Elnora holding him and hear his excited wail. Stanton's face was drawn and haggard and Margaret's set and defiant. A very lump of perversity entered the breast of Mrs. Comstock and thumped there.

"Billy, Billy!" she said as she suddenly appeared in the door. "Hest if I ever heard a man making sounds like that before!"

Billy ceased suddenly. Mrs. Comstock was tall, angular, and her hair was prematurely white, for she was only thirty-six, though she looked fifty. But there was an expression on her usually cold face that was attractive just then, and Billy was to search at attractions.

A Card.

This is to certify that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound does not contain any opiates, any fatal poisoning drugs, or any ingredients that could possibly harm its users. On the contrary, its great healing and soothing qualities make it a real remedy for coughs, colds and irritations of the throat, chest and lungs. The genuine is in yellow package. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and accept no substitute. Ives Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell, Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings
Results

A Newspaper that Prints
The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

NORTHERN COUNTIES IN LEAD

In all Crops Shown by Michigan State Crop Report for May.

As Given Out by Secretary of State Frederick C. Marindale.

Lansing, Mich., June 7, 1912. Wheat. The average condition of wheat in the State is 54, in the southern counties 48, in the central counties 60, in the northern counties 73 and in Upper Peninsula 94.

On May 1st the condition of wheat was reported as follows: Sat. 63, southern counties 53, central counties 68, northern counties 79 and Upper Peninsula 92.

The per cent. of wheat sown that will be plowed up because winter-killed or otherwise destroyed is 24 in the State, 29 in the southern counties, 24 in the central counties, 13 in the northern counties and 1 in the Upper Peninsula. A much larger percentage of the wheat acreage would have been plowed up if it were not seeded. The damage by Hessian fly is 9 per cent. in the State, 12 in the southern counties, 10 in the central counties and 3 in the northern counties.

Rye. The condition of rye in the State is 78, in the southern counties 70, in the central counties 74, in the northern counties 85 and in the Upper Peninsula 91. One year ago the condition in the State, southern and central counties was 92, in the northern counties 91 and in the Upper Peninsula 99.

Corn. The acreage of corn planted or to be planted as compared with last year, in the State is 97, in the southern counties 98, in the central counties 80, in the northern counties 100 and in the Upper Peninsula 113. The condition of corn as compared with an average is 70 in the State and southern counties, 66 in the central counties, 75 in the northern counties and 98 in the Upper Peninsula.

Oats. The condition of oats as compared with the average, is 87 in the State, 90 in the southern counties, 70 in the central counties, 86 in the northern counties and 87 in the Upper Peninsula. The condition one year ago was 88 in the State and central counties, 81 in the southern counties, 90 in the northern counties and 100 in the Upper Peninsula.

Meadows. The condition of meadows as compared with an average is 89 in the State, 85 in the southern counties, 90 in the central counties, 94 in the northern counties and 101 in the Upper Peninsula. The condition one year ago was 84 in the State, 89 in the southern counties, 94 in the central counties, 99 in the northern counties and 104 in the Upper Peninsula.

Potatoes. The acreage planted or to be planted as compared with last year is 91 in the State, 96 in the southern counties, 87 in the central counties, 91 in the northern counties and 114 in the Upper Peninsula. The condition as compared with an average is 85 in the State, 87 in the southern counties, 74 in the central counties, 84 in the northern counties and 97 in the Upper Peninsula.

Cattle and calves. The number of cattle as compared with last year is 92 in the State, 93 in the southern counties, 91 in the central counties, 88 in the northern counties and 164 in the Upper Peninsula. The number of calves as compared with last year is 93 in the State, 94 in the southern counties, 96 in the central and northern counties and 99 in the Upper Peninsula.

Sugar beets. The acreage of sugar beets planted or to be planted as compared with last year is 88 in the State, 80 in the southern counties, 87 in the central counties, 76 in the northern counties and 108 in the Upper Peninsula.

Fruit. The following table will show the prospect at the present time for a crop of the various kinds of fruit in the State and the different sections:

	State	Northern Counties
Apples.....	78	89
Pears.....	53	60
Peaches.....	12	19
Plums.....	55	67
Cherries.....	65	87
Strawberries.....	91	94

W.C.T.U. MEETING POSTPONED

Meet With Mrs. Shockley, at Sequenota, Wednesday June Nineteenth.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union meeting appointed to meet with Mrs. Shockley at Sequenota Friday, June 14th is postponed to Wednesday June 19th. Ladies who desire to go will give their names to Mrs. John Burns not later than Tuesday. Hooker's Livery will furnish rigs and collect passengers at the following places: Ivy Drug Store, Hooker's Barn and B. P. Wilkinson's. Leave at one o'clock sharp. Be on time. Do not fail to provide for the picnic supper.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

W. P. Squier Elected Secretary Charlevoix County Agricultural Society.

The annual spring meeting of the Charlevoix County Agricultural society was held in East Jordan Thursday. LeRoy Sherman who has been acting as secretary, was unable to continue the work owing to his duties at the People's State Bank and W. P. Squier was elected by the directors to fill the vacancy until the fall election. It was decided to change the date of the annual meeting from June to the Thursday nearest the fifteenth of February. Dates for the 1912 fair were formerly set for September 19-23.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE. Christian Science Society, Van Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:15 a. m.

Subject: "God the Preserver of Man." Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m. Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH. Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

BAPTIST CHURCH. Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor. Morning Service, 10:30. Communion Service.

Sunday School at 11:45. B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Topic, "The Only being pleasant." Leader, Chas. Graham.

Evening service, 7:30. Topic: "The different kind of the soil." Thursday evening, prayer meeting.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon Marion town hall. "Strangers always welcome."

METHODIST CHURCH. 9:30 Morning class. 10:30 Children's Day exercises. 12:00 n. m. Sunday School.

6:30 p. m. Epworth League. 7:30. Baccaratante sermon.

Meetings every evening this at Epworth church. The Boy Preacher preaches. Sunday service at 2:30 and 7:30.

Our services are helpful. You are invited.

Atlas and Union cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 8627. 17/1

Subscribe for the Courier.

A New Whip Free

If Ours is Lost, Stolen or Broken in Three Months

We have a fine line DOLLAR RAW HIDE WHIPS. They are much cheaper than lower priced whips, because they wear so much longer.

Besides that we Guarantee Them for Three Months.

Come in and see these whips. Buy one; if it breaks, or is lost or stolen inside of three months, let us know and we will replace it with a new one.

Benj. Brown

Sterling Silver Spoons

All the new Designs

Single Spoons

or by the Dozen

Our Prices are Always the Lowest

Stanley Wildern Jeweler

A TACTFUL VOTER.

How He Decided Upon His Ballot in an Alsatian Election.

The simple people of Alsace, who remain in their hearts a strong love for France at the same time that they are desirous not to offend their German rulers too much, frequently have a hard time of it when they go to the ballot to vote for representatives in the German parliament.

In one election in a certain Alsatian district the two candidates were Kable, an Alsatian of French sympathies, who had protested against the annexation after the war of 1870, and a German. On election day a peasant went to the polling place, which was presided over by a German official. The peasant had in one hand a ticket on which was printed the name of Kable and in the other a ticket bearing the name of the German candidate.

"Now here," he said to the German election official, "will you tell me which of these tickets is the better one?"

The officer looked at him. "Why, this is much preferable," said he, holding the German's ticket. "Ah, I thank you," answered the peasant. "I will keep it next my heart." He folded it carefully and put it inside his coat. "As for this other, then," said he, with an air of putting it away from him as an unworthy thing, "I will leave it here." And he put the Kable ticket in the ballot box.—New York Press.

Plans to Reduce Cost of Living.

A new Oregon idea has been formed with the taking of preliminary steps toward a municipal store in Portland. The city council authorized Mayor Hays to appoint a committee of business men to conduct a series of co-operative shops, where the profits would be distributed among the shareholders—the public. The plan is to sell stock in the concern at $25 a share, with the proviso that no individual may own more than one share. Stockholders share profits, and purchasers will have deducted from their bills a part of the store's earnings. If the plan succeeds it will be established in other Oregon cities.

Remove Overhead Wires. Overhead electric wires in the business district of Portland, Ore., will

It Pays to buy your Dry Goods at Bergeon's

No Old Stock

Everything New and Up-to-Date at

Bergeon's Dry Goods Store

Mrs. Siddons.

After she had retired from the stage Mrs. Siddons was found studying Lady Macbeth and said, "I am anxious to discover some new points in the character which I never found out while acting it."

Clearing the House.

"The house is agreeable," cried the tenor Lady Macbeth and said, "I am anxious to discover some new points in the character which I never found out while acting it."

"All right," replied the manager. "Say nothing about the fire. Go on and sing."

Grand Printing means Business.

SPECIAL MERIT SCHOOL SHOES

Shoes that stand the racket—that stand the kicking and scuffle, or rough play—that are good looking, tough and durable, yet not too heavy or clumsy. Have your boys and girls wear

Special Merit School Shoes and you will cut down shoe expenses at least one-half. These shoes, like all Mayer Shoes, are made of carefully selected leather, and are not substituted or slighted in any part. They have double leather toes, tough flexible soles and are easy on the feet. They wear like iron.

In every point they are the best made, and of the best material, which accounts for their remarkable wearing qualities. For boys and girls, no shoe equals "Special Merit" School Shoes. Call in and let us explain how Mayer Special Merit School Shoes will reduce your shoe bills.

"Mayer School Shoes Wear Like Iron."

SOLD BY

Bert Mason Cash Grocer

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 25

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

CONTINUATION OF MONTANA LETTER

First Morning on the Homestead Will Be Long Remembered.

FARMING UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Attempts to Keep Out the Jack Rabbits Meets With Disappointment.

Indications Point to Good Crops This Season—Mosquitoes Are Plentiful and the Largest in the World.

The next morning our little abode was a weird sight. It was a desolate, dismal morning. Previously the incompetency of the post to shed water never occurred to us, but now, it dawned upon us most impressively. It naturally fell to me to arise and start the fire. Our stove "Hearty" stood in the middle of what might geographically be called a lake. There were several such pools interspersed between me and the stove. As the antelope leaps from crag to crag, so leaped I from dry-spot to dry-spot. Each minute a new leak was discovered. As the few smoldering shreds of sage brush would not produce sufficient heat to melt the ice we filled the gasoline stove.

We didn't mind the leaky roof nor the contortions of our shack but Mother and I unanimously agreed it to be decidedly unhealthy for a two-burner gasoline stove to belch forth fire in at least six places. You see mother is slightly more timid than I concerning gasoline and upon learning with what extreme energy the stove burned she immediately departed out over the prairie widening the distance between her and the stove several yards per second. She informed me before starting, "Carry it out I'll get out of your way." It didn't take me long to grasp the full meaning of her remark, and I had the stove placed a safe distance from the house and myself a safe distance from it in short order. However, the meal was soon prepared and over and we launched forth upon our first day on the claim.

Of course the greater part of the day was spent in arranging the house to a habitable condition. The ranchers in my vicinity I found were too busily engaged putting in their own crops to do the plowing I wanted. The past three years have been a bit discouraging to the dry farmers hereabouts as they have been so extremely dry that nearly everything "burnt up" and to cap this, last year when what crops did survive were about matured an unusual heavy hail wrought complete destruction. So our ranchers are more than anxious to get their crops drilled in as all prospects indicate a bumper-year. In the month of May we had twelve days of fine warm rains.

The usual crops are: flax, oats, barley, wheat and potatoes and some have been quite successful with alfalfa in the lowlands which they call coolies out here. In breaking the virgin soil the first crop is usually the potatoes. They simply throw them in the furrow and turn the heavy sod onto them. Members of the company in which we are engaged had a yield of ninety-five bushels last year giving them no care and despite the drought.

But I have wandered somewhat from the subject. Returning to our personal experiences. On learning that I could hire no plowing done I decided to spade up sufficient land for a house garden. We thought the little island immediately back of the house afforded the proper site, as in absence of fences the creek would be proof against the cattle, sheep and jack rabbits. But such is not the case. It is no more exertion for one of Montana's jack rabbits to jump our creek than for Charlevoix team to wade Boyne City. To give you some idea of their size one of our members a lady from New York having seen one rushed breathlessly into a neighboring shack and announced, "A deer just ran across my hand." This same lady during the shower of black ants last season, when everything was covered with them exclaimed, "My—they raise everything in Montana don't they?"

Spading naturally necessitates some walking around and in doing so I caused the mosquitoes of the previous rain to rise out of the grass. There were not tens, twenties, nor a few, but millions, positively clouds of this noxious insect surrounded me. As a mosquito state, Jersey has to fall way back in line when compared with the amount of these starvng pests out here. Starving is absolutely right. It was most exasperating to see and hear them buzz and climb over each other to get within range to throw that crow-bar into place and jab it into me. I retreated with no little alacrity to the house where I donned a heavy coat and a big straw hat draped in netting and with gloves on I managed to spade up sufficient ground for our garden. And this the twenty-seventh day of May finds my garden with peas, beans, lettuce, radishes, onions and cucumbers up and doing finely with the rest of the truck to follow. (To be continued, R. C. Jarvis.)

Oppose Sunday Ball Games.

An almost unanimous rising vote was taken by the Men's Bible class urging the mayor to use his good offices to prevent the continuance of the Sunday base ball games recently begun in the city. The class feels that these Sunday sports are demoralizing to our young people and simply an entering wedge to an "open town" on Sunday; entirely contrary to the spirit of the day.

MUST APPLY THIS WEEK

To Secure Free Tuition in Graded Schools of the State.

Graded Schools Defined—Who are Eligible Under the Present Law.

Many boys and girls in the state of Michigan were deprived of a year in high school because parents, guardians and school officers were not familiar with the free tuition law in which important changes have been made recently. In order to secure the tuition it is necessary for the parent, guardian or person who stands in parental control to make a written application to the board in the district of which he or she is a resident. The application is to state the name of the child for whom it is made and must be presented in writing on or before the fourth Monday of June. It must be made each year that the child desires to attend a high school situated outside of his own district.

When the proper application is made the board of a district which does not maintain a high school must pay up to $20 a year to any one of the three nearest high schools, the parents making the selection. The money must be paid by the treasurer of the district to the treasurer of the high school district at any time the latter district demands it. The law defines a high school as a graded district maintaining twelve grades of work with at least two teachers devoting their entire teaching time to the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades but also permits primary districts to pay tuition to graded schools maintaining ten grades of work with at least one teacher devoting his or her entire teaching time to the ninth and tenth grades. These are the only two classes of schools to which districts may pay high school tuition. The districts maintaining a ten-grade school do not have to pay tuition on their own pupils until the latter pass the tenth grade.

The students eligible for this tuition are only those under twenty years of age who have passed the eighth grade state examination conducted in each county and secured a diploma; those who passed the eighth grade in a graded school and have written statement to that effect from the superintendent, and those who made application for tuition under the 1909 law.

Convention Special.

The Christian Science Monitor, which is by all odds the world's greatest newspaper, has established a complete printing plant in Chicago and will issue a convention special during the Republican convention.

Atlas and Hingan cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 3025.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR BANQUET ARE NEARING COMPLETION

Don't Forget the Date, Friday, July 28—Best Speakers in the State on Program—Hon. George A. Lusk, Toastmaster—Congressmen Dodds and Fordney, Senator Scott and L. C. Crampton.

We have received the following letter from Secretary Taylor of the Charlevoix County Republican club which shows the officials have been busy and the event will be a political event of the season.

An examination of the list of speakers shows that careful selection has been made. Mr. Lusk, the toastmaster has the reputation of being Michigan's premier toastmaster. Congressman Fordney is one of the oldest representatives in the state, is point of service, and represents the conservative element of the party, while Mr. Crampton is one of the leading progressives in the state. Both are interesting and entertaining speakers.

It will be the first opportunity of Charlevoix County Republicans to meet and greet our representatives, Congressman Dodds and Senator Scott, who have served us well and will probably be asked to serve us again. Mr. Alward has many friends in this county and while the Courier does not regard it as wise to change our representative, we'll all be glad to welcome Mr. Alward to the county.

The committee in charge of the Republican banquet is making energetic effort to make the Republican banquet to be held at Boyne City on June 28th a success.

The banquet will be at the "Wolverine," Boyne City's new famous new hotel, at 8 o'clock in the evening. Hon. Geo. A. Lusk of Bay City has consented to be the toastmaster, and the following speakers have signified their willingness to attend:

Hon. Frank D. Scott of Alpena.
Hon. F. H. Dodds of Mt. Pleasant.
Hon. D. E. Alward of Clare.
Hon. Joseph W. Fordney of Saginaw.

Hon. L. C. Crampton of Lapeer.
The Porter orchestra and a male quartette will furnish the music. The price of the banquet is $1.00 and membership tickets can be secured for fifty cents from the secretary. This will be an instructive and inspiring occasion and everybody is invited.

CHARLEVOIX WINS

In Ball Game Sunday—Next Sunday Will Meet Northport Team.

A crowd of between four or five hundred saw the Charlevoix baseball team win over the Suttons Bay representatives at the golf grounds Sunday afternoon.

The score, 11 to 0 hardly represented the relative ability of the two teams, the greatest difference being in the pitchers. Both teams played well in the field, only four errors being made on both sides. The features were the pitching of Willis, who struck out 11 men and the all around playing of Wanska, Charlevoix's new third baseman.

Charlevoix's battery was Powers and Powers, while Harrison and Harrison officiated for the visitors. The first Northport team will play here next Sunday.

In another part of this issue will be seen that objections are being made to the playing of Sunday ball in this city. While we have not the pleasure of witnessing any of the games, we have been informed that there has been no objectionable features connected with the game and it simply furnishes a chance for some method of recreation for our working men and boys who are busy during the week. The management assures us that they will at all times conduct the games in a sportsmanlike manner and ask that full investigation be made before they are condemned.

REUNION HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

Charlevoix High School Class of 1902 Live Old Days Over.

Ten Members of Class Were Present—Will Meet Again in Five Years.

Friday night was the date fixed upon for one of the most pleasing events of the commencement season—the reunion of the class of 1902—at the home of Miss Emma Bennett. Ten members of the class were present, those who brought their wives and husbands along swelled the crowd to double that number. After meeting the crowd attended the commencement exercises in a body after which they returned to the place of meeting. A banquet of five courses was served. Arba Cameron of Minneapolis, president officiated as toastmaster and gave the address of welcome, which was responded to by Secretary Byron O. Smith of Grand Rapids.

The next was "Reminiscences" by Mrs. Peter Vandermade which was the treat of the meeting, being full of reminders of the good times enjoyed by the class while attending Charlevoix high.

A feature of the meeting was the singing of songs from the old Knapsacks—as they used to sing them in days of yore from the first grade up. After the banquet the business session was held and it was decided to hold the next reunion here in 1917. A delightful feature was the reading of letters from absent members, who are scattered in all parts of the world.

Those present from away were Arba Cameron and wife of Minneapolis, Mrs. Calla Wilbur Cline of Chicago and Byron O. Smith of Grand Rapids.

MRS. MADISON DEAD

Well Known Resident of East Jordan—Had Resided in County Twenty Eight Years.

Mrs. L. C. Madison of East Jordan, one of the pioneers of this county, died at her home in that city Saturday morning of last week after an illness of five weeks.

Lora Vincent was born sixty-five years ago in Ohio and spent her early life in Indiana where she was married to L. C. Madison. Twenty-eight years ago they came to this county locating first at Boyne Falls, moving after a short period to East Jordan where they have since resided.

Mrs. Madison leaves her husband and one son, Ernest V. of this city, the only survivor of three children. She was a member of the W. R. C. and had been a member of the Presbyterian church for seventeen years. The funeral was held from the home Monday afternoon.

OPENS LAW OFFICE

Rollie L. Lewis Located Here for Practice of His Profession.

Rollie L. Lewis has opened a law, real estate and insurance office in the building formerly occupied as law office by Edward Widdfield, better known as Major Green's old office, where he will engage in the general practice of his profession. Henry C. Cooper will be associated with him, looking after the real estate and insurance end of the business.

Mrs. Lewis is a Charlevoix boy born and bred who had good training in his chosen profession. Mr. Cooper is an old resident and the team will make a strong one and will probably win success.

Will Meet Next Tuesday.

The board of supervisors will meet in adjourned session next Tuesday. An effort will be made to submit the matter of bonding the county for good roads at a special election to be held at the time of the August primary.

Roller skates for men, women and children at Ben Brown's.

VOTRUBA-ZEITLER

Charlevoix Girl Married to East Jordan Man Tuesday Morning.

A quiet wedding took place at St. Mary's church yesterday morning at six o'clock when Miss Eva Zeitler daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zeitler, of this city, and James Votruba of East Jordan were united in holy wedlock, by Rev. Fr. Anastatius Rhode.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Rose, while the groomsmen was Joseph Lilak, nephew of the groom, of East Jordan. They left immediately on a trip to Joliet, Illinois. Their many friends unite in wishing them happiness.

000 FELLOWS ELECT

Officers for the Next Term—Installation Will Take Place First Meeting in July.

Round Lake Lodge I. O. O. F. elected the following officers for the next term:
Noble Grand, Ernest Howe.
Vice Grand, Will Higman.
Secretary, Ed Vought.
Treasurer, F. E. Wood.
Representatives, Richard Lewis, Floyd Bettes.

The rest of the officers will be appointed at the time of installation.

WILL MEET AT TRAVERSE CITY

Program of Meeting of Old Settlers' Association of Grand Traverse Region.

To Be Held Next Wednesday—O. E. Wilbur Charlevoix County Vice President.

Arrangements have all been completed for the thirty-first annual meeting of the Old Settlers' association of the Grand Traverse region, which will be held at Traverse City June 26, A. V. Friedrich of Traverse City is president and E. O. Ladd of the same place secretary. Captain O. E. Wilbur is the vice-president for this county. The following is the program of the day.

Wednesday morning.
Reception to Old Settlers and distribution of badges.
Music by Campbell's Cornet Band during the entire day.
12 o'clock sharp.
Invocation, Rev. J. W. Miller.
Picnic dinner—tea, coffee, sugar, and cream will be furnished free for all.

One o'clock.
Music, by the Band.
Address of Welcome, Mayor W. D. C. Germaine.
Response, Hon. A. E. Palmer, Kalkaska.

An Old Settler, Will S. Anderson, Music, "Michigan, My Michigan."

By Everybody.
Historian's report, Mrs. Wm. Love.

Recitation, Miss Zema C. Ladd.
Indian Trails, Hon. Robert E. Walter.

Music, Choir.
Address, "Reminiscences" Mr. A. Tracy Lay, Chicago.

Old Photograph, Geo. G. Bates, leader. A number of Old Settlers will give short talks.

President's Annual Address, A. V. Friedrich.

Music, By the Choir.
Secretary's report, E. O. Ladd.

Treasurer's report, D. J. Powers.
Selecting place of next meeting.

Election of officers.
Music, "Grand Traverse Hymn" Written by Mrs. E. E. White.

The rest of the afternoon devoted to social meeting and general good time, including ride for the old settlers.

A. V. Friedrich, president.
E. O. Ladd, secretary.

Anyone who has lived in this region 15 years is eligible to membership in the association.

Notice to the Republican Electors of the Charlevoix County.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-nomination to the office of sheriff on the Republican ticket at the primary election August 27. Trusting that my conduct of the office has been such as to secure your approval, your support will be appreciated.

Zafady. FORD P. ROBINSON.

Let the Courier come with Spring.

FEW CHANGES ARE MADE

List of Teachers as Engaged by the Board of Education.

SUPT. DE VOE IS RETAINED

Only One Change Made in List of Teachers in High School.

Four Other Changes Are Made—Mrs. A. L. Coulter Will Teach Music and Drawing—Outlook is Good for Successful Year.

The board of education have selected and engaged the teachers for next year. Most of the present teachers will return. Following is the list:

E. M. DeVoe, Superintendent.
H. A. Craig, Principal of the High School and Mathematics.
Jone Catton, English.
D. C. Carpenter, Science.
Emma Swigart, Latin and German.
Laura Brown, History.
Anna Lombard, Commercial.
Jessie M. Himes, Principal County Normal.
Alida Whiting, County Normal.
Critic, Fourth Grade.
Mary Kirchner, Principal Grammar central building, 8th grade.
Blanche Lamoreaux, 7th grade.
Kate Wilson, assistant 7th and 8th grades.
Flora B. Nold, sixth grade.
A. Pearl Lewis, fifth grade.
Mary E. Sweeney, second and third grades.
Genevieve Jarvis, chart and first grade.

Washington School (N. S.)
Sophia Manson, second, third, and fourth grades.
Hallie Bon, chart and first grade.
Lincoln School (S. S.)
Janie Mitchell, second and third grades.

Mary Finneane, chart and first grade.
Mrs. A. L. Coulter, music and drawing.

The only change made in the high school is Miss Brown, who takes the place of Miss Deibel. Miss Brown is a graduate of Alma college. The other changes are Miss Lamoreaux in place of Miss Koerth, Miss Wilson in place of Miss Lower and Mrs. Coulter in place of Miss King.

It is a source of congratulation to both patrons and pupils that Superintendent DeVoe has been engaged for another year. During his incumbency of the position he has demonstrated that he possesses the necessary qualifications that go to make up a successful head of public schools in a city of this size. The same can be said of his associates and all look forward to another successful school year.

RECEIVER HAS BEEN SUSPENDED

J. L. Barber of Rondo Will Go Ahead With Plan.

To Solve the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Problem Will Get Busy at Once.

As the result of the hearing held at Cheboygan, Judge Frank Shepherd has suspended the receiver of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance company and has granted J. L. Barber, of Rondo, permission to go ahead with his plan in solving the problem of clearing up the affairs of the organization.

Mr. Barber will get busy at once, and expects to have matters satisfactorily adjusted by September. In order that this may be done, he urges all members of the company to secure their notes and have them settled at once.

Further particulars concerning the settlement of the company's affairs will be given later.

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 1717

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

SWANSON'S PILLS
Best Remedy for Constipation, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Bloating and Liver Troubles. 25c Per Box at Druggists

SKIN SORES

Those who suffer from it... The Five-Drop Salve is now put up in 25 and 50 cent packages and sold by nearly all druggists. It is not obtainable in your locality you can order direct from Swanson & Co., 100 Lake St., Chicago, Ill., and it will be sent postpaid upon receipt of price. It is an excellent remedy for cracked skin and scaly eruptions.

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years experience.
Maps and Plat... Short Notice
VANPELT PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

L. E. SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Room Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AUD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Levinson's Store
Phone 123 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

A. L. M. WIERINSKY
Physician and Surgeon
Prescribed and classes fitted
Phone Office at residence 26.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. B. ARMSTRONG, M.D.
Physician and Surgeon
special attention given to diseases of the EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Hines & Co's drug store, telephone No. 235. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. F. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. McFerrer)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. Always give prompt attention.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER
Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone 100-100.

Let me do your
DRAYING
An order placed with me will be carefully packed after and done on time. PHONE 123 when you have baggage to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention.
Moving Household Goods a Specialty.
CHARLES TAYLOR

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
$100.00 for loss of limb or eye
$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
Cost $4.00 per year. No other Dues or Assessments
Old established Company with $100,000.00 State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.
Newborn Women between 16 and 60 accepted, according to occupation.
For further information address:
AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY
Dept. 19 Box 411 Erie, Pa.

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST
BY GENE STRATTON-PORTER

CHAPTER XI—Continued.
"Do you like dogs?" he questioned.
"If there is anything I love it is a boy," said Mrs. Comstock assuringly. Billy was on the floor.
"Do you like dogs?"
"Yes, almost as well as boys. I am going to buy a dog just as soon as I can find a good one."

"Maybe you'd like to have me?" offered Billy.
"Sure I would," triumphed Mrs. Comstock. "Any one would like to have you. You are just a real boy, Billy."
"Will you take Snap?"
"I'd like to have Snap almost as well as you."
"Mother!" breathed Elvora imploringly. "Don't! Oh, don't! He thinks you mean it!"
"And so I do mean it," said Mrs. Comstock. "I'll take him in a jiffy. I throw away enough to feed a little tyke like him every day. His chatter would be great company while you are gone. Blood soon can be purified with right food and bath, and as for Snap I meant to get a bulldog, but possibly Snap will serve just as well. All I ask of a dog is to bark at the right time. I'll do the rest. Would you like to come and see my boy, Billy?"

Billy leaned against Mrs. Comstock, reached his arms around her neck and gripped her with all his puny might. "You can whip me all you want to," he said. "I won't make a sound."
Mrs. Comstock held him closely and her hard face was softening. Of that there could not be a doubt.
"You like boys?" exclaimed Billy, and his head dropped against Mrs. Comstock in unspeakable content.
"Yes, and if I don't have to carry you the whole way home we must start right now," said Mrs. Comstock. "You are going to be asleep before you know it."

"Billy, are you going to leave without even saying good-bye to me?" asked Elvora, with a great gulp in his throat. Billy held tight to Mrs. Comstock and Elvora.
"Good-bye," he said casually. "I'll come and see you some time."
Wesley Sinton gave a smothered sob and strode from the room.
Mrs. Comstock started for the door, dragging at Billy as Elvora pulled back, but Mrs. Sinton was before them, her eyes flashing.
"Kate Comstock, you think you are mighty smart, don't you?" she cried.
"I ain't in the lunatic asylum, where you belong, anyway," said Mrs. Comstock. "I am smart enough to tell a dandy boy when I see him, and I'm good and glad to get him. I'll love to have him!"

"Well, you won't have him!" exclaimed Margaret Sinton. "That boy is Wesley's. He got him and brought him here. You can't come in and take him like that. Let go of him!"
Wesley Sinton appeared behind Margaret in the doorway, and she turned to him. "Make Kate Comstock let go of our boy!" she demanded.
"Billy, she wants you now," said Wesley Sinton. "She won't whip you, and she won't let any one else. You can have stacks of good things to eat, ride in the carriage and have a great time. Won't you stay with us?"
Billy drew away from Mrs. Comstock and Elvora.
He faced Margaret, his eyes shrewd with mischief. "Necessity had taught him to strike the hot iron, to drive the hard bargain."
"Can I have Snap to live here at ways?" he demanded.
"Yes, you can have all the dogs you want," said Margaret Sinton.
"Can I sleep close enough so I can touch you?"
"Yes, you can move your lounge up so that you can hold my hand," said Margaret.
"Do you love me now?" questioned Billy.
"I'll try to love you if you are a good boy," said Margaret.
"Then I guess I'll stay," said Billy.

working over to her.
Out in the night Elvora and her mother went down the road in the moonlight, and every few rods Mrs. Comstock laughed aloud.
"Mother, I don't understand you," sobbed Elvora.
"Well, maybe when you have gone to high school long you will," said Mrs. Comstock. "Anyway, you saw me bring Mag Sinton to her senses, didn't you?"
On Sunday, while Mrs. Comstock was in town with the Sintons, Elvora, although repeatedly cautioned not to enter the Limberlost alone, went after specimens and was soon carrying five fine cocoons of different species in her reward. She pushed back her hair and gazed around longingly. A few rods inside she thought she saw cocoons on a bush, to which she went and found several. Sense of caution was rapidly vanishing; she was in a fair way to forget everything and plunge into the swamp when she thought she heard footsteps coming down the trail. She went back and came out almost facing Pete Corson. That ended her difficulty. She had known him since childhood. When she sat on the front bench of the Brushwood schoolhouse Pete had been one of the big boys at the back of the room. He had been rough and wild, but she never had been afraid of him, and often he had given her pretty things from the swamp.

Came Out Almost Facing Pete Corson.

"What luck?" she cried. "I promised mother I would not go inside the swamp alone, and will you look at the cocoons I've found! There are more just scrambling for me to come get them, because the leaves will fall with the first frost, and then the jays and crows will begin to tear them open. I haven't much time, since I'm going to school. You will go with me, Pete. Please say yes! Just a little way."
"What are those things?" asked the man, his keen black eyes fast upon her.
"They are the cases these big caterpillars spin for winter, and in the spring they come out great ugly moths, and I can sell them. Oh, Pete, I can sell them for enough to take me through high school and dress me like the rest that I don't look different, and if I have very good luck I can save some for college. Pete, please go with me?"
"Why don't you go like you always have?"
"Well, the truth is, I had a little scare," said Elvora. "I never did mean to go alone. Sometimes I sort of wandered inside farther than I intended, chasing things. You know I mean me Freckles' looks, and I have been gathering moths like—like—like lately I found I could sell them. If I can make a complete collection I can get $200 for it. There such collections would take me almost through college and I've four years to the high school yet. That's a long time. I might get them."

"Can every kind there is be found here?"
"No; not all of them, but when I get more than I need of one kind I can trade them with collectors further north and west so I can complete sets. It's the only way I see to earn the money. Look what I have already! Big gray cecropias come from that kind, brown polyphemus from that and green lunas from these. You aren't working on Sunday. Go with me just an hour, Pete!"

The man looked at her narrowly. She was young, wholesome and beautiful. She was innocent, intensely in earnest and she needed the money—he knew that.
"You didn't tell me what scared you," he said.
"Oh, I thought I did! Why, you know, I had Freckles' box packed full of moths and specimens, and one evening I sold some to the Bird Woman. Next morning I found a note telling me it wasn't safe to go inside the swamp. I think I'd go alone rather than miss the chance, but I'm so happy if you would take care of me. Then I could go anywhere I chose, because if I turned you could pull me out. You will take care of me, Pete?"

That was the finishing stroke.
"Yes, I'll take care of you," promised Pete Corson.
"Good!" said Elvora. "Let's start quick! And Pete, you look at these closely, and when you are hunting or going along the road if you dangles under your nose you cut off the little twig and save it for me, will you?"
"Yes, I'll save you all I see," promised Pete. He pushed back his hat and followed Elvora. She plunged fearlessly through bushes, over mounds and across dead logs. One minute she was crying when she here was a big one, the next she was reaching for a flax above her head or on her knees overturning dead leaves under a hickory or oak tree or pushing aside black punk with her bare hands as she searched for buried pupae cases. For the first hour Pete lent back bushes and followed, carrying what Elvora discovered. Then he found one.

"Is this the kind of thing you are looking for?" he asked hesitantly as he presented a wild cherry twig.
"Oh, Pete, that's a perfect! I didn't even hope to find one."
"What's the bird like?" asked Pete.
"Almost black wings," said Elvora, "with clay colored edges and the most wonderful white colored flush over the under side if it's a male and stronger wing above and below if it's a female. Oh, aren't I happy?"
"How would it do to make what you have into a lunch that we could leave here and come back for them?"
"That would be all right."

Relieved at his bad, Pete began work. First he narrowly examined the cocoons Elvora had found. He questioned her as to what other kinds would be like. He began to use the eyes of a trained woodman and hunter in her behalf. He saw several so easily and moved through the forest so softly that Elvora forgot the moths in watching him. Presently she was carrying the specimens and he was making the trips of investigation to see which was a cocoon and which a curl of leaf, or he was down on his knees digging around stumps. As he worked he kept asking questions. What kind of logs were best to look under, what trees were pupae cases most likely to be under, on what bushes did caterpillars spin most frequently? Time passed, as it always does when one's occupation is absorbing.

When the Sintons had taken Mrs. Comstock home they stopped to see if Elvora was safe. She was not at home, and they had not seen her along the way. Mrs. Comstock called about the edge of her woods and received no reply. Then Sinton turned and drove back to the Limberlost. He left Margaret and Mrs. Comstock holding the team and entertaining Billy and entered the swamp.
Elvora and Pete had left a wide trail behind them. Before Sinton had thought of calling he heard voices and approached with some caution. Soon he saw Elvora, her pushed face beaming as she went with an armload of twigs and branches and talked to a kneeling man.
"Now go cautiously," she was saying. "I am just sure we will find no moths here. It's their very kind of a place. There! What did I tell you! Isn't that splendid? Oh, I am so glad you came with me!"
Sinton stood and stared in speechless astonishment, for the man had risen, brushed the dirt from his hands and held out to Elvora a small shining dark pupa case. As his face swung into view Sinton almost cried out, for he was the man of all others Wesley knew with whom he most feared for Elvora's safety. She had him on his knees digging pupae cases for her from the loose swamp loam.
"Elvora!" called Sinton. "Elvora!"
"Oh, Uncle Wesley," cried the girl. "see what luck we've had! I know we have a dozen and a half cocoons, and we have three pupae cases. It's much harder to get the cases because you have to dig for them, and you can't see where to look. But Pete is due up. He's found three, and he says he will keep watch along the roads and through the woods as he hunts. Isn't that splendid of him? Uncle Wesley, there is a college over there on the western edge of the swamp. Look closely and you can see the great dome up among the clouds."

"I should say you have had luck," said Sinton, striving to make his voice natural. "But I thought you were not coming to the swamp?"
"Well, I wasn't," said Elvora, "but I would take care of you."
(Continued on page 7)

Young Men

Your power consists of something more than mere muscle. Your financial strength is well worth developing.

The best aid to financial development is a confidential relationship with a bank that will take an interest in your progress.

Let your Financial Interests exercise and grow. OPEN A CHECKING OR SAVINGS ACCOUNT AS CIRCUMSTANCES DICTATE.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. B. B. A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners
Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

BLANCHARD HAS IT

What you want to make life enjoyable during the summer months

Refrigerators, Ice Cream Freezers
Oil and Gasoline Stoves

Base Ball Supplies - Garden Tools

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Safes and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to own one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clean-cut money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 20-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in an interesting manner as though you were piloting them through our factory. Men appointed as salesmen receive advice and instructions for selling safes, giving convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Safes Annually.

How Diviners Are Guided.
Fran Tinkov, the wife of a well-to-do Hungarian landowner, who is said to have a special talent for discovering minerals with a divining rod, describes in a Budapest newspaper the different sensations which she experiences. When searching for a lost vein of silver near a mine in Germany belonging to Professor Stahl of Bonn university she says she felt violent twitches in her right arm. This was a sign to her to turn to the right, and a few yards farther on shooting pains in her arms and breathlessness told her that she was above the spot. The vein was found the next day near the surface. On the other hand, when she discovered perch-ore in Hanover she had a feeling as if her head were being bound tightly with a cloth. Fran Tinkov first made a name as a diviner by discovering coal on M. Jan Kubelik's estate in Bohemia—Vienna Cor. London Standard.

"Comparisons Are Odious."
When little Amy was three years old she was taken to visit her maternal grandmother. During her stay the entire household had much of her, and on her departure she was hugged and kissed and wept over by each member of the affectionate family in turn. The scene made a deep impression on her young mind.
A visit to her father's home followed. At the conclusion of her paternal grandmother and her Aunt Mabel stood smilingly waving their adieus to the little one until the carriage was out of sight.
Any's mother was beginning to wonder what made her so unusually quiet when a solemn little voice rang out from her corner of the carriage: "Not a tear shed!"—Youth's Companion.

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt
Telephone No. 297

The Charlevoix Courier

Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Courier Building Van Ness Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year..... $1.50
One copy, six months..... .75
One copy, three months..... .40

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Entered at Charlevoix, Mich. as second class matter.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van-Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "Is the Universe, including Man, evolved by Atomic Forces?"
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.
Morning Service, 10:30. Subject: "The Importance of Prayer."
Sunday School at 11:15.
B. Y. P. U. 6:30 p. m.—Topic: "Reading that is worth while."
Evening service, 7:30. Topic: "A Refuge of Lies."
Thursday evening, prayer meeting.
Preaching next Sunday afternoon, Burgess school house.
Beginning next Sunday morning, Rev. Atchison will preach a series of sermons upon the general subject of Prayer, everybody welcome. "Strangers always welcome."

METHODIST CHURCH.
9:15 Morning class.

10:30. Morning sermon. Subject: "What we are Doing."
12:00 m. Sunday School.
Anticigarette lesson.
6:30 p. m. Epworth League.
7:30. Evening service conducted by Roy Marshall.
7:30. Prayer meeting. Thursday evening.
Epworth Church.
Sunday school 1:30.
Preaching 2:30.
Our services are helpful. You are invited.

CONGREGATIONAL
Rev. C. E. Taggart the new pastor of the Congregational church, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening, Sunday June 23. Regular services every succeeding Sabbath. Preaching at Ironton as usual.

For Sale.
Large handy trading pasturage plants, 103 Clinton Street, O. W. Smith. 25-11

DOODS NOT WORRYING

Has Made Good as Our Congressman and Will Continue to Do So.

Francis H. Dodds, our congressman from this district, although a candidate for re-nomination is making little or no fuss over the matter but appears to be attending strictly to business over in Washington at the time when we would naturally expect the average candidate to be looking out for his own interest, and trying his best to clinch his job for another term.

Mr. Dodds has given the people of his district a honest, conscientious administration and he is likely the most popular man in the district. He will not be an experiment for the coming term but a success—a man who has made good, and men who can and do make good are always preferred by the people.—Bayne City Journal.

Rooms to Rent.

Inquire of Mrs. E. R. Seamen, phone 281. 25-11

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Of the Congregational Church Will Meet With Mrs. Hull Friday.

The Women's Missionary society of the Congregational church will meet with Mrs. Frank Hull, Friday afternoon, June 21, at 2:30 o'clock; the following is the program.

Topic, Turkey.
Devotionals.
Business session.
Roll call—from Proverbs.
Vocal solo, Edna Noble.
Reading, What has Christ for Eastern Turkey.
Reading, Christian Education and the New Women of the Orient.
Instrumental solo, Mrs. C. G. Bush.
Reading, Impressions of our Missionary Schools in Central Turkey.
Reading, The Value of Kindergarten on the Mission Field.
Recitation, What Johnny Gave.
Opening of Nine Boxes.

Waterworks Earned $70,547.68.
The municipally owned waterworks earned for the city of Knoxville, Tenn. the sum of $70,547.68 for the year 1911. This is an increase of $16,989.47 over the net earnings of the year 1910. The annual report of the Knoxville water works commission, that is now being completed, will go into details and will show an increase in volume of pipe in gallons of water pumped, in number of fire hydrants installed and in general improvements of the plant. The following aggregate figures, however, are taken from the records of the commission: Net earnings for 1911, $70,547.68; net earnings for 1910, $53,558.21; increase of 1911 over earnings of 1910, $16,989.47; miles of pipe in 1911, 117,672; miles of pipe in 1910, 111,812; increase over 1910, 5,860; miles of new pipe laid in 1911, 5,800.

Debt Reduced.

During the past year the debt on the city water and light plant in Gas City, Ind. has been reduced to the amount of $2,500; that is, this amount has been paid on the debt. It has been a few days more than one year since the water and light plant in Gas City was destroyed by fire. In the time elapsed since then the plant has been rebuilt and has been placed in successful operation, and $2,500 of the debt paid. That all this has been done is considered an excellent achievement.

Mayers Favor Biennial Elections.
Changes in the charters of five of the six cities of Rhode Island, which will result in biennial municipal elections, are likely to be made by the general assembly. The mayors of Providence, Woonsocket and Pawtucket are outspoken in favor of municipal elections every two years instead of one, while the project is also favored favorably by many leaders in Cranston and Central Falls.

Gave a Reprieve.
The Doctor How is the patient this morning? The Doctor's Wife: "I think he's better, but he seems to be very fatigued, something." The Doctor: "Hm, yes. Just tell him I won't send him for a month. That ought to freshen him up some."—C. L. and News.

HEALING IN NINEVEH.

Medicinal Science as It Existed in the Ancient City.

The patient work of the archaeologist enables people of today to form a very fair idea of medical science as it existed in Nineveh 650 years before the birth of Christ, says the New York Sun. Of the 20,000 tablets taken from the library of Assurbanipal, the great king of Assyria, who conquered Egypt and Babylon and established his subjects in the deserted cities of Samaria, hundreds deal exclusively with medicine and contain numerous prescriptions.

"If a man has a cold make him stand up and pour over him a decoction of hypericum and he will recover."
"Or make him crouch down on his heels and pour cold water over his head."
Folk healing seems to be indicated in a prescription which runs: "If he is in a weak state, make him bend down then raise his legs and say, 'May you get quite well.' Strike him also on the head fourteen times with your thumb."
Many prescriptions deal with the cure of a disorder which was very common at Nineveh and which seems to have been due to overindulgence in food and drink: "When a man is ill, less rub him with an onion and let him drink nothing but water and let him fast from food altogether."

Among the medicines used by the physicians of Nineveh were sesame oil, olive oil, cedar oil, slup of dates honey and salt. Fasting and massage were frequently ordered.

LAPPS AND WOLVES.

The Deer Killing Brutes Get No Mercy From the Natives.

The Swedish Lapps are said to live entirely wild, by and upon their reindeer. A Lapp who owns a thousand deer is a rich man, but as taxes are assessed upon the number of deer, he is obliged to underestimate his herd. The most dangerous enemy to the herd is the wolf, which can kill many deer in a night. A band of wolves can make a rich Lapp poor.
When the snow is deep and soft and it is announced that wolf tracks have been seen in the neighborhood of the deer, the swiftest runners on snowshoes prepare for an exciting chase.
The wolf may have a start of a mile or two, but the track it leaves in the deep, soft snow is so conspicuous that the hunters can follow it at their leisure. The wolf, though he may run swiftly, has but a slight chance of escaping his pursuers on their snowshoes.
Each hunter shows his best in outrunning the others, for the wolf belongs to the Lapp who strikes the first blow. As soon as the leading hunter is close enough to the wolf he gives it a heavy blow across the loins with his strong, splined snowshoe staff. If there are other wolves to be pursued he kills it outright; if not he drives it and waits till all the hunters have arrived before giving the death stroke.

Germany's Industrial Life.

The industrial life of Germany gives the impression of a great street crowded with heavy traffic. This traffic is torned of rails, but all have a common purpose and direction, and it is well regulated. It is aggressive, noisy and dangerous to those who brave its comparative perils. It is artificial, as it enters to the needs of man largely out of the actual necessities for subsistence, and it is subject to increases or decreases, congestions or even sudden stoppages, for, unlike the bulk of the traffic of the United States, it is not the irresistible flow of a mighty river of iron products seeking the level of supply and demand. Ever increasing its volume, ever extending its zone of influence, the foreign trade of Germany is the marvel of the twentieth century.—James, Davenport. Whelpy in Century.

A Taunting Request.

Hobbledeh was a confirmed borrower, and, what was worse, he seldom returned the borrowed articles. He had lent on to Whitley's umbrella, for instance, for nearly a year.
"And I'm blessed if I know how I am ever going to get it back," said Whitley.
"Easy," said Hickenlooper. "Call a messenger and send Hobbledeh this note."
And he scribbled off the following: "Dear Hobbledeh, if you can spare it I'd like to borrow that umbrella of mine for a couple of days. Can you oblige me?"—Harper's.

Enough Said.

He was flopping down the street with one arm in a sling and both eyes in mourning.
"What's the matter?" queried a friend, "Motor accident?"
"No," replied the other sadly. "I met a man who couldn't take a joke."—London Telegraph.

Castles in the Air.

"We keep our automobiles in the garage," said Mrs. Blunderly.
"That's where most of us keep our automobiles," returned her caller, with an inward smile.—Boston Transcript.

Scouting.

Mrs. Howard: And so two of your sons are boy scouts? Where do they do most of their reconnoitering? Mrs. Coward:—In our refrigerator.—Life.

Qua to So.

"Weren't you shy when the judge asked you your age in court?"
"Yes, I was about ten years shy, my dear."—Life.

Peep Daily Economy.

If you mention the fact that you are saving food by cutting down the consumption, the best way is to make the fact of the saving of food itself.

Copyright Hart, Schaffner & Marx

One pleasant thing about our business is the satisfaction we get from the satisfaction we give. Our customers go away satisfied; if the satisfaction doesn't last we want them to come back and tell us so.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

clothes satisfy; in style, in all wool fabrics, in fine tailoring, in fit, and in price.

Suits $18 Up

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

This Store is the Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than five first insertion.

LOST—A brown music roll and three pieces of music. Mabel Gregory. 25-11

FOR SALE—Two milk cows. D. W. N. honey. Box 133. 25-11

FARM FOR SALE—Six acres, three miles north of Charlevoix, 20 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write D. W. N. honey, P. O. Box 133. 25-11

WANTED—A live agent to sell the best mail box on the market. A mail box is a necessity before the establishment of Free Delivery Service. Make $3000 to $5000 daily. Write quick for catalogue and particulars. Sample box prepaid, $1.25. Address, Home Supply Co., Joliet, Illinois. Room 25, Young Bldg. 25-11

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of County Clerk, at the August primaries, and of nominating and elected, I will do my best to serve the public in said office. I also wish to thank the electors of Charlevoix county for the support they have given me in past, and will appreciate your support at this time. 21-1 adv. RICHARD LEWIS

To the Electors.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated. 19-1 adv. W. W. Boyle, St. James.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my candidacy of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated. 19-1 adv. RONALD A. ENKEY.

Notice.

I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the primary election to be held August 27th. 21-1 adv. DANIEL S. PAVON

Wool Wanted.

We will pay the highest market price for wool. H. Kaufman. 21-11

The Coming of Summer

which means that weather reminds us that to properly care for our food and beverages will require a perfect refrigerator.

Have You A Satisfactory Refrigerator?

If not we want to show you the famous Leonard Line. We have them in zinc and porcelain lined. Don't fail to see them before buying at

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

Majestic Theater

Tom Morris and his Klasy Players
IN MUSICAL FARCE COMEDIES

All Next Week
June 24 to 29

Don't Wait

We place on sale to-morrow morning the most remarkable bargains yet offered.

Sneiders Catsup	20c
—25c
Sneider's Chili	20c
Sauce 25c
Globe Milk	45c
6 cans
Shaker Salt	25c
3 cans
Corn, 12c	25c
3 cans
Peas, 15c	25c
2 cans
Cherries, sweet	20c
Best Quality
Plums, 25c	20c
Large egg
Olives, Ever-Best	20c
Best Quality
Pickels, any kind	20c
quart cans
Queen Ann Soap	25c
7 bars
Cal. Family Soap	25c
10 bars
Matches	25c
7 boxes
Prunes, A 1	25c
2 1/2 pounds
Superlative Flour
Having a large quantity on hand will make the price
per barrel	$6.30

With any of the above purchases amounting to $3.00 we will give 17 lbs. of Sugar for $1.00

CASH PRICES ONLY

The Corner Store

REAL ESTATE WANTED!

If you have good Real Estate in or near Charlevoix that is well located and you really want to sell it at a reasonably low price, I want to know about it. I can handle only a limited amount. If you mean business, better see me before I have all I can use.

For Sale

A beautiful 40-acre farm on shore of Pine Lake. First-class 8-room house and basement. Good barn. Spring furnishes running water to bath. Trout stream 21 feet wide crosses corner. 75 bearing fruit trees. One-fourth mile fine bathing beach. Worth $500. My price, $2500. E. Z. TERMS OR CASH

Will Trade

25 Resort lots that can't be beat.

Business Block renting for $12 a month for a good farm.

Fine Residence in Petoskey for house and few acres near Charlevoix.

C. I. B. McLEAN ABOUT IT

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Glen Ellis of Petoskey visited here Sunday.

Miss Swigart left for her home at Alma, Saturday.

Mrs. John C. Miller has been quite ill the past week.

B. W. Jackson and family spent Sunday at Ellsworth.

Mrs. H. S. Harsha is out again after a week's illness.

Mrs. F. M. Taylor visited relatives at Petoskey last week.

Born to Charlie Tuhy and wife last Friday a baby girl.

The supervisors will be with us again next Tuesday.

Mrs. Ray N. France of Petoskey, was in the city Tuesday.

Born to Ed Reed and wife Monday morning a baby girl.

Mrs. Alonzo Powers is out again after a two week's illness.

Mrs. Richard Babcock of Petoskey is visiting in the city.

Frank Sifer of Petoskey made a business visit here Friday.

Miss Inne Catton left Saturday for her home at Benzonia.

Vernie Norton is the owner of a Flying Merkel motorcycle.

Emerson W. Price of Lima, Ohio, arrived in the city Saturday.

Miss Hallie Bon spent Sunday with friends at Central Lake.

Miss Catherine Diebel left Tuesday for her home at Saginaw.

Supervisor Lueday of East Jordan, was in the city Monday.

Attorney E. N. Clink of East Jordan, was in the city Saturday.

Charles Wilkinson spent Sunday with relatives at Central Lake.

The new garage of J. A. Vought is rapidly nearing completion.

The Bartlett seated seventy-eight people at their Sunday dinner.

Miss Abbie King left Thursday for her home at Kinsman, Ohio.

Dr. W. G. Kinyon of Traverse City is here on a two weeks vacation.

Miss Ruby Emory has returned from her week's visit at Chicago.

Miss Genevieve Jarvis left Saturday for her home at Onego Lake.

Mrs. E. H. Green arrived from Chicago the latter part of the week.

Ford P. Robbins of Boyne Falls, was here the latter part of the week.

A. B. Nicholas of East Jordan, made a business trip here Monday.

Mrs. Richard Shapton is visiting at the home of her brother in Norwood.

Miss Bennett of Glen Haven, is the new book-keeper for Lee Howland.

Miss Marjorie Weaver is the new book-keeper at Power's plumbing shop.

I. B. McLean the new real estate dealer can be found at 330 Bridge street.

If you want to vote at the August primary you must be enrolled by June 25.

The annual picnic of the R. N. A. will be held in the park, Tuesday, June 25.

Harry Alcox and Robert Bridge left Saturday for a short visit at Chicago.

Ethan Jolliffe of Atwood, who has been seriously ill, was in town Tuesday.

W. H. Aldrich and wife to Chicago, arrived in the city the latter part of the week.

Hugo Hampton has arrived home from Ann Arbor where he attended the U. of M.

H. L. McMillan of East Jordan, was a business caller here the first of the week.

Mrs. John Baker and daughter Doris, left Saturday on a brief visit to Chicago.

Miss Mary Kirchner will spend the summer months at her home in Saginaw.

Miss Lula Mason closed a very successful term of school at Bannock June 12.

Lee Howland has been awarded the East Jordan paving contract for $13,024.

Miss Mand Cross and Marjorie Hant of East Jordan were in the city Saturday.

Rev. C. E. Taggart the new Congregational pastor, will occupy the pulpit Sunday.

Mrs. F. W. Mayne left this morning for Grand Rapids on a brief business visit.

Miss Reba Cooper has returned home from Kalamazoo, where she spent the winter.

Miss Helen Crane is home from St. Ignace to spend the summer with her parents.

A. J. Usher, wife and son, Charle, visited with friends at Traverse City over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Neiland and son of Escanaba, are spending a few days in the city.

Miss Anna Lombard left for Onego Lake, Saturday, where she will spend the summer.

D. S. Payton attended the funeral services of Mrs. L. C. Madison, at East Jordan Monday.

Will Harsha of Traverse City, visited at the home of H. S. Harsha and family last week.

Miss Emma Smith of Petoskey, is visiting at the home of Ray Brockway and family.

I. M. DeVoe and wife left Saturday for Mt. Pleasant where they will spend the summer.

An excursion was run here Sunday on the S. S. Illinois from Suttons Bay and Northport.

Mrs. Dan Durance and daughter Jessie of Boyne City, were visitors here the first of the week.

Mrs. Anna Nowland spent a few days at Phelps last week with her sister, Mrs. H. Dimebaugh.

George Cronier Jr., returned home Saturday from New York, where he has been attending school.

Mrs. G. H. Waterman has returned to her home at Keweenaw, after visiting relatives here.

Chas. Mayne arrived home Saturday from Ann Arbor, where he was a student at the U. of M.

Mrs. John Kane of Sheboygan, Wis., is visiting at the home of her parents, J. W. Kirby and wife.

Mrs. Wilbur Cline of Chicago, is making a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Wilbur.

Hon. Robert W. Paddock is in Chicago this week attending the national republican convention.

Mrs. Martha and Mrs. May Budd, have returned to their home at Northport after a short visit here.

J. W. Teasdale and family of St. Louis, Mo., are now located in their summer cottage on the north side.

Mrs. Vernon Payton and baby of Traverse City, have been visiting at the home of D. S. Payton and family.

Miss Margaret Zettler has just returned from a three weeks' visit to southern Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

We have received a copy of the premium list of the Michigan state fair to be held at Detroit September 16-21.

Charles H. Ferguson, formerly of Norwood, now living in Chicago, was to the city the latter part of the week.

Thomas Shapton, who has been at Ottawa, Ohio, for some time, has been spending a few days with his family.

Mrs. Santos and children of Boyne City have been making a short visit at the home of Charles Raber and family.

Byron Smith of Grand Rapids, came up to attend the class reunion of 1902 which occurred last Friday evening.

Quite a number from this city are in attendance at the Epworth League convention now being held at East Jordan.

Mrs. Dora Gendell of St. Paul, Minn., is making an extended visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Myer Levinson.

H. A. Craig, accompanied by his mother who had been visiting him a few days, left Saturday for his home at the Soo.

H. P. Parmelee has greatly improved "Breezy Point" by building a new porch on the north and west sides of the cottage.

Miss Lula Hawkey returned to her home at Fremont, Tuesday, after visiting the past week with Mrs. E. M. Atchison.

Edward Cameron and family arrived here Saturday from Atlanta. Mr. Cameron will run an auto during the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Milliken of Traverse City, and her sister from West Virginia, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Ida Pulipher of Marion.

Miss Whiting of the normal school, left Saturday for Washington, D. C., where she will visit during the summer months.

Mrs. James Burns and husband of Detroit, are visiting at the home of her uncle, T. D. Nowland, who is very ill at his home on Grant street.

Horis, daughter of O. D. Hammond and wife, who has been dangerously ill with pneumonia the past week, is resting easier today.

On Sunday June 9, occurred the marriage of Miss Pauline Meyers, of this city and Clarence Book, formerly of this place, now of Bay Shore.

If you want to see one of the most unique window displays ever shown in the city take a stroll by the Charlevoix Hardware Company's store.

Misses A. Pearl Lewis, Lome Lower and Mary E. Sweeney left Saturday for Mt. Pleasant. The former will attend the summer normal.

The Congregational parsonage has been sold to Miss Emma Bennett, and in place of it the church has bought the Ganser house on State street.

The boat houses on the Belvedere resort are now nearly completed and add greatly to the appearance of the resort as well as benefiting those owning boats.

Lisle Shanahan returned Monday from a short trip to Chicago and Edwardsburg. Mrs. Shanahan and children will remain at the latter place about two weeks more.

Deputy State Factory inspector Darragh of Carson, was in the city yesterday. He informs us that Charlevoix has made noticeable improvements since the last inspection.

Helen Marie is the name of a nine-pound baby girl who took possession of the house at Lee Smith's Sunday. Lee says she looks like her dad, but that's purely a matter of opinion.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kane left Saturday for Lansing, where they will attend the commencement exercises of the M. A. C. Their son Forrest is a graduate of the mechanical engineering course.

Forrest McGeagh cut himself quite badly at the knee, while playing with a jack knife on the gall around the latter part of the week. Dr. Armstrong dressed the wound and Forrest is at work again.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bogart of Kingsley arrived in the city Monday for a visit with the former's brothers W. J. and J. A. Bogart. While here they are attending the Epworth League convention.

J. R. Mead, O. Nordman, A. F. Young, Mason Rose, M. J. Stockman, R. Shapton, W. A. Smith, F. A. Butler and J. H. Milford attended the meeting of the Council of the Masonic order at Petoskey yesterday.

George Fryhofer of Chicago, an expert real estate man, is in the city for the purpose of handling the putting on the market of lots in the new resort, North Charlevoix, better known as the Boy City grounds.

Mrs. John Ward was badly hurt the latter part of the week when she fell down stairs, striking her head against a window and cutting her hands and head. Although badly bruised she is doing nicely now.

Mrs. E. E. Frazier returned from Hart the latter part of the week, where she was called by the death of her mother. She was accompanied by her father William Turner, who will remain here for some time.

Miss Hazel Stevens and Reed Genett were married at the home of the bride's father last Wednesday, at high noon, with Rev. Biery officiating. Only immediate relatives were present. They will make their home in this city.

Ivy Lord of Atwood, jumped down from a scaffolding Thursday, striking a stick, which flew up and hit him in the eye, making a serious injury. He left at once for Grand Rapids for medical treatment where hopes are held that his sight may be retained.

Mrs. S. A. Marting was given a farewell dinner at the Bartlett last Friday evening by the Shakespeare club. The tables were prettily decorated and the dinner most tempting. Mrs. Marting was presented with a book, as a token of her past membership in the club.

A communication just received from John E. Gibson of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, gives the information that the trip across the Atlantic was a very pleasant one and that he expects to sail from Liverpool on the return journey July 6.

Capt. Roy Marshall of Jackson, Mich., will address the Men's Bible class at noon Sunday, at the Carnegie library reading room. Roy is an old Charlevoix boy and has a host of friends who will be well pleased to hear him. Charlevoix is proud of Roy Marshall. All men welcome.

Cement blocks for the cellar and other improvements—the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co. 174

ASKS ANOTHER TERM
Prosecuting Attorney Fitch Announces His Candidacy for Nomination.

In another column will be found the announcement of Prosecuting Attorney Fitch for re-nomination to his present position.

Two years ago Mr. Fitch won his nomination after a warm contest with two other candidates and the confidence which his friends placed in him has been carefully justified by his conduct of the office and probably he will not have opposition Mr. Fitch, deserves and will probably receive the unanimous vote of his party at the primary.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders' Supply Co. 174

Movable Foliage.
"You ought to plant some shrubbery around the statio," said the station master, "but I'll get some of our whiskered citizens to stand around as he passes through."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Go to Benj. Brown's for your rubber scales. Skates for men, women and children. All prices. 234

Expert harness repairing is our specialty at the right place—Frank Chamberlain. 214

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, fine lining see the Builders' Supply Co., phone 3627. 174

CRANE'S WHY

Vudor
PORCH SHADES

ARE NEEDED

You need Vudor Porch Shades to get the most out of your porch.

To make it a spot where you can rest or work on the hottest days—out doors, yet free from the sun's glare and heat.

You can do this with Vudor Porch Shades; you can add to the house another room, cool and shady, where you may enjoy every refreshing breeze, in secluded comfort.

Vudor Porch Shades are very durable, and will last many seasons.

...Prices Are Very Reasonable...

4 feet	-	$2.25
6 feet	-	$3.25
8 feet	-	$4.25
10 feet	-	$5.50

Just Received a new line of

Trunks and Suit Cases

—All kinds of—

Light and Double Harness and Truck Harness

Excellent Quality

Reasonable Prices

ALL KINDS REPAIRING

WORK GUARANTEED

Frank Chamberlin

Shea's Old Stand

Something New

Have you seen these beautiful goods in Ivory Finish?

Jewel Boxes

Hair Receivers

Powder Boxes

Elegant for Gifts

Headquarters for Souvenir Spoons

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

Don't forget our Saturday Sale
on Meats

Come in and be convinced that we can save you money. Try some of our cooked meats such as

Pickled Heart and Tongue
Pickled Pigs' Feet
Liver Sausage
Pork Sausage
Bologna and Frankfurts

— All Home Made —

The Market on the Corner
Bert VanAllsburg

Corner State and Antrim Streets
Phone 125

Saturday Special
June 22

GRANITE DISH PANS 29c

Only one to a Person.

FIRST QUALITY WARE

Charlevoix Hardware Co.

Home Course In Road Making

Final Article.—Road Maintenance and Repair.

By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department
of Agriculture.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912.

THERE is no phase of the subject of road improvement so important and which is so often neglected as that of maintenance. Roads may be constructed in a most scientific manner and out of the best materials available, but unless they are properly maintained they will soon be of no use. On the other hand, roads may be never so good, but with systematic repair and maintenance they may be rendered passable at all seasons of the year for ordinary traffic. No road has ever been so well constructed that it did not need to be maintained. Even the tremendous massive roads of the Romans have almost disappeared, largely for lack of maintenance.

The terms maintenance and repair are very frequently used as synonyms, but there is a wide distinction between these two operations. To maintain a road means to keep it always in good condition, while to repair it means to make it good only occasionally. In other words, repair sets in after maintenance fails to keep the road in proper condition.

CARETAKER MAINTAINING A STATE HIGHWAY IN CONNECTICUT.

No state or community has ever built or kept in repair a system of first class improved roads under the personal service or labor tax system. In fact, this system is not applicable to any class of road construction or maintenance, not even to earth roads. Its principles are unsound, its operations unjust, its practice wasteful, and the results obtained under it are unsatisfactory in every particular.

Undoubtedly the best system of maintenance is that which provides for the permanent employment of skilled laborers or caretakers who may have charge of particular sections of road or who may be assigned to any part of the county where the work is most needed. Men employed in this way become experts in their particular line of work, and if they make mistakes one year they are pretty apt to correct them the next; but, under the labor tax system, these mistakes are repeated from time to time. If one man is employed to look after a particular stretch of road or to do a particular class of work he will soon learn to take pride and interest in his work.

While it would be manifestly impossible to adopt this system throughout the entire country on account of limited resources and sparse population, still it is believed that there are many places where it might be used with great success. It would be difficult to find a county which is so poor that it could not afford to employ continuously eight or ten laborers and three or four teams to maintain and repair its roads. There are many counties, however, which could well afford to employ two times such a force. That such a plan would be more effective than the labor tax system would appear to be self-evident.

One of the chief reasons why the earth roads are so neglected, experience shows that by proper maintenance earth roads may be transformed into something better than elongated mudholes. The first and last commandment in the maintenance of earth roads is to keep the surface well drained. Water is the great enemy to our city or soil roads and must be removed immediately or much mud and very bad roads are the result. To insure good drainage the ditches must be attended to and obstructions removed and a smooth, raised crown of the road maintained. For this purpose the split log drag or some similar device is very useful and at the same time inexpensive. The drag can be used on a sand or gravel road just as effectively as on an earth road.

The following points should be borne in mind in dragging an earth, gravel or sand road. The drag should be light and should be pulled over the road at an angle of about forty-five degrees in such a way that only a small amount of material is raised to the center of the road. The drag should ride on the crown of the road, not on the sides. The dragging should begin on the side of the road at a point back returning on the opposite side. Unless the road is already in good condition it should be dragged after every heavy rain, when the mud is in such condition as to puddle well and still not adhere too much to the drag. A few trips over the road will give the operator a clew as to the best time to drag. Drag at all seasons of the year, but do not drag a dry road. If a road is dragged immediately before a cold spell the road will freeze smooth.

Always drag a little toward the center with the aim of keeping the slope of the crown about an inch to the foot. If the drag cuts too much shorten the hitch or change your position on the drag. The best results from dragging are obtained only by repeated applications. A good system of dragging is that which is practiced in Kansas and Iowa, where road authorities are authorized to let contracts to farmers for dragging the roads abutting on their lands.

In the maintenance of hard roads, such as gravel and macadam, different methods must be pursued. The causes of wear on hard roads are the wearing of the wheels of vehicles and horses' shoes. The weather acts in some ways directly on the materials, but to a much greater degree indirectly. Frost is one of the most active of the destructive agencies. The expansion and contraction caused by frost sometimes lead to a general disintegration of the surface. This is especially true where clay is used as a binder and where the road surface is porous at the drainage point. When such a road thaws out after a hard frost the macadam will be broken up by a layer of loose stones, into which the traffic will sink, forming ruts. Frost has but little if any effect on a dry, well kept road.

Look after the drainage very carefully in the fall and be sure that the surface is as nearly waterproof as possible, so that the road will go into the winter dry and not full of water. No rain often wash out the binder and sometimes the smaller stones as well, leaving the surface both rough and porous. The amount of material lost from the road by this means is often larger than the toll exacted by traffic.

The following hints may be found useful in the maintenance and repair of gravel and macadam roads:

Never allow a rut or hole to remain on the road, but fill it at once with chips from the stone heap. When the road is built the contractor should be required to place at least 100 tons of surface material and screenings at a convenient place for each mile of road constructed. Always use chips for patching and for all repairs during the summer months.

Never put fresh stone on the road if by cross picking and raking the surface can be kept in the proper condition and cross section. The rake is the most useful tool used in road maintenance. Large patches of stone should not be spread over the whole width of the road at one time. The bulk of all repairs should be made before Christmas, so that the road will go through the winter in good condition.

In moderately dry weather always pick up the old surface into ridges six inches apart and remove all large and projecting stones before applying new material. Never apply stones more than one stone deep, but add a second layer when the first is worn in if one layer is not sufficient. Never crack stones on the road, for if you do a smooth surface will be out of the question. Never leave the stones in ridges. All large stones, blocks of wood and other obstructions used for diverting traffic should be removed at nightfall or the consequences may be serious. Never put a stone on the road for repairing purposes that will not pass freely in every direction through a two-inch ring. Smaller stones should be used for patching. Macadam's advice was that no stone should be placed in a macadam road which the workman could not get in his month. Trackwork, granite and other hard stone should be broken finer for repair work than the limestone and other softer rocks.

Use screenings if possible for binding together newly laid material. Road sweepings, horse droppings, sods and other rubbish when used for this purpose will ruin the best road ever constructed. Water worn or rounded stones should not be used for repairs, as they will not bind. Never allow dust or mud to be on the surface of a macadam or gravel road, for either of these will increase the cost of maintenance.

CARETAKER WHO MAINTAINS FIVE MILES OF ROAD IN ALLEGHENY COUNTY, PA. THERE ARE NINETY-FIVE IN THE COUNTY.

The middle of the road should always be maintained a little higher than the sides so that the rains may run into the side ditches at once. Water tables, culverts, gutters and ditches should never be allowed to clog up. The caretaker or patrolman should always be on his road, particularly in wet weather, and should fill up at once with the stone or screenings any holes or ruts where the water may lie.

A Long Hop.
Scientists tell us that a grasshopper can jump about 200 times its own length.

(These articles and illustrations must not be reprinted without special permission.)

THE ORIGIN OF OUR DOMESTIC TURKEY.

While it's rather difficult to trace man to the monkey, our domestic turkey leaves plainer footprints on the sands of time, and we believe should a hunter snare and mate a Southern wild-turkey gobbler and a Mexican wild-turkey hen the offspring would be in blood and appearance like the first of the domestic turkey tribe, from which the present varieties came. To prove their claims discoverers always bear back curious trophies from the lands they find, so we are told that Pedro Nino (1500), among other wonderful things from the new world bore back the Mexican wild turkey to Spain, and the Cabots or others on return to England exhibited the Northern wild turkey.

Photo by C. M. Barnitz.

THE NORTHERN WILD TURKEY.

When Cortes (1518) conquered the golden-land of the Montezumas he found the Mexican wild turkey in large domesticated flocks, but there is no record that Indians or early settlers bred the Northern wild turkey. The Mexican turkey was sent from Spain to England in 1524, and the advent of this strange bird was of great interest to ancient ornithologists, the Mexican so beautiful in its silvery white markings and black and the Northern magnificent in its chestnut brown, bronze and black. Some English gentlemen then mated a Northern gobbler and Mexican hen, and their good qualities thus combined in their offspring, the resulting stock was the beginning of the present domestic turkey tribe.

Photo by C. M. Barnitz.

THE MEXICAN WILD TURKEY.

English settlers brought birds of the new blood back to America, the land of their nativity, to be further improved by American skill, and of the seven splendid varieties resulting the Minnesota American Bronze, the nearest to the original, is conceded by both continents to be the plus ultra of them all.

REMARKABLE RECORD OF IMPROVEMENTS IN HASTINGS

Nebraska City Has Reason to Be Proud of Its Achievements.

In the way of municipal improvements, which are a sure token of the progressiveness of a community, Hastings, Neb., has made a record that in the past year that is said to be without parallel among the Nebraska cities of her class for this or any other year.

Including over four miles of street paving finished in the twelve months ending this fall and for sewer extensions and improvements in the water and light department finished or contracted for during the calendar year Hastings' bill is approximately $250,000. This year's improvements bring the value of the water system up to $200,000, and the value of the electric light and power system up to $100,000, making a total for the two of $300,000. The bonded debt of the city was de-

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice.

To owners, occupiers or possessors of lands or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:

Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912. And must also be cut down and destroyed again on or before September 1st, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional levy of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected. All brush growing along the right-of-way of any highway must also be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912.

Dated this 18th day of July, 1912.
Joseph M. Connor, Commissioner of Highways, Township of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.

Notice.

To owners, occupiers or possessors of lands or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:

Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912. And must also be cut down and destroyed again on or before September 1st, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional levy of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected. All brush growing along the right-of-way of any highway must also be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912.

Dated this 18th day of July, 1912.
Joseph M. Connor, Commissioner of Highways, Township of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.

Notice.

To owners, occupiers or possessors of lands or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:

Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912. And must also be cut down and destroyed again on or before September 1st, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional levy of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected. All brush growing along the right-of-way of any highway must also be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912.

Dated this 18th day of June, 1912.
Alfred C. Green, Commissioner of Highways, Township of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.

Notice.

To owners, occupiers or possessors of land, or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:

Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912. And must also be cut down and destroyed again on or before September 1st, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional levy of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected.

Dated June 12, 1912.
T. S. M. WEBSTER,
Weed Commissioner of the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix.

Official Public Notice.

ALL DOGS, Male or Female, not effectively muzzled, running at large on any street, alley or public grounds, or private premises, and the premises of the owner or keeper thereof, may be killed by any person, and it shall be the duty of every Constable, Police Officer or other Peace Officer of the City of Charlevoix to kill and to be held responsible to kill any such dog. This will be in force until September 30, 1912.

Charlevoix, Michigan, June 8, 1912.
By Order of the Mayor.

Increased during the last ten years from $25,000 to $195,000, but the $500,000 issue of Intercession bonds this year brought the total back to $250,000, which is still far less than the value of the city's improvements in the two municipal enterprises. Bond issues of $100,000 for the water plant and an original bond issue of $200,000 for the light and sewer plant have been the only public improvements in the city since the last two years have had the subsequent improvements having been paid for out of the earnings.

Moreover, there has been no levy either for water used by the city or for street lighting. During the present year the city has invested about $8,000 in a new well and a new smokestack and about $9,000 in the installation of a new air compressor. Approximately $1,000 has been spent in the enlargement of the power house and the building of a coal storage house and a machine shop. Two boilers have been installed and are about ready to be placed in commission.

When the settlement is made this improvement will represent a further investment of $300,000. Early this month the council contracted for a new pump to cost $2,500 and the foundation and addition to the building about $200,000 more. Sewer extensions built and contracted for during the year show an outlay of over $7,000. The total cost of paying in the twelve months ending this fall was $206,450.88. Over 700 carloads of materials were shipped into Hastings for this paying expenditure of the home brick used.

Must Keep Streets and Alleys Clean.

A determined effort to clean up the streets and alleys of Poudre 1912, and place them in a more presentable condition is to be undertaken at once by the health department. Copies of the ordinance regarding the throwing of trash into the streets and alleys of the city have been printed and will be circulated generally throughout the city. It stipulates a fine of from $5 to $10 for violation, and, according to the officials of the health department, it is to be enforced to the letter. The ordinance covers rubbish and trash of every description, and the first work of the department will be a thorough inspection of present conditions. Notice will be served to violators that they had better clean up at once, and after a reasonable time has elapsed prosecution will be started unless the law is adhered to absolutely.

Martha Washington Comfort Shoes

Genuine comfort—that's what it means to wear the stylish Martha Washington Comfort Shoes. They fit like a glove, and insure complete rest and relief. No buttons or laces—just slip them on and off like a slipper. Elastic at the sides provides perfect fit over any instep. You will never know how comfortable a good looking shoe can be until you have worn

MARTHA WASHINGTON COMFORT SHOES

Beware of imitations. Only the genuine have the name Martha Washington and the Mayer Trade Mark stamped on the sole. Refuse substitutes. You will always find here the latest and the best shoes for comfort, fit, style and economy.

Leading Lady Shoe

By these three qualities has the Leading Lady won its great reputation. To wear a

Mayer Leading Lady Shoe

is to wear the same shoe that thousands of carefully dressed women are wearing and finding satisfactory. The Mayer Leading Lady is a trim, neat and stylish shoe in every respect. You can't make a mistake in buying the Mayer Leading Lady or any other Mayer shoe in this store, because every one represents the highest possible value in style, comfort and durability. Shoes for every purpose for all the family at reasonable prices. Look for the Mayer Trade-Mark on the Sole.

SOLD BY
Bert Mason
Cash Grocer

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Cure I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.
I CURE NERVOUS PROBLEMS from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter of how long standing.
I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nervous system to perfect health.
I CURE PILES in 20 days to stay cured and to never return.
I CURE CONSTIPATION, the great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 25 years. Have cured hundreds given up by home doctors. Think I cannot treat at home by sending me your mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private nursing are given for $10 a week.
I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to any cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.
Are unfortunate and given best of care. May work out from. Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and give advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars—life itself—to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.
ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M. D.
Helding Sanitarium & Retreat, Helling, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

The Courier Job Department pleases particular people. Try Us and See.

Don'ts.

- Don't be cruel to dumb animals. Give them food in your care, so however.
- Don't pose as a poultry perfect. Folks quickly dispose of the fellows that pose.
- Don't abuse the broody hens. Put them in an all star crate, and their fever will abate.
- Don't feed goose much grain in summer. Soft grass water and weeds supply their summer needs.
- Don't neglect brooders after hatching season. Get the surplus off before molt puts them out of condition.
- Don't feed much cabbage to layers. A cabbage leaf worn in the hen will keep your laid head cool and sweet.
- Don't waste feed on crippled ducklings and chickens. They are expensive nuisances and should be killed on sight.
- Don't let your hens scratch in your neighbor's garden. They may find something there to pick and nibble and get hit by a brick.

Free Trees and Shrubs.

F. F. Phillips, owner of Phillips gardens and a director of the City Improvement League, has announced a plan by which he hopes to make 250 Atlanta homes beautiful. Any person who goes to Phillips gardens who on a home, the valuation of which does not exceed $2,500 will receive free shrubs and trees.

Fine Upholstering

Hair Mattresses

Renovated

Box Springs to Order

Boat and Porch Cushions

AWNINGS

Call Bell phone 150 Petoskey and we will call with samples and prices.

Ask your neighbor about our work.

Scattergood Bros.

Petoskey, Mich. 2114

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

(Continued from page three)

I couldn't find any anywhere else, honest I couldn't, and just as soon as I came to the edge I began to see them here. I kept my promise. I didn't come in alone. Pete came with me. He's so strong. He isn't afraid of anything, and he's perfectly splendid to locate coconuts. He's found half of these. Come on, Pete. It's getting dark now, and we must go.

They started for the trail, Pete carrying the coconuts. He left them at the case, while Elvira and Shlun went on to the carriage together.

"Elvira Comstock, what does this mean?" demanded her mother.

"It's all right. One of the neighbors was with her, and she got several dollars' worth of stuff," interposed Shlun.

CHAPTER XIX.

Wherein Elvira Discovers a Violin and Billy Disciplines Margaret.

ELVIRA missed the little figure at the bridge the next morning. She slowly walked up the street and turned in at the wide entrance to the school grounds. She scarcely could comprehend that only a week ago she had gone there friendless, alone, and so sick at heart that she was physically ill. Today she had decent clothing, books, friends and her mind was at ease to work on her studies.

As she approached home that night the girl paused in amazement. Her mother had company, and she was laughing. Elvira entered the kitchen softly and peeked into the sitting room. Mrs. Comstock sat in her chair holding a book and every few seconds a soft chuckle broke into a real laugh. Mark Twain was doing his work, while Mrs. Comstock was not looking in a sense of humor. Elvira entered the room before her mother saw her. Mrs. Comstock looked up with flushed face. "Where did you get this?" she demanded.

"I bought it," said Elvira. "I bought it! With all the taxes due?" "I paid for it out of my Indian money, mother," said Elvira. "I couldn't bear to spend so much on myself and nothing at all on you. I was afraid to buy the dress I should have liked to, and I thought the book would be company while I was gone. I haven't read it, but I do hope it's good."

"Good! It's the biggest piece of foolishness I have read in all my life. I've laughed all day ever since I found it. I had a notion to go out and read some of it to the cows and see if they wouldn't laugh."

"If it made you laugh, it's a wise book," said Elvira.

"Wise?" cried Mrs. Comstock. "You can stake your life it's a wise book. It takes the smartest man there is to do this kind of feeling." And she began laughing again.

Elvira, highly satisfied with her purchase, went to her room and put on her working clothes. Thereafter she made a point of getting a book that she thought would interest her mother from the library every week and leaving it on the sitting room table. Every night she carried home at least two schoolbooks and studied until she had mastered the points of each lesson. She did her share of the work faithfully, and every available minute she was in the fields searching for coconuts, for the mother promised to become her best source of income.

She gathered large baskets of nests, flowers, mosses, insects and all sorts of natural history specimens and sold them to the grade teachers. At first she tried to tell these instructors what to teach their pupils about the specimens, but, recognizing how much more she knew than they, one after another begged her to study at home and use her spare hours in school to exhibit and explain nature subjects to their pupils. Elvira loved the work, and she needed the money, for every few days some matter of expense arose that she had not expected.

When the music swelled from the school orchestra Elvira's heart almost broke with throbbing joy, for music always had affected her strangely, and, since she had been comfortable enough in her surroundings to notice things, she had listened to every note to find what it was that literally hurt her heart, and at last she knew. It was the talking of the violins. They were human voices, and they spoke a language Elvira understood. It seemed to her that she must climb up on the stage, take the instruments from the fingers of the players and make them speak what was in her heart. She fairly prayed to get hold of one, if only for a second.

That night she said to her mother: "I am perfectly crazy for a violin. I am sure I could play one; sure as I live. Did any one?" Elvira never completed that sentence.

"Hush!" thundered Mrs. Comstock. "Be quiet! Never mention those things before me again—never as long as you live. I loathe them. They are a snare of the devil himself. They were made to lure men and women from their homes and their honor. If ever I see you with one in your fingers, I will smash it to pieces."

Naturally Elvira hesitated, but she thought of nothing else after she had done justice to her lessons. At last there came a day when for some reason the leader of the orchestra left his violin on the grand piano. That morning Elvira made her first mistake in algebra. At noon, as soon as the great building was empty, she slipped into the auditorium, found the side door which led to the stage, and, going through the musicians' entrance, she took the violin. She carried it back into the little side room where the orchestra assembled, closed all the doors, opened the case and lifted out the instrument.

She laid it on her breast, dropped her chin on it and drew the bow softly across the strings. One after another she tested the open notes. They sounded her of things. Gradually her stroke ceased to tremble and she drew the bow freely. Then her fingers began to fall, and softly, slowly she searched up and down those strings for sound—she knew. Standing in the middle of the floor, she tried over and over. It seemed scarcely a minute, but the hall was filled with the sound of hurrying feet, and she was forced to put away the violin and go to her classes. Of food she never thought on all she noticed how heavy her lunch box was on the way home, so she sat on the log by the swamp and remedied that. The next day she prayed that the violin would be left again, but her mother was not answered.

That night when she returned from the school she made an excuse to go down to see Billy. He was engaged in balling walnuts—by driving them through holes in a board. His hands were protected by a pair of Margaret's old gloves, but he had speckled his face generously. He looked well and greeted Elvira heartily.

"Me and the squirrels are laying up our winter stores," he shouted. "Gus the old fellow, and the next, an' if we have any nuts we have an 'em now. But I'm ahead, 'cos Uncle Wesley made me this board, and I can hull a big pile while the old squirrel does only let one with his teeth."

Elvira picked him up and kissed him. "Billy, are you happy?" she asked.

"Yes, and so's Shan!" answered Billy. "You ought to see him make the dirt fly when he gets after a chipmunk."

He asked Wesley and ran to show him a walnut too big to go through the holes, and Elvira and Margaret went back to the house.

They talked of many things for a time, and then Elvira said suddenly, "Aunt Margaret, I like music."

"I've noticed that in you all your life," answered Margaret.

"I can make a violin talk," announced Elvira, and then in amazement watched the face of Margaret Shlun grow pale.

"A violin?" she whispered. "Where did you get a violin?"

"They fairly seemed to speak to me in the orchestra. One day the conductor left his in the auditorium, and I took it, and Aunt Margaret I can make it do the wind in the swamp, the birds, and the animals. I can make any sound I ever heard on it. If I had a chance to practice a little I could make it do the orchestra music too. I don't know how I know, but I do."

"Did you ever mention it to your mother?" faltered Margaret.

"Yes, and she seems prejudiced against them; but, oh, Aunt Margaret, I never felt so about anything, not even going to school. I just feel as if I'd die if I didn't have one. I could keep it at school and practice at noon a whole hour. Soon they'd ask me to play in the orchestra. I could keep it in the case and practice in the woods in summer. You'd let me play here over Sunday. Oh, Aunt Margaret, what does one cost? Would it be wicked for me to take of my own money and buy a very cheap one? I could play on the least expensive one made."

"Oh, no, you couldn't. A cheap machine makes cheap music. You got to have a fine fiddle to make it sing. But there's no sense in your buying one. There isn't a decent reason on earth why you shouldn't have your father's."

"My father's?" cried Elvira. She caught Margaret Shlun by the arm. "My father had a violin! He played

"My father's?" cried Elvira. She caught Margaret Shlun by the arm. "My father had a violin! He played

"Mother dearly loves music," said Elvira.

"Not when it took the man she loved away from her to make it."

"Where is my father's violin?"

"Elvira."

"I've never seen a picture of my father. I've never heard his name mentioned. I've never had a scrap that belonged to him. Was he my father or am I a charity child like Billy, and so she hates me?"

"She's got good pictures of him. Seems she just can't bear to hear him talked about. Of course, he was your father. They lived right there when you were born. She don't dislike you. She just tries to make herself think she does. There's no sense in the world in you not having this violin. I've a great notion."

"Has she got it?"

"No. I've never heard her mention it. It was not at home when he—when he died."

"Do you know where it is?"

"Yes. I'm the only person on earth who does, except the one who has it."

"Who is that?"

"I can't tell you, but I will see if they have it yet and get it if I can. But if your mother finds it out she will never forgive me."

"I can't help it," said Elvira. "I want that violin. I want it now."

"I'll go tomorrow and get it if it has not been destroyed."

"Destroyed! Oh, Aunt Margaret, would any one dare?"

"I hardly think so. It was a good instrument. He played it like a master."

"Tell me," breathed Elvira.

"His hair was red and curled more than yours, and his eyes were blue. He was tall, slim and the very image of mischief. He joked and teased all day until he picked up that violin. Then his head bent over it and his eyes got big and earnest. He seemed to listen as if he first heard the notes and then copied them. Sometimes he drew the bow tremulously, like he wasn't sure it was right and he might have to try again. He could almost drive you crazy when he wanted to, and no man that ever lived could make you dance as he could. He made it all up as he went. He seemed to listen for his dancing music, too. It appeared to come to him. He'd begin to play and you had to keep time or die. You couldn't be still."

The tears were rolling down Elvira's cheeks. "Oh, Aunt Margaret," she sobbed. "Why haven't you told me about him sooner? I feel as if you had given my father to me living so that I could touch him. I can see him too. Why didn't you ever tell me before? Go on, go on! Tell me more about my father."

"Wait until I see if I can get the violin."

So Elvira went home in suspense, and that night she added to her prayers, "Dear Lord, be merciful to my father and, oh, do help Aunt Margaret to get his violin."

Wesley and Billy came in to supper tired and hungry. Billy ate heartily, but his eyes often rested on a plate of tempting cookies, and when Wesley offered them to the boy he reached for one. Margaret was compelled to explain that cookies were forbidden that night because Billy had used a bad word that day.

"What?" said Wesley. "Wrong words been coming again? Oh, Billy, I do wish you could remember! I can't sit and eat cookies before a little boy who has none. I'll have to put mine back too." And Margaret did the same.

Then Billy slid from his chair, ran to the couch, buried his face in the pillow and cried heart brokenly. Wesley hurried to the barn and Margaret to the kitchen. When the dishes were almost washed Billy slipped from the back door.

Wesley, piling hay into the mangers, heard a sound behind him and inquired, "That you, Billy?"

"Yes," answered Billy, "and it's all so dark you can't see me now, isn't it?"

"Well, mighty near," answered Wesley.

"Then you stoop down and open your mouth."

Wesley bent over the small figure and received an installment of cookie that almost choked him.

"Now you can eat it," shouted Billy in delight. "It's all dark. I can't see what you're doing 't all."

Wesley picked up the small figure and set the boy on the back of a horse to bring his face level so that they could talk as men.

"Now, what a dandy scheme!" he commented. "Did you and Aunt Margaret fix it up?"

"No. She ain't had hers yet. But I got one for her. Ist as soon as you and yours I am going to take hers and feed her first time I had her in the dark."

"But, Billy, where did you get the cookies? You know Aunt Margaret said you were not to have any."

"I let took them," said Billy. "I didn't take them for me. I let took them for you and her. Did-did-t steal?"

Wesley's big hands closed until he almost hurt the boy.

(Continued next week.)

Good Printing means Business.

A Card.

This is to certify that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound does not contain any opiates, any habit-forming drugs, or any ingredients that could possibly harm its users. On the contrary, its great healing and soothing qualities make it a real remedy for coughs, colds and irritations of the throat, chest and lungs. The genuine is in yellow package. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and accept no substitute. Try Drug Store, Frank N. McCall, Proprietor.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell, Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right

Advertising that brings Results

A Newspaper that Prints The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

Iron Age SPINETOOTH CULTIVATORS Closing Out at Cost

SEE
Charlevoix Hardware Co.

Grange Column

Charlevoix Grange.

Charlevoix Grange will meet Monday evening, June 21. All members are requested to bring their children prepared to take part in the program. The children will be the guests of honor. Ice cream and cake will be served. Ladies of the order are requested to bring cake.

Roller Skates from 50 cents to $3.00 at Ben Brown's.

HAS MADE GOOD OFFICIAL

Sheriff Ford P. Robbins Will Probably Have No Opposition at Primary.

In this issue Sheriff Robbins formally announces his candidacy for re-nomination at the primary election.

Mr. Robbins is now serving his first term in this important office and has given universal service having carried out to the letter his promises two years ago that if elected the law would be strictly enforced, and it is not expected that he will have any opposition as by all precedents he is entitled to a second term.

The Bay View Season.

The Bay View Bulletin is out with interesting descriptions of life and public work at that favored summer city. This year the Summer University opens on July 15, the Assembly on July 17, and the closing is August 17. The Assembly program is filled with names that are stars of the first magnitude. Among them are, Maude Ballington Booth, Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, Senator Cannon, of Utah, Gov. Hoch, of Kansas, Gov. Glenn, of North Carolina, the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, David Bispham, the noted baritone, brilliant readers and popular entertainers. The University is making large strides and last year had students from sixteen states. It embraces six schools: College, Normal School, Conservatory of Music, Public Reading and Speaking, Art and Crafts, and Physical Education. The bulletin tells all about the Assembly and schools, and can be had by writing to Bay View.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank all my friends for their kindness to me during my husband's illness and death, also for the many floral tributes.

Mrs. Mary Giddings,
Aunt Giddings.

PROGRESSIVENESS IN THE VILLAGE OF ELMORE.

Ohio Town of 1,000 Population Making Giant Strides.

The village of Elmore, O., has a population of only about a thousand, but has shown itself to be more progressive and better supplied with public improvements than many cities of much larger size, says a writer in the American City. About two miles of the streets are paved, and a sewer system totals more than five miles in length and more than one-third of the residences are connected with it.

The town also has a municipal electric light plant and a semi-municipal water system. Some years ago an effort was made to bond the city to construct waterworks, but this was voted down by the citizens, and following this the council granted a franchise to the National company of South Bend, Ind., to construct a waterworks plant and lease it to the village. An injunction was sought to restrain the council from operating the plant under a lease, but its right to do so was sustained by the supreme court, and the plant is now being leased from the constructing company and operated by the village.

ELMORE'S NEW WATER PUMP.

More recently the voters almost unanimously consented to bonding the village for an electric light plant, and this plan has now been completed. Current is not generated by the village, but is purchased from the Toledo, Fort Clinton and Lakeside railway and distributed by it.

The village is unusually small to be provided with all these improvements, but the illustration shows that the pumping plant and building, water tank, etc., are of creditable neatness, design and substantial construction.

BILLBOARDS ARE DOOMED.

There should be general rejoicing over the sweeping decision of the supreme court of Missouri to the effect that cities may not only regulate the size and conditions of billboards, but may even legislate them out of existence altogether. This form of advertising, says the court specifically, "may not only be regulated and controlled, but may be entirely suppressed for the public good under the police power of the state."

Obviously the chief importance of this decision is that it brings the subject of billboards well within the police power of the state. Incidentally it establishes the constitutionality of the regulatory ordinance which St. Louis passed some six years ago. Since the court has indicated so clearly its willingness to consider total abolition of billboards it is probable that we shall hear further from Missouri on that matter. Three or four more decisions of that sort will have the billboards on the run.

Another matter of interest in this connection is the signing of the Orin road bill by Governor Dix of New York. This authorizes any one to remove or destroy advertisements on public highways. Any one who places an advertisement "on any stone, tree, fence, stump, pole, mileboard, milestone, danger sign, danger signal, guide sign, milepost, billboard, building or other structure within the limits of a public highway is guilty of a misdemeanor."

In Massachusetts, where a similar law is in force, the motorists have taken a lively interest in clearing the highways of the illegal signs. Of course, the law does not touch a billboard which is placed ten feet back on private property. The Missouri method is the only way by which one can be reached. Chicago Evening Post.

DECORATIVE VALUE OF STREET LIGHTING.

The Various Systems and Their Adaptability to Certain Conditions.

One of the practical advantages of the electric lamp is its ability to operate equally well in both upright and pendant positions, says a writer in the American City. The cluster system, which consists of suitable posts supporting a number of lamps, has acquired great popularity, and justly so, the multiple light sources giving a distinctively decorative appearance. A very common arrangement and one to be particularly recommended in smaller cities is the use of four lamps supported on arms, with a lamp in the center, the latter being arranged on a separate circuit so that it can be used for service after midnight or whatever hour the other lamps may be considered unnecessary. The central lamp necessarily must be placed in the upright position, and the globe should be of larger diameter than those on the arms. Whether the lamps on the arms should be pendant or upright is principally a matter of taste, although there is some slight gain in illumination on the sidewalk by placing the lamps pendant and thus avoiding the shadow of the arms.

The capacity or size of the lamps will depend on the distance apart of the standards. In all cases, however, the standards should have an ample margin of safety, so that in case larger lamps are desired at any time they may be safely used.

The width of the street must also be taken into account. The lower post is more suitable for the narrow street, and vice versa. The usual heights are from twelve to fourteen feet for cluster posts, the exact height being determined by the individual conditions mentioned. The various types of lamps, being of much greater candle power, naturally require much higher posts, ranging from twenty feet for the enclosed are to forty feet or even more for the flaming arc.

THE CLUSTER SYSTEM IN USE ON ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) BOARDWALK.

Exterior lighting, like interior lighting, must be carried out with due consideration of the environment and the chief purpose sought. A wholly satisfactory result can be obtained only when all the conditions are carefully considered and given due weight.

Modern illuminants have made possible a degree of beauty and utility in public lighting that was undreamed of even a half century ago. We are only beginning to realize what this means in the development of the city of the twentieth century. The means of producing light in unlimited quantities is one of the few benefits bestowed upon modern civilization by science that can not be perverted to evil purposes. It is one of the few good things of which there is no danger of getting too much.

A municipal employment bureau has been established in Schenectady, N. Y., with offices in the city hall annex under charge of Mrs. Charles R. Knapp, wife of the commissioner of charities. Mrs. Knapp has volunteered to act as secretary to the bureau, and the bureau's mission will be conducted without cost to the city, a telephone M. S. Knapp has secured post towns for a number of worthy persons.

Adopted Commission Government. After a two year campaign for a commission form of government in Olatho, Kan., the plan has finally been won, and the commission form was adopted.

Roller Skates

Get ready. We have the best "The Winslow Skates," steel rollers. Everybody can enjoy roller skating. Skates for Men, Women and Children.

50c to $3.00 per pair

Headquarters for Skate Repairing

Baby Carriages Repaired and Re-tired

Benj. Brown

GET READY FOR HAYING

Before Buying a Mower

Examine the Deering Ideal Ball and Roller bearings throughout. Extra wide trucks. Direct stroke pitman. Light draft. Extra heavy steel wearing plates.

Deering Mowers

For Years the Favorite of Progressive Farmers

For rough and stumpy ground the new Ideal Vertical Lift Mower has no superior. The construction is such that the tendency of the wheels to raise off the ground is overcome. By means of the foot lift, the cutter bar may be raised enough to clear ordinary obstructions.

Let Us Show You the Best

J. R. COOPER

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice.

To owners, occupants or possessors of lands or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:

Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands, must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912. And must also be cut down and destroyed again on or before September 1st, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional penalty of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected. All brush growing along the right-of-way of any highway must also be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912.

Dated this 15th day of July, 1912.

Albert E. Ebbels, Commissioner of Highways, Township of Marion, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.

Notice.

To owners, occupants or possessors of lands or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:

Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands, must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912. And must also be cut down and destroyed again on or before September 1st, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional penalty of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected. All brush growing along the right-of-way of any highway must also be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912.

Dated this 15th day of July, 1912.

Joseph H. Haddock, Commissioner of Highways, Township of Keweenaw, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.

THEATRICAL

The Majestic has been thoroughly renovated, cleaned and fitted out for the summer season the past week. For next week Manager Wilder announces the old favorites, the Tom Morris Company as an attraction for the entire week, beginning Monday night.

Manager Loskot of the Charlevoix theatre still continues to please his patrons with the best moving pictures. He informs us that he has booked some of the best attractions on the road and will maintain the reputation of his popular place of amusement.

Notice to Electors.

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of prosecuting attorney on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.

Dwight H. Fitch.

Subscribe for the Courier

Don't Envy the Well Dressed Woman

---SHE USES---

Pictorial Review Patterns

You save double the cost of each Pattern in Time, Labor and Material if you use

Pictorial Review Patterns

The only Patterns having Cutting and Construction Guides

We Carry a Full Line

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

Charlevoix Theatre

Showing the Latest and Best Pictures in Northern Michigan

Change of Program

Monday - Wednesday - Friday

Having approximately 2000 copies of sheet music on hand which we desire to dispose of before opening of resort season, we will inaugurate the policy of giving it away each night (while it lasts) with 10 cent admission tickets.

When Buying Garden Hose

Consider the merits of

REVERO MOULDED HOSE

An indestructible hose for the

Lawn, Greenhouse, Stable and Garage

Non-sinkable hose which will withstand more abuse than any other make or brand of Garden Hose

It will outwear any other Hose—consequently is the cheapest to buy in the long run.

There is nothing more convincing than a trial. See our window display.

3-4 Size Hose 20c per Foot

Cheaper Grade Hose 12c per Foot

See Our Window For Saturday Dish Pan Special

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30. NUMBER 26

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

ANOTHER LETTER FROM MONTANA

Sheep Husbandry is a Great Industry in That Part of State.

HERD OF SIX THOUSAND

Steers Roam at Large Over the Prairie Scared by a Steer.

Cattle and Horses Rustle for Living During the Winter. Letter Will be Continued in Next Week's Issue.

June opened mild and beautiful. Though the sun was bright and the sky clear, it was not cloud and muggy for there is usually sufficient breeze to offset the intensity of the heat.

During the warmest part of the day a herder brought his sheep down into our valley for winter. There were about eighteen hundred sheep in the flock. This was about one-fourth of the sheep on the ranch north of us. A sheep man east of us has six thousand sheep and an increase of two thousand lambs this spring. To pasture this number of sheep they drive them from place to place over the government lands.

To protect an individual's land all that is necessary is to plow a furrow to indicate your boundary. But protection against cattle however is not so easy as the good cattle man at large and a good fence is necessary. One day we were awakened in the wee small hours of the morning by a peculiar heavy scraping noise at the southwest corner of our shack. Each scrap caused our small house to shiver and squeak, mother in a hushed husky voice, wild eyed and pale awakened me and said there was a terrible grinding sound outside and to find out what it was. Immediately a severe icy blast swept my entire spinal column. I could distinctly feel each vertebra isolated from the others, when I stepped on the floor, heard the grating sound and felt the house tremble I had a tremendous quaking within. Seemingly the stove poker, which was the only piece of combat material available I snagged to the door and flung it open. Facing the door not a foot away I gazed into the eyes of a yearling steer. It was hard to distinguish which of his was frightened the most. The steer sprawled out his legs, lowered his head and looked cross-eyed. I was absolutely rooted to the spot. Seeing I did not intend to lend a hand to ease the situation he finally decided on a move, and tearing the soil up he and his eight or ten mates disappeared over the hill. They often roam this way over the prairie. It is a common occurrence to have fifty or seventy-five grazing in your back yard. A farmer having damages done his crop by range cattle cannot secure damages of the owner unless he has his property protected by a fence which covers the requirements of the law.

Perhaps this would be a convenient place to tell you a little of how cattle and horses are handled in this section of the country. In the fall they are turned out on the range to seek their own living for the winter. Often the winters are so severe that hundreds upon hundreds succumb. When food is scarce and the cattle start eating bark off trees etc. it is useless to even give hay for they die with the hay in their mouths. There is a story runs out here that here that Russell the famous western artist was in charge of a large number of cattle one extreme winter and in sending in a report of paper, one poor, lean, sunken-eyed cow surrounded by miles of snow, and he wrote under it, "The last of the seven hundred." This is an illustration of how in a short time a man may lose his entire stock. The only returns from cattle dying in this manner are the hides. When a great many have been starved it would take too long to hang each one and skin it so one man starts the hide and fastens a rope to it while another starts the bone and the hide is peeled off. A hard winter for the cattle is a boneless one for the coyote and soon only bleached bones remain to tell the tale.

TRAVERSE CITY'S MAYOR

Being Urged to Get into the Race for Nomination for Congress.

Traverse City dispatches say: W. D. C. Germaine, who is the youngest mayor ever elected in Traverse City is being urged strongly to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the eleventh district.

He is conspicuous in Traverse City by his progressive spirit and his persistent effort to keep Traverse City on the map. He is a stockholder in the Peoples' Savings bank and is interested in the lumber business in addition to owning a livery and sale stable.

Met With Bad Accident.

Saturday Will Graves met with a bad accident while painting Mrs. Borch's house on Belvedere avenue. Mr. Graves spilled some paint where he was standing. His foot slipped and he fell headlong from the roof, striking in a pile of lumber, cutting a deep gash across his forehead and over the right eye, besides badly bruising his hands. While it was a very painful accident, he is getting along nicely.

MEDALS FOR BIRD ESSAYS

Saginaw Man Offers Them to School Children of State.

The Schools and Teachers Also are Given Chance to Gain Honors.

To induce interest in bird life, its care and preservation, William H. Mershom of Saginaw announces that he will give medals for the best essays submitted by school children.

The contest is open to all children attending public, parochial or private schools. A committee comprising Jefferson Butler, president Michigan Audubon society, Detroit; J. H. McGillivray, chief of Michigan Forest scouts, Oscoda, and Ben O. Bush, Kalamazoo, will have charge of the contest.

The medals to be awarded are as follows:

For best essay on "Esthetic and Educational Value of Song and Insectivorous Birds."

For best essay on "Economic Value of Birds."

For essay showing greatest knowledge from personal observation of life and habits of our common birds. To school or person making most successful effort in feeding quail or other birds during the winter of 1912-1913.

For school or person doing most efficient work in protecting birds during summer of 1912.

For school or person building and protecting most successfully used bird house.

For the two best photographs or sets of photographs taken in any part of the state of a wild bird or birds.

Each person submitting an essay must write the essay himself or herself and must tell some incident in his or her own observation of birds to show that they have a knowledge outside that acquired in books. Nests are not to be disturbed in any instance.

The state will be divided into three sections, upper peninsula, the two-tenths southern counties and the counties north of those in the lower peninsula. There will be two sets of prizes, one for grammar schools and one for high schools in the state. Besides a medal will be given the teacher in each section having the largest number of students with accepted essays.

All prizes will be given on Arbor and Bird day, which comes in May. All essays and photographs must be in the hands of the committee by March 1, 1913, excepting those relating to the feeding birds. These must be submitted not later than April 10.

K. of P. Memorial.

The Knight of Pythias will hold Memorial services next Sunday. Past Grand Chancellor W. H. Loomis, will deliver the address at the hall at 2:30 p. m. After the conclusion of the address the members will march to the cemetery and decorate the graves of their departed brothers.

TAFT AND SHERMAN ARE CHOSEN AS REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

After One of the Fiercest Political Battles in American History--Roosevelt Bolts Convention and Will be Candidate of a National Progressive Party--All Eyes Turned Toward Convention at Baltimore.

The Republican National convention, after being in session all the week completed its labors Saturday night by naming the old ticket of 1908--Taft and Sherman.

The convention will go down in history as one of the stormiest in the history of American politics. The forces behind the candidacy of Ex-president Roosevelt contested the seats of over two hundred delegates. The national committee which was controlled by the friends of President Taft, seated practically all the Taft men in the contesting delegations. The fight was then taken to the committee on credentials which was also under the control of the Taft forces, with a like result. The fight was then waged on the floor of the convention, the Roosevelt men endeavoring to change the action of the committee in the case of ninety delegates, but they again met defeat, whereupon they refused to recognize the convention as a legal convention and refused to vote.

After the adjournment of the convention the majority of the Roosevelt men met in another hall and formed a temporary organization of a new party to be known as the National Progressive party and named Roosevelt as their candidate, and made arrangements for a mass convention to be held in August to complete the organization.

This week the Democratic National convention is in session at Baltimore and the future of the new party probably will depend in a measure on the result of its deliberations.

What the outcome of the party split will be is problematic but it probably means the defeat of President Taft unless the Democrats follow suit. In this section the new party will gain few recruits as members of the new party but a surprisingly large vote will be cast for Roosevelt if he continues as a candidate.

In the state there probably will be a progressive ticket in the field but we don't apprehend that there will be any movement of that nature in the county as the general opinion is that it is better to stay in the ranks of the old party than to be led astray to gratify the personal ambitions of any one man, although the independent voter will be largely in evidence this fall.

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT

Samuel Price Had Lived in This Region for Nearly Forty Years.

Samuel Price, an old resident of this city died at the home of his son Thursday morning.

Samuel Price was born in Ontario, February 19, 1832, and spent his boyhood days in the states of Ohio and Indiana. In 1868 he came to this state, settling first at Monroe. In 1874 he moved to this region, locating first at Elk Rapids and in 1885 coming to this city where he followed his occupation of carpenter.

He leaves four children, three sons and one daughter, Mrs. Ida B. Coleman of Hudson, Ohio, Lyman B. of Snodish, Washington, Jason L. and Clarence of this city.

The funeral was held Saturday, Rev. F. M. Taylor officiating. Burial at Brookside.

GENERAL PARCEL POST CERTAIN

Legislation Providing For Same Will Probably Pass Congress this Session.

In the Opinion of Postmaster General Hitchcock--Bourne Bill Favored.

Legislation providing for a general parcel post throughout the United States and its possessions, except the Philippine Islands, is practically certain to be enacted by the present congress, perhaps before the conclusion of the session now in progress, in the opinion of Postmaster General Hitchcock. He has urged insistently upon congress the desirability of domestic parcels post because, among other reasons, he believes it will substantially in the solution of the problem of the high cost of living. In a statement he expresses the hope that the measure recently introduced by Senator Bourne, chairman of the committee on post offices and post roads, might be crystallized into law. In the judgment of the officers of the postal service, the Bourne bill represents the most scientific and businesslike plan yet devised for a parcels post.

It provides for a parcels service throughout the country, both on rural and city carrier routes. It consolidates the third and fourth classes of mail matter--a reform long advocated by the postoffice department--and raises the weight limit of parcels to 11 pounds, which is the limit of the international parcel posts. The rate to be charged for articles carried in the rural

BEATTIE---DOOD

Popular Charlevoix County Young People Married Last Thursday.

A very pretty wedding occurred Thursday at four o'clock at the home of Mrs. Clara Dodd, when her daughter, Anna Iris, was married to Orville R. Beattie, Rev. F. M. Taylor of this city officiating.

The ring ceremony was observed. The rooms were prettily decorated with evergreens, ferns and flowers. Mrs. Henry Black, Jr., played the wedding march. Mrs. W. E. Dodd, sister of the groom, attended the bride, and W. E. Dodd, brother of the bride, attended the groom. Miss Nellie Ingalls carried the ring on an iris bud, and Miss Dorothy Beattie was flower girl.

The bride wore a beautiful embroidered gown of French marquisette and a spray of bridal wreath in her hair and carried a bouquet of bridal wreath. Only the immediate relatives and a few friends were present.

After the ceremony was performed, dainty refreshments were served and the guests departed, wishing the happy couple a long life of happiness.

WOMEN HAVE SUFFRAGE RIGHTS

No Sex Distinction Whatever at Annual School Meetings.

Qualifications For Men and Women Voters Are the Same--What a Quorum Is.

Hundreds of illegal voters participate annually in the school district meetings, as many do not understand the qualifications of voters. There is absolutely no sex distinction, a woman having exactly the same privileges as a man if she is otherwise qualified. No person has a right to vote unless he or she is the parent or guardian of children whose names are on the school census or has property assessed for school taxes. In addition, voters must be citizens of the United States, 21 years of age and residents of the district at least three months preceding the election. Only electors having property assessed for school taxes may vote taxes. If property so assessed is owned jointly by a husband and wife, both are qualified. Purchasers of land on contracts may vote if they pay taxes on the land and live thereon. A dog exempt from paying taxes cannot vote at all unless otherwise qualified.

The law excludes all men and women who are not parents or guardians of children on the census list or who do not pay school taxes regardless of their other qualifications. Observances of the law will disenfranchise hundreds who have previously voted. Only tax-paying school electors, whose names appear on the assessment roll, may hold office, the only exception being that both husband and wife owning property jointly may hold office, whether or not the name appears on the assessment roll.

Any two electors of a district whether they are officers or not, constitute a legal quorum. Members of the school board must be elected by written ballots and there is no such thing as an informal or nominating ballot. Even with only one nomination, the written ballots are necessary.

Bad Fire Thursday Morning.

Early Thursday morning fire, probably caused by lightning, was discovered in the Upright barn, which has been used as a storehouse by Ward & Ward. Stored in the building were three automobiles and a threshing separator, besides a lot of farming implements, all of which are a total loss. Mr. Ward estimates his loss at $3,800. Insurance $2,250.

To Rent.

Furnished rooms to rent. Phone St. Mrs. E. R. Seaman. 261

Cement blocks for the cellar and other improvements--the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co. 176

Roller Skates from 50 cents to $3.00 at Ben Brown's. 251

PLAN WORKING OUT NICELY

History of Efforts to Straighten Out Insurance Tangle.

EVERY TOWNSHIP ORGANIZED

Expense of Receivership Greater Than Amount of Money Paid in.

Plans Now Being Carried Out Will Save Large Amount of Money--Much Assistance Being Given by Banks and Press.

A mutual company was formed about 16 years ago for the purpose of insuring farm property, and a good business was done for a number of years. About one year ago they put it into the hands of a receiver. The receiver found we owed less than $13,000 and assessed us for $10,000. Most of the policy holders considered this amount excessive. If a man owed $100 he was asked to pay $75, and was politely told if more money was needed, he would be assessed again. A bunch of policy holders got together at Wolverine and another at Cheboygan, and tried to find a cheaper way out of the tangle. The Cheboygan bunch employed attorneys to look over the company's books, etc.

The Wolverine bunch got together and tried collecting on a lower rate; they asked each policy holder to pledge himself to pay one-third of his assessment and collected over $1000 on this plan, then met with the Cheboygan people, and after talking the thing over, they took a vote on the plan to be followed, and the Cheboygan plan was adopted. The attorneys went to Petoskey and met the receiver, and his attorney, and the court gave a new order, setting aside the old assessment and ordering the receiver to levy a new assessment.

The Cheboygan attorneys assured us that it would be nearly one-half smaller than the old one. The Wolverine policy holders waited sixty days, and then began looking into the thing, and found that the new assessment would amount to more than the old one. We got busy and began on the first plan, expecting that we had to ask the policy holders to pledge 60 per cent. at the first assessment instead of one third.

After working eight weeks I found we had money enough, pledged, to pay all the company's debts, and asked the court for a hearing. The receiver had completed his new assessment and had petitioned the court for a hearing. The court set the 10th of June for hearing both sides of the question, but changed the date to the 11th of June. On that date the receiver and his attorney appeared before Judge Shepard at Cheboygan, and the policy holders also appeared, asking that the court suspend the receiver and allow policy holders to settle their own debts. The receiver's new assessment called for about $50,000, where the old one had only called for $49,300. The receiver had collected less than $3000, which will not pay the expense of the receivership, the interest on the borrowed money and unpaid fire losses, while the policy holders had money enough pledged to pay all debts of the company, the receivership expenses, and we shall expect to refund 40 per cent. of the money that the policy holders have paid in to the receiver, so that we will get out of the mess for 60 per cent. or less.

We have nearly all of the 12 townships organized and have a chairman and a secretary in each of these townships, who are putting this plan through. All the banks are helping us by allowing the policy holders to pay their 60 per cent into the banks. They are not charging us anything for it. The newspapers are all doing lots of the Excursion to St. Ignace.

The Charlevoix base ball team will run an excursion to St. Ignace next Sunday on the Steamer Beaver, leaving Wilbur's dock at 7:30. A game of ball will be played between St. Ignace and the Charlevoix team. Fare $1.00 round trip.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

In Fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed. I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fit, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

FIFTY YEARS OF PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THIS STATE.
I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES from overwork, etc. I promptly and positively cure, no matter how long standing.
I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.
I CURE PILES in 30 days to stay cured and to never return.
I CURE CONSTIPATION, the great White Plague. In the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for 50 years. Have cured thousands given up by home doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by seeing or my mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given for $10 a week.
I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, lagor, morphia, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.
 Any unfortunate girl gives best of care. May work out fees.
 Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below. No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars—life itself—to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

ANDREW B. SPINNEY, M.D.
 Building Sanitarium & Retreat, Belding, Mich., or Smyrna Sanitarium, Smyrna, Mich.

CORRESPONDENCE

CLARION

Geo. Brown went to Boyne Falls Sunday.
 Mrs. Wm. Clark left Thursday for Coldwater.
 M. H. Collins left Friday for Mun-city, Indiana.
 Dr. Boyce of Boyne City was in town Sunday.
 Paul Cadden was in Mackinaw City Thursday.
 Clyde Madison of Springvale was to town Sunday.
 Miss Jean Cadden is spending the week with Petoskey friends.
 Lynn Clark assisted as agent at the G. R. & L. depot Sunday.
 Miss Anna Gill of Levering spent Tuesday with Clarion friends.
 Miss Hazel Johnson of Petoskey spent Sunday at J. W. Cadden's.
 Rev. H. G. Kennedy and family returned Friday from East Jordan.
 J. D. Dunne of Grand Rapids is visiting his daughter Mrs. James Milne.

Roy Williams and family and Mrs. Henry McConnell spent Sunday at O. V. Holly's.
 Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Gerner of Petoskey visited at the home of O. V. Holly Sunday.

A surprise party was given Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Geyer.

The patrons of the Citizens' National Fire Insurance company held a meeting here Saturday evening.

J. E. Darrah, state deputy factory inspector, on his annual tour of inspection, has gone to East Jordan.

Charles Johnson is putting down a well for Wm. Young. The well has been driven 150 feet but water has not been reached.

Mrs. Joseph Booth and daughter of Traverse City, and Mrs. Hazel Winters of Kewadin, Mich., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cragg.

About thirty friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Friday evening to celebrate their twenty-seventh wedding anniversary. The affair was in the nature of a surprise party.

How to Help Keep Down Expenses.
 Mrs. J. E. Henry, Akron, Mich., tells how she did so: "I was bothered with my kidneys and had to go nearly double. I tried a sample of Foley's Kidney Pills and they did me so much good that I bought a bottle, and feel that they saved me a big doctor's bill." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

BEAVER ISLAND

Str. Osborn was in the harbor on night last week.
 Miss Mabel Cunningham visited Charlevoix last week.

Charlevoix Rock Product Co.

Producers and Manufacturers of

Hydrated Lime
 Chemical Lime
 Bulk Building Lime
 Barreled Building Lime
 Hydrated Agricultural Lime
 Crushed Stone
 Pulverized Stone
 Furnace Fluxing
 Sugar Stone

For prompt city delivery call

Lee Howland

PHONE 297

Dr. J. Gallagher has gone to Chicago for the summer.

Ed E. Pratt went to Chicago to see the St. Nicholas.

R. E. Maloney visited at Bay City and Grand Rapids last week.

Chas. A. Allen left last week on a visit to his former home at South Haven.

James C. Gallagher transferred business in Petoskey Thursday and Friday.

Miss Rachel Donlevy has gone to Chicago for a month's visit with friends.

State building inspector Darrah visited the island officially last Thursday.

John P. Maloney of Chicago is visiting friends and relatives here for a few days.

The Misses Mary and Ruby Connolly of Escanaba are visiting friends here for a few weeks.

Emmet Gallagher, who has been visiting his parents here for the past month, returned to Chicago Friday.

Mrs. Fred Nankemann returned from Elk Rapids Thursday. She was accompanied by two nephews and a niece.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical community. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer the Free Trial of this cure for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. L. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists. Be careful. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ROCK ELM.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnan Fink visited Sunday at Fred Vangorder's.

Thomas Crothers had the misfortune to lose a horse last week.

Joe Whitfield has purchased a new gasoline engine and pumping outfit.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kenney from Petoskey visited at Boyd Hipp's Sunday.

Miss Mildred Holton is at Boyne City for a two week's visit with her sister Mrs. Frank Panquette.

George Fyfe, and little daughter M. Fyfe, and William Fyfe left last week for northwestern Canada.

Mrs. William Walker of East Jordan visited her sister, Mrs. Fred Vangorder, Wednesday of last week.

Miss Marjorie Cleland, went to Charlevoix last Wednesday where she will spend a part of her vacation.

More than twenty men and women attended the cleaning up bee at the cemetery last Friday and the result is very noticeable.

Children's day exercises will be held at the school house next Sunday June 30th at two o'clock p.m. There will be no Sunday school on that day.

The death of Mrs. Anna Beebe occurred last Monday from quick consumption. She leaves a family of six small children by whom she will be sadly missed.

Mrs. Lela Love, wife of Wiley Love, a farmer living near Covena, Ga., says: "I have taken Foley Kidney Pills and find them to be all you claim for them. They gave me almost instant relief when my kidneys were sluggish and inactive. I can cheerfully recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

BAY SHORE.

The grain, hay and potato crops are looking fine.

Mrs. J. Brecheisen spent Thursday at Horton's Bay visiting her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Pennel and son arrived last week to spend the summer here.

Mrs. Anna C. Stauffer of Everett, Washington is visiting relatives in this vicinity.

H. Bathka has finished the wall for the new barn to be erected on their farm in West Resort.

Samuel Long is busy plastering a house for Fred Wapland getting it ready to be occupied by his family in a few weeks.

The lecture "Gauguin as an Educator" given by H. H. McLure, under the auspices of the grange was enjoyed by a goodly number.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Culp and little son, of South Bend, Ind., who have been visiting Mrs. Culp's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Friend, left Friday for their home.

The many friends of Misses Agnes, Marion and Mable Worth, spent a very enjoyable evening at their evening at their home Friday. The Misses Worth expect to spend the summer months at Hay View.

Paul Bathka and Verne Kahler graduated from the Petoskey Normal and Business college. Paul Bathka from the shorthand department, and Verne Kahler from the commercial department.

MAPLE GROVE

Wm. Stinson is on the sick list.

Miss Arrah Howe was a guest at Maple Row Sunday.

Mrs. Braton Wightman is entertaining company from Chicago.

Fourteen of the young people of Hayes spent Sunday at Charlevoix.

Frank Williams is back from an extended trip in northwestern Canada.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Howe of Pioneer farm are spending the week at Petoskey.

Ice cream and cake was served to twenty guests at Cloverdale farm Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Arthur Wooden of Sunset farm was a guest of Mrs. L. Pepper of Charlevoix last week.

Mrs. Joseph Lewis and family of Peach Hill farm will make their future home at Charlevoix.

The box social held at Maple Grove grange hall was a success both socially and financially.

Miss George Miller and son Layton of Traverse City, and Miss Anna Tysser of Charlevoix are guests at Bloomingdale farm.

Mrs. M. A. McLaughlin, 512 Jay St., LaCrosse, Wis., writes that she suffered all kinds of pains in her back and hips on account of kidney trouble and rheumatism. "I got some of Foley Kidney Pills and after taking them for a few days there was a wonderful change in my case, for the pain entirely left my back and hips and I am thankful there is such a medicine as Foley Kidney Pills. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

MARION.

Cliff Blanchard visited W. E. Dodd Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat Burns entertained company Sunday.

Mrs. Dorothy Beattie is visiting friends in Marion this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Snider visited Mr. and Mrs. E. Reed and the new baby last week.

Mrs. Allen of Charlevoix visited Mrs. D. Alexander Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Snider and family visited Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dodd last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black visited their father, William Black, at Ellsworth, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Beattie visited Mrs. M. A. Phillips and Mrs. Arthur Beattie Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Santa and family, and Mrs. Duffie visited Mr. and Mrs. D. Pasco Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingalls and Miss Nellie, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hansen, and daughter Miss Maxine, Sunday.

When Buying, Buy Only the Best.
 Costs no more but gives the best results.
 H. L. Blomquist, Esquire, Wis., says his wife considers Foley's Honey and Tar Compound the best cough cure on the market. "She has tried various kinds but Foley's gives the best result of all." Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

NORTH BAY.

Thomas Fletcher purchased a new double buggy last week.

Louie Priebe and family attended the Memonite Camp meeting at Petoskey Sunday.

Miss Eva North left Friday for Mt. Pleasant where she expects to take a teacher's course.

The Bathke brothers have the wall completed for a basement barn on their farm near Carpenter's Corners.

Mrs. Amos Stanifer of Washington, formerly of Bay Shore is visiting friends and relatives in Petoskey.

They Put an End to it.
 Charles Soble, 30 Cook St., Rochester, N. Y., says he recommends Foley Kidney Pills at every opportunity because they gave him prompt relief from a bad case of kidney trouble that had long bothered him. Such a recommendation, coming from Mr. Soble, is direct and convincing evidence of the great curative qualities of Foley Kidney Pills. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Charlevoix People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, and Bright's disease, follow as the kidneys get worse. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with the reliable and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Charlevoix.

Mrs. John Hall, 192 W. Lincoln Ave., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I have used them and they have done a world of good. I first used them about a year ago when I had a severe attack of lumbago. I suffered greatly and tried many remedies, but got no relief, until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Ivy Drug Store. A few months ago I was again having trouble from my kidneys and had backaches and pains in my loins. I again procured Doan's Kidney Pills and they acted promptly, bringing me entire relief. I value them highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McLure Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LEGAL NOTICES

Official Public Notice.

ALL DOGS, Male or Female, not effectually muzzled, running at large on any street, alley, public grounds, or private premises, and the premises of the owner or keeper thereof, may be killed by any person and it shall be the duty of every citizen, stable, policeman or other Peace Officer of the said City of Charlevoix to kill and destroy any such dog or dogs, and it is hereby ordered to kill any and all such dogs. This will be in force until September 30, 1912.
 Charlevoix, Michigan, June 5, 1912.
 By Order of the Mayor.

Notice.

To owners, occupants or possessors of lands or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:
 Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional levy of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected. All brush growing along the right-of-way of any highway must also be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912.
 Dated this 18th day of June, 1912.
 Albert O'Brien, Commissioner of Highways, Township of Hayes, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.

Notice.

To owners, occupants or possessors of lands or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:
 Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional levy of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected. All brush growing along the right-of-way of any highway must also be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912.
 Dated this 18th day of June, 1912.
 Joseph Hoberbeck, Commissioner of Highways, Township of Norwood, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.

Notice.

To owners, occupants or possessors of lands or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:
 Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional levy of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected. All brush growing along the right-of-way of any highway must also be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912.
 Dated this 18th day of June, 1912.
 Isaac S. Webster, Commissioner of Highways, Township of Hayes, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.

Notice.

To owners, occupants or possessors of lands or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state:
 Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands must be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional levy of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected. All brush growing along the right-of-way of any highway must also be cut down and destroyed on or before the first day of July, 1912.
 Dated this 18th day of June, 1912.
 Isaac S. Webster, Commissioner of Highways, Township of Hayes, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.

Anything to Suit.

"I never give money to beggars on the street," said the pedestrian.
 "Oh, very well," replied the seedling.
 "Here's my card. Kindly call at my office and leave your card button with my bookkeeper."

Trunks, suit cases, harness, etc. of all kinds at the lowest prices. 211

We do Fine Job Printing.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A State Bank

4% INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS

Under State Supervision

List of Shareholders

G. C. GEIKEN	JOHN BURNS
ALEX. CAMERON	H. R. FOWLER
MRS. H. L. IDINGS	H. S. HARSHA
MRS. H. W. MILLER	L. S. SEE
A. L. HART	GUY S. BROWN
O. E. WILBUR	A. T. SLAGHT
J. L. CRANE	SAMUEL F. HODGES
GEORGE LIVERTON	P. D. CAMPBELL
JOHN DOUGHERTY	R. F. FOLEY

W. J. RACHOW

— Board of Directors —

R. P. FOLEY, President	G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier	H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President
J. L. CRANE	P. D. CAMPBELL
	JOHN BURNS

The patronage of good borrowers and conservative investors is cordially invited. Our New Building is absolutely fire-proof and we have excellent conveniences for our customers. Ask any of the above stockholders or officers about us. It will please us to serve you.

Martha Washington Comfort Shoes

Genuine comfort—that's what it means to wear the stylish Martha Washington Comfort Shoes. They fit like a glove, and insure complete rest and relief. No buttons or laces—just slip them on and off like a slipper. Elastic at the sides provides perfect fit over any instep. You will never know how comfortable a good looking shoe can be until you have worn

MARTHA WASHINGTON COMFORT SHOES

Beware of imitations. Only the genuine have the name Martha Washington and the Mayer Trade Mark stamped on the sole. Refuse substitutes. You will always find here the latest and the best shoes for comfort, fit, style and economy.

Mayer Leading Lady Shoe

Is to wear the same Shoe that thousands of carefully dressed women are wearing and finding satisfactory. The Mayer Leading Lady is a trim, neat and stylish shoe in every respect. You can't make a mistake in buying the Mayer Leading Lady or any other Mayer shoe in this store, because every one represents the highest possible value in style, comfort and durability. Shoes for every purpose for all the family at reasonable prices. Look for the Mayer Trade-Mark on the Sole.

SOLD BY
Bert Mason
 Cash Grocer

The Courier Job Department pleases particular people. Try Us and See.

The Charlevoix Courier

Printed every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.00
One copy, six months......75
One copy, three months......50

For advertising rates apply to schedule.
Quoted at Charlevoix, Michigan as second class matter.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, VanPelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:15 a. m.

Subject: "Christian Science."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH
Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.
Morning Service, 10:30. Subject: "Condition of Prevailing Prayer."

Sunday School at 11:45.
B. Y. P. C. 6:30 p. m.—Topic: "The training school for Christian Work." Leader, Mrs. Wm. Poole.

Evening service, 7:30. Topic: "A wake thou that sleepest."
Thursday evening, prayer meeting. Leader, Frank Beares.

Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Marion town hall.
"Strangers always welcome."

METHODIST CHURCH
9:45 Morning class.
10:30 Morning sermon. Subject: "What we are doing."

12:00 m. Sunday School.
Antiochian lesson.
6:30 p. m. Epworth League.

Don't Wait

We place on sale to-morrow morning the most remarkable bargains yet offered.

Sneiders Catsup 25c	20c
Sneider's Chili Sauce 25c	20c
Globe Milk 6 cans	45c
Shaker Salt 3 cans	25c
Corn, 12c 3 cans	25c
Peas, 15c 2 cans	25c
Cherries, sweet Best Quality	20c
Plums, 25c Large egg	20c
Olives, Ever Best Best Quality	20c
Pickles, any kind quart cans	20c
Queen Ann Soap 7 bars	25c
Cal. Family Soap 10 bars	25c
Matches 7 boxes	25c
Prunes, A 1 2 1/2 pounds	25c

Superlative Flour
Having a large quantity on hand will make the price per barrel

With any of the above purchases amounting to $3.00 we will give 17 lbs. of Sugar for $1.00

CASH PRICES ONLY

The Corner Store

7:30 Evening service conducted by Roy Marshall.
7:30 Prayer meeting, Thursday evening.

Epworth Church, Sunday school 1:30. Preaching 2:30.
Our services are helpful. You are invited.

CONGREGATIONAL
Rev. C. E. Taggart the new pastor of the Congregational church, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening, Sunday June 24. Regular services every succeeding Sabbath. Preaching at Ironton as usual.

Rev. C. E. Taggart the new pastor of the Congregational church, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening, Sunday June 24. Regular services every succeeding Sabbath. Preaching at Ironton as usual.

PLAN WORKING OUT NICELY

(Continued from page 1.)

advertising free, and we expect to wind the affair up very shortly.

All policy holders can pay their 50 percent at the following banks: State Bank of Charlevoix; Boyne City National; Bank of Boyne Falls; State Bank of East Jordan; National Bank of Petoskey; Levering Exchange Bank of Levering; National Bank of Charlevoix; State Bank of Wolverine, or to J. L. Barber of Rondo.

Any of these banks will give you a receipt made out by me releasing you from all further obligations, past, present and future, and if the 50 percent is more than enough to pay the company's debt the balance will be returned pro rata to each policy holder. We wish every policy holder to pay without any trouble, and to pay at once. Those that gave notes will have them returned when you pay at the bank.

J. L. Barber, Rondo, Mich.

PICNIC OF R. N. A.

Held Tuesday Attended by Large Crowd—List of Prize Winners.

The picnic of the R. N. A. held at the park June 25 was attended by seventy-two people. Contests and races were held. Prize winners were as follows:

Clothes-pin contest, first prize—Ethel Painter, booby prize, Edna Strigley.
Bag race, Harry Ross.
Potato race, George Driggett.
Peanut race, Leone McNeil.
Girls' running race, Ethel Painter.
Boys' running race, Glenn Ross.
Ladies' running race, Mrs. Will Wallace.

REPUBLICAN BANQUET

Open Air Meeting Will Be Held—Excursion from This City.

Everything is in readiness for the annual banquet of the Charlevoix County Republican Club at Boyne City Friday night. A public meeting will be held in the park at eight o'clock. Hon. J. W. Fordney, Hon. L. C. Crampton and other distinguished guests will deliver addresses. The banquet will take place at ten o'clock.

An excursion will be run from this city on the steamer Beaver, which will leave Wilbur's dock at 6:30 sharp.

Expert harness repairing is our specialty at the right price—Frank Chamberlain. 2411

AUGUST TWENTY-SEVENTH

Supervisors Call Special Election to Vote on Bonding For Good Roads.

The board of supervisors met in special session yesterday and, by a unanimous vote, decided to submit the question of bonding the county for $350,000, for good roads, to the people at a special election to be held at the time of the primary election, August 27. By holding the election at this time ample time is given the people to study the proposition and the expense of an extra election is avoided.

Work Being Pushed.

The work on the extension of the Boyne City, Gaylord & Alpena Ry. is being pushed rapidly now, the grading having been finished to more than a mile east of town. Part of the construction gang has been transferred to this end of the work, and the grading from Center street to the Michigan Central track is fast being done. Engineer Severance stated that they would begin laying the rails on the graded track the first of the week, to accommodate the steam boiler, which must be brought into commission a couple of miles east of town and from there on to Gaylord, Alpena.

Let the Courier come with Spring

The Trial of Christ.

Attorney E. E. Gilbert of Petoskey will give his celebrated lecture, "The Trial of Christ from a Lawyer's Standpoint," to the Men's Bible class next Sunday. This lecture is most interesting and every man in the city should make an effort to hear it. All are welcome.

HOW TO GROW MUSHROOMS.

A Way For Girls to Earn Money at Home.

Mushroom culture is an occupation in which women and girls can find a means of earning money at home. Fresh mushrooms sell for 25 to 30 cents a pound, and there is a ready market. Mushrooms can be grown the year around in the cellar in winter and in the barn or shed in summer.

The spawn for a mushroom bed 20 by 3 feet will cost about $2.

To make the beds use fresh manure from stable fed horses. Have a load placed in a convenient spot and remove from it all hay, cornstalks and other foreign matter. Then separate the coarse from the fine and let the two piles stand for a week. During the week turn the piles three times with the pitchfork and sprinkle with water. With the fine manure mix the garden soil in the proportions of one part soil to two parts manure.

Make the beds of sixteen inch to eighteen inch boards for sides and ends. Fill in the coarse manure fifteen inches deep, pound down firmly, sprinkle with water, pound down again, put in another layer of coarse manure, pound down and sprinkle with hot water.

Put in a three inch layer of the manure, pound till firm, sprinkle with hot water, cover bed with hay or straw, insert a thermometer and examine daily. If the temperature runs over 120 degrees remove the covering and replace when the temperature drops to between 90 and 100 degrees and remains thus three or four days. Now the bed is ready.

To plant the spawn remove the covering from the bed and make holes all over the bed three inches deep and eight inches apart. Break the spawn into one inch pieces and insert one piece into each hole sideways, pushing down to the bottom of the hole. Fill in with water and after this has been absorbed fill in the holes with fine straw. After four or five days spread one inch of fine soil all over the bed and replace covering.

The bed must be watched carefully for the next six or eight weeks. If top layer of soil is dry the bed needs watering. To water make holes to the bottom of the bed with a round stick, pour in hot water and replace straw covering.

To pull mushrooms bend them from side to side, taking care not to disconnect the small ones that have not yet appeared through the ground.

ROUTED HIS CREDITOR.

Lespes, the French Writer, Adopted a Most Effective Method.

Lespes, the French journalist, known as Timothee Prima, was once disagreeably harried on by a creditor, who announced his intention of not departing until he was paid. The creditor planned himself on a chair, and Lespes lay behind him, with consternation, draw bread and cheese from his pockets, in thought to fortify himself against events.

Several hours glided by. Lespes had resumed his writing and finished an article. The creditor showed no sign of moving. Suddenly Lespes rose and with a lot of newspaper began carefully blocking all the apertures through which air could come into the room. He then made preparations for lighting a charcoal fire, but before applying the match posted on the wall just opposite the creditor's eyes a paper thus laceratedly worded:

"Take notice that we died of our own will."

"What are you doing?" exclaimed the creditor anxiously.

"Your society would render life intolerable, so we are going to commit suicide together," answered Timothee tranquilly.

It is needless to say that the creditor departed without waiting for results and without his moi. Argonaut.

The Pride of the Poor.

At the present stage of sociology no onlooker need doubt this New York Sun story of the "might have been" of a great city:

So many men to whom the city mislabeled had given money for a night's lodging had expressed a preference for a certain east side lodging house that he wondered what constituted its particular attraction.

"It makes us feel self-respecting," the men said when questioned.

So far as the missionary could see it was a typical lodging house, whose inducements to self respect were not apparent to the ordinary eye. He inquired to the manager. By what method did he fan the fires of self-respect in his guests?

The manager pointed to a sign above his desk: "Gentlemen Are Requested to Leave Their Valuables With the Clerk."

Will Enforce City Ordinance.

At a meeting of the city council at Marlin, Tex., the marshal was instructed to enforce the ordinance against obstructions being placed and allowed to remain on the streets and sidewalks, such as, chairs, stoves, barrels, and every species of boxes, barrels, or other articles and obstructions. This action was taken in response to a request from the city.

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

One pleasant thing about our business is the satisfaction we get from the satisfaction we give. Our customers go away satisfied; if the satisfaction doesn't last we want them to come back and tell us so.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

clothes satisfy; in style, in all wool fabrics, in fine tailoring, in fit, and in price.

Suits $18 Up

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

This Store is the Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination, for the office of County Clerk, at the August primaries, and if nominated and elected, I will do my best to serve the public in said office. I also wish to thank the electors of Charlevoix county for the support they have given me in past, and will appreciate your support at this time.

RICHARD LEWIS.

Notice to the Republican Electors of the Charlevoix County.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-nomination to the office of sheriff on the Republican ticket at the primary election August 27. Trusting that my conduct of the office has been such as to secure your approval, your support will be appreciated.

25th adv. FORD P. ROBINSON.

To the Electors.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.

26th adv. W. W. BOYLE, St. James.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated.

26th adv. ROBERT A. KIRBY.

Notice to Electors.

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of prosecuting attorney on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.

25th adv. DWIGHT H. FITCH.

Charlevoix's Prosperity.

I. E. Darragh, state deputy factory inspector, states that, regardless of the fact that several industrial houses employing about 250 men have left Charlevoix recently, statistics show that at present more than 140 more men are employed here than were employed two years ago.

New Tenting Resort.

William Hunt has purchased a tract of land on Pine Lake, the other side of Iron Point, where he will establish a tent city known as White Cedar Terrace. The location is ideal and will probably become one of the most popular on the lake.

We do Fine Job Printing

COOK IN COMFORT

By Using a

NEW PROCESS OIL STOVE

The most Perfect, Efficient and Economical Oil Cook Stove on the Market

Glass Tank on this stove always shows amount of oil so user can keep wicks from burning dry

Simple Burner Easy to Re-wick
Smokeless Device Automatic Wick Stop

One Gallon of oil will run one burner, full flame, for 15 hours. Flame can be regulated to a high or low fire.

We will be glad to show the stoves in operation to anyone wishing to examine them

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Out Door Life

To enjoy it properly we can furnish you with

Porch Furniture, Rugs
Hammocks, Etc.

Remember we can furnish you with the best REFRIGERATORS on the Market

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

THIS IS HOT AIR

But I want to tell you one of the things I think about myself. I think I have made more Real Estate Sales during the last twelve years than all the other Real Estate Dealers in the county combined. I think I can prove it. I have spent more money advertising Charlevoix County and persuaded more people to locate here than all the other dealers in the county put together, and I usually deal more than once with the same customer. I helped Boyne City grow from a village of 600 to a city of 6000 in 12 years. Prospects are here for good business here in Charlevoix and I do not think I will be disappointed.

My Outside Ads and broad acquaintance bring many people north every year. They come to see the country and buy Real Estate if they are suited with it. It is my business to help them get located after they come, as well as to persuade them to come. I have a few fine bargains now, but need more. If you have Real Estate for Sale I want to talk to you about it. This is important to both of us. SEE ME NOW.

G. I. B. McLEAN

319 Bridge Street, Charlevoix
IN CHARLEVOIX OFFICE IN BOYNE CITY OFFICE
Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Saturdays Mondays, Thursdays, Fridays

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

G. B. Marsac of Phelps was in the city Thursday.
Ray Baker of Petoskey, was in the city Sunday.
M. S. Miles of Boyne City, was in the city Saturday.
Mrs. John O'Neil has been on the sick list this week.
Miss Lois Frazier visited friends at Ellsworth yesterday.
Fred Thayer spent Sunday with friends in Boyne City.
Supervisor Tatten of Norwood, was in the city Friday.
Wm. Mitchell spent Sunday with relatives at Boyne City.
Auctioneer Byers of Central Lake, was in the city Saturday.
R. W. Kane made a brief business visit to Manistee, Tuesday.
Robert Bridge has returned from his week's visit at Chicago.
Miss Ruth Emrey spent Sunday with friends at Boyne City.
Edward Santos spent Sunday with relatives at Boyne City.
Miss Marjorie Weaver visited friends at Boyne City Sunday.
Lizzie Strehl of Mancelona will spend the summer in this city.
C. O. McMahon spent Sunday at his old home, Lowell, Michigan.
Capt. Campbell sold his auto last week to parties on Beaver Island.
Postmaster Chase of Norwood, was a Saturday visitor to this city.
Mrs. Elmer Mayne of Bellaire, is visiting at the home of R. C. Squires.
Miss Minnie Nelson of Mancelona, is making a visit with friends in the city.
Miss Edna Kirkpatrick is the new book-keeper at L. S. See's grocery store.
Mrs. Lena Wallace and Mrs. N. Wallace visited at East Jordan last week.
Miss Amy Harsha is now assistant book-keeper in the city clerk's office.
Frank Hull, wife and son Clayton visited relatives at Boyne City over Sunday.
Miss Ruth Mitchell has returned from a week's visit with friends at Ironton.
Miss Bernice Sherman of East Jordan was in the city the first of the week.
Mrs. M. E. Heston of East Jordan made a brief trip here the first of the week.
R. A. Emrey made a short business trip to Boyne City the first of the week.
R. M. Burr, wife and child, of Central Lake were in the latter part of the week.
John M. Pride made a short business visit to Petoskey the first of the week.
Dan Williams of Harbor Springs, has been here the past few days on business.
Mrs. Decker of Crosswell, Michigan, is visiting her son and wife, H. L. Decker.
F. E. Frazier and William Turner made a trip to Beaver Island last Thursday.
Contractor Marshall has commenced work on the Belvedere avenue sewer.
Percy Crane is home for the summer vacation from the University of Michigan.
Mrs. Burns of Blaine, is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. L. Decker.
Miss Juanita Felts is assisting Myrtle Young & Son in their insurance office.
Harry Allox returned the latter part of the week from his short visit at Chicago.
Mrs. A. E. Mason leaves tomorrow for Traverse City to attend the wedding of a niece.
Father Burkhard was in the city Tuesday on his return to Petoskey from Boyne City.
Floyd Atchison returned yesterday from a week's visit with relatives at Petoskey.

Mrs. A. L. Hart has been the guest of Miss Doris Kane at Grand Rapids the past few days.

The condition of Doris Hammond is very much improved and she is now out of danger.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bun of Chicago, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Burdick.

Nose Bowdish has returned from Ottawa, Ohio, where he was employed by the Sugar Co.

Take in the excursion to Boyne City Friday night and hear Hon. J. W. Fordney's speech.

Mrs. A. J. Shuckley went to Petoskey Monday to take treatments at the Saville Sanatorium.

Dr. G. C. Conkle, W. A. Davoll and John W. Densmore of Boyne Falls, were in the city Tuesday.

Miss Irma Robinson of Grand Rapids, is visiting at the home of R. C. Squires and family.

Pupils from the Catholic school visited the St. Joseph school at East Jordan last Thursday.

Thurston Jarman of Bloomington, Illinois, joined his parents at their cottage here Saturday.

Marshall Weaver of Waukegan, Illinois, arrived here the first of the week to spend the summer.

Miss Madeline Mullen has returned home from her brief visit at Muskegon and other points.

Mrs. Alice Gimble of Big Rapids, is making a two weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. Lydia Henry.

Miss Julia Corlett of Cheboygan, is making an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Minnie Baldwin.

President Smith of the Louisville & Nashville railroad has arrived in the city to spend the summer.

Mrs. Henry Wood has been at Atwood the past few days, called by the serious illness of her mother.

Mrs. Wm. Washburne and daughter Marjorie, have returned from an extended visit with relatives at Detroit.

Mrs. Ida B. Coleman of Hudson, Ohio, was called here last week by the death of her father, Samuel Price.

Mrs. Edna Hall returned here the latter part of the week. During the summer months she will conduct hair-dressing parlors in the Chapel block.

Miss Alma Francis has returned home to spend the summer with her parents, after teaching at Calumet.

Ainslie Mayne arrived home the latter part of the week from Ann Arbor, where he was a student at the U. of M.

Hon. R. W. Paddock returned yesterday from Chicago, where he has been investigating the workings of a steam roller.

Rev. B. Atchison left Tuesday morning for Kingsley to attend the annual meeting of the Grand Traverse Baptist association. He will return Friday.

The annual convention of the Michigan Association of County Clerks is being held at Traverse City this week.

Miss Alice Madill, formerly of this city, has completed her course at the Western State Normal, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

J. B. Parsons and daughter, Marion, left yesterday for Chicago. The latter expects to make an extended visit at that place.

Obie Taylor who has been employed at the Western Union office in this city has returned to his home in Petoskey.

The Boyne City Journal says that C. C. Schaub of that city will enter the race for the republican nomination for county treasurer.

The S. S. Manion made his first trip here Sunday, with an excursion of insurance men from Chicago about 150 being on board.

Frank Williams who returned from Saskatchewan last week after his family, left yesterday for their new home in that province.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found notices from the proper official to all property owners to cut weeds. Look it up and get busy.

Amos Webster left Saturday for Marquette and other points on business connected with the Booth Fisheries Co. to be gone about ten days.

Mrs. R. C. Hammet and children have returned from their visit in Illinois, and will occupy their cottage at Pine Point during the summer.

I. B. McLean, the new real estate man, has purchased Holy Island, and divided it into large lots which will be placed on the market this summer.

The annual convention of the Grand Traverse Epworth League was held at East Jordan last week with over one hundred delegates in attendance.

A party of four motorcyclists, consisting of Harold Mason, Louis Gregory, Russell B. Hinds and Leon Arkin made a tour to Charlevoix and return Sunday morning.

George Long of Petoskey, who has been in the employ of Contractor Thomas left Friday for Stenboville, Ohio, where he will attend to a large contract.

Wall Mitchell and Dan McSamba have been appointed city carriers under the free delivery system having stood highest in the examination given a short time ago.

The board of Supervisors of Chippewa county appropriated $800 toward the entertainment of the state grange meeting which will be held in the Son next winter.

Mrs. Thomas Milner and mother, Mrs. Robert Reed, daughter Margaret and sister, Lizzie, left last week for a visit with friends in Gaylord and West Branch.

Since graduating from the engineering department of the M. A. C., Forrest Kane, has taken a position with the Oakland Auto Co. in the drafting department, at Pontiac.

Col. J. W. Rogers received a bad fall Tuesday and is in a serious condition. He was working in a tree at his home when he fell striking a cement sidewalk.—East Jordan Herald.

There were 1,851 more births than deaths in Michigan last month according to the report completed by Secretary of State Martindale. The report shows 5,143 births while 3,292 deaths were reported.

Friday night seventeen members of Round Lake lodge I. O. O. F. paid a fraternal visit to their East Jordan brethren, making the trip on the Arbutus. A number were also present from Boyne City, and all unite in praising East Jordan as entertainers.

J. L. Barber of Rondo, was in the city Tuesday in the interests of the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties. Arrangements are being rapidly perfected so the business of the company can be wound up at the least possible expense.

At the state convention of the Eagles held at Traverse City last week, Boyne City took the prizes for the shortest eagle and largest number of eagles in the parade, also for the most ladies from an aerie and first prize for exemplification of ritualistic work and second prize on the degree team.

The Forest fire protective department is extending its work along educational lines by causing picture slides to be run in the various motion picture theatres within its territory. These slides are printed with cautionary phrases, in red and black, and will teach a lesson to the many people who visit the moving picture shows.

Some of our horticulturists are looking for fruit this season on a larger scale than heretofore. In the past there have been few seasons when the local supply of small fruits equalled the demand, but this year it is believed there will be fruit to ship. Monday H. L. Olney, N. Liskun and James Evans received about 15,000 berry baskets besides boxes for peaches.—East Jordan Enterprise.

Already things begin to look good for the race meeting to be held off here in connection with the big celebration July 3-4-5. Charles Germaine, of Traverse City, has sent word that he will be on hand with four fast steppers to enliven the occasion and two are coming from Niles, Mich., and others from Petoskey and Gaylord. These have already made arrangements and others are planning to be here. Surely we will have a fine exhibition of fast horses here for this big event.—Boyne City Journal.

CRANE'S

TRUNK AND SUIT CASE DEPT.

Special Value in

Genuine Koto Fiber Matting Suit Cases

Six inches deep, steel frame, Fancy cloth lining
Leather corners, Swinging handles

$1.00

Other Values in Suit Cases 98c to $10

Our Trunk Stock is Complete

Canvas covered	$4.95,	$5
Fiber covered	$6,	$8
Metal covered	$8.75	$9
	$10.00	$12.00
		$13.50

Just Received a new line of

Trunks and Suit Cases

—All kinds of—

Light and Double Harness and Truck Harness

Excellent Quality Reasonable Prices

ALL KINDS REPAIRING WORK GUARANTEED

Frank Chamberlin

Shea's Old Stand

We Carry a Full Line of Kabo Corsets

Every Pair Guaranteed

To Give Perfect Satisfaction

We would be Pleased to Show the Line

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

Don't forget our Saturday Sale on Meats

Come in and be convinced that we can save you money. Try some of our cooked meats such as

Pickled Heart and Tongue
Pickled Pigs' Feet
Liver Sausage
Pork Sausage
Bologna and Frankfurts

— All Home Made —

The Market on the Corner
Bert Van Allsburg
Corner State and Antrim Streets
Phone 125

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head 1 cent per word first insertion; half rates each week thereafter. No ad less than 10 words.

FOR SALE—Two milk cows. D. W. Starbuck. Box 124.

WANTED—Position as Chauffeur. Competent driver. Enquire at Courier office. 26-104

LOST—A brown music roll and three pieces of music. Finder please return to office. Mable Gregory. 26-104

FARM FOR SALE—Three miles north of Charlevoix. 30 acres cleared, fairly well improved. Call or write D. W. Starbuck, P. O. Box 124. 26-104

WANTED—Active agent to sell the best quality wool on the market. A wool box is a necessity before the establishment of Free Delivery Service. Make $500.00 a day. Write quick for catalog and literature. Sample box prepaid, $1.25. Address: House Supply Co., John, Illinois, Room 23, Young Bldg. 26-104

Wool Wanted.

Will pay the highest market price for wool. H. Kaufman. 22-11

White Cedar Terrace Tenting Resort

Situated on the south side of Pine Lake, between Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan

Come to the Most Ideal Summering Place in MICHIGAN

Tenting Privileges Reasonable

Address Communications to WILLIAM HUNT
Rfd CHARLEVOIX, MICH.
Telephone, Farmers' Independent Line

W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT

Conducted by the local W. C. T. U.

From the Manistee Advocate we take the following in regard to the W. C. T. U. convention recently held in that city.

The crowning feature of the second day's program was the lecture given by Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, the National and World's Superintendent of Scientific temperance instruction in this country or perhaps in the world. She is recognized as the leading authority on the effects of alcohol subjects. She was appointed by President Taft to represent the United States at the congress of Alcoholism last fall. She is prominently connected with the national Bureau of Scientific Temperance Instruction. Her address was a marvel of concentrated thought and information presented in the most logical and convincing manner.

"Let the soldier be abroad if he will; he can do nothing in this age. There is another personage, a less imposing, in the eyes of some perhaps insignificant. The schoolmaster is abroad, and I trust to him armed with his primer, against the soldiers in full military array."

There are three great uses of food—one great use is to furnish building material to the body. A second use of food is to furnish heat for warming the body. A third use of food is to give the body strength and power to work. Mrs. Davis expressed the thought that we should turn our attention to the conservation of children as well as to the conservation of forests which is so largely discussed nowadays. She deprecated the prevalence of child labor, children as young as three years of age being employed in factories. She advocated with emphasis scientific temperance instruction in the schools. She mentioned the circumstances that the leaders of breweries has issued a text book called "text book" of true temperance, "which they aimed to introduce in the schools. They were unable to find a publisher to publish it and finally published it themselves. It would need a generation of careful teaching of scientific temperance instruction before we could have prohibition to be all that we could wish it to be. It is sweet and lowly to die for one's country, but it is also sweet and lowly to live for one's country."

CorrespondenceNORWOOD.

Mrs. W. F. Pearl is some better. Mrs. John Bagbee spent last week with old friends.

Ted Pearl is a regular caller in Norwood on business.

Walter Mosher spent Sunday with his little daughter, Floy.

Quite a few from Barnard attended Children's Day exercises Sunday.

Our church is newly papered and looks fine. Rev. Biery did the work. Little Mabel Biery cut her foot quite badly last Friday while playing.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Miller, Miss Mamie Biery, Mrs. J. G. Biery and daughter Mabel and Mrs. A. F. Valentine took lunch with Mrs. William Lucia on her birthday.

Going to build this spring? The place to buy your lime, pulp plaster, brick, and other material is at the Builders' Supply Co., phone 86 2-r. 171f

WILSON

Fine growing weather.

Miss Lilly Votruba is working in East Jordan.

Mrs. Newberry has recently purchased a new buggy.

Joseph Cihak has recently erected a house on his farm.

Zoulek has been assisting Uncle Louis Zoulek, the past year.

Mrs. Charles Hudkins, who has been seriously ill, is slowly recovering.

Miss Blanche Stohlman of East Jordan is visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity.

Mrs. Albert Todd entertained company from Boyne Falls, East Jordan and vicinity, on last Sunday.

GOLDEN LINKS.

The harvest fields are the golden links that connect the ages and the zones and associate to gether the most distant times and the remotest nations in one common bond of sympathy and dependence. They make of the earth one great home, of the human race one great family and of God the universal parent—Hugh Macmillan.

Good Printing means Business.

PINE POINT

Pine Point, owned by the North Charlevoix Land Company, is the wooded tract of land formerly known as "Boy City."

From a beautiful water front on Pine Lake it extends back and the Charlevoix--Petoskey Rock Road runs through the north part of Pine Point.

One Hundred and Fifty choice lots have been laid out and the terraced streets and winding wooded Avenues have been made to conform to the picturesque lay of the land.

AUCTION JULY 4TH

THREE DAYS, JULY 4th, 5th, 6th

Thursday, Friday, Saturday--2 p.m. each Day

Celebration of the 4th

Grand Fourth of July Exercises Band Music Reading of Declaration of Independence. Speech Making will be held at Pine Point in the morning of the Fourth. All patriots invited. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock the lots on Pine Point will be offered to the Public at Auction.

Daily Schedule of Boats to and from Pine Point by the Minnie S., starts July 1st

TERMS 20% CASH
Balance Monthly Payments Perfect Title

Handsome Presents given away during the Auction. Ladies especially invited. This is the first of a series of Auctions to be held during the Tourist Season on Pine Point. Prices will advance rapidly. Large sums of money are being expended in the improvement of Pine Point and it is being made the most beautiful addition to Charlevoix.

GEO. W. FRYHOFER, Real Estate Auctioneer

926 FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, CHICAGO
Office---Hotel Elston, Charlevoix

NORTH CHARLEVOIX LAND CO.

J. L. CRANE, President
LISLE SHANAHAN, Secretary
R. C. Hammett

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

(Continued from page three)

"Well, then, let me get your clothes, and you can pay me back."
"But you said you had no money?"
"Maybe I can borrow some at the bank. Then you can return it when the Bird Woman pays you."
"All right," said Elnora. "I don't have to leave expensive things. It will be warm, so I can go bareheaded."

Then she started to school, but was so tired and discouraged she scarcely could walk. Four years' plans going in one day! For she felt that if she did not get started to college that fall she never would.

After that the days went so swiftly she scarcely had time to think, but several trips her mother made to town, and the assurance that everything was all right, satisfied Elnora. She worked very hard to pass good final examinations and perfect herself for the play. For two days she had remained in town with the Bird Woman in order to spend more time practicing and in her work.

Often Margaret had asked about her dresses for graduation, and Elnora had replied that they were with a woman in the city who had made her a white dress for last year's commencement when she was a junior in high, and they would be all right. So Margaret, Wesley and Billy concerned themselves over what they would get her for a present. Margaret suggested a beautiful dress. Sinton said that would look to every one as if she needed dresses. The thing was to get a handsome gift like all the rest would have.

It was toward the close of the term when they drove to town one evening to try to settle this important question. They knew Mrs. Comstock had been alone several days, so they asked her to accompany them.

While they were searching the stores for something on which all of them could decide Mr. Brownlee met Wesley and stopped to shake hands.

"I see your boy came out finely," he said.

"I don't allow any boy anywhere to be finer than Billy," said Sinton.

"I guess you don't allow any girl to surpass Elnora," said Mr. Brownlee. "She comes home with them often, and my wife and I love her. Elnora says she is great in her part tonight. Best thing in the whole play. Of course you are in to see it. If you haven't served seats you'd best start pretty soon, for the high school auditorium only seats a thousand."

"Why, yes, of course," said the bewildered Sinton. Then he hurried to Margaret. "Say," he said, "where is going to be a play at the high school tonight, and Elnora is in it. Why hasn't she told me?"

"I don't know," said Margaret, "but I'm going."

"So am I," said Billy.

"Me, too," said Wesley, "unless you think for some reason she don't want us. Looks like she would have told us if she had. I'm going to ask her mother."

"Yes, that's what she's been staying in town for," said Mrs. Comstock. "It's some sort of a swindle to raise money for her class to buy some silly thing to stick up in the schoolhouse hall to remember them by. I don't know whether it's now or next week, but there's something of the kind to be done."

"Well, it's tonight," said Wesley, "and we are going. It's my treat, and we've got to hurry or we won't get in. There's reserved seats, and we have none, so it's the gallery for us, but I don't care so I get to take one good peep at Elnora."

"Suppose she plays?" whispered Margaret in his ear.

"Ah, tush! She couldn't!" said Wesley.

"Well, she's been doing it three years in the orchestra and working like a slave at it."

"Oh, well, that's different. She's in the play tonight. Brownlee told me so. Come on, quick! We'll drive and hitch closest place we can find to the building."

Margaret went in the excitement of the moment, but she was troubled.

When they reached the building Wesley tied the team to a railing and Billy sprang out to help Margaret. Mrs. Comstock sat still.

"Come on, Kate!" said Wesley, reaching his hand.

"I'm not going anywhere," said Mrs. Comstock, settling comfortably back against the cushions.

All of them begged and pleaded, but it was no use. Not an inch would Mrs. Comstock budge, so they left her.

They found seats near the door where they could see fairly well. Billy stood at the back of the hall and had a good view. By and by a great volume of sound welled from the orchestra, but Elnora was not playing.

It was long as she could and then slipped from the carriage and fled down the street.

She did not know how far she went or how long she stayed, but everything was still save an occasional raised voice when she wandered back. She stood looking at the building. Slowly she entered the wide gates and followed up the walk. Elnora had been coming here for almost four years. When Mrs. Comstock reached the door she went inside. The entrance to the auditorium was packed with people and a crowd was standing outside. When they noticed a tall woman with white face and hair and black dress one by one they stepped a little aside, so that Mrs. Comstock could see the stage. It was covered with curtains and no one was doing anything. Just as she turned to go a sound so faint that everyone leaned forward and listened drifted down the auditorium. It was difficult to tell just what it was; after one instant half the audience looked toward the windows, for it seemed only a breath of wind rustling freshly opened leaves, just a hint of stirring air.

Then the curtains were swept aside swiftly. The stage had been transformed into a lovely little corner of creation, where trees and flowers grew and moss carpeted the earth. A soft wind blew, and it was the gray of dawn. Suddenly a robin began to sing, then a song sparrow joined him, and then several notes began talking at once. The light grew stronger, the dew drops trembled, flower perfume began to creep out to the audience; the air moved the branches gently and a rooster crowed. Then all the scene was shaken with a babel of bird notes and other sounds of nature. The voices died and soft, exquisite melody began to swell and roll. In the center of the stage, piece by piece the grasses, mosses and leaves dropped from an embankment, the foliage softly blew away, while plainer and plainer came the outlines of a lovely girl figure draped in soft clinging green. She played as only a peculiar chain of circumstances puts it in the power of a very few to play.

At the doorway a white-faced woman bore it as long as she could and then fell senseless. The men nearest carried her down the hall to the fountain, revived her and then placed her in the carriage to which she directed them. The girl played on and never knew.

That was Friday night. Elnora came home Saturday morning and went to work. Mrs. Comstock asked no questions, and the girl only told her that the audience had been large enough to pay for the piece of statuary the class had selected for the hall. Then she inquired about her dresses and was told they would be ready for her. She had been invited to go to the Bird Woman's of her gingham school dresses. With a cold, hard face she passed her mother and went into the night. A half hour later Margaret and Billy stopped for Mrs. Comstock with the carriage. She had determined fully that she would not go before they called. With the sound of their voices a sort of horror of being left seized her, so she put on her hat, locked the door and went out to them.

Wesley was waiting before the big church to take care of the team. As they stood waiting the people enter the building Mrs. Comstock felt herself growing ill without knowing why. When they went inside among the lights, saw the flower decked stage and the masses of finely dressed people she grew better. She could hear Margaret and Billy softly conversing on what was being done.

"That first chair in the very front row is Elnora's," excited Billy, "and she's got the highest grades and so she gets to lead the procession to the platform."

"The first chair? Lead the procession?" Mrs. Comstock was dumfounded. A wave of positive illness swept over her. What had she done? What would become of Elnora?

(Continued next week.)

SHIRT-WAIST BAGS.

How to Keep Blouses From Getting Mussed.

How to keep the freshly laundered shirt waist from getting mussed and slightly soiled while it awaits its turn to be worn is one of the perplexities of the woman whose quarters are far too small to accommodate her belongings. If the supply of shirt waists is kept in a box or a drawer the entire stock must usually be gone over each time that one of the garments is needed, but if a bag is provided for each one of the garments the fingers need not come into contact with any of them until the time comes for wearing it. A half yard of white cambric, folded once widthwise, makes a bag sufficiently large to accommodate the fullest of fingered blouses, provided that the receptacle has a boxed bottom made by shirring the two sides on to an oblong strip of cloth measuring 2 by 10 inches. At the top or mouth the bag is turned under to the depth of two inches so that when the drawstring shirring is run in there will be a narrow frill finishing. This opening is the only portion of the bag which need be handled when looking for a special waist, for one glance into it will reveal the character of its contents. Any blouse which is ever so slightly starched can be placed almost flatly in one of these bags, but one that is of net or voile must be braced with tissue paper, as otherwise the materials will fall into creases and become shapeless.

How to Pack Furniture.

Dispose of pieces of household furniture that are likely to be useless in the new home.

If they are still good they may be sold, if not, better throw them away. Useless junk is added expense.

Worn articles of clothing that are scarcely worth the trouble of packing might be given to some deserving poor person.

All delicate pieces of furniture should be kept in newspapers. Brass bedsteads also should be covered, otherwise they will become scratched in moving.

It will be found convenient to keep a list of articles packed in barrels and tacked to the outside. Anything wanted may be found more readily if this method is followed.

A large piece of muslin put over the barrel when it is packed and stuffed in at the sides will prevent the excelsior from scattering.

If each piece is labeled with the room in which it is to go there will be much less trouble in arranging later. The movers will place each piece according to the directions on the label.

How to Make St. Patrick's Day Favors.

Cut sugar biscuit dough in shamrock, paddles and long narrow shapes, with knobby end to represent a shillalah. Ice first with green, last with chocolate, and put the figures in green, brown and white, using currants for features.

With eggs for faces and wool for stuffing, amusing figures, dressed in green coats and caps, can be quickly made.

A Card.

This is to certify that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound does not contain any opiates, any habit forming drugs, or any ingredients that could possibly harm its users. On the contrary, its great healing and soothing qualities make it a real remedy for coughs, colds and irritations of the throat, chest and lungs. The genuine is in yellow package. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and accept no substitute. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

Care of the Separator.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

After a good many years of use and its general popularity, there are some people who do not yet know how to handle the cream separator, says the Kansas Farmer. During the winter months perhaps less attention is given to cleaning the separator than during the summer months because in colder weather it does not get "smelly" so quickly. The recommendation is, therefore, just the same, and even more attention should be given to the cleaning of the separator in the winter than in the summer because of this very fact. In the cold months, too, the separator should be warmed up by having hot water run through it before the milk is put in. There is no other way to get good separation.

A White-Faced Woman Bore It as Long as She Could and Then Fell Senseless.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell, Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right

Advertising that brings

Results

A Newspaper that Prints

The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

Grange Column

Rock Elm Grange.

Regular session of the Rock Elm grange was held Saturday, June 22, one application for membership was received. Lecture hour consisted of comic reading by Jessie Metz, song by the young men, song by E. Van Gorder and sons, solo by Miss Metz, and discussions on various interesting subjects by Quincey Fink and others next meeting July 6.

Gas and Huron cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 862-r. 17d

Wilson Grange No. 719.

Wilson grange was called to order, June 22, by Worthy Master George Jaquay.

After the business session the lecturer's literary program consisting of music, songs, readings and recitations was listened to with much interest.

Under suggestions for the good of order the members voted to hold a picnic at the hall July 4. Everybody is invited to come and bring filled baskets for dinner. In the afternoon there will be a basketball game and following the ball game will be a dance afternoon and evening. Supper will be served by the ladies in the evening.

The dance committee cleared $3.10 from the last dance and the ladies made $3.20 from the ice cream served that evening. Grange closed in form to meet again in three weeks.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders' Supply Co. 17d

Ironton Grange.

Ironton grange met in regular session June 18, with an attendance of thirty-six members and two visitors.

Lecturer's hour was taken up with songs, stories and readings.

The grange voted to have a baseball team. E. C. Lewis was appointed manager.

There will be a dance at the hall June 28. The grange will have a picnic. Date announced later.

Next meeting July 2.

LARGEST IN HISTORY

Are Entries for Detroit's Annual Blue Ribbon Race Meeting.

Trotters and pacers in training never have shown as much vitality during the winter days of this long and trying preparation as they are at this time. Generally the last part of June brings from all of the big tracks, where the famous drivers are engaged, reports of ailing horses. This year the physical condition of the campaigners is excellent, few are on the hospital list from lameness, and all seem to have unusual vigor and speed.

This condition foretells large fields and exceptional contests for Detroit's annual mid-summer carnival of speed, the Blue Ribbon races, which this year will be held from July 22 to 26. The entry in the stakes was the largest in the history of the club and the percentage of horses on which third payments have been made also is the greatest, so the racing of these and other events on the program should produce sport of the sparkling sort.

Go to Benj. Brown's for your roller skates. Skates for men, women and children. All prices. 25f

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 17d

CITY DELIVERY INAUGURATED

Dan McSamba and William W. Mitchell Appointed Carriers.

Three Deliveries Will be Made Daily—Other Information in Regard to Service.

City delivery of mail began Tuesday morning with two carriers, Dan McSamba and William W. Mitchell as carriers, Elmer Wooley and Harry Glossinger as reserve carriers.

Delivery will be made in the business section at 7:30, combined delivery and collection in both business and resident sections after the arrival of the morning and afternoon trains if the delivery can be made before 6:30.

Postmaster Fitch desires us to state that as originally laid out three routes were arranged for but the department changed it to two and the routes as now covered are experimental. He also states that a large number of patrons have not applied themselves with boxes as required. The department also requires that sidewalks must be laid before delivery can be extended to some parts of the city. For some reason the collection boxes sent by the department have never arrived and collection cannot be made until they arrive.

CORN GROWING CONTESTS

Are Being Held This Year in Twelve Counties in Western Michigan.

Corn growing contests are being held the present year in twelve of the twenty counties making up the Western Michigan territory. Nearly 50 entries are reported in the Muskegon county contest. Kent county offers seventeen cash prizes ranging in value from eight dollars to one dollar. In Antrim the boy who shows the best yield from one-fourth acre of land is to receive $15.

In Emmet county the best bushel of ears of field corn grown in the county is to receive a prize of ten dollars. This is the fourth reported. Last year seventy exhibits of corn were made at the Farmers' Institute when the prizes were awarded. In Mason county there are contests for both boys and men. Nearly eighty-five boys have joined the Boys' Corn Growing Club for Mecosta county; a first prize of fifteen dollars is being worked for. An appropriation of $100 for prizes has been made for the Newaygo County Corn contest. Oceana county has its first contest this year. Nearly twenty-five boys are striving for the premiums. Grand Traverse county will have its first Boys' Contest the present year, the prizes to be awarded at the Farmers' Institute next winter. For several years the boys corn growing contest of Wexford county have been attracting attention from the surrounding territory. The supervisors of Benzie county made an appropriation for prizes to be offered at the corn growing contest in connection with the Farmers' Institute.

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, blue lining see the Builders' Supply Co., phone 862-r. 17d

DANGER OF FOREST FIRES

Would be Avoided if People Would Use More Care at This Time of the Year.

The fire wardens wish attention called to the danger of forest fires at this time of the year and to impress on people visiting the woods the necessity of being careful in the use of fire. Millions of dollars have been lost to the people of this country through the carelessness of campers, picnickers and the careless use of matches while in the woods. If people would use more care and caution by seeing to it that their camp fires are utterly extinguished before leaving them, or if smokers would not carelessly throw matches about in the wooded sections much of the losses would be avoided. In case a fire is noticed which it is impossible to be put out by themselves, he says that the supervisor or fire warden should be immediately notified.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice.

To owners, occupiers or possessors of lands or any person or persons, firm or corporation having charge of any lands in this state: Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any lands anywhere within the below named township or within the limits of any highway, passing by or through such lands must be cut down and destroyed on or before the 10th day of July, 1912. And must also be cut down and destroyed again on or before September 1st, 1912. Failure to comply with this notice, on or before each date mentioned, or within ten days thereafter, shall make the parties so failing liable for the cost of cutting and destroying the same and an additional levy of ten per cent of such cost, to be levied and collected against the property in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected. All brush growing along the right-of-way of any highway must also be cut down and destroyed on or before first above named date.

Roller Skates

Get ready. We have the best "The Winslow Skates," steel rollers. Everybody can enjoy roller skating. Skates for Men, Women and Children.

50c to $3.00 per pair

Headquarters for Skate Repairing
Baby Carriages Repaired and Re-tired

Benj. Brown

GET READY FOR HAYING

Before Buying a Mower

Deering Mowers

Examine the Deering Ideal Ball and Roller bearings throughout. Extra wide trucks. Direct stroke pitman. Light draft. Extra heavy steel wearing plates.

For rough and stumpy ground the new Ideal Vertical Lift Mower has no superior. The construction is such that the tendency of the wheels to raise off the ground is overcome. By means of the foot lift, the cutter bar may be raised enough to clear ordinary obstructions.

Let Us Show You the Best

J. R. COOPER

FURNITURE

We have a store full of Furniture which we are offering at Prices which will help reduce the high cost of living

Mattresses New and Second Hand

$3.25 to $9.50 $6.00 Iron Beds $4.00

All Kinds Second Hand Goods

Refrigerators Iron Beds Springs Dining Room Chairs
Trunks and Suit Cases Dressers Chiffoniers Cupboards

Dice & Stafford

"Just Around the Corner" Mason Street

Charlevoix Theatre

Showing the Latest and Best Pictures in Northern Michigan

Change of Program

Monday - Wednesday - Friday

Having approximately 2000 copies of sheet music on hand which we desire to dispose of before opening of resort season, we will inaugurate the policy of giving it away each night (while it lasts) with 10 cent admission tickets.

Fine Upholstering

Hair Mattresses

Renovated

Box Springs to Order

Boat and Porch Cushions

AWNINGS

Call Bell phone 17d Petoskey and we will call with samples and prices.

Ask your neighbor about our work.

Scattergood Bros.

Petoskey, Mich. 21d

Something New

Have you seen these beautiful goods in Ivory Finish?

Jewel Boxes Hair Receivers
Powder Boxes Elegant for Gifts
Headquarters for Souvenir Spoons

C. R. BELLINGER

Pioneer Jeweler

SILVER HULL SEED

BUCKWHEAT

$1.25

Per Bushel

Argo Milling Co.

Charlevoix

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere

VOL. 30, NUMBER 27

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 3, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

RELATES FIRST EXPERIENCES

Montana Correspondent Relates How He Tried to Ride a Broncho.

WILL REMEMBER ATTEMPT

Spring Round-up is an Interesting Time in Cattle Country.

Bad Storm the First of June—Montana Flowers Are Very Beautiful—Letter Will Be Continued.

In the spring comes the "Round up." And this is the part which requires the help of men well acquainted with the country and much riding. Often hundreds of miles are covered in getting the herd together. The calves are corralled for branding. It is practically the same routine with the horses only they afford a little amusement for the riders. Those who are proficient pick out a wild bronco, blind fold him, put on the saddle and mount. The minute the blind is off his eyes the rider strikes him over the eyes with his hat and applies the spurs. Nine times out of ten this is sufficient urging and the bronco bounds into the air.

There are several different styles of bucking. One is the straight pitch, another the "stunfish" the merry-go-round horse and others. If you pull leather (to grab saddle to retain your seat) you are disqualified—it is more honorable to be thrown.—I'll never forget the first * * * and the last bronco I mounted. He was a fiery proud little beast, so small I almost hated to get in the saddle. However I set aside my weak heart and promised myself I would ride him too hard. A most obliging man held the horse's head and aided me in mounting and for purely personal grievances our friendship has been severed. I was no sooner comfortably seated in the saddle than he bestowed a tremendous uncalculated blow on the horse's flank. Immediately there were proceedings. All ties between the saddle and I were broken but instantly all was adjusted and we came together with a crash. I kept floundering in the air for the knob I remembered seeing on the front of the saddle. The stirrups had been lost for ages. Presently on one of my descending flights I was suddenly aware that the saddle was not under me and immediately I came in contact with the ground. During the three succeeding weeks I enjoyed my repasts off a homemade sideboard.

We are bothered but little with the roaming cattle though several times I have found it necessary to drive them away in order to protect our house garden, and at first I confess it took no little courage to face these ruminant visitors. The reason we are so seldom troubled is on account of the sheep men being located between our claim and the cattle men. Cattle will not graze off sheep lands if they can avoid it as the sheep eat the grass so close.

On the night of June the first we experienced the worst storm of the season so far. The rain fell with a tremendous unceasing gust all night while the wind blew a terrific accompaniment. To my knowledge it did no material damage though it caused the ranchers to lose a few days field work and created considerable nervous moments under our roof. As we had not explored the creek any great distance from our house we did not know if there were dams above us to give way or not. On account of the deficiencies in our geographical idea of the surrounding territory we immediately convened into a committee of two and the question on hand was if we should mount the nearest hill and await the dawn or venture a trip down the babbling brook in our shanty. It was finally agreed that we hold the fort but prepare for a sudden departure. The remaining long hours of the night we spent in a state of terrifying anxiety and when the big warm sun looked over the eastern hills into our water logged cabin he was more than welcome.

When the water ebbed enough to permit me to slip—and slid through the gumbo to the back of the house to reconnoiter the conditions of the creek and found it had swollen to the full capacity of the creek bed and the sod and rock which I had been pleased to call my "dam" scarcely produced a ripple. The garden was still there I could readily see from the main land but reach it was impossible. So our creek is one day a placid creeklet and the next a raging torrent.

The Montana flower bitterroot is a beautiful delicate white flower. I understand they grow in rose color also but those I saw were white. It has four heart shaped leaves a little larger than the wild rose. After the warm rain during the night these dainty blossoms were quite numerous in the grass. (To be continued) Robert C. Jarvis.

BOOMING CHARLEVOIX

E. S. Stacks Told New Yorkers How We Grow Fruit in This Region.

We take the following from the St. Lawrence Plain Reader published at Canton, New York, which shows how Charlevoix men are always booming this region.

"E. S. Stacks, of Charlevoix, Michigan, was in Canton Saturday visiting old scenes. Mr. Stacks went west nineteen years ago and has closely identified himself with his section, holding important public positions and booming things generally. Just now he is handing out an attractive booklet showing the inducements of Charlevoix. On the front page is a picture showing live strawberries raised in his county, the five, side by side, measuring just one foot. They are some strawberries. Mr. Stacks, who is interested in the local option work, also in all work pertaining to the uplift of the young people addressed the Sunday school at Clary Mills in the forenoon and the C. E. society in the evening."

POMONA GRANGE MET THURSDAY

Attendance Was Good Although From Small Proportion of Granges.

Good Roads Proposition Favored—Will Proceed With Grange Building on Fair Grounds.

The Charlevoix County Pomona grange met June 27 with South Arm grange. There was a good attendance from a comparatively small number of granges, seven granges being represented out of seventeen in the county.

The question of good roads was the principal topic discussed. After the present proposition was fully explained by Commissioner Olney and others sentiment seemed to favor the proposition but was still opposed to the original proposition.

It was decided to go on with the building of the grange rest room on the fair grounds, and on motion, the masters of subordinate granges were appointed a committee to collect funds for the purpose. The building will be 24 by 40 feet. The amount needed to complete the building is $175 and the secretary was instructed to notify the committee. Contributions to the fund may be sent to L. D. Wilson, Boyne City, or Peter Knudsen, Ironton.

The entertainment given by the members of South Arm grange was of the highest order, chicken pie and strawberries with cream being the leading features. A musical closed the exercises of the evening. Next meeting will be held with Bay Shore grange August 22.

ALWARD IN TOWN

Clare County Candidate for Representative Odds' Seat in Congress.

D. E. Alward, the Clare candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in this district, was in the city the latter part of the week on his way to Boyne City to attend the Republican banquet. Mr. Alward is well known in this county but it is generally thought that he is going up against a stonewall in opposing Congressman Dodds.

Cement blocks for the cellar and other improvements—the place to get them is at the Builders' Supply Co.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL ORDERS IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITIONS

Says That Fire Fighting Equipment of City is Grossly Inadequate—Several Complaints Have Been Entered—Charlevoix Has Been Very Fortunate—Must Clean Up or Be Prosecuted.

Henry A. Wolff, assistant state fire marshal, is in the city this week making an examination of the fire conditions in this city. Mr. Wolff informs us that he finds conditions bad in Charlevoix and he has already entered a large number of complaints and it is now a case of clean up or be prosecuted under the state law.

Mr. Wolff further says that while he finds that the members of the fire department in this city are active and willing workers he is surprised at the deplorable lack of proper equipment with which they are furnished.

He recommends that a hose tower be at once erected and a chemical engine purchased, to put Charlevoix on a par with other cities of its size and class. He also states that Charlevoix is the only city of its size in the state that pays the chief of the fire department the small sum paid here.

While the criticisms of Mr. Wolff may seem harsh they are needed and it is hoped that the recommendations made will be heeded and on another visit he will find no cause for complaint.

He says that it is only a miracle that Charlevoix has escaped destructive fires, but we can't always hope to be so fortunate, and if a fire should break out while a high wind was blowing, under present conditions, it would mean the destroying of a goodly portion of the city.

WILL MEET IN SEPTEMBER

Northern Michigan Maccabee Association Plan Big Time at Traverse City.

Will Hold a Three Days' Session—Ten Counties Are in the District.

The board of directors of the Northern Michigan K. O. T. M. M. and L. O. T. M. M. association met in Traverse City this week and fixed the dates for what is planned to be the biggest annual meeting ever held in this district, which is composed of Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Grand Traverse, Isabella, Kalaska, Leelanau, Manistee, Missaukee and Wexford.

The dates fixed are September 3rd, 4th and 5th. Plans were made for a big banquet Tuesday night, the opening day. Wednesday will be the big day. Excursions will be run from all parts of the district. The big parade will take place at noon and the afternoon will be taken up with sports and the business sessions of the association Thursday will be taken up with business, election of officers, fixing next place of meeting, etc., the meeting concluding with a ball in the evening.

OPENED LAST NIGHT

New Roller Skating Rink One of the Best in Northern Michigan.

The new roller skating rink opened last night, an immense crowd being in attendance, an excursion from East Jordan helping to swell the crowd. Mr. Karslake has one of the most complete rinks to be found in Northern Michigan. The floor is in excellent condition and everything which can be thought of has been arranged for the comfort of his patrons. The building is fully fitted up with running water and electric lights.

Double entrances are arranged for skaters and spectators and the rooms for putting on skates, check rooms, etc., are provided. One of the best features of the place is the resting place a veranda extending out over the lake which is fitted out with lawn chairs where tired skaters may rest and enjoy the breezes of the lakes. Taken altogether it is a welcome addition to the amusement places of the city.

Many Improvements.

The Hotel Elston has been making many improvements this season. Running water has been placed in nearly every room and several more have been fitted with baths. The grounds to the west have been fitted up as a tennis court and croquet ground and several other improvements have been made.

The price will always be right if you buy your building material of us. Builders' Supply Co. 17th

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders' Supply Co. 17th

CHARLEVOIX WON SUNDAY'S GAME

By Score 11 to 9—Two Games Arranged for Sunday and Monday.

Will Meet Peloskey Sunday—Western Bloomer Girls Monday.

A fair sized crowd took in the excursion on the Steamer Beaver to St. Ignace with the Charlevoix base ball team.

The game between St. Ignace and Charlevoix resulted in a score of 11 to 9 in favor of Charlevoix. McLaughlin and Bush were the particular stars of the game.

Batteries: St. Ignace, Harris, Wallace and Joe Powers. Charlevoix, Powers and Willis.

Two games have been arranged for in this city. Sunday the boys will meet the Peloskey team at golf grounds and Monday the Western Bloomer girls. In Monday's game St. Ignace's battery will officiate for the Charlevoix team.

The Charlevoix boys are putting up a good game this season and all who delight in seeing a good game of ball—and who does not—are promised two good games Sunday and Monday.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Daniel Adolphus Siminow Died Thursday of Heart Failure—Had Lived Here Twenty Years.

Daniel Adolphus Siminow a well known resident of this city died June 27, of heart failure.

Mr. Siminow was born in Milwaukee October 3, 1856, and had been a resident of this county over twenty years. September 6, 1899, he was married at East Jordan to Miss Ella Whitford and for the past three years lived in Chicago. He was a machinist by occupation. He was taken sick in December and came home at once.

He leaves his wife, parents, two brothers, and one sister, all of whom live in this city but one brother, Mr. Siminow was a member of the Legion lodge.

The funeral was held Sunday from the Methodist church, Rev. F. M. Taylor officiating.

THREE NOW IN RACE

Clarence C. Schaub Enters Contest for Republican Nomination for Treasurer.

As will be seen by looking over our political announcements, a new candidate has entered the race for the Republican nomination for county treasurer in the person of Clarence C. Schaub, making three now in the race.

Mr. Schaub has been a resident of Boyne City for eighteen years, and is the present city treasurer. He is highly spoken of by his fellow townsmen and undoubtedly the race will be a merry one.

Subscribe for the Courier.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY

Rollie L. Lewis Announces His Candidacy for Republican Nomination.

In this week's issue Rollie L. Lewis, of this city, announces his candidacy for the nomination for prosecuting attorney on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Lewis is a Charlevoix boy, born and bred, and has spent his entire life in this county. He has a wide acquaintance throughout the county, having been head chemist for the West Michigan Sugar company and was one of their overseers of seeding two seasons.

Mr. Lewis attended the U. of M. three years and was admitted to practice on examination by the Supreme Court of the state on recommendation of the law department of the University. For the past year he has been engaged in the practice of his profession with J. E. Converse at Boyne City, but opened an office in this city a few weeks ago, which is an assurance that he has the necessary legal knowledge and experience to properly conduct the affairs of the office if he is made the choice of the voters.

FOR FOURTH TERM

Judge Harris Announces Candidacy for Nomination for Judge of Probate.

Elsewhere will be found the announcement of candidacy of J. M. Harris for re-nomination for Judge of Probate.

Judge Harris needs no introduction to the people of Charlevoix county, having been in the public service for a number of years the last twelve in the position he now seeks. He very frankly states that he likes the compensation of the office and would like to draw the salary four years more.

WILSON WINS NOMINATION

New Jersey's Governor Named as Choice of the Democrats.

Forty Six Ballots Taken Before Contest is Over—Is a Progressive.

After a determined contest between four candidates, Governor Wilson of New Jersey, Speaker Clark of Missouri, Governor Harmon of Ohio and Representative Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic national convention nominated Wilson for president, in the forty-sixth ballot.

The convention will long be remembered as one of the longest in history. The friends of all the candidates made a determined fight. Speaker Clark led until the thirtieth ballot when Wilson, who had been steadily gaining, took the lead which he held until the end when he received 900 of the 1086 votes cast.

Woodrow Wilson was born in Virginia in 1856. Graduated from Princeton University in 1879 and practiced law two years in Georgia, when he commenced his work as instructor in different colleges, becoming president of Princeton in 1902. In October 1910 he resigned to become governor of New Jersey, where he has made a record as a progressive and foe of the bosses.

SUMMER SCHEDULE

Time of Arrival and Departure of Trains from Charlevoix Station.

The summer schedule of trains took effect last week. South bound trains leave Charlevoix as follows: Week days: 9:05 a. m.; 3:13 p. m.; except Saturday.

North Bound. Week days: 3:46 p. m.; 8:40 p. m. Daily except Monday 8:53 a. m. Resort trains leave Charlevoix northbound: 8:53 a. m.; 10:37 a. m.; 1:07 p. m.; 2:47 p. m.; 3:46 p. m.; 1:47 p. m.; 6:33 p. m.; 8:01 p. m.; 9:20 p. m.; 11:15 p. m.

Arrive from north: 7:38 a. m.; 9:05 a. m.; 12:46 p. m.; 2:20 p. m.; 3:13 p. m.; 1:20 p. m.; 6:00 p. m.; 6:40 p. m.; 10:13 p. m.

Roller Skates from 50 cents to $2.00 at Ben Brown's.

BANQUET WAS GRAND SUCCESS

Charlevoix County Republicans Hold Big Meeting at Boyne City.

D. S. PAYTON PRESIDENT

Attendance Was Large from Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Hon. O. E. Alward, Louis C. Cramton and Joseph W. Fordney the Speakers—Applause Greeted Mention of Representative Pearson.

The annual banquet of the Charlevoix County Republican club, held at Boyne City, Friday night, was like the two previous ones, a success in every way. The only source of disappointment was in the attendance from Boyne City, and the inability of Congressman Dodds to be present owing to the work at Washington, and Senator Scott who was kept away by illness.

The committee in charge made arrangements for an open air meeting which was held in the park in the evening and attracted a large crowd.

The meeting was called to order by J. E. Converse, who introduced Hon. L. C. Cramton of Lapeer. He is one of the best newspaper men in the state, made a reputation while a member of the state legislature as a man who was always for the interests of the people and it looks as if he would be a sure winner in the race for the Republican nomination for Congress in the seventh district.

Mr. Cramton's speech pleased the crowd and put them in a good humor. Hon. D. E. Alward of Clare, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from this district, was the next speaker. Mr. Alward's long service as secretary of the state central committee makes him one of the best informed men in the state in regard to political conditions, and his short talk was given close attention.

The next speaker, Hon. J. W. Fordney of Saginaw, better known as "Sugar Beet Joe," on account of his ardent advocacy of the interests of the Michigan sugar interests in Congress, was the next speaker. Mr. Fordney gave a very instructive and able address of the tariff which closed the open air meeting.

The banquet, which was held at Boyne City's magnificent new hotel the Wolverine, was a grand success in every way and the guests attended strictly to business during this portion of the affair. Music was furnished by Porter's orchestra.

After the cigars were lighted, retiring president R. A. Ensey called the meeting to order and introduced the toastmaster, J. E. Converse of Boyne City. D. S. Payton, the club's new president, was called upon and in a short address he urged his fellow republicans to work, as in the past, to keep Charlevoix in the front rank of Republican counties.

Hon. D. E. Alward called attention to the fact that the state committee never worried over the returns from Charlevoix county as they always knew they would be all right.

Mr. Cramton, the next speaker, spoke of the Republican press and the influence it exerts in directing the thoughts of the people in the right lines. Mr. Cramton spoke of the record made by Representative Pearson as a fighter for the right in the legislature and the applause which greeted Mr. Pearson's name showed how Mr. Pearson is regarded in this county.

Mr. Fordney, the last speaker, gave another instructive talk on the tariff and the banquet broke up about two o'clock in the morning.

At the business session the following officers were elected for the next year:

President, D. S. Payton, Eveline. Secretary, Walter Cook, East Jordan.

Treasurer, E. A. Ruessgeger, Boyne City. The other officers and committees will be appointed later.

Senator Scott Ill

The Alpena News says that Senator Frank D. Scott of this district is seriously ill with some sort of fever. Here's hoping he speedily recovers.

The Charlevoix Courier

Published every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager

Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year $1.50
One copy, six months .75
One copy, three months .40

For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

BIG AUCTION TO-MORROW

Several Charlevoix Citizens are Planning on Visiting Pine Point Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the citizens of Charlevoix will celebrate the Fourth in different ways. Several are planning to go to Boyne City where a big celebration will be the attraction.

Mr. Fryhofer has arranged for a celebration at Pine Point and several will go there and enjoy the program which has been prepared, see the improvements which have been made, rest in the shade of the trees, take in the auction in the afternoon and invest in a lot at Pine Point, the new and beautiful summer resort in Northern Michigan. See the big ad which gives full information.

Announcement.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Prosecuting Attorney, at the primary August 27, 1912.

27th adv. RALPH L. LEWIS.

Notice to Electors.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Probate Judge, on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27th, 1912.

adv 27th adv. SERGEANT A. CORRELL.

Notice to Electors.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-nomination to the office of Sheriff on the Republican ticket at the primary election August 27. Trusting that my conduct of the office has been such as to secure your approval, your support will be appreciated.

27th adv. FRED P. ROBINSON.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of County Clerk, at the August primaries, and if nominated and elected, I will do my best to serve the public in said office. I also wish to thank the electors of Charlevoix county for the support they have given me in past, and will appreciate your support at this time.

27th adv. RICHARD LEWIS.

To the Electors.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given the two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.

19th adv. W. W. BOYLE, St. James.

Notice to Electors.

I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated.

19th adv. RONALD A. FINNEY.

Notice to Electors.

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of prosecuting attorney on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.

25th adv. DWIGHT H. FITCH.

Announcement.

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of County Treasurer on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.

27th adv. CLARENCE C. SCHMIDT.

Notice to the Republican Electors of the Charlevoix County.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for judge of probate of this county at the primary election appointed to be held on the last Tuesday in August, this year.

I am now serving my third term in this office. I like the work and the compensation that goes with it, therefore I am a candidate; and if a majority of the electors express themselves that I am their choice for another term, I will administer the office for another term to the best of my ability.

July 1, 1912. JOHN M. HARRIS.

Roller skates for men, women and children at Ben Brown's.

HOW TO RENEW CARPETS.

A Simple Process to Freshen and Brighten Patterns.

Many a good carpet becomes shabby and worn looking without being actually old. The figures lose their brightness and the grain is rough and unkempt looking. There is a simple process by which the carpet or rug will once more look presentable and as good as new.

Get an ounce of yellow soap into small squares and with them make a batter with a pint of clear boiling water. Add to this a quart of hot water to which has been added an ounce of borax. Place the mixture on the stove and bring the entire preparation to a boil. Remove it, set it to cool, and when quite cold add an ounce each of alcohol and ammonia and half an ounce of glycerin. Wipe over only a small portion of the carpet at a time and rub vigorously with a clean flannel dipped into the mixture until finally all the spots are removed and the color revived. The result will be surprising for the change and improvement are remarkable.

Another good method is to shave half a pound of soap and boil it in a quart of water until dissolved, then add a gallon of hot water and an ounce of soda of tartar. Mix thoroughly. Use a stiff brush and scrub the carpet with the mixture, which should later be freely and clean the carpet without making it very damp. As you clean it brush out of cold water. If there is much green in the carpet put a cup of vinegar in the cold water. This quantity will clean a large carpet, and the process is as proved by those who have experience.

A housekeeper who has tried the following method says this is a success for cleaning a carpet; cut a cake of white soap two inches square, cut of ammonia, benz and soda from a saponifier. Put it in a bowl and dissolve it in soft water enough to make a paste and rub it on the carpet with a brush, then scrub with a cloth. When cold apply to the carpet with a stiff brush, rinse the carpet with a cloth wet in cold water and wring out partially dry.

Before washing rugs lay them out straight and brush with a stiff, dry scrubbing brush. You will be surprised at the amount of dirt to come out in this way, which is much better than shaking or beating them.

BUGHOUSE KILLER.

When it flutters like your life at night. Don't turn the bed or the light. Just get some creosote and spray. The bedbugs will get away.

If skeeters round your bald head sing And jab you with their poison sting. Anoint with creosote oil.

The devils will at once recoil.

If flies fly close upon your head.

Tincture of Iodospir kills them dead.

Dip your comb in kerosene.

To catch all nits and crawlers mean.

When crab lice take a hold on you.

Then stomp tobacco tea so brew.

Just take a bath in tobacco brew.

And the vile bugs will quick let loose.

When nasty roaches come around.

Just sprinkle kerosene where they're found.

And if the moth the carpets bore.

Go scatter salt upon the floor.

When fleas torment poor Tommy cat.

Pennyroyal tea is good for that.

Just sprinkle kitty with it.

And the mean fleas will soon be nit.

When fleas make good old Towser rub.

Drop camellia acid in his tub.

And if your cuspid bird has lice.

A sulphur bag overhead is nice.

When mites infest the chicken coop.

A cast oil spray quick makes them drop.

And if your hens have any lice.

Peratan powder for quick demise.

If you have bugs not mentioned here.

Here is the way to kill them, dear:

Just lay them on the cook stove quick.

And let them with a heavy brick.

C. M. BARNETT.

KURIOS FROM KORRESPONDENTS

Q.—What becomes of the fuzz on chicks? Do they shed it when they get their adult feathers, or where does it go? A.—Behind the fuzz on chicks are feathers, and these push out, the fuzz remaining on the ends until finally worn off. You may see this clearly illustrated by watching the feather growth of a little robin. The fuzz sometimes remaining on the feather tips till the birds are quite large.

Q.—What do you think of sending a distance for eggs for hatching? A.—We consider it more wise to look around home first for what you want.

We have known fanciers to send across six states for eggs, pay express, and the few chicks hatched were very ordinary, while within ten miles was a flock that would have given them more and better chicks at half the price.

Q.—In trap nesting hens to discover the heaviest layers what is revealed in regard to the percentage of fertility? Which hen gives the more fertile eggs, the 100 egg or the 200 egg hen? A.—Two hundred egg hens have been found to give eight infertile in ten eggs. The more eggs the less fertility.

Q.—When do you consider the best advertising medium for one who is in the poultry business in a small way? A.—Your town paper, or if there is no town paper, your county paper with largest circulation in your town.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

When on grass, put in summer Indiana Runner chicks cost about $1 per year per chick, for feed. As they lay from 150 to 250 eggs per year they pay well.

Oats are a splendid food for summer and the adult. They are not heating, are polished and contain protein and carbohydrates in almost proper proportions to afford a balanced ration.

The English Bantam, that dates back to Chinese invasion and has been England's national bird, has come down off the high perch of popularity and is now trailing behind the Orpingtons, the Dories and the Rocks. Tails est vita.

Indiana's contribution in the egg product last year was 72,000,000 dozen, worth $12,000,000. As Texas has won from Iowa the title of chief agricultural state in the Union, she is now bustling to develop her poultry product—$50,000,000 per year.

It's a wise plan to stir up the nest material when you gather eggs. A hen's egg occasionally slips down under the straw, and if not found it may be hidden for a month. Then the hen may stir it up, and you may sell it for a strictly fresh egg laid while you wait.

The decline in egg receipts from foreign countries has put England up against an egg famine, and public egg farms under government control are agitated. Eggs for hatching at cost would be supplied by these farms to poultry raisers to encourage an increase in eggs and poultry.

White Leghorns in England have been spoiled by crossing with feather-legged Brahmas, and talk about counters; they are so heavy the birds' head is bent down to the ground. American Leghorns shipped there have knocked the splinters off their legs, and a big fight now going on among English fashions breeders to give the birds a better comb glaze. British find a solar plexus.

Belgians are claiming that their Braekel Campine is the 250 egg hen the world is looking for. It is claimed to lay a 27 ounce egg in greenish-yellow, is splendid for table and is a beautiful exhibition fowl. The Belgians are magicians in poultry culture, but keep their methods so secret that few have ever learned how they breed their birds to such perfection or put the fine finish on their market fowls.

While old breeds may disappear from shows and finally from the map, yet their strains live on in the new breeds, of which their blood is a part. How few white faced Black Spanish you see, and yet please remember when you see these beautiful White Leg horns that seventy-five years ago the bon bon layer Black Spanish blood was used to increase the size and output of the Leghorn, the world's egg machine.

LAMENESS IN HORSES.

Detection of the Seat of the Trouble is Often a Difficult Matter.

Lameness in horses is caused in a great number of ways and may be due to many reasons, so it is not wise hastily to jump to conclusions when you try to cure it. The London Live Stock Journal. It may be due to diseases of the joints or to disordered functions of the muscles or tendons quite disconnected with the joints, or it may come from the foot only. For instance, in the majority of cases where lameness occurs in the hind leg it is something wrong with the hock, but lameness in the foreleg generally means there is something wrong with the foot joints.

It is not enough to assume that you have found the seat of the lameness, because a certain part of the leg is bad, for the shoulder may be hot, in though the lameness is due to the foot. The proper way is to reckon up all the symptoms that are apparent before coming to a conclusion. It is not always easy to detect whether the fore or the hind limb is the trouble, but a good guide is often afforded by noticing how the horse stands.

If the fore leg is lame he will stand with his hind legs under his abdomen resting alternately on each fore leg. And another thing to notice is the way the horse moves. He lifts his head up in a painful, unhappy-looking way. But if it is the hind leg he stands in just the opposite way and keeps his head down and trends gingerly or even he walks on three legs.

One is apt to make the mistake when trying the horse which is often the only method of discovering the

In looking a horse over for defects the hock is probably the most serious part to be examined in the hindquarters. It must bear the weight of the entire strain when the horse is at work. It is the seat of several important diseases. A desirable hock will be strong, clean cut and wide as viewed from side or rear. The angle of the hock is to be considered carefully. Too great an angle is called "steak hock" and predisposes to curb. If the hock is too straight proper action is interfered with. This condition is called "post legged." The hock here with illustration is of the sickle order and is afflicted with curb, or is curby moked.

ness, of not watching his head and neck as well as his leg. Their movements are a help in deciding upon which leg the horse drops, and unless the lameness is in both a fore leg and a hind leg the latter is a more falling guide.

Lameness, like soundness, is often cut in a horse. It has been termed

..GUARANTEE..

YOU are entitled in buying Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes, to a most positive assurance of your satisfaction. Every dealer in our clothes is authorized to say this to you.

Every Garment made by, and bearing the label of Hart Schaffner & Marx, is guaranteed to be of all-wool or wool-and-silk fabrics, with no "mercerized" or other cotton added; thoroughly shrunk before cutting; seam sewed with pure silk thread; tailored in clean, sanitary shops; free from every defect of material or workmanship.

More than that: The dealer is authorized to say that if the clothes are not right, or not satisfactory, your money will be refunded.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

M. A. LEVINSON & COMPANY

This Store is the Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

COOK IN

COMFORT

By Using a

NEW PROCESS OIL STOVE

The most Perfect, Efficient and Economical Oil Cook Stove on the Market

Glass Tank on this stove always shows amount of oil so user can keep wicks from burning dry

Simple Burner Easy to Re-wick
Smokeless Device Automatic Wick Stop

One Gallon of oil will run one burner, full flame, for 15 hours. Flame can be regulated to a high or low fire.

We will be glad to show the stoves in operation to anyone wishing to examine them

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

We Carry a Full Line of Kabo Corsets

Every Pair Guaranteed

To Give Perfect Satisfaction

We would be Pleased to Show the Line

Bergeon's

Dry Goods Store

Buying a Dairy Cow. It is a mistake to buy a cow for the dollar best solely on the recommendation that she is an easy keeper, meaning of course that she will eat little and give much. The only cow worth having in the dairy herd is one that has the power and ability to produce a large amount of food into butter fat the more the better.

HOW TO RAISE CELERY.

Good Profit With Little Expense or Work.

No deep secrets surround celery growing. It just requires careful cultivation. A profit of $200 an acre will be a fair return, although in many instances more has been realized. The grower who is handy to the market and has a rich, loamy soil available has two important requisites. Celery is best grown from seed planted in the border. Sow the seed in a hotbed or cool frame about April 1. The rows should be six inches apart and the seed covered to a depth of one-eighth of an inch, says the Kansas Industrialist. Shallow the soil lightly and keep it moist and at a temperature of about 55 degrees. When the plants have reached a height of three inches thin the rows by transplanting. This will harden them and get them ready for planting in the field.

The plants may be set out safely after the middle of May. Mark off rows four feet apart and furrow with a string row, throwing the ridges in the same direction. Set the plants six inches apart on the side of the furrow nearest the ridge and a little above the bottom. In cultivating keep the furrow open and use it for an irrigation ditch.

As soon as the plants have a good hold begin a careful cultivation and keep it up until digging time. Use the ground mallow and destroy every weed. A small hand cultivator is the best tool to use the first time in a garden, loosening the ground between plants with a hand weeder. Be careful that you do not get dirt in the hearts of the plants. An occasional spraying—say every two weeks—with standard Bordeaux mixture will be found valuable.

As soon as the plants have attained the proper size for using the leaves lift an upright row by pulling the plants on each side of the rows. These should slope toward the plants at the top. Another method is to draw dirt firmly around the plant and pack it. This will exclude the light from the heart of the plant and cause the later growth to be white or bleached. This process lasts for two to three weeks.

Bees For Every Farm. It is safe to say that every farm could support at least a few hives of bees. Nearly all parts of our country produce honey in sufficient quantities to pay for the gathering. The amount of honey that goes to waste every year for want of bees is either it is very large—in fact, too large to estimate.

The Swallow. The temperature of a swallow's body is extraordinary high, no less than 112 degrees F.

THIS IS HOT AIR

But I want to tell you one of the things I think about myself. I think I have made more Real Estate Sales during the last twelve years than all the other Real Estate Dealers in the county combined. I think I can prove it. I have spent more money advertising Charlevoix County and persuaded more people to locate here than all the other dealers in the county put together, and I usually deal more than once with the same customer. I helped Boyne City grow from a village of 600 to a city of 6000 in 12 years. Prospects are here for good business here in Charlevoix and I do not think I will be disappointed.

My Outside Ads and broad acquaintance bring many people north every year. They come to see the country and buy Real Estate if they are suited with it. It is my business to help them get located after they come, as well as to persuade them to come. I have a few line bargains now, but need more. If you have Real Estate for Sale I want to talk to you about it. This is important to both of us. SEE ME NOW.

G. I. B. McLEAN

319 Bridge Street, Charlevoix
IN CHARLEVOIX OFFICE Tuesday, Wednesday, Saturday
IN BOYNE CITY OFFICE Monday, Thursday, Friday

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Little Zellen Cohen is quite ill this week.
Mrs. Laura Donaldson is out again after her recent illness.
H. A. Stevens of Central Lake, was here on business Monday.
Mrs. Clara Todd made a short visit at Petoskey last week.
Mrs. Ed M. Munnell visited friends at Harbor Springs Saturday.
W. W. Boyle of St. James is a setting in S. M. See & Son's store.
Archie Harting of Gloucester, Mass., is visiting friends in the city.
Miss Edith Lamoreaux visited relatives at Boyne City Sunday.
John Ward of Traverse City, was a business caller here yesterday.
Miss Lillian Noble of Traverse City, is making a short visit here.
Del Parish of St. Ignace, was calling on friends here Thursday.
A. Dryer and family of Cincinnati, have arrived here for the summer.
Miss Kathryn Laperie is quite ill at the Saville Sanatorium, Petoskey.
Leo Zimmerman of Grand Rapids, is the new plumber for A. Foxers.
The annual grand picnic at Montmorency will be held some time in August.
Mrs. Dittelsen of Petoskey, visited at the home of O. Nordman, Sunday.
Miss Jennie Graves of East Jordan, is spending the summer in this city.
Robert Comtoque, of Petoskey, spent Sunday with friends in the city.
Miss Opal Emory of Grand Rapids, is making a visit with her sister Ruby.
The S. S. Manistee will make her first trip of the season "thru" here, tonight.
George Cramer returned to Buffalo last Thursday to resume his studies.
Dr. Farthing of Boyne City, drove down here Sunday in his new Overland car.

Saturday For Cash

Beef Roasts 12½ to 14c
" Stews 8c to 11c
" Sirloin st'k 17c
" Round st'k 16c
Pork Roasts 15c - 16c
" Chops - 16c
Chunk Pork - 13c
Veal R'ts 11, 12, 13 16c
Veal Stews 7c and 10c
Veal Chops - 16c
Lamb Roasts 15c - 18c
" Chops 15c - 18c
Stews 8c - 12 1-2c

The Market on the Corner
Bert VanAltsburg
Corner State and Antrim Streets
Phone 125

Melbourne Walt of Coopersville, Michigan, formerly of this city, is making a short visit with relatives.

A. B. Fowler and family of Pellston, have returned to their home after making a week's visit with relatives.

Mrs. Vernon Payton and daughter have returned to their home at Traverse City after an extended visit here.

S. A. Correll of Melrose township, was in the city Saturday in the interests of his candidacy for Judge of Probate.

Samuel Bowman and family of St. Louis, Missouri, are now occupying the new Nettleton cottage on Dixon avenue.

Frank Campbell and wife of Milwaukee, arrived in the city Sunday, expecting to remain during the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman VanDusen of Lowell, Michigan, formerly of this city are visiting at the home of Fred Cartier and family.

Charles McMahon has returned from a week's visit at Lowell, Mich., and has resumed his place at the State Savings Bank.

Mrs. Theodore A. B. Jefferson and children of Ypsilanti, were in the city Thursday enroute to their cottage at Horton Bay.

Judge of Probate Harris of Antrim county, was in the city Friday on his way to the Republican club banquet at Boyne City.

Dr. Kenward and wife of Chicago, were in the city the latter part of the week enroute to East Jordan where they will visit the latter's parents.

The county clerk requests all officers receiving cards for supplies for township officers' guides to forward them to him immediately.

Will Myers is the owner of a fine Apperson car which arrived here the first of the week. He will have it for hire during the resort season.

Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson and children are spending a few weeks' vacation on Beaver Island. Dr. Wilkinson spent Sunday there with them.

George Gladus, who is always up to the times in everything, has installed a new carbonator this week which is the latest improvement in that line.

Thirty-two friends of Miss Clara Nowland surprised her at her home in Marion last Thursday evening. The event was in honor of her fifteenth birthday.

Mrs. Lucy Ben and daughters, Anna and Hallie spent Sunday at Beaver Island with the Wilkinson family. Miss Hallie will remain there about a week longer.

Mrs. Ella Tidstrom returned Monday from Grant Beach where she attended the school of district deputies of the L. O. T. M. M. which was held at the Windemere Hotel.

The store of S. Orlovski & Son was broken into Saturday night and the till robbed of about ten dollars. The deed is thought to have been committed by boys of this vicinity.

The new office building which Van Pelt has erected for Myrtle Young & Son is about ready for occupancy. It is one of the finest office buildings in this portion of the state.

Robert Mears is exhibiting a sword made from the husings end of a swordfish. If you wish to see how they are armed also a good piece of workmanship, call at Mears' restaurant.

Mr. Aaron Parker of Petoskey will give a talk next Sunday to the Men's Bible class on a subject in keeping with this patriotic season. All men invited. Carnegie Library at noon.

Sheriff Robbins brought Glenn McCafferty over from St. James yesterday on a charge of statutory rape. Examination was waived before Justice Collins and he was bound over to the circuit court for trial.

Deputy Sheriff Roddy of St. James, brought H. Frankel of that place over yesterday, charged with a statutory offense. Frankel had waived examination before Justice Collins and was bound over to the circuit court for trial.

The following were granted licenses under the new law to carry weapons by the county board at their session held Monday: Charles Novak, Elmer K. Stafford, Ford P. Robbins, S. M. Rice, Harrison Berdan, Fred Coon and Clarence LaPort.

When the news of Wilson's nomination was received in town Tuesday, two of our prominent Democrats decided to have a celebration and went and filled up on buttermilk. What more convincing evidence is wanted that Charlevoix is a dry town than to have Democrats celebrating by drinking buttermilk.

E. S. Stacks returned the latter part of the week from a three weeks' business trip to various points in Ohio, New York, Indiana and Michigan. While at Laporte, Indiana, he attended a family reunion, his son and wife of Moline, and his daughter, Miss Mayfred, meeting him there.

Sunday Excursion.

Sunday July 7 the steamer City of Boyne will run an excursion to Boyne City. There will be a ball game between Bloomer girls and the Boyne City. This game will be worth seeing. Boat will leave Wilbur's dock at 11 a. m. Returning, leave Boyne City at 6:30 p. m. Fare round trip, fifty cents.

Sunday in the Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Christian Science Society, Van Pelt hall. Services Sunday, 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "God."
Wednesday, at 7:45 p. m.
Reading room open Tuesday Thursday and Saturday from 2:30 to 5:00 p. m.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.
Services every second and fourth Sunday of each month.

BAPTIST CHURCH.
Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor.
Morning Service, 10:30. Subject: "Unanswered Prayer."
Sunday School at 11:45.
B. Y. P. T. 6:30 p. m.—Topic: "The Christian Virtues, Honesty." Leader, Miss Winifred Sargent.
Evening service, 7:30. Topic: "The Elder Brother."
Friday evening prayer meeting, this week.
Preaching next Sunday afternoon at Burgess school house.
"Strangers always welcome."

Very Interesting Address.

A large crowd heard Mr. Gilbert's talk to the Men's Bible class Sunday on "The Trial of Christ, from a Lawyer's Standpoint." Mr. Gilbert showed how, in several instances, the Jewish law was violated during the trial. Taken altogether it was one of the most interesting talks the class has ever listened to.

The Difference in Icebergs.

No two icebergs appear to be exactly alike in size and shape. Some look for all the world like "Arabs" tents as they glide along and others like cliffs, castles, cathedrals, yachts, and even strangely they resemble some well known animal. Some of the phenomena of a large iceberg nearly a thousand feet above the water, while the base may occupy an area of ten or twelve acres. Seen through a powerful glass, one may detect waterfalls upon these icebergs of 100 and all kinds of arctic birds and perhaps a few seals. Then the colors are almost beyond description. The sunny, pinkish glazes in the sun have powdered glazes. At times the berg is pure white; at others it looks greenish—Harold J. Shephard in St. Nicholas.

Great Tonic.

Bring Clark. See, you remember that bottle of the new tonic you sold Bill Martin? The Proprietor—Yes, Bill Martin? The Clerk—Why, Bill drank the whole bottle and went home and whipped his wife. And she wants to know what we are going to do about it. The Proprietor—Going to do about it? I have it. Sell her two bottles and tell her to go home and get even.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Just Sued Him.

Landlady warningly to impecunious student applying for board—[I had my last tenant thrown out for failing to pay his rent for four months. Student cheerfully—That's all right. I will take the room under the conditions.—Mogendorfer Blatter.

Emphatic.

"Speaking of emphatic, did you send the dollar for those advertised instructions on 'What to do at table'?"
"Yes."
"And what did you get?"
"A slip with one word printed on it: 'Eat'!"—Boston Transcript.

Famous Pens.

The collecting of pens that have been owned by or associated with famous personages is a hobby that has attracted some collectors, though the pursuit is an expensive one. A well worn gold pen used by Charles Dickens brought $200 at a sale of his effects. A pen made out of wood from a box owned by George Washington, the box having been made from a desk brought to America by the Mayflower, is valued at $2,500. Eyman.

A Revised Order.

Real Estate Agent: Good morning sir. What can I do for you? William: Bring the gentleman a chair. Do you want to buy a lady's roller? No. I want to sell one. Agent—William, never mind the chair.—Boston Transcript.

Misunderstanding Him.

"I've almost decided to get me a talking machine."
"You believe that two can live as cheaply as one, eh?"—Houston Post.

Things look dim to old folks. They need have some young eyes about 'em to let 'em know the world's the same as it used to be.

Wool Wanted.

Will pay the highest market price for wool. H. Kaufman.

CRANE'S

Sale of Odd

LACE CURTAINS

One Curtain of a Pattern Only

One-Half Former Price

This Sale enables you to purchase a Nottingham Lace Curtain in full length for from 12 1-2c to $1.25

Worth from 50c pair to $5 pair

Just Received a new line of

Trunks and Suit Cases

—All kinds of—

Light and Double Harness and Truck Harness

Excellent Quality

Reasonable Prices

ALL KINDS REPAIRING

WORK GUARANTEED

Frank Chamberlin

Shea's Old Stand

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN

Wants, For Sale, To Rent, Lost and Found, etc.

Advertisements under this head, 1 cent per word first insertion and 1/2 cent each week thereafter. No charge for 100 words or less.

Girls wanted at Pontiac City Home for the blind.

NOTICE to those who have stolen Mr. Barrett's property in Charlevoix, report once you take them out. D. W. Mahoney.

1 ACRES FOR SALE, 3 miles north of Charlevoix, in new cleared land, well improved. Call on Wm. B. W. Stahowicz, P. O. box 144.

Annual School Meeting.

The annual school meeting will be held at the McKinley building next Monday night at 7:30. The most important questions to come before the meeting will be the proposition to purchase 5 acres of land adjoining the Lincoln building to be used for athletic purposes, and the election of two trustees to succeed Trustees Bridge and Wilkin-

White Cedar Terrace Tenting Resort

Situated on the south side of Pine Lake, between Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan

Come to the Most Ideal Summering Place in MICHIGAN

Tenting Privileges Reasonable

Address Communications to WILLIAM HUNT
Attn—CHARLEVOIX, MICH.
Telephone, Farmers' Independent Line

AUCTION JULY 4, 5, 6

2:00 P. M. EACH DAY

Thursday, Friday and Saturday on the Land Rain or Shine

PINE POINT

One Hundred Choicest Water Front and Suburban Lots

PINE POINT

Owned by the NorthCharlevoix Company is the wooded tract of land formerly known as "Boy City."

From a beautiful water front on Pine Lake it extends back and the Charlevoix-Petoskey rock road runs through the north part of Pine Point.

BAND MUSIC

$500.00 Worth of Handsome Silverware Given Away Free

You don't have to buy a lot to get a present. Ladies especially invited

Free Boats and Automobiles to and from the Auction

This is the first of several Auctions to be held at Pine Point. Lots will go cheaper at the first sale than later. Tourists will advance the price.

Title Perfect

TERMS 20% CASH

Balance Easy Payments

$5,000

is being spent in improvement and development of Pine Point. Inspect Pine Point before the Sale. Free Automobile and Boat ride to the lots any day. Phone the Auctioneer.

750,000 The total number of tickets sold by the railroads and steam-boat companies during the last season to Charlevoix and the vicinity of Northern Michigan was 750,000. If these figures were not based on the actual reports from these companies one would be inclined to doubt them. However, it is a fact that over three quarters of a million people visited Charlevoix and vicinity during last season. A city well advertised must have a good future. More tourists have come to Charlevoix each year. Those who have been here continue to come. It is not uncommon to hear well traveled tourists say, "Charlevoix is the most beautiful summer resort in America." No other resort is so well patronized or has so long a season.

It takes years to establish a place so permanently in the minds of the people that they will return to it from year to year. Charlevoix became known as a resort place many years ago. Not long since, Charlevoix was a small village and its greatest asset was climate and picturesque surroundings. During the last few years it has suddenly awakened to its position. It is today one of the healthiest and fastest growing cities in Michigan. Land values from its main street to suburban lots are going forward in leaps and bounds. This is not a boom but a delayed rise in values. Values on inside property have doubled during the past year. One gentleman who bought a suburban lot for $2500 last season has already sold it this year for $5,000. Another gentleman, who bought a lot for $500 last season and paid $100, the first year's payment on the lot, has already sold this lot for $1,300 cash. Every owner and dealer in real estate in Charlevoix is making money fast. In addition to its being a resort, having deep water-way, railway and manufacturing and shipping facilities; and being the county seat, Charlevoix's greatest reserve, its agricultural surroundings, are just beginning to be developed. Farm lands are being bought up by outsiders rapidly. The land in addition to being first-class farm land, is now known to be the best fruit land in the state of Michigan. The growth and development of the surrounding country causes the early rise of values in the city.

I Could Have Bought

To the sincere investor there is no phrase so disheartening as this—"I could have bought." To see a lot which could have been bought last year for $250, rise in one year to $500 and again the next year doubled to $1,000 is very unsatisfactory, when you do not own the lot, but could have. Proportionately this will be the experience of those who do not buy lots in Pine Point early in the season. A visit to Pine Point and looking over this addition will confirm the statement in your mind.

GEO. W. FRYHOFFER, Real Estate Auctioneer

926 First National Bank Building, Chicago

Office---Hotel Elston, Charlevoix

NORTH CHARLEVOIX COMPANY

J. L. Crane, President
Lisle Shanahan, Secretary
R. C. Hammett, Treasurer

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

(Continued from page three)

Noah came, and she prepared dinner, calling, as she always did, when Elvira was in the garden, but she got no response, and the girl did not come. A little after 1 o'clock Margaret stopped at the gate.

"Elvira has changed her mind. She is not going," called Mrs. Comstock.

"You must be mistaken," said Margaret. "I was going on purpose."

She asked me to take her, and no crowd. Where is she?"

"I will call her," said Mrs. Comstock. She followed the path again and this time found Elvira sitting on the log. Her face was swollen and discolored and her eyes red with crying. She paid no attention to her mother.

"Margie is here," said Mrs. Comstock. "I told her you had changed your mind, but she said you asked her to go with you, and she had nothing to go for herself."

Elvira arose, recklessly took a short cut through the deep swamp grasses and so reached the path ahead of her mother. Mrs. Comstock followed as far as the garden, but she could not enter the cabin. Margaret stood and preached colorless and with such glaring eyes that Mrs. Comstock shrank back.

"What's the matter with Elvira's face?" demanded Margaret.

Mrs. Comstock made no reply.

"You struck her, did you?"

"I thought you wasn't going."

"I have been for twenty long years now, Kate Comstock," said Margaret. "But my eyes are open at last. What I see is that I've done you no good and Elvira a big wrong. I had an idea that it would kill you to know, but I guess you are tough enough to stand anything. Kill or cure, you get it now. You! The woman who don't pretend to love her only child, and all for a fool idea about a man who wasn't worth his salt!"

Mrs. Comstock picked up a hoe. "Go right on!" she said. "Empty yourself. It's the last thing you'll ever do."

"Then I'll make a tidy job of it," said Margaret. "You'll not touch me. When Robert Comstock shaved that quinine out there so close he went in, he wanted to keep you from seeing where he was coming from. You had been to see Elvira. You had plans to go to a dance that night."

"Close your lips," said Mrs. Comstock in a voice of deadly quiet.

"You know I wouldn't dare open them if I was not telling you the truth. It was hot in the woods, and I stopped at Elvira's as I passed for a drink. Elvira's bedridden old mother heard me, and she was so crazy for some one to talk with I stepped in a minute. I saw Robert come down the path. Elvira saw him, too, and she ran out of the house to head him off. He brought her his violin and told her to get ready and meet him in the woods with it that night and they would go to a dance. She took it and hid it in the little box to the wellhouse and promised she'd go."

"Are you done?" demanded Mrs. Comstock.

"No. I am going to tell you the whole story. You don't spare Elvira anything. I shan't spare you. I went to Elvira, told her what I know and made her give me Comstock's violin for $12.50 over three years ago. She's been playing it ever since. I won't see her slighted and abused another day on account of a man who would have broken your heart if he had lived. He was one of those men who couldn't trust himself, and so no woman was safe with him. Now, will you drop grievance over him and do Elvira justice?"

Mrs. Comstock gripped the hoe tight, and, turning, she went down the walk and started across the woods to the home of Elvira Carney. With averted head she passed the pool, steadily pursuing her way. Elvira Carney, hanging towels across the back fence, saw her coming and went toward the gate to meet her. Twenty years she had dreaded that visit. Mrs. Comstock's face and hair were so white that her dark eyes seemed burned into their setting. Silently she stared at the woman before her a long time.

"I might have saved myself the trouble of coming," she said at last. "I see you are guilty as sin."

"What has Margie Slaton been telling you?" asked the miserable woman, gripping the fence.

"The truth," answered Mrs. Comstock succinctly. "Guilt is in every line of your face, in your eyes, all over your wretched body."

"If you knew what I've suffered!"

"Suffered?" Jeered Mrs. Comstock. "That's interesting. And pray, what have you suffered?"

"All the neighbors have suspected and been down on me. I ain't had a friend. I've always felt guilty of his death. I've seen him go down a thousand times, plain as ever you did. Many's the night I've stood on the other bank of that pool and listened to you, and I tried to throw myself in to keep from hearing you, but I didn't dare. I knew God would send me to burn forever, but I'd better done it, for now he has got the burning on my back, and every hour it is slowly eating the life out of me. The doctor says it's a cancer."

Mrs. Comstock exhaled a long breath. Her grip on the hoe relaxed, and her stature lifted to towering height.

"I didn't know or care when I came here just what I did," she said. "But my way is beginning to clear. If the guilt of your soul has come to a head in a cancer on your back, it looks as if the Almighty didn't need any of my help in meting out his punishments. I really couldn't fix up anything to come anywhere near that. If you are going to burn until your life goes out with that sort of dre, you don't owe me anything."

"If you will gather a lot of red clover bloom and make a tea strong as I've of it and drink quart a I think likely it will help you. It you are not too far gone. Anyway, it will cool your blood and make the burning easier to bear."

"Then she swiftly walked home. Enter the lonely cabin she could not, neither could she sit outside and think. She attacked a bed of beets and hauled until the perspiration ran from her face and body, then she began on the potatoes. When she was too tired to take another stroke she bathed and put on dry clothing. In searching her dress she noticed her husband's carefully preserved clothing lying one wall. She gathered it in a great armload and carried it out to the swamp.

Here by the edge she pitched into the green mist of the quagmire all these articles she had dusted carefully and fought moths from for years and stood watching as it slowly sucked them down. She went back to her room and gathered every scrap that had in any way belonged to Robert Comstock, excepting his gun and revolver, and threw it into the swamp. Then for the first time she set her door wide open.

She was too weary now to do more, but an urging unrest drove her. She wanted Elvira. It seemed to her she never could wait until the girl came and delivered her judgment. At last in an effort to get nearer to her, Mrs. Comstock climbed the stairs and stood looking around Elvira's room. It was very unfamiliar. The pictures were strange to her. Commencement had filled it with packages and bundles. The walls were covered with cocoons, moths and dragon flies were plumed about.

Under the bed she could see a half dozen large white boxes. She did not know what they contained. She pulled out one and lifted the lid. The bottom was covered with a sheet of thin cork, and on long pins sticking in it were dozens of great, velvet winged moths. Each one was labeled, always there were two of a kind, in many cases four, showing under and upper wings of both male and female. They were of every color and shape.

Mrs. Comstock carefully closed and replaced the boxes and again stood looking around the room. This time her eyes rested on some books she did not remember having seen before, so she picked up one and found that it was a moth book. She glanced over the first pages and was soon eagerly reading. When the text reached the classification of species she laid it down, took up another and read its introductory chapters. Then she found some papers and studied them.

She went downstairs thinking deeply. Being unable to sit still and having nothing else to do, she glanced at the clock and prepared supper. She went out and sat on the front porch step watching night creep all around her. She started eagerly as the gate creaked, but it was only Wesley Slaton coming down the walk.

"Katharine, Margaret and Elvira passed where I was working this afternoon, and Margaret got out of the cage and called me to the fence. She told me what she had done. I've come to say to you that I am sorry. She has heard me threaten to do it a good many times, but I never would have got it done. I'd give a good deal if I could undo it, but I can't, so I've come to tell you how sorry I am."

"You've got something to be sorry for," said Mrs. Comstock, "but I'm not thinking of the saw thing. It hurts me less to know the truth than to live in ignorance. Now, if Elvira will forgive me we will take a new start and see what we can make out of what is left of life. If she won't then it will be my time to burn what sin I feel really means."

(Continued next week.)

THE WEARY WAY

Daily Becoming Less Wearisome to Many in Charlevoix.

With a back that aches all day, With rest disturbed at night, Annoying urinary disorders, 'Tis a weary way indeed, Doan's Kidney Pills drive weariness away.

Are endorsed by Charlevoix citizens.

Henry Newman, 203 Sheridan St., Charlevoix, Mich., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Ivy Drug Store for kidney trouble and have received relief. I have been troubled for years by too frequent passages of the kidney secretions at night and I had backache. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at the Ivy Drug Store. They gave me such relief. I can rest better and do not have much backache."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMunn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

[These articles and illustrations must not be reprinted without special permission.]

THE SLY OPOSSUM.

When snow piles up and zero winds whistle it's then the sly opossum sneaks down from the woods to rob the homestead. In summer he is busy, in forty tree and thicket, robbing birds' nests, gathering berries and fruits and rearing a big family of chicken snuck thieves, and when Jack Frost ripens the persimmons he hangs by his retractile tail among the golden fruit and stuffs all day. But the birds wing south, deep snow cuts off his food supply, and this pig headed, ratty tailed, dull white marsupial is forced from his haunts to seek food.

Photo by C. M. Barnitz.

MR. OPOSSUM DUMBLED.

He is a "night rider," shows little fear and appears in unexpected places. You are apt to find him upstairs under the bed, down in the cellar feasting on pumpkin pie and apples or out in the henhouse sucking eggs and skimming roosters.

His appetite for chicken is only surpassed by that of a fully matured dominie. He has the trick of getting into a place without keys, of mysteriously escaping when thought to be securely caged and of playing dead possum so well that the elect can hardly tell.

Twelve generally constitute a litter, three families a season to the pair. Kangaroo style, the mother carries her young in a pouch and is sometimes found with newborn young in her ear.

Photo by C. M. Barnitz.

NOW FOR A ROAST.

die and twelve, half grown, on her back, with tails hooked to her arched caudal appendage.

The possum here shown made a rash on Illinoiside roosters and pumpkins and met his finish.

On prying open his strong jaws fifty sharp teeth were disclosed, the death trap of many a fat hen.

These fowl fends are easily tracked and trapped, and when one is killed fowls' furry foes are not only fewer, but, oh, you roast possum an' sweet partners!

COON'S.

Don't let litter in the duck house get rank. Damp mounds lame ducks and their finish.

Don't forget that turkeys are not far removed from the wild and must not be shut up in a hot box.

Don't fail to scatter grain evenly over the litter so all have a chance, and keep the litter even on the scratching floor.

Don't expect to keep breeding geese right on a straight grain ration. Geese are vegetarians and to keep healthy and prolific must have regular stables regularly.

We do Fine Job Printing.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW

WHAT Your Neighbor had to Sell

WHAT He had to Trade

WHAT He wanted to Buy

Wouldn't it be a good Thing for You

If you want a Job

If you want to Hire anyone

If you want to Sell anything

If you want to Buy anything

If you want to Trade anything

WE CAN HELP YOU

Every week the Courier is read by over 5,000 people. You can reach the very person you are looking for through the Courier Bargain Column.

Only a Cent a Word First Issue---One-half Thereafter

Look around and see what you have to Sell, Trade or Buy

Advertise in the Courier---Results will Follow

Job Printing that's Right
Advertising that brings
Results

A Newspaper that Prints
The News

The Courier Press

PHONE 2 2r

Courier Building

VanPelt Place

Charlevoix, Michigan

Grange Column

Ironton Grange.

Ironton grange met in regular session June 23 with a good attendance and was called to order by the worthy master.

After the regular order of business two candidates were obligated in the first and second degrees.

Committees were appointed to arrange for the picnic to be held in August.

Lecturer's hour was taken up with songs, stories, readings and discussions.

Grange closed in form to meet again in two weeks.

For common and fancy brick, fire clay, blue lining see the Builders Supply Co., phone 562-r. 174f

Harmony Grange No. 1451.

Harmony grange No. 1451 held another of its regular successful meetings on Tuesday evening of last week.

James and Mrs. Hattie Simmons were obligated in the first and second degrees of our order. The finance committee reported over $30.00 on hand. The women's work committee have suspended meetings until after the busy season is over.

A good program was rendered by volunteers as the lecturer was absent from the previous meeting.

A good program was announced for next meeting. The third and fourth degrees will be given and ice cream and cake will be served.

Atlas and Huron cement at lowest possible prices. Builders' Supply Co., phone 562-r. 174f

SERVETUS A. CORRELL

Melrose Township's Supervisor in Race for Judge of Probate.

In another column Servetus A. Correll, the well known supervisor of Melrose township announces his candidacy for nomination for Judge of Probate on the Republican ticket to succeed Judge Harris, who has held the office for the past three terms.

Mr. Correll has been a resident of this county since 1882 and has served his township as supervisor eight terms and is well qualified for the office he seeks.

In conversation with the Courier Mr. Correll informed us that if chosen as Judge of Probate he would move to this city and would be found in his office every day in the week. Mr. Correll informs us that he will make an active campaign for the nomination, and in our opinion his opponents will realize that they have been through a contest when the votes are counted.

Notice of Annual School Meeting.

The annual meeting of School District No. 1, of the township of Charlevoix, for the election of school district officers, and for the transaction of such other business as may lawfully come before it, including the proposition of buying live acres of land, more or less, adjoining the Lincoln school site on the south, will be held at the High School room, in the McKinley building, on Monday, the 8th day of July, 1912, at 7:30 o'clock p. m.

Dated this 1st day of July, 1912.
Signed, F. J. Meech,
Director.

Help Wanted.

Women and girls wanted to work in canning factory. Season will begin about July 15th. Last about five months. Pleasant work and good pay to active workers. Call or write for particulars.
274f Central Lake Canning Co.

Go to Benj. Brown's for your roller skates. Skates for men, women and children. All prices. 251f

Let the Courier come with $ price

Farm and Garden

GETTING YOUR OWN GOATS.

Profitable Operation When There is Crush Land to Be Cleared.

If one has a field of brush land which he wants to clear there is no other stock that brings so large returns with so little care and expense as Angora goats. For the homestead or in the Louisiana goats are the best kind of stock to keep. They are hardy animals and require little care.

Last year I took up some land in the Cascade mountains near the California line, says a correspondent of the Country Gentleman. Last spring I bought about ninety head of the best herd in the neighborhood, about a week before kidding time. This is when it pays to take the best care of the goats. Unlike a sheep, a goat does not take her young with her, but hides it in the brush in the same way that a doe hides her fawn. When kidding time is over the goats give very little trouble. The kids are left in the corral to play and sleep until their mothers come home at night. A flock of sheep of the same size would have to be herded every day or the coyotes would soon destroy them. The goats keep together and face a coyote, while sheep run away in every direction, and a coyote is too much of a coward to attack any animals unless they are already running or down.

Photo by American Press Association.
ANGORA GOAT.

There is a great difference in the price of goats. A good one can be bought for from $1 to $5.50, according to the locality. I paid $5.50 for mine, and each goat will average four pounds of mohair next spring. Mohair is in good demand, and the price is not likely to drop, as there is still a great amount being shipped in from Arizona, where the Angora goat originated.

REMOVE THE MUMMIES.

Don't Leave Them on Peach Trees to Infect the Trees Next Year.

After all the fruit has ripened and gone and the leaves have fallen there will still remain on many of the peach trees the dried up remains of mummies. These are dry, withered and are cut in pieces, probably because they are dead and get so hard to exist a long time without rotting. Mummified peaches will hang on the tree all fall and winter, and often fall into the following spring, when the new growing buds and shoots push them off. To all appearances they are harmless.

But the mummy on the peach tree is a source of great evil in the fruit orchard business. On its smelter hide it carries hundreds of thousands of spores of disease. Next year these spores, if allowed to remain in the orchard, will be carried by wind, rain and other agencies to other trees, to cause the growing and ripening crop to rot.

Many years the peach blossom freely, abundance of fruit sets and grows to maturity, the peaches begin to color and ripen, when all at once, within a few days' time, they all begin to rot. Almost before we know it all of the peaches on all the trees in the orchard have rotted. Where there was prospect for a large and valuable crop of perfect peaches now is only more than worthless rotten trash, and all has happened before we could help ourselves.

The remedy for disease in the orchard caused by spores is spraying and washing with bordeaux mixture. This mixture will kill and keep in check nearly all fungous diseases if the treatment is given in the right way and at the right times.

Of course it is needless to make the applications after the disease or rot has once got under way, any more than it is to give medicine to a sick animal when it is dying. The disease must be taken in time and the medicine given in the earlier stages if it is to do much good, and prevention is better than cure.

The peach mummies should be removed from the peach trees just as soon in the fall as the falling of the leaves will permit all of them to be immediately burned to get them out of the way and to kill the spores adhering to them to prevent them flying in the air of the orchard and causing the next season's crop of peaches to rot.

If this is promptly and carefully done every year—in your own orchard and in your neighbor's—there will be less rotten fruit.—Farm Progress.

THE SIZE THAT COUNTS.

It is not so much the size of the farm as the size of the farmer that counts. It is the man who studies to get the best results from the amount of land he controls, the man who puts his time in the best way, the man who thinks about his work, who succeeds with the many or the few acres that he farms.

SAVE YOUR FINGERS.

Device for Best Cutter to Prevent Injury to Workmen.

At the American Museum of Natural History, New York, it is held that the most out of his hand without exhausting his fertility and in other important respects. When hands in Europe have been mutilated for a long time without showing any

SAFETY DEVICE ON BEET CUTTER.
From American Museum of Natural History, New York.

many signs of exhaustion as American hands placed under the power less than to ten per cent of that time.

In another very important respect Europe is far ahead of the United States. That is in guarding against accidents to workers in field and factory.

A practicable European device for preventing injury to men engaged in cutting beets is shown in the picture. To protect the workman from touching the knife disk of the beet cutter the disk is covered completely from the outside and, as far as possible, from the inside. The outer sheet metal safety lid furthermore prevents the cut beets from flying around so that they can be more easily guided into a receptacle placed underneath.

Big Cornstalks Have Value.

Among the uses to which large cornstalks can be put is to employ them as substitutes for poles for any kind of twining plants, useful or ornamental. It is not difficult to select a wagon load of stalks ranging from eight to eleven or twelve feet in length and very firm texture, with an average diameter of nearly three inches at the base. After the leaves are removed the stalks may be tied into bundles of a dozen each and piled in some dry place to winter. If kept under shelter they retain their bright gloss and pale golden color and are as beautiful as bamboo.

Marketing Milk by Motorboat.

The milk output of pasture lands along the Sacramento river, California, is gathered by a forty-five foot motorboat, which delivers it to the city of Sacramento. This method has reduced the cost of marketing about one-half compared with that of shipping by rail. The boat can carry 600 gallons.

FARMING GOSPEL.

Every bushel of apples, potatoes, corn and other grain produced takes out of the soil nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, and unless some return of these is made to the soil to meet the loss there must inevitably be a decrease in yield.

Little Farm Hints.

More farm machinery of all kinds is put out of condition each year by neglect than is injured by work.

If you are going to leave hay in the stack over winter it will be a good plan to dress down the stack with a rake and cover it with tarpaulins. These will pay for themselves in a single season.

Roller Skates

Get ready. We have the best "The Winslow Skates," steel rollers. Everybody can enjoy roller skating. Skates for Men, Women and Children.

50c to $3.00 per pair

Headquarters for Skate Repairing

Baby Carriages Repaired and Re-tired

Benj. Brown

..Why Pay High Prices..

Furnish your home in an Economical manner. We have two stores crammed full of everything in Home Furnishing Goods

Both New and Second Hand

New and Second Hand Refrigerators $7 to $14

New Dressers $10.00 and up

We know we have bargains and we want you to know it. Call and we will convince you that there is no use of paying high prices for your furniture and house furnishings

Dice & Stafford

"Just Around the Corner"

Mason Street

SILVER HULL SEED

BUCKWHEAT

$1.25

Per Bushel

Argo Milling Co.
Charlevoix

Out Door Life

To enjoy it properly we can furnish you with

Porch Furniture, Rugs

Hammocks, Etc.

Remember we can furnish you with the best REFRIGERATORS on the Market

S. M. SEE & SONS

The Reliable House Furnishers

A Female King.
Hatchepso, Egyptian queen, in 1580 B. C. assumed male attire and the style and title of king.

SELFISHNESS.

Selfishness in some form is at the foundation of most of our unhappiness and misery. If we could analyze all the suffering in the world and trace it back to its first cause we should probably find that selfishness was the greatest factor in creating it.

Struck the Wrong Spot.
A man lost his wife and his cow both in the same week. His neighbors tried to console him by hinting that they would see that he got another wife.

"Yes; you're willing to get me another wife," said he, "but none of you offers to get me another cow."—Koselent.

Self control is described as the root virtue of all virtues. It is the virtue of character.

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT

$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
$15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
$1,000.00 for Loss of Limb or Eye
$100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
Cost $4.00 per year. No other Dues or Assessments.

Old established Company with $200,000 State Deposit for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.

Men and Women between 16 and 65 accepted, according to occupation. For further information address: AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY, Dept. 14, Box 411, Erie, Pa.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Leading Newspaper in the Best Little City Anywhere.

VOL. 30. NUMBER 28

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 10, 1912

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

STATE GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION

President Philip Colgrove Reports Work It Has Already Accomplished.

OVER ONE HALF THE COUNTIES

In Michigan Have Now Adopted The County Road System.

Several Counties Have Voted Bonds For Good Roads—State Highway Department Helps Along The Good Work.

In view of the fact that we will vote on the question of bonding for good roads in August, the following from President Colgrove, of the Michigan State Good Roads association will prove of interest.

The Michigan State Good Roads association took a most active part in the good roads campaign in all parts of the state, and the April election of 1912 tells how effective the work was. Contributions already received enabled us to send thousands of pamphlets and bulletins into the various counties, and to furnish weekly newspaper matter in sixteen counties. Two hundred and eighty-three newspapers received every week matter calculated not only to inform the people, but to stir up enthusiasm. We found ourselves in the midst of a campaign of education. The people had little information regarding the county system. We not only sent literature into the various counties, but speakers. Our association furnished four speakers, paid for their services and expenses, and held meetings wherever a meeting could probably be held. The expense of maintaining the office, postage and printed matter, together with the expense of keeping speakers in the field, was of necessity large. We came out of the campaign with bills paid and a small amount to our credit.

When the campaign opened we had thirty-seven counties working under the county system. Of the thirteen counties that voted on the system April 1st, we came out victorious in Branch, Calhoun, Charlevoix, Eaton, Jackson, Lapeer, Mackinac, Macomb, St. Joseph and Van Buren. We lost in Lenawee, Washtenaw and Barry. In Washtenaw we lost by 129 majority only. Of the eighty-four counties in the state, forty-seven are safe in the fold.

Aside from the counties above referred to, we had three counties that voted upon a large bond issue. In all of these counties the campaign was successful. Kent bonded for $600,000, Ottawa for $600,000 and Genesee for $300,000. This means that one million seven hundred thousand dollars will be spent in these three counties alone in the immediate future for the building up of the highways.

Aside from the counties above referred to, several townships in various counties voted on a $50,000 bond issue, and were successful.

Our association sent out only literature, but speakers into all of these counties, making a total of seventeen counties in which we took active part. The State highway department contributed largely to the success of the campaign in many counties, and are entitled to great credit. The work of Frank F. Rogers, Deputy State Highway Commissioner, is entitled to special mention.

There is work everywhere to be done, but especially in Monroe, Lenawee, Hillsdale, Cass, Washtenaw, Oakland, Livingston, Ingham, Barry, Allegan, Ionia, Clinton, Shiawassee, Saint Clair, Gratiot, Montcalm and some other counties north, that have not as yet adopted the county system. Many of the counties that have adopted the county system will not be willing to accept the slow pace of building thirty or forty miles a year, but will submit the bonding proposition. In these counties we must enter the campaign. Washtenaw, Lenawee, Barry, Shiawassee, Allegan, Ionia and Ingham should submit the county system question at the fall election. This means special work. Indeed, our association must keep everlastingly at it until all of the thoroughfares of the state are put in condition so that we may go from some-

INTERSTATE MOTOR CLUB

Will Soon Begin Construction of Club House on Holy Island.

Last week I. B. McLean, the real estate dealer, closed a deal with a representative of the Interstate Motor club of Detroit, which means much in the development of this county.

As we mentioned a few weeks ago Mr. McLean has purchased Holy Island and was preparing to put it upon the market. A representative of the club purchased about an acre of McLean, and took options on several other parcels of land on the island. According to the terms of sale the club agrees to begin the construction of a club house, to cost at least $3000, within forty days and make other improvements.

Not only is Mr. McLean doing things in moving real estate but every real estate man in the county reports the business is picking up and getting livelier every day.

ENGLISH MARKET FOR OUR APPLES

Secretary Gibson Reports That Several Carloads Can Be Sold.

British Buyer Particular as to Brand—Red Apples Are Required.

D. H. Day, President of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, is in receipt of a report from John J. Gibson, secretary of the bureau, regarding the chances of marketing from one to two hundred carloads of choice apples in Great Britain the present season. President Day considers this a most fortunate streak of luck and he desires that every apple grower in the Western Michigan territory shall participate in the profits. The report from Secretary Gibson after considering the quality of the apples marketed in England from Canada, Nova Scotia, Tasmania and Australia, which consideration points out that the apples from these sections are not the equal of the Western Michigan product, takes up the matter of shipments for this season. It reads as follows:

"If Western Michigan can enter this field at the present juncture with a brand honestly packed, carefully graded and of good quality, we can capture the market. Let me emphasize right here that unless this can be done, it were infinitely better for us never to make a shipment of apples to the British Isles. 'Except in the case of very luscious apples it will not be best for our growers to pack in boxes for this market. As a matter of fact, the buyers in Great Britain favor the barrel."

"There is not much demand here for anything but a red apple. Greening apples fairly well, but in only one place, Bury, in Yorkshire, did I find any demand at all for Grimes Golden. Spies are a prime favorite in Manchester, Baldwin, McIntosh Red, Wagner, King, and Jonathans find a ready sale."

"The British buyer sets great store on particular brands. It should be our aim to establish a single brand for the whole of Western Michigan, that in a few years could sell itself and command the highest market price. To this end not only should the grade and quality be right, but the barrels must be tightly packed with cushions on ends, so that there will be no shaking of the apples whatever. We should have an attractive label printed containing the Bureau's guarantee to go either inside the head of the barrel or to be pasted on the outside of the head."

"The apples will require to be separated into three grades, viz., 1, 2 and 3, or X, XX and XXX. "Should we go into the export trade, it will be necessary eventually to have apple cold storage accommodations at some centrally located point. We can make our initial shipment without cold storage, by using refrigerator cars to the seaboard."

President Day is anxious to get an export trade for our apples, particularly the fancy grades and he is urging every fruit grower in the Western Michigan region to take the utmost pains with his maturing

KANE AND GLASSFORD ELECTED MEMBERS BOARD OF EDUCATION

To Succeed A. F. Bridge and Dr. A. M. Wilkinson at Monday Night's School Meeting—Decided to Purchase Seventeen Acres of Land Adjoining Lincoln School for Athletic Purposes.

The annual school meeting held Monday night was quite well attended, about seventy five being present. The principal business was the election of two trustees to succeed A. F. Bridge and Dr. A. M. Wilkinson, and the matter of purchasing a tract of land adjoining the Lincoln school, to be used for athletic purposes.

To succeed Mr. Bridge, R. W. Kane was elected. A warm contest developed for second place, several ballots being taken before a choice was made, the principal candidates being Mrs. Edith Wilkinson and Frank M. Glassford. Mr. Glassford being elected. It is the general sentiment that wisdom was shown in the selection of trustees, as with two doctors on the board, one profession and especially so busy a one as the medical, was given too much representation.

The proposition to purchase land for athletic purposes was favorably apple crop that we may supply the maximum supply of the order, namely 200 cars, if the business proves a profitable one.

PETITIONS ARE FILED

Senator William Alden Smith Formally Qualifies for Race at August Primary.

Primary petitions have been filed with the secretary of state asking that the name of Senator William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids be placed on the ballot as a candidate for re-nomination to the United States Senate in the August primary. The petitions bore the signatures of 8830 enrolled Republican voters of Michigan, the maximum number of signatures which the primary law permits to be filed. The signatures represent voters in between fifty and sixty counties and come from all sections of the commonwealth in both peninsulas.

The petitions are the first complete papers filed for any state office with the secretary of state in connection with the next August's primary.

MUCH WORK GOING ON

North Charlevoix Company Still Busy With Improvements at Pine Point.

Several Contracts for New Cottages Have Been Placed During the Past Week.

Although the first auction at Pine Point, conducted by George W. Fryhofer, for the North Charlevoix company is over, the working force for the improvement and development of this beautiful property has been doubled. A contract has been let to William E. Parmelee for the construction of two handsome concrete columns with bays and capital ornaments to be placed just opposite the dock making a grand entrance to Pine Point. The Moorish entrance with the back ground of natural terraces of beech and pine will present a most delightful view from the water on approaching Pine Point.

The roads and driveways are being rapidly improved and a natural sea wall making a perfect shore line, is being put up. Reconstruction of the pier begins this week. The attractive bungalow on the second terrace, built by Dr. A. A. Swinton is now completed and ready for occupancy.

Contract for a spacious twelve hundred dollar cottage has been let by Giles Warner, owner, of Hammond, Indiana. Mr. Warner is building at the north west corner of Central and Cottage avenue.

Mrs. Effie MacEntock of Chicago is letting the plans for one of the most attractive and expensive summer homes to be built at Pine Point this year. Mrs. MacEntock has one of the choicest high lots overlooking the terraces and Pine Lake fronting on Birch Crest avenue. Five other cottages are to be built at Pine Point immediately.

PLANNING ON BIG TIME

Great Regatta at Harbor Springs in Honor of Termination of Yacht Race.

Harbor Springs is planning on two of the biggest days in the history of that village, July 15 and 16, when a regatta will be held in honor of the termination of long distance races of the Chicago Yacht club between Chicago and Harbor Springs. Both land and water sports will be pulled off and some of the fastest boats on the lakes will compete for the $10,000 in prizes offered.

AUCTION WAS SUCCESS

Second Sale of Lots at Pine Point Will Take Place Latter Part of this Month.

The auction at Pine Point, July fourth, fifth and sixth, conducted by George W. Fryhofer, of Chicago and New York, for the North Charlevoix Company was a great success. Over half the lots in the original plat were sold the first day. Prices ranged from seventy five dollars for back lots to four hundred and seventy-five for beach front. The buyers were equally divided between the tourists and the local people. The second auction advertised will occur the latter part of July at the height of the tourists season.

MILLIONS IN FUND

Primary School Money Over Seven Million—Will Be $7.41 per capita.

At the present time there is $5,482,700.11 in the primary school fund, and, according to Superintendent of Public Instruction Wright the rate per capita will be approximately $7.41. There are 739,515 children of school age to share in the appropriation which will be made July 15.

Auction Sales.

This week, on page 8, we advertise the sale of James F. Wood, nine miles south of Charlevoix on the Norwood road, Saturday, July 13, beginning at one o'clock p. m. W. E. Byers, auctioneer.

On page 2, we advertise the sale of Henry E. Brown, one and one half miles east and one half mile south of Norwood, Tuesday, July 16, beginning at one o'clock p. m. W. E. Byers, auctioneer; J. G. Biery, clerk.

COURIER'S SPECIAL FEATURE

This week the Courier begins a series of special articles on farm dairying. These articles are written by an expert and are copyrighted and can only be read in the Courier in this vicinity.

AFTER NOMINATION

Elisha N. Clink of East Jordan Out For Judge of Probate.

Everything indicates that the primary to be held August 27 will be as interesting a race as Charlevoix county has ever witnessed. Already several veteran campaigners have entered in the various events while several have started on their first race.

This week the entries for the Judge of Probate stake is increased by the entry of Elisha N. Clink of East Jordan, who will seek the Republican nomination. Mr. Clink is one of the best known members of the Charlevoix county bar. He has never been a seeker for official preferment but has served the people of this county as prosecuting attorney one term, refusing to become a candidate for re-nomination. At the last spring primary he was a candidate for circuit judge and the splendid vote he received, in his home town, showed how he is regarded where he is best known.

DROWNED IN PINE LAKE

Roando Ernest Brown of Norwood Victim Sunday Afternoon.

Highly Respected Young Man Life Savers Recover the Body.

Getting beyond his depth in Pine Lake, near the old beet sugar factory, Roando Ernest Brown, was drowned Sunday afternoon. Mr. Brown who was the son of Frank D. Brown a well known farmer of Norwood township, was in the employ of William Withers of Marion, and Sunday was on his way to visit his father and brothers when he stopped for a plunge in Pine Lake, and stepped over the channel bank where the water is eighteen feet deep. He was unable to swim, his companion, Herbert Wakelind, gave the alarm to the life-savers but when the body was found life was extinct.

He was born near Maunton twenty-five years ago and has lived in this vicinity for the past nine years. He was known as a quiet industrious young man and was highly respected where known.

Besides his father he leaves four brothers, Archie, Leon, Myron and Frankie all of Norwood. The funeral was held Tuesday at the Norwood M. E. church, Rev. J. G. Biery, officiating.

HON. A. J. STROUD DROPS DEAD

At His Home in Horton Bay this Afternoon from Apoplexy.

Had Filled Several Important Official Positions in County and State.

Just as we go to press word comes that Hon. A. J. Stroud had dropped dead from apoplexy at his home at Horton Bay at 2:30 this afternoon. Alonzo J. Stroud was born in Parma, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, May 6, 1843. He spent his boyhood days on his father's farm and acquired his education in the public schools of Middleburg, Ohio. Early in the civil war he enlisted in the Army of the Cumberland and later enlisted in the 188th Ohio volunteer infantry serving until the close of the war.

He was married to Cecelia A. Norton in 1866 and came to Horton Bay and engaged in the lumber business. Mr. Stroud was a member of several secret orders and was grand master of the I. O. O. F., 1020-01. He held the office of supervisor ten years, sheriff two years, judge of probate eight years and served two terms as representative in the state legislature.

The price was always right if you buy your building material of us. Builders Supply Co. Ltd.

We do Fine Job Printing.

INTERESTING DAY IS SPENT

Annual Round Up and Branding of Calves a Novel Sight.

SEVERAL DIFFERENT BRANDS

Clever Team Work and Skilled Riding and Roping is Required.

Many Have Erroneous Ideas of Homesteader's Life—Takes Constant Work and Hustle To Succeed.

I had accepted an invitation extended to me by two of our cowboy neighbors to spend the day at their ranch and watch the branding of the calves they had rounded up.

On arriving at the ranch I saw several saddled horses and a number of cowpunchers lounging around the shack. At first, I was a little backward about intruding on their territory for fear they were not being entertained to their full capacity and that I be requested to ride a cow, bronco or something similar and I didn't feel any too comfortable from last attempt yet. One can little appreciate how timid one can become until one has saddled one of the jolting bounding calamities.

I found the boys to be first rate fellows, congenial and hospitable. Presently the Round Up Boss gave the word and they were in their saddles and away. A small fire was kindled near the corral and shortly the boys were returning, driving the herd. It required clever team work, skilled roping and no little riding to get them corralled. The calves especially were obstinate and troublesome. By the time this was accomplished the boys were sufficiently heated and the branding started.

The cattle did not all belong to the one man so when a calf bearing a different brand was discovered her calf was branded accordingly.

They are innumerable different brands. Some of them read, lazy G, Y, F, B, H bar O etc. 'The Government brands a dot in the center of G.

It was most interesting work and we greenies perched on the top of the corral wall and had become adequately concerned and daring to get down and view the work more closely. When presently in branding a bull calf of several months age the helpers lost their hold and he gained his footing in a hurry and made for the nearest aggressor. It required but an exceedingly short time for the boys to gain the top boards and by that time I was entering the shack door several yards away.

When summoned up a homesteader's life consists of many comical and again trying experiences. People often convey erroneous ideas of homesteading life, believing it to be the simple operation of sowing the seed and reaping a bulky harvest. But this is wrong. With sufficient capital, constant devotion, sagacious judgment and careful application one may with intelligent management succeed.

My communications have been my personal observations and experiences and though perhaps not scholarly they were interesting to me and I thought possibly they would be to my eastern friends.

Merrily yours,
Robert C. Jarvis,
Harlem, Mont.

LOCATED AT SAGINAW

George W. Baxter, Formerly of Boyne Citizen Starts New Daily.

George W. Baxter, former publisher of the Boyne Citizen is now publishing a daily paper in Saginaw. The plant formerly used in the publishing of the Isabella County Citizen has been moved to Saginaw where extensive equipment will be added making a splendid city plant. The west side is a city in itself and of 20,000 people and the new paper should meet with success as George is some hustler.

For building material of all kinds phone the Builders Supply Co. 1717

CORRESPONDENCE

MAPLE GROVE

Clyde Bromley spent the 4th at Boyne City.

Miss Addie Howe spent Sunday at Maple Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Howe spent the Fourth at Cloverdale.

Mrs. Braton Wighlman is entering company from Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Kirby and son Ty spent Sunday at Charlevoix.

Joseph Lewis, Senior, was a guest of his brother Joseph Lewis last week.

Mrs. Gilt Ferris entertained with an independence dinner Thursday.

Miss Letah Howe spent Saturday and Sunday visiting relatives at Charlevoix.

Mrs. Jones Lewis and Mrs. Strigley were guests of Mrs. Platt Webster Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wighlman spent the 4th at Pine Point.

Summer colds are hard to get rid of, frequently lead to asthma, bronchitis, and hay fever. Do not let your cold get a hold on you, but use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for quick relief. W. H. Allen, Cheltenham, Wis., says: "We prefer Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to other cough medicines because it quickly cures coughs and colds. It will ward off a cold if taken in time." Contains no opiates. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Proprietor.

MARION

Chas. Blanchard spent the Fourth at Gaylord with friends.

George Winkler who has been very sick is slowly recovering.

Miss Nellie Ingalls entertained a few of her friends with fireworks Thursday evening.

Dorothy and Forrest Beattie visited Mrs. Earl Dodd and family a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Ludka and family from Marquette are the guests of Mrs. Pulcifer.

Rev. Mayhew and family are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Will Shapton and Mr. and Mrs. James Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black, Jr., spent the Fourth with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Will Easton of Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Cole and Mr.

and Mrs. R. Gregory spent July 4th in Hayes, with Wm. Gregory and family.

Mrs. Mary Fyler from Ypsilanti and Chas. Howard of Charlevoix were callers of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dodd and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Beattie, and son Wesley, Mrs. C. L. Dodd and Miss Nellie Ingalls spent the Fourth with Mrs. Arthur Beattie and family, of Charlevoix.

George L. Higbie, Manton, Mich., used Foley Kidney Pills for kidney and bladder trouble. He says: "I find for my case no other medicine equals Foley Kidney Pills for beneficial effect." They are a safe and reliable medicine for kidney trouble and rheumatism. Contain no harmful drugs. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

NORWOOD

Miss Jane Chase is here for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Carr are stopping at the Thompson Cottage.

Mrs. Jarnes and daughters are here from Pellston, calling on old friends.

E. D. Nelson is spending his vacation with his niece, Mrs. Walter Mosher.

We are sorry to learn the sad news of the drowning of Randall Brown Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Larva Ferguson and two boys are here from Chicago, visiting the latter's parents.

Mrs. May Crosby, and son Howard, arrived Sunday and will spend the winter with her parents Amos Miller's.

The many friends of Lyman Van Dusen are glad to shake hands with him and his wife again. He was one of our town boys and is living now near Grand Rapids.

Going to build this spring? The place to buy your lime, pulp plaster, brick, and other material is at the Builders' Supply Co., phone 56 27.

NORTH BAY

Born July 4 to Mr. and Mrs. Priebe a daughter.

Mrs. Fred Priebe is very feeble this summer.

Mrs. Arthur Van Amburg of Harbor Springs visited her parents last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Corwin of Pellston visited at Long View farm June 29 and 30.

Mrs. Dilworth and Mrs. West of Horton Bay were callers at John Priebe's last Sunday.

Miss Fannie Bewell, who has been in the southern states since last fall, returned home and visited her sister, Mrs. John Priebe and Mrs. Dilworth and friends last week. Saturday she went to Bay View where she expects to do laundry work at her cottage.

HAYES

The farmers around Hayes are busy haying.

George Arnold has purchased a horse from William Ferguson.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gallop, a baby girl, Thursday July 2.

William Stinson is improving very fast and is expected home in a few days.

A hay load, consisting of eleven jolly young people from Charlevoix spent Sunday evening at Henry Howe's.

The friends and relatives of Mrs. Struthers of Silverton, Oregon, formerly of this place, will be much grieved at the news of her severe illness.

THE TRAINING OF THE BUSINESS MAN OR WOMAN

Business, with its intricate problems and numerous undertakings, is ever reaching out for wide-awake, energetic, ambitious, young men and women. These are in great demand and it is only through thorough and careful special training that they can be obtained.

Business schools are doing much to relieve this growing need, but none are doing more and few are doing as much as the McLachlan Business University of Grand Rapids, Mich. This great school is placing more young men and young women in position of trust and responsibility than any other school of its kind in Michigan. Its employment department is carefully conducted, the best interests of the employer being looked after in every graduate placed to the best advantage. It will pay any young person to thoroughly investigate this great school and its work, and to consider seriously the enrolling for a complete course in bookkeeping and shorthand with their associated subjects. A beautiful catalog fully describing the school's work may be had by sending a postal card to McLachlan Business University, 110-115 Pearl St., Grand Rapids, Mich.

A Friendship Lunch.
First New Woman - Come, Julie, let's go and have a friendship lunch together.

Second Dito - Friendship lunch; What's that?
First - Why, you pay for mine and I'll pay for yours.

Subscribe for the Courier.

FEEDING THE LAMBS.

Weaning Period a Trying Time For Ewes and Offspring.

Milk and more milk, makes fat lambs, and the fat lamb is the profitable lamb. Remember that.

There comes a time after three or four months when the ewes' milk does not naturally dry up and then the lambs are weaned, writes J. C. Coulter in Farm and Fireside. The farmer blessed with an abundance of grazing need not hurry, of course, to separate the ewes and lambs, but for the farmer short of green pasture the case is different.

This weaning period is a trying time, for even a little lamb goes a long way, so when this milk supply is shut off every other precaution must be taken to keep the baby fat on the lambs. The lamb accustomed to the creep and grain from early lambhood now works at a big advantage. Besides getting his share of the choice clover patches, new hays and crops cut and fed in a rack, he is in condition to eat a liberal supply of sweet, clean cornmeal. When the lambs are intended for market only nothing beats good corn cracked coarsely. But oats and alfalfa, cottonseed meal, gluten meal, alfalfa meal or bean meal with the corn seems better for future breeding ewes and rams. At the time of separation the ewes are moved away into a new pasture where the lambs cannot hear them. The shorter and drier the grass the better, for now we must reduce their feed and dry them up. However, we should never be so eager to deprive them of food that we turn them into a lot without shade, water and salt. As the feed grows more scarce the flow of milk lessens, but for two weeks care should be taken to milk a little from the full udders every fourth or fifth day.

The ewes in this manner are dried up, ready for the coming early breeding season, and with the lambs alone every bit of fresh grazing can be used to the greatest advantage. Coming off the pasture during the heat of the day, the ideal place for the lambs is a darkened cool basement, where fresh grass or good alfalfa or clover awaits them. Once a day they should have a full feed of choice, clean, sweet grain.

The Ryeland is one of the oldest British mutton breeds of sheep and is well considered for its ability to produce mutton and wool of fine quality. It is of good size as a yearling, yielding as much as twenty to twenty-four pounds per quarter. Its fleece ranges from six to eight pounds. The wool is medium and white (gray), with short, close, even wool, and is cleanly a distinct breed, unlike any other. It fattens easily, and its mutton is excellent. The breed is little known on this side of the water. The ram shown is a good specimen of the Ryeland.

Don't overfeed one day and underfeed the next or place before them soaked grain, not only for the hogs.

Lambs will eat only the clean, fresh feed, and when they are very young it will pay to feed them all they will clean up without waste. Their whole body is working under the highest pressure while they are young, and an ounce of good feed at any other time goes further than at any other season unless you have allowed the young lambs to grow up ruminant. The fat lambs raised on the American farm will make its owner money, but be sure you study this proposition enough to be able to keep them growing and fat.

A. M. Nason, farming near Uaupia, Me., was badly crippled with sciatic rheumatism due to uric acid in his blood. "Foley Kidney Pills entirely cured me and also removed numerous black specks that were continually before my eyes." Foley Kidney Pills are a uric acid solvent and are effective for the various forms of rheumatism. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf, Prop.

Explained.
"Dad, what is meant by relatively speaking?" inquired Gunson Junior.
"Relatively speaking," explained Gunson senior, "refers directly to your grandmother on your mother's side."—Illustrated Magazine.

In these days of high cost of living, a medicine that gets a man up out of bed and able to work in a few days is a valuable and welcome remedy. John Heath, Michigan Bar, Cal., had kidney and bladder trouble, was confined to his bed, unable to turn without help. "I commenced using Foley Kidney Pills and can truly say I was relieved at once." His example is worth following. Ivy Drug Store, Frank N. Metcalf Prop.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A State Bank

4% INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS

Under State Supervision

List of Shareholders

G. C. GEIKEN	JOHN BURNS
ALEX. CAMERON	H. R. FOWLER
MRS. H. L. IDINGS	H. S. HARSHA
MRS. B. W. MILLER	L. S. SEE
A. L. HART	GUY S. BROWN
O. E. WILBUR	A. T. SLAGHT
J. L. CRANE	SAMUEL F. HODGES
GEORGE LIVERTON	P. D. CAMPBELL
JOHN DOUGHERTY	R. P. FOLEY
W. J. RACHOW

— Board of Directors —

R. P. FOLEY, President	G. C. GEIKEN, Vice-President
W. J. RACHOW, Cashier	H. S. HARSHA, Vice-President
J. L. CRANE	P. D. CAMPBELL
	JOHN BURNS

The patronage of good borrowers and conservative investors is cordially invited. Our New Building is absolutely fire-proof and we have excellent conveniences for our customers. Ask any of the above stockholders or officers about us. It will please us to serve you.

SILVER HULL SEED BUCKWHEAT

$1.25

Per Bushel

Argo Milling Co.
Charlevoix

Just Received a new line of Trunks and Suit Cases

—All kinds of—

Light and Double Harness and Truck Harness

Excellent Quality

Reasonable Prices

ALL KINDS REPAIRING

WORK GUARANTEED

Frank Chamberlin

Shea's Old Stand

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at public auction at the premises one and one-half miles east and one-half mile south of Norwood, on

TUESDAY, JULY 16, 1912

Commencing at 1:00 o'clock p. m. the following property:

W. E. BYERS, AUCTIONEER

4 horses - 3 milk cows
Heifer, fresh August 15
2 yearling heifers - 2 veal calves
Shout - 40 laying hens
120 spring chickens - farm wagon
Set wagon springs
Three-spring buggy
2 open luggage - set sleighs
Single work harness
Single driving harness
Five-tooth cultivator
Iron Age seeder and cultivator
Grain cradle - hay fork and rope
Horse rake and hand rake
Seven-pail iron kettle
Some tools - jack screw
7 sacks pulp plaster

Platform scales - organ
Parlor table - library table
8 foot dining table - kitchen table
4 dining chairs - kitchen chairs
4 rockers - 4 wood bedsteads
Bureau - commode - 3 stands
Wash bowl and pitcher
2 cook stoves - 2 wood heaters
Stove pipe - oil heater
Dish cupboard - milk safe
9-gallon churn - fruit cans
Washer and 2 tubs
Clothes wringer
Sewing machine - dishes
Some new and some old carpet
De Laval Cream separator
Other articles not mentioned.

TERMS OF SALE

Eight months time on good approved bankable paper bearing seven per cent interest. Five per cent discount for cash. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

Henry E. Brown, Proprietor

W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

Rev. J. G. Biery, Clerk

A Great Convenience
At A Trifling Cost
Save your own and your Postman's time by the use of a Private Letter Box in which you hold the keys

This box is made of steel, heavy brass plated, with a key lock and two key-level glass panels with name clip for owner's card and screws for placing, with a small opening for stamps and a slot for return of mail. Check or P. O. Order (do not send currency or stamps).
INTERNATIONAL MAIL EQUIPMENT CO.
200 Fifth Avenue NEW YORK

Business Cards

D. C. NETTLETON
Complete Abstracts
of Charlevoix County
Twenty years Experience
Maps and Platons Short Notice
VANPelt PLACE Charlevoix, Mich.

A. L. FITCH
Attorney at Law
Postoffice Block Charlevoix, Mich.

IRIS SHANAHAN
Attorney at Law
Bank Block
Charlevoix, Mich.

R. L. LEWIS
Attorney at Law
Opposite County Bank
Green's Office Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. J. A. AULD
Dentist
Office in VanPelt Building
Over Leighton's Store
Phone 131 CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

ALLEN M. WHITSON
Physician and Surgeon
Fey tested and glasses fitted
Thurs.-Office 95; residence 255.
Office in New Postoffice Building

R. H. ARMSTRONG, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Special attention given to diseases of the EYE
EAR, NOSE and THROAT.
Office over Times & Co's drug store
Telephone No. 255. Charlevoix, Mich.

DR. C. A. MONTAGUE
Physician and Surgeon
(Succeeding Dr. LeFevre)
Special attention to diseases of women and children. All calls given prompt attention.
Telephone No. 6.
Office in Bank Block Charlevoix, Mich.

W. E. BYERS
AUCTIONEER

Experience has taught me how to conduct sales successfully. Have handled some of the best sales conducted in Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Address Central Lake, Mich. Phone 1400.

Let me do your
DRAYING
An order placed with me will be carefully looked after and done on time. PHONE 33 when you have business to transfer or anything that needs immediate attention. Moving Household Goods a Specialty.

CHARLES TAYLOR

$2,000.00 DEATH BENEFIT
- $15.00 Weekly Benefit for Accident
- $15.00 Weekly Benefit for Sickness
- $1,000.00 for loss of Limb or Eyesight
- $100.00 for Emergency Relief Benefit
Cost $6.00 per year. No other Dues nor Assessments
Only established Company with $100,000.00 State Bonds for the Protection of Policy Holders and to guarantee the payment of Claims.
Men and Women between 16 and 65 accepted, according to occupation.
For further information address:
AMERICAN REGISTRY COMPANY
Dept. 19 - Box 444 Erie, Pa.

Copyright, 1909, by Doubleday, Page & Company.

CHAPTER XVII.
Wherein Mrs. Comstock Possesses the Limberlost.

THEY shook hands, and Stinton went down the road, while Mrs. Comstock entered the cabin. She went to the supper table, but she could not swallow food. Then she heard the front screen. She reached the middle door as Elvora touched the foot of the stairs.

"Hurry and get ready, Elvora," she said. "Your supper is almost spoiled now."
Elvora closed the stair door behind her and for the first time in her life threw the heavy lever which barred out any one from downstairs. Mrs. Comstock heard the thud and knew what it meant. She recoiled slightly and caught the doorpost for support. For a few minutes she clung there, then sank to the nearest chair. After a long time she arose and, stumbling half blindly, she put the food in the cupboard and covered the table. She took the lamp in one hand, the butter in the other and started for the spring house. "Something brushed close by her face, and she looked just in time to see a winged creature rise above the cablu and sail away."

"I got to go where they are if I get them," muttered Mrs. Comstock. She hurried into the cabin, set the lamp on the table and stood thinking deeply. She went to the barn for the pair of stout high boots she used in feeling about in deep snow. Throwing the boots to the left door, she climbed to the loft over the spring house and hunted an old hard oil lantern and one of her miniature for oil. Both of these she cleaned and filled. She listened until everything upstairs had been still for over a half hour. By that time it was after 11 o'clock. Then she took the good lantern from the kitchen, the two old ones, a handful of matches, a ball of twine, and went from the cabin, softly closing the door. She skirted the back of the garden, crossed a field and came out on the road. Soon she reached the Limberlost. She hunted until she found the old trail, then followed it, stumbling over logs and through climbing vines and grasses.

By and by she began to see the wavering light of something she thought near the right size. She had no idea where she was, but she stopped, lighted a lantern and hung it as high as she could reach. A little distance away she paced the second and then the third. Something large as a small bird was fluttering around. Mrs. Comstock began to perspire, while her hand shook wildly. She began to pray aloud.

"This way, oh, Lord! Make it come this way! Please! You know how I need it! Oh, Lord, send it lower!"
The moth hesitated at the first light, then slowly, easily it came toward the second, as if following a path of air. It touched a leaf near the lantern and settled. As Mrs. Comstock reached for it a thin yellow spray wet her hand and the surrounding leaves. When its wings ruffled above its back, her fingers came together. She held the moth to the light. It was nearer brown than yellow, and she remembered having seen some like it in the boxes that afternoon. It was not the one needed to complete the collection, but Elvora might want it, so Mrs. Comstock held on. Just there the Almightiness was kind or nature was sufficient, as you look at it, for following the law of its being when disturbed, the moth again threw the spray by which some suppose it attracts its kind, and liberally sprinkled Mrs. Comstock's dress front and arms. From that instant, she became the best moth bait ever invented.

Moths were coming. She had one in each hand. They were not yellow, and she did not know what to do. She glanced around to try to discover some way to keep what she had, and her throbbing heart stopped and every muscle stiffened. There was the dim outline of a crouching figure not two yards away, and a pair of eyes their owner thought hidden caught the light in a cold stream. Her first impulse was to scream and fly for life. Before her lips could open a big moth alighted on her breast, while she felt another walking over her hair. All reason of caution deserted her. She did not care to live if she could not replace the yellow moth she had killed. She set her eyes on those among the leaves. "Here, you!" she cried hoarsely. "I need you! Get yourself out here and help me."

Pete Corson parried the bushes and stepped into the light.
"Oh, it's you!" said Mrs. Comstock. "I might have known! But you gave me a start. Here, hold those until I make some sort of bag for them. Go easy! If you break them I don't want to see what will happen to you!"
"Pretty fierce, ain't you?" laughed Pete, but he advanced and held out his hands. "For Elvora, I s'pose?"
"Yes," said Mrs. Comstock. "In a mad fit I tripped one this morning."

Something Large as a Small Bird Was Fluttering Around.

and by the luck of the old boy himself it was the last moth she needed to complete a collection. I got to get another one or die."

"Then I guess it's your funeral," said Pete. "There ain't a chance in a dozen the right one will come. What color was it?"
"Yellow, and big as a bird," said Pete. "The Emperor, likely," said Pete. "You dig for that kind, and they are not numerous, so's 'at you can smush 'em for fun."

"Well, I can try to get one, anyway," said Mrs. Comstock. "I forgot all about bringing anything to put them in. You take a pinch on their wings until I make a poke."
Mrs. Comstock removed her apron, tearing off the strings. She unfastened and stepped from the skirt of her calico dress. With one apron string she tied shut the hand and pocket. She pulled a wire pin from her hair, stuck it through the other string, and using it as a bodkin ran it around the hem of her skirt. Her fingers flew, and shortly she had a large bag. She put several branches inside to which the moths could cling, closed the mouth tightly and held it toward Pete.

Pete stepped several more moths into the bag.
"Now, that's five, Mrs. Comstock," he said. "I'm sorry, but you'll have to make that do. You must get out of here lively. Your lights will be taken for hurry calls, and inside the next hour a couple of men will ride here like fire."

"Well, I'll see them make me go," said Mrs. Comstock. "I've got Robert's revolver in my dress and I can shoot as straight as any man if I'm mad enough. Any one that interferes with me tonight will find me mad-plenty. There goes another!"

"We are close to the old case," said Pete. "I think I can get into it. Maybe we could slip the rest in there."

stock. "They'll have so much room there they won't be likely to hurt themselves, and the books say they don't fly in daytime unless they are disturbed, so they will settle when it's light, and I can come with Elvora to get them."

"They captured two more, and then Pete carried them to the case."

"Here comes a big one!" he cried as he returned.
Mrs. Comstock looked up and stepped out with a prayer on her lips. She could not tell the color at that distance, but the moth appeared different from the others. On it came, dropping lower and darting from light to light. As it swept near her, "Oh, heavenly Father," exclaimed Mrs. Comstock. "It's yellow! Careful! Pete, your hat, maybe!"

Pete made a long sweep. The moth hovered above the hat and sailed away. In its flight it came straight toward Mrs. Comstock. She stretched of the remnant of apron she had tucked into her petticoat and held the culloo before her. The moth struck full against it and clung to the goods. Pete crept up stealthily. Another moth followed the first, and the spray showered the apron.

"Wait!" gasped Mrs. Comstock. "I think they have settled! The books say they won't leave now."

"Now, shall I?" questioned Pete.
"No. Leave them alone. They are safe now. They are mine. They are my salvation. God and the Limberlost gave them to me! They won't move for hours. The books all say so. Oh, heavenly Father, I am thanking you, and you, too, Pete Corson! You are a good man to help me. Now, I can go home and face my girl."

Elvora had sat by the window far into the night. At last she quitted and went to bed, but sleep would not come. She had gone to the city to talk with members of the school board about a room in the grades. There was a possibility that she might secure the moth and so be able to start to college that fall, but if she did not then she wanted the school. She had been given some encouragement, but she was so unhappy that nothing mattered. Yet Margaret Stinton had advised her to go home, and try once more. Unable to sleep she arose at last, and the room being warm, she sat on the floor by the window. The lights in the swamp caught her eye. She was very uneasy, for quite 100 of her best moths were in the case.

She hurried down the stairway softly calling her mother. There was no answer. She lightly stepped across the sitting room and looked in at the open door. There was no one, and the bed had not been used. Her first thought was that her mother had gone to the pool, and the Limberlost would give with signals. Pity and fear mingled in the heart of the girl. She opened the kitchen door, crossed the garden and ran back to the swamp. As she neared it she listened, but she could hear only the usual voices of night.

"Mother!" she called softly, then louder, "Mother!" She returned home. The time was dreadfully long before she heard her mother's voice.

Mrs. Comstock entered, dragging her heavy feet. In one hand she held the lantern, and in the other, still extended before her, on a wad of calico, rested a magnificent pair of yellow Emperors.

"Shall I put those others in the kitchen?" inquired a wail's voice.

The girl shrank back to the shadows. "Yes, anywhere inside the door," replied Mrs. Comstock as she moved a few steps to make way for him. Pete's head appeared. He set down the moths and was gone.

"Thank you, Pete, more than ever woman thanked you before," said Mrs. Comstock.
She placed the lantern on the table and barred the door. As she turned Elvora came into view. Mrs. Comstock leaned toward her and held out the moths. In a voice vibrant with tones never before heard she said, "Elvora, my girl, mother's found you another moth."

Elvora awoke at dawn and lay gazing around the unfamiliar room. She noticed that every vestige of masculine attire and belongings was gone and knew without any explanation what that meant. For some reason every tangible evidence of her father was missing, and she was at last to be allowed to take his place. She turned to look at her mother. Mrs. Comstock's face was white and haggard, but on it rested an expression of profound peace Elvora never before had seen. As she studied the features on the pillow beside her the heart of the girl thrilled in tenderness. She softly slipped from the bed, went to her room, dressed and entered the kitchen to attend the Emperors and prepare breakfast. The pair had been left clinging to the piece of calico. The calico was there and a few pieces of beautiful wing. A mouse had eaten the moths.

"Well, if all the horrible luck!" gasped Elvora.
With the first thought of her mother, she caught up the remnants of the moths, burying them in the ashes of the stove. She took the bag to her room, hurriedly releasing its contents, but there was not another yellow one. Her mother had said some had been confined in the case in the Limberlost. There was still a hope that an Emperor might be among them.

Elvora took a large piece of mosquito netting and ran to the swamp. Throwing it over the top of the case, she unlocked the door. She recoiled, faint with distress. The living moths that had been confined there in their fluttering to escape, the night and the mates they sought not only had wrecked the other specimens of the case, but torn themselves to ribbons on the pins. A third of the rarest moths of the collection were antennaeless, legless, wingless and often headless. Elvora gasped aloud. "Everything is wrecked!" she said.

We'll Do It

"My main trouble," said a farmer, "is in keeping track of what I take in and pay out." We presume this is true of a great many people, and we wish to offer this plan of overcoming the trouble. Deposit all your funds in the bank as fast as received, and make all expenditures by check. From the bank records you can always tell the source, amount and date of your income, and your checks show on their face the amount and reason for all expenditures. Your bank book is a record of all transactions, simple, complete and convenient. In other words let the bank keep your books for you.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BANK

John Nicholls Harry Nicholls A. Britars A. F. Bridge
Co-Partners

Oldest Bank in Charlevoix County

BLANCHARD HAS IT

What you want to make life enjoyable during the summer months

Refrigerators, Ice Cream Freezers
Oil and Gasoline Stoves

Base Ball Supplies - - Garden Tools

F. S. Blanchard

Charlevoix, Michigan

WHY NOT MAKE $200.00 A MONTH - - That's $50.00 a Week, almost $10.00 a Day

Selling Victor Sales and fire-proof boxes to merchants, doctors, lawyers, dentists and well-to-do farmers, all of whom realize the need of a safe, but do not know how easy it is to town one. Salesmen declare our proposition one of the best, clean-cut money-making opportunities ever received. Without previous experience YOU can duplicate the success of others. Our handsomely illustrated 200-page catalog will enable you to present the subject to customers in as interesting a manner as though you were piloting them through our factory. Men appointed as convincing talking points which it is impossible for a prospective customer to deny. Why don't YOU be the first to apply from your vicinity before someone else gets the territory? We can favor only one salesman out of each locality.

Our New Home. Capacity 20,000 Sales Annually.

CHAPTER XVIII.
Wherein Mother Love is Bestowed on Elvora, and She Finds an Assistant.

BUT her mother's love remained. Indeed, in the overflow of the long hardened, pent up heart, Elvora was almost suffocated with tempestuous caresses and generous offerings. Before the day was over she realized that she never had known her mother at all.

For the next few days Elvora worked at mounting the moths her mother had taken. She had to go to the Bird Woman and tell about the disaster, but Mrs. Comstock was allowed to think that Elvora delivered the moths when she made the trip. If she had told her what actually happened, the chances were that Mrs. Comstock again would have taken possession of the Limberlost, hunting there until she replaced all the moths that had been destroyed. But Elvora knew from experience what it meant to collect such a list in pairs. Valiant as she was in any good cause, this time she was compelled to admit that she was defeated. It would require hard work for at least two summers to replace the lost moths. When she left the Bird Woman she went to the president of the Onabasha schools and asked him to do all in his power to secure a room in one of the ward buildings.

The next morning the last moth was mounted and the housework finished. Elvora said to her mother, "If you don't mind, I believe I will go into the woods pasture beside Sleepy Snake creek and see if I can catch some dragon flies or moths."

"Wait until I get a knife and a pail and I will go along," answered Mrs. Comstock. "The dragonflies are plenty"

(Continued on page 7.)

Lee Howland

Concrete Paving Contractor and General Distributor of Building Supplies

Cement Blocks
Ornamental Brick
Pressed Brick
Common Brick
Flue Linings
Structural Steel
Newaygo Portland Cem't
Barreled Lump Lime
Bulk Lump Lime
Hydrated Lime
Gravel
Plastering Sand

My Prices are Right and Delivery Prompt

Telephone No. 297

DuBOIS & USHER, Proprietors
A. J. USHER, Business Manager
Courier Building VanPelt Place

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One copy, one year.....$1.50
One copy, six months......75
One copy, three months......40

Advertising Rates.
For advertising rates apply for schedule.
Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular advertising rates.
Obituary notices, regular rates.
Cord of thanks, 25 cents.

Entered at Charlevoix Postoffice as second class matter.

Charlevoix Wins Both Games.
Charlevoix won both games of ball this week. Sunday's game with Petoskey was won by the locals by a score of 8 to 9. Batteries: Charlevoix, Brady and Powers; Petoskey,
Rose and Cryderman.
Monday's game was won from the
Blomher girls by a score of 16 to 5.
Another game is scheduled for next Sunday.

Announcement.
The undersigned will be a candidate at the August primary for nomination to the office of Judge of Probate on the Republican ticket.
If you believe that I would—if nominated and elected—faithfully and efficiently discharge the duties of that office, I will be grateful for your support.
28th-adv. ELISHA N. CLINK.

Announcement.
I hereby announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Prosecuting Attorney, at the primary August 27, 1912.
27th-adv. Rollie L. Lewis.

Notice to Electors.
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Probate Judge, on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27th, 1912 adv27tdpd Servetus A. Correll.

Notice to Electors.
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-nomination to the office of sheriff on the Republican ticket at the primary election August 27. Trusting that my conduct of the office has been such as to secure your approval, your support will be appreciated.
25th-adv. FORD P. ROBINSON.

Notice to Electors.
I take this means of announcing
my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of County Clerk, at the August primaries, and if nominated and elected, I will do my best to serve the public in said office. I also wish to thank the electors of Charlevoix county for the support they have given me in past, and will appreciate your support at this time.
27th-adv. RICHARD LEWIS.

To the Electors.
I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Republican electors at the August primaries, and thanking you for the support given me two years ago. Your support will be very much appreciated.
19th-adv. W. W. Bayle, St. James.

Notice to Electors.
I take this means of announcing
my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Register of Deeds at the August primary. If my conduct of the office in the past has been such as to meet your approval your support will be appreciated.
19th-adv. RONALD A. ENRIEY.

Announcement.
I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination to the office of County Treasurer on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held August 27, 1912.
27th-adv. Clarence C. Schaub.

Notice to the Republican Electors of the Charlevoix County.
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Judge of Probate of this county at the primary election appointed to be held on the last Tuesday in August, this year.
I am now serving my third term in this office. I like the work and the compensation that goes with it, therefore I am a candidate; and if a majority of the electors express themselves that I am their choice for another term, I will administer the office for another term, to the best of my ability.
July 1, 1912. John M. Harris.
27th-adv.

For Sale.
Three small homes for sale, on south terrace, one block from Bridge street. Cash or easy terms.
Inquire of O. D. Hammond. 28th

WAGE WAR ON THE HOUSEFLY

Time to Begin Crusade Against This Dangerous Pest.

A SUGGESTIVE WARNING.

Health Boards Throughout the Country
Are Fighting to Exterminate These Carriers of Disease—Keep Menus and Garbage Covered.

With the coming of warm weather
